The Times' correspondent at Calcutta says that war with Afghanistan is there believed to be inevitable. He states that the commandant of Ali Musjid Fort threatened Major Cavagnari, saying that, save for his personal friendship, he would shoot him on the spot. Other telegrams show that it is still considered uncertain in India whether the military preparations which are being made are intended as a demonstration to terrify the Ameer or for an actual invasion of Afghanistan.

The Indian papers have published the two letters, dated Aug. 14 and Aug. 23, sent by the Viceroy to the Ameer, the first announcing that it had been decided to send a mission to Cabul, and asking for it a safe conduct and proper reception; the second, offering condolences on the death of the Ameer's heir. To neither of these letters was any answer returned. The Standard publishes their text, together with that of the letter which Sir Neville Chamberlain addressed to the Afghan commandant at the Khyber Pass.

The highest tide in the Thames for this year will probably be this (Saturday) afternoon, at three o'clock.

The Bristol Docks committee have under their consideration a scheme for placing buoys at all points of danger and shallow parts of the seven miles of the river Avon from Bristol to Kingroad, most of these buoys to have a light at night.

POLITICAL.

Tuesday's Gazette announces that an earldom has been conferred on Lord Cairns, whose titles will be Viscount Garmoyle, in the county of Antrim, and Earl Cairns. The Gazette also announces that the Queen has appointed the Marquis of Lorne to be a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

At Truro on Tuesday Mr. Edward William Brydges Willyams (Liberal) and Lieutenant-Colonel Arthur Tremayne (Conservative) were nominated. The polling took place on Thursday, with the following result:—For Lieut.-Colonel Tremayne, 656 votes; Mr. Willyams, 611: majority, 45.

Several members of Parliament have recently been airing their views on the Eastern Question, both sides being pretty equally represented. We give the pith of the speeches:—

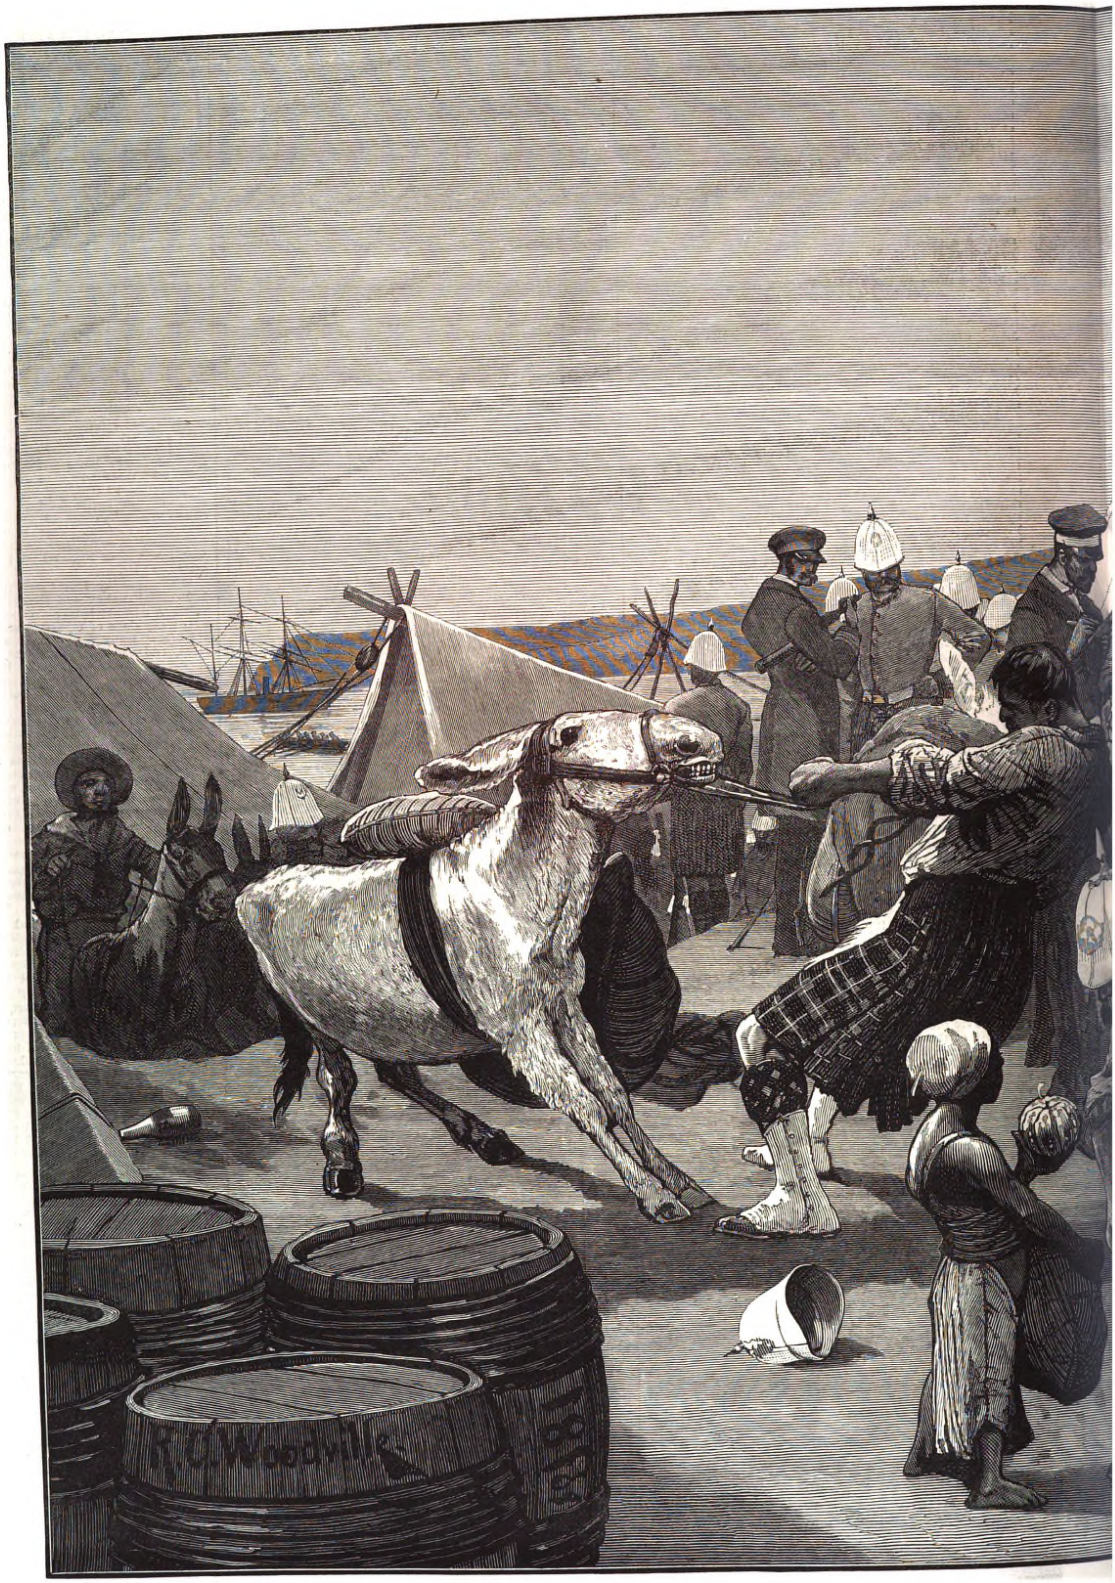
Mr. W. E. Baxter, addressing his constituents at Montrose on the 19th inst., said that the Berlin Treaty was a most important step in carrying out the policy which Mr. Gladstone and his friends had always recommended. The area taken from Turkey was greater than that abstracted by the Treaty of San Stefano, and yet Lord Beaconsfield told us, and simpletons believed him, that there had been no partition, and that Turkey had been strengthened. Sir Austen Layard, who had played a very pitiful part in all these matters, might well say of the Treaty of Berlin that it would lead to the overthrow of the Ottoman Empire. It was because that was also his (Mr. Baxter's) firm belief that he rejoiced in it. The treaty, however, failed in many respects, and it would not stand, any more than the treaties of 1815 and 1856. The Convention with Turkey, Mr. Baxter said, he looked upon as a sop to the Jingoes, and it was, in his opinion, the most dangerous arrangement ever entered into by British statesmen.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Secretary of State for the Colonies, Lord Elcho, M.P., and Mr. Reginald Yorke, M.P., were amongst the speakers at the Winchcombe agricultural dinner yesterday week. Sir M. H. Beach, replying to the toast of his health, referred to the Eastern Question, and asked that those who were disposed to criticise the policy of the Government should wait before they expressed a decided opinion. The Berlin Treaty, he said, was no particular work of the British Government, but it was more satisfactory than that of San Stefano. There were evils which the Government had attempted to mitigate by the occupation of Cyprus, which island would in time regain the prosperity it enjoyed in centuries past.

Last Saturday Lord Carnarvon met his principal tenants in Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire at Teversall, near Mansfield. A military band played on the village green, and there were many signs of rejoicing at his Lordship's visit after an absence of many years. A dinner was given in the school-room, and the clergy and the local gentry were present, besides about one hundred of the tenants. After the usual loyal toasts, Mr. Crompton proposed his Lordship's health. In reply his Lordship referred at length to the foreign policy of the Government, beginning with the Treaty of Berlin, which, he said, ought not to be called a treaty of peace, for every hour justified his former observation that it did not contain the elements of a really permanent peace. Turkey was crumbling to pieces as fast as possible. The state of our finances required the greatest possible caution on the part of the Government. This was a very questionable time for our interference in Afghanistan, when on all sides there were rumours of possible war in that State. Much more than war, however, he dreaded the conquest or occupation of Afghanistan.

Mr. Childers visited the Barrow Liberal Club on Monday evening and addressed to its members some observations on the present state of the Liberal party, advising them not to try to tie each other down, but rather to bring about a general progress and improvement.

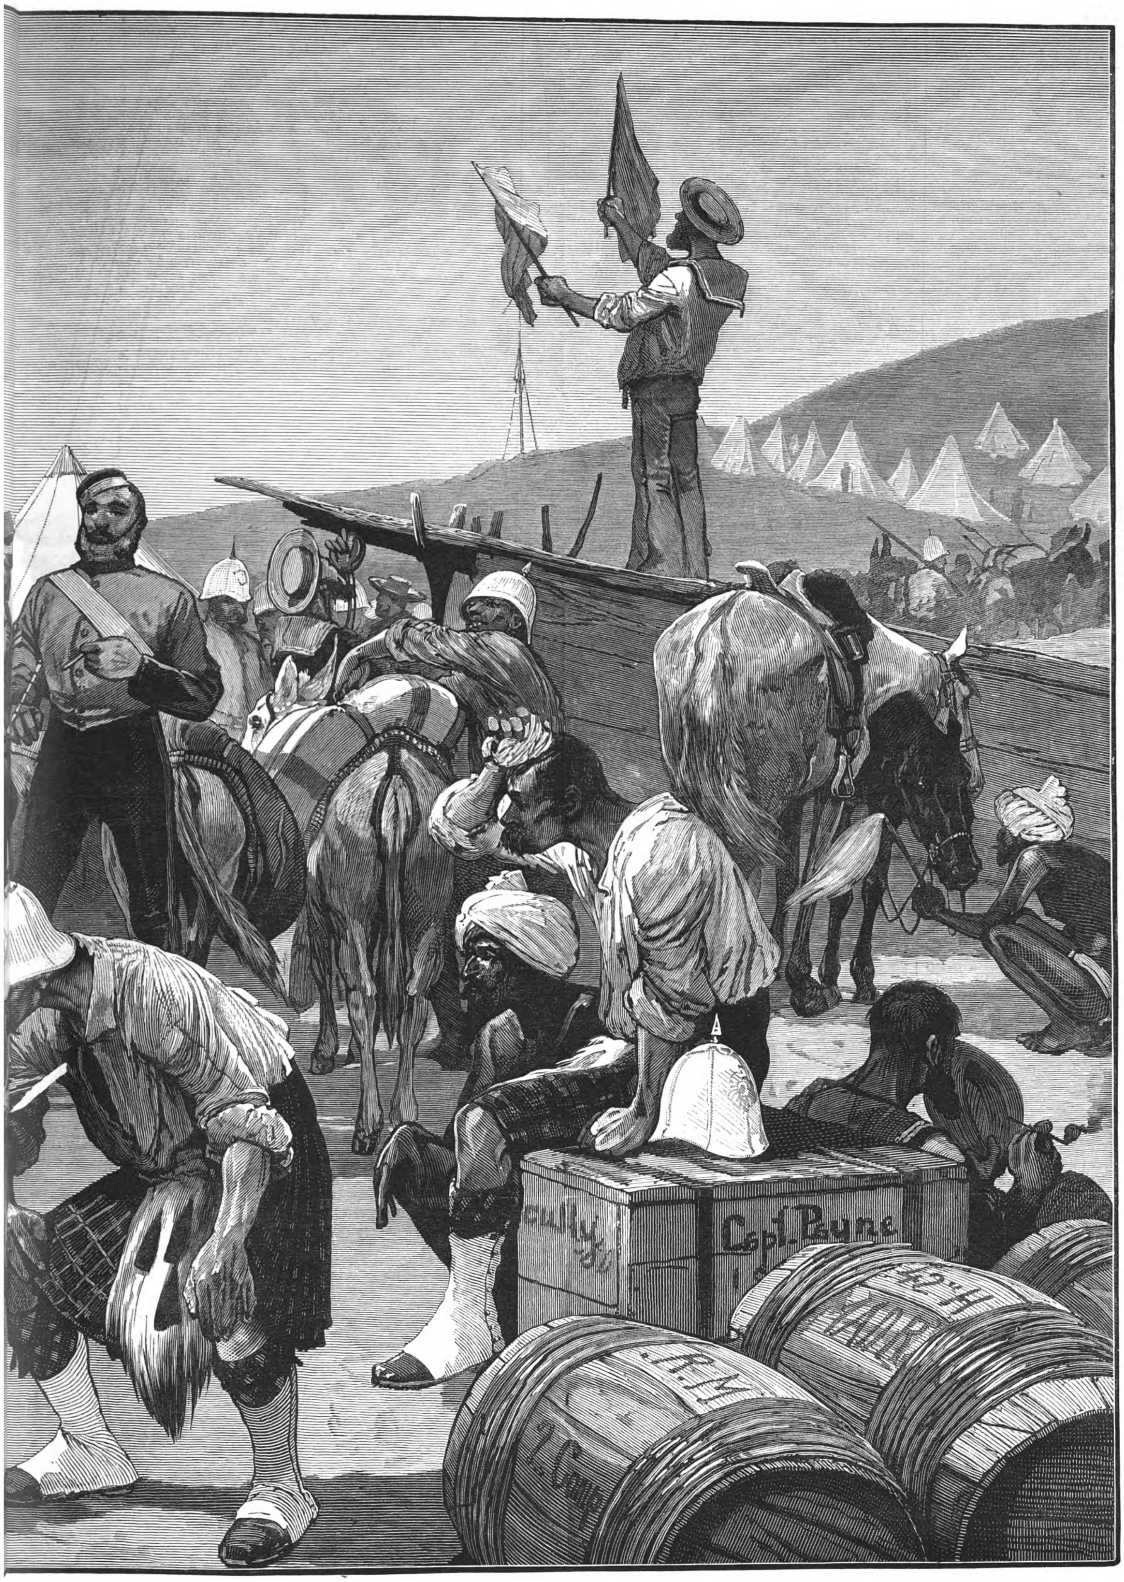
A Liberal demonstration took place on Monday evening at Newcastle-under-Lyme, to celebrate the result of the late election in that town. Addresses were delivered by the borough members, Messrs. Allen and Edge, Mr. Cotes, M.P., and Mr. Delahunty, M.P., and in the evening Mr. Jenkins, M.P., addressed a mass meeting.



On Tuesday night the Marquis of Lorne addressed the electors of Argyleshire at Inverary by way of leave-taking, prior to his departure for the Dominion of Canada. Only a short time previous, he said, he had no other expectation than that he should have occasion before long to address them as a candidate for their suffrages at a general election. In now leaving for that important part of the Empire to which he had been called, he wished to say a few words by way of taking leave. He had always done his utmost to promote the interests of the country, though he could not hope that he had pleased everybody. Lord Lorne concluded by giving an account of the resources and recent progress of Canada.

Mr. Ingram, the Liberal member for Boston, addressed his constituents at a public meeting on Tuesday evening and was enthusiastically received. He severely criticised the foreign policy of the Government. Mr. Earp, M.P., and other gentlemen also addressed the meeting. The following resolution was carried, with but few dissentients:—"That it is the duty of the Liberals of this country to put forth their most earnest efforts to curb the spirit of the Tory Government in a career which is calculated to bring upon England grave trouble and responsibility, if not disaster, with certainly an unjustifiable increase of taxation; and to promote, on every available occasion, the return of Liberal representatives to the House of Commons." Messrs. Ingram and Parry were unanimously adopted as Liberal candidates at the next general election.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach distributed the prizes at the Chipping Norton and Moreton-in-Marsh Agricultural Show on Tuesday, and afterwards presided at the annual dinner in the evening. He was supported by the Earl of Redesdale and an influential company. Sir Michael warmly eulogised the loyal spirit displayed by the colonies in offering to form whole brigades for the service of the mother country.



Colonel Stanley, the Secretary of State for War, spoke at a luncheon on Tuesday at the North Lonsdale Agricultural Show. He said that up to the present there was nothing to lead the Government to suppose that the recent negotiations at Berlin would do otherwise than conduce to the ultimate security and peace of the world.

Colonel North and Mr. Harcourt, speaking at the Watlington Farmers' Association, took occasion to refer to the Afghan difficulty. The former believed that the administration of the Government was a thing that Englishmen should be proud of, and that England never stood higher in the feeling of foreigners than it did now. Mr. Harcourt could not conceal from himself that Russia was touching the territory of Afghanistan. The gentlemen who considered it patriotic to question the policy of the Government would be urging that it was not our part to interfere with the Afghans, and that if another Power interfered we must make up our minds to lose India. We were, however, prepared for war, and he believed the country would be united as to any enemy that might assail us.

THE BRITISH OCCUPATION OF CYPRUS: LAN

FROM A SKETCH

ING-PLACE ON THE WEST COAST, NEAR BAFFO.

OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

Afghanistán is for the moment in all men's mouths in Paris, and the leading articles of the daily and evening papers are full of more or less hazy conjectures as to what the British Government intend to do in view of the affront offered to our Imperial prestige by the repulse of Sir Neville Chamberlain's embassy. One exceptionally well-informed Parisian journal warns us that among the dangers which we shall have to encounter in attempting the conquest of Afghanistán will be the forcing of the celebrated "Guebir Pass, swarming as it does with fanatical fire-worshippers." Another paper disinters (I suspect ad hoc) an old prophecy attributed to Nostradamus, running—

Siècle Dix Neuf Anglais fière race
Trouvent Chypre et Khybre moult impasse.

So that we are to find no way out of it, either in Cyprus or in Cabul.

There is a tiny Paris paper of four not too clearly printed pages called the Petit Journal, the circulation of which exceeds, they tell me 300,000 per diem. One of the specialties of this little sheet is that it contains every morning an essay of from two and a half to three columns on the "burning question" of the day. For some years this diurnal essay was contributed, under the pseudonym of "Timothée Trimm," by a wonderfully prolific writer named Leo Lespés. He died, and his place is now supplied by a gentleman as fecund, but not quite so facile, who adopts the nom de plume of "Thomas Grimm." On Wednesday morning last M. Grimm was naturally called upon to write a three-column article on Afghanistán. His exordium is quite touching in its naïve confession of imperfect information. "Unfortunately," he remarks, "there is no country in the world which is so little known as Afghanistán. That it is situated between Persia, Turkestan, China, and British India; that its frontiers are defended by the spurs of the colossus of mountains, the Himalayas; that it has been the region whence issued the barbarians who overran and conquered Europe, and that it is the promised land of wild beasts: that is nearly all which is known about Afghanistán." M. Thomas Grimm, however, by dint of copious draughts on "L' Inde des Rayahs," in the "Tour du Monde," contrived to get through his three columns à merveille.

Mem: If I had a copy of the "Journal of Lady Sale" by me I would send it, in a pure spirit of journalistic fraternity, to M. Grimm. Do you remember that fascinating narrative of hair-breadth 'scapes? I well recollect, as a small boy, pasting on my bed-room wall the portrait of the Anglo-Indian heroine on horseback, a Cashmere shawl turban crowning her head, her sash full of daggers and pistols, and waving a scimetar, while the air darkened with arrows and matchlock bullets shot by ferocious Afghans swarming on the crest of the rocky ravine. The "War in Afghanistan" was brought out, I think, as a hippodramatic spectacle at Astley's. Tell me, Orientalists, am I right in placing the accent on the last syllable in Afghanistan? But should it be an acute (') or a grave (`) accent?

The French, up to this present writing, have fully made up their minds as to two things. First, that Great Britain will immediately declare war against Russia (in consequence of Afghanistán), and next, that Sir Garnet Wolseley will be immediately appointed Viceroy of India and Commander-in-Chief of the Anglo-Indian armies. "The descendant of the haughty Cardinal Wolsey," they point out, "will be no longer suffered to waste his talents on the fever-stricken deserts of Cyprus."

I note in papers from home that the Earl of Rosebery has been making a speech equally modest, humorous, and sensible on Science and Art, somewhere in Scotland. Incidentally his Lordship touched on cookery, an art which, according to his showing, especially needed development in North Britain; and then he made a jocose allusion to that inscrutable mystery the haggis. Now, with all due deference to the cleverest and most promising of our Liberal peers, I must protest that there is no more mystery about a haggis than there is about a plum-pudding. There are a dozen ways of making both the one and the other dish: that is all. I cannot eat haggis any more than I can eat sweetbread, or tripe, or giblet soup, or "internal arrangements" of any kind; but catholicity in culinary matters impels me to recognise haggis as a most artistic and succulent dish.

It is elaborate, I grant, but far from mysterious. You will find a very fair recipe for a haggis in Mrs. Glasse; but the dish is far more learnedly and exhaustively treated in the review of a work called "Meg Dods' Cookery Book," which (the review) appeared in Blackwood's Magazine about fifty years ago. The article in question, in which every known form of haggis is discussed at length, may have been written by "Odoherty" (Dr. Maginn) or by "Christopher North" (Professor Wilson); still it is not impossible that its author was Sir Walter himself.

Nor am I, in my own mind, at all satisfied as to the nationality of the haggis. The connection between Scotland and France was in old times very close indeed. The Celt drank claret long before the Saxon did; and in many old French cookery books I have met with recipes intimately resembling those given for the concoction of an orthodox Scottish haggis—but always abating the oatmeal. The Italian ravioli, again, is a miniature haggis, an envelope of macaroni paste taking the place of the ovine sac in which the Caledonian dainty is contained. How would it be if the Italian cook of Mary Queen of Scots brought over the haggis from the Louvre to Holyrood? Imagine Rizzio plunging his knife into that "muckle" pudding, just before the conspirators plunged their daggers into him!

I am compelled (I shall be home in a few days) to dine out at a Paris restaurant every day; and I regret to state that these eight weeks past (always in consequence of the Exhibition, I suppose) I have found the fish to have much more of an "ancient and fishlike flavour" than is desirable. At the Café Anglais and at the Restaurant Gaillon (conjuncture of the Rue de la Michodière and the Rue Louis-le-Grand) I have invariably found the fish to be as fresh—to use the proverbial expression—"as paint." At the remaining restaurants, even to the grandest, it is frequently more than equivocal. There is but scant consolation for the habitual staleness of a most wholesome and delicious article of food that the French papers of the poorer order, such as the Figaro, the Gaulois, and the Voltaire, revel day after day in extremely funny but, under the circumstances, exasperating stories about stale fish. Here is one: A customer at a boulevard restaurant complains, in distinctly audible tones, that his mackerel is absolutely uneatable. "S-sssh!" whispers the waiter, discreetly putting his finger to his lips. "It isn't the mackerel. Pas le moins du monde. It's the salmon of the gentleman opposite!"

Another: A guest complains on Wednesday that his turbot is not so good as that of which he partook on the preceding Sunday. "That's very odd," remarks the complacent garçon. "Really, I can't make it out; for it happens to be a slice of the very same turbot which was served to Monsieur on Sunday." This is only a clever paraphrase of the very old French Joe Miller about Jocrisse and the salmon. "I saw this morning," said Jocrisse (the French Tom Fool), "the finest salmon at Chevit's that I ever beheld in my life. I shall save up my pocket-money till I am able to buy it."

A wise gentleman in the World, apostrophising me by my own proper name—not even as "G. A. S."—and cruelly tearing the mask of the anonymous from a writer in a daily newspaper, reproaches me with having boasted of the "Burgundy, Chambertin, and Romanée-Comtés at the Café Anglais, as that establishment piques itself on its Bordeaux wines, and does not go in for a spécialité of Burgundy." I beg to state that I never heard of such a wine as Romanée-Comté, any more than I ever heard of "Château-Lapouffe," "Clos-de-Pougeot," or "Moulin à Vendre." When the wise gentleman knows more about the wines of Burgundy I will talk to him. For the moment I leave him Romanée—what? as a "French puzzle." I may just add that the cellars of the Café Anglais are among the most surprising and the least known of the wonders of underground Paris. The lease of the famous restaurant is on the eve of expiry, and the sale of the Café Anglais wines—Burgundies as well as Bordeaux—will probably be one of the leading "events" of the year 1880.

Those "French puzzles" in the World, at which I glanced just now, are doing right good service in the cause of Anglo-French education, although a few of the examples to be corrected are somewhat too transparent in the blunders which they present for amendment. "Le Prince de Galles tiendra une levée à Buckingham Palace Mardi prochain à deux heures et demies" is too amusingly naive in its inaccuracy to be set right by anybody save "the merest schoolgirl;" yet at the same time—quite apart from its being a "French puzzle"—it exposes a solecism which has become ingrained in colloquial English and in the phraseology of our own Court Circular. I allude to the word "levée." There is such a thing as a "levée en masse;" and the embankment of the Mississippi at New Orleans is correctly called a "levée." It is a collective thing which is raised. But her Majesty or the Prince of Wales should hold not a "levée," but a "lever"—that is the act of a thing or person that is rising. Thus, likewise, "un lever de rideau"—a short piece played to the rising, as it were, of the curtain. But "lever" in a courtly sense has become a wholly obsolete expression. Crowned heads no longer receive their courtiers the first thing in the morning while they are arising from their couches—you remember how Louis the Fourteenth's valet used to hand his Majesty's periwig to him, on the point of a gold-headed cane, through the barely-opened bed-curtains;—and, certainly, since the Revolution of July, 1830, there have been no Royal "levers" in France. I question, indeed, whether those stately mummeries survived the cataclysm of 1789. The First and the Third Napoleons and King Louis Philippe did not hold "levers" at the Tuileries. They held "receptions," just as Marshal MacMahon holds "receptions" at the Elysée. In England, on the other hand, we persist in our wrong-saying; and not only Royalty but the Field-Marshal Commanding in Chief holds "levées." Is it to be assumed that H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge gets up at two in the afternoon? Everybody knows that H.R.H. is, like Don Quixote de la Mancha, gran madrugador, and that he frequently puts in an appearance in the Park at seven a.m. G. A. S.

A new lecture-hall and library which have been erected at the Lancashire Independent College, Whalley Range, were opened on Wednesday.

Miss Wedgwood, a descendant of the famous pottery-ware manufacturer, has offered to provide a home for training the young pauper girls of Stoke-on-Trent as domestic servants.

The annual distribution of prizes to the students attending the classes of the Free Library at Wolverhampton took place in the council-chamber of the Townhall on Monday night. The Mayor (Mr. D. Kendrick) presided, and among those present were Mr. Alexander Staveley Hill, Q.C., M.P., Mr. M. Ironmonger, Dr. Langley, Mr. Alderman Walker, and the Rev. G. Duckett. Mr. Elliot (the librarian) having read the report, Mr. Staveley Hill distributed the prizes.

At the Peterborough Agricultural Society's annual dinner on Wednesday Mr. Cave, of Boston, Market Deeping, Lincolnshire, was awarded the £50 prize given by the Earl of Carysfort for the best cultivated farm within a radius of thirty miles.—Mr. Abel Smith, M.P., presided on Wednesday at the ploughing-match luncheon in connection with the West Herts Agricultural Society, held at St. Albans. Responding to his health, he wished the times were more cheerful for agriculture, which was not very prosperous. He advised farmers to increase their grass lands.—Mr. Gorst, M.P., addressing the Waltham Cottage Gardening and Ploughing Society, commended the practice of working men employing their leisure hours in gardening, and thought that every hour so spent might be looked back upon with pride and satisfaction.

The sum of £2300, which included £1070 collected on the Stock Exchange, was received on Tuesday at the Mansion House in aid of the fund for the relief of the sufferers by the explosion at the Abercarne Colliery. The fund amounted to over £16,000 on Wednesday evening, exclusive of the large sums collected in the country. Among the payments on Wednesday were the following:—"A Welshman by Blood," £100; Mr. James Duncan, £50; R. M. £20; Messrs. Herd, Dawson, and Co., £50; Offertory at St. Margaret's, Lee, £107 13s. 4d.; Messrs. G. Harker and Co., £52 10s.; Miss Isabel Goldsmid, £16; Collection at St. Mary's, Reading, £45 18s. 4d.; Miss Gibbins, £50; Mr. Joshua Dixon, £25; Miss Anne Turner, £30; and Mr. Julian Senior, £21. A meeting of the Central Committee was held on Tuesday at Abercarne and a scale of relief was drawn up.

There are a few Art matters to note, besides those recorded at page 306. Sir Sydney Waterlow, M.P., addressing the students of the School of Art at Maidstone on Wednesday evening, said the best remedy for depression of trade was the cultivation of greater intelligence in those persons engaged in manufactures. By the application of intelligent labour our raw materials might be used in manufactures to much greater advantage than they now were.—On the same day the Ipswich Town Council decided to build a museum, a school of art, and a free library, at a cost of £8100; and also to erect a hospital for patients suffering from infectious disease, at an outlay of £3600. About one third of the first amount, it is expected, will be raised by private subscriptions.—A letter has been received by the Bradford Corporation from the authorities at South Kensington, in reply to a memorial for aid in establishing a museum and art-gallery in connection with the Bradford Free Library, that the authorities will place at the disposal of the committee of the corporation six large cases, containing objects of industrial art. Other cases will be sent requiring a large amount of wall space, which will be filled with samples of textile manufactures.

MICHAELMAS GEESE AND GANDERS.

Although I do not feel disposed, with Pope, to drop a "tributary tear," yet I desire to condole with the Gander on his obliteration from poetry and general literature. It is true that in Painting Mr. Briton Rivière may do him ample justice; but in Poetry he is altogether supplanted by his partner the Goose. The old proverb, "What is sauce for the Goose is sauce for the Gander," does, indeed, appear to place the Gander on an equal footing with the Goose; but it cheats the ear with a delusive promise that is not fulfilled in the pages of historical and poetical literature, wherein the lordly Gander never finds a place. The Capitol was saved, not by Ganders, but by Geese, who, according to Dryden, are "more wakeful" even than "watchful dogs." Macbeth demanded of his scared servant, where he got his "goose-look;" and Macbeth's castle-porter jested about the tailor roasting his goose. It was "noisy geese that gabbled o'er the pool" of Goldsmith's sweet Auburn, in whose village public-house the royal game of goose was played. It was the goosequill that was used and praised by the Saxon scholars, Alcuin and Aldhelm, and by such modern poets as Crabbe and Cowper. It was the grey-goose feathers that winged the arrows of the victors at Agincourt. It was the stubble-fed goose, reared on the Saxon wayz, or bundle of straw, that was selected as the chief dish for the printers' annual Michaelmas feast of Wayz-Goose; and it was roast goose of which good Queen Bess was eating, at Sir Neville Humfreyville's table, on the memorable 29th of September, 1588, when she washed down the appetising fare with a half-pint bumper of burgundy, and gave as a toast, "Destruction to the Spanish Armada!"

Not a word is there here about the Gander; all the glory is reserved for the Goose. It was the Goose, too, that found favour in the eyes of St. Thomas a'Beckett, who delighted in it when roasted, and said that the dish had not been specially invented for sinners. And St. Martin, Bishop of Tours, the Apostle of the Gauls and Father of the Latin Church, is said to have died, in the eighty-fourth year of his age, from eating too bountifully of roast goose; wherefore in France a Goose is the special dish for St. Martin's Day, Nov. 11, and not for Sept. 29, as with us. It would, however, be hard to say what connection St. Michael had with geese beyond the fortuitous concurrence of their being "in their prime season" at his festival, as was testified by Poor Robin, in his Almanack for 1695; so that a Michaelmas goose was the usual tribute to be made by a tenant to his landlord when he came to pay his rent, as was shown by George Gascoigne, in his "Poesies," so early as the year 1575; and at an earlier date than that, in 1470, one of the Herefordshire Barnaby's granted a parcel of demesne lands to John de la Hay on condition that he brought him, on the feast of St. Michael, a goose fit for his dinner. With our ancestors, too, a favourite Christmas dish was Goose-pie.

In all this the Gander is kept in the background, and only comes forward in the proverb, "What is sauce for the Goose is sauce for the Gander." But, what sauce? Apple-sauce would seem to be the most popular with us, though the French deride us for using it. Possibly we might take some exception to the Strasburg recipe of their pâtés de foies gras, which, in their preparation, are not to be mentioned in the same category with that Roman delicacy, a white goose's liver eaten with fat figs, the fame of which has been handed down to us by Horace, Juvenal, Persius, Athenæus, Varro, and Martial. There is also tomato-sauce, and gooseberry and sorrel sauce, though the two last are usually served with those green geese that, as Shakspeare's Biron tells us, come when "the Spring is near." Now, which of these four sauces would you prefer to use with a roast Gander? but, whoever heard of a roast Gander—or, for that matter, of a boiled Gander? All the deftly mingled seasoning of onions, sage, salt, pepper, and cayenne—further flavoured even by the aid of lemons and port wine—would fail to reconcile us to a Gander, whether roast or boiled. But, if it be a Goose, well roasted—for, you would as soon boil a Goose as boil a haunch of venison—well seasoned, and with its proper complements of gravy and sauce, then you may sit down to its full-flavoured attractions with the conviction that it is a dish to set before a King, or a good Queen Bess; and that it should never be partaken of by one of those covetous old sinners, who, according to a quaint proverb, would not fear to steal a goose, and to give away the giblets for alms.

But, what about that other proverb, "What is sauce for the Goose is sauce for the Gander"? Must we consign it to the shadowy region of metaphor? Or, shall we consult that Tennysonian goose, who "let fall a golden egg, with cackle and with clatter"? Or go to "Mother Goose" herself, with an introduction from her biographer, Charles Perrault? She is wise, or, at any rate, affects a Burleigh-like appearance of wisdom, with thoughts that are too deep for words; as said that merry old country parson, John Skelton, "When the rain raineth, And the goose winketh, Little wotteth the gosling, What the goose thinketh." Perhaps she would refer us, for an explanation of the proverb, to that Goosey-goosey Gander, whose fitful and eccentric wand erings up stairs, down stairs, and in my lady's chamber, have been so faithfully recorded in nursery chronicles.

But the proverb takes another form, and tells us that "What is good for the Goose is good for the Gander." It is thought that this was the production of a woman's fancy; and it may have been so, for it is certain that the fair sex has been so unfairly dealt with in the generality of proverbial sayings that we are compelled to adopt the belief that what Bacon called "the genius, wit, and spirit of a nation" was expressed from the brains of its male and not its female population.

It is true that there is scarcely any proverb that may not be capped and answered with another proverb; and, if we are to believe that "What is good for the Goose is good for the Gander" means that the two sexes should be dealt with precisely on the same terms, and placed on the same footing, then we are at once tossed upon the troubled sea of Woman's Mission and Woman's Rights. We should again have Socrates declaring that half his virtues were to be attributed to the sharp exercises set him by his domineering wife; and, even if we did not see our colleges supplied with "prudes for proctors, dowagers for deans, and bright girl graduates with their golden hair," we might possibly witness the establishment of "Widow Clubs," where "the Republic of Women" would be enforced in the way so amusingly described by Addison in the pages of the Spectator.

But, although the doctrine of equality of rights, and treatment, and occupations, and of the making, out of the two sexes, "what Addison calls "an uni-sex," might, by forcible straining, be deduced from our Michaelmas proverb, yet I would prefer to take that rendering of its meaning which would teach us the Christian lesson of doing unto others as we would have them do unto us. And this is specially the case where the Goose and the Gander are brought together in the most intimate and nearest and dearest relations of life. They who are "true yoke-fellows" will pull well together, however different may be the fashions of their respective harness. What is good for the one will be good for the other: what is sauce for the Goose will be sauce for the Gander.

CUTHBERT BEDE.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

The programme of the Newmarket First October Meeting did not promise particularly well, and it was a pleasant surprise to witness a really good day's racing on Tuesday. Many a good stake has been won by an animal whose chance appeared hopeless, still it was difficult to understand what could have induced Prince Soltikoff to pay £150 for the pleasure of seeing Howdie struggle vainly to make Wheel of Fortune do more than canter. Lord Falmouth's beautiful filly never looked better, and there are far more unlikely things than that she may tread in Jannette's footsteps at Doncaster next September. Her form was further enhanced by the result of the Hopeful Stakes, which Peter, who was beaten easily by her at Goodwood, won in a canter from Marshall Scott and six others. The latter, whom Mr. Ellam has publicly "tipped" as the probable winner of next year's Derby, was attempting to concede 6 lb. Peter, who is a son of Hermit and Lady Masham, cost something under 400 gs. as a yearling, and it is pleasant to see such a sportsman as General Peel in possession of so good a colt. The friends of Hackthorpe (8 st. 2 lb.) again supported him very heavily for the Great Eastern Railway Handicap. It will be remembered that he was made a strong favourite for the Portland Plate a fortnight ago, and, in extenuation of his poor display, it was alleged that Athol Lad kicked him heavily just prior to the start. For once an excuse appeared to have really good foundation, for though his weight was a heavy one for a three-year-old, Archer brought him home a clever winner from the luckless Warrior (8 st. 3 lb.) and Malay (6 st 5 lb.), who were second and third respectively. The antagonism of Rayon d'Or and Leap Year in the Boscawen Stakes created great interest, and, as the filly was reported to be about the same animal as Charibert, the French colt was naturally a great public fancy. However, he never appears to run twice alike, and, after all sorts of odds had been offered on him in running, he suddenly collapsed, and was beaten by a length. Certainly his form this year, taken altogether, is not very encouraging; but we are loth to believe that such a beautifully-bred, grand-looking, and thoroughly sound colt will not distinguish himself in the future. The Grand Duke Michael Stakes showed Red Archer to be a thorough impostor; and it is utterly unaccountable that he should have finished before Childeric at Ascot. Clémentine ran well, but could never get fairly on terms with Lord Clive, though, being a very lazy horse, the winner required a good deal of rousing at the finish. A good deal of interest attached to the running of Lady Golightly in a Triennial in consequence of the manner in which she has been backed for the Cesarewitch. No exception could be taken to the style in which she polished off Balagny and Ivy, and an advantage of 10 lb. in the weights will scarcely enable the Frenchman to reverse this result in the big handicap.

The racing on Wednesday was as indifferent as that on Tuesday was good, and it is difficult to find anything worthy of comment. Massena (8 st. 8 lb.) secured a clever victory in the First Nursery Stakes, and a Triennial gave us an interesting contest between Attalus and Castlereagh, both of whom ran fairly in the St. Leger. The former gained a head victory; but both are clearly very moderate, and Mr. Houldsworth's colt seldom runs up to the form that he displays in private. Breadfinder beat Radiancy with consummate ease in the Granby Stakes, and it is noteworthy that Archer, who won five races on Tuesday, followed this up with half a dozen unsuccessful mounts. We regret to learn that Jongleur, the champion racehorse of France, died on Sunday last from the effects of an accident. In pulling up at the conclusion of a training-gallop he trod on the stump of a tree, and injured one of his feet so severely that tetanus ensued. In addition to winning many races in his own country, Jongleur secured the Criterion in 1876, and carried off the Cambridgeshire in the following year with the heavy weight of 8 st. 4 lb. on his back.

When the Middle Park stud was dispersed, on the death of the late Mr. Blenkiron, it realised the magnificent sum of upwards of £120,000, Blair Athol, Gladiateur, and Breadalbane alone contributing about one fifth of this total. Such a sum is scarcely likely to be realised again for any single stud, and, considering that blood stock at present seems a drug in the market, the second dispersal of the stud, which took place at the end of last week, was as satisfactory as could have been expected. On the first day none of the brood mares made over £500 gs.; but on Saturday matters were far more lively, Helen (1030 gs.), Pandore (1600 gs.), Gamos (1000 gs.), Lady Sophia (1400 gs.), Anderida (2500 gs.), and Hilda (1300 gs.) all running into four figures. Mr. T. Blenkiron bought in Scottish Chief for 5000 gs., and he will remain at Middle Park; but two of the other sires, Vespasian (400 gs.) and Victorious (300 gs.), a pair of worthy descendants of Newminster, were almost given away.

The last match of the metropolitan cricket season was played at Kennington Oval last week, for the benefit of the Princess Alice Fund. It was between two strong teams of North and South; and, though the weather was far too cold for the thorough enjoyment of spectators, a capital addition of £260 has been made to the amount subscribed at the Mansion House. For the North, Ulyett (71) and Selby (76) were the top scorers; and, as the Southern team could do nothing with Shaw and Morley's bowling, they were defeated in one innings, with 123 runs to spare.

THE LOSS OF THE PRINCESS ALICE.

A meeting of the committee of the Mansion House Fund for the relief of the sufferers by the loss of the Princess Alice steam-boat was held on Monday, when it was reported that the fund amounted to £26,150. More than £900 was received on that day, and contributions continue to pour in. During the past week the sub-committee has been engaged almost daily in going through the claims, which have numbered between 300 and 400. It was resolved to refer the claims and returns to the sub-committee with a view to their classification and to a recommendation of such immediate payments as might be advisable. The committee undertook to consider the question of rewarding those who saved life at the time of the accident after the more pressing claims of the widows and orphans had been settled. The sum of £300 was placed at the disposal of a small sub-committee, consisting of the Lord Mayor, Sir Benjamin Phillips, Mr. Jervoise Smith, and the Rev. W. Rogers, to relieve such persons as, though poor and suffering, would shrink from applying to the fund from fear of publicity. According to a statement made by the Rev. Styleman Herring 370 families are affected by the disaster. Several sums have been received specially for the benefit of the police at Woolwich, in appreciation of their excellent conduct and services.

The fund at the Mansion House amounted on Wednesday to £29,000, of which £1100 was received during the day. Among the donations paid in were—from the Duke and Duchess of Teck, £20; L. L., £100; Mr. John Orrell Lever (third donation), £100; the Licensed Victuallers' Fund (third payment), £100.

A meeting of the sub-committee was held, under the presidency of Alderman Sir Benjamin Phillips, on Wednesday, when it was reported that, of the claims sent in already, thirty were those of children who had lost both parents, fifty-three of widowers with eighty-three children, twenty-two of widows with sixty-five children, seven of widows without children, and 130 of other relatives. Claims were still coming in. The sub-committee went through many of the latter classes and fixed provisional grants.

It is stated that the expenses incurred by the parish officials of Woolwich in consequence of this calamity may be reckoned at upwards of £1200, a sum which includes the cost of the 429 coffins they had to provide.

The inquest at Woolwich was resumed on Wednesday. At the urgent request of the Coroner for Kent, and of the owners of the Princess Alice and Bywell Castle, the Board of Trade consented to the postponement of the official inquiry, which was to have begun at Poplar on the 24th inst. This will obviate any difficulty which might have arisen through the attendance of witnesses at two inquiries at the same time.

A concert will take place this (Saturday) evening, at Exeter Hall, and the proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the aid of the sufferers in the late collision. Madame Edith Wynne, Madame Nouver, Madame Antoinette Sterling, Mdlle. Hélène Arnim, M. Federici, Mr. Maybrick, Herr Wilhelm Ganz, and other artists have promised their services.

The arrangements for the meeting of the Social Science Association, at Cheltenham, on the 23rd prox., are fairly complete. The Rev. Dr. Barry, Canon of Worcester, is to preach the opening sermon, and Lord Norton, K.C.M.G., President, will give the opening address. The following are the presidents of departments, each of whom will give an address:—1. Jurisprudence, Mr. Commissioner Miller, Q.C., LL.D.; 2. Education, the Hon. George Brodrick; 3. Health, Mr. W. H. Michael, Q.C., F.C.S.; 4. Economy, Professor Bonamy Price; 5. Art, Mr. Gambier Parry. Among the special subjects for discussion are—in department 1, codification of the criminal law and extension of the summary jurisdiction of magistrates; in department 2, the expediency of increasing the number of universities and secondary education; in department 3, regulation of house building and improving the sanitary condition of existing houses; in department 4 will be considered the economic principles which should regulate the borrowing powers of local corporations; and in department 5, the improvement of street architecture, with due regard to economy, will be discussed, and how a sound knowledge of music may be more generally disseminated. In addition to these questions which have been specially appointed for discussion, and on which papers have been obtained, papers volunteered on other subjects coming within the range of the departments will also be read and discussed. It is proposed to hold two conversaziones, to organise excursions to various places of interest in the neighbourhood, and to have a working men's meeting on one evening during the congress, to be addressed by members of the congress. The proceedings will occupy eight days.

The Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol distributed the prizes at the Tolzey, Bristol, last Saturday, to the successful competitors at the musical examinations held in Gloucester in June last. The Deputy-Mayor presided.

The Duke of Devonshire has signified his intention of presenting two acres of land as a site for the new Carlisle Grammar School, which it is proposed to erect in lieu of the old school in Eaglesfield Abbey, and towards which the Ecclesiastical Commissioners have made a grant of £10,000 as an endowment and of £5000 in aid of the building fund.

THE LATE KAFFIR WAR.

One of the remaining sketches taken by our Special Artist who was in South Africa, during the early part of this year, with the British military force employed against the hostile Galekas and Gaikas on the colonial eastern frontier, is presented, though so long after the event, in the way of "Reminiscences of the Kaffir War." It represents a scene of bloodshed, but the charitable work of feeding destitute Kaffir women and children, great numbers of whom came to head-quarters, and to every fort or advanced post, begging relief, since the men of their nation had left them unprovided for in taking the field against us. Their wants, in every instance where it was practicable, were promptly and liberally supplied, and it is to be hoped that the little boys, at any rate, will have learnt not to fight the English, but to live in peace and comfort.

We regret to be informed, by a telegram of news from Capetown to the 3rd inst., that the state of affairs in the Transvaal is rather worse. The chiefs Gangelizene, Mantanzima, and Umquileka are assuming an aggressive attitude, and the Zulus everywhere show hostility to the British military operations in the Transvaal. The Kowannas have retreated into the mountains beyond the Orange river. Cetewayo continues to observe an attitude of covert hostility to the English. In the Transvaal some fighting is now going on; Fort Weber and Leydenburg are surrounded by hostile bands, which have hitherto been repulsed.

The appointment of Colonel Warren, C.E., as Administrator of West Griqua Land, has been announced; Colonel Jarvis is appointed Commandant-General of the colonial militia force, and Mr. Griffiths to be Government agent in Basuto Land.

THE AUSTRIANS IN BOSNIA.

Our Special Artist with the army commanded by General Philippovich in Bosnia supplies two or three more sketches of the incidents which attended the Austrian advance upon Serajevo, with a view of the house in that city occupied for the head-quarters of the Commander-in-Chief. It is said that in every town occupied by the Austrian forces enormous dépôts of arms have been found; in Serajevo alone there were stored 4,000,000 cartridges, 10,000 cannon charges, 500 cwt. of gunpowder, and a large number of new rifles by various makers.

The news of this week from Bosnia has been most favourable to the Austrians. Not only has Dolni Tuzla, but also the strongly fortified place Bielina, fallen without a struggle into the hands of the Imperial troops, and the insurgents in the Posavina have been driven back on Zwornik. The surrender of Zwornik, which is an important fortress on the eastern frontier of Bosnia, adjacent to Servia, was announced on Thursday last; but this wants confirmation.

The correspondent of a Vienna journal at Serajevo declares most positively that the Bosnian insurrection will be altogether repressed in a few weeks' time. It is stated further that neither the Christian nor the Jewish population have offered rosistance to the Austrians, who, as a rule, have only been opposed by Mohammedans, incited by fanatical priests and supported by the Turkish civil and military authorities and detachments of Turkish troops. Large numbers of the native population, including some Mohammedans, are flocking from all sides to Serajevo and other towns, to place themselves under the protection of the Austrian army, while anxiously awaiting the termination of the insurrection.

In reply to a request of the Mohammedan chiefs in Bosnia, the Servian Government has consented to receive refugees, women, and children, fleeing from the besieged towns in the Posavina district. Insurgent combatants, however, on crossing the Servian frontier, will be disarmed. Many hundred Mohammedan families have crossed into Servia. The refugees have been received with kindness, and have been furnished with transport, provisions, and lodgings by the Servian officials.

The western part of Bosnia seems now to be almost entirely subdued, as the fortress of Bihacs capitulated last week. The Imperial troops entered the fortress, and found there five cannon of heavy calibre, arms of other kinds, and ammunition. Of the Turkish regular troops there were in the place one staff officer, and a body of artillerymen. The town is picturesquely situated at the foot of the Benakovac Mountains. The river Unna divides the town in two, but the greater part is built on the left bank. There are some 4500 inhabitants, almost exclusively Mussulman. The fortress which gave the assailants so much trouble is on a small island in the river close to the town. Bihacs is a place of historical note, having been the scene of sanguinary battles in the fifteenth, sixteenth, and eighteenth centuries.

General Jovanovich announces that the virtual pacification of Herzegovina is concluded. On the 11th inst. he started upon an expedition against the most important places in Eastern Herzegovina. On the 16th Bilck, the great rallying point of the insurgents, was occupied without any resistance, and on the 18th he reached Trebinje. A column was then directed to proceed to Gatchko, which had already sent its allegiance to the Emperor Francis Joseph. Korjenice, Livno, and Klobuk will shortly be cleared of the insurgents. During the difficult march of the Imperial troops the Montenegrins maintained a friendly attitude.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON, and CO.'S PUBLICATIONS.

MR. HEATH'S NEW BOOK IS JUST READY.

OUR WOODLAND TREES. By FRANCIS GEORGE HEATH, Author of "The Fern World," "The Fern Paradise," &c. Large post 8vo, handsomely bound in cloth, gilt edges, about 300 pages, with eight Coloured Plates, giving Leaves, Photographed and Coloured from Nature, of all the Trees described in the text, and numerous Full-page and other Wood Engravings, 12s. 6d.

NOW READY, NEW WORK BY THE AUTHOR OF "A DAY OF MY LIFE AT ETON."

ABOUT SOME FELLOWS. By an ETON BOY. Dedicated to all who wish well to Eton, in the hope that it may make them wish better; all who wish well to Eton, in the hope that it may show them we are no worse than we ought to be; all who are disinterested in Eton, in the hope that they may at least be amused, if nothing else. Uniform with "A Day of My Life." 16mo, cloth limp, 2s. 6d.

THE NEW ADDITION TO LOW'S STANDARD SIX-SHILLING NOVELS IS

THE WRECK OF THE "GROSVENOR." By W. CLARKE RUSSELL. Third and cheaper Edition. 6s. "Fascinating. . . . Admirably written. . . . Full of force and colour."—Spectator.

AULD LANG SYNE. New Novel. By the Author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor." 2 vols. SAMPSON LOW, MARSTON, SEARLE, and RIVINGTON, Crown-buildings, 188, Fleet-street, E.C.

MARCUS WARD and CO.'S OCTOBER LIST.

THE BLUEBELL SERIES OF NEW NOVELS, in Complete Volumes, at the popular price of Two shillings.

CLARE. By LIZZIE ALLDRIDGE. Illustrated by Frank Dadd. The Sixth Monthly Volume. Will be ready Oct. 1.

As the Bluebell Series includes only healthy tales which have not appeared before in any form, their low price should command public support.

N.B.—Miss CHARLOTTE M. YONGE contributes the NOVEMBER Volume.

THE ILLUSTRATED WAVERLEY NOVELS, In Half-Crown (Complete) Volumes, Monthly. Clear type, well illustrated, and elegantly bound in cloth.

THE ABBOT. With Illustrations. Now ready. The Series is also being issued half-bound extra, price 3s. 6d. per Volume.

In Monthly Parts, price 1s. Part VII. on OCT. 1,

OUR NATIVE LAND: Its Scenery and Associations. Three Chromograph Views in each part, with descriptive letterpress. Part VII. will contain views in colours of Carrick-a-Rede, Dunluce Castle, and Dunseverick Castle (North of Ireland).

MARCUS WARD and Co., London, Belfast, and Philadelphia.

IMPORTANT NEW NOVEL. 3 vols., crown 8vo. At every Library,

OUR LADY OF TEARS. By LEITH DERWENT. CHATTO and WINDUS, Piccadilly, W.

NEW AND CHEAPER ILLUSTRATED EDITION OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF W. M. THACKERAY. Now ready, with Illustrations by the Author, Frederick Walker, and H. B. Wallace,

THE ADVENTURES OF PHILIP. Vol. II. Crown 8vo, 3s. 6d. London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Now ready (One Shilling). No. 226,

THE CORNHILL MAGAZINE for OCTOBER. With Illustrations by George du Maurier and Frank Dickse.

CONTENTS.

Within the Precincts (with an Illustration). Chap. XXV.—What Followed. XXVI.—The Fool's Paradise. XXVII.—A Terrible Interruption.
The Centaurs. Part II. By S. Colvin.
Ranceley.
Covin's Revenge. Chap. I.—Making Hay in the Sunshine. II.—A Daniel come to Judgment. III.—Who Tolled the Bell.
Literary Coincidences.
Colour in Painting.
For Percival (with an Illustration). Chap. XLVI.—The Result of Percival's Economy. XLVII.—Consequences.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Price One Shilling, Illustrated,

BELGRAVIA for OCTOBER.

CONTENTS.

The Haunted Hotel. By Wilkie Collins. Illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.
Among the Thousand Islands. By J. Arbuthnot Wilson.
"A Tourist from Infancy." By Bret Harte.
The Reader of Plays. By Dutton Cook.
Simpson, of Dunsoa. By James Payn.
What I Saw in an Ant's Nest. By Andrew Wilson.
An Organist's Holiday.
Famous Theatrical Riots. By H. Burton Baker.
The Return of the Native. By Thomas Hardy. Illustrated.
CHATTO and WINDUS, Piccadilly, W.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST JOURNAL FOR LADIES IN THE WORLD.

MYRA'S JOURNAL OF DRESS AND FASHION.—NOVELTIES FOR OCTOBER. Price 6d.; postage, 2d.

CONTENTS.

1. Dress and Fashion in Paris, by Madame Goubaud.
2. Models at the Dressmakers.
3. Spinnings in Town, by the SILKWORM.
4. Myra's Answers on Dress; Health, Personal Attention Books, Music, &c.
5. Costumes—Demi-saison, Walking, Country, and Mourning.
6. Toilettes—Dinner, Reception, Visiting, and Ball.
7. A Beautifully-Coloured Fashion Plate showing Models for Walking Toilettes for Ladies and Children.
8. A Diagram Sheet, containing full-size Models for Cutting-out:—(1) The Marguerite Costume; (2) The Cleopatra Morning Dress.
9. EXTRA SHEET, containing Designs for Embroidery, the whole of the Marguerite Costume.
10. Needlework:—Embroidered Fire Screen; Bolster Cushion; Work Case in Guipure d'Art; Crochet Rosette, &c.

Yearly Subscription, 8s.; Half-Yearly, 4s.
GOUBAUD and SON, 39 and 40, Bedford-street, Covent-garden.

NOW READY,

THE ILLUSTRATED PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (172), Strand; and H. Williams, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

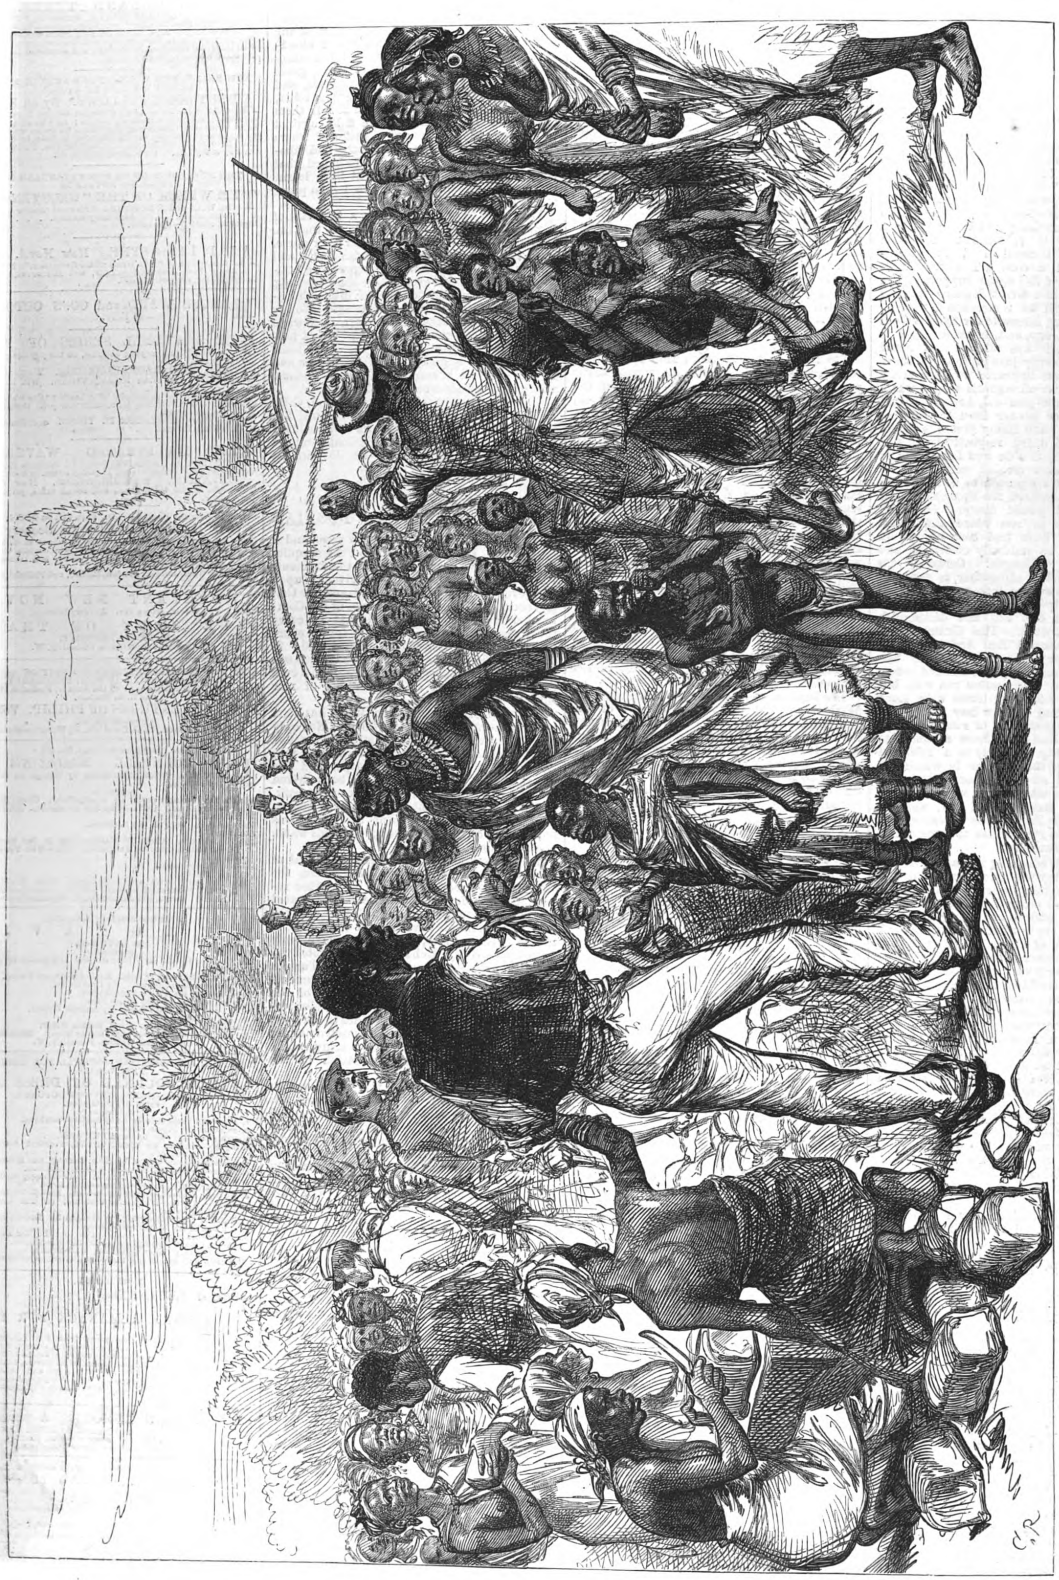
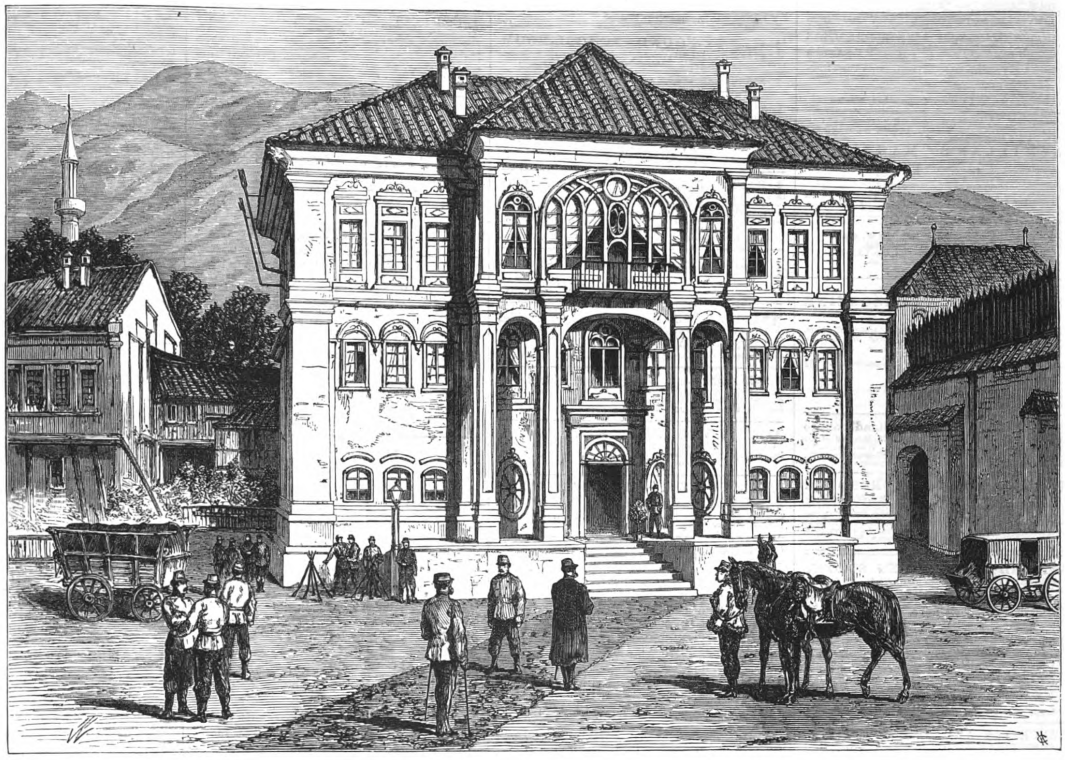
CANCER AND TUMOURS, A Successful Mode of Treating Certain Forms of. By ALEX. MARSDEN, M.D., Senior Surgeon to the Cancer Hospital, London. Price 2s. 6d.—J. and A. CHURCHILL, New Burlington-street.



Third Edition, Sixth Thousand, gratis and post-free,

CANCER and EXTERNAL TUMOURS; their successful Dispersion by the Method and other Processes without the knife. By H. ROBINSON, R.A., L.R.C.S.I., Senior Surgeon to St. Saviour's Cancer Hospital, North-end, Fulham, S.W.
London: J. B. LANCASTER, 2, Osnaburgh-street, S.W.

Now publishing,



CHARLES HALLÉ'S NEW EDITION of all the most Popular PIANOFORTE PIECES. Carefully Edited and Fingered, with metronome marks. Catalogues post-free.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, 272, Regent-circus, Oxford-street, London; Cross-street, South King-street, Manchester.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS. Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

REMINISCENCES OF THE KAFFIR WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA: FEEDING KAFFIR WOMEN AND CHILDREN.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

THE AUSTRIANS IN BOSNIA.

GENERAL PHILIPPOVICH'S HEAD-QUARTERS AT SERAJEVO
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

AUSTRIANS MAKING FREE WITH THE HAYSTACKS.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

Now ready, price 7d.,

THE MAGAZINE OF ART
for OCTOBER.
POMPEII, A.D. 79. From a Picture in the Royal Academy, by A. ELMORE, R.A. Frontispiece.
ARTISTS' HAUNTS—CORNWALL. "The Cliffs" (continued); "The Lizard." With Five Illustrations.
ETCHING IN ENGLAND.
LIFE OF VIGAT COLE, A.R.A. With Portrait and Illustrations of "Arundel" and "Summer Rain."
NOTES ON INDUSTRIAL ART AT THE MIDLAND COUNTIES MUSEUM, NOTTINGHAM. With Two Illustrations.
ON SOME PICTORIAL ELEMENTS IN ENGLISH SECULAR ARCHITECTURE. With Three Illustrations.
PAINTING ON GLASS. By N. H. J. WESTLAKE, F.S.A. With Three Illustrations.
THE PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION. With Three Illustrations.
ART-NOTES FOR OCTOBER.
NOTICES OF ART-BOOKS, &c.
CASSELL, PETTER, and GALPIN, Ludgate-hill, London.

A NEW STORY, BY THE AUTHOR OF "THAT LASS O' LOWRIE'S," BEGINS IN THE OCTOBER NUMBER OF MACMILLAN'S MAGAZINE.

MACMILLAN'S MAGAZINE,
No. 228.
for OCTOBER.
Price 1s.

CONTENTS OF THE NUMBER.

1. Hayworth's. By Frances Hodgson Burnett. Chapters I.—VI.
2. Sketches from Eastern Sicily.—I. Messina. By Edward A. Freeman, D.C.L., LL.D.
3. Love in the Valley. By George Meredith.
4. Compulsory or Voluntary Service.
5. "Through the Dark Continent" in 1720. By W. Minto.
6. Reformed Public-Houses. By M. W. Moggridge.
7. A Doubting Heart. By Miss Keary. Chapters IX.—XI.
8. The Australians in Bosnia. By Arthur J. Evans.

MACMILLAN and Co., London.

Price One Shilling, Illustrated,

THE GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE
for OCTOBER.

CONTENTS.

Cupid. Part II. By G. A. Sala. Illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.
Sir Austen Layard's Accusations and Intrigues. By Malcolm MacColl.
Sir John Suckling. By George Barnett Smith.
On Ether Drinking and Extra-Alcoholic Intoxication. By Benjamin W. Richardson, M.D.
Betting on Races. By Richard A. Proctor.
The Last Kaffir War. By Frederick A. Edwards.
The Law of Surnames. By John Amphlett.
Table-Talk. By Sylvanus Urban.

POTTERY-PAINTING: a Handbook to the Practice. By JOHN C. L. SPARKES, Director of the Lambeth School of Art, &c. Second Edition. Post-free, 1s. 1d. London: LECHERTIER, BARBE, and Co., 60, Regent-street, W. (Agents in England for Lacroix's Ceramic Colours).

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive Method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

NATIONAL ART-TRAINING SCHOOL, South Kensington.—PUBLIC ART CLASSES, in connection with the Training School.—The NEXT SESSION will commence on OCT. 1. Separate Classes, open to the Public on payment of fees, are established for Students of both sexes, the studies comprising Drawing, Painting, and Modelling, as applied to Ornament, the Figure, Landscape, and still Life.
Candidates for Admission who are not already registered as Students of the School must pass a preliminary examination in Free-Hand Drawing of the second grade.
Special Admission Examinations will be held at the School at frequent intervals during the Session. Application for information as to Fees, &c., and for Admission, should be made to the SECRETARY, Science and Art Department; or, on and after Oct. 1, to the REGISTRAR, at the School, Exhibition-road, South Kensington, S.W.

By order of the
LORDS OF THE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL ON EDUCATION.

SCIENCE and ART DEPARTMENT of the COMMITTEE of COUNCIL on EDUCATION. SOUTH KENSINGTON NATIONAL ART-TRAINING SCHOOL.
Forty Lectures on the Historical Development of Ornamental Art, with special reference to Aesthetics and the general courses given during the last two Sessions, will be delivered by Dr. G. G. Zerffi, F.R.S.L., F.R.Hist.A., in the Lecture Theatre, South Kensington Museum, during the Two Sessions 1878 and 1879, on Tuesday Evenings, at Eight o'Clock, commencing TUESDAY, OCT. 8, 1878.
The public will be admitted on Payment of 10s. for each Sessional Course of Twenty Lectures; or 1s. for the complete Annual Course of Forty Lectures; or 1s. each Lecture.

MATRICULATION of the UNIVERSITY of LONDON, January, 1879.
A CLASS in all the Subjects of this Examination will be held at GUY'S HOSPITAL, commencing MONDAY, OCT. 14. The class is not confined to Students of the hospital. For Particulars, apply to the DEAN, Guy's Hospital London, S.E.

CYPRUS.—THE IMPERIAL OTTOMAN BANK is prepared, through its LONDON and PARIS AGENCIES, to grant CREDITS, to receive and REMIT MONEY, and to act generally as Bankers in connection with Cyprus, where it has for many years past had a branch establishment.
London Agency, 26, Throgmorton-street, E.C.
Paris Agency, 7, Rue Meyerbeer.

BRIGHTON. FURNISHED HOUSES for the SEASON.—For particulars of those in the best situations—Adelaide-crescent, Palmeira-square, Brunswick-square, Brunswick-terrace, West Brighton—apply to Messrs. CROUCH and STEVENS, 20, Western-road, Brighton.

STEAM-BOAT ACCIDENTS, Railway Accidents, Accidents of all kinds insured against by the RAILWAY PASSENGERS ASSURANCE COMPANY.
The Oldest and Largest Accidental Insurance Company.
The Right Hon. Lord KINNAIRD, Chairman.
£1,230,000 have been paid as compensation.
No. 64, Cornhill, London. WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.
DUCAL LINE. Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; to Mellamby, Green-fields, and Co., or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious disease, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of success for cases forwarded for two stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily, Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

LOANS PRIVATELY NEGOTIATED.
Confidential communications to Mr. MORRIS, 28, Red Lion-square, W.C., will receive immediate attention. Reversions, Life Interests, and Legacies purchased.

TO INVESTORS.—Before Investing inquire of the INVESTORS' GUARDIAN PUBLICATION. Fullest information in all Stocks and Shares. Prospectus free, 2, Draper's-gardens, Throgmorton-street.—E. WEST, Manager.

ORDER EVERYTHING YOU REQUIRE THROUGH COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY, 61, Haymarket, London, S.W., and save from 5 to 50 per cent and much time and trouble by so doing.

ONE THOUSAND SPORTING PICTURES for SALE—great bargains. The Guinea Prize Parcel consists of the Derby winner, Sefton; City and suburban winner, Julius Cæsar; three Waterloo Cup winners—viz., Master Magrath, Donald, Honeymoon. The above prize is for this month only, as the usual prize is three guineas.—CEO. REES, 41, 42, 43, Russell-street, Covent-garden. Established quarter of a century. P.S.—Jannette can be had in place of either of the above horses when published.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, deceive you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

JUDSON'S DYES.—6d. each, of Chemists. Curtains, Tablecovers, Mantles, Scarves, Jackets dyed in ten minutes in a pail of hot water.
Judson's Dyes—Crimson, Green, and Twenty-four Colours.

PIANO, £35 (Civil Service cash price) Trichord Drawing-Room Model, repetition action, grand rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with elaborately carved and fretwork fronts, and cabriole trues legs, elaborately carved and fretwork fronts, and cabriole trues legs. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square.

BROADWOOD and COLLARD COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, fullest compass of Seven Octaves. Two beautiful instruments, of rich and full tone, in the choicest beautiful instruments, of rich and full tone, in the choicest and most elegant walnut-wood cases, nearly new. To be SOLD at an unusually and most elegant walnut-wood, nearly new. To be SOLD at an unusually low price. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street. low price. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street.

TWENTY-POUND SCHOOL-ROOM PIANO (Co-operative price for cash). Seven octaves, strong, sound, and substantial. Adapted for hard practice. Packed free. Illustrated Book of Designs gratis and post-free. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

EBONY and GOLD PIANOS, 25 guineas, 35 guineas, and 45 guineas.—These charming and elegant Pianos, with ormolu embellishments, repetition action, and every recent improvement, may now be obtained at the above low prices for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, at 1 guinea per month. The new Illustrated Catalogue gratis and post-free. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—Messrs. ERARD, of 18, Great Marlborough-street, London, and 13, Rue de Mail, Paris, Makers to her Majesty and the Prince and Princess of Wales, CAUTION the public that Pianofortes are being sold bearing the name of "Erard" which are not of the Firm manufacture. For information as to authenticity apply at 18, Great Marlborough-st., where New Pianos can be obtained from 50 guineas.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—COTTAGES, from 20 guineas.
OBLIQUES, from 85 guineas.
GRANDS, from 125 guineas.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Lodgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, £4 to £120. Snuffboxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Offices, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 2s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Books, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced List post-free. WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

DIAMONDS. — GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited), 11 and 12, Cornhill, London.—DIAMOND NECKLACES, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear-rings, Crosses, Lockets. Half-hoop, and Single-Stone Rings, &c., in great variety, at fixed net prices for cash.

THE BEST ENGLISH WATCHES.
The GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited) request the attention of purchasers to their stock of LONDON-MADE PATENT LEVER WATCHES, which, being manufactured by themselves on the premises, are confidently recommended for accuracy and durability.

Prices of Silver Watches.

Patent Lever Watch, jewelled, enamel dial, and seconds	£4 14 6
Ditto, jewelled in four holes and capped	5 5 0
Ditto, the finest quality, jewelled in six holes	8 8 0

Silver Watches with hunting case, 10s. 6d. extra.

Gold Watches—Size for Ladies.

Patent Lever Watches, with gold dial, jewelled	11 11 0
Ditto, with richly engraved case	12 12 0
Ditto, with very strong case, and jewelled in four holes	14 14 0

Gold Watches—Size for Gentlemen.

Patent Lever Watches, jewelled, seconds, and capped ..	13 13 0
Ditto, jewelled in six holes, and gold balance	18 18 0

Keyless Watches in hunting cases, £3 3s. extra.
Lists of Prices, with remarks on watches, gratis and post-free.

E. DENT and CO., 61, Strand; and 34 and 35 (within), Royal Exchange, London, Manufacturers of Watches, Chronometers, &c., to her Majesty. Makers of the great Westminster clock (Big Ben) and of the Standard clock (the primary standard for the purpose of the United Kingdom) of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich.
Catalogues on application.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES.
In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, dust-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price-Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

MR. STREETER,
18, NEW BOND-STREET, W.
GOLDSMITH AND JEWELLER.
The only Jeweller in England whose Stock consists of one uniform standard quality—viz., 18 carats.
LONDON-MADE JEWELLERY
of Exquisite Design and Workmanship.
DIAMOND ORNAMENTS
in great variety, at prices relative to their intrinsic value.
SPECIALITIES IN BRIDESMAIDS' LOCKETS, WEDDING PRESENTS, &c.
THE "TALISMAN" BRACELET
(Patented) a Novelty for the Season from £5.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK.
A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION,
by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinion of Press.
Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

JEWEL ROBBERIES PREVENTED.—J. TANN'S RELIANCE SAFES have never failed to resist the attempts of the most determined burglars. Fire-Resisting Safes, £5 5s. Lists free.—11, Newgate-street, E.C.

CHUBBS' FIRE and THIEF RESISTING SAFES, steel-plated, and with their Patent Diagonal Bolts, are the most secure. Chubbs' Patent Latches and Locks for all purposes. Cash and Deed Boxes. Price-Lists sent free.
CHUBB and SON, 128, Queen Victoria-street, St. Paul's, E.C.; and 68, St. James's-street, S.W.

NOTICE.—SILVER and ELECTRO-PLATE.—ELKINGTON and CO., Manufacturing Silversmiths and Patentees of the Electro-Plate. Revised Illustrated Electro-Book of New Designs in Table Plate of all kinds, and new qualities in Spoons and Forks for wear, free by post on application. Testimonial Plate in Solid Silver, in great variety, always in stock; and Committees provided with Designs to work Examples to suit all occasions.
Address—Elkington and Co., 22, Regent-street, London; or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

OSLER'S GLASS CHANDELIERS, Wall Lights and Lustres for Gas and Candles.
Chandeliers in Bronze and Ormolu.
DUPLEX LAMPS
fitted with Patent Governor.
KEROSENE AND OTHER OILS OF THE FINEST QUALITY.
TABLE GLASS of ALL KINDS
and NEWEST DESIGNS.
ORNAMENTAL GLASS, ENGLISH and FOREIGN.
Minton's and Worcester, Porcelain and Stone China.
BIRMINGHAM: Manufactory and Show Rooms, Broad-street.
LONDON: Show-Rooms, 45, Oxford-street, W.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Medieval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every article marked with plain figures.
D. HULETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn.

IMPROVED BREECHLOADERS, Central Fire, Choke-Bore. Express Rifles, single and double. Wildfowl Guns, large calibres.—E. M. REILLY and CO., 315 and 502, Oxford-street, London; Rue Scribe, Paris.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to the Show-Rooms,

EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparison of price and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to cash purchasers in delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and fixing in position by competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

SIDEBOARDS.—OETZMANN and CO.'S Large and Handsome Mahogany or Oak Sideboard, with high plate-glass back and carved mountings, price 15 guineas; massive Spanish Mahogany or Oak ditto, very handsome, 25 guineas; noble Spanish Mahogany or Oak ditto, richly decorated, carved, and lofty plate-glass back, made and finished in the best possible manner, price 35 guineas. A variety of Early English and other designs in rich Spanish Mahogany or finest carved Oak, from 25 to 50 guineas.—OETZMANN and CO.

ANGLO-INDIAN CARPETS.
OETZMANN and CO.—These elegant Carpets, of which Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. have the exclusive sale, are of first-class British manufacture, have all the style and appearance of real Indian Carpets, with the same beauty of design and rich Oriental colourings, at little more than the price of good Brussels, and are very durable. Price-list post-free on application. "The Art Journal" says:—"Messrs. Oetzmann and Co. have made a better article than the Indians, Persians, and Turks, and at less than half the cost, without sacrificing aught of the grace of design and harmony of colours." For the convenience of of design and harmony of colours." For the convenience of those residing at a distance, a large piece, showing the border and centre of carpet, sent on receipt of 5s., which will be deducted from price of carpet, or refunded on return of piece. Or by sending 15s., three pieces—viz., the Anglo-Indian, Anglo-Persian, and Anglo-Turkey—will be sent on the same terms. Hearth-Rugs to match, 6 ft. 6 in. long by 3 ft. wide, £1 11s. 6d. Also, some real Indian Carpets, at reduced prices.
OETZMANN and CO.

CURTAIN DEPARTMENT.—Handsome Damask and Rep Curtains, from 25s. per pair, the largest, cheapest, and best assortment in London; Cretonne ditto, from 12s. 6d. per pair; Madrid striped ditto, all wool, 15s. per pair; Muslin and Lace Curtains, elegant designs, 3 yards long by 60 and 72 inches wide, 8s. 11d. per pair, worth 7s. 6d.; very handsome ditto, 4 yards long by 72 to 96 inches wide, 10s. 6d., worth 16s. 9d.; magnificent Guipure Lace Curtains, 4 yards long by 90 inches wide, 18s. 9d. per pair.—OETZMANN and CO.

THE CLEOPATRA TOILET SERVICE.
OETZMANN and CO.'S New Special Design, a beautiful Grecian shape, meets the great desideratum of art-manufactures—viz., the shape best adapted for the use required, combined with the most artistic design and decoration. Prices from 8s. 6d. per set. Descriptive Price-List post-free.
OETZMANN and CO.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT.
OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the matter entirely in the firm, may rely upon a faithful attempt to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally supervised by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 287 in Catalogue, sent free on application.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Services from £3 5s. the set for twelve persons, complete, with 15 per cent discount for cash on ordering. Full-detailed Table Glass Services from £3 5s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons complete.

DINNER SERVICES.
Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Deep Blue.		In Blue and White.
The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0	The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0
The Laurel	3 13 6	The Indiana	4 4 0
		The Danish	5 5 0

Discount 15 per cent. in Enamelled Patterns. In Ruby Ware.

The One Thousand and Two (As	£5 5 0	In Ruby	£5 5 0
The Japanese Bamboo	6 6 0	In Pink	5 5 0
The Humming-Bird ..	7 7 0	In Black	5 5 0
The Sèvres	10 10 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES.

Plain light stem glass ..	£3 3 0	Light engraved glass ..	£5 15 6
Richly cut glass	5 5 0	Richly engraved glass	9 19 6

Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, sent post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufactories, 458 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

MORTLOCK'S CHINA.
MORTLOCK'S ART POTTERY.
MORTLOCK'S NEW GLASS.
MORTLOCK'S LAMPS.
JOHN MORTLOCK and CO.,
Oxford-street Corner, 202, 203, Oxford-street; 20, 31, 32, Orchard-street, W. Established 1746.

DEANE and CO.'S TABLE CUTLERY, celebrated for more than 150 years, remains unrivalled for quality and cheapness. The stock is extensive and complete, affords a choice suited to every purchaser.

Ivory Handles.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
Table Knives, per doz.	18 0	19 0	22 0	25 0	32 0	35 0	40 0
Dessert, ditto	14 0	16 0	19 0	21 0	27 0	30 0	34 0
Carvers, per pair	6 0	6 6	7 0	8 0	9 0	10 0	13 0

DEANE'S FENDERS and FIREIRONS.
Deane and Co.'s Show-Rooms for the display of these goods contain a large, cheap, and choice variety of patterns.

The Hearth Fenders ..	£1 16	£2 7	£4 2	£4 17	£6 0
Fenders, Drawing-room	2 5	3 3	6 6	11 11	15 0
Fireirons	0 15	1 15	3 2	4 15	5 10
Fenders, Dining-room ..	0 17	1 5	1 10	2 5	4 4
Fireirons	0 10	0 15	1 2	1 10	2 5

Bed-room Fenders, from 3s. to 18s. Fireirons, from 3s. to 12s.
Deane and Co.'s Catalogue, with Furnishing Estimates, post-free.
Deane and Co., 46, King William-street, London Bridge, E.C.

SPOONS and FORKS.—SLACKS' SILVER ELECTRO-PLATE is a strong coating of Sterling Silver over Slack's Nickel, and wears equal to real silver. Table Spoons or Forks, 30s. dozen; Dessert, 20s.; Tea, 12s. Catalogues free. Orders over £2 free.—Richard and John Slack, 336, Strand, London. Old Silver exchanged.

MAPLE and CO.,
TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.

MAPLE and CO. supply every requisite for HOUSE FURNISHING, including Linens, Ironmongery, Glass, Crockeryware, Clocks, Bronzes, and every description of Ornaments, either for dining or drawing room, or for Christmas and Wedding Presents, in separate departments.

MAPLE and CO., the largest and most convenient FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT in the world. A House of any magnitude Furnished from Stock in three days. Purchasers should inspect the Stock before deciding elsewhere. All goods marked in plain figures. Estab. 30 years. An Illustrated Catalogue post-free.

MAPLE and CO., Importers.
TURKEY CARPETS,
INDIAN CARPETS,
PERSIAN CARPETS.

OVER 2000 DAGHESTAN and SOWENACK CARPETS, also 500 Turkey Carpets, of extra fine quality and at marvellously low prices, just received from Constantinople. These Goods have been bought by Agents especially dispatched by Messrs. MAPLE and CO. for cash, are of great rarity, some being very handsome old prayer rugs, which have been made over a hundred years. The prices are wonderfully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these curiosities.—145, 146, 147, Tottenham-court-road, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
AUTUMN COSTUMES,
at greatly reduced prices. Made to measure for the country on the shortest notice.
Cashmere Costumes, trimmed satin, £2 10s. 6d.; with Paletot, £2 16s. 6d.; in new Autumn shades.
Cashmere Costumes, 35s. 6d.; with Paletot, 2gs. Trimmed silk, £2 12s. 6d.; with Paletot, £2 18s. 6d.
Autumn Lustre Costumes, 29s. 6d.; with Paletot, 35s. 6d.
Black Cashmere Costumes, 32s. 6d.; with Paletot, 39s. 6d. Slightly trimmed with silk, 2 gs.; with Paletot, 2½ gs.
Costume Parisian à l'Ecossais, Haute Nouveauté, made in all fashionable Clans, with Silk or Velvet Waistcoat, price 3½ gs. This Costume is an exact copy from the Paris Exhibition, being sold 265 francs, gaining more admiration than any other in that gigantic building. Louvre Hat to match Costume, 5s. 6d.
Good and handsome Black Silk Costumes, greatly reduced in price, made in the latest Parisian style, 4½, 5½, and 6 gs.
100 Felt Dressing-Gowns, trimmed various colours, at 12s. each; a much better quality, of various shapes and patterns, 14s. 9d. and 16s. 9d.
Some Serged Dressing-Gowns, at 15s. 9d. and 18s. 9d.; about half the usual prices

HENRY GLAVE'S
UNDERCLOTHING and CORSET DEPARTMENT.
A Detailed List of Underclothing and Outfitting sent post-free.
Thomson's "Duchess Corsets," all colours, at 12s. 9d., with the celebrated Taper Busk, improving the outline of the figure and giving ease and freedom to the body.
A superb half-guinea Black and Coloured Embroidered Corset, with the new deep belt and Taper Busk; also in White, Embroidered, at the same price.
A fashionable deep Corset, with belt and Taper Busk, at 6s. 11d., and a second quality at 4s. 11d.
Bar le Duc White Corset, handsomely Embroidered, Taper Busks, price 8s. 11d.
Cyprus Scarlet Belt Corset, a new French Model and Taper Busk, present price 9s. 9d.; usual price 2 guineas.
1000 Embroidered White Paris Wove Stays, with the fashionable Taper Busk, 4s. 11d.
Carlson's Kinder Belts, 18s. 6d., in all sizes.
536, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

FAMILY MOURNING.

Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from	£3 13 6
Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from	£3 18 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from	£3 13 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from	£3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from	£3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from	£4 4 0
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from	£3 13 6
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from	£3 18 6

Material at One Shilling per Yard.
JAY'S,
245, 247, 249, 251, Regent-street.

TRAVELLING ASSISTANTS.
Messrs. JAY have a Staff of Assistants specially engaged to wait upon Ladies at their homes either in Town or Country, to submit Goods for inspection, all of which are marked in plain figures, and sold at the same price as if purchased at the Warehouse in Regent-street.
JAY'S,
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, Regent-street, W.

NOTICE.—VELVETEENS.—1500 Boxes Silk Lyons Moleskin Velvetcens, 1s. 9½d. to 4s. 6d.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP, 198, Regent-street.

SILKS, 1s. 11½d.—Richest Black, Coloured, and Damasse Silks, 1s. 11½d. to 6s. 6d.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP.

COSTUMES, TROCADÉRO, LENORE, and other Newest Ulsters and Jackets, 12s. 9d. to 50s.
Engravings free.—BAKER and CRISP.

ULSTERS and JACKETS.
1000 Homespun Waterproof and other Ulsters and Jackets, 12s. 9d. to 50s.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP, Regent-street.

DRESS FABRICS, 10½d.
£2000 worth New Autumn Fabrics.
Rough-and-Ready and Knock-about Serges.
Estamene Serges, Padua, Cyprus, Savoy, Bonnconfield, Salisbury, Malta, Bania Cloths, Suitings, and 100 other Fabrics, from 10½d. to 2s. 6d. yard.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP'S, 198, Regent-street.

WOOLLEN CLOTHS for LADIES' JACKETS, CLOAKS, ULSTERS, &c., in great variety, at very moderate prices. We also keep a very large Stock suitable for Gentlemen's and Youths' wear. Livery Cloths, &c., equally cheap. Terms, ready money only.
C. MEEKING and CO., Woollen Warehouse, corner of Hatton-garden, Holborn-circus.

WIDOWS' MILLINERY.—Mrs. Creaton (late of 110, Oxford-street) begs to inform widow ladies that she has her usual select assortment of WIDOWS' CAPS of the first designs, for First and Second Mourning, in all materials suited to the present fashions. Also Collarettes, Cuffs, and Collars for evening and morning wear. A superior class of Widows' Bonnets, and every description of Widows' Millinery.—Show-Rooms, No. 294, Regent-street, W. Pattern Sheets post-free. Established thirty-one years.

SHIRTS.—FORD'S EUREKA.—"The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 36s., 40s. 45s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.
116 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Coloured Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
369 Pieces extra rich Brocaded Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
600 Pieces of China Washing Silks, 18s. 9d. for 20 yards.
Grisaille and Gaudrille Silks, 25s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—BLACK SILKS.
One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of Bonnet's Black Silks,
commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of extreme brightness, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES.
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes
at 6½ gs.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES
at 5½ gs.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

VERY FASHIONABLE THIS SEASON.
RICH BLACK VELVET VELVETEENS,
2s. 3d. to 3s. 6d. per yard,
All the New Shades of Colour, 2s. 6d. to 4s. 6d. per yd. Cashmeres
FOR AUTUMN DRESSES,
in Black and all the New Colours,
very wide, at 1s. 11d. to 3s. 6d. per yard.
TRAVELLING AND SEASIDE DRESSES.
Witney, Estamene, and Angola Serges,
Fancy Cashmires, Rich Poplins,
New Autumn Moss Cloths, and other Novelties,
10s. 6d. to 31s. 6d. the Dress.
CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs,
full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
New Fabrics for Paletots, &c.
Beaver Cloth Mohaires,
Poil de Chameau, Diagonals, &c., in Black and Choice Shades of Fawn, Grey, Noir, Mode, &c.
From 4s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. the yard, 54 in. wide.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY,
in Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Mille-raye Cloth,
and Drap Brute; also, in Velvet, Face, Sicilian,
and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Sleet Mantles.
The New Waterproof Tartan Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS
(half fitting),
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles,
in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver,
Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine,
and every other description of Muffs, Neckties, &c.
A large Stock of
RUSSIAN SEAL FUR JACKETS,
24 to 27 in. deep, from 4 guineas upwards.
Imitation Seal Fur Jackets,
42s. each, 26 to 28 in. deep.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood,
and lined Russian Squirrel, 45 in. deep, from 21s. upwards.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined from Russian Squirrel, 48 in. deep, 36s. 6d. upwards.
A great variety of New Shapes
in Silk Mantles
lined with the finest quality of Russian Squirrel.
Fur Carriage and Travelling Rugs, from 30s. upwards.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited),
58 to 63, Oxford-street;
1 to 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

RICH SILK and other COSTUMES.
A grand display of rich Silk, Broché Velvet, and Silken Fabric Costumes for the Autumn, forming such a collection of recherché Novelties as is rarely seen out of Paris, at most moderate prices.
A large variety of novel Costumes of Fashionable New Fabrics in Serges, Lichen Cloths, Cyprus Cloths, Camel's Hair, &c., 2, 3, and 4 guineas each.

MANTLES, ULSTERS, and SEALSKINS.
A large importation of the Latest Novelties.
The Sedan Beaver Paletot, 1 and 2 guineas, handsomely trimmed.
New Travelling Ulsters, all wool, in 27 shades, at 1 guinea, unequalled.
Fine Sealskin Paletots, 36 in. in length, 9½ guineas each. Smaller sizes in proportion.
Fur-lined Mantles and Palebots, 31s. 6d. to 5 guineas.

DRESS MATERIALS in all the Newest
Textures. New Lichen Cloth, 11d. per yard. Camel's-Hair Cloth, 1s. 6d. Tartans, Rampoor Cloth, and the new Broché Cashmeres, so much used in combination, 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d. per yard.
Fine French Cashmeres, in new shades, 1s. 11d., 2s. 7½d., and 2s. 11d. per yard, double width.

MOURNING GOODS
of every description at most moderate prices.
Black Serge Costumes, all wool, 2 guineas. Black and White Striped Costumes, 1 guinea; handsome Costumes, trimmed with patent unspotting crape, for all grades of mourning, ¾ to 8 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

SILKS.—SPECIAL NOTICE.
We are now offering 40,000 yards of Black and Coloured Silks, in all the new shades, at fully 15 to 20 per cent under last year's prices—2s. 11d. to 6s. 11d. per yard.
An Inspection is solicited.
Patterns to the country free.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited),
58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE,
5, Wells-street.

D. NICHOLSON and CO. send post-free Patterns of NEW SILKS,
DRESS FABRICS, and Illustrations of
MANTLES, and COSTUMES.
D. NICHOLSON and COMPANY,
50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM,
NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free for three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT,
194, REGENT-STREET, LONDON, W. AND 39 RUE ST. MARC, PARIS.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY.
THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES.
Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The Whisky is soft, mellow, and pure—well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.
ELLIS'S PURE AERATED RUTHIN WATERS.
ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.—Crystal Springs. "Absolutely Pure."—See analyses, sent free on application.
ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.—Soda, Potass, Seltzer, Lemonade, and also Water without Alkali.
ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.—For Gout, Lithia Water and Lithia and Potass Water.
ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.—Crystal Springs. Corks branded "R. Ellis and Son, Ruthin." Every label bears Trade Mark.
ELLIS'S RUTHIN WATERS.—Sold everywhere. Wholesale, R. ELLIS and SON, Ruthin, North Wales. London Agents, W. BEST and SONS, Henrietta-street, Cavendish-square.

AMERICAN CENTENNIAL PRIZE MEDAL.
FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.
Its pure flavour, delicate aroma, and invigorating qualities have established its position as a first-class dietetic article.

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.
"The Caracas Cocoa of such choice quality."—Food, Water, and Air (Dr. Hassall).
"A most delicious and valuable article."—Standard.

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA,
"than which, if properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—Food, Water, and Air, Edited by Dr. Hassall.
TENTH INTERNATIONAL MEDAL awarded to J. S. FRY and SON.

SCHWEITZER'S COCOATINA.
Anti-Dyspeptic Cocoa or Chocolate Powder.
Guaranteed Pure Soluble Cocoa, with excess of Fat extracted.
Four times the strength of Cocoa Thickened yet Weakened with Arrowroot, Starch, &c.
The faculty pronounce it the most nutritious, perfectly digestive Beverage for "BREAKFAST, LUNCHEON, or SUPPER."
Keeps in all Climates. Requires no Cooking. A teaspoonful to Breakfast Cup, costing less than a halfpenny. Samples gratis.
In Air-Tight Tins, at 1s. 6d., 3s., 5s., by Chemists and Grocers.
H. SCHWEITZER and CO., 10, Adam-street, London, W.C.

CHOCOLAT MENIER, in ½ lb. and ¼ lb. Packets.
For
BREAKFAST and SUPPER.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.—Awarded Twenty-Three PRIZE MEDALS.
Consumption annually exceeds 17,000,000 lbs.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Paris, London, New York.
Sold Everywhere.

EPPS'S GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.

COCOA. JAMES EPPS AND CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

HORNIMAN'S TEA for Forty Years has commanded a large sale, because it can always be relied on for strength, flavour, and cheapness. It is the best tea imported. Sold only in Packets.

PURE KANGRA VALLEY TEA, direct from the Plantations, at 4s. per lb., in Ten-Pound Tins, or 3s. 6d. per lb. in Original Chests of Fifty Pounds each, may be obtained from COCKBURN'S AGENCY, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

SUMMER DELICACIES.
BROWN and POLSON'S
CORN FLOUR
AS BLANCMANGE WITH STEWED FRUIT.
BROWN and POLSON'S
CORN FLOUR
AS BAKED PUDDING WITH STEWED FRUIT.
BROWN and POLSON'S
CORN FLOUR
AS CUSTARD PUDDING WITH STEWED FRUIT.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whites, for Pastry, 9s. 4d. per bushel: Households, for Bread, 8s. 8d. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 8s. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3s. 2d. per stone: fine, 3s. 4d. American Hominy, 4s. Barley Meal, Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 5s. per bushel, or 1s. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 1s. 6d. per sack. Peas, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Tick Beans, 7s. 6d.; Middlings, 3s. 6d.; Ground Pollard, 1s. 8d. Meat biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, 3s. per peck. Lentil Flour, for Invalids, in Tins, 1 lb. size, 1s.; 7 lb., 5s. All other kinds of Grain and Seed. Special prices for larger quantities. P.O. Orders and Cheques payable to G. YOUNG.

PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP. For the Toilet, the Nursery, and for Shaving. Refined, free from excess of alkali and from artificial colouring, delicately and wholesomely perfumed, it is soap in its purest form, and hence the most healthful in use; its great durability makes it also the most economical. For Ladies, Children, or anyone with delicate and sensitive skin it is invaluable, as it may be safely used where no other soap is admissible. It has stood the test of eighty years' trial, received six prize medals, and the valued recommendations of many eminent medical practitioners. Sold by all Chemists, and by Pears, 91, Great Russell-street, London.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE COMPLEXION,
Making the skin clear, smooth, and lustrous.
WRIGHT'S COAL TAR SOAP
(SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS).
Highly and extensively recommended for the toilet and in all cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. Startin, M.R.C.S., Surgeon to St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, the late Mr. James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Savile-row, Mr. McCall Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodside-crescent, Glasgow, and the other leading members of the profession. In Tablets, 6d. and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of all Chemists.
W. V. WRIGHT and CO. London.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The best remedy for acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The safest and most gentle aperient for delicate constitutions, Ladies, Children, and Infants.
OF ALL CHEMISTS.

CANCER.—RINGWOOD'S INDIAN CANCER and TUMOUR SPECIFIC has exploded the theory that cancer is incurable. It removes in a short time all forms of cancer and tumours, without the necessity of any operation or use of caustic. It instantly removes all pain. By its timely use many lives have been saved. It is decidedly the greatest medical discovery of the nineteenth century. A Full Course, which is sufficient to cure any case, sent securely packed to any part of the world on receipt of 22 lbs., by LONDON PATENT MEDICINE COMPANY, 4 and 5, Agar-street, Strand, W.C. London, who are Sole Agents, and to whom all orders may be addressed.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S
WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER.
IT CANNOT FAIL TO RESTORE GREY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOUR, GLOSS, AND BEAUTY. WHEN THE HAIR TURNS GREY, LOSES ITS LUSTRE, AND FALLS OUT, IT SIMPLY REQUIRES NOURISHMENT. MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER, BY ITS GENTLE TONIC ACTION, STRENGTHENS AND INVIGORATES THE HAIR, AND, BY THE OPERATION OF NATURAL CAUSES, GREY OR WHITE HAIR IS QUICKLY RESTORED TO THE YOUTHFUL COLOUR, GLOSS, AND BEAUTY. IT WILL STOP ITS FALLING, AND INDUCE A HEALTHY AND MOST LUXURIANT GROWTH USE NO OTHER PREPARATION WITH IT. NOT EVEN OIL OR POMADE, OR ZYLO-BALSAMUM.
CAUTION!!—The Genuine only in Pink Wrappers.
Sold by all Chemists, Perfumers, and Dealers in Toilet Articles.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
MRS. S. A. ALLEN manufactures two entirely distinct Preparations for the Hair. One or the other is suited to every condition of the Human Hair. Both can never required at one time. For details as to each preparation, kindly read above and below this paragraph. Readers can easily determine which of the two they require.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S
ZYLO-BALSAMUM,
For the Growth and Preservation of the Hair.
A cooling transparent liquid, entirely vegetable, without sediment.

A SIMPLE TONIC AND DRESSING OF INESTIMABLE VALUE TO BOTH SEXES, THE FAVOURITE WITH THE YOUNG AND ALL THOSE WHO HAVE NO GREY HAIR. PREMATURE LOSS OF THE HAIR, SO COMMON IN THESE DAYS, MAY BE ENTIRELY PREVENTED BY THE USE OF ZYLO-BALSAMUM. PROMPT RELIEF IN THOUSANDS OF CASES HAS BEEN AFFORDED WHERE THE HAIR HAS BEEN COMING OUT IN HANDFULS. IT PROMOTES A HEALTHY AND VIGOROUS GROWTH. HAIR DRESSED WITH ZYLO-BALSAMUM IS ALWAYS CLEAN, FREE FROM DANDRUFF, AND WITH THAT BEAUTIFUL GLOSS ONLY SEEN IN HEALTHY HAIR. IT IS DELIGHTFULLY FRAGRANT. NO OIL OR POMADE SHOULD BE USED WITH IT.
CAUTION!!—The Genuine only in Bluish Grey Wrappers.
Sold by all Chemists, Perfumers, and Dealers in Toilet Articles.

GOLDEN STAR
BAY-LEAF WATER.
Triple distilled from the fresh leaves of the Bay Tree (Myrcia Acris).
For the TOILET, NURSERY, and BATH.
A few drops on a sponge or towel moistened with water, and the face and hands bathed with it, is very beneficial to the skin, removing all roughness. Most highly recommended to apply after shaving. A small quantity in the bath gives a delightful aroma, and it has most remarkable cleansing properties. Particularly adapted to the bathing of infants and young children. Most grateful to invalids and all who suffer from headache from mental labour or fatigue. Buy only the genuine Golden Star Bay-Leaf Water, sold in three sizes Toilet Bottles, 2s. 6d., 5s., 8s., by Chemists and Perfumers, or on receipt of stamps from the Wholesale Depôt, 114 and 116, Southampton-row, London.

EAU DE CHYPRE.—PIESSE and LUBIN.
This is an ancient perfume from Cyprus. During the national career of Egypt, Persia, Greece, and Rome, the Island of Cyprus was the resort of the élite, learned, and refined. It was at the time of the Crusades, when Richard I. of England assumed the title of King of Cyprus, that the famed Eau de Chypre was introduced into Europe, the composition of which is yet preserved in the archives of the Laboratory of Piesse and Lubin. Those who are curious in ancient perfumes can be gratified at 2, New Bond-street, London.

CAUTION.—The MACASSAR OIL for nourishing the hair, and ODONTO for whitening the teeth, prepared by A. ROWLAND and SONS, 20, Hatton-garden, London, are the only genuine articles sold under these or similar names. Avoid cheap imitations.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR.
If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers" on the hair. It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d.
Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath.
Is the best Liquid Dentifrice in the World; it thoroughly cleanses partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living animalculæ, leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Florilline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed everywhere.

JOHN GOSNELL and CO.'S VIOLET and MILLEFLEUR POWDER, for the Toilet and Nursery. Universally admired for its purity and fragrance. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale, 93, Upper Thames-street.

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable. 2s. 6d. to 40s. per Bottle. Breidenbach's BACASSALINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 2s., 2s. 6d., 3s. per Bottle.
Of all Chemists, and the Makers, 1576, New Bond-street, W.

THOMPSON AND CAPPER'S
DENTIFRICE WATER arrests decay in the Teeth and restores the Enamel. 2s. 6d. per Bottle. 52, Rodney-street, Liverpool; and at 30, Deansgate, Manchester.—Sold in 1s. 6d., 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 8s. 6d. Bottles, by all Chemists.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.: post, 3s. 10d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Porteus-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 93 and 95, City-road, E.C. London; Pinaud and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY?
Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 3s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

HAIR DESTROYER.—248, High Holborn, London.—ALEX. ROSS'S DEPILATORY removes Superfluous Hair from the Face without injury, 3s. 6d. Sent free for 4 stamps. Alex. Ross's Skin Tightener or Tonic, 3s. 6d.; or stamps.

THROAT IRRITATION.—EPPS'S GLYCERINE JUJUBES. Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. Sold only in Boxes, 6d. and 1s., labelled JAMES EPPS and CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London.

DR. DE JONGH
(KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR, KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM)
LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL.
THE PUREST.
THE MOST PALATABLE.
THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

DR. DE JONGH'S
LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL, proved by twenty-five years' medical experience to be THE ONLY COD-LIVER OIL which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
"The value of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod-Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod-Liver Oil, that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

LENNOX BROWNE, Esq., F.R.C.S.E.,
Senior Surgeon Central London Throat and Ear Hospital.
"The action of Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod-Liver Oil has proved, in my own experience, particularly valuable, not only in those diseases for which it was originally employed, but also in many cases of weakness of the Singing and Speaking Voice, dependent on Bronchial or Laryngeal Irritation, and in all forms of Strumous Enlargement of Glands, and Discharges from the Ear."

DR. PROSSER JAMES,
Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value, not only in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL is sold ONLY in capsuled IMPERIAL Half-Pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; by all respectable Chemists and Druggists throughout the world.
SOLE CONSIGNEES,
ANSAR, HARFORD, and CO., 77, STRAND, LONDON.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

TAMAR INDIEN.—Owing to the marked success of this fruit-lozenge—so agreeable to take and universally prescribed by the Faculty for Constipation, &c.—Base Imitations are being foisted on the public. The genuine preparations bear the title "Tamar Indien." Price 2s. 6d. per Box. E. GRILLON, Wool Exchange, E.C.; and all Chemists.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT.
The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. The Ointment is unrivalled in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

CORPULENCE.—YATE HOLLAND'S POWDERS (or Pills) speedily and safely absorbs superfluous fat and reduce corpulency, however long standing. Price 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. per Box.—MARTIN and CO., 3, Paradise-road, London, S.W.; or through any Chemist.

PILLS
WORSDELL'S
KAYE'S PURIFY THE BLOOD,
CLEANSE FROM DISEASE,
IMPROVE DIGESTION,
ESTABLISH THE HEALTH.
Sold everywhere.

INVALUABLE TO ALL WHO SUFFER from BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Giddiness, Dizziness of the Eyes, Habitual Costiveness, &c. DR. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS (without mercury) are unequalled. Mild in their operation, they create appetite, and strengthen the whole nervous system. Sold by W. LAMBERT, 1a, Vere-street, London, W., and all Druggists. Boxes, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. The Genuine are in a Square Green Packet.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. "All our customers for Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, and having received so much benefit from it."—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

DR. LOCOCK'S PULMONIC WAFERS give instant relief and rapidly cure Asthma, Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all Disorders of the Breath and Lungs. Price 1s. 1½d.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet":—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Press":—"Laxora Lozenges can be safely recommended."
O. R. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s., 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 82, Southwark-street.

TOOTH-ACHE.
INSTANT CURE.
FORMS A STOPPING.
SAVES THE TOOTH.
J. Honnsell, Esq., Surgeon, Bridport, writes:—"I consider BUNTER'S NERVINE a specific for Toothache. Very severe cases under my care have found instantaneous and permanent relief."
Of all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. per Packet.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. F. Pratt, Surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

NEW MUSIC.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS, COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS, Manufactured by CLOUGH and WARREN, DETROIT, U.S.A.

The immense advantages these instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory.

A large variety on view, from 25 to 100 guineas.

Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S "FAVOURITE ORGAN." Compass, Five Octaves.

Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 94 octaves each, Knee-Swell. Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case.

Price 25 guineas.

Illustrated Price-List free by post.

Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES. TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON.

Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.

Pianinos from 12 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 50 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at 50, New Bond-street,

may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View by the following eminent Makers:—

BROADWOOD, COLLARD, LIPP, | HIRARD, CHAPPELL, ROSENKRANZ.

CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM.

Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View, From 3 guineas to 100 guineas.

At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five octaves and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals. 28 guineas, or £2 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S YACHT PIANINOS, 30 gs., or £3 per quarter on Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON GRAND, 80 gs., or £8 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON 110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW DANCE MUSIC.

CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.

CYPRUS POLKA	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	.. .. ..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALOP	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	..	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	.. ..	1s. 6d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	.. ..	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	.. ..	2s. 0d. net

N.B.—A Complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application.

CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS OF

CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE.

No. 118.—POPULAR MARCHES.

Marche Romaine .. .. Ch. Gounod.
And twelve other Popular Marches by Handel, Mozart, Gluck, &c. 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.

No. 117.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 3.)

Song (Tenor) ..	Eily Mavourneen ..	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Contralto)	The lonely Harp ..	Miss Cowell.
Song (Soprano)	I'm alone	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Baritone)	I never can forget ..	A. Mellon.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	O ye voices gone ..	Zeta.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two wandering Stars	B. Richards.
Pianoforte ..	Soldier's Prayer ..	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte ..	Siesta Song	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte ..	Blue Bells of Scotland	B. Richards.
Dance Music ..	West End Polka ..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music ..	Little Nell Waltz ..	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music ..	Lord of Lorne Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music ..	Express Galop	Charles D'Albert.

No.116.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)

Song (Baritone)	The Bell Ringer ..	W. Vincent Wallace.
Song (Soprano)	Tender and True ..	Arthur Sullivan.
Song (Contralto)	To Thee	Alberto Randegger.
Song (Tenor) ..	Oh! whisper what thou feelest ..	B. Richards.
Vocal Duet (Sop. and Con.)	When Birds are singing	H. Smart.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two Merry Gipsies ..	G. A. Macfarren.
Pianoforte ..	The Soldier's Chorus	B. Richards.
Pianoforte ..	Air by Louis XIII. ..	Henri Ghys.
Pianoforte ..	A Ray of Sunshine ..	Carl Leduc.
Dance Music ..	Dew Drop Waltz ..	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music ..	The Sultan's Polka ..	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music ..	Polo Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music ..	The Mabel Galop ..	Dan Godfrey.

No. 115.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)

Song (Contralto)	Juanita	Mrs. Norton.
Song (Soprano)	The Maiden's Story ..	A. Sullivan.
Song (Baritone)	The Stirrup Cup ..	Luigi Arditi.
Song (Tenor) ..	There's Sunlight in Heaven	M. Balfe.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Wind and the Harp ..	S. Glover.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Ave Sanctissima ..	Mrs. Hemans.
Pianoforte ..	Home, Sweet Home ..	B. Richards.
Pianoforte ..	The Silver Trumpets ..	F. Vivian.
Pianoforte ..	Prière d'une Vierge ..	T. Badarzewska.
Dance Music ..	The Rink Galop ..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music ..	The Hilda Waltz ..	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music ..	Palermo Quadrilles ..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music ..	King Pippin Polka ..	Charles D'Albert.

ONE SHILLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.).

CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

REMINISCENCES OF ENGLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF IRELAND.
REMINISCENCES OF SCOTLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF WALES.

Arranged for the Pianoforte by FRED. GODFREY (B. M. Coldstream Guards). Played by all the Bands in her Majesty's Service. Price 2s. each net.

CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW MUSIC.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

New models in handsomely carved walnut cases, black and gold, veneered and panelled—

Six stops and knee swell .. .. 20 guineas.
Nine stops and knee swell .. .. 28 guineas.
Thirteen stops, octave coupler, and sub-bass 34 guineas.

The superiority of these organs has been testified to by the most eminent musicians, they have also received the first medals at the principal exhibitions. Every Instrument offered for sale is warranted.

Complete Catalogue for Cash, or on the Three-Years' System of hire and purchase.

METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

SECONDHAND ORGANS.—A large number of these celebrated Instruments, lately returned from hire, at greatly reduced prices, for Cash or on the Three-Years' System of Hire and Purchase. Lists post-free.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MEDJÉ. Chanson Arabe de CH. GOUNOD. Transcrite pour Piano, par A. LEBEAU. Post-free, 24 stamps.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

LA COLOMBE. Entr' acte pour le Piano. Par CH. GOUNOD. Post-free, 18 stamps.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

EDOUARD DORN'S NEW PIANOFORTE PIECES.

DOWN THE STREAM. Cantabile pour Piano.
SWEETLY DREAM (Traumu Süss).
PERA. Valse Orientale.
THE CHORISTE. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's beautiful Song.
THE SORCERER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's Comic Opera.

Post-free, 24 stamps each.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MORN, HAPPY MORN. Trio for Two Sopranos and Tenor, with accompaniment of Flute and Piano, sung in the part of "Olivia." Words by W. G. Wills; Music by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

Post-free, 24 stamps.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. PINAFORE.

Vocal Score 4s.; Pianoforte Score, 2s. 6d.
List of separate songs, pianoforte arrangements, &c., post-free.

METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

Price 10s. 6d., bound in cloth,

SPOHR'S VIOLIN SCHOOL, Complete. Edited by HENRY HOLMES. BOOSEY and CO. beg to announce the publication of an entirely new Edition of Spohr's great Violin School, translated into English by Florence Marshall; and edited, with Notes, by Henry Holmes. The numerous Notes are intended to elucidate the original text, and to assist the student in the course to be followed throughout in the practice of the School. Spohr's School is printed on the finest paper, and is published at the moderate price of half a guinea, with the view of placing it within the reach of all amateurs of the violin.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

This day, price 5s., paper; 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges,

THE CONTRALTO ALBUM. A Collection of 50 Songs for Mezzo-Soprano and Contralto Voices, extracted from the most celebrated Operas, with Italian and English words. All in the original keys (without abbreviation or alteration). This Collection includes many beautiful songs but little known in this country, besides all the most renowned of the last one hundred years. Also now ready, same prices as above,

THE PRIMA DONNA'S ALBUM. 40 Operatic Songs for a Soprano Voice. In the press, THE TENOR and BARITONE ALBUMS, containing similar selections for these two voices.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth boards,

CALLCOTT'S HANDEL ALBUM. A collection of above one hundred of the best Oratorio and Operatic Airs by this great Composer. Arranged for the Pianoforte by W. H. CALLCOTT. With Memoir and three Illustrations.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

THE SONGS OF SCOTLAND. A New and Enlarged Edition is published this day, containing 190 Songs. Edited by Pittman, with a new and important introduction on Scotch Poetry and Music by Dr. Charles Mackay. Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s., cloth, gilt edges; or, beautifully Illustrated by the most eminent artists, price 7s. 6d. Boosey and Co.'s Edition must be ordered.—295, Regent-street.

THE MOUNTAIN SYLPH.—A New Edition of John Barnett's celebrated opera is published this day, revised by the composer; complete for voice and pianoforte, price 2s. 6d. paper covers, 5s. cloth, gilt edges. Also uniform with the above,

The Siege of Rochelle.	Satanella.
The Lily of Killarney.	The Bohemian Girl.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

THE BLUE ALSATIANS WALTZ. By GEORGES LAMOTHE. On Stephen Adams's celebrated Song. Price 2s., Solo and Duet; Small Orchestra, 1s.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

BOOSEY & CO.'S PIANOFORTE-ROOMS. GRAND and UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES, by all the great makers, both English and Foreign, for SALE or HIRE, subject to the largest discount obtainable in London. Pianettes, from £21. Short Grands, from £50. Sole Address, 295, REGENT-STREET.

BOOSEY and CO.'S Short Iron Grand PIANOFORTES, 60, 70, 80, and 85 guineas each, subject to a liberal discount for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, from £5 10s. per quarter. Special Instruments for India. Illustrated Price-Lists free.

Sole Address, 295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

SECONDHAND PIANOS.—BOOSEY and CO. have a large Stock of Instruments by all the great Makers, which they offer, according to their custom on the close of the season, at greatly reduced prices. The majority of these Pianos have been hired for one season only, and are as good as new.—295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

SPOHR'S GREAT SCHOOL (Complete and Unabridged) FOR THE VIOLIN (approved by Louis Spohr). Translated by CATHERINE and JOHN BISHOP. In one large vol., pp. 235, in cloth boards, 31s. 6d. "I have carefully looked over the English translation of my 'Violin School,' published by Messrs. Cocks and Co., and have no hesitation in recommending it as a faithful translation of the original work."—London, Louis Spohr.

London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

CLARKE'S CATECHISM OF THE RUDIMENTS OF MUSIC. 201st Edition. Free by post, 12 stamps. "Every child learning music should have this book."—Morning Chronicle.

ASSAULT OF ARMS. New March for the Pianoforte. Composed by CLAUDE DAVENPORT. (Illustrated Title). 3s. Also, by the same Composer, THE LOVE BIRD'S POLKA. For the Pianoforte. 3s. (Illustrated Title). Both post-free at half price in stamps.

London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

QUESTIONS RELATING TO THE THEORY OF MUSIC. By GEO. F. WEST. Twenty-first Edition. Paper cover, 1s.; free by post, 12 stamps; in cloth, 18 stamps.—London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-st.

SUTTON'S THEORY OF MUSIC, pp. 123, is found most useful in Schools and Training Colleges, where it is rapidly becoming a standard book. Seventh Edition. In cloth, price 2s.

London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

F. J. SMITH AND SONS'

IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS. "The best and most substantial instrument produced." 9, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE, from 25 gs. upwards.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 45, Horseferry-road, Westminster.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS are lent on Hire for Three Years, after which time they become the property of the hirers.

AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOFORTES were awarded

THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR of the Philadelphia Exhibition, 1876.
THE GOLD MEDAL, Paris, 1869.
THE HIGHEST AWARD—THE GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR, Paris, 1874.
LA MEDAILLE D'HONNEUR, Paris, 1867.
THE PRIZE MEDAL, London, 1862.
LE DIPLOME DE LA MENTION EXTRAORDINAIRE, Netherlands International Exhibition, 1869.
THE GOLD MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT, South Africa, 1877, &c.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION PIANOS, Patented 1862, 1868, 1871, and 1875, in

GREAT BRITAIN,	AUSTRIA.
PRUSSIA,	ITALY, BELGIUM, and
FRANCE	AMERICA.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, With the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.

"This most ingenious and valuable invention cannot fail to meet with success."—Sir Julius Benedict.

"The touch is absolute perfection."—Sydney Smith.

"A very clever and useful invention, and likely to be extensively adopted."—Brinley Richards.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS.

"The tone is full, melodious, and of extraordinary power. The touch is extremely delicate, and the repetition is excellent."—The Chevalier Antoine de Kontski, Court Pianist to the Emperor of Germany.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.

"The nearest approach to perfection of 'manual expression' yet attained."—Examiner.

"The tone of the grand now referred to possessed all the qualities that a good piano ought to have, and in touch and action was perfect. The sweet and silvery quality of the upper octaves was worthy of special admiration."—The Era.

"Sir Julius Benedict played on one of Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons' grand pianos, with the recently patented improvements, which enabled him to produce sustained tones with great variety of effect in the light and shade of tones, especially so when extreme delicacy of touch was required."—Court Journal.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.

"An immense improvement in arpeggios. The rapid passages in the upper register, the beautiful flutelike tone, and quick and perfect repetition were very effective."—Figaro.

"Sir Julius Benedict, now seldom heard as a soloist, delighted the public once more. He played upon a new Patent Grand by Brinsmead, possessing a remarkably loud and clear tone."—Echo.

"The upright Iron Grand Piano, with sostenente sounding-board, produces the obvious result of a fuller and richer tone."—Morning Advertiser.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS.

"The improvements made in English pianos have caused this trade rapidly to increase, until one pianoforte manufactory after another has been built to supply the growing demand. One of the largest of these, lately erected by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons, of Wigmore-street, covers nearly an acre of ground in the Grafton-road, Kentish Town, and is intended to accommodate 300 workmen. These works alone can supply 2000 pianos annually. The French papers have been unanimous in their expressions of admiration of these splendid instruments. The two Grands especially have enchanted the Parisian professors and amateurs of music by their noble sonorousness, their enormous power, and the sympathetically voicelike quality of tone. The touch, also, is beautifully light, elastic, and certain, so that many pianists of every nation, from the Abbe Liszt downwards, who have tried these instruments, have highly complimented the enterprising manufacturers on their success. The improvements are too numerous to describe in detail, but it has been necessary to embody them in several patents recognised throughout Europe and America. Vigorous attempts have been made to perfect every portion of these instruments, and the whole has been constructed on entirely new principles throughout. The 'perfect check repeater action' renders the mechanism durable and perfect; 'the new complete metal framing' ensures the durability and strength of the case, in spite of a great increase in the length of the strings; 'the new sostenente sounding-board' produces a lovely 'singing' and grandly powerful quality of tone; while 'the sympathetic bridge of reverberation' assists in the sustaining power, and 'the sustaining pedal' enables the performer to produce beautifully-sustained effects, without the confused roar that has hitherto been attendant on the employment of the forte pedal."—Illustrated London News.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.

"A metal bridge of a peculiar form is used to produce the treble, and a much finer tone is elicited than if a wooden bridge were used."—Morning Post.

"Beautifully light and elastic touch, and an instant repetition."—Globe.

"This invention is simplicity itself."—The Queen.

"Receive the greatest approbation everywhere of musicians and manufacturers."—The Standard.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PATENT "PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION" PIANOFORTES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

Prices from 35 Guineas to 350 Guineas.

GILBERT L. BAUER'S PRIZE MEDAL ORGAN-VOICED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS on the Three-Years' System.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PIANOFORTES.

FOR INDIA AND EXTREME CLIMATES.

Illustrated Price-Lists and Descriptions, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded, post-free, upon application.

18, WIGMORE-STREET, LONDON, W.

MANUFACTORY,

THE "BRINSMEAD WORKS," GRAFTON-ROAD, KENTISH TOWN, N.W.

MOURNING ORDERS SENT AT ONCE BY PETER ROBINSON UPON RECEIPT OF LETTER OR TELEGRAM.

A large Staff of very competent Dressmakers and ASSISTANTS are kept purposely to TRAVEL to all parts of the country—no matter the distance— (free of any extra charge whatever to the Customer) with a full assortment of Made-up Goods of the most fashionable and suitable description.

FOR A FAMILY MOURNING, and also Mourning for Servants,

Orders, however large, can be completed at very short notice by Dressmakers of the greatest proficiency. (either French, German, or English).

Observe the only one Address—for PETER ROBINSON'S, COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, is 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET, LONDON.

One of the most important Houses of its kind in England, Established as a Mourning Warehouse Thirty Years.

AT PETER ROBINSON'S, of REGENT-STREET.

BLACK DRESS SATINS, all pure Silk, at 5s. 9d., 6s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 8s. 9d., and 10s. 6d., made by Messrs. Bonnet.

The DUCHESSE SATIN, at 12s. 9d. (26 inches wide), a magnificent quality, for richness and for durability cannot be surpassed.

BLACK SATINS, for Trimming purposes, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11d., 3s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. per yard.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,

Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Tapissier et Cie, at 5s. 9d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie .. 4s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Dégove et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.

Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 9d., 3s. 11½., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d. and 5s. 9d.

200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 6s.; usual price, 8s. 9d.;

PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.

As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.

Address ONLY for Patterns as follows:—

PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.

THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS Exceptional Value at 3s. 11d., 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.

RICH LYONS VELVETS, at 10s. 9d., 12s. 9d., and 15s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET.
Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES, from pure and good wearing silks, at 5½, 7½, 9, 10, 12, and up to 20 guineas, fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet. Copies of the most recent Paris models.

Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.

For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement forms address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES. New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.

Tartatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s.
Black Brussels Net, 25s., 29s. 6d., and 35s.
Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 50s.
Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the above, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

COSTUMES.—Richly Embroidered. THE FASHION FOR THE AUTUMN.

In Black, Navy, and neutral shades, from 5 to 10 guineas complete.

Our Buyers have returned from Paris with great novelties in all departments.

For Samples please address only to PETER ROBINSON, Regent-street, Nos. 256 to 262.

FURS at SUMMER PRICES.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.

33 inches long	9½ guineas.
36 inches long	11½ guineas.
39 inches long	13 guineas.

New and Perfect Shapes, and of the most enduring qualities.

FUR-LINED CLOAKS,

Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 34s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.

Also a special lot, Lined with Plain Grey Squirrel, 47 inches long, at 6 guineas.

For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—

PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.

ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGES, woven from pure wool, for LADIES' DRESSES, in Navy or Dark Indigo Blue, Black, Dark Browns, Prune, and other solid colours, price 1s. 11d., 2s. 6d., 2s. 11d. per yard.

For CHILDREN a lower quality is made, very strong, at 1s. 6d. per yard.

For BOYS' HARD WEAR it is extra milled, price 54 in. wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.

Books of Patterns sent post-free by

SPEARMAN and SPEARMAN, Devonshire Serge Factors, Plymouth.

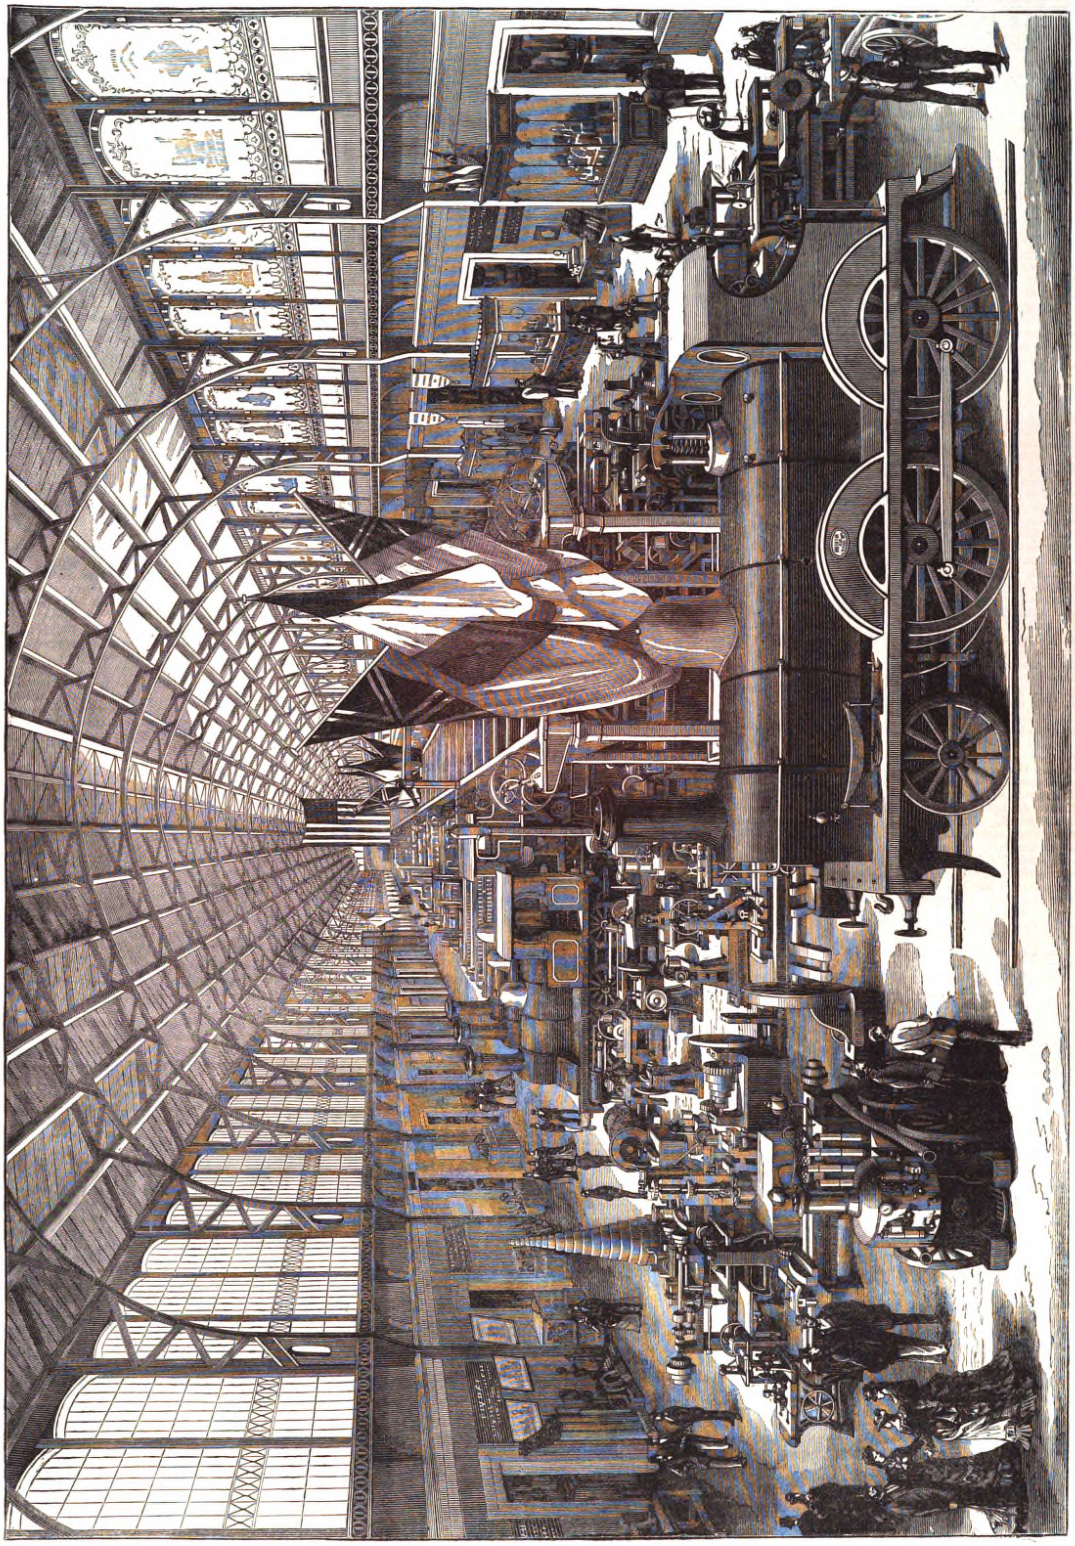
The ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGE is the only true Yachting Serge.

Sea Water cannot injure it.

Any Length is Cut by the Factors, who arrange to pay the carriage of all Parcels above Two Pounds in value to and as far as London.

SWAN and EDGAR.

AUTUMN SHOW OF NOVELTIES AT ALL PRICES.



Black Silks made to Wear.	Dress Materials.
Velvets and Satins.	Gloves.
Millinery.	Costumes.
Mantles.	Dinner Dresses.
Ulsters.	Ball Dresses.
	Lace.
	Sealskins.
	Wool Wraps.
	Fancy Hosiery.
	Shawls.

Patterns free on application. Piccadilly and Regent-street.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost. Consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 42d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 52, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 37, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1878.

PARIS EXHIBITION: MACHINERY HALL IN THE EXHIBITION PALACE, CHAMP DE MARS—THE BRITISH SECTION.

MUSIC.

The series of Covent-Garden Promenade Concerts will close this (Saturday) evening, a supplemental performance being announced for Monday night, for the benefit of Messrs. Gatti, the directors, who deserve well from the public for the liberal spirit and enterprise which have characterised their management throughout the season, which opened on Aug. 5. This week's programmes have included a classical night on Wednesday, and an English night yesterday (Friday). Mr. Charles Hallé's admirable pianoforte playing has continued to be a prominent feature in the programmes. During the season eight of Beethoven's nine symphonies have been performed in regular order on successive Mondays; the greatest of all, the gigantic "choral" symphony, being reserved for the occasion of the directors' benefit on Monday.

The Saturday performances of operas in English at the Alexandra Palace are continuing. For to-day "Maritana" is announced, with Madame Rose Hersee as the heroine.

As already stated, the twenty-third series of Saturday Afternoon Concerts at the Crystal Palace will begin next week, the programme including the first performance in England of Brahms's new symphony (No. 2), and the first appearance here of the Belgian pianist, M. Brassin.

Madame Julia Woolf, the eminent pianist, has (at the request of Mr. Chatterton) written an overture for the approaching production of "A Winter's Tale" at Drury-Lane.

The organ recital at the Bow and Bromley Institute begins this (Saturday) evening for the season, Mr. W. S. Hoyte being the organist and Miss Ellen Laub the vocalist.

Mr. Frederic Archer, organist and musical director of the Alexandra Palace, has accepted the conductorship of the Glasgow select choir for the approaching season, which extends from October to April. Mr. Archer retains his appointment at the Alexandra Palace.

THEATRES.

FOLLY.

Miss Lydia Thompson has returned to this theatre and recommenced her successful career with two new pieces. The first is an extensive adaptation of the comedy "La Veuve," by MM. Meilhac and Halévy, which was produced some four years ago at the Paris Gymnase. The task has been undertaken by Mr. Charles Wyndham, under the title of "The Idol," and is comprised in three brief acts. It is Anglicised throughout—the scene being placed in Clarges-street, and the heroine named Mrs. Erle. She is a widow, whose grief for the loss of her husband is inconsolable. The statue of the lamented defunct is exhibited on a pedestal in the centre of the stage; and here the bereft lady comes to meditate on the excellence of her late husband, and to recall those tender memories which constitute the luxury of a sentimental sorrow. This fond idolatry after a time becomes absurd in the estimation of her friends, and they endeavour to wean her from her folly. Here is manifestly dangerous ground for an English audience, whose reverence for the dead nearly equals that of Mrs. Erle herself. On Saturday, accordingly, we are not surprised that there was a manifestation of feeling from the gallery. On the following Monday, with a different class of auditors, the humour of the incidents was understood, and more than ordinary applause showed that the points were critically appreciated. There is, in fact, in such a subject dramatically treated a subtle irony which appeals to advanced intellects more highly cultivated than is the wont with simple folk, from whom its presence is concealed by the normal directness of their perceptions and habitual insensibility to double meanings. There is much ingenuity shown in dealing with so uncongenial a theme, and the actresses engaged in the performance exerted themselves to point the moral. Much amusement by them was obtained from the gloomy materials. But the praise for good acting must not be monopolised by them—it must at least be shared by a male actor, Mr. Harry Paulton, as a jeweller's clerk, in association with Miss Eastlake as the idolatrous widow. Three years' accounts of her late husband's expenses in jewellery have to be examined and ticked off. For the first year or so the items are accounted for, and the grave and steady clerk is grateful for the recognition of the claims of his firm. But for the last year and a half articles appear which must have gone as presents to other ladies than the inconsolable relic of an evidently spendthrift husband. Not long after this event the lady's sympathies with the living are revived, and she is prepared to accept the attentions of a gallant Captain Breeze (Mr. J. G. Grahame), consents to visit the theatre, and ultimately to become his wife. The gradations are finely marked. The lover is permitted to treat the bust of the husband with a certain careless contempt. He places his hat on its head, and next, as if by accident, brushes it off from the pedestal to the ground. In the third act, the bust is reproduced in a mended state—but the fragments are so marked off that it looks like a phrenological map, and, with a portrait of the late Mr. Erle, is dismissed to another apartment. Such incidents as these appeal to reflective spectators; but having stood the ordeal of two nights, the probability is that the new comedy, well written and well acted as it is, will establish its claims to the appreciation of fashionable and enlightened audiences.

So much cannot be said for an opera bouffe constructed by Messrs. R. Reece and H. B. Farnie from "L'Etoile," by MM. Leterrier and Vanloo, and denominated "Stars and Garters." So much is left in this burlesque to the manipulation of the actors, that criticism is out of place—it must be witnessed, and cannot be described. Miss Lydia Thompson, Mr. Lionel Brough, and Miss Edith Bland are all entitled to commendation, and were adequately supported by the general company. The scenery was good, and included some fanciful accessories that were suggestive. But the reception accorded was certainly equivocal.

At the Olympic on Monday the winter season was opened with a revival of "The Two Orphans," in which Mr. Henry Neville resumed his original character of Pierre the Cripple, and Mr. Rignold that of Jacques. Miss Marian Terry performs the part of Louise, the blind girl.

Mrs. Bateman has bought Sadler's Wells, which has to be rebuilt and remodelled for her occupation. Mr. G. J. Phipps, F.S.A., is to make it a first-class theatre.

Mr. Arthur Matthison has a play in rehearsal at the Court.

A series of Shakspearean performances begins to-night at the Park, in which Messrs. Swinbourne, H. Forrester, and Miss Leighton will appear.

The programme of lectures and entertainments at the Royal Polytechnic has been further varied by the introduction of a lecture on Pekin and the Chinese and a new version of the story of Cinderella." The lecture on China is delivered by Mr. J. L. King, who compresses within the hour occupied by the narrative a great deal of entertainig information; and, with the aid of some original pictures and panorama of the Yangtse, succeeds in imparting an admirable idea of the Chinese at home and the scenery of the localities visited.

The second annual examination and distribution of prizes to the pupils of the National Training School for Dancing, of which Mr. Mapleson was the founder, took place last Saturday on the boards of Her Majesty's Theatre.

"Nelson," a Play in Four Acts and a Tableau, by Emilia Aylmer Blake (Chapman and Hall), is a realistic drama on an historical subject, designed for the stage, for which it is eminently fitted. It is one of a number—some better, some worse—of which the present commercial system of management prohibits the performance. Yet with such a fact before them, the British public goes on patronising foreign adaptations, as if it had no dramatic writers of its own. Reform is needed in this direction, and in more places than one advocated, but no practical measures have yet been taken to promote its accomplishment.

ART.

The portrait of Colonel Loyd-Lindsay, painted in oil by Mr. W. Ouless, R.A., was on the 19th inst. presented at Lockinge House, Wantage, to the Hon. Mrs. Loyd-Lindsay, by Sir Paul Hunter, Bart., on behalf of the Berks Volunteers, of which regiment Colonel Loyd-Lindsay is Commander.

A marble statue of the late Mr. Alfred Rooker, twice Mayor and many years Alderman of Plymouth, was publicly unveiled yesterday week. It is placed in Guildhall-square, and was accepted from the subscribers by the Mayor, on behalf of the Corporation. The statue is the work of Mr. E. B. Stephens, A.R.A., and cost £1500.

It was resolved at a meeting of noblemen and gentlemen held at Exeter yesterday week to erect a statue of the Earl of Devon as a mark of the public appreciation of the services which his Lordship has rendered to that county.

A new school of art and science was opened last Saturday afternoon at Falkirk by the Earl of Rosebery. Among those present were Sir William Edmonstone, M.P. for Stirlingshire, Mr. John Ramsay, M.P. for Falkirk Burghs, and several of the leading inhabitants. The company having visited the buildings, an adjournment was made to a neighbouring church, the hall of the institution being too small for the crowd. His Lordship said he looked upon the anxiety now shown for information in science and art as a distinct landmark in the intellectual advancement of the country, and as showing that the time was past when the first object was a struggle for elementary education. His Lordship spoke of the civilising influence of industrial art, and said he should like to see every large town possessing its public library and museum, as valuable aids to education.

The annual Fine-Arts Exhibition at Simla was opened by the Viceroy on Saturday last, and various prizes were awarded.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN OCTOBER.

(From the "Illustrated London Almanack.")

The Moon is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 4th, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 9th and morning hours of the 10th, she is near Mars and Venus on the 25th, but it is the day of New Moon; and she is near Mercury on the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	3rd	at	1 minutes after	7h. in the	morning.
Full Moon	11th	"	54	" 8	" morning.
Last Quarter	19th	"	10	" 7	" afternoon.
New Moon	25th	"	58	" 10	" afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 25th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 10th.

Mercury is a morning star till the 24th, rising on the 3rd at 4h. 33m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before sunrise; the interval gradually decreasing to 1h. 14m. by the 8th, to 51 minutes by the 13th, to 27 minutes by the 18th, and to 6 minutes by the 23rd (the planet rising on this day at 6h. 32m. a.m.); on the 24th the planet rises at nearly the same time as the Sun, and from this day till Dec. 24 he rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 16th, and 5 minutes after sunset on the 28th. He is near Mars on the 12th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 24th, near the Moon on the 26th, and in his descending node on the 29th, at midnight.

Venus is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 4h. 46m. a.m., or 1h. 28m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 5h. 19m. a.m., or 1h. 11m. before sunrise; and on the 28th at 5h. 51m. a.m., or 57 minutes before the Sun. She is due south on the 1st at 10h. 52m. a.m., on the 11th at 10h. 58m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 12m. a.m. She is near Mars on the 21st, and near the Moon on the 25th.

Mars is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 5h. 34m. a.m., or 40 minutes before the Sun; on the 18th at 5h. 32m. a.m., or 58 minutes before the Sun; and on the 28th at 5h. 31m. a.m., or 1h. 17m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 35m. a.m., on the 11th at 11h. 20m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 50m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 25th.

Jupiter is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 20m. p.m., on the 8th at 10h. 58m. p.m., on the 18th at 10h. 22m. p.m., on the 28th at 9h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 35m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 17m. p.m., on the 11th at 6h. 40m. p.m., on the 21st at 6h. 3m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 28m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 22nd.

Saturn sets on the 9th at 4h. 37m. a.m., or 1h. 39m. before sunrise; on the 19th at 3h. 53m. a.m., or 2h. 38m. before sunrise; and on the 29th at 3h. 11m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 17m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 35m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 54m. p.m., on the last day at 9h. 12m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

The autumn congress of the Sanitary Institute of Great Britain will be held at Stafford from Wednesday next, Oct. 2, to Oct. 5 inclusive, under the presidency of Mr. E. Chadwick, C.B.

Lord Londesborough held a bazaar last week at Londesborough Lodge, Scarborough, in aid of the funds of the St. Anne's Orphanage at Bridlington.

The sentence of death passed upon Isabel Grant for the murder of her husband has been commuted into one of penal servitude for life.

A monument erected over the grave of the late Tom Morris, champion golfer, in the cathedral burying-ground, St. Andrews, by his friends and admirers, was unveiled on Tuesday in presence of a large number of spectators. Lord Justice General Inglis gave a short address and referred to the late champion's prowess and golfing achievements.

Vice-Admiral R. Coole, C.B., has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the China station, in succession to Vice-Admiral C. F. Hillyar, C.B., who is to be promoted to the rank of Admiral; and Admiral Sir William Fanshawe-Martin, Bart., G.C.B., Rear-Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Admiralty thereof, in the room of Admiral Sir William James Hope Johnstone, deceased.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

At the nineteenth annual prize-meeting of the 9th (West) Middlesex, concluded last week, the following were the chief winners:—Series 1: £5, Private Clayton; £4, Private Marks; £3 each, Lieutenant Bell, Lieutenant Towerzey, and Sergeant Wright; £2 each, Private Crighton, Lieutenant Cross, and Private Rees. Series 2 (open to Officers, Sergeants, and Corporals only): £5, Quartermaster-Sergeant Stewart; £3, Corporal Edmonds; £2, Lieutenant Towerzey. Series 3 (open to Privates only): £5, Private Partington; £3, Private Clayton; £2, Private J. W. Taylor. Series 4 (a chased silver tazza, competed for by men who had never won a prize of the value of £5): Private Marks. Series 5: £3 3s., Quartermaster-Sergeant Stewart; £2 2s., Private J. W. Taylor. Series 6: Cup, Private J. W. May; £3, Private Pavey; £2, Lieutenant Cross. Series 7: £5, Private Pearse. Series 8 (the borough members' old challenge cup): Private Partington. Series 9 (the borough members' new challenge cup): Private Ingram. Series 10: £5 5s., Private Ingram; £2 2s., Private Pavey. Recruits' prizes were taken by Privates Marsh and Nevison.

The following are the winners at the prize-meeting of the 1st London Engineers:—Elkington Challenge Cup Series—Corporal Pannell, Sergeant Cotter, and Sergeant Clarke. Second Series: Sergeant Clarke, Corporal Pannell, Sergeant Cotter, Corporal Ridgway, Sapper Kirkup, Sapper Brock, Sergeant Coreton, Sergeant Belville, Sapper Binns, Sapper Wade, Sapper Warwick, Sergeant-Major Collins, and Corporal Greenfield. Regimental Rifle Association Prizes: Sapper Brock, Sergeant-Major Johnson, Corporal Pannell, Bandmaster Rayner, Corporal Uttridge, Sergeant Cotter, Sergeant Coredon, Sergeant Clarke, Lieutenant Haines, Sapper Kirkup, Sergeant-Major Jordan, Corporal Warwick, Corporal Inglis, and Sapper T. Andrews.

At the prize-meeting of the 1st Surrey the Pollock Challenge Cup was won by Private Knapp; the Bread-street Ward Challenge Trophy, by Corporal White; the Sturdy Challenge Cup, by Private W. Doggett; the Ladies' Challenge Cup, by Armourer-Sergeant Watkins; the Macdonald Lodge Challenge Cup, by Private Spon. The Wimbledon Series: Armourer-Sergeant Watkins, Private Spon, Private Lucas, Corporal White, Private Lock, Private Evans, Private Croker, and Private Hancock. Aggregate Prizes: £7 7s., Armourer-Sergeant Watkins; £5 5s., Corporal White.

The following were the principal winners in the chief series at the Battalion Prize-Meeting of the 29th Middlesex:—£10 10s., Private Sawle; £7 7s., Corporal Musgrove; £5 5s., Private Leeming; £4 4s. each, Sergeant Ratta, Sergeant Pickworth, Corporal Giles, and Private Ireland; £3 3s. each, Sergeant Giles, Lieutenant Hopkinson, Sergeant Watkins, Colour-Sergeant Purcell, and Corporal Rouse.

At the prize-meeting of the Drum and Fife Band of the 39th Middlesex the following were the winners:—Drummer M'Cormack, Drum-Major Miller, Drummer Bathurst, Drummer Simmonds, and Drummer Thirtle.

At the annual prize-meeting of the St. George's the challenge cup and gold medal were won by Sergeant-Instructor Andrews, who also secured the Ortner Shield. Private W. C. Williams took the Turner Challenge Plate, and Private Snowden the Ladies' Challenge Cup. In the second series, the chief winners were:—Private W. C. Williams, Corporal Cutting, Private Rosenthall, Sergeant-Instructor Andrews, Lieutenant Johnson, Private Thrower, Private Troake, Sergeant Beeching, Corporal Stafford, and Private Graves. The volley-firing Challenge Plate was won by No. 4 (Captain Hummel's) Company.

The bronze medal of the National Rifle Association for Inverness-shire, fired for at the Highland Rifle-Meeting last week, was taken by Corporal Williams, 1st Inverness, with 76 points at Queen's Ranges.

A second house was opened at Leicester on Monday by the directors of the Leicester Coffee and Cocoa House Company.

Last year £11,359 19s. was paid into the Exchequer as "void money orders" from the Post Office.

Mr. George Dunn, B.A., Rector of the High School of Dunfermline, has been appointed one of her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools in Scotland.

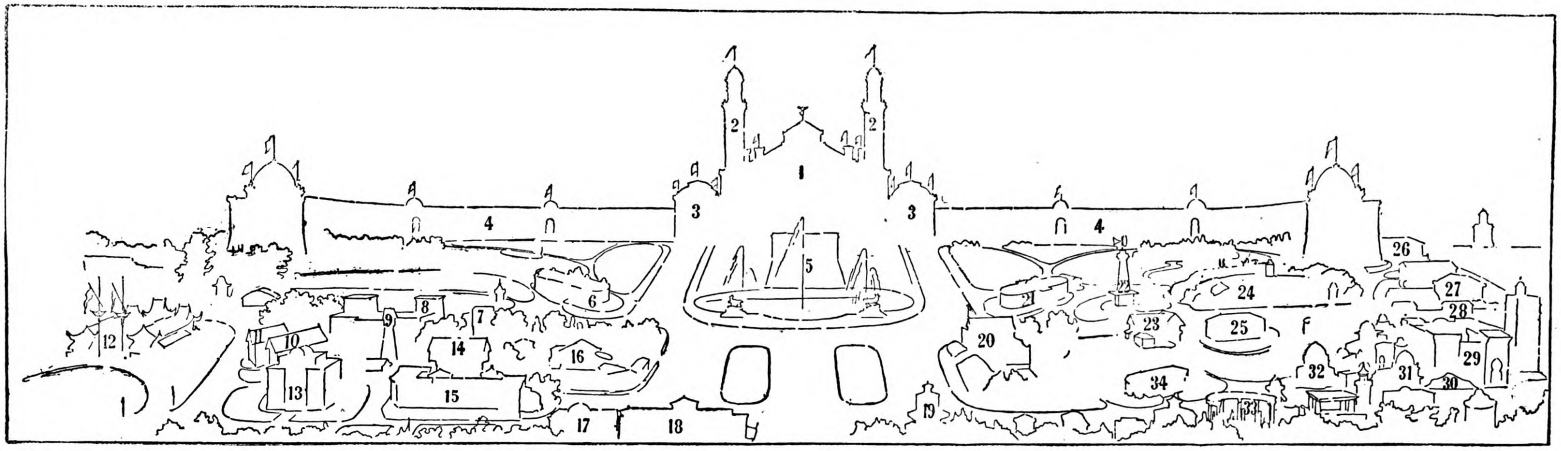
Her Majesty's ship Alert, Captain Sir George Nares, K.C.B., sailed from Portsmouth on Tuesday morning for a two-years' survey of the South Pacific.

The annual conference of the United Kingdom Band of Hope Union was held at Halifax on Tuesday. A paper was read by the Rev. Mr. Murphy, of the London School Board, advocating temperance teaching in both Sunday and day schools. Several meetings in connection with the union were held last night.

Preparations are in progress for fixing the large clock which is about to be placed in front of the main tower of the new Law Courts facing the Strand, near Temple Bar. With the exception of the clock at Westminster, it will be much larger than any other clock in the metropolis. The clock will have two dials, one facing the west and the other the east side, overlooking Fleet-street. The dials will be nine feet in diameter.

To-day (Saturday) the liverymen of the City, assembled in Common Hall, meet in Guildhall to select two candidates from whom the Aldermen will elect the Lord Mayor for the year ensuing. The choice of the livery will probably fall upon Alderman Sir Charles Whethum and Alderman Sir Francis Truscott; but the following are also eligible for the office:—Aldermen M'Arthur, Ellis, Figgins, Knight, Hadley, Nottage, Staples, and Breffit. The newly-elected Sheriffs, Messrs. Burt and Bevan, appear for the first time in their official capacity.

The fifty-sixth session of the Birkbeck Literary and Scientific Institution, Southampton-buildings, Chancery-lane, begins on Thursday. Some indication of the work carried on by this institution will be gathered from the fact that one hundred classes meet weekly in the various subjects. To meet the demand for more space a new laboratory has been erected during the recess, and practical instruction will be given both in organic and inorganic chemistry.—The winter session of the Working Men's College, Great Ormond-street, is announced to begin next Wednesday, Oct. 2, with a lecture by Mr. T. Dunman on Modern Science. The art-classes, which have been placed in connection with the Science and Art Department, will recommence on the same day.—A free library and reading-room will be opened next Tuesday at the Working Men's College, 143, Upper Kennington-lane. Professor Huxley will give a lecture early in October, at a general meeting to be held as a formal opening of the new premises of the college, the night schools and some classes of which are now at work.—The winter session of the evening classes of the institute in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association, at 165, Aldersgate-street, will be reopened on Thursday next, Oct. 3, when J. D. Allcroft, Esq., M.P., will distribute the prizes to the successful students during the last sessions.



THE PARIS EXHIBITION.

The large Engraving presented for the Extra Supplement with this week's Number of our Journal is a General View of the Park and Palace of the Trocadéro, with the various pavilions, detached offices, models of foreign buildings, out-door special exhibitions, cafés and restaurants, of different national styles, erected in this park, which is separated by the river Seine, at the Bridge of Jena, from the main Exhibition Palace in the Champ de Mars. A separate Illustration of the Trocadéro Palace was given by us about six months ago, and many of the surrounding structures have been shown in the series of Illustrations already published. Their relative positions in the Trocadéro Park, with the tout ensemble as beheld from the Champ de Mars looking across the river, may be seen in our Extra Supplement Engraving with the aid of the Key and Index on this page.

The British Section of the Machinery in Motion Department, in the main Exhibition Palace, is the subject of another Engraving. It contains railway locomotives, marine engines for steam-ships and steam-boats, well-borers, and steam-pumps for draining collieries and other mines; agricultural implements, such as steam-ploughs, reaping and thrashing machines: printing-machines (including the "Ingram Patent Rotary," for which the Gold Medal has been awarded to the managing proprietor of the Illustrated London News); all the machinery used in the cotton manufacture, ginning, opening, scutching and lapping, carding, drawing, slubbing and roving, spinning by the mule jenny, and power-loom weaving, each process by a special machine; also, the corresponding apparatus, likewise, for the woollen and other textile fabrics; the machinery for forging and shaping iron, steam-hammers, planes, chisels, and lathes; steam-saws for woodwork, and many other useful mechanical appliances, more or less known to everybody from London, Manchester, Birmingham, Leeds, Glasgow, Newcastle, and the mining districts. "Among the railway locomotives," to quote a recent account, "there are three in every way remarkable for power and excellence of workmanship. Foremost as regards power and merit stands Messrs. Sharp, Stewart, and Co.'s locomotive for heavy mail-trains. It is of the well-known South-Eastern and North-Western type, and is conspicuous for its elegance and simplicity; the cylinders, pistons and piston-rods, and cranes are all inside the wheels, so that the engine is flush from stem to stern, and is singularly 'clean built.' This engine is intended for heavy passenger traffic, and will draw twenty-two carriages at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway exhibit a very neat six-wheeled coupled passenger tank engine—one of what are known as 'Stroudley's terriers'—for short trips and suburban traffic. They also exhibit the various parts of an engine—piston, piston-rod, connecting-rod, and so on—that have stood the test of real hard work, in a way to prove the soundness of their manufacture, having travelled over 185,446 miles. An ingenious contrivance—Stroudley's patent ramp—is also shown, by which engines and carriages that have run off the rails can be replaced upon them without the use of jacks or levers. Messrs. Fox, Walker, and Co. exhibit a tank locomotive fitted with six wheels, which is peculiarly adapted for going along sharp curves, the tank and the boiler being on different frames, and independent of the machinery and cylinders. The valve motion is on the Belgian plan.

"Of marine engines there are several interesting models exhibited by Messrs. John Penn and Sons, the well-known Greenwich firm, the most remarkable being three cylinder compound expansive engines, of 2000 to 4000 horse power indicated, fitted in the Italian man-of-war Cristoforo Colombo in 1876. Messrs. Maudslay, Son, and Field also exhibit a model of the compound four-cylinder engines supplied by them to the Transatlantic and other ocean steam companies. The working of the machinery is practically demonstrated, a special fly-wheel and strap setting it in motion.

"The machinery in motion comprises chiefly steam-hammers, steam-pumps, and the numberless machines used in the preparation, spinning, and weaving of cotton, wool, and flax—a display the like of which has never before been brought together. It shows the various processes which the raw material undergoes from the time it arrives in the manufacturer's hands, in hard lumps, until its transformation into tissue. The catalogue (this part of which is written by Mr. John Anderson) reminds us that the first business of the manufacturer is—in the case of cotton, let us say—to open out these hard masses, to clean them out and make them loose and fleecy. This used to be effected by women beating it with willow wands upon a kind of perforated table; the cotton was softened by this process, and the dust and seeds remaining in it passed through the holes in the table. This and the subsequent processes are now

1. Grand Hall for Public Ceremonials. 2. Towers containing Lifts to the Upper Floors. 3. Hall for Meetings. 4. Fine-Art Galleries: Oriental to the left, Mediæval European to the right. 5. Grand Cascade. 6. Spanish Bodega or Restaurant.
7. Model of a House at Cairo. 8. Egyptian Palace. 9. Norwegian Clock-Tower. 10 and 11. Swedish Pavilion. 12. Chinese Quarters. 13. Persian Palace. 14. Norwegian House. 15. Tunisian Bazaar. 16. Japanese Farm-house.
17. Tunisian House. 18. Moorish Coffee-House. 19. Pavilion of the Art of Pottery. 20. Pavilion of French Woods and Forests Department. 21. French Café Restaurant.
22. Clock-Tower, exhibited by M. Lepante, clock-maker. 23. Châlet of the Gardes Forestiers. 24. Aquarium. 25. Conservatory, exhibited by M. Chantin. 26. Civil Engineering Exhibition. 27. Customs' Office.
28. Algerine Farm-house, belonging to people from Alsace and Lorraine. 29. Algerine Palace. 30. Kabyle Tent. 31 and 32. Algerine Shops and Cafés. 33. Exhibition of French Marbles. 34. Building in which a collection of Noxious Insects is shown.

PARIS EXHIBITION: KEY TO OUR EXTRA SUPPLEMENT, GENERAL VIEW OF THE TROCADÉRO PARK AND PALACE.

performed by machinery; it is beaten, softened, cleaned, and rolled up into a long web. It yet remains, however, in a tangled condition—to lay the fibres together, an indispensable preliminary to converting it into thread, it has to be carefully combed, and by a series of processes gradually transformed from a bulky rope into as many and as fine threads as is thought desirable with regard to the fineness of the tissue to be made out of it. Every step in this process is carried on under the eye of the public, and we need hardly say it is watched with the greatest interest. The most wonderful of all these machines is the self-acting mule, fitted with an electric stop, by which the machine is said to have, as Mr. Anderson puts it, 'authority over the attendants that wait upon it.' Anyone who has seen the operation of cotton-spinning is aware that sometimes the thread breaks, and other little accidents of the same kind frequently occur, requiring constant attention on the part of the man or woman in charge. By this electric stop, the moment anything goes wrong the machine of its own accord comes to a standstill. If the correct and required number of plies are not passing inwards so as to supply the necessary substance for the yarn in course of manufacture—if a single thread break or one of the cans holding the cotton is full to overflowing, a small electro-magnet comes into play, and the machine stops of itself.

"All this machinery—indeed, the whole of the main line shafts and various counter-shafts in the British section—is driven by one single engine, the work of Messrs. W. J. Galloway and Sons, steam to which is supplied by three boilers each suitable for driving thirty indicated horse power. These boilers are each 28 feet long, 7 feet in diameter, and contain two internal furnaces, each 2 ft. 9 in. in diameter by 7 ft. 6 in. in length, going into one oval back flue containing thirty-three tubes. The engine itself is a compound one, the high-pressure cylinder having a bore of 20 inches and the low-pressure of 34 inches, with a stroke of three feet. It works noiselessly, being fitted with valves on the plain flat slide principle, so arranged as to be almost frictionless. This engine is itself one of the noblest features in our grand machinery department."

THE NATIONAL EISTEDDFOD AT BIRKENHEAD.

This meeting, of whose doings some particulars were given in our last issue, was brought to a close yesterday week. Councillor John Hughes, of Liverpool, presided on the 19th inst., in the absence, from illness, of Sir Watkin W. Wynn. There was again a crowded attendance. The Eisteddfod song was given with good effect by Apmadoc, a bard from the United States, and was redemanded amidst loud applause. A competition in Penillion singing took place, and, after a close contest, the first prize of £2 was awarded to John Williams, only seven years of age, from Llanerchymedd, Anglesey. The second prize was taken by Hugh Pugh, of Dolgelly. The Rev. Robert Jones, of Rotherhithe, gave an address, partly in Welsh and partly in English, on the beauty of the Welsh language, and the importance of preserving it as the national tongue. After some solo-singing contests, the great ceremony of the day, the chairing of the bard, was begun, being prefaced by a harp solo by Pencerdd Gwalla (Mr. John Thomas). The Rev. E. Roberts read the decision of the adjudicators awarding the prize of 25 guineas and a bardic chair to the Rev. R. Williams (Hwfa Môn), Independent minister, of London, for the best ode to "Providence." Mr. Williams, who has been chief bard on four previous occasions, was duly installed according to the ancient rites of the bards of the Isle of Britain, and declared the chaired bard of 1878 by the sound of trumpet; and the ceremony closed by the singing of the air "I will extol thee," from "Eli," by Madame Edith Wynne (Eos Cymru, Pencerddes). The choral competition for male voices was won by the Liverpool Vocalists' Union.

Lord Aberdare presided on the 20th, and there was a large attendance. His Lordship defended the claims of the Welsh people to educational institutions of their own, and praised the efforts which they had made to improve themselves. Brutal pastimes were disappearing, and intellectual pleasures were taking their place. He regretted that Wales and Lancashire were yet lower in education than any other part of England, but he looked to the Aberystwith College and kindred institutions to remedy this. After his Lordship's speech the competitions were proceeded with. For the brass-band contest four bands entered: the first prize of £25 was awarded to the band from Nelson, near Burnley, the second prize, a silver cornet, going to a band from Kidsgrove, Staffordshire. In a juvenile choral competition, for children under fifteen, a prize of ten guineas was awarded to the Parkfield Choir, Birkenhead.

A performance of "Samson," in the evening of yesterday week, with Madame Edith Wynne, Madame Patey, Signor Foli, and other well-known artistes, brought the Eisteddfod to a successful close.

OBITUARY.

THE EARL OF DYSART.

The Right Hon. Sir Lionel William John Earl of Dysart and Baron Huntingtower, in the Peerage of Scotland, and a Baronet of Great Britain, died on the 23rd inst. in Norfolk-street, Strand, in his eighty-fourth year. He was born Nov. 18, 1794, the eldest son of William Lord Huntingtower, by Catherine, his wife, daughter of Francis Grey, Esq., of Lehena, in the county of Cork, and grandson of John Manners, Esq., of Grantham Grange, in the county of Lincoln, by Louisa Countess of Dysart, a peeress in her own right. He succeeded to the peerage at the decease of his grandmother, Sept. 22, 1840, when he inherited the very extensive estates of the ancient and noble family of Tollemache, from which he descended, and to which the earldom of Dysart came by the marriage of Sir Lionel Tollemache of Helmingham with the Lady Murray, daughter and heir of William Murray, first Earl of Dysart, the preceptor and favourite of Charles I. His Lordship married, Sept. 23, 1819, his cousin, Maria, eldest daughter of Sweney Toone, Esq., of Keston Lodge, and by her, who died Feb. 15, 1869, had one son, William Lionel Felix, Lord Huntingtower, who married, in 1851, his cousin, Katherine Elizabeth Camilla, daughter of Sir Joseph Burke, Bart., and died, vitâ patris, Dec. 21, 1872, leaving, with two surviving daughters, an only son, William John Manners, now Earl of Dysart, born March 3, 1859.

SIR R. J. GRIFFITH, BART.

Sir Richard John Griffith, Bart., of Munster Grillagh, in the county of Londonderry, and of Pencraig, in the county of Anglesey, LL.D. F.R.S., died at his residence, Fitzwilliam-place, Dublin, on the 22nd inst., in his ninety-fifth year. He was born Sept. 20, 1784, the only son of Richard Griffith, Esq., of Millicent, in the county of Kildare, member for Askeaton, in the Irish Parliament, by Charity, his wife, daughter of John Bramston, Esq., of Oundle, and derived his descent from an old Welsh family. He married, Sept. 21, 1812, Maria Jane, eldest daughter and coheir of George Waldie, Esq., of Hendersyde Park, in the county of Roxburgh, and by her, who died Jan. 2, 1865, leaves surviving issue a son, now Sir George Richard Waldie-Griffith, second Baronet, and a daughter, Elizabeth Charlotte, married to Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Bramston Smith, of Hampstead, in the county of Dublin. Sir Richard Griffith was a distinguished civil engineer, and author of the famous Geological Map of Ireland, commenced by him in the year 1812 and completed in 1857, for which he obtained the Wollaston Medal from the Geological Society of London. In 1825 he was appointed sole Commissioner for the General Valuation of Ireland, and in 1851 Chairman of the Board of Public Works in that country, which office he held until 1864. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. in Trinity College, Dublin, and was a member of the Royal Irish Academy, Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, Fellow of the Geological Society of London, &c. His long and valuable public services were justly rewarded by a baronetcy, conferred April 20, 1858. The death of Sir Richard Griffith causes a vacuum in Dublin society which it will be difficult to supply. Universally respected and esteemed, the deceased Baronet had long been a prominent personage in the city of Dublin. Although he had attained the patriarchal age of ninety-four, he had up to almost a month before his death the appearance and energy of a man in the prime of life. He seemed likely to rival in years Mr. Baldwin Foott, of Carrigacunna Castle, in the county of Cork, whose celebration of his one-hundredth birthday we recorded last week.

The deaths have also been announced of—

John Simson, Esq., of Barrachan, on the 15th inst., at Wigtown, N.B., aged ninety-one.

Commander Charles Thomas Williamson, R.N., on the 11th inst., at the Royal Naval Hospital, Haslar.

The Rev. Edward Henry Æmelius Goddard, M.A., Vicar of Eartham, Chichester, on the 12th inst., aged eighty-seven.

William Rolph Thornell, Esq., of Standon, Herts, and late of Cleveland, Tasmania, on the 9th, in his eighty-first year.

Alexander Lorimer, Esq., M.D., H.E.I.C.S., Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Madras, on the 14th inst., at Bromley-road, Lee, Kent.

General Alexander Tulloch, C.B., late Madras Army, on the 15th inst., at Dawson-place, Bayswater, aged ninety, the oldest general officer in the Indian Army, in which he had seen much active service.

Dowager Lady Cooper, on the 16th inst., at 80, Eaton-place, aged seventy-six. Her Ladyship was the only child and heiress of William Rickford, Esq., for many years M.P. for Aylesbury, and was married, in 1821, to Sir Astley Paston Cooper, Bart., who died Jan. 6, 1866. Lady Cooper had ten sons and three daughters, of whom the eldest son is the present Sir Astley Paston Cooper, Bart.

The Rev. Archer Clive, of Whitfield, in the county of Hereford, M.A., J.P. and D.L., formerly Rector of Solihull, in the county of Warwick, at Whitfield, aged seventy-eight, on the 17th inst. He was son of Edward Bolton Clive, Esq., by the Hon. Harriet Archer, his wife, daughter and coheiress of Andrew, last Lord Archer of Umberslade, and represented a younger branch of the family of Clive, now represented by the Earl of Powis.

John Arnott, Esq., of Greenfield House, Auchtermuty, near Dundee, connected for more than half a century with the Fife linen manufacture, of which he may be considered one of the original pioneers. His third son, Sir John Arnott, J.P. and D.L., has long been known as one of the most enterprising commercial men in Ireland, M.P. for Kinsale, 1859 to 1863, and Mayor of Cork, 1859-60, and proprietor besides of the Irish Times, the well-known Dublin newspaper.

Colonel William Fraser Tytler, of Balnain and Aldowrie, in the county of Inverness, J.P. and D.L., Convener for that county, and Lieutenant-Colonel of Artillery Volunteers, on the 12th inst., aged sixty-three. He was formerly Captain in the Bengal Cavalry and Assistant Quartermaster-General to the Bengal Army. He saw much service, and had five war medals and seven clasps. He was third son of the late William Fraser Tytler, of Balnain, and nephew of Patrick Fraser Tytler, the historian of Scotland.

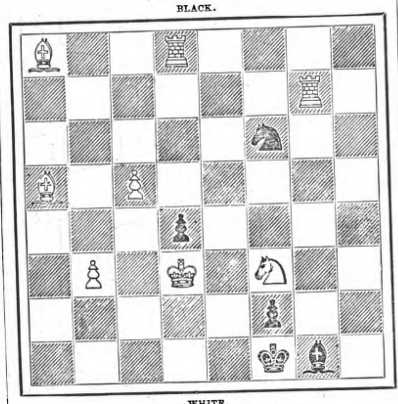
Reginald James Blewitt, Esq., formerly of Llantarnam Abbey, Newport, Monmouthshire, recently, at the age of seventy-nine. He was the second son of Major Edward Blewitt, of Llantarnam Abbey, and was descended from Sir Samuel Blewitt, some time Master of the Skinners' Company and Sheriff of London. Mr. Blewitt sat many years in Parliament in the Liberal interest for the Monmouthshire Boroughs, was a Magistrate and Deputy Lieutenant for that county, and acted occasionally as Chairman of Quarter Sessions.

George Parker Bidder, Esq., F.R.S., the eminent civil engineer, on the 20th inst., at his residence, Ravensbury, Dartmouth, in his seventy-third year. Mr. Bidder was in early life known as the "Calculating Boy," and exhibited in public his remarkable aptitude in calculating. He afterwards became associated with Mr. George Stephenson, and assisted him in getting several railway bills passed through Parliament. Mr. Bidder was one of the engineers of the Blackwall Railway, and was largely employed in the construction of other lines. He was one of the chief promoters of the Electric Telegraph Company, and was President of the Institution of Civil Engineers for 1860-1.

Dr. Robert Willis, formerly librarian of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, on the 21st inst., at Barnes, in the eightieth year of his age. He received his professional education in Edinburgh, where he graduated M.D. in 1819, soon after which he came to the metropolis, and passed his examination for the membership of the College of Surgeons in February, 1823, subsequently becoming a licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians. In 1827 Dr. Willis was appointed librarian of the College of Surgeons, on the strong recommendation of Dr. John Abernethy, and held the appointment until June, 1845, when he resigned. He was the author of a large number of books, and was a member of many learned and scientific societies both at home and abroad.

John Penn, Esq., the eminent marine engineer, on the 23rd inst., at his residence at Lee, Kent, in his seventy-third year. Mr. Penn's various patents for marine engines were considered so good that 740 British war-vessels were fitted with his machinery. Among them were the Warrior, the Black Prince, the Achilles, the Hercules, and the Sultan. Messrs. Penn also supplied the engines for nearly all the largest war-ships for the Italian, Spanish, Brazilian, German, Danish, and Peruvian Governments, and those for the yachts of the Queen, the Emperor of Russia, the Khedive, the Sultan, and the Emperor of Austria. Mr. Penn was elected a member of the Institution of Civil Engineers in 1828, and a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1859. He was also a past president of the Society of Mechanical Engineers, and had received many marks of distinction from the various foreign Governments who had availed themselves of his professional services.

CHESS.



SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1803.

WHITE.	BLACK.
1. B to Q Kt sq	K to Q 5th
2. K to B 2nd	K to K 5th
3. K to B 3rd (dis. ch).	Mate.

PROBLEM No. 1806.

By A. CYRIL PEARSON.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play, and mate in three moves.

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

In the tournament of the Canadian Chess Association, for which liberal prizes have been provided, there are thirteen entries, and, according to the regulations, each competitor is required to play one game with each of the others. The play is conducted at the rooms of the Montreal Chess Club, and on the 26th ult. the highest scores were credited to Messrs. Holt, Ascher, Bokum, Hicks, and White, in the order named. The annual dinner of the Association was held on the 24th ult., Dr. Howe presiding on the occasion. In the course of the evening, which was enlivened with music, an original song on the subject of chess was sung by Mr. Henderson.

The names of the prize-winners in the first tourney of the British Problem Association are as follows:—First prize, Mr. J. H. Finlinson, of Huddersfield; second prize, Mr. F. E. Lamb, of London. The prizes for single problems have been awarded to Mr. J. P. Taylor for the best in two moves, to Mr. W. Coates for the best in three moves, and to Mr. Callender for the best in four moves.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

IVANHOE (Dublin).—(1.) You can castle after the King has been checked, provided you have not moved that piece. (2.) You cannot castle to get out of check.

S W (Greenwich).—We do not think there is any decided advantage in the first move, but most players prefer having it.

L (Truro).—The Counties Chess Association is open to all bond fide amateurs of British birth. You should apply to the Rev. C. E. Ranken, St. Rouan's, Malvern.

BISHOP'S PAWN.—We regret that we do not fully comprehend your meaning. Before examining any position, however, we require the name and address of the correspondent that sends it.

ALPHA.—White's answer to 1. Q to Q 2nd (ch) is 2. Kt to K 7th, mating.

E P V (Cheltenham).—We should not have supposed that No. 1803 would have defeated you. The solution is given below.

R T K (Ventnor).—The analysis is clever, but we have not space for it.

W T H (Salisbury-square).—Thanks for your obliging letter.

J F N (Wangford).—The King can never be played to any square within the line of movement of an adverse piece, whether the piece is "pinned" or not.

W H S (Monmouth).—Very promising, but too obvious.

F O N H (Liverpool).—Your last compositions evince a decided advance in knowledge of the art of constructing problems. We like the three-move problem, but are not yet satisfied of its accuracy.

S (Athens) and W S JOHNSON (New York).—Solutions of Problem No. 1801 are correct.

PROBLEMS received from J CRUM (Glasgow) and G Shiel (Sunderland).

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1802 received from D J (Dublin), Dabbshill, C G Ellison, Belvedere, Beatrice, E C Davies, and Deansgate.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1803 received from C E, D A (Dublin), Lulu, Pretextat, Copiapino, Emile Frau, and Deansgate.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1804 received from C E, J Burton, F V P, D A (Dublin), R H Brooks, Lulu, W Gildemeister, Seven and Eight, J O McCreery, A H W, Mrs Clark, Leonard, S Western, A R G, Copiapino, C G Ellison, Thorpe, 8 Stripe, East Marden, Owlet, C R William, G H V, E H H V, H Benthall, Alpha, Cant, A Wood, F le Page, J de Honstevn, W Lecson, E P Vulliamy, T P F, Dr F St, Prétextat, W S B, Norman Rumbelow, Semal, E C Davies, Painter (Shepherd's bush), C S Coxe, Dorothy, O Johnson, F Hampton, W Franklin, E Worsley, N Brock, H Brewster, L Sharswood, St J E, W Lee, T Edgar, D Leslie, F W S, Black Knight, R Ingersoll, S R (Leeds), C Darragh, E Lewis, M Meredith, W Warren, C J G, Leonora and Leon, Oj, of Truro, F W S, Orson, T Greenbank, Z B Young, S Threlfall, T W H, L Burset, L H R, M Whiteley, G Fosbrooke, C C E, An Old Hand, H Stansfield, G Wright, W C Dutton, and B Boughead.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated Dec. 11, 1876) of Mr. James Martin, late of Lombard-street, banker, and of Chislehurst, Kent, who died on the 17th ult., was proved on the 12th inst. by Richard Biddulph Martin and John Biddulph Martin, the nephews, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £500,000. The testator gives to his nephew Richard Biddulph Martin his interest in the freehold premises, No. 68, Lombard-street, and his freehold residence at Chislehurst, with all the personal property therein; and there are specific devises of other freehold properties to his nephews John Biddulph Martin, Hugo Martin, and John Martin; to his sister Miss Frances Penelope Martin he bequeaths £20,000; to his cousins Frances and Caroline Neve, £10,000; to his cousins Admiral Arthur Forbes and Colonel Francis Forbes, £10,000 each; to his cousins Helen Douglas Forbes and Julia Crozier, and to his friend John Biddulph, of Swansea, £5000 each; to each of the clerks in the banking house in Lombard-street at the time of his death, one year's wages; to his gardener, Mackenzie, and to each of the servants in his dwelling-house at Chislehurst, one year's wages. All the legacies are given free of duty. As to the residue of the personalty, the testator gives one half to the children of his brother John Martin, and the other half to his brother Robert Martin.

The will (dated July 24, 1855) of Mr. Beriah Drew, formerly of Bermondsey, but late of Streatham, who died on the 17th ult., was proved on the 4th inst. by Mrs. Elizabeth Drew, the widow, the sole executrix, the personal estate being sworn under £140,000. The testator devises all his freehold and copyhold property to his wife, and gives and bequeaths to her all and every his personal estate whatsoever for her own use and benefit.

The will (dated June 2, 1876) with a codicil (dated Feb. 11, 1878) of Mr. Robert John Bagshaw, late of Dovercourt, Essex, who died on the 14th ult., at No. 43, Gloucester-square, was proved on the 9th inst. by Charles Frederick Hope Collisson, Ernest William Fowler, and Charles De La Prynne, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £45,000. The testator leaves to his wife, Mrs. Emma Ann Bagshaw, £700 per annum for life, in addition to £500 per annum already secured to her by settlement, and a residence at Dovercourt; £150 per annum for life to Mrs. Mary Ann Bagshaw, the widow of his late father; £250 per annum to his sister, Miss Mary Louisa Bagshaw; £250 to each of his executors, £30 per annum for life to his servant Margaret Webb, and other bequests. He also bequeaths £200 each to the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East, the British and Foreign Bible Society, the London City Mission, and the Evangelisation Society, Surrey-street; and £100 each to University College Hospital and the Freemasons' Grand Lodge of Essex. All his real estate, subject to the annuities which are charged thereon, is directed to be sold and the net proceeds, with the residue of the personalty, is to go as follows:—One fourth upon trust for his niece Catherine Collisson and her children, one half of the remainder upon trust for his niece Mary Leathes and her children, and the other half upon trust for his niece Georgina Walker and her children.

The will (dated May 18, 1874) with a codicil (dated May 31, 1878) of Mr. Alfred Henley, formerly of Stamford, Lincoln, but late of No. 13, Lansdown-crescent, Bath, merchant, who died on July 21 last at Torquay, was proved on the 5th inst. by Alexander Buchanan and Henry Yeames, the executors for England, the personal estate being sworn under £25,000.

The will (dated March 17, 1877) of Miss Esther Bettell, late of No. 135, King's-cross-road, St. Pancras, who died on the 16th ult. at No. 18, Hastings-street, Burton-crescent, was proved on the 6th inst. by Henry William Looker, Richard Coomber, and Francis James Shaw, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £4000. Among other bequests, the testatrix gives £50 Three per Cent Consolidated Bank Annuities each to the University Hospital, Gower-street, the Great Northern Hospital, Caledonian-road, and the Middlesex Hospital; and £30 like annuities each to the London Missionary Society and the London City Mission.

The assets of the London Corporation at the close of last year, exclusive of the City lands, amounted to £384,080; and the liabilities, exclusive of loans sanctioned by Parliament and secured upon the property of the Corporation, left a balance of cash assets over liabilities, £294,491.

A Guildford correspondent of the Daily News says:—"As a collector of rates and taxes named Ormerod was driving on Monday between Chaile and the line on the South Downs he was stopped by two men and pulled out of his dog-cart, and money in notes and gold, amounting to £120, was taken from him. The footpads, on leaving, presented him with a gilt-edged copy of the New Testament."

The Duke of St. Albans was installed yesterday week as Provincial Grand Master of Freemasons for the province of Nottinghamshire, in place of the Duke of Newcastle, who resigned the office last year. The ceremony was performed at Nottingham Castle, the Art Museum there being closed to the public during the day. The installing Master was Lord Carnarvon, pro-Grand Master of England, and there was a large attendance of members of the craft from various parts of the country.—A new lodge of Freemasons named the Kensington Lodge, and numbered 1767 on the register of the Grand Lodge of England, was consecrated yesterday week at the Courtfield Hotel, Earl's Court, Kensington.

There was a large increase in the total of each description of food landed at Liverpool last week from the United States and Canada when compared with the previous week. It was thought that the boisterous weather which most of the vessels arriving last week encountered in the Atlantic would have caused considerable mortality amongst the live stock; but, fortunately, this was not the case, as the vessels arrived with their consignments — which in several cases were much augmented—in excellent order, and with a nominal death-rate. The steamers with live stock were the Bulgarian, having on board 285 cattle, 703 sheep, and 1384 pigs; the Mississippi, with 64 cattle and 1596 sheep; the Macgregor, with 381 cattle and 190 sheep; the Lake Nepigon, with 114 cattle and 719 sheep; the Sicily, with 284 cattle; the City of Limerick, with 228 cattle; the Gracia, with 122 cattle and four calves; and the Atlas, with 392 sheep: the totals for the week being 1478 cattle, 3590 sheep, 1384 pigs, and four calves. The number of sheep is the largest ever landed in one week. Of fresh meat the Montana had 1400 quarters on board, the Adriatic 700 quarters and 100 carcases of sheep, the England 704 quarters of beef, and the City of Chester 480 quarters of beef and 75 carcases of mutton: making 3284 quarters of beef and 175 carcases of mutton. The steamer British Empire landed 185 tubs of fresh butter and the Sicily 209.

London: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1878.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2049.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½d.

FORT OF ALI MUSJID, KHYBER PASS, WHERE THE BRITISH MISSION TO CABUL WAS TURNED BACK.

BIRTHS.

On July 20, 1878, at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, the wife of Charles H. Hemming, of a son.

On the 26th ult., at 13, Chesterfield-street, Mayfair, the Lady Florence Dixie, of a son.

On the 10th ult., at Titlington Hall, Alnwick, the Hon. Mrs. Hargrave Pawson, of twin sons.

MARRIAGES.

On the 26th ult., at Holy Trinity Church, Westbourne-terrace, by the Rev. J. W. L. Heaviside, A.M., Canon of Norwich, Alfred Waldegrave, eldest son of the Rev. William and the Lady Maria Brodie, of East Meon, Petersfield, Hants, to Catherine Eliza, elder daughter of Major-General Francis Applegath, retired list, Madras Army.

On the 3rd inst., at St. James's, Piccadilly, by the Rev. S. E. Pennefather, Vicar of Kenilworth, Henry F. Swan, of North Jesmond, near Newcastle-on-Tyne, to Kate Isabel, sixth daughter of the late William Henry Dawes, The Hall, Kenilworth, Warwickshire.

On the 24th ult., at Perlethorpe Church, Notts, Earl Beauchamp to Lady Emily Pierrepont.

On June 22, at St. John's Church, Albany, Western Australia, Albert Young Hassell, Esq., J.P., of Kendenup House, W.A., to Ethel, fourth daughter of William Carmalt Clifton, Esq., J.P., of The Mount, King George's Sound, W.A.

On the 28th ult., at Cortachy Castle, Captain H. M. Hozier, late 3rd Dragoon Guards, to Lady Blanche Ogilvy, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Airlie.

On the 1st inst., at St. Augustine's, S. Kensington, Philip A. Champion de Crespigny, second son of the late Sir Claude W. Champion de Crespigny, Bart., to Rose, eldest daughter of Admiral Sir Cooper Key, K.C.B.

DEATHS.

On the 27th ult., at the residence of his son, Langley House, near Slough, James Watson, Esq., M.D., F.R.S.E., of 13, Circus, Bath, and formerly of the Bengal Medical Service, aged 86 years.

On the 27th ult., at Ilkley, Arthur Henry, son of the late Edwin Bullock, of Hawthorn House, Handsworth, Birmingham.

On the 29th ult., at 22, Upper Grosvenor-street, General Sir Henry Bentinck, K.C.B., aged 82.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.*

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCT. 12.

SUNDAY, Oct. 6.

Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity. Morning Lessons: 2 Chron. xxxvi.; Ephes. vi. 10; Evening Lessons: Neh. i. and ii. to 9, or viii.; Luke vii. 24. St. Paul's Cathedral, harvest festival, 10.30 a.m., Rev. Prebendary Ottley; 3.15 p.m., Bishop Claughton; 7 p.m., Rev. R. Shutte, Vicar of St. Michael's, Portsea. Westminster Abbey, 10 a.m., Rev. T. L. Papillon; 3 p.m., Rev. Canon Duckworth. St. James's, noon, Rev. A. H. Sitwell. Whitehall, 11 a.m., Rev. W. Hulton; 3 p.m., Rev. T. L. Papillon. Savoy, closed. Temple Church, 11 a.m., probably Rev. Dr. Vaughan, the Master; 3 p.m., Rev. A. Ainger, the Reader.

MONDAY, Oct. 7.

Races: Newmarket Second October Meeting. Society of Engineers, 7.30 p.m. (Mr. George F. André on the Application of Electricity to the Ignition of Blasting Charges).

TUESDAY, Oct. 8.

British Museum reopens. Gresham Lectures (four days), 6 p.m. (Dr. Symes Thompson on Physic). West London Scientific Association, 8 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 9.

St. Denis, Archbishop and Martyr. Microscopical Society, 8 p.m. Gaelic Society, 3 p.m. (Mr. R. G. Tolmie on Scotland in the Twelfth Century—Introduction of Feudalism). Cryptogamic Society of Scotland: fourth annual Conference at Edinburgh (three days). Royal Toxophilite Society (Prize Day, Major Lewin's Prizes).

THURSDAY, Oct. 10.

St. Paulinus, Archbishop of York, Confessor. Oxford Michaelmas Term begins. Royal Toxophilite Society. British Dairy Farmers' Association: Exhibition at Agricultural Hall (four days). Cirencester Athletic Sports.

FRIDAY, Oct. 11.

Full Moon, 8.54 a.m. Old Michaelmas Day. Tunbridge Wells Agricultural Association Show. Seamen's Hospital Society, quarterly court, 2 p.m. City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy—Wealth). Quekett Microscopical Club, 8 p.m. Clinical Society, 8.30 p.m. New Shakspere Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. J. W. Mills on Anachronisms in "Winter's Tale;" Mr. G. H. Overend on the Site of Burbage's Theatre; Professor Ruskin on the word "fret" in "Julius Cæsar," II., i., 104.

SATURDAY, Oct. 12.

Photographic Society Exhibition. Wimbledon Archery Meeting.

THE WEATHER.

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51° 28′ 6″ N.; Long. 0° 19′ 47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

Sept.	Barometer corrected.	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	Maximum, read at 10 P.M.	Minimum, read at 10 P.M.	General Direction.	Movement in 24 hours, read at 10 A.M. next morning.	Rain in 24 hours, read at 10 A.M. next morning.
	inches.	°	°	°	0-10	°	°		Miles.	In.
25	29·657	51·4	50·4	·97	10	58·7	40·9	WSW. SSW. N.	202	0·040
26	29·986	49·8	46·5	·72	4	58·8	41·8	SW. W. WSW.	128	0·000
27	30·057	53·6	50·5	90	9	60·2	42·6	SW. WSW.	154	0·000
28	30·059	58·0	53·2	·85	9	66·5	53·3	WSW.	105	0·000
29	29·968	53·2	52·8	98	—	64·1	49·7	WSW.	52	0·020
30	29·731	59·1	43·5	·72	7	61·8	47·1	W.	331	0·000
Oct. 1	30·040	52·9	46·3	·80	8	62·5	48·7	N. NW. NE.	100	0·020

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in inches) corrected ..	29·638	29·953	30·067	30·060	30·030	29·975	30·018
Temperature of Air ..	54·6°	52·1°	47·6°	49·1°	53·6°	58·8°	55·3°
Temperature of Evaporation ..	52·2°	48·5°	53·0°	58·3°	53·3°	52·5°	51·5°
Direction of Wind	WSW.	SW.	SW.	WSW.	WSW.	W.	N.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCTOBER 12.

Sunday.		Monday.		Tuesday.		Wednesday.		Thursday.		Friday.		Saturday.
M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A
h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m
10 19	10 37	11 30	11 57	—	0 23	0 43	1 0	1 20	1 35	1 50	2 5	2 20	2 33

THE TWO ORPHANS, with all the Original Effects and Powerful Cast, EVERY EVENING at 7.30. Box-office open daily from Eleven to Five. No booking fees. MORNING PERFORMANCE on SATURDAY, OCT. 5, at 1.45; Doors open at 1.15.—OLYMPIC THEATRE.

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY-LANE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, F. B. Chatterton.—This Theatre, redecorated, OPEN for the SEASON SATURDAY, SEPT. 28; and Every Evening at Eight o'Clock will be presented Shakspeare's romantic Play A WINTER'S TALE. Scenery by William Beverley. Leontes, Mr. Charles Dillon; Hermione, Miss Wallis; Perdita, Miss Fowler; and Paulina, Mrs. Hermann Vezin. Preceded, at Seven o'Clock, by Lecocq's Operetta ANGELA; or, A Woman's Wit. Conclude with the Comic Ballet LORD DUNDREARY. Box-Office open Ten till Five daily.

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.
ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.
THE
MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS.
All the year round.
Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.
THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.
It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.
THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.
Fauteuils, 3s.; Sofa Stalls, 3s.; Area, 2s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

WILL BE PUBLISHED, OCTOBER 7,
PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½D.),
THE
ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK
FOR
1879, CONTAINING
TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,
PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,
FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS;
TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,
AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;
TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;
ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA,
WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;
The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Offices and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Times of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.
The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.
The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.
The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

THE ILLUSTRATED
PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.
An English Edition of
L'EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE DE 1878 ILLUSTRÉE,
in continuation of the Illustrated Journal issued in 1867 under the authority of the Imperial Commission, is issued every Tuesday,
PRICE THREEPENCE.
PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE OF
THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS,
198, STRAND, LONDON.
All Country Orders to be supplied through the London Agents.

PROFESSOR TENNANT'S LECTURES on MINERALOGY, APPLIED TO GEOLOGY AND THE ARTS, at KING'S COLLEGE. Two Courses are given, one on Wednesday and Friday Mornings, from Nine to Ten, and the other on Thursday Evenings, from Eight to Nine. The public are admitted on paying the College fees. The Lectures begin Friday, Oct. 4, and terminate at Easter. They are illustrated by a large series of specimens, chiefly from his private collection. Persons unable to attend public lectures can have private instruction in Mineralogy and Geology at Professor Tennant's residence, 149, Strand, W.C.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £5000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRÆTORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 33 ft. by 22 ft.; with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street, W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT. DOUBLEDAY'S WILL, by F. C. Burnand; THE PARIS EXHIBITION, by Mr. Corney Grain; and AN ARTFUL AUTOMATON. Every Evening, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Every Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s., 3s., and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight; TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Music by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The performances of Fanfaro, the Cornet-Player, and Lalolo on the Euphonium, are just now the attraction and talk of the entire kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 2ls. to 2½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1878.

The Quarterly Accounts of the Revenue receipts published on the 1st inst. can hardly fail to excite some misgivings in the minds of those persons who are wont to contemplate the future of the country in the light of its financial condition. Indications are not wanting that the elasticity of our ordinary fiscal resources has been to some degree impaired. The Budget Estimates of the Chancellor of the Exchequer have not been verified by experience. The Revenue for the quarter, it is true, shows a net increase of £83,000, as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1877. But we are bound to bear in mind the additional taxation imposed on the public last Session by the twopence extra of the Income Tax, by the Customs' increased duty on Tobacco, and by the Excise augumentation of the Dog Tax. In point of fact, however, there is a falling off of £44,000 in the Receipts of the Customs, of £39,000 in the Receipts of the Excise, of £32,000 in the Receipts of the Stamp Department, and of £13,000 from Land Tax and House Duty. A great change for the better, not certainly an impossible one, but one that can hardly be looked upon as likely, must take place within the next two quarters to bring up the year's revenue to the Chancellor of the Exchequer's original estimate. The balance of receipts and expenditure may, however, be materially disturbed. There are liabilities before us which will claim to be discharged. There is a winter ahead of us which, for anything that meteorologists can promise to the contrary, may be severe; and there is a continuance of that slackness of trade which, not this country only, but almost every other country, has experienced for the last two or three years. The outlook, consequently, is far from cheering. Our fiscal system has probably reached the acme of its power. The purse of the nation is not replenished in proportion to the demands made upon it. The falling off may prove but temporary—but there it is, small, it may be, but quite decided enough to give us some anxiety for the future.

If we look to the side of expenditure we find but little consolation in it. There is a floating debt against the Exchequer, left over for next year, of a very serious amount. The South African War, the expenses incurred by the occupation of Cyprus, and, at least, a moiety of that incurred in the invasion of Afghanistan must necessarily swell the debit side of our account. A deficit of between two and three millions in the year, or, in other word, an excess of national expenditure over income to that amount, is by no means beyond the range of present possibilities. It is not the actual amount of this which need excite our apprehensions; it is much rather the mode in which it has been brought about and the seeming unconcern with which it has been viewed by those who have the control of the finances of the country. Because what is going on now may be going on in like manner next year, or the year after that, and everyone can foresee that a declining revenue and a rapidly increasing expenditure must, if persisted in, terminate in disaster.

Probably, it will not be persisted in. The prudence of the nation will, though perhaps too tardily, discountenance the policy which is pointing to such results. That this United Kingdom should fail to take her proper place, or to exercise her undoubted influences among the political Powers of the world; that she is bound by her selfish interests to isolate herself from those of humanity; that she should hesitate to speak with authority wherever the voice of authority can avail—few persons, we think, whose intellectual and moral culture has not been wholly neglected would be found to contend. But that England should revert to her old and, till lately, obsolete habit of intervening in a somewhat dictatorial spirit in all the quarrels and intrigues of European and even barbarous Potentates, is quite another thing. We can have a spirited foreign policy without going to that length of self-assertion. We can potently sway the movement of other States without making their follies the measure of our own. Our political freedom, our wealth, our industrial and commercial activity, and other qualities of a moral kind, will always secure for us such consideration in the Council of Nations as they really deserve. Any departure of ours from a quiet, steady, and self-appreciative policy, in regard to the Powers by which we are surrounded, is sure, in the nature of things, to tend to an unnecessary exhaustion of our vital resources. So we have found it in days that are past. So we shall find it still. Fever is not health. Restlessness does not always mean the energy of life. A blaze, although here and there it may make itself more conspicuous to onlookers, gives out less heat than a clear and flameless fire.

It is not impossible that financial considerations will exercise some perceptible influence in recalling the country to increased political sobriety; and, if so, it will have reason to rejoice in, rather than regret, its present declining fiscal condition. We are all of us somewhat disposed to live too fast, and to regard an ostentation of self-will as more honourable to us than the fulfilment of high purposes. But already the day of reaction from this state of feeling strikes us as having dawned. The process of correction may be slow, and, in many respects, painful; but the abiding good sense of Englishmen is a rich treasury of national health and strength. There is no overpowering reason, therefore, to look with despondency upon the country's destiny, or to imagine that it has already touched the zenith of its career. If it has parted with some of its best characteristics, it has done so only for a time. It retains abundant elements of vitality. It may yet take the lead of nations without needlessly offending their self-respect. Above all, it can discharge its duty to mankind without assuming to be their appointed master, to whose interests they must in all cases give way, and to whose dictation they must submit. For, after all, there are moral principles which lie at the foundation of political arrangements. To such principles our policy, whether at home or abroad, had best be conformed, and, sooner or later, we are convinced will be conformed. Such thoughts as these soothe our anxieties in regard to the prospects upon which the country is entering. We can afford to look without dismay upon the difficulties, financial or otherwise, which cast a present shade upon the place we occupy. But we are not unmindful of the obligations imposed upon us by immediate exigencies. And we cannot but think, with a goodly number, as we hope, of upright and thoughtful patriots, that the time has come, or, at any rate, is near at hand, when such influence as can be exerted upon public opinion ought to be put forth in furtherance of a more exalted, as well as more watchful, order of rule than that under which it is our lot to live.

The winter session of the Leeds School of Medicine was opened on Wednesday, Dr. J. E. Eddison, president for the year, occupying the chair.

Sir William Armstrong has offered to present to the town of Newcastle-on-Tyne twenty-six acres of land, worth £20,000, adjoining the twenty-two acres recently bought by the Corporation for an East-end Park. The offer has been accepted with thanks, and it is proposed to call the grounds Armstrong Park.

THE COURT.

The Queen, Princess Beatrice, and Prince Leopold attended Divine service performed at Balmoral Castle on Sunday by the Rev. A. Campbell, of Crathie.

The Princess of Wales and her daughters have visited and lunched with her Majesty, and the Queen has paid various visits to their Royal Highnesses at Abergeldie.

Her Majesty, with Princess Beatrice, has driven to Glen Gelder Shiel, and has walked daily in the castle grounds.

Prince Leopold left Balmoral on Tuesday for the south.

Prince Frederick William of Prussia took leave of the Queen yesterday week on his return to Germany.

In the presence of the Grand Duke and Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia, the infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh was on Wednesday baptised in the Palace of their Royal Highnesses, and received the names of Alexandra Louise Olga Victoria.

The Earl of Fife and the Hon. Hamilton Duncan lunched at Balmoral last week, and were received by her Majesty.

Viscount Cranbrook has left the castle. The Hon. Mrs. Ferguson of Pitfour has been on a visit at Balmoral.

The death of General Sir Thomas Biddulph at Abergeldie Mains on Saturday last has caused the Queen the profoundest grief. He had been for twenty-seven years one of the Queen's most valuable and confidential servants, and his death is felt by her Majesty as an irreparable loss. Her Majesty had called daily during the week, and had only just left the house when the sad event took place. The Queen, with Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold, went to Abergeldie Mains in the afternoon to inquire after the Hon. Lady Biddulph and her son and daughter, and her Majesty paid daily visits until the departure of Lady Biddulph on Thursday for the south with the remains of her late husband. All the members of the Royal family who were absent have telegraphed their deepest sympathy and regret. The loss of the lamented Sir Thomas Biddulph is deeply felt by the whole of the Royal household, of which he had so long been an honoured member. Sir W. Jenner and Dr. Profit were in constant attendance on him during the week.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Princess of Wales, accompanied by Princesses Louise, Victoria, and Maud of Wales, arrived at Ballater at a quarter past two p.m. on Thursday week. The Prince of Wales met their Royal Highnesses upon their arrival. A detachment of the 79th Highlanders, under the command of Captain Gordon, was drawn up at the railway station. Their Royal Highnesses drove in a waggonette to Abergeldie Castle. The Princess, with her daughters, visited the Queen at Balmoral the next day. Her Majesty visited their Royal Highnesses at Abergeldie on Sunday, and took tea with the Princess on Monday. The Prince has passed a few days during the week on a visit to Viscount Macduff at the Derry Lodge, Braemar. His Royal Highness has had good sport in the Forest of Mar. The Princess, with her daughters, has driven out daily in the vicinity of the Royal demesne.

The Duke de Nemours has left the Pulteney Hotel for Paris.

Count Münster has left the German Embassy, Carlton House-terrace, on a visit to the Earl and Countess of Rosslyn at Dysart House, Kirkcaldy, Fifeshire.

The Duke and Duchess of Norfolk have arrived at Arundel Castle, Sussex.

The Duchess of Westminster left Grosvenor House on Saturday last, accompanied by the Hon. Algernon Grosvenor, for Paris.

The Duke of Roxburghe has left Brown's Hotel for Scotland.

The Duke of Rutland has arrived at Belvoir Castle from Longshawe Lodge.

FASHIONABLE MARRIAGES.

The Hon. Anthony Lucius Dawson (Coldstream Guards), youngest son of the Earl and Countess of Dartrey, was married to the Hon. Mary Frances FitzGerald de Ros, only child of Lord and Lady de Ros, on Wednesday, at St. George's Church, Hanover-square. Mr. H. C. Jervoise (Coldstream Guards) was best man. The bride was received by her father, Lord de Ros, who gave her away. Her bridesmaids were Miss Constance Kerr, Miss Sibyl Coke, Miss Frances and Miss Constance des Vœux, Miss Caroline Boyle (cousins of the bride), and Miss Long and Miss Susan Long (cousins of the bridegroom). The bride's dress was of ivory satin, trimmed with Brussels lace, wreath of orange blossoms and veil, and ornaments of diamonds and pearls. The bridesmaids wore dresses of grey cashmere and ruby satin, and ruby satin toques with silver clasps. The religious ceremony was performed by the Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Windsor. The bride and bridegroom left Lord de Ros's residence in Park-street, Grosvenor-square, for Chaddesden Hall, Sir Henry Wilmot's seat near Derby, to spend the honeymoon. The wedding presents were very numerous. The Queen sent the bride an Indian shawl; Princess Louise of Lorne, an ornamented and chased looking-glass; the Duke of Connaught, an ebony and china clock; Prince Leopold and Princess Beatrice, a gold bangle bracelet, set with diamonds and sapphires. Among the presents received by the bridegroom were, from Lady Cremorne, his grandmother, a purse of £500.

The Hon. Wilbraham F. Tollemache, M.P., was married to Miss Mary Stuart Hamilton, youngest daughter of the Right Hon. Lord and Lady Claud Hamilton, on Wednesday, at St. Peter's Church, Eaton-square. The bridesmaids were the Hon. Mary Baring, the Hon. Rhona Tollemache (sister of the bridegroom), Miss Hamilton (sister of the bride), Miss Baillie, Miss Hamilton Gordon, and Miss Catherine King. The bride's dress was of white satin, trimmed with flounces and garland of Honiton lace and orange flowers, and over a wreath of orange-flowers and clematis a veil of Honiton lace, which was fastened to the hair by a diamond spray; and she wore a diamond and pearl necklace. The bridesmaids wore dresses of white cashmere, trimmed with white satin and forget-me-nots. Their head-dresses were white satin caps trimmed with lace and forget-me-nots, to harmonise with their dresses. The Rev. George H. Wilkinson, M.A., the Vicar of St. Peter's, performed the marriage rite. After the breakfast, the bride and bridegroom left town for Peckforton Castle, Cheshire, the seat of Lord Tollemache, for the honeymoon. The bride's travelling dress was of claret merino, trimmed with silk of the same colour, and hat and feather to match.

The marriage of Captain H. M. Hozier, late 3rd Dragoon Guards, and Lady Blanche Ogilvy, eldest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Airlie, was celebrated at Cortachy Castle, Forfarshire, on Saturday last. The Rev. C. Greenhill Henderson, Incumbent of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Hamilton, officiated. The marriage was quite private, owing to Lady Airlie's delicate health after her severe illness.

A marriage is arranged to take place in November between the Hon. Richard Clere Parsons, third son of the late Earl of Rosse, and Miss Agnes E. Bateman, youngest daughter of John Frederick Bateman, Esq., of Moor Park, Surrey.

ART, SCIENCE, AND LITERATURE.

Sir Richard Wallace, Bart., M.P., has given £500 towards a museum, school of art, and free public library for Ipswich.

The autumn term of the Quebec Institute for evening classes, 28, Baker-street, will begin next Monday, Oct. 7.

Lord Carnarvon is to deliver, on the evening of Tuesday, Nov. 5, the opening address of the winter session of the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution.

Focardi's marble statuette, "You Dirty Boy!" round the plaster model of which at the Paris Exhibition a laughing crowd of boys may always be seen, has been appropriately bought by Messrs. Pears, soap manufacturers.

Mr. Brock, of 30, Osnaburgh-street, Regent's Park, has been commissioned to execute a statue of Mr. Robert Raikes, the founder of Sunday schools. The statue will, it is believed, when completed, be erected on the Thames Embankment.

The Ecclesiastical Art-Exhibition which opened on Monday at Sheffield has been liberally supported by the best local and the leading metropolitan firms who are engaged in art-manufacture; also by many architects and artists.

Mr. Sydney Hodges has completed a portrait of the Rev. Dr. Bailey, late Warden of St. Augustine's, Canterbury. The portrait has been placed in the hall of St. Augustine's, on the retirement of Dr. Bailey, in commemoration of his having filled the office of Warden for twenty-eight years.

The question of the advisability or otherwise of granting a license for the sale of alcoholic liquors at the Art-Museum at Nottingham Castle, which has lately created a good deal of interest in the town, was settled on Monday, when the magistrates granted the license.

The erection of the library and picture-gallery connected with the Shakspeare memorial buildings at Stratford-on-Avon was begun yesterday week. Mr. Lascelles, the contractor, is also engaged in the construction of the theatre portion of the memorial, which will be completed by the poet's birthday next year, when an inaugural ceremony will take place.

The annual meetings of the Union of Lancashire and Cheshire Institutes were held on Tuesday. Attention was drawn by the chairman to the importance of an extension of the subjects taught in Government-inspected night schools; and a resolution was passed requesting the council of the union to take steps to induce the Education Department to amend the education code accordingly. At a public meeting held in the evening the prizes and certificates gained by the students were distributed, the presentations being made by the Mayor of Manchester, who presided.

Lord Wrottesley, Lord Lieutenant of Staffordshire, presided in the Wolverhampton Exchange, on Monday, over a numerous and influential assemblage for the inauguration of a series of classes for the study of high-class literature, with weekly lectures by gentlemen connected with Oxford University. Lord Wrottesley said he could not with others fail to perceive the growing desire that existed for higher mental culture, and he was also desirous that he should—though in a small way—join in promoting efforts made for the purpose. He expressed his gratification that the University of Oxford, as well as the sister University of Cambridge, had come to try to promote the cause. The lecturer was the Rev. A. H. Johnson, M.A.

A series of water-colour drawings and sketches from nature of Swiss life and scenery will be opened for free exhibition on the first three Sundays in October, at 33, New Bridge-street, Blackfriars. The drawings are the work of Mr. W. L. Thomas, who has lent them to the Sunday Society for the purpose of furthering the object the society has in view—the opening of public museums, art-galleries, libraries, and gardens on Sunday, the people's leisure day. Works of art exhibited for such a purpose are out of the pale of ordinary criticism; nevertheless, most of the drawings in this collection are of such a sterling quality that they can well bear the closest examination. These Sunday art-exhibitions are intended to be continued from time to time until the society's object is accomplished.

On Wednesday at midday the Mayor of Reading (Mr. J. Silver), attended by the Corporation of the borough, opened a loan exhibition of oil and water colour paintings, engravings, and photographs in Victoria Hall, in that town. Among the contributors are Mr. Walter, M.P., Mr. E. Hermon, M.P., Mr. George Palmer, M.P., and Sir Charles Russell, M.P. The collection is large and valuable, and comprises the works of many old and modern masters, including Vandyck, Titian, Rubens, Gainsborough, Canaletti, Sir John Gilbert, Millais, Birket Foster, Rivière, and Teniers. There are several pictures which attracted considerable notice when exhibited at the Royal Academy this year. The exhibition has been got up for the purpose of encouraging and developing a taste for higher art among the working classes, a similar exhibition held in the town four years ago having been attended with unexpected success. In opening the exhibition, the Mayor spoke of the great value of such undertakings, and expressed a hope that the aims which they had in view would be fully realised. The exhibition will remain open for a fortnight at very low charges.

The annual meeting of the Library Association began on Tuesday at Oxford, and was presided over by the Rev. H. O. Coxe. Amongst those present and who took part in the discussions on the papers read, were the Baron De Watteville, representing the French Government; Professors Acland and Rolleston, the Master of Balliol, the Rector of Lincoln, Professor Seligmann, Count Babzani, Count de Massy, and numerous representatives from the British Museum. In the evening the Bodleian librarian held a reception in the hall of Worcester College.—On Wednesday the conference was resumed, under the presidency of the Rev. H. O. Coxe, Bodleian librarian. The report of the committee on a general catalogue of English literature was first considered, in which it was agreed that the general catalogue of English literature should consist of an alphabetical catalogue under the authors' names, and that it should comprehend all books printed in English, either in the United Kingdom or abroad. The report was adopted. Mr. E. A. Axon, Manchester Literary Club, read a paper on "Is a Printed Catalogue of the British Museum Practicable?" which gave rise to a discussion; and Mr. Bullen, of the British Museum, said if he could persuade the trustees and obtain the support of the country, he intended to print a catalogue of the entire contents of the museum. Papers were also read by Professor Seligmann, Dr. Acland, and others, and the conference adjourned. In the evening Dr. Acland gave a reception in Radcliffe Library, which was largely attended.

Sir Wyville Thomson, Regius Professor of Natural History at Edinburgh University, distributed the prizes to the successful students of the Liverpool School of Science at St. George's Hall on Monday night, when the Mayor presided. In introducing Sir Wyville, his Worship referred to what Liverpool had done for literature, science, and art, and said he did not think that the people of any other town in the kingdom were willing to tax themselves to the extent of £12,000 a year in this cause, as those of Liverpool had done. Sir Wyville Thomson delivered a practical address. In the course of his address he mentioned that the school was intended specially for the working classes, and went on to remark that able artisans were required as much as able professional men, and to deprecate a wholesale effort on the part of the former to rise to the ranks of the latter. In the former station of life, with knowledge and steadiness of character, a position of the utmost independence and respect was a man's birthright. If he sought to quit it, he exchanged his birthright for a struggle in a profession alien to the traditions of his family in which competition was great, and was entered upon by him at a disadvantage, and in which he was probably embarrassed for many years by a wretched necessity for keeping up appearances. This was not a rise in life. The position of a struggling professional man was not to be compared to that of a skilful artisan in comfort or independence. While, therefore, he exhorted artisans to continue their science studies, he recommended them to do so for the sake of science, and not of "rising in life."

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Company of Haberdashers has contributed five guineas to the Printers' Pension Corporation.

At most of the hospitals lectures were given last Tuesday on the occasion of the opening of the medical schools.

Another establishment of the Coffee Tavern Company was opened last Saturday at 339-41, Commercial-road East.

Cardinal Manning on Sunday opened a new convent for nuns of the Carmelite Order in St. Charles-square, Notting-hill.

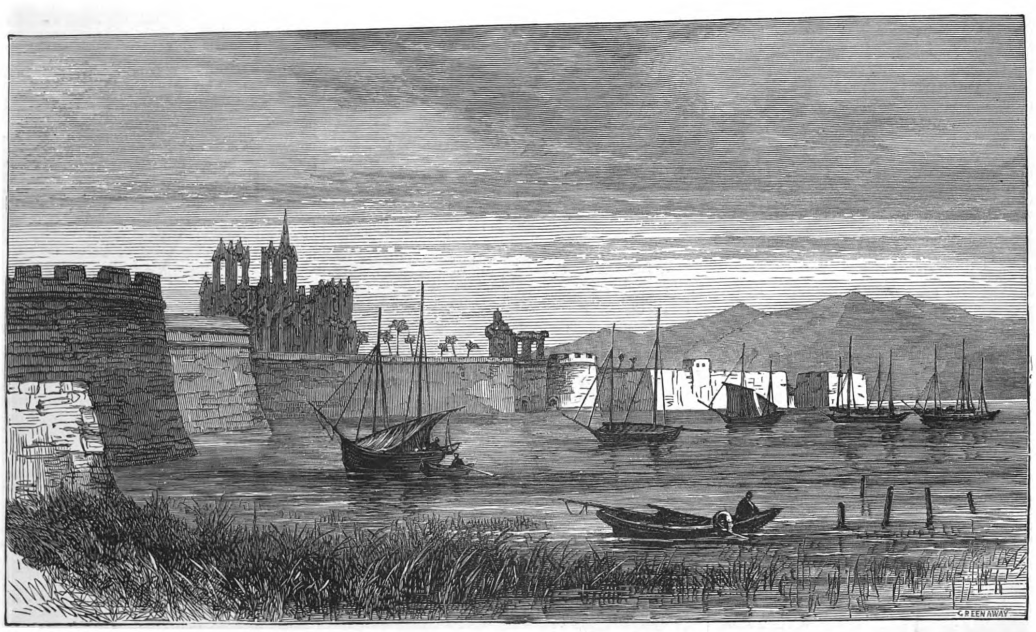
The sixteenth annual edition of the Royal Guide to the London Charities for 1878-9 has been published by Messrs. Hardwicke and Bogue.

In accordance with annual custom, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress entertained on Tuesday evening the Lord Mayor-elect, Sir C. Whetham, at dinner at the Mansion House.

An open competitive examination for clerkships (Class I.) in the Civil Service will be held in London on Nov. 5 and following days. Preliminary examinations will be held in London, Edinburgh, and Dublin on the 15th and 22nd inst.

A new member of the family of mechanical chessplayers has been introduced to London in the person of "Mephisto," who on Wednesday made his first appearance at the Westminster Aquarium. A number of gentlemen well known in chess circles attended to witness the performance.

The Waterloo Bridge Company held a special meeting on Monday, at which the directors were appointed trustees to receive £475,000, to be paid by the Metropolitan Board of Works for the purchase of the bridge. At the board meeting of the shareholders, held on Thursday morning, it was arranged that the property should be handed over to the Metropolitan Board of Works at midday on Saturday (to-day), when the bridge will be declared free to the public.



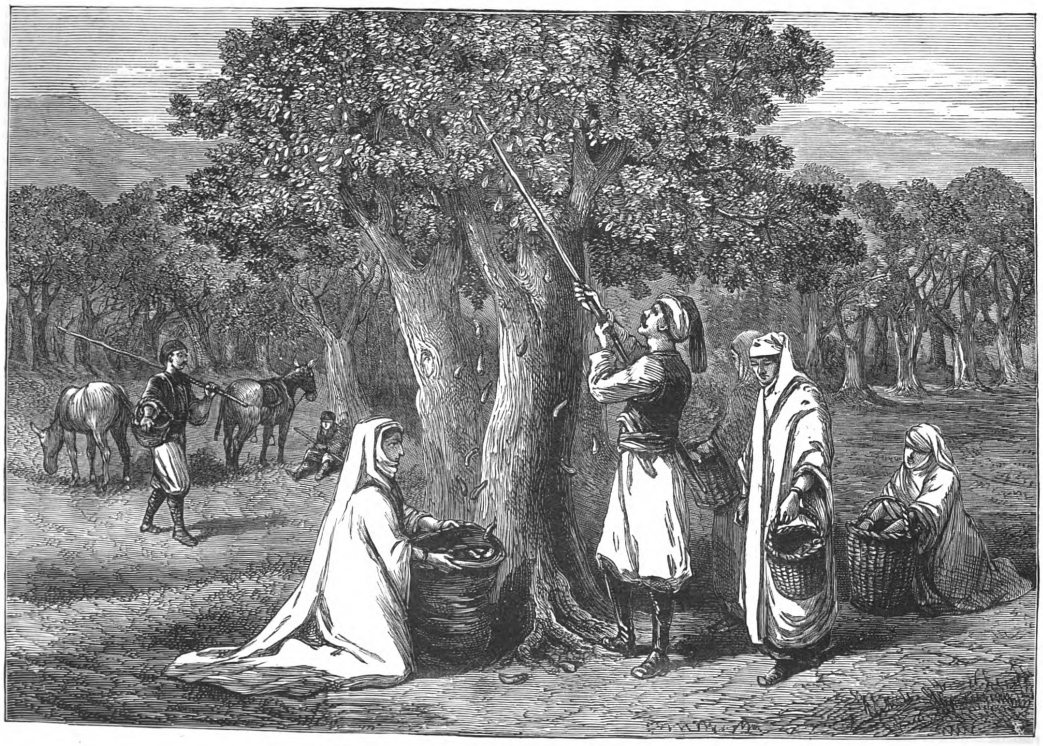
At a meeting of the Metropolitan Board of Works attention was called to the statements made at the Princess Alice inquiry that the water of the Thames where the accident occurred was "poisonous" and "its taste and smell something it was impossible to describe." The works and general purposes committee were directed to inquire into the accuracy of these statements, and to report whether such a state of the water, if correctly described, arose from the drainage outfalls.

We are requested to announce that the Commissioners of her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings intend to distribute this autumn, among the working classes and the poor inhabitants of London, the surplus bedding-out plants in Battersea, Hyde, the Regent's, and Victoria Parks, and in the Royal gardens, Kew, and the pleasure gardens, Hampton Court. If the clergy, school committees, and others interested will make application to the superintendent of the park nearest to their respective parishes, or to the director of the Royal Gardens, Kew, or the superintendent of Hampton Court Gardens, in the cases of persons residing in those neighbourhoods, they will receive notice of the number of plants that can be allotted to each applicant and of the time and manner of their distribution.

The Mansion House Fund for the relief of the sufferers through the Abercarne Colliery explosion now amounts to about £21,000.—A meeting of the Mansion House Committee for the relief of the distress caused by the Princess Alice disaster was held on Monday, at which it was stated that about £10,000 had been appropriated, leaving a large proportion of the cases still to be considered. The committee have decided, as a general principle, to award each widow £100, children and widowers being dealt with according to circumstances. A party of gentlemen selected by the Coroner for the duty have made a careful survey of the wreck, with a view to ascertaining the stability and seaworthiness of the vessel at the time of the collision, the result of the examination to be given in evidence before the jury. The relief fund now amounts to about £33,000.

There were 2494 births and 1355 deaths registered in London last week. The deaths included 2 from smallpox, 6 from measles, 30 from scarlet fever, 13 from diphtheria, 53 from whooping-cough, 27 from different forms of fever, and 61 from diarrhœa. The fatal cases of whooping-cough showed a further increase upon the numbers in the two previous weeks, and exceeded the corrected average by 23. The deaths from measles and scarlet fever continue considerably below the average. The deaths from diphtheria again showed an excess. The fatal cases of fever, which had been 32 and 30 in the two preceding weeks, further declined to 27 last week, of which one was certified as typhus, 20 as enteric or typhoid, and 6 as simple continued fever. In Greater London 3056 births and 1626 deaths were registered. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was only 9·6 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 83·6 hours.

For the first time after the recess the School Board for London met on Wednesday, and Sir Charles Reed, the Chairman, presented a review of the work of that body during the past year. From this it appeared that at the present time the Board had under its control 278 schools, with 704 departments, which give accommodation for 192,000 children. This was an increase upon the last report of 36 schools, 112 departments, and 29,092 school-places. Till recently the Board had followed their enumeration of 1871, which showed the number of children in the metropolis requiring elementary education to be 574,693. This year they had, for greater accuracy, re-scheduled the various districts, and estimated the number at 614,857. These figures, however, were probably considerably below the real number. Of these, the voluntary schools provided at Midsummer last for 278,923, and the Board for 186,468, so that the entire provision at that time amounted to 465,391 school places. When they had completed works now in progress, the Board would have raised their share of the supply to 240,000, thus securing a total provision for 518,000 children.



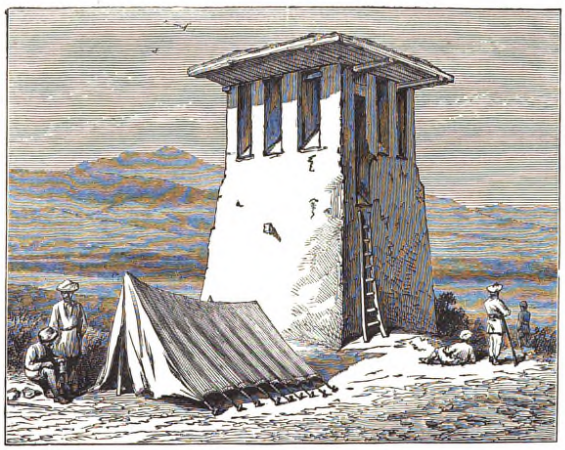
THE HARBOUR OF FAMAGUSTA, CYPRUS.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

THE BRITISH OCCUPATION OF CYPRUS.

(From our Special Artist and Correspondent.)

Varoschia (near Famagusta), Sept. 2.

Having closed the mail for England on Thursday, the 29th ult., I lost no time in leaving Larnaca, its dirt, dust, and extortions; and having chartered an open boat, with a crew of three Greeks, I embarked for a trip to the eastern shores of this island. We sailed merrily before the south-west breeze, which blows regularly here at this time of year, so as really to be a trade wind, all day after ten or eleven o'clock till sunset. In about two hours we were off the steep bluff of Cape Pyla, distant from Larnaca thirteen miles as the crow flies. We then passed the lower land, where the Turks are said to have disembarked three centuries ago (1570), previous to the capture of Famagusta. Four o'clock in the afternoon brought us to Cape Greco, the ancient Pedalium Promontory, twenty-six miles from Larnaca. Here there is a bold headland, a miniature Gibraltar, or rather Table Mountain, looking like a Cyclopean citadel cut out in terraced limestone. Doubling the cape, and still with a fair breeze, only wearing the boat, and having the wind on our port beam instead of right aft, as we had hitherto been running before the wind, we coasted within a stone's throw of the low ledge of rocky coast,



THE CAROB HARVEST IN CYPRUS—GATHERING THE LOCUST BEANS.
A SKETCH NEAR KYRENIA, BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

SHERE ALI, AMEER OF CABUL.

apparently of coral formation, and passed a fleet of boats off shore engaged in sponge-fishing. The breeze subsided slightly in the afternoon, but we slipped along till dark in smooth water, and anchored, or rather were beached, on the sandy shores of Varoschia, the inhabited suburb or Greek village a mile outside Famagusta, having sailed in all forty miles from Larnaca by sea. Famagusta is a walled city, only inhabited by two hundred and odd Turks, no Greeks being permitted to live there. A lodging was soon procured by the dragoman in a garden of figs and pomegranates, watered by two rude water-wheels, turned by mules, and raising the water from wells some thirty feet deep, cut in the solid rock.

In the morning I accompanied the Commissioner (Captain L. V. Swaine, of the Rifle Brigade) to the Konak or official residence in Famagusta. This place, which probably is destined to be the port of Cyprus, is at present quite a city of the dead; Pompeii is hardly more so. Surrounded with high and massive ramparts, solidly constructed of lasting masonry, the large fortress town appears from without as if constructed yesterday. The broad ditches and moats, cut out of the solid rock, must have cost an infinity of labour, and were doubtless the work of galley-slaves. They were formed in the twelfth century for mediæval warfare. The Venetians, and after them the Turks, readily adapted the strong lines for artillery, and even now they are no mean fortification. Within, after traversing the permanent bridge and drawbridge across the moat, one enters a deserted ruin. A few Zaptiehs and a guard of Turkish soldiers at the gate spring up on our approach to salute the Commissioner, and that guard passed we are in solitude. I was at once struck with the anomaly that in a strongly-fortified city such as this, with the union-jack flying over it, there should not be a single English soldier, while at Baffo and other out-of-the-way places in the open country there are companies of infantry with nothing to guard except their precious health. As it is, in Famagusta the united strength of Turkish soldiers, who, by-the by, are deserting daily, and of Zaptiehs, is barely sufficient to keep up the sentries at the gates of the town. The truth, I suppose, is that Famagusta is reported unhealthy; and, having a bad name, it is shunned accordingly. I do not myself believe Famagusta to be at all more unhealthy than Larnaca, if so unhealthy; but of this we may hear more by-and-by. Leaving the Commissioner at his office, I traversed the walls and ruins of this city of the dead, and naturally bent my steps towards the ruins of the ancient Cathedral Church, now used as a mosque. The west front, although dilapidated, shows traces of great architectural beauty; and it is depressing to see the Moslem disfigurement and desecration. Surely, where the Mohammedans are in such a miserable minority, these ancient churches should be restored to their pristine sanctity, and the ugly traces of Islam removed. Let the ruins be Christian ruins, at least. Although not so large as St. Sophia at Nicosia, the design of the Famagusta Cathedral is lighter and more elegant, especially the apse at the eastern end. The photographs by M. Dumas lately taken will show more fully than pages of description the beauties of the edifice. Various other monastic and conventual buildings, all in a state of desolation, are scattered between the ruins of the streets. Old bronze cannon, in considerable numbers, are lying here; and there are some mounted on the walls, others dismounted and lying inside the gates, especially the water-gate, as if ready for removal. Most of these guns bear the winged lion, or the winged horse, on the chase of the piece; and, as a rule, their cascables are cast flat, without the ornamentation of rings, fillets, and ogees.

OUTLOOK HOUSE, NEAR THE KHYBER PASS.

Captain Swaine, with his Assistant-Commissioner, Captain J. A. S. Inglis, of the 71st Highlanders, are the only two European residents in Famagusta. Till to-day Lieutenant Eastman, of the Marine Artillery and belonging to the Minotaur, has been acting here in charge of the native police (Zaptiehs); but, as his ship is leaving, he is to proceed home with her. This is another mistake in the semi-military, semi-civilian administration of this unfortunate island. None of the appointments in Cyprus are permanent. None of the officers appointed to civilian posts feel secure; they all know that not only they may be moved at any time, but that they are nearly sure to be ultimately, ere not long either, altogether. In fact, a general feeling of mistrust pervades the community. The policy of the Government of secrecy keeps everyone from settling into a state of security. Trade—that is to say, legitimate trade—is paralysed, for a state of uncertainty will not tempt the merchant to risk his capital. The unparalleled extortionate demands of the citizens of Larnaca and Nicosia have prevented those cities reaping the full benefits that they might have expected from the British occupation. Larnaca will not be the port of the future—at all events, in an official sense. All the available ground there, and the buildings, have been bought up by speculators; whereas at Famagusta all the sea face remains in the hands of the Government. They have only to throw down the sea-face walls, and the materials will construct any amount of quays. The harbour of Famagusta, though considerably full of silt and sand, can easily be dredged, and a mole inexpensively constructed. The route from Famagusta to Nicosia presents far easier gradients than that from Larnaca, and the district of Famagusta, including the Messarian plain, is the largest corn-growing and richest country. So likewise at Nicosia, the extortionate demand of the householders for rent has already driven the head-quarters of Sir Garnet Wolseley out of the town, and in all probability the British settlement will be formed on another site without the town. The Government will wait and keep their counsel till the last moment, when I predict all the present speculators will have their eyes opened considerably.

Colonel Prendergast, commanding the Engineers of the Indian contingent, has left with the Indian force for Bombay. He sailed in the Trinacria; and, when I last saw him on board that vessel, was very ill with the prevalent Cyprus fever. Lieutenant-Colonel J. Popham Magnay, commanding the Royal Engineers, is most energetic at Nicosia. He is not the man to stick at trifles, and difficulties soon melt before him. He is importing timber from Trieste, and intends placing the huts which are arriving from England upon wood framework or piles, like the ancient lake dwellings. Ultimately these platforms can be filled with concrete, forming solid platforms, like the "stoops" of the South African Dutch houses, over which, at a later period, verandahs can be constructed. We have sapper officers in all directions, spying out the nakedness of the land and selecting sites for sanatoria and cantonments. Young Bethell has been through the Troados range, and found good sites, and Lieutenant A. H. Bagnold, R.E., has found a suitable camping ground up in the Carpas Mountains, not far from the famous Castle of Cantara, which commands a view of the sea on either side of the ridge, as well as of the opposite coasts of Asia Minor.

The 101st and 71st Regiments are by this time at Dali, the ancient Idalium, some ten or twelve miles south of Nicosia, but on higher ground, where it is to be hoped they will be more healthy. I intend to pay them a visit there shortly. The thirty-first company of Royal Engineers at Nicosia have, I regret to learn, lost four men by death from fever and sunstroke, and has other men badly ill. Acclimatised men from Gibraltar and Malta should have been sent. Absurd hurry, utterly uncalled for, and confusion, has been the predominant feature hitherto of the hasty occupation and rapid partial evacuation of Cyprus. Thousands of tons of hay are arriving for cavalry horses which have departed. This is sold at a loss to speculators who are eagerly buying up forage, which is being stored at Beyrout, it is said on good authority, on French Government account: if so, it is significant. Major Maitland, R.E., is over in the hills near Beyrout, suffering from dysentery, an old complaint, which should have prevented his coming out here (at least in the summer) at all. Another blunder is that which I learnt at the Consulate before starting for here. The commissariat here are buying up firewood for fuel in large quantities, at what is considerably above normal market rates. Well, now it appears that this firewood is all obtained from the extensive Government forests and property on the mountains to the north of the island, and so the English Government has actually been buying its own wood at an exorbitant price; and not only that, but the forests, which are valuable, are being destroyed for this purpose, and within the last two months more damage has been done in the way of disforesting and devastating the few remaining woods still existing in the Kyrenia and Carpas districts than had been accomplished in a decade of years. As it is, the island is quite burnt up enough, so that it is distressing to see the enormous piles of firewood along the beach and by the landing-places at Larnaca, and to know that they represent many square miles of wood-land recently destroyed. The wood, too, itself is not of worthless scrub, only fit to burn, but includes olive and other fruit-producing trees, cypress and various useful woods, which would be valuable to individual owners; but, as it is Government property, of course all the contractors care for is to get wood as conveniently near as possible for transport in boats to Larnaca. Of course, all this will be remedied, and promptly, as soon as it is known; but, meantime, it shows us that the task we have set ourselves of ruling Cyprus is far from an easy one: so let us take heed before we are too much entangled in Asia Minor.

S. P. O.

Our Special Correspondent furnishes also the following notes, in explanation of his sketches of the tombs at Larnaca:—

"At the north-west side of the irregular quadrangle of cloisters which surrounds the Greek Church of St. Lazarus, in a remote corner, there is a small parcel of ground railed off, containing the tombs of English, mostly of the seventeenth century. The three shown in the sketch are elaborately carved in marble, the remaining ones are not so elaborate. I transcribe one of the inscriptions, which is as follows:—'Here lieth the body of Ion Ken, eldest son of Mr. Ion Ken, of London, merchant. Who was born the 3 February, 1672, and died the 12 July, 1693.' The second inscription runs thus:—'Heare lyeth interred the body of Capt. Peter Dare, Comr. of the ship Scipio, who departed this life 25 June, 1685, aged 38 years.' I send you another sketch, also of a tomb, but far more ancient. A short distance out of Larnaca, and near where the Madras Sappers have their camp, is a ransacked tomb of remote antiquity, probably Phœnician. Under a huge mass of conglomerate is a species of arched antechamber, beyond which is an inner cell, the entrance to which has been guarded by a stone door fitting in a grove, and let down like a portcullis. It is not dissimilar to several of the Etruscan tombs of Hellenic origin."

The Illustration of a rustic scene near Kyrenia, peasant women and a man gathering the fruit of the carob or locust-bean tree, is from a sketch by Captain Coveney, of the 42nd Regiment. This fruitful tree (the Ceratonia siliqua) abounds in some districts of Cyprus. Its succulent pods are an article of commercial export; and their pulp, vulgarly called "St. John's Bread," is believed to have been the food of St. John the Baptist in the Wilderness. The word "locusts," in the English New Testament, is therefore a mistranslation, though in many parts of the East people have occasionally eaten the insect called by that name.

Yesterday week, the 27th ult., being the first day of the Turkish Feast of Bairam, Sir Garnet Wolseley held a state reception at Nicosia, which was attended by the leading Mohammedans of Cyprus. His Excellency announced that he had received orders from her Majesty to appoint a Legislative Council, of whom half were to be inhabitants of the island. He at once handed to Mustafa Fuad, who was present, a letter, nominating him to the Council. A Greek of Nicosia, and a landed proprietor of Larnaca (an Italian by birth) will also receive nomination. There will be three official members, with the High Commissioner as President, making a Council of seven. This announcement caused high satisfaction. An Executive Council will also be appointed, and the work of legislation will commence as soon as possible. The weather is now cool and pleasant, and the health of the troops is slightly improved. One or two hundred invalids will be sent for a cruise in her Majesty's ships Raleigh and Black Prince.

The Queen's Orders in Council, dated the 14th ult., containing the regulations for the administration of the government of Cyprus by the High Commissioner, with the aid of a Legislative and an Executive Council, were published in the London Gazette of Tuesday last. The High Commissioner is to act under the direction of the Marquis of Salisbury and Lord Cranbrook, her Majesty's Secretaries of State for Foreign Affairs and for India.

THE PROJECTED AFGHAN WAR.

The prospect of a war to be undertaken by the forces of British India, and to be backed, if requisite, by those of Great Britain, against Shere Ali, the Ameer of Cabul and principal native ruler of Afghanistan, has excited great interest both in India and in England, and indeed throughout Europe. The military preparations in India, of which we receive, by telegraph, very positive accounts, seem to be going on rapidly, and already steps have been taken for the formation of three columns: the northernmost, from Peshawur, apparently intended to operate by the Khyber Pass; the central one viâ the Koorum Pass, from a place called Thall, to the west of the Kohat district; and the left or southern column, under Brigadier-General F. S. Roberts, by the Bolan to Khelat. Another force will go to strengthen the garrison of Quetta, beyond the Bolan Pass. It may be that these columns will merely resolve themselves into corps of observation destined not so much for the actual invasion of the Ameer's territory as for the purpose of showing him that we are prepared to strike should he remain recalcitrant; for although there is no doubt that these three divisions could easily make good their position in Afghanistan before the winter sets in with all its severity, yet it is by no means certain that provisions in sufficient quantities could be obtained in order to enable them to withstand a siege in their winter quarters. The collection of grain for such considerable numbers, of forage for horses and fodder for the camels, must prove a work of time; and, remembering the sufferings and privations of the garrisons of Jellalabad, Ghuznee, Cabul, and Candahar during the winter of 1841-2, it may be thought well in India to stay active operations until the weather is fine enough for the Commissariat Department to cater properly for the welfare of the army of invasion.

The Bombay correspondent of the Standard telegraphs that the following is the personnel of the staff for the expeditionary army as at present decided:—The column concentrating at Peshawur, 15,000 strong, will be commanded by General Crawford Trotter Chamberlain, C.S.I., at present Commander of the Oude Division. He is brother of Sir Neville Chamberlain, and distinguished himself much in the last Afghan war. The garrison of Quetta is being reinforced by 3000 troops, British and native; 4000 troops are assembling at Thall; the reserve of 6000 men will be collected at Mooltan early in October. General Roberts commands the column at Kohat. Colonels Cobbe and Tytler will each command a brigade of infantry. Colonel Clough will have the cavalry brigade. The Head-Quarter Staff will consist of Major Galbraith, 85th Foot, Assistant Adjutant-General; Major Collett, Assistant Quartermaster-General; Colonel Perkins, Chief Engineer. Lieutenants Spratt and Childers will be the Field Engineers of the force; Captain Wynnefield will be Telegraph Officer; and Lord William Beresford one of the Aides-de-Camp. General Biddulph will command the Quetta column, having as his brigadiers Colonel Appleyard and Colonel Nuttall, of the Bombay Army, with probably Colonel Fane, of the Staff Corps, in command of the cavalry brigade. Major Wolseley will be Assistant Adjutant-General; Captain R. G. Stewart, Assistant Quartermaster-General, Colonel Hitchens Chief Engineer, and Captain Bisset Aide-de Camp. Colonel Stewart commands the reserve column, and Colonel Baxter and Colonel Hughes will be brigadiers of the infantry. Colonel A. Hills is appointed Assistant Adjutant-General, and Captain E. F. Chapman Assistant Quartermaster-General. The following troops, in addition to those before detailed, have been ordered up to Kohat:—F Battery A Brigade, and 11th Battery 9th Brigade, under Colonel Alfred Lindsay, and 8th Battery 4th Brigade, and the 3rd Peshawur Mountain Battery, under Colonel Le Mesurier. The 5th Company of Sappers and the 32nd Pioneers are ordered to march at once to Quettah. The A Battery B Brigade, G Battery 4th Brigade, and the 5th, 9th, and 11th Batteries 11th Brigade, will join the reserve at Mooltan. A garrison battery from Madras and one from Bombay, with a siege train, will probably be dispatched to Sukkur. A telegram from Rawul Pindee states that the troops are all ready to march, but are awaiting carriage, which is not expected to be ready for some days. At Lahore it is understood that the Viceroy will pass the winter there, instead of going down to Calcutta. In Baroda and the native States well affected to us public opinion is strongly in favour of an immediate occupation of Afghanistan and the prompt punishment of the Ameer. A telegram from Simla says that in official circles it is considered that no advance upon Cabul will take place until the spring.

Lord Lawrence, formerly Governor-General of India, has written the following letter:—

"The news from Peshawur which appeared in the Times of the 23rd inst., telling us that the Ameer of Cabul had refused to receive the proposed Mission on its way to his capital, and had forced Major Cavagnari to turn back from Ali Musjid, is no doubt a serious rebuff to the Government of India, more particularly as the Mission had actually started. It seems to me to have been a serious mistake organising a Mission to Cabul before we had ascertained whether Ameer Shere Ali was prepared to receive our overtures or not, and a still greater mistake dispatching the Mission until we had received his consent to our doing so. Had these precautions been observed, the affront which we have met with would not have appeared to be so flagrant as it now does. But, however vexatious is the Ameer's conduct in this matter, it ought not to lead us to force our Mission on him, still less should it induce us to declare war against him. It appears to me to be contrary to sound policy that we should resent our disappointment by force of arms; for by doing so we play the enemy's game, and force the Afghans into a union with the Russians.

"We ought not, indeed, to be surprised that the Ameer has acted as he has done. From the time of the Treaty of 1857 the late Ameer Dost Mohammed Khan refused to allow us to have a Mission at Cabul, or even to send one there as a temporary arrangement, solemnly assuring us that such a step would lead to mischief, and not to peaceful relations with the Afghans. We accepted his excuses. In 1869 the present Ameer affirmed the same policy. Whatever may be his own faults and shortcomings, he has never concealed from us his views on this subject. What occurred at the meeting in Peshawur towards the end of 1876 between the Ameer's agent and Sir Lewis Pelly has not actually transpired, but I believe that our wishes on the subject of a Mission to Cabul were at that time reiterated, though in vain.

"The old policy was to bear with the Afghans as far as we could reasonably do so, and to endeavour by kindness and conciliation to bring about friendly relations, gradually leading them to see that their interests and ours did not conflict. Of late, however, we have seemed to think that we understood the interests of the Afghans better than they did themselves. We appear to think that we can, in short, force our policy on them without their taking offence at such conduct.

"What are we to gain by going to war with the Ameer? Can we dethrone him without turning the mass of his countrymen against us? Can we follow the policy of 1838-39 without, in all probability, incurring similar results? If we succeed in driving Shere Ali out of Cabul, who can we put in his place? And how are we to insure the maintenance of our own creature on the throne, except by occupying the country? And when is such an occupation to terminate?

"I have no doubt that we can clear the defiles and valleys of Afghanistan from end to end of their defenders, and that no force of Afghans could stand against our troops when properly brought to bear against them. The country, however, consists of mountain ranges, for the most part broken up into rugged and difficult plateaux, where brave men standing on the defensive have considerable advantages; and when we force such positions we cannot continue to hold them.

"The cost of invading such a country will prove very great, and the means for so doing must be drawn from elsewhere. The country held by the Ameer can afford neither the money nor the transport, nor even the subsistence in adequate quantity for the support of the invading army. It is impossible to foresee the end of such a war, and in the meantime its prosecution would utterly ruin the finances of India.

"Such are the political and military considerations which lead me to raise my voice against the present policy towards Ameer Shere Ali. Are not moral considerations also very strong against such a war? Have not the Afghans a right to resist our forcing a Mission on them, bearing in mind to what such Missions often lead, and what Burnes's Mission in 1837 did actually bring upon them?

"I have heard it contended that no nation has a right to isolate itself in this way and refuse to have intercourse with its neighbours. This may be a reasonable objection among civilised nations, but ought not to apply, I submit, between civilised Governments on the one hand and barbarous peoples on the other.

"No doubt, Ameer Shere Ali has aggravated his offence by the mode in which he has resisted our overtures, more particularly in the threat of his Mir Akhor at Ali Musjid to shoot Major Cavagnari if he did not turn back. But we should not bear too hardly on the Ameer on this account. I have no doubt that if we promise to give up forcing a Mission on him he would make any apology that we could reasonably call for. I urge that we were wrong in the outset in our policy to the Ameer in many instances which could be pointed out, and therefore ought not to be over hard on him in accepting his excuses. I insist that there will be no real dishonour to us in coming to terms with him; whereas, by pressing on him our own policy, we may incur most serious difficulties, and even disasters.

"The last telegrams from India are that three considerable bodies of troops are to be concentrated, one at Quettah, one at Thall, on the river Koorum, and the third in reserve at Mooltan, as what are called 'precautionary measures.' I should call them very offensive measures. The same impulses which have brought us into the present complications and troubles will almost certainly lead us to still more decisive movements unless very speedily checked by the people of England.—Yours faithfully, LAWRENCE."

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

Marshal MacMahon, who arrived in Paris on Monday from his shooting-box, attended on Tuesday afternoon the Dutch trotting-match in the Avenue des Acacias, Bois de Boulogne. A handsomely decorated tribune was prepared, in which Madame MacMahon took her seat. The weather was wet, but a considerable crowd was attracted by the novelty. The Prince of Orange explained to the Marshal the system of these matches, which are very popular in Holland. The winner, Prinses, owned by M. P. Smith, beat the seven others in succession, and won a work worth £100; the second had 1200 francs. One of the losers, a mare, was sold for 14,000 francs. The Dutch Ambassador, Prince Orloff, the Marquis and Marquise de Molins, the Duc de FitzJames, and the members of the Dutch Commission were among the company.

M. de Marcère, M. Teisserenc de Bort, the Prefect of the Seine, and the Prefect of Police, attended the opening on Tuesday of the new horse market in the Place du Danube, Paris, where there is room for upwards of 1000 horses. Complimentary speeches of a frankly Republican character were exchanged between M. de Marcère and the Mayor of the nineteenth arrondissement.

M. Bardoux has resolved on creating a Professorship of Mediæval History at the Sorbonne, a domain hitherto appropriated to the Chair of Ancient History.

The Exhibition prize distribution on the 21st inst. will be witnessed, it is expected, by the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Crown Prince of Denmark, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, the Duke of Aosta, the Count and Countess of Flanders, and two Austrian Archdukes.

The Government are about to found a Meteorological Bureau, in which will be centralised all the information relative to the great movements of the atmosphere and the warnings to be given to the stations in the seaports. The service has hitherto belonged to the Paris Observatory, but the Government believe there would be an advantage in creating for it a separate department.

An International Peace Congress assembled at Paris on Thursday week in one of the wings of the Tuileries, under the presidency of M. Franck, Professor of International Law at the Collège de France. Delegates were present from the English, French, Austrian, Swiss, Dutch, Italian, Belgian, and American Peace Societies. Resolutions have been adopted to the effect that it is the duty of civilised Powers to have recourse to arbitration in the event of any misunderstanding, and that an International convention should define the means for enabling the execution of article 8 of the Treaty of Paris of 1856. The principal members of the Congress, including Mr. Pease and Mr. Henry Richard, attended a brilliant reception at M. de Marcère's, on Tuesday night. Among the company were Lord Houghton and his son, and two daughters of Mr. Cobden, who received marked attentions from several Ministers

The issue of the additional million tickets in the National Exhibition Lottery was concluded yesterday week.

We learn from the Paris correspondent of the Standard that the total effective strength of the French army for the next year is fixed at nearly half a million of men.

M. de Freycinet, speaking at a banquet at Bordeaux last week, said that he did not insist upon the absolute application of the principles of free trade, but he demanded that future treaties should be drawn up in as liberal a spirit as that of 1860.

The French Southern Railway Company has signed a treaty with M. de Freycinet for the construction and working of 1500 kilomètres of railroad. The Northern and Eastern Railways are negotiating with the Minister with the same object.

SPAIN.

King Alfonso left Madrid last Wednesday on a military tour. He will return on the 25th inst. The Cortes meet on Oct. 30. During the tour of the King the Prime Minister and the Princess of the Asturias will remain in Madrid. The Duke of Montpensier will remain in town for ten days before he goes to Seville, and will spend this winter in Spain.

Three cases of yellow fever are reported to have occurred in the Madrid Hospital.

ITALY.

The Pope has appointed his brother, Professor Giuseppe Pecci, to be librarian at the Vatican, and has intrusted him with the reorganisation of, the library. Inquiries on the subject of the letter recently addressed by the Pope to the Papal Nuncios having been made by several of the foreign Governments, a note has been sent to the Nuncios abroad explaining that the intention of the Pope in publishing the letter in question was to show his willingness to assist foreign Governments in overcoming the existing spirit of subversion against the altar and the throne.

A scheme for a Vesuvius Railway, similar to that constructed for the ascent of the Righi, has been approved by the Superior Council of Public Works at Naples.

HOLLAND.

The betrothal of the King to Princess Emma of Waldeck-Pyrmont (which has been often affirmed and denied) was officially announced at the Hague on Monday.

A telegram from the Governor-General of the Dutch Indies has been received at the Colonial Office at the Hague announcing the unconditional surrender of Habib Abdul Rachman to Dutch authority. He not only consents to leave, with his followers, the Bay of Olehleh, the Dutch port on the mouth of the Acheen river, but urges the other chiefs to submission. Further reinforcements, to the number of 2500 troops, have arrived at Acheen.

GERMANY.

The Emperor William has resumed his public life. On Tuesday week he left Cassel, with the Empress and Crown Prince, for Coblentz, after having witnessed the manœuvres of the Hessian Army Corps. On Thursday their Majesties, with the Crown Prince, visited Cologne in state, and were present at the uncovering of the equestrian statue erected on the Heumarkt, to the memory of the Emperor's father, Frederick William III., the foundation-stone of which was laid by the Emperor himself in 1865. Last Saturday night the whole Imperial family reunited at Baden-Baden, in order to celebrate the Empress's birthday.

His Majesty has sent the following reply to the congratulatory address recently presented to him by the President and Vice-Presidents of the German Parliament:—"The words which the President and Vice-Presidents of the Reichstag have addressed to me in the name of the representatives of the German people do my heart good. They are in harmony with the sincere sympathy which has been accorded me from all circles of the beloved Fatherland and by Germans from all parts of the world. They increase my gratitude to God, who has graciously disposed everything for the good of Emperor and country. The gravity of the time is clear and tangible to us all. We must, each in the measure of his power, strive to avert the dangers which threaten moral order and the safety of the State. The bill which has been submitted to the Reichstag is intended to find the way to this end. My firm trust accompanies the labours of an Assembly to which, sprung as it has from the choice of our nation, the whole of Germany looks with hope."

Prince Bismarck has returned to Berlin from Varzin.

The German Socialist Bill passed its first reading last week before the Parliamentary Committee, who have provided for a court of appeal of nine members, a majority of whom must be attached to the supreme court of justice. The Emperor is to appoint the president. Count Eulenburg, the German Minister of the Interior, on Tuesday addressed the Committee on the Socialist Bill on the second reading, and, speaking in the name of the Government, said that the amendments made during the first reading appeared, on the whole, to be acceptable. The Government considered, however, that the term of two years and a half to which it was proposed to limit the action of the bill was much too short, and was, in fact, inadmissible. But, notwithstanding these observations, the Committee on Wednesday passed the second reading of the measure essentially in the form it passed the first reading.

The Municipal Council of Berlin has elected Herr von Forckenbeck, the President of the Reichstag, Chief Burgomaster of the city.

The celebrated German geographer, Dr. Petermann, died on Thursday week at Gotha. He was born at Bleicherede, in 1822, and in early life attached himself to the Geographical Academy at Potsdam. While there he became acquainted with Humboldt, for whose work on Central Asia he prepared the map in 1841. In the task of map making, in writing geographical essays, and in the conduct of his well-known magazine devoted to his favourite study, Petermann's life was passed, his efforts to cultivate an interest in geographical discovery extending far beyond his own land. In England he was well known, and had many friends. He took great interest in Arctic and African exploration, as was recently shown by his writings in reference to the voyage of the Alert and Discovery, and Mr. H. M. Stanley's travels in Africa. It was Petermann who suggested the Missions of Barth, Overweg, and Vogel; and it was he who organised the Prussian North Polar Expedition in 1865-8.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

The Emperor Francis Joseph, in receiving a deputation from the Tyrol Diet at Innsbruck, expressed himself satisfied with the country's defences, adding that the performances of the riflemen, who knew how to encounter any enemy, had convinced him that the Tyrol was worth a good defence.

M. Szell, the Hungarian Minister of Finance, has resigned, and the whole of his colleagues have done the same. This course of action is attributed to difficulties in connection with the occupation of the Turkish provinces.

Further progress has been made in the occupation of Bosnia and the Herzegovina. The Duke of Wurtemburg, the commander of the 13th Army Corps, telegraphs news of the capitulation of Livno last Saturday, after a bombardment which had lasted from 7.30 a.m. on the previous day. Field Marshal Lieutenant-General Jovanovich has also telegraphed to Vienna that Klobuck, the last stronghold of the Herzegovinian insurgents, was occupied at ten o'clock on Saturday morning, after a violent bombardment lasting five days. Three divisions of the army of occupation are, it is announced, to be sent back to Austria, the object for which they have been operating having been obtained. Severe rain storms are reported to have prevailed towards the end of last week in Bosnia, rendering the military roads almost impassable.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

A ukase has been issued by the Russian Senate authorising the police and gendarmes to enter factories at any time, for the purpose of searching the premises and making arrests if necessary. Owing to various circumstances, amongst which may be mentioned the retrocession of Bessarabia to the Czar, and the future relations between Russia and Roumania, it is intended again to place the south-western provinces of Russia under the rule of a Governor-General. It is stated at Rustchuk that the Emperor of Russia has presented guns for six batteries of artillery to the new Bulgarian Principality. General Scobeleff has issued a circular to the authorities of the territory occupied by the Russians in Bulgaria, in which he threatens to proclaim martial law against those inhabitants who may rebel against Russian authority. The Porte is stated to be preparing a similar circular to be published in the provinces recently occupied by the Turkish troops.

The British fleet, consisting of the Alexandria, Agincourt, Invincible, and Research, with the Salamis and Helicon in company, left Princes Islands on Saturday morning, and, after appearing for a short time off the entrance of the Bosphorus to salute the Turkish flag, proceeded to Artaki Bay. Osman Pasha has been sent by the Sultan to express to Sir A. H. Layard his regret at not having visited the British fleet before its departure for Artaki Bay, and to tender his Majesty's thanks to Admiral Hornby and the officers and men of the fleet for their conduct and kind feeling both towards himself and Turkey during their stay. It is stated that Sir A. H. Layard objects to the plan suggested by the Porte of generalising the reforms proposed by England for Asia Minor. It is also said that the Porte intends to submit the definitive treaty of peace with Russia to the consideration of the Powers. Another telegram gives a summary of a circular note addressed by Safvet Pasha to the Turkish Ambassadors abroad denying the allegations made by the Hellenic Government that the Porte is stirring up the fanaticism of the Albanians against Greece and providing them with arms and ammunition. The note further accuses the Greeks of aggressive intentions towards Turkey. The Order of the Medjidié in diamonds, an unusual mark of distinction, has been conferred by the Sultan upon Safvet Pasha. Sir A. H. Layard had an audience of five hours' duration with the Sultan on Wednesday.

GREECE.

Letters from the Queen and the Prince of Wales, expressing wishes in favour of an arrangement of a moderate and conciliatory character being arrived at between Greece and the Porte, are stated in a Constantinople telegram to have been sent to Athens by Hobart Pasha. The same despatch says that the Russian Government has promised to support the claims of Greece in the frontier question.

The Chamber of Deputies held its first meeting on Monday, and the Government candidate, M. Sortiropulos, was elected President by seventy-eight votes.

ROUMANIA.

The Chambers were opened yesterday week with a message from Prince Charles, which dealt chiefly on the painful sacrifice to which the Roumanians have had to submit through the decision of the Berlin Congress as to the retrocession of Bessarabia. The Roumanians, however, are urged to have faith in the future.

EGYPT.

The Daily News' correspondent at Alexandria telegraphs that the first Beiram reception since the introduction of the financial reforms in Egypt was held last Saturday by the Khedive, when a large number of persons attended to pay their respects. The Nile, the same correspondent says, continues to rise, but there is no fear of an inundation, while splendid promise is given for the next crops.

AMERICA.

Chin Lam Pin, Chinese Ambassador, presented his credentials to President Hayes on Saturday last. He is the first native Chinese Ambassador to the United States.

Resolutions denouncing repudiation in any form, demanding the resumption of specie payments, so that "greenbacks" may be convertible into coin on demand, opposing the Southern claims to free elections and equal rights, have been adopted by the New York Republican Convention.

The Nebraska Democratic Convention has adopted a soft money platform.

The Australian cricketers arrived in New York on Sunday.

Yellow fever is reported to be increasing in the country districts in the Southern States, especially among the refugees from infected places. At New Orleans on Monday there were fifty-four deaths, at Memphis thirty-three, and at Vicksburg twelve.

A Reuter's telegram from New York states that Mr. Bancroft, the historian, has been thrown from his carriage and seriously injured.

An explosion occurred last Saturday on board the steamboat Adelphi, running between South Norwalk, Connecticut, and New York, by which ten persons were killed and many others received injuries.

CANADA.

Lord Dufferin, replying to a deputation from the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society in Toronto, urged upon them the eradication of ancient religious feuds. In the course of a speech made by his Lordship on Thursday week, he said that he had recently proposed that Ontario and New York should combine to make a public international park at the Niagara Falls, and that the Governor of New York had received the proposition very favourably.

It has been declared by the Supreme Court of Victoria, Vancouver Island, that the bill recently passed by the Legislative Assembly imposing a tax of 40 dols. upon every Chinaman in the province is unconstitutional and void.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

Fighting, according to the latest intelligence (to Sept. 10) received from Capetown, continued at the Transvaal at the early part of the past month, but without any decisive result. The country on either side of the St. John's River had been occupied by the British troops, and Umquikela, the Chief of Pondoland, had been deposed. Permission had been given by Royal Proclamation to the subordinate chiefs to deal directly with the British Government as the sole paramount authority. A rich gold-field has been discovered in the Transvaal.

JAPAN.

A telegram from San Francisco states that the Emperor has adopted his boy cousin as the heir to the throne. The telegram also states that a mutiny has occurred in Japan. Three hundred men belonging to the artillery and the Imperial Guard mutinied on Aug. 23, and killed three of their officers. The mutiny was immediately quelled, and is said to be wholly due to the discontent occasioned by the reduction of pay in the army and the partiality with which rewards and decorations have been distributed.

A telegram from Mandalay announces the death, on Wednesday, of the King of Burmah.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. Murray, Bengal Staff Corps, has been appointed Director of Indian Telegraphs.

Vice-Admiral R. Cloete, C.B., has been selected for the command on the China Station, and has left England, en route to Hong-Kong, to enter upon his duties.

The Queen has appointed Major Charles William Wilson, C.B., R.E., to be her Majesty's Commissioner to mark out the boundaries of the Principality of Servia in accordance with the limits specified in the thirty-sixth article of the Berlin Treaty.

A scheme for a Vesuvius railway, similar to that constructed for the ascent of the Righi, has been approved by the Superior Council of Public Works at Naples.

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have awarded the medal for long service and good conduct to H. A. Barker, Quartermaster of her Majesty's ship Lord Warden, and to John Harvey, commissioned boatman, of the Coast Guard.

His Excellency Sir William Robinson, K.C.M.G., will, it is stated, invest his Majesty the King of Siam with the Order of Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George.

The ship Marlborough, Captain Anderson, chartered by the New Zealand Government, was dispatched from Plymouth last week with emigrants for that colony. She had on board 336 souls, whose destination was Canterbury, New Zealand.

The German branch of the International African Association has appointed Herr Gerhard Rohlfs to the command of a new expedition. He is to set out from Tripolis for the Wadai country through Koufara and Waganda. He is then to follow in part the course of the River Schart to the angle formed by the Congo, and to return by the road which he will deem most advantageous.

Tuesday's Gazette announces the appointment of Major-General Lothian Nicholson, C.B., R.E., to be Lieutenant-Governor of Jersey, in the room of Lieutenant-General Sir William Sherbrooke Ramsay Norcott, K.C.B., whose period of service has expired. We hear from Jersey that General Nicholson was sworn in last Tuesday.

A plague of grasshoppers, or locusts, has appeared in the Central American States, and the crops in Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, and Nicaragua have been almost entirely destroyed. The land has been turned into a complete wilderness. The exportation of cereals and vegetable produce has been prohibited, and the whole population has been engaged in destroying the insects, men, women, and children alike turning out into the fields for the purpose. The Government of Costa Rica has recommended the planting of potatoes, which are said to be proof against the attacks of the locusts.

Alderman Grundy, at the unanimous request of the Manchester City Council, has consented to serve as Mayor for another year.

The late Provost Macneille, of Ayr, has bequeathed his estate, subject to the life-interest of his widow, for the benefit of the poor of Ayr who are not in receipt of parochial relief. The value of the estate is estimated at £10,000.

Christmas and New-Year cards, tastefully got up, have been issued at a cheap rate from the office of the Religious Tract Society, Paternoster-row. Among these seasonable gifts are Bible Blessings, Christmas Wishes, greetings for the New Year, and Sunday-school reward tickets.

We are authorised to state that, by command of the Prince of Wales, the banquet to the farmers is fixed for Nov. 7 next at Willis's Rooms. The buck-hounds will meet in the Harrow country on the following day. The country banquet will take place about a week later. No subscriptions can be received after Saturday, the 26th inst.

The taking off coaches from the roads denotes as plainly as falling leaves the approach of winter. On Monday the horses which ran in the Margate and Canterbury coach were sold at Tattersall's, and produced an average of twenty-seven guineas only.—The London and Brighton coach will run its last journey out of London this season next Saturday.

In view of a winter campaign in Afghanistan, the home authorities have ordered the immediate dispatch of bedding and extra clothing for the troops, and already 10,000 blankets and 5000 sheets have been issued from store, at Woolwich, and are now in course of transmission to Bombay. These are the only stores yet specially ordered to India.

The following additional annual prizes at the Oxford Military College have been promised:—By the Chaplain-General, Bishop Claughton, for classics; by Lord Waveney, for horsemanship; by Lord Overstone, for military drawing; and by Mr. J. MacGregor ("Rob Roy") for swimming. A prize for good conduct and military proficiency has also been promised by a friend who desires to remain incog.

The annual meetings of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants of the United Kingdom began on Tuesday at Liverpool. Mr. P. Stewart Macliver presided. The general secretary's report stated that on June 30 last the society numbered 207 branches, containing £13,400 members, and that there was a balance in hand of £21,000. The president's address dealt chiefly with the questions of accidents and compensation to railway servants injured in the performance of their duties. It was stated by the president that preparations had been made for the defence of the two persons committed for trial in connection with the Sittingbourne accident.

Among the awards for gallantry in saving life made at the Royal Humane Society on Wednesday were a bronze medallion voted to Mrs. Disney Roebuck, wife of Captain Roebuck, of the 46th Regiment, and a handsome testimonial inscribed on vellum to Miss E. Bond, for the following courageous conduct:—On the 8th ult. the three Miss Picils were bathing at Broadstairs, when one of them was carried off her feet into deep water. Another sister, going to her help, was clasped by the neck and dragged into deep water; and the third sister, who went to help the other two, was carried out of her depth, all three being in the utmost danger, when, an alarm having been given by a man on the cliff above, Mrs. Disney Roebuck, followed by Miss Bond, her sister, with their clothes on, rushed in and rescued the three girls from their great peril. Mrs. Roebuck was the first to reach the ladies, and was dragged out of her depth. Miss Bond, partly wading and swimming, saved the whole party, the difficulty being much enhanced by the incumbrance of the clothes of herself and sister and the strong current setting to the eastward.

ENTRANCE TO THE KHYBER PASS AND FORT OF JAMROOD.

ENTRANCE TO THE KHYBER PASS AND FORT OF JAMROOD.

IN THE KHYBER PASS.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

General Ulysses S. Grant, after an almost Royal progress through Eur pe and the more accessible parts of the East, has returned to Paris, and is naturally the centre of interest to his countrymen in the French capital; but, as the General wishes to enjoy a little rest and quiet, the Parisians, with their usual good taste, have refrained from lionising him over much. Americans who "ought to know" tell me that the eyes of the people of the United States are turning every day more steadily towards the Hero of Vicksburg as a candidate for the Presidency at the expiration of Mr. Hayes's term of office. In that case, and should General Grant once more be elected Chief Magistrate, an American artist of an imaginative turn might, remembering the legend of Dick Whittington, paint a picture representing Ulysses S. as a young cadet at West Point listening to the steam whistle on the Hudson River railroad, and construing the shrill sounds into

Turn again, U. S. G.,
Turn again, U. S. G.,
Three times President of the United States of America.

The worst of it is—at least so it appears to English students of American politics—that in the race of American Presidential candidates it is usually a "dark horse" that is nominated. I do not believe that one educated Englishman in a thousand had ever heard of Abraham Lincoln when it was announced that the Illinois lawyer and rail-splitter, destined to fill so illustrious a place in the history of his country, was to be "run" for the Presidency; and I suspect that quite as much ignorance prevailed in England touching the merits of Mr. Hayes when that gentleman beat Mr. Tilden.

But one cannot know everything, obviously. Innumerable correspondents of this Journal hurled scorn and defiance at the wretched writer of these Echoes because he asked for some information respecting the "Ladies of Llangollen." The remembrance of my fearful turpitude in the matter of the Welsh hermits makes me charitable to other folks' blunders. Thus, it was only with a gentle smile that I noticed the other day that an eminent Parisian journalist, M. Albert Millaud, had written a leading article in the Figaro commenting on the promotion of Lord Beaconsfield to be "Comte Cairns et Vicomte Gartmoyle." How was the French journalist to discriminate between the nice nuances of the British Peerage. "French puzzles" are fashionable just now; but what an English puzzle it is that the Marquis of Lorne is in reality only Sir John Douglas Campbell, and the Marquis of Hartington is only "commonly so called," and is simply Mr. Cavendish.

I hope that I am not violating les convenances and les bienséances when I hint that, at the invitation of one of the loveliest ladies whom I have the honour to know, I dined the other day at the Café Anglais with one of the original and veritable Corsican Brothers. Do not start, reader. There was no duel, neither was there a Ghost Scene during our pleasant repast. The Original Corsican Brothers are both, happily, in the land of the living; but it was on certain episodes in their lives arising from the phenomenal—I may almost say supernatural—sympathy existing between them that Alexandre Dumas the Elder founded his romance of "The Corsican Brothers," which was subsequently dramatised and transferred to our own stage by Mr. Dion Boucicault. One of the Brothers is M. Charles Blanc, the distinguished Academician and art-critic. The other, my fellow-guest at the Café Anglais, is M. Louis Blanc, the renowned Republican Deputy.

Those "French puzzles" in the World (to the usefulness of which I have already borne testimony) continue, in some cases, to presuppose a distressing amount of ignorance, not only of the French language, but of general literature among the World's refined and fashionable readers. "Whence comes and of whom first used is the phrase 'Pour encourager les autres?'" This is one of the "puzzles" propounded this week. Does the "French editor" assume that nobody reads Voltaire's "Candide?" The Admiral who was shot at Portsmouth "pour encourager les autres" was Admiral Byng?

I have no desire, myself, to engage in a "puzzle" competition; yet I should be very pleased if some of the accomplished linguists with whom I occasionally correspond through the medium of this column would furnish me with the English equivalents for the following French locutions. I confess that they puzzle me:—"A bon chat bon rat." (The stern joy that warriors feel In foemen worthy of their steel." Would that do?) "Faute d'un moine l'abbaye ne chôme pas." (The House of Commons could get on without Mr. ——, the celebrated Obstructionist member. Would that be an equivalent?) "Il met de l'eau dans son vin." Mettre de l'eau dans son vin means to act with circumspection, or to speak with bated breath; but I know of no proverbial British equivalent to the French expression. "Manger de la vache enragée." That puzzles me entirely; so does "Tirer le diable par la queue," which means to obtain money by desperate expedients. "Mettre du foin dans ses bottes." I give that up. "Le pâté d'anguille est bon; mais il ne faut pas en abuser." The only equivalent I can find for this last locution is in Sam Weller's "rather too rich, as the young lady remarked of the pork pie which was all fat."

And here is a puzzle for the French editor himself. In Sedaine's play of "Richard Cœur de Lion" the troubadour Blondel sings a song which becomes the rallying cry of the Royalists in the early days of the first French Revolution. The first verse of the song runs thus:—

O Richard, ô mon roi,
L'univers t'abandonne;
Sur la terre il n'est que moi
Qui s'intéresse à ta personne.

A Parisian newspaper has lately pointed out that this classical quatrain contains a very serious grammatical error. Where is it? An analogous solecism occurs in the illustrious Corneille's tragedy of "Nicomede"—

Et je ne vois que vous qui le puisse arrêter.

A lady who is a great authority on matters of costume (and in many other things, alas!) tells me that the most conspicuous feature in the Paris autumnal fashions will be the white waistcoat with gilt buttons: the jacket buttoned over the vest, but cut away so as to display the waistcoat flaps. A dove-coloured or a silver-grey dress, with a waistcoat couleur cardinal (why not lobster colour? Did not Jules Janin once call the crustaceous delicacy "the Cardinal of the seas?"), likewise promises to be much worn this autumn. I remember that English ladies used to wear waistcoats some five-and-twenty years ago; and Pepys mentions a similar fashion as prevailing among the British fair in 1662. So far as my own observation goes, the "trail of the serpent" seems to be spreading over the whole of the Paris fashions. Hats and shoes of boa-constrictor's skin are accounted exquisitely à la mode; jewelled serpents are worn in the hair; and bouquet-holders are usually in the form either of snakes or lizards. When will the reign of frogs and toads come in, I wonder?

Mem.: English ladies of fashion have been much addicted, during the past season, to sending to Paris for dresses of flowered cambric of patterns of the kind termed "spanglorious" by the Americans, and for plaid ginghams of grey hues. I am assured that these fabrics are all of British manufacture.

A Monsieur Georges Duval has been detected by a sharp-eyed Paris journalist in a gross act of plagiarism from Honoré de Balzac. M. Duval, having to describe in a novel the boudoir of an actress, coolly appropriated verbatim et literatim about fifty lines from Balzac's "Grand Homme de Province à Paris." Who has not stolen—or, to put it more gently, borrowed—from the illustrious author of the "Comédie Humaine"? The death-bed scene of Marguérite Gauthier in the "Dame aux Camellias" was coolly "lifted" by M. Alexander Dumas the younger from Balzac's description of the death of Coralie; and manifold was the indebtedness to the same author of our own Lord Lytton.

M. Georges Duval's explanation of his plagiarism is, to say the least, ingenious. He informs the public he has a prodigious memory, and that the gift occasionally becomes an infliction, inasmuch as he is apt when writing to be unable to distinguish his own language and thoughts from those of other people. The plea may be admissible to English people who remember the little scandal which arose some six-and-twenty years ago about the Earl of Beaconsfield (then Mr. Disraeli) and his magnificent mortuary panegyric on the Duke of Wellington. On the morrow of the delivery of that eloquent discourse, a hard-hearted book-worm wrote to the Morning Chronicle to point out that the glowing periods which had so electrified the House of Commons had been faithfully translated from a funereal oration pronounced over the tomb of the French Marshal Gouvion de St. Cyr. Mr. Disraeli's perfectly satisfactory explanation was that he had himself made the translation into English many years before the Duke's death, and that, finding it in his commonplace book, he had imagined the glowing periods to be all his own. But, urged the ill-natured critics, when Mr. Disraeli commonplaced the oration the Duke of Wellington was alive and hearty, and Mr. Disraeli had nothing to do with Marshal Gouvion de St. Cyr. To the death of what great commander was the writer in the commonplace book referring? The answer was triumphant. There was an allusion in the speech to the white head of a famous Roman General, Stilichonis apex. Obviously, Mr. Disraeli had composed an imaginary discourse upon the death of Stiliche.

G. A. S.

REAL CONVERSATIONS.

Imaginary conversations between great, or celebrated, or notorious personages have before now met with considerable acceptance, as the literary career of Walter Savage Landor is sufficient to show; but as regards the majority of the world there is nothing like the leaven of reality to tempt the appetite and to promote digestion. And it is just reality which gives importance to the two huge volumes entitled Conversations with M. Thiers, M. Guizot, &c. by the late Nassau William Senior; edited by his daughter, M. C. M. Simpson (Hurst and Blackett), a work containing printed proof of a father's prodigious memory and of a daughter's discreet and considerate editorship. Incredulity is the chief feeling with which one approaches the task of perusal, and the incredulity is increased rather than diminished by knowing that the enormous quantity of reminiscences recorded is but an insignificant portion of all that the late Mr. Senior remembered and committed to the pages of his journals. No mortal memory, it seems, could possibly have retained so much, even if the mental reservoir were habitually and methodically relieved by a process of bottling off, as it were, at regular or irregular intervals, but as soon as might be after a new supply, the continually increasing flood of impressions into oblivion-tight receptacles, such as note-books and diaries. The spirit of unbelief, however, is pretty well exorcised, when it is understood that the late Mr. Senior took the opinion of some, if not all, of the personages with whom he had conversed, and that they admitted the accuracy with which he had represented their sentiments and statements, or even corrected them with their own hands. At the same time, it cannot be supposed that he put down on paper their very language: it is sufficient if we have the essence of what they said. The conversations given in the two volumes now under consideration were held with more or less distinguished persons who were intimately acquainted with the state of political affairs and of private as well as public feeling in France and elsewhere during the period included between 1852 and 1860. That was the first decade of the Second French Empire; and, naturally enough, the prominent topic is Napoleon III., his character, his policy, his fatalism, his popularity and unpopularity, his improvidence, his abilities. It is probable that, what with Victor Hugo on one side, and what with many writers of much inferior calibre on the other, the English reader has had about enough of Napoleon III., whose proper measure is most likely to be ascertained by the almost infallible method of striking a balance between the best and the worst that has been said of him, whether physically, mentally, or morally. We all know how, especially in these days of innumerable newspapers, with their "world-wide circulation" and their universal influence, the snowball of glorification or of vilification is rolled and increased in bulk until it attains dimensions out of all proportion to the merits or demerits of any human being. In connection with Napoleon III. and the first ten years of his reign, it is a matter of course that we should find such subjects of conversation as the Crimean War and whatever and whoever had anything to do with it, Orsini's plot and murderous attempt, the swagger of the French Colonels and their offensiveness towards England, the Italian War, the annexation of Savoy and Nice, Lamoricière and Rome, Garibaldi and Cavour, French Generals and Russian Generals, and other more or less cognate matters; and it would be difficult to exaggerate the interest attaching to the diversity of opinion among persons all competent, if not equally competent, to form a judgment. It is not improbable, however, that ordinary readers will derive most gratification from the conversations which have reference to quite another sort of persons and things, and from the descriptions interspersed among the dialogues, such as Ristori and Rachel, and their points of similitude and dissimilitude, and such as the very charming sketch of M. Guizot's home and mode of life at Val Richer. It is always advisable that people should learn to be as contented as possible with their own country; but among ourselves there is a tendency to believe, or perhaps to pretend to believe, that Paris is a nicer city than London to live in, and that the Parisian cabs are better and better managed than our own. The latter heresy has, no doubt, been much shaken lately by the exposures which took place during the late "cab strike" in Paris.

And now let us see what M. de Montalembert told Mr. Senior about Parisian houses. "The large open spaces," he said, "the ground occupied by public buildings, hospitals, and convents, and the manner in which shops, manufactories, and warehouses are intermixed with mere residences, instead of being kept separate as they are with you, render the distances great . . . Then the open drains keep the greater part of Paris damp during the winter, and offensive in the summer. I dislike, too, our system of apartments. After all our revolutions we continue to be the slaves of our porters and our porters' wives. And one generally has some internal enemy, some noisy or irregular neighbour among the strata of people above and below one. I often wish for the independence, and quiet, and street-door of Belgravia." We English, it is true, cannot all of us live in Belgravia when we are in London, and, as regards Paris, M. de Montalembert spoke of things as they were in 1854; but, making all allowances and exceptions, it is doubtful, even now, whether a Londoner would do well to "swop," as an American would say, with a Parisian of the same social and pecuniary circumstances

As for "the life of a country gentleman in the Department of the Sarthe," let us see what answer was made by M. Beaumont when he was asked "how he liked" it. "I am busy," he replied: "I am engaged in a work on Austria. I am studying Latin with my son, and learning English from him. I have to manage an estate of about seven hundred acres, surrounded by about one or two hundred small owners, who are always trying to nibble bits away from me. I grow my own wheat and vegetables, and produce my own milk and butter, and wine—at least, the wine for my servants. So that I have occupation and domestic pleasures, but I have none of what are called the pleasures of society. . . . The country round me swarms with gentilshommes who have good blood and good manners; they want nothing but intelligence and knowledge. . . . They shoot, they fish, they play at domino, they farm their little properties, and if they would keep out of my way I should not complain of them; but they have a terrible habit of coming to pass a day with you . . .; they are incapable of taking a hint, because they are incapable of entering into the feelings of a man who considers time as anything but an enemy." This picture does not lead one to suppose that the English country gentleman, any more than the Londoner, would care to "swop" with his French parallel; for, everything else being equal, the English country gentleman's neighbours do not "play at domino," at any rate, as a general rule.

What sort of orator is Lord Beaconsfield? Here is Lamartine's reply, given by inference, when he was asked whether Montalembert were not a great orator: "No. He is, for some purposes, a good rhetorician; he can elaborate a speech in his cabinet, full of sharp hits and epigrammatic conceits, and deliver it with point and effect; he can please his friends, and, what he enjoys much more, wound his enemies. He is just such a speaker as your Disraeli . . .; he is a clever speaker, not a great orator." Altogether, M. de Montalembert does not come out in these conversations as the "very superior person" he was considered to be, at least among certain circles in this country. As for Napoleon III.'s arch-imp, as M. Victor Hugo regards him, it would probably cause the illustrious poet a very bad quarter of an hour, as well as an outburst of sardonic laughter, to read how "the Curés" in a particular neighbourhood "all talked with effusion of ce bon et saint Monsieur de Morny;" but then M. Victor Hugo, one would say, considers the ordinary priest capable of anything.

Let us conclude with some remarks made in 1855 touching Napoleon III. by M. Grimblot, who is described as "a man of great sagacity and experience, and singularly moderate," and who, nevertheless, refuses him the possession of qualities in which he was commonly supposed to excel. "Louis Napoleon," we read, "wants the first talent of a Sovereign, a knowledge of human nature;" and, so far from entering into the feelings of the French people, "he has certain fixed ideas as to the wishes of the French people, which from time to time coincide with the truth, just as a clock which stands still is twice in the twenty-four hours exactly right; but he cannot follow the movements of public opinion. . . . I have often been asked by English people whether he will be faithful to the alliance. I have no doubt that he will. Not from any feelings of honour, or fidelity, or honesty, for he is not affected by them. He has no moral sense; he does not, in the English sense of the word, know right from wrong." Yet he was supposed, by almost general consent in England at the height of his prosperity, to be himself inscrutable but able to see through a stone wall or a stony heart, to play on the French people's nature as easily as Paganini played on fiddle-strings, and to be as faithful to the friends and the land of his exile—unless he should be absolutely forced by his nation and his name to take vengeance for Waterloo—as a sepoy to his salt. And so we leave two wonderfully attractive volumes to the appreciation they deserve.

A large Congregational chapel, erected at a cost of £4000, was opened at Yeovil on Wednesday. In the course of the proceedings Mr. Morley spoke on free churches, for all of which he thought there was scope, and said if they were wise they would benefit by antagonism. Mr. Morley also availed himself of his visit to Yeovil to address a large number of friends of the temperance movement.

At a meeting of the Royal South Bucks Agricultural Association, held on Wednesday at Datchet, the Prince Consort Silver Cup, value twenty guineas, given by the Queen for root crops, was awarded to Mr. G. Botham, Wexham; Mr. Ives, of Langley, taking the second prize, a piece of plate, value ten guineas, presented by Mr. N. G. Lambert, M.P. The members of the society dined in the evening at the Royal Hotel, Slough.—The annual show of stock of the North Walsham Agricultural Association was held the same day at North Walsham, Norfolk, and was largely attended. At the dinner in the evening Lord Suffield presided, and was supported by Lord Carington, Sir T. Fowell Buxton, Colonel Duff, M.P., and others.

From a Parliamentary return issued by an order of the House of Commons it appears there are 458 old savings banks in the United Kingdom. The number of accounts open in these banks is 1,509,847, and the sum at the credit of depositors £44,238,686; and, notwithstanding five banks with 3421 accounts and an aggregate capital of £104 929 were closed during the past year, the number of depositors increased 16,446, and the amount by £954,986. There were 1,851,193 deposits, and 1,099,447 payments, or 2,950,640 transactions during the year. The number of paid officers employed was 1576, their salaries amounted to £112,769, and the amount of security given to the Government by them was £380,610. At the close of the year the amount owing to depositors in the old savings banks was £44,238,686, to meet which the Government held (including the surplus funds) £44,475,777, and in addition there was in the hands of the local treasurers £300,756, for which the Government held security to the amount of £317,910; so that, whilst the assets amounted to £44,776,533, the liabilities to depositors were only £44,238,686, showing a clear surplus of £537,847 in favour of the banks. During the past ten years the depositors in the old savings banks have increased 124,065 in number, and £7,704,670 in money, although 81 banks have closed during that period. The average rate of interest allowed in the old savings banks is £2 19s. 5d. per cent, in the Post Office banks £2 10s. per cent

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Hudson, Richard, to be Perpetual Curate of St. Peter's, Bury.
Jackson, P.; Vicar of Kingsteignton, Newton-Abbot.
Lucas, M. B. G. R.; Perpetual Curate of Chilton super Polden-cum-Edington.
Norris, James; Perpetual Curate of St. Mary's, Rawtenstall.
Pendered, W. L.; Vicar of Ennerdale, Carnforth.
Shoriand, William Henry; Perpetual Curate of Oakhill.—Guardian.

The Bishop of Ripon last Saturday consecrated the new Church of St. John, at Cote Hill, Warley, near Halifax.

An organ, built by Mr. Alfred Monk, of Camden-town, will be opened at St. Anne's, Hoxton-street, on Sunday, the 6th inst.

An illuminated address, bound in morocco, and a purse containing £60, have been presented to the Rev. Cunningham Geikie, by the congregation of St. Peter's, Dulwich.

The Sussex Advertiser states that a handsome window is to be placed in St. Ann's Church, Lewes, as a memorial to the late Mark Antony Lower, the well-known Sussex archæologist.

The memorial-stone of the Marsh Memorial Church, Rumworth, Bolton, was laid last Saturday by Mr. T. L Rushton. Excluding the site, which has been presented by Mr. J. Ormerod, the cost of the church will be £3950.

It is proposed to erect a new cathedral at Colombo, on the old Rifle Parade ground, at a cost of £25,000. It is arranged that the present edifice, known as St. Peter's Church, formerly a Dutch official building, shall be taken over by the authorities, the amount of the valuation going towards the construction fund of a new cathedra'.

The festival service held in aid of the funds for the restoration of Tewkesbury Abbey Church added £350 to the sum already raised for this object. The committee were fortunate in obtaining, through the influence of Mrs. Ellicott, wife of the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, the gratuitous assistance of Madame Patey, Mr. Edward Lloyd, and Mr. Wadmore.

The Earl of Wharncliffe, Mr. W. Spencer-Stanhope, M.P., and Mr. F S. Powell have issued a circular in reference to the Wakefield bishopric, announcing that an account named "The Wakefield Bishopric Fund Account" has been opened at Messrs. Beckett's Bank, Leeds, and also at Bradford, and at Wakefield. They add that Viscount Cranbrook has, unsolicited, promised £1000.

On Wednesday, Sept. 25, at Bettisfield, a district of the parish of Hanmer, in Flintshire, the Bishop of St. Asaph consecrated a village church, which was built some time since, at the cost of Lord Hanmer, in whose estate the district lies. The building is of stone, from Cefn and Grinshill, with a red-tiled roof, and was designed by Mr. Street. It is cruciform in plan, and consists of chancel, with aisles, nave, and transepts.

After being closed four years for the purpose of undergoing necessary restoration, the parish church of Handsworth was reopened last Saturday afternoon by the Bishop of Lichfield. The cost of the restoration is £10,000, towards which about £8000 had been contributed prior to the consecration service. The Bishop, in his sermon, expressed his gratification at the renewed activity which was now perceptible throughout the country in regard to church building and restoration.

The consecration of St. Mary's, Lottisham, by the Bishop of Bath and Wells, took place on Wednesday, Sept. 25. The new church is intended as a chapel-of-ease to the parish church of West Bradley, and has been built at a cost of about £1700. On Friday all the poor of Lottisham were regaled with a supper. The church was built and endowed chiefly at the expense of the late Dr. Henry Jenkyns, Canon of Durham, his son, Mr. Jenkyns, and some others interested in the parish.

Mr. Henry Marshall, assistant-secretary of the Curates' Augmentation Fund, was charged at the Westminster Police Court on Monday with embezzling upwards of £1000 belonging to the fund. It was stated that it was the prisoner's duty to enter the amounts received on behalf of the fund and pay them into the bank. During the present year he had received £9767, of which only £8697 had been accounted for. He admitted to two members of the council that his defalcations amounted to £3000. He was remanded, bail being refused.

The restoration of the exterior of the south transept of York Minster, one of the oldest and most interesting portions of the edifice, is proceeding in a very satisfactory manner, under the supervision of Mr. G. E. Street, R.A. The east aisle was completed some time ago, and the west aisle has been restored as far as possible at present. The restoration of the central arch of the transept, containing the famous rosette window, will, it is calculated, be completed in about eighteen months. The Dean and Chapter are promoting a musical festival to be held at the Minster on the 29th inst. in aid of the restoration fund.

The Church of St. Michael, Overton, near Marlborough, was reopened on Wednesday, Sept. 25. The church, which is a handsome structure, has been rebuilt entirely at the cost of the trustees of Sir H. Meux, Bart., the Marquis of Ailesbury, and Lord Malden. Many costly gifts, including two stained windows, a set of silver communion vessels, a lectern, books, and other fittings, have been presented by the parishioners and other friends. The Earl of Pembroke also presented a two-manual organ. A public luncheon was held after the morning service in a tent, the Rev. F. W. Welburn, Vicar, presiding. During the afternoon tea was provided for between 300 and 400 of the poor of the parish

At Sheffield on Monday the Archbishop of York consecrated the first of nine new churches to be erected in that town within five years, under a scheme for church extension. This one is to be called the Sale Memorial Church, and is erected in memory of the Rev. Canon Sale, late Vicar of Sheffield. Canon Sale had long wished to see a church erected in that locality, which was almost destitute of church accommodation; and it was thought the most fitting tribute to his memory would be to carry out his long-treasured scheme. This has now been done, and the church, which has cost £10,000, will accommodate about 800. A sermon was preached by the Bishop of Sodor and Man, who succeeded Canon Sale as Vicar of Sheffield.

Under the presidency of the Archbishop of York, the annual Church Congress began its proceedings on Tuesday at Sheffield. About 2000 of the clergy and laity were present. The introductory address was given by the Archbishop, who entered upon a defence of Church Congresses, some influential persons having sought to induce all the clergy of the Evangelical school to withhold their presence from this meeting. His Grace also spoke at some length on the Pan-Anglican Synod. He was very explicit on the subject of the confessional, which could lay claim to no primitive antiquity, and which was deeply repugnant to the feelings and instincts of English people as a whole. The congress afterwards proceeded to the discussion of some of the numerous papers set down for hearing; and prominent amongst those subjects was that of foreign and colonial missions.—The most important subject of discussion on Wednesday was the just limits of comprehensiveness in the national Church, which was introduced by the Hon. Charles Wood, and gave rise to an animated debate, at the close of which the Archbishop spoke in strong terms concerning the resistance of the Ritualists to the authority of the Bishops, and said it seemed to him a thing to "make the angels weep" that the Ritualists should be going on in the course they were pursuing.

On Thursday, Sept. 26, the ancient parish church of Market Deeping, Lincolnshire, dedicated to St. Guthlac, was reopened after restoration. Richard de Rulos, a relative of Hereward the Wake, about A.D. 1050, founded a chapel at Deeping, dedicated to St. Guthlac, and made it the parish church. The present building (now restored) is considered to date from about A.D. 1170, the nave having both pointed and rounded arches. The exterior of the church is chiefly Perpendicular in style. The north aisle has been rebuilt and enlarged, adding some seventy sittings to the church An organ-chamber and vestry have been built. The church has been seated with oak seats, carved with emblems from Croyland Abbey or from monuments found in the church. The cross over the porch is copied from the hermitage at Peakirk, where it is said Pega, the sister of St. Guthlac, lived. Many gifts, including hangings for the sanctuary, embroidered with flowers from the Fen, the pulpit, subscribed for by school children, with panels of olive-wood brought from Jerusalem, adorn the restored parish church. The church porch and tower were illuminated at night.

Four new churches were opened on Thursday week at Barrow-in-Furness. Previously there were but three Episcopal churches in the town for a population of 40,000. The Bishop of Carlisle, in a sermon preached two years ago, pointed out how essentially necessary it was to extend the church accommodation in the town, and a movement was set on foot by Sir James Ramsden and other gentlemen with this object. It was determined to build four new churches in various parts of the town, and to dedicate them to the Four Apostles. The sum of £24,000 was soon placed at the disposal of the committee. The Duke of Devonshire gave £12,000, thus practically giving effect to one half of the scheme; the Duke of Buccleuch gave £6000; Mr. H. W. Schneider (Mayor of Barrow) gave £1000; Sir James Ramsden, £500; and the remaining £4500 has been contributed by others. It was resolved that temporary churches should be erected in the first place, and permanent parsonages; but it is ultimately intended that permanent churches shall take the place of the temporary edifices. The churches are constructed of wood and brick, and embrace the ordinary church arrangements—chancel, nave, and north and south aisles. Their extreme length is 102 ft., and their breadth 50 ft. The sittings are open, and in each church there is room for 520 worshippers. The opening of the churches took place simultaneously, the Bishop of Carlisle officiating at St. Matthew's, the Bishop of Hereford at St. Mark's, the Bishop of Sodor and Man at St. Luke's, and the Archbishop of York at St. John's. At a luncheon held afterwards the Duke of Devonshire, who presided, spoke with satisfaction respecting the growth of churches in the province of York. He could not conceal the anxiety, however, which somewhat qualified this satisfaction. occasioned by the internal state of the Church. The Archbishop of York referred to the same circumstance as merely a passing phase.

Yesterday week the Bishop of Ripon consecrated a church of a remarkable character. In March, 1871, the foundation-stone of a new church at Studley Royal was laid by the Marchioness of Ripon (then Countess de Grey), at the end of the avenue in the park, which was intended for the villages of Aldfield and Studley Royal, in place of two old chapels The building is in the thirteenth century style, and is from designs by Mr. Burgess. The church consists of a nave, with aisles, chancel and inner chancel, vestry and west tower, and a spire 152 ft. high. The porch is on the south side, and has a richly moulded archway, and in the gable is a sculptured representation of the Annunciation, the Holy Ghost being figured in the quatrefoil above. The chancel is in two bays, divided by bold buttresses. The windows are in pairs. The east window occupies the whole width between the buttresses, and has four lights. The central piece of sculpture is the Crucifixion; on the right are figures of St. George and the Dragon and St. Bernard with his book; on the left those of St. Wilfrid with his episcopal staff, and St. Gabriel with his sword and shield. The tracery of the west window represents the Root of Jesse and the Ancestors of our Lord, on the sill of the window being the reclining figure of Jesus. The window of itself contains scenes in the life of the Blessed Virgin. The subjects of the aisle windows are all scriptural.

UNIVERSITIES AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Rev. J. R. Magrath, M.A., Vice-Provost, was on Thursday morning elected Provost of Queen's College, Oxford, in the room of the Ven. W. W. Jackson. Mr. Magrath was appointed to the office of Provost of the Society on Dr. Jackson becoming incapacitated by age in 1877. Mr. Edward Westrop Dorrington, of Christ's Hospital, has been elected to a Holme Exhibition at Queen's College, Oxford, of £45 a year for five years.

Mr. George Pirie, M.A., Cambridge University, son of Principal Pirie, Aberdeen, has been appointed Professor of Mathematics at Aberdeen, in room of Dr. Fuller, resigned. Professors Nicol (Natural History) and Harvey (Materia Medica) have both resigned their chairs on account of failing health. In both cases the appointments lie with the Crown.

Viscount Cardwell was present on Tuesday at the opening of the session at Owens College, Manchester (of which college he is a governor), and presided over a meeting held in the chemical theatre, to hear the introductory letter, by Professor Ward, on "Some University Experience of the Renaissance Age in Germany." There was a large attendance of the friends of the college and students. His Lordship spoke in terms of high praise of the important work which the college was doing and its general efficiency, and expressed a belief that, from the completeness of the schemes and the objects at which it successfully aimed, it must be regarded as a singular accession to the academical strength of the country.

Professor Henry Morley gave on Wednesday the introductory lecture at the opening of the session of the faculties of arts, laws, and science at University College, the subject being the Origin and Progress of University College, from its inception in 1825, and its subsequent establishment, down to the present day, when the decision of the governing body relative to the higher education of women comes into operation.

Professor Huxley on Tuesday evening inaugurated the new session of the local branch of the Society for the Extension of University Teaching by a lecture on Physiology as a Branch of University Education, at St. Mary's School-Room, Whitechapel. The Rev. S. A. Barnett presided, and the room was crowded to excess. Professor Huxley, who was cordially welcomed, gave a very interesting sketch of the lines which a course of lectures in physiology might suitably follow. He deprecated the adoption of the maxim, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," if only the knowledge was real knowledge, and said that what was a little knowledge now would have been a great deal of knowledge not long ago. Such knowledge in physiology as Harvey would have given his right hand to possess was worth having on its own account. He believed, therefore, that the work done by the society in setting on foot lectures and classes in various districts of London and the suburbs was a work well worth doing. At the conclusion of the address Mr. F. Rogers said that, as a working man of the Tower Hamlets district, he could testify to the interest excited there by the society's teaching.

Mr. Gladstone visited King William's College, Castletown, Isle of Man, on Wednesday, and addressed the boys. The Principal, Dr. Jones, had suggested a lecture on Homer. The time, place, and surrounding circumstances were extremely suitable, but he objected. He was, however, glad the request had been made, as it showed an appreciation of the old poet, and he hoped all looked forward to reading him. He expressed great pleasure to see such unmistakable signs of interest there in ancient study. Although he would not lecture on Homer, he would be glad to answer any question. He knew the main cause of success in schools to be in the teachers, and the centre of their life was the Head Master. The rearing of the young was different, and its varied requirements were increasing with the standard of education. Boys could be helps to their teachers, could cheer them, and make their work sweet. He impressed strongly upon the boys the enormous importance of taking every advantage of the passing time, cautioning them not to let it slip through their hands, but to let every hour produce fruits of an enduring character. Play earnestly, said he, among yourselves, and let your work also be earnest. All must be resolute and manly in whatever God had set them to do, as the principles of courage, duty, and perseverance were requisite for manhood. In conclusion, he wished all a continuation of their present prosperity, and prayed that God would grant them health and happiness. On his leaving the boys lined both sides of the road and cheered lustily.

Lord Carnarvon, as president of the Salt Schools, Saltaire, gave an address there last Tuesday on the general subject of education, his chief point being that instruction should be more largely than at present directed to the development of the moral side of character.

Mr. S. C. Logan, M.A., educated at the Perse Grammar School, Cambridge, Foundation Scholar of St. John's College, and Goldsmith's Exhibitioner, has been elected Head Master of the Hull Grammar School.

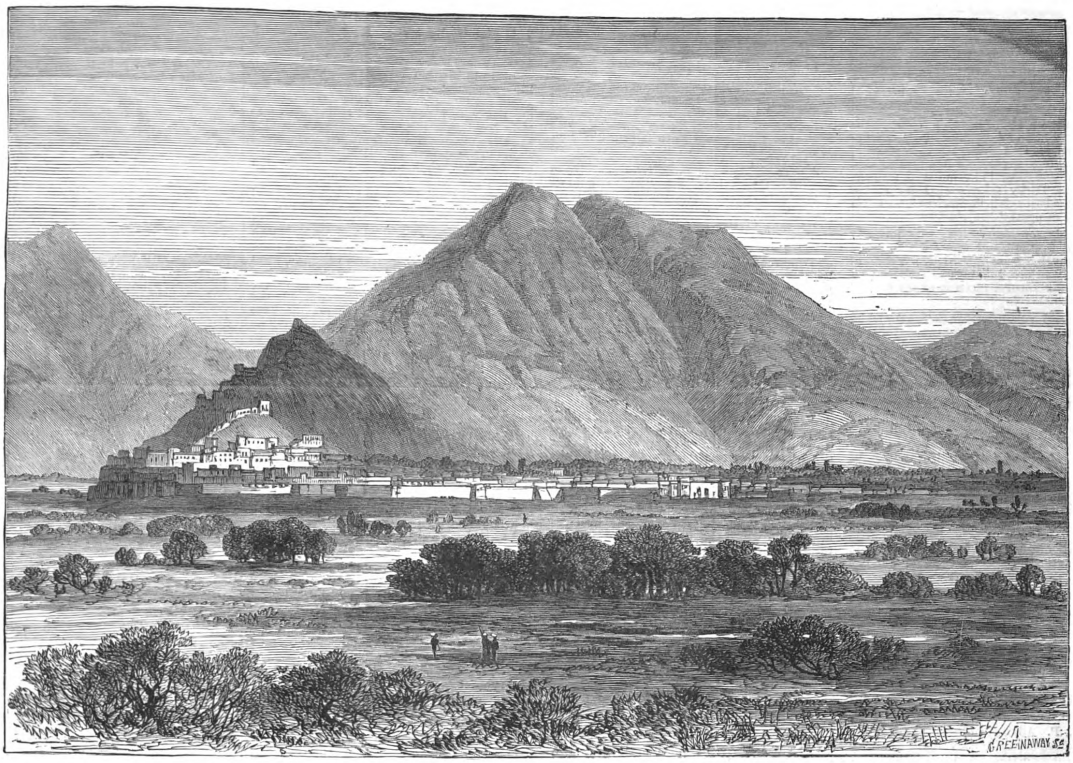
The City of London School Committee have agreed upon a report to the Court of Common Council, the principal point in which is a recommendation that the foundation be removed from its old site in Honey-lane Market to a new site on the Thames Embankment, adjacent to the Royal Hotel. It is estimated (says the City Press) that the old site will produce upwards of £100,000.

At the commencement of this term the following were appointed to masterships in Reading School:—The Rev. J. G. Cheshire, B.A., Scholar of St. Catherine's College, Cambridge; Mr. F. P. Barnard, B.A., Exhibitioner and Honourman in Modern History, Pembroke College, Oxford; Mr. C. Brodie Searle, B.A., of the University of London; Mr. A. J. H. Barber, member of the Royal Society of Musicians, and formerly Vicar-Choral of Ripon Cathedral.

A scholarship, to be held by the son of one of our foreign missionaries, has been founded at St. John's College, Hurstpierpoint, in memory of the Rev. R. L. Pennell, formerly a master in that school, who died at Zanbibar whilst engaged in work for the Central African Mission. This is the second Mission Scholarship that has been founded at Hurstpierpoint.

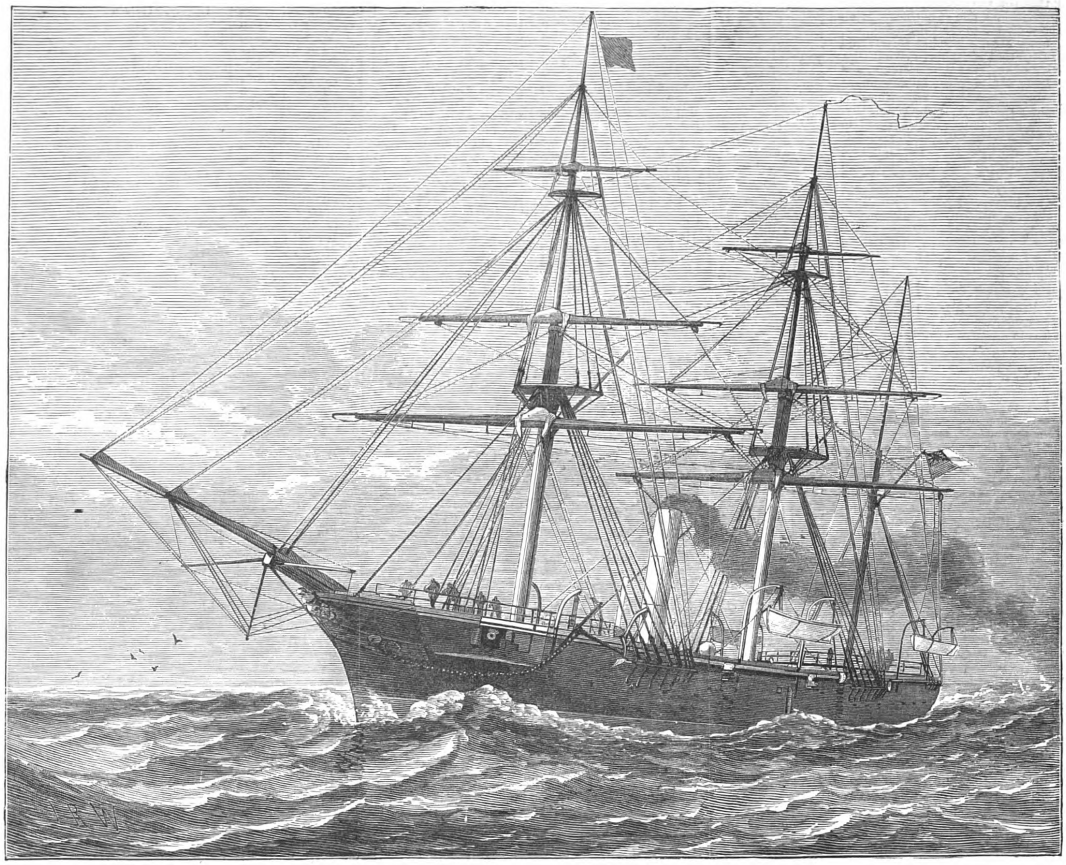
An examination for cadetships at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, will take place at the University of London, Burlington-gardens, on Monday, Dec. 2, and following days, the first day being devoted to medical examination.

The election of the Head Master of Portsmouth Grammar School took place at the meeting of the governing body on the 19th—the Vicar, the Rev. E. P. Grant, presiding. There were sixty-one candidates, three of whom were selected for an interview with the governors—namely, Mr. Agar, assistant master at the Manchester Grammar School; Mr. Bond, second master at the Middle-Class School, Cowper-street, London; and Mr. Jerrard, head classical assistant master at the Norwich Grammar School. Mr. Jerrard was unanimously elected. The school has recently been reorganised, and the new building, erected on land reclaimed by the demolition of the fortifications, will be finished by the close of the year.



The administration of Abingdon School, Berks, passes this month, under its new scheme, into the hands of a new governing body. The school was founded in the reign of Elizabeth by John Roysse, citizen and mercer of London. Thomas Tesdale, the first scholar admitted into the school, and his nephew, William Bennett, were great benefactors: Tesdale endowed the usher ship and Bennett established scholarships in the school. Tesdale's munificence also combined with Wightwick's aid to found Pembroke College, Oxford, that the scholars of Abingdon School might enjoy the benefits of the neighbouring University. Under the University bill of 1854 the school still has five valuable scholarships at that college. There are twelve governors, two ex officio, six representative, and four co-optative. The ex-officio governors are the Mayor and Recorder of Abingdon; of the representative governors two are appointed by the Town Council, two by the master and governors of the local Hospital of Christ, two by an electing body consisting of the Master of Pembroke College, Oxford, the Camden Professor of Ancient History, and the Savilian Professor of Geometry in Oxford University. The four co-optative governors are named in the scheme—Colonel Loyd-Lindsay, M.P., Archdeacon Pott, Mr. J. S. Bowles, and Mr. J. T. Morland. The school is divided into a senior and junior department. The instruction in the junior department is to comprise the usual English subjects, with Latin and one modern European language; and in the senior department the same subjects, with the addition of Greek, advanced instruction in mathematics, natural science, modern languages, and English literature.

On Wednesday week the Bishop of Manchester distributed the prizes at the Burnley Grammar School, and in the course of his address said he differed from Mr. W. E. Forster with reference to the desirability of the education of young people terminating at an earlier age than at present. Instead of curtailing the period of age, he thought that if parents could afford the delay twenty-one was not too late a time of life to start in business. Quality, he added, rather than quantity, should be the object of the teacher. He was in favour of political economy being taught in schools, and instanced the recent strike in North-East Lancashire as showing the necessity of such knowledge among our operatives.



The College of Preceptors announce that their course of lectures on practical teaching will be given by Mr. J. G. Fitch, M.A., one of her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools, at the institution, 42, Queen-square, Bloomsbury. The lectures, twelve in number, began at seven, on Thursday, Oct. 3, and will be given on successive Thursdays.

PARIS EXHIBITION: THE SOUTH AUSTRALIAN COURT.

CABUL, THE CAPITAL OF SHERE ALI'S DOMINIONS IN AFGHANISTAN.

H.M.S. CORMORANT.

PARIS EXHIBITION: THE SOUTH AUSTRALIAN COURT.

POLITICAL.

Colonel Tremayne has been elected member for Truro, as was reported in a large portion of our issue last week. The polling took place on Thursday week, the numbers being—For Colonel Tremayne (C.), 656; for Mr. Brydges Willyams, 611. The result does not alter the position of parties in the House of Commons, as the late member, Sir F. Williams, belonged to the Conservative party.

A section of Mr. Plimsoll's constituents having asked him to reconsider his determination to retire from the representation of Derby, the hon. gentleman has replied that "if at the next general election it is still the wish of his Derby friends that he should represent the borough in Parliament his services are at their disposal."

Mr. Pochin, of Manchester, who formerly represented Stafford and who owns an estate near Conway, has been invited by a section of the Carnarvonshire Liberals to contest that county in the Liberal interest at the general election.

The Liberal party in North Staffordshire have resolved to request Lord Anson, son of the Earl of Lichfield, and Mr. A. S. Bolton of Oakamoor to allow themselves to be nominated in the Liberal interest at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Round and Colonel Brise, at Bristol on Thursday week, addressed their hearers on both home and foreign affairs. Mr. Round dealt with Afghanistan, and Colonel Brise with agriculture. Mr. Round thought a policy of "masterly inactivity" was all very well while Russia was not making great strides on Afghanistan; but she had approached too closely and too craftily now to give no cause for alarm. Colonel Brise deplored the ruinous price of corn, but considered the Cattle Diseases Act of the late Session of the greatest value to agriculturists, although it did not contain all they asked for.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson yesterday week addressed a political meeting at Alston, in Cumberland, and, in regard to the Afghan difficulty, said that, if Lord Lytton sent the Cabul Mission without knowing whether the Ameer was ready to receive it, he had done the most foolish and reckless act any British statesman had ever committed; and if the Cabinet did not recall him, they valued light as a feather the integrity of the Indian empire.

Mr. W. P. Adam, addressing his constituents at Alloa on Monday night, referring to the Afghan question, said that he was certain that no more dangerous policy could possibly be pursued than our venturing beyond that impregnable mountain barrier which bounded our Indian empire. The first mistake that was made in that respect was made when we sent a body of men to occupy Quettah. Since that time the ruler of Afghanistan had naturally been jealous and suspicious. If an insult had been offered to the British flag, we, of course, must avenge it; but if war did ensue, he trusted that we should make it with the single view of coercing the Sovereign, and not of incensing the people. It was a most dangerous policy to have such a nest of hornets as the Afghans on a portion of our frontier. The policy now being pursued with regard to Afghanistan was fraught with danger to this empire, and he lamented most sincerely that we had not in India and at home statesmen who were imbued with the old, safe, and steady policy of other days, when it was thought madness to go beyond the frontier. With reference to home politics, Mr. Adam said there was no doubt that the question of the disestablishment of the Church of Scotland would be ripe for solution at a very much earlier date than the question of the disestablishment of the Church of England, which could not be considered within the pale of practical politics.—Mr. Adams subsequently addressed his constituents at Dollar, Culross, and Kincardine in a similar vein.

In the course of an address at a large temperance meeting at Yeovil on Wednesday, Mr. Samuel Morley, M.P., said that some action was necessary to put an end speedily to public-house legislation, and that if working men would decide in their own homes, instead of in public-houses, whom they would send to represent them in Parliament, they would fare better.

At the annual dinner of the North Walsham Agricultural Association held on Wednesday evening, Lord Suffield presiding, Lord Carington, who was warmly welcomed, said that as the Embassy sent to the Ameer of Cabul had been grossly insulted, it was for our Army to vindicate the honour of the British flag, and teach a lesson to this barbarian which he will not soon forget. Sir Fowell Buxton thought that possibly Russia might have urged the Ameer to insult us, but it was possible also that our occupation of Quettah, the sudden stoppage, by the Viceroy, of the presents formerly given to the Ameer, might have had something to do with it. Colonel Duff, M.P., expected that the measures now being taken would have the effect of bringing the Ameer to reason without a war.

In responding to the toast of "The House of Commons" at the annual dinner of the South Bucks Agricultural Association, held on Wednesday, Mr. Lambert, the Liberal member for Bucks, said that about twelve years ago, when he was selected as a candidate, he undertook to support Liberal measures, and he hoped he had always done so; but at the same time he stated that he would not undertake to support every measure a Minister might bring forward. He was glad that he made that reservation, for he could not follow Mr. Gladstone when he took the country by surprise by dissolving Parliament, and, as a bait for renewal of confidence, promised the total repeal of the income tax—about six millions, which would almost entirely have gone into the pockets of the rich. Nor did he follow Mr. Gladstone's action in regard to the late war, when he took such a strong part with the Russians. He, however, had no feeling against Mr. Gladstone; on the contrary, he admired his ability and honesty. Great credit was due to the present Government with regard to the Conference and with respect to their policy as to Cyprus and Asia Minor.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Birmingham Liberal Association, held on Wednesday evening, the following resolution was passed:—"That this committee regards the action of the Government of India, in relation to the Ameer of Afghanistan, constituting as it does a reversal of the sagacious and prudent policy pursued for a long period by the most eminent Indian statesmen, as rash, aggressive, and untimely, and as likely to lead to an inglorious war, which must seriously increase the financial burdens already pressing with such severity on the English and Indian peoples."

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN COURT, PARIS EXHIBITION.

The importance and popularity of the British Section at the Champ de Mars has been materially enhanced by the show of wealth, industry, and progress contributed by the great dependencies of the empire in Australia. The subject of our present Illustration is the South Australian Court, which, although of less area than older and wealthier colonies, has attracted much notice by the effective manner in which the colony's varied agricultural, pastoral, and mineral resources have been displayed. The design of the façade is bold and in good taste, whilst the general interior effect is attractive and pleasing. Oil paintings and photographs of scenery, public buildings, and other objects, adorn the walls; the display of one hundredweight of gold, as taken from the Port Darwin diggings, and some elegantly-mounted emu-eggs in silver by Adelaide jewellers, attract the eye on entering.

Specimens of natural history, and of the weapons and utensils of the aborigines, are artistically grouped, whilst the rich produce of the colony is represented by what the jury term a "magnificent collection" of wheat, which has secured the first prize, as in 1851 and 1867; also by exhibits of wool, for which a gold medal has been awarded, and by gold, copper, and other minerals, for which a diploma of honour has been granted. A diploma has also been awarded for the native weapons' collection. Olive oil and wine are also successful exhibits. In fact, in this small space is shown what great results can flow from the energy and enterprise of British colonists in so short a term as forty years. The population of South Australia now numbers 250,000, its foreign trade reaches £10,000,000, and its revenue £1,500,000. It has no less than 1,250,000 acres under wheat cultivation, and it will be gratifying to the colonists to know that they have again succeeded in carrying off the premier prize for that cereal against all the world. Much attention has been excited by a handsome trophy in the West Dome erected by South Australia, in compliance with the desire of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, President of the British Section. The bright copper obelisk, 65 ft. high, represents the yields of the mines for one year, value £600,000: other staple products are grouped at its base. Mr. Boothby, Under-Secretary for South Australia, is Special Executive Commissioner at Paris.

H.M.S. CORMORANT.

This new vessel of war, one of seven or eight of the same class to be added to the British fleet, is designed for an unarmoured cruiser, drawing little water, to be able to run into shallow bays and creeks. The hull is of composite structure, having considerable strength combined with lightness. The length, between perpendiculars, is 170 ft.; the extreme breadth, 36 ft. 1 in.; the draught forward is 13 ft. 4 in., and 15 ft. 9 in. aft; the total displacement is 1137 tons. The engines are of 900-horse power, indicated, and the vessel has a speed of eleven knots an hour. She carries six guns; namely, two revolving guns of 4½ tons weight, and four 64-pounders. Her complement of men is 141, and she has been commissioned by Commander Bruce for an experimental cruise of three months. The Cormorant was built at Chatham Dockyard.

The Carysfort, a new steel corvette, built for her Majesty's Government by Messrs. John Elder and Son, of Govan, Glasgow, was launched on Thursday week.

Mr. Edwin Chadwick delivered a long address at the opening of the Sanitary Congress at Stafford on Wednesday, in the course of which he gave an outline of what, in his opinion, might be done for the improvement of the sanitary condition of both towns and rural districts, for the prevention of the spread of disease in infantile and juvenile life, and in workshops, schools, and lower-class houses by the appointment of competent sanitary officers. This institute has for its object the advancement of sanitary reform generally, but especially in relation to its local administration. The labours of the congress were continued throughout the week.

The Extra Supplement.

"GOING TO BED."

This picture, by Mr. E. K. Johnson, which was in the Spring Exhibition of the Society of Painters in Water Colours, presents to us a common incident of family life under a rather interesting aspect. The lady whom we see going out of the room with her back towards us, but with a pretty head turned so as to show the bright and still youthful face over the left shoulder, is a fond mother accustomed to pet her first-born child, and giving herself the pleasant task of putting the little darling to bed, instead of delivering it wholly to a nursemaid's care. This is quite as it should be; and we know middle-aged or elderly persons who cherish the sweetest remembrance of having been nightly laid to rest by their own mother's hands, comfortably tucked up, kissed, blessed, and prayed for, with a tenderness and earnestness which could not be had, for any wages, from a female hired servant of the household. Such recollections are beyond price in after years, when the parents have long since departed from this world, and no one is left, probably, of those belonging to the old home, whose presence might recall the endearing associations of childhood. "Going to Bed" is a word that means a great deal; its full significance, perhaps, is reserved for the close of life.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

After a capital beginning on the Tuesday, proceedings at Newmarket were very tame on the following day, nor did the Thursday exhibit any improvement, about the only race of interest being a Triennial Produce Stakes. Wheel of Fortune was opposed by a field of eight, among which were four really good winners in Despatch, Jessie Agnes, the Modena filly, and Annie. There were, however, no penalties, and the odds of 4 to 1 on Lord Falmouth's crack were never in doubt. She will have no end of admirers for the Middle Park Plate, and though the experience of each successive year seems to show that it is hopeless to expect a fully penalised animal to win the two-year-old Derby, where is one to be found to beat her? We suppose that it will be found, probably from among the "dark" youngsters that have been specially reserved for this event, and then we shall have a Derby favourite at once. The fact of Witchery having escaped a penalty made her a great favourite for the Snailwell Stakes; but her want of size generally stops her in good company, and a capital finish between Mowerina and Alpha resulted in a neck verdict for the former, with White Poppy third. The weather on the Friday had changed considerably for the worse, still there was every promise of such exciting sport that most of the visitors remained until the finish. Lina (7 st. 3 lb.) secured such a runaway victory in the October Handicap, that no importance must be attached to the positions of Thunderstone (8 st. 10 lb.) and Rylstone (8 st. 12 lb.), who were respectively second and third, though Mr. Alexander's giant might make a fair show in the Cambridgeshire, for which he will have 7 lb. less to carry. A baker's dozen went for the Rous Memorial Stakes, for which the unbeaten Ruperra naturally started a great favourite. As was the case in the July Stakes, however, he showed a marked inaptitude for getting down hill, a fact which will be terribly against his chance at Epsom next season, and Peter won cleverly from Peace, a smart filly in Mr. Alexander's team, whose début must be considered most satisfactory. Nothing could get near the pair, though such smart animals as Marshal Scott, the Modena filly, Japonica, the Honey Bee colt, and High and Mity were among the opposition. This form makes Wheel of Fortune better than ever, as she beat Peter easily at Goodwood. The Second Nursery Stakes was left to Massena (9 st. 8 lb.) and Romana (9 st.) at the finish, and, in spite of his crushing weight, the son of Victorious got home in gallant style. A 10-lb. penalty could not stop Japonica over the last half of the R.M.; and then came perhaps the most interesting race of the meeting. This was the St. Leger Stakes, over the severe D.I., in which Sefton made his first appearance since his unsuccessful effort in the Prince of Wales's Stakes at Ascot. Mr. Craufurd's horse was reported to have improved wonderfully during the last three months; still, a 7 lb. penalty is no joke over perhaps the most trying two miles in England; and he was opposed by Childeric, Pacific, Insulaire, Inval, and Thurio. The last-named, who was also burdened with 7 lb. extra, looked very short of work, and Insulaire rattled the field along at such a pace that Childeric had had enough of it a long way from home. Sefton assumed the command at the Turn of the Lands, and, romping up the hill in such style as we have seldom seen, won with consummate ease from the French pair. This brilliant performance fairly removes the stigma of being one of the worst of Derby winners from Sefton, and he ought to rival the Julius feat and carry his 8 st. triumphantly in the Cesarewitch next Tuesday.

Wolverhampton Races last week were only noticeable for the fine form shown by W. M'Donald, who earned six winning brackets during the two days. At Nottingham on Wednesday Romana (8 st. 12 lb.) successfully conceded all sorts of weights to fifteen opponents in the Rufford Abbey Nursery Plate; and Lord Clive was only opposed by Bonnie Dundee for the Queen's Plate.

The sculling-match between J. Hawdon and Joseph Cannon took place, over the championship course, on Tuesday afternoon, and resulted just as all Hawdon's engagements have done, in his easy victory. Cannon took the lead for a few strokes; but, before they had gone half a mile, the north countryman was in front, and, drawing away just as he liked, won by six lengths, in the very fast time of 23 min. 3 sec. Hawdon's next engagement is with Lumsden; but when that is over we expect he will have to soar far higher before he can find a match.

An American Billiard Tournament will be begun to-day (Saturday) at the Aquarium, Westminster, under the management of George Collins. Joseph Bennett and most of the best players remaining in England are engaged.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW AND CHEAPER ILLUSTRATED EDITION OF THE COMPLETE WORKS OF W. M. THACKERAY.
Now ready, with Illustrations by the Author, Frederick Walker, and R. B. Wallace,

THE ADVENTURES OF PHILIP. Vol. II.
Crown 8vo, 3s. 6d.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Now ready (One Shilling). No. 226.

THE CORNHILL MAGAZINE for OCTOBER. With Illustrations by George du Maurier and Frank Dicksee,

CONTENTS.
Within the Precincts (with an Illustration). Chap. XXV.—What Followed. XXVI.—The Fool's Paradise. XXVII.—A Terrible Interruption.
The Centaurs. Part II. By S. Colvin.
Runneberg.
Covin's Revenge. Chap. I.—Making Hay in the Sunshine. II.—A Daniel come to Judgment. III.—Who Tolled the Bell.
Literary Coincidences.
Colour in Painting.
"For Percival" (with an Illustration). Chap. XLVI.—The Result of Percival's Economy. XLVII.—Conclusion.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

IMPORTANT NEW NOVEL.
3 vols., crown 8vo. At every Library,

OUR LADY OF TEARS.
By LEITH DERWENT.
CHATTO and WINDUS, Piccadilly, W.

THE WINE QUESTION; or, The Unity of Scripture and Science on the Subject. This little shilling volume on the "Wine Question" is well timed and well written. It ought to be widely circulated, and carefully read and pondered. It is not controversial, and has no word in it that can give offence to anyone. It contains the cream of what has been written by the best and most thoughtful writers on the question. The author's name is not given, but the writer need not be ashamed of his book. It is a very valuable and convenient contribution to the literature of the temperance question, and upon a phase of the question that ought to be put before intelligent and earnest-minded Christian men and all ministers of religion.
London: S. W. PARTRIDGE and Co., 9, Paternoster-row.

THE WESTMINSTER PAPERS, No. 126,
OCTOBER, 6d.—Portraits: Geo. Payne, Captain Mackenzie. Chess World: Problems, Games. Whist Games. Jottings and Correspondence. Baccarat Laws. Gambling. Dramatic Notes.
KENT and Co., Paternoster-row, E.C.

Price 6d.; post-free, 7½d.,
FAMILY HERALD for OCTOBER,
Part 425.

PURE LITERATURE.
The "Illustrated London News," in reference to pure literature, speaks of "the 'Family Herald,' that joy to tens of thousands of innocent English households."

LEADING ARTICLES AND ESSAYS.
The "British Quarterly Review" says:—"There is a well-considered leading article or essay every week upon some subject of an instructive or thoughtful character."

NOVELS AND TALES.
The "Saturday Review" says:—"Its novels and tales are quite as well written as the best circulating-library stories."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS
The "Saturday Review" says:—"The editor is the confidant and confessor in every station of life. The Answers to Correspondents cannot be fictitious, a romance and a life-history being embodied in almost each of them."

Price 6d., at all Newsvenders (post-free, 7½d.),
FAMILY HERALD for OCTOBER,
Part 425.

W. STEVENS, 421, Strand, London, W.C.; and at all Newsvenders'.

NOW READY,
THE ILLUSTRATED
PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (17), Strand; and H. WILLIAMS, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

THE LADIES' TREASURY: A Household Magazine of Literature, Education, and Fashion. 6d., monthly; by post, 7½d.
"The 'Ladies' Treasury' maintains with unfailing versatility its monthly contribution to fireside literature, mingling the useful and the entertaining in just such proportions as happily balance each other. For the practical housewife there is the usual selection of recipes for the production of tooth-some dishes and the efficient carrying out of various little matters of domestic economy, while the art of cookery is more systematically treated as part of the business undertaken by that paragon of a 'Lady Help.' The all-important subject of dress receives due attention, alike in its useful and its ornamental aspects, the fashions being copiously illustrated on the one hand; while, on the other, plain needlework is not neglected. With an ample allowance of readable fiction, there are interspersed articles on general subjects, such as the 'Escurial' and the great peach harvest of Delaware; while chess problems, pastimes, and on dits of the month afford materials for pleasant parlour chit-chat.'"—Scotsman.
London: BEMROSE and SONS, 10, Paternoster-buildings.

This day, post 8vo, 800 pp., strongly half-bound, price 6s. (postage, 10d.), WHOLESOME FARE. A Sanitary Cookery Book, comprising the Laws of Food and the Practice of Cookery, and embodying the Best British and Continental Receipts, with Hints and Useful Suggestions for the Healthy, the Sick, and the Convalescent. By Dr. and Mrs. DELAMERE. Second Edition, Revised.
"A readable, interesting, and instructive treatise."—Lancet.
"Contains more sound sense and culinary chemistry than any of the numerous cookery books we have met with."—Morning Advertiser.
CROSBY LOCKWOOD and Co., 7, Stationers' Hall-court, E.C.

Large 8vo, pp. 724, 8s. post-free; or, in half morocco, 10s. 6d.,
HOMŒOPATHIC DOMESTIC PHYSICIAN. By Drs. PULTE and EPPS.
CONTENTS:—General Diseases—Casual Diseases—Cutaneous Diseases—Fevers—Affections of the Mind—the Head—the Eyes—the Ears—the Nose—the Face, Lips, and Jaws—the Teeth, Gums, and Mouth—the Windpipe and Chest—the Stomach and Bowels—the Urinary and Genital Organs—Diseases of Women—Treatment of Children—Anatomy and Physiology—Hygiene and Hydropathy—Materia Medica—Domestic Surgery—Medical and Surgical Appliances—Dislocations and Luxations—Fractures.
A Chest of Medicines, Book inclosed, £3 10s. or £6 6s.
JAMES EPPS and Co., 48, Threadneedle-st.; and 170, Piccadilly.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive Method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW AND POPULAR NOVELS.
Now ready, at all the Libraries,

MICHELLE AND LITTLE JACK. By FRANCIS MARTIN. 1 vol. 10s. 6d.
A CHEQUERED LIFE. By Mrs. DAY. Author of "From Birth to Bridal," &c. 3 vols.
MRS. GREY'S REMINISCENCES. By LADY BLAKE. Author of "Claude," &c. 3 vols.
UNDER TEMPTATION. By the Author of "Ursula's Love Story," &c. 3 vols.
THE BUBBLE REPUTATION. By KATHARINE KING. 3 vols.
A TRUE MARRIAGE. By EMILY SPENDER, Author of "Restored," &c. 3 vols.
HURST and BLACKETT, 13, Great Marlborough-street.

DEBENHAM and FREEBODY.—NEW FASHION BOOK.

NEW FASHION BOOK.—The Eighteenth Number will be ready early in OCTOBER, with descriptive Articles and Illustrations of the latest and most approved Novelties in Costumes, Millinery, Mantles, Ball-Dresses, and Boys' and Girls' Dresses. The information is drawn from the best sources, and no pains have been spared to obtain the models best adapted to the English taste. The articles illustrated are briefly described, and the price quoted, so that ladies unable to visit town can "shop at home."

THE NEW FASHION BOOK, post-free for twelve stamps.—DEBENHAM and FREEBODY, Wigmore-street and Welbeck-street, London, W.

Just published, post-free, two stamps,

DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION, A small Pamphlet on these distressing complaints and their complete cure. Price 1s.
Published by the Author, RICHARD KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

CANCER AND TUMOURS, A Successful Mode of Treating Certain Forms of By ALEX. MARSDEN, M.D., Senior Surgeon to the Cancer Hospital, London. Price 8s. 6d.—J. and A. CHURCHILL, New Burlington-street.

By Dr. BARR MEADOWS, Physician to the National Institution for Diseases of the Skin. Seventh Edition, post-free, 32 stamps,

ERUPTIONS; their Rational Treatment, Remarks on the abuse of arsenic, mercury, and other reputed specifics.—London: G. HILL, 154, Westminster Bridge-rd.

PIANOFORTE MUSIC. — TWELFTH ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE. Largest Surplus Stock in England. Three Pieces or Songs post-free for 2s. 9d., irrespective of published price. Special advantages to Teachers. Clearance Lists gratis. Complete Catalogues, post-free, 3d.
J. ROBINSON, Wholesale Musicseller, Romford, Essex.

ONE THOUSAND SPORTING PICTURES for SALE—great bargains. The Guinea Prize Parcel consists of the Derby winner, Sefton; City and suburban winner, Julius Cæsar; three Waterloo Cup winners—viz., Master Magrath, Donald, Honeymoon. The above prices is for this month only, as the usual price is three guineas.—GEO. REES, 41, 42, 43, Russell-street, Covent-garden. Established quarter of a century. P.S.—Jannette can be had in place of either of the above horses when published.

COLLECTIONS of PHOTOGRAPHS Arranged, Completed, Mounted, Titled, Bound, Framed, or Portfolioed.
Fine Photographs on View of India, Japan, Spain, and other places.
MARION and CO., 22 and 23, Soho-square, W.

BANK OF NEW ZEALAND
(Incorporated by Act of General Assembly, July 29, 1861).
Bankers to the New Zealand Government.
Authorised Capital, £1,000,000. Paid-up Capital, £725,000.
Reserve Fund, £225,000.

DIRECTORS.
J. LOGAN CAMPBELL, Esq., President.

George B. Owen, Esq.	W. J. Taylor, Esq.
Alfred Cox, Esq., M.G.A.	J. C. Firth, Esq.
Samuel Browning, Esq.	Hon. Jas. Williamson, M.L.C.

LONDON BOARD.

The Right Hon. Sir James Fergusson, Bart., K.C.M.G.	Falconer Larkworthy, Esq.
Archd. Hamilton, Esq.	Robert Porter, Esq.
A. J. Mundella, Esq., M.P.	Thomas Russell, Esq., C.M.G.

Head Office—Auckland.
BRANCHES AND AGENCIES.
In Australia—Melbourne, Sydney, and Newcastle.
In Fiji—Levuka.
In New Zealand—Auckland, Blenheim, Christchurch, Dunedin, Invercargill, Napier, Nelson, New Plymouth, Picton, Wellington, and at eighty-two other towns and places throughout the Colony.
The Bank grants Drafts on all their Branches and Agencies, and transacts every description of banking business connected with New Zealand, Australia, and Fiji on the most favourable terms.
The London Office RECEIVES DEPOSITS of £50 and upwards for fixed periods of two to five years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum. The rate for shorter periods can be ascertained on application. F. LARKWORTHY, Managing Director.
No. 1, Queen Victoria-street, Mansion House, E.C.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA. DUCAL LINE. Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., 55, Parliament-street. S.W.; to McDiarmid, Greenshields, and Co., or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

FALL IN THE PRICE OF SILVER.—The GOLDSMITH'S ALLIANCE, Limited, respectfully announce a considerable REDUCTION in the PRICES of their SILVER SPOONS and FORKS, consequent upon the present fall in the value of sterling silver. For revised scale, see below.

PLATE.—GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE, Limited, Manufacturing Silversmiths, 11 and 12, Cornhill, London.
The best wrought SILVER SPOONS and FORKS.

Fiddle Pattern.	oz.	£ s. d.	Queen's Pattern.	oz.	£ s. d.
12 Table Spoons	30	11 0 0	12 Table Spoons	40	15 6 8
12 Dessert ditto	20	7 6 8	12 Dessert ditto	28	9 11 8
12 Table Forks	30	11 0 0	12 Table Forks	40	15 6 8
12 Dessert ditto	20	7 6 8	12 Dessert ditto	28	9 11 8
2 Gravy Spoons	10	3 13 4	2 Gravy Spoons	14	5 7 4
1 Soup Ladle	10	3 13 4	1 Soup Ladle	10	3 16 8
6 Sauce ditto	10	3 18 4	6 Sauce ditto	12	4 18 0
4 Salt ditto, gilt bowls		1 2 0	4 Salt ditto, gilt bowls		2 4 0
1 Pair Fish Carvers		0 10 0	1 Pair Fish Carvers		0 12 0
12 Tea Spoons	10	3 18 4	12 Tea Spoons	14	5 14 4
1 Pair Sugar Tongs		0 15 0	1 Pair Sugar Tongs		1 5 0
Set of Fiddle Pattern £59 3 8			Set of Queen's Pattern £79 14 0

A Pamphlet, illustrated with 300 Engravings, containing the prices of articles required in furnishing, gratis and post-free on application.
For the use of committees a work has been published, with large lithographic drawings of plate kept ready for presentation.

DUPLEX TABLE LAMP, with instantaneous extinguisher.—The Patent Duplex Lamp, for petroleum or rock oil, gives an intense, pure, and beautiful light, equal to that of twenty-four sperm candles, at a cost of about one farthing per hour. Deane and Co. invite inspection of their new season's stock in Crystal, China, Ormoulu, and Bronze. Price from 15s. to £5. Illustrated Priced List post-free.
DEANE and CO., 46, King William-street, London Bridge.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, deceive you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PRINTER. The People's Printing Press, for Authors, Amateurs, the Army and Navy, &c. Prospectuses forwarded on application to D. G. BERRI, 36, High Holborn, London, W.C.

JUDSON'S DYES.—6d. each, of Chemists. Curtains, Tablecovers, Mantles, Scarves, Jackets dyed in ten minutes in a pail of hot water.
Judson's Dyes—Crimson, Green, and Twenty-four Colours.

LOANS PRIVATELY NEGOTIATED. Confidential communications to Mr. MORRIS, 28, Red Lion-square, W.C., will receive immediate attention. Reversions, Life Interests, and Legacies purchased.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY MACHINERY.

JENNER and KNEWSTUB, HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb specimens of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DIESINKING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate price; also, to their new mode of Stamping in Colours (by machinery) without charge, in quantities of not less than ten reams and 1000 envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large consumers generally, an immense saving is thus effected. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Office, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Ludgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, £4 to £120. Snuffboxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogues gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above.

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Books, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced List post-free.
W. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whites, for Pastry, 8s. 4d. per bushel; Household, for Bread, 8s. 8d. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 8s. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3s. 2d. per stone; fine, 3s. 4d. American Hominy, 4d. Barley Mealz, Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 5s. per bushel, or 19s. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 1½s. 6d. per sack. Peas, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Tick Beans, 7s. 6d.; Middlings, 2s. 4d.; 3s. per peck. Lentil Flour, for Invalids, in Tins, 1 lb. size, 1s.; 2 lb., 5s. All other kinds of Grain and Seed. Special prices for larger quantities. P.O. Orders and Cheques payable to G. YOUNG.

CHOCOLAT MENIER, in ½ lb. and ¼ lb. Packets.
For BREAKFAST and SUPPER.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.—Awarded Twenty-Three PRIZE MEDALS.
Consumption annually exceeds 17,000,000lbs.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Paris, London, New York.
Sold Everywhere.

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS EXHIBITION.
FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.
Its pure flavour, delicate aroma, and invigorating qualities have established its position as a first-class dietetic article.

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.
"The Caracas Cocoa of such choice quality."—Food, Water, and Air (Dr. Hassall).
"A most delicious and valuable article."—Standard.

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA,
"than which, if properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—Food, Water, and Air. Edited by Dr. Hassall.
TWELFTH INTERNATIONAL MEDAL awarded to J. S. FRY and SON.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
FINEST MEAT-FLAVOURING STOCK FOR SOUPS, MADE DISHES, AND SAUCES.
LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
CAUTION.—Genuine only with the facsimile of Baron Liebig's Signature in Blue Ink across label.
LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

DR. RIDGE'S FOOD
Gives Health, Strength, Comfort, and Quiet Nights to Mothers, Nurses, Infants, and Invalids.
Sold by all Chemists and Grocers.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY.
THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES.
Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

PALOMINO. A Pure Spanish SHERRY of dry character, produced from the finest grape in the Xeres district, and matured with complete confidence. 30s. per dozen, railway carriage paid. Sole Importers, HENRY BREETT and CO., 35 and 37, High Holborn, W.C. Established 1829.

PURE KANGRA VALLEY TEA, direct from the Plantations, at 4s. per lb. in Ten Pound Tins, or 3s. 6d. per lb. in original Chests of Fifty Pounds each, may be obtained from COCKBURN'S AGENCY, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

WILLS'S BEST BIRD'S-EYE.
This Tobacco is now put up in 1-oz. Packets, in addition to other sizes, the label being a reduced facsimile of that used for 2-oz. Packets. Also in Cigarettes, in Boxes of Ten each, bearing the Name and Trade Mark of W. D. and H. O. WILLS, Bristol and London.

EAU DE CHYPRE.—PIESSE and LUBIN. This is an ancient perfume from Cyprus. During the national career of Egypt, Persia, Greece, and Rome, the Island of Cyprus was the resort of the elite, learned, and refined. It was at the time of the Crusades, when Richard I. of England assumed the title of King of Cyprus, that the famed Eau de Chypre was introduced into Europe, the composition of which is yet preserved in the archives of the Laboratory of Piesse and Lubin. Those who are curious in ancient perfumes can be gratified at 2, New Bond-street, London.

PIESSE and LUBIN'S PESTACHIO-NUT SKIN AND COMPLEXION POWDER imparts a natural whiteness and youthful delicacy to the skin, attainable by no other means; also represses the unpleasantness of too copious perspiration.—2, New Bond-street, London, W. May be had of all the fashionable Perfumers and Druggists throughout the Earth, with the same facility as a book. In boxes, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 10s. 6d., and 21s. each. Price-Lists post-free.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR. If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the roots are not decayed. Sold by any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath. Is the best Liquid Dentifrice in the World; it thoroughly cleanses partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living animalculæ, leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Floriline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed everywhere.

JOHN GOSNELL and CO.'S VIOLET and MILLEFLEUR POWDERS, for the Toilet and Nursery. Universally admired for its purity and fragrance. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale, 93, Upper Thames-street.

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable. 2s. 6d. to 40s. per Bottle. Breidenbach's MACASSARINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 1s., 2s. 6d., 5s., per Bottle.
Of all Chemists and the Makers, 157a, New Bond-street, W.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of success fol cases forwarded for twelve stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily. Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FALLING SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been discovered for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is desirous that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery; it is never known to fail, and will cure the most hopeless case after all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be sent by post to any person free of charge.—Address:—Mr. WILLIAMS, 10, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. All our customers for Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it.'—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 33 and 95, City-road, E.C. London: Pinaud and Mayer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 3s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

NUDA VERITAS.—GREY HAIR restored by this valuable specific to its original shade, after which it grows the natural colour, not grey. Used as a dressing, it causes growth and arrests falling. The most harmless and effectual restorer extant. One trial will convince it has no equal. Price 10s. 6d., of all Chemists and Hairdressers. Testimonials post-free.—R. HOVENDEN and SONS, London.

SPANISH FLY is the acting ingredient in ALEX. ROSS'S CANTHARIDES OIL, which speedily produces Whiskers and Thickens Hair. 3s. 6d.; sent in blank wrappers for 54 stamps.—Alex. Ross, 248, High Holborn.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Portsea-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

FINE ARTS and COLOUR BUSINESS, Wholesale and Manufacturing.—For DISPOSAL, by death. About £2000 can purchase one of the oldest and best-known concerns in London, in full working order. An unusual opportunity.—Mr. SAYER, 360, Strand.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost, consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 4½d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 52, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

HENRY GLAVE'S
GIGANTIC SHOW OF DRESS FABRICS, for the Fall and Winter of 1878.
French Foules, Cashmeres d'Ecosse, Foreign and English Cashmeres, Tweed Foules, Estamenes, All-Wool Foulé Twills, Vienna Cloths, Cloth Serges, Merinos, Serge, Foules, and Black Goods of all kinds, selected from the leading British and Continental Houses in all the Fashionable Shades of the day, such as Bordeaux, Bronze, Cherry, Cardinal, Myrtle, Navy, Purple, Paon or Peacock, with many others in various tints.
The Real Rough-and-Ready Serge, 26in. wide, 10½d. a yard, very suitable for warm costumes and winter wear.
Winter Cashmeres, 36in. wide, 8½d.
Douglas Brilliantines, new autumn shades, 8½d.
Twill Foulé in all leading colours, at 10½d.
French Merinos, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.
Small Fancy Designs for mixing with plain textures.
The Leopard Mixture, at 8½d.; the Cabul Mixture, at 10½d.; the Costume Mixture, at 1s. 3½d.; the Afghan Silk Mixture, at 1s. 9½d.; the All-Wool Silk Mixture, at 2s. 11½d.
Heather Mixtures for Autumn, 1s. 6½d.
Ottawa Beiges, 16 in. wide, 1s. 10½d.
Fancy Scotch Clans, as now worn in Paris, 1s. 3½d.
Serge Negligé, a light warm wool material in eleven new fashionable mixtures, 20 in. wide, 1s. 6½d.
Indian Cashmeres, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.; English Cashmeres, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6½d. a yard.
The Estamene Serge, Newest Colours, 1s. 6½d. and 1s. 6½d.
Cashmere Estamene, 22 in. wide, 8½d.
French Beige Foulé, 30 in. wide, 1s. 4½d.
The Scarborough Twill, New Autumn Colours, 10½d.
Scotch Cashmere Estamene, 1s. 2½d. and 1s. 6½d.
An endless variety of New Shirtings, 40 in. wide at 1s. 11½d., 2s. 1½d., 2s. 3½d., and 2s. 6½d.
Patterns of all kinds post-free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
SILKS, SATINS, VELVETS, AND VELVETEENS.
Black Silks, rich Gros Grains, 2s. 11½d.; late 3s. 6½d.
Black Silks, a new make of Gros Grain, "The Empress," not weighted with dye, but made of all pure silk, price 3s. 10½d. a yard.
Black Silks, several thousand yards, from the best Lyons firms, from 2s. 6½d. to 10s. a yard.
Oxonian Velveteens, are blue blacks, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d.
The Louis Velveteen is dyed the fashionable Oriental blue black, and made various qualities.
7000 yards Rich Coloured Velveteens, 50 different shades, 26in. wide, 2s. 10½d. a yard.
Silk Costume Velvet, in Black, 27 in. wide, only 6s. 11d. the yard. Patterns free.
Black Satins, a specially cheap lot, at 2s. 6½d.; Coloured Satins, in every possible shade, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d. a yard. Patterns free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

NOTICE.—VELVETEENS.—1500 Boxes Silk Lyons Moleskin Velvetteens, 1s. 9½d. to 4s. 6d.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP, 198, Regent-street.

SILKS, 1s. 11½d.—Richest Black, Coloured, and Jamasse Silks, 1s. 11½d. to 6s. 6d.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP.

COSTUMES, TROCADÉRO, LENORE, and other Newest and most Ladylike Costumes, from 39s. 6d.
Engravings free.—BAKER and CRISP.

ULSTERS and JACKETS.
1000 Homespun Waterproof and other Ulsters and Jackets, 12s. 9d. to 30s.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP, Regent-street.

DRESS FABRICS, 10½d.
£2000 worth New Autumn Fabrics,
Rough-and-Ready and Knock-about Serges,
Estamene Serges, Polka, Cyprus, and Bedford Cords, Salisbury, Malta, Bosnia Cloths, Suitings, and 1700 other Fabrics from 10½d. to 2s. 6d. yard.
Patterns free.—BAKER and CRISP'S, 198, Regent-street.

WIDOWS' MILLINERY—Mrs. Creaton (late of 110, Oxford-street) begs to inform widow ladies that she has her usual select assortment of WIDOWS' CAPS of the first designs, for First and Second Mourning, in all materials suited to the present fashions. Also Collarettes, Cuffs, and Collars for evening and morning wear. A superior class of Widows' Bonnets, and every description of Widows' Millinery.—Show-Rooms, No. 294, Regent-street, W. Pattern sheets post-free.
Established thirty-one years.

MADAME ELLIOT'S STYLISH DRESSMAKING. Style and fit guaranteed. Speciality, splendidly-fitting French Corsets, for present style of dress, from 10s. 6d. to 42s. Children's Dresses of beautiful material, marked at cost price. Elegant Dresses and Costumes, from 4 gns. Paletots and Polonaises, beautiful quality, from 42s.
8, Great Portland-street (four doors from Oxford-street).

SHIRTS.—FORD'S EUREKA.—"The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing Shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 30s., 40s. 45s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.
110 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Co'ored Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 9d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
369 Pieces extra rich Broadtail Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
600 Pieces of China Washing Silks, 18s. 9d. for 20 yards.
Glaulle and Quadrille Silks, 2s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—BLACK SILKS.
One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of Bonnet's Black Silks, commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of extreme brightness, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES.
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes at 6½ gns.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES at 3½ gns.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.
Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.
CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 46 inches wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 6d.; in black, 1s. 11d. to 6s. 6d. per yard.
ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials, 1s. 2d. to 3s. 3d. per yard.
WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plain, and Snowflake, from 1s. 9d. per yard.
CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs, Black, full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY,
in Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Mille-raye Cloth, and Drap Brute; also, in Velvet, Face, Sicilian, and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Ulster Mantles.
The New Waterproof Tartan Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS (half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles, in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver, Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine, and every other description of Muffs, Necklets, &c.
A large Stock of
RUSSIAN SEAL FUR JACKETS,
24 to 27 in. deep, from 4 guineas upwards.
Imitation Seal Fur Jackets, 42s. each, 26 to 28 in. deep.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined Russian Squirrel, 45 in. deep, from 21s. upwards.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined from Russian Squirrel, 48 in. deep, 58s. 6d. upwards.
A great variety of New Shapes in Silk Mantles, lined with the finest quality of Russian Squirrel.
Fur Carriage and Travelling Rugs, from 30s. upwards.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

FOR ALL SEASONS AND ALL CLIMATES.
UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE
ENGLISH and FOREIGN COURTS.
EGERTON BURNETT'S
WELLINGTON SERGES,
AND VARIOUS OTHER APPROVED WOOLLEN FABRICS.
EGERTON BURNETT has repeatedly had the honour of supplying "these admirable Serges" to the ROYAL FAMILY, as he executes Orders daily FROM ALL PARTS.
Neither rain nor salt water can affect their permanent dye. Prices from 1s. 2½d. to the finest at 4s. 6d. per yard. PATTERN-BOOKS sent free by post and carriage paid to Bristol or London on parcels over £2. GOODS PACKED FOR EXPORTATION.
A Special Strong Make for BOYS' and GENTLEMEN'S SUITS, 54 inches, from 3s. 6d. per yard.
EGERTON BURNETT,
SERGE WAREHOUSES,
WELLINGTON, SOMERSET

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 68 to 73, Oxford-street;
1 to 5, Wells-street.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

RICH SILK and other COSTUMES.
A grand display of rich Silk, Broche Velvet, and Silken Fabric Costumes for the Autumn, forming such a collection of recherché Novelties as is rarely seen out of Paris, at most moderate prices.
A large variety of novel Costumes of Fashionable New Fabrics in Serges, Lichen Cloths, Cyprus Cloths, Camel's Hair, &c., 2, 3, and 4 guineas each.

MANTLES, ULSTERS, and SEALSKINS.
A large importation of the Latest Novelties.
The Sedan Beaver Paletot, 1 and 2 guineas, handsomely trimmed.
New Travelling Ulsters, all wool, in 27 shades, at 1 guinea, unequalled.
Fine Sealskin Paletots, 36 in. in length, 9½ guineas each. Smaller sizes in proportion.
Fur-lined Mantles and Paletots, 31s. 6d. to 5 guineas.

DRESS MATERIALS in all the Newest Textures. New Lichen Cloth, 11½d. per yard. Camel's-Hair Cloth, 1s. 6d. Tartans, Hampoor Cloth, and the new Broché Cashmeres, so much used in combination, 2s. 6d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
Fine French Cashmeres, in new shades, 1s. 11½., 2s. 7½d., and 2s. 11d. per yard, double width.

MOURNING GOODS of every description at most moderate prices.
Black Serge Costumes, all wool, 2 guineas. Black and White Broché Costumes, 1 guinea; handsome Costumes, trimmed with patent unspotting crape, for all grades of mourning, 3½ to 8 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

SILKS.—SPECIAL NOTICE.
We are now offering 40,000 yards of Black and Coloured Silks, in all the new shades, at fully 15 to 20 per cent under last year's prices—2s. 11d. to 6s. 11d. per yard.
An inspection is solicited.
Patterns to the country free.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

WOOLLEN CLOTHS for LADIES' JACKETS, CLOAKS, ULSTERS, &c., in great variety, at very moderate prices. We also keep a very large Stock suitable for Gentlemen's and Youths' wear. Livery Cloths, &c., equally cheap. Terms, ready money only.
C. MEEKING and CO., Woollen Warehouse, corner of Hatton-garden, Holborn-circus.

NEW MUSIC.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS, COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS, Manufactured by CLOUGH and WARREN, DETROIT, U.S.A.

The immense advantages these instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory. A large variety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas. Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S "FAVOURITE ORGAN." Compass, Five Octaves. Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 2½ octaves each, Knee-Swell. Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case. Price 25 guineas. Illustrated Price-List free by post. Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES. TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON. Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.
Pianinos from 18 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 56 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at 50, New Bond-street, may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View by the following eminent Makers:—
BROADWOOD. | ERARD.
COLLARD. | CHAPPELL.
LIPP. | ROSENKRANZ.
CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM. Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View. From 3 guineas to 100 guineas. At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five stops and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals, 28 guineas, or £2 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2 gs. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S YACHT PIANINOS, 30 gs., or £3 per quarter on Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON GRAND, 80 gs., or £8 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON 110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase. NEW BOND-STREET. W.

NEW DANCE MUSIC.

CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.

CYPRUS POLKA	2s. 0d. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALOP	2s. 0d. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	2s. 0d. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	2s. 0d. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	2s. 0d. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	2s. 0d. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	1s. 6d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	2s. 0d. net

N.B.—A Complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application. CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS OF CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE. No. 118.—POPULAR MARCHES.

Marche Romaine .. .. Ch. Gounod.
And twelve other Popular Marches by Handel, Mozart, Gluck, &c. 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.

No. 117.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 3.)

Song (Tenor)	Elly Mavourneen	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Contralto)	The lonely Harp	Miss Cowell.
Song (Soprano)	I'm alone	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Baritone)	I never can forget	A. Mellon.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	O ye voices gone	Zeta.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two wandering Stars	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	Soldier's Prayer	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Siren's Song	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Blue bells of Scotland	B. Richards.
Dance Music	West End Polka	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	Little Nell Waltz	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Lord of Lorne Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Express Galop	Charles D'Albert.

No. 116.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)

Song (Baritone)	The Bell Ringer	W. Vincent Wallace.
Song (Soprano)	Tender and True	Arthur Sullivan.
Song (Contralto)	To Thee	Alberto Randegger.
Song (Tenor)	Oh! whisper what thou feelest	B. Richards.
Vocal Duet (Sop. and Con.)	When Birds are singing	H. Smart.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two Merry Gipsies	G. A. Macfarren.
Pianoforte	The Soldier's Chorus	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	Air by Louis XIII.	Henri Ghys.
Pianoforte	A Ray of Sunshine	Carl Leduc.
Dance Music	Dew Drop Waltz	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	The Sultan's Polka	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	Polo Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	The Mabel Galop	Dan Godfrey.

No. 115.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)

Song (Contralto)	Juanita	Mrs. Norton.
Song (Soprano)	The Maiden's Story	A. Sullivan.
Song (Baritone)	The Stirrup Cup	Luigi Arditi.
Song (Tenor)	There's Sunlight in Heaven	M. Balfe.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Wind and the Harp	S. Glover.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Ave Sanctissima	Mrs. Hemans.
Pianoforte	Home, Sweet Home	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	The silver Trumpets	F. Viviani.
Pianoforte	Prière d'une Vierge	T. Badarzewska.
Dance Music	The Rink Galop	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	The Hilda Waltz	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Palermo Quadrilles	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	King Pippin Polka	Charles D'Albert.

ONE SHILLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.).
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

REMINISCENCES OF ENGLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF IRELAND.
REMINISCENCES OF SCOTLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF WALES.
Arranged for the Pianoforte by FRED. GODFREY (B.M. Coldstream Guards). Played by all the Bands in her Majesty's Service. Price 2s. each net.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW MUSIC.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

New models in handsomely carved walnut cases, black and gold, veneered and panelled—
Six stops and knee swell .. .. 20 guineas.
Nine stops and knee swell .. .. 28 guineas.
Thirteen stops, octave coupler, and sub-bass 34 guineas.
The superiority of these organs has been testified to by the most eminent musicians, they have also received the first medals at the principal exhibitions. Every Instrument offered for sale is warranted.
Complete Catalogue for Cash, or on the Three-Years' System of hire and purchase.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.

SECONDHAND ORGANS.—A large number of these celebrated Instruments, lately returned from hire, at greatly reduced prices, for Cash or on the Three-Years' System of Hire and Purchase. Lists post-free.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MEDJÉ. Chanson Arabe de CH. GOUNOD. Transcrite pour Piano, par A. LEBEAU. Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

LA COLOMBE. Entr' acte pour le Piano. Par CH. GOUNOD. Post-free, 18 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

EDOUARD DORN'S NEW PIANOFORTE PIECES.
DOWN THE STREAM. Cantabile pour Piano.
SWEETLY DREAM (Traume süss).
PERA. Valse Orientale.
THE CHORISTE. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's beautiful Song.
THE SORCERER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's Comic Opera.
Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MORN, HAPPY MORN. Trio for Two Sopranos and Tenor, with accompaniment of Flute and Piano, sung in the play of "Olivia." Words by W. G. Wills; Music by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.
Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. PINAFORE.
Vocal Score, 4s.; Pianoforte Score, 2s. 6d.
List of separate songs, pianoforte arrangements, &c., post-free.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

PART-SONGS in the Old Notation, as also in the Tonic Sol-Fa Notation, containing many copyright themes. A list of the series post-free on application.
London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

ROBERT COCKS and CO.'S LIST of 400 CLASSICAL and STANDARD MUSICAL WORKS, well suited for Music Gifts, offered at greatly reduced prices, may be had, gratis and postage-free, on application.

STANDARD SCHOOL BOOKS (MUSIC).

Clarke's Catechism. 1s.; cloth, 1s. 6d.	West's (G. F.) The Pupil's Daily Exercises. 4s.
Clarke's Elements of Harmony. 2s.	West's (G. F.) Teacher and Pupil. Three Piano duets, each 4s.
Sutton's Elements of the Theory of Music. 2s.	Hamilton's Modern Instructions. 196th Edition. 4s.
West's (G. F.) Questions on the Theory of Music. 1s.; in cloth, 1s. 6d.	Appendix to ditto. By G. F. West. 2s.
Cocks and Co.'s Musical Cards. 2s.	Robore's Art of Singing. 4s.
Hamilton's Dictionary of 3500 Musical Terms. 1s.; in cloth, 1s. 6d.

London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

TOM THE SAILOR. New Song. For Contralto or Baritone. Written by Charles Swain; Music by CIRO PINSUTI. 3s.; post-free, 18 stamps. Also, by the same popular Composer:—"Soft Star of the West," "In Shadow Land," "The Land of Love," "Waiting for the Swallows," "Don't Forget Me," "What Shall I Sing to Thee?" "Sunset on the River," "Heaven's Choristers." 3s. each; all post-free at half price.
London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street; and of all Musicsellers.

THE MUSICAL TIMES. Price Threepence. The largest and best Musical Journal.

THE MUSICAL TIMES FOR OCTOBER contains:—Mediocrity—A Second Musical Retrospect—The Literature of National Music (continued)—The Great Composers Sketched by Themselves: Beethoven (continued)—Worcester Musical Festival (by our Special Correspondent)—Occasional Notes—Reviews—Foreign and Country Notes—Part-Song. "The Clouds that Wrap the Setting Sun," by S. Rosy. Postage-free, 4d. Annual Subscription, 4s., including postage.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS.

NO. 10.—FUGUE PRIMER. By J. HIGGS. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 14.—PLAIN-SONG PRIMER. By Rev. T. HELMORE. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 15.—INSTRUMENTATION PRIMER. By E. PROUT. Price 2s. Now ready.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS. Edited by Dr. STAINER. Now ready:—1. The Pianoforte (2s.). E. Pauer. 2. Rudiments of Music (1s.). W. H. Cummings; 3. The Organ (2s.). Dr. Stainer; 6. Speech in Song (Singer's Pronouncing Primer—2s.). A. J. Ellis; 8. Harmony (2s.). Dr. Stainer; 9. Counterpoint (2s.). Dr. Bridge; 11. Scientific Basis of Music (1s.). Dr. Stone; 16. Elements of the Beautiful in Music (1s.). E. Pauer; 18. Tonic Sol-Fa (1s.). John Curwen. (To be continued.)

Ready on Oct. 15. Price 2s. 6d.
Dedicated by special permission to H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.
SONGS FOR SAILORS. Written by W. C. Bennett, and set to Music by J. L. HATTON. In one Volume, containing FORTY SONGS, with Illustrated Cover and Engraved Portrait of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.
London: NOVELLO, EWER, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.; and 80 and 81, Queen-street, E.C.

Now publishing.
CHARLES HALLÉ'S NEW EDITION of all the most Popular PIANOFORTE PIECES. Carefully Edited and Fingered, with metronome marks. Catalogues post-free.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, 272A, Regent-circus, Oxford-street, London; Cross-street, South King-street, Manchester.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE, from 25 gs. upwards.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 45, Horseferry-road, Westminster.

SCIENCE and ART DEPARTMENT of the COMMITTEE of COUNCIL on EDUCATION. SOUTH KENSINGTON NATIONAL ART-TRAINING SCHOOL.
Forty Lectures on the Historical Development of Ornamental Art, with special reference to Æsthetics and the general courses given during the last two Sessions, will be delivered by Dr. G. G. Zerffi, F.R.S.L., F.S.Hist.A., in the Lecture Theatre, South Kensington Museum, during the Two Sessions 1878 and 1879, on Tuesday Evenings, at Eight o'Clock, commencing TUESDAY, OCT. 8, 1878.
The public will be admitted on Payment of 10s. for each Sessional Course of Twenty Lectures; or 1s. for the complete Annual Course of Forty Lectures; or 1s. each Lecture.

CYPRUS.—THE IMPERIAL OTTOMAN BANK is prepared, through its LONDON and PARIS AGENCIES, to grant CREDITS, to receive and REMIT MONEY, and to act generally as Bankers in connection with Cyprus, where it has for many years past had a branch establishment.
London Agency, 26, Throgmorton-street, E.C. Paris Agency, 7, Rue Meyerbeer.

BRIGHTON. FURNISHED HOUSES for the SEASON.—For particulars of those in the best situations—Adelaide-crescent, Palmeira-square, Brunswick-square, Brunswick-terrace, West Brighton—apply to Messrs. CHOUCH and STEVENS, 26, Western-road, Brighton.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS are lent on Hire for Three Years, after which time they become the property of the hirers. AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOFORTES were awarded THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR of the Philadelphia Exhibition, 1876.
THE GOLD MEDAL, Paris, 1869.
THE HIGHEST AWARD—THE GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR, Paris, 1874.
LA MEDAILLE D'HONNEUR, Paris, 1867.
THE PRIZE MEDAL, London, 1862.
LE DIPLOME DE LA MENTION EXTRAORDINAIRE, Netherlands International Exhibition, 1869.
THE GOLD MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT, South Africa, 1877, &c.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION PIANOS, Patented 1862, 1868, 1871, and 1875, in GREAT BRITAIN, PRUSSIA, FRANCE, AUSTRIA, and ITALY, BELGIUM, and AMERICA.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, With the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"This most ingenious and valuable invention cannot fail to meet with success."—Sir Julius Benedict.
"The touch is absolute perfection."—Sydney Smith.
"A very clever and useful invention, and likely to be extensively adopted."—Brinley Richards.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS.
"The tone is full, melodious, and of extraordinary power. The touch is extremely delicate, and the repetition is excellent."—The Chevalier Antoine de Kontski, Court Pianist to the Emperor of Germany.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"The nearest approach to perfection of 'manual expression' yet attained."—Examiner.
"The tone of the grand now referred to possessed all the qualities that a good piano ought to have, and in touch and action was perfect. The sweet and silvery quality of the upper octaves was worthy of special admiration."—The Era.
"Sir Julius Benedict played on one of Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons' grand pianos, with the recently patented improvements, which enabled him to produce sustained tones with great variety of effect in the light and shade of tones, especially so when extreme delicacy of touch was required."—Court Journal.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"An immense improvement in arpeggios. The rapid passages in the upper register, the beautiful flutelike tone, and quick and perfect repetition were very effective."—Figaro.
"Sir Julius Benedict, now seldom heard as a soloist, delighted the public once more. He played upon a new Patent Grand by Brinsmead, possessing a remarkably loud and clear tone."—Echo.
"The upright Iron Grand Piano, with sostenente sounding-board, produces the obvious result of a fuller and richer tone."—Morning Advertiser.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS.
"The improvements made in English pianos have caused this trade rapidly to increase, until one pianoforte manufactory after another has been built to supply the growing demand. One of the largest of these, lately erected by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons, of Wigmore-street, covers nearly an acre of ground in the Grafton-road, Kentish Town, and is intended to accommodate 300 workmen. These works alone can supply 2000 pianos annually. The French papers have been unanimous in their expressions of admiration of these splendid instruments. The two Grands especially have enchanted the Parisian professors and amateurs of music by their noble sonorousness, their enormous power, and the sympathetically voicelike quality of tone. The touch, also, is beautifully light, elastic, and certain, so that many pianists of every nation, from the Abbé Liszt downwards, who have tried these instruments, have highly complimented the enterprising manufacturers on their success. The improvements are too numerous to describe in detail, but it is necessary to embody them in several patents recognised throughout Europe and America. Vigorous attempts have been made to perfect every portion of these instruments, and the whole has been constructed on entirely new principles throughout. The 'perfect check repeater action' renders the mechanism durable and perfect; 'the new complete metal frame' retains the durability and strength of the case, in spite of a great increase in the length of the strings; 'the new sostenente sounding-board' produces a lovely 'singing' and grandly powerful quality of tone; while 'the sympathetic bridge of reverberation' assists in the sustaining power; and 'the sustaining pedal' enables the performer to produce beautifully-sustained effects, without the confused roar that has hitherto been attendant on the employment of the forte pedal."—Illustrated London News.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' GOLD MEDAL PIANOS, with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"A metal bridge of a peculiar form is used to produce the treble, and a much finer tone is elicited than if a wooden bridge were used."—Morning Post.
"Beautifully light and elastic touch, and an instant repetition."—Vide Article.
"This invention is simplicity itself."—The Queen.
"Receive the greatest approbation everywhere of musicians and manufacturers."—The Standard.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PATENT "PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION" PIANOFORTES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION, AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES. Prices from 35 Guineas to 330 Guineas.

GILBERT L. BAUER'S PRIZE MEDAL ORGAN-VOICED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS on the Three-Years' System.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS' PIANOFORTES. FOR INDIA AND EXTREME CLIMATES.
Illustrated Price-Lists and Descriptions, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded, post-free, upon application.
18, WIGMORE-STREET, LONDON, W.
MANUFACTORY,
THE "BRINSMEAD WORKS," GRAFTON-ROAD, KENTISH TOWN, N.W.

MOURNING ORDERS SENT AT ONCE BY PETER ROBINSON UPON RECEIPT OF LETTER OR TELEGRAM.
A large Staff of very competent Dressmakers and ASSISTANTS are kept purposely to TRAVEL to all parts of the country—no matter the distance—
(free of any extra charge whatever to the Customer) with a full assortment of Made-up Goods of the most fashionable and suitable description.
FOR A FAMILY MOURNING, and also Mourning for Servants,
Orders, however large, can be completed at very short notice by Dressmakers of the greatest proficiency, (either French, German, or English).
Observe the only one Address—for PETER ROBINSON'S, COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, is 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET, LONDON.
One of the most important Houses of its kind in England, Established as a Mourning Warehouse Thirty Years.

AT PETER ROBINSON'S, of REGENT-STREET.
BLACK DRESS SATINS, all pure Silk, at 5s. 9d., 6s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 8s. 9d., and 10s. 6d., made by Messrs. Bonnet.
The DUCHESSE SATIN, at 12s. 9d. (36 inches wide), a magnificent quality, for richness and for durability cannot be surpassed.
BLACK SATINS, for Trimming purposes, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11d., 3s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. per yard.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,
Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Tapissier et Cie, at 5s. 9d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Dégove et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.
Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 4s. 9d.
200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 6s.; usual price, 8s. 9d.
PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.
As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.
Address only for Patterns as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.
THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS, Exceptional Value, at 3s. 11d., 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.
RICH LYONS VELVETS, at 10s. 9d., 12s. 9d., and 15s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET. Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES, from pure and good wearing silks, at 5½, 7½, 9, 10, 12, and up to 20 guineas, fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet. Copies of the most recent Paris models.
Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.
For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement forms address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES. New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.
Tarlatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s. Black Brussels Net, 25s., 29s. 6d., and 35s. Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 60s. Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the above, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

COSTUMES.—Richly Embroidered.
THE FASHION FOR THE AUTUMN.
In Black, Navy, and neutral shades, from 5 to 10 guineas complete.
Our Buyers have returned from Paris with great novelties in all departments.
For Samples please address only to PETER ROBINSON, Regent-street, Nos. 256 to 262.

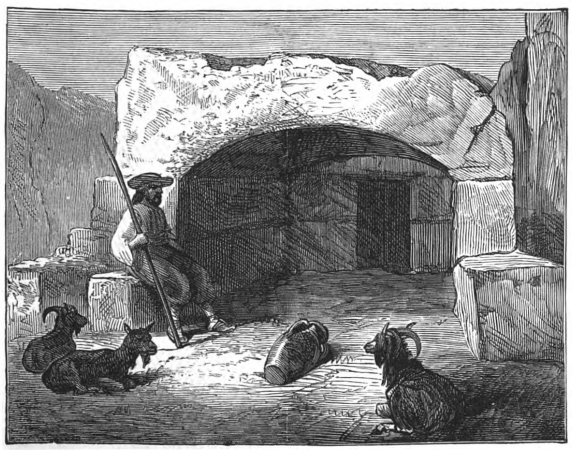
FURS at SUMMER PRICES.
REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.
33 inches long .. .. 9½ guineas.
36 inches long .. .. 11½ guineas.
39 inches long .. .. 13 guineas.
New and Perfect Shapes, and of the most enduring qualities.
FUR-LINED CLOAKS,
Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 34s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.
Also a special lot, Lined with Plain Grey Squirrel, 47 inches long, at 6 guineas.
For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.

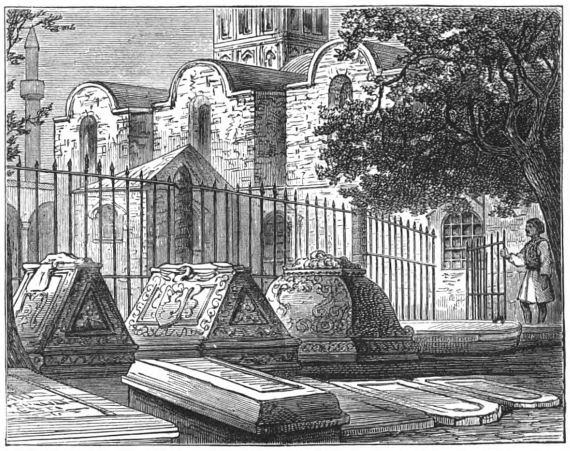
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN.
The "Morning Post" of Aug. 15, 1878, says:—
Probably in no city in the world is all that pertains to dress and personal adornment more submitted to a keener criticism than in Paris, which has long enjoyed the reputation of being the centre of fashion. One of the most recent examples of the taste of English manufacture satisfactorily passing such an ordeal is afforded by the favour with which the introduction of THE LOUIS VELVETEEN has been received in that city. This BEAUTIFUL FABRIC, which, in texture, appearance and durability, bears the closest possible resemblance to the best Lyons Silk Velvet, has completely won the suffrages of the most severe PARISIAN critics, and deservedly so too. The Louis Velveteen, which is now universally sold, possesses several advantages over other Velvetteens, amongst which may be specially mentioned that it has rendered it necessary to stamp it on the back every three yards with a Trade-Mark representing a Griffin's Head, and the motto, "Nos aspera juvant."
THE LOUIS GENOA FAST PILE VELVETEEN, AT 5s. TO 7s. PER YARD, CANNOT BE DISTINGUISHED FROM VELVETS AT 21s. TO 30s. PER YARD.
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN IS NOT DEARER THAN INFERIOR DYES AND MAKES.
CAUTION.—YOU MUST SEE THE VELVETEENS ARE STAMPED AT THE BACK IN PLAIN LETTERS "THE LOUIS VELVETEEN," WITH TRADE MARK AND MOTTO, OR YOU ARE NOT BUYING THE GENUINE ARTICLE. NOTWITHSTANDING ALL ASSERTIONS TO THE CONTRARY.
Agents for Wholesale only:—J. H. FULLER, 92, Watling-street, London; WM. FIFE, 62, Glassford-street, Glasgow; JOHN FREEMAN, 20, Wicklow-street, Dublin.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1878.

GOING TO BED.



BY E. K. JOHNSON.



THE LATE MR. JOHN PENN, OF GREENWICH, MARINE ENGINEER.

THE LATE MR. JOHN PENN.

This eminent mechanical engineer, well known as the inventor and constructor of the most approved steam-engines for ships and steam-boats, was born in 1805, at Greenwich, where his father had established a factory for making agricultural implements and other machines. He began work very early, and fitted the steamers Ipswich and Suffolk, running to London along the east coast, with beam-engines, each of 40-horse power. In 1835 four passenger-boats to run between Greenwich and London were similarly engined by him. In 1838 his well-known oscillating engines with tubular boilers were applied to some of the boats running above London Bridge. The way in which these worked attracted general attention. In 1844 the Lords of the Admiralty were induced to place their yacht the Black Eagle in his hands. He replaced her former engines by oscillators of double the power, with tubular flue boilers, but in the same space and without any increase of weight. A number of orders followed to fit up ships on the same principle. Among them we may mention her Majesty's yacht the Victoria and Albert and the Great Britain. But Mr. Penn's success was still more remarkable with the trunk engine, designed for the propulsion of fighting ships by the screw, and capable of being placed so far below the water line as to be safe from an enemy's shot. In 1847 he was commissioned to fit her Majesty's ships Arrogant and Encounter on this system. He has applied trunk engines to no less than 230 vessels varying in power from the small gun-boat of 20-horse power to such ships as the Sultan, giving an indicated power of

ANCIENT TOMB EXCAVATED NEAR LARNACA, CYPRUS.

ENGLISH TOMBS IN CLOISTERS OF GREEK CHURCH OF ST. LAZARUS, LARNACA.

8629 horses, and the Neptune (late Independencia), giving upwards of 8800 indicated horse power. These, we believe, are the largest amounts of power hitherto realised with one pair of engines since the use of steam for marine propulsion began. Up to the present time, he and his firm have fitted 735 vessels with engines, having an aggregate actual power of more than 500,000 horses. A list of the ships in which this amount of machine force has been distributed would include the Orlando, Howe, Bellerophon, Inconstant, Northampton, Ajax, Agamemnon, Hercules, Sultan, Warrior, Black Prince, Achilles, Minotaur, and Northumberland. In 1854, at the commencement of the Crimean War, when Admiral Napier found himself powerless in the Baltic for want of gun-boats, it became imperative to have 120 of them with 60-horse engines on board, ready for next spring, and at first the means for turning out so large an amount of work in so short a time puzzled the Admiralty. Mr. Penn pointed out, and put in practice, an easy solution of the mechanical difficulty. By calling to his assistance the best workshops in the country, in duplicating parts, and by a full use of the resources of his own establishments at Greenwich and Deptford, he was able to fit up with the requisite engine-power ninety-seven gun-boats. Altogether during the Crimean War 121 vessels were fitted with engines for our Government by Mr. Penn. He has taken out numerous patents for improvements in steam-engines, and one of these, now in universal use, aptly illustrates his fertility of resource as a mechanician. In the early days of screw propulsion no bearings of brass or other metal could be got to stand the strain of the stern shaft, and at one moment it seemed as if the screw must be abandoned and the paddle-wheel reverted to. Mr. Penn solved the problem by using "lignum vitæ" wood bearings, which, lubricated by water, were found to act without any appreciable wear.

Mr. Penn was elected a member of the Institution of Civil Engineers in 1828, and a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1859. He was formerly president of the Society of Mechanical Engineers, and he received many marks of distinction from foreign Governments. He married, in 1847, Ellen, daughter of Mr. William English, of Enfield, and has left four sons and two daughters. In 1872 he took his two eldest sons into partnership, and they are now the heads of the firm, which employs upwards of 2000 hands. Mr. Penn himself retired from business in 1875.

The funeral of Mr. Penn, which took place last Saturday in St. Margaret's Churchyard, Belmont-hill, Lee, adjacent to his residence, "The Cedars," was attended by a thousand of the workmen employed by Messrs. John Penn and Sons, and by about a hundred gentlemen, amongst whom were several engineers of repute, and many personal friends.

The portrait we have engraved is from a photograph by M. Keutlinger, of Paris.

ROYAL NATIONAL LIFE-BOAT INSTITUTION.

A meeting of this institution was held on Thursday at its house, in John-street, Adelphi. Mr. Richard Lewis, secretary, having read the minutes of the previous meeting, rewards amounting to £186 were granted to the crews of life-boats of the institution for services rendered by them during the past month, in which period they saved sixty-two lives, besides helping to rescue a stranded schooner and several fishing-boats which were in danger of being wrecked. Altogether, the institution has contributed this year, by its life-boats and other means, to the saving of 436 lives. Rewards were granted to the crews of shore-boats for saving life from wrecks on our coast, and payments amounting to £2865 were made on some of the 268 life-boats of the institution. It was decided to form a new life-boat establishment at Clogher Head, Ireland; and new life-boats have recently been sent to Hartlepool and Dover. The committee earnestly appeal to the public for support to enable them to meet the continued very heavy expenses on the numerous life-boat establishments of the institution. Reports were read from the four inspectors of life-boats on their recent visits to the coast.

EDUCATION AT THE EAST END OF LONDON.

Mr. Le Page Renouf, her Majesty's Inspector of Schools in the metropolitan district of the Tower Hamlets, in his report for 1877, makes the following statement:—

The great defect of which all examiners complain is want of intelligence. It is to be lamented, but certainly not to be wondered at. Persons who have had the advantage of a liberal education are apt to ignore conditions under which their own minds have been formed, and which are altogether lacking in the education of the children who frequent elementary schools. Our own education was in fact going on, unconsciously to ourselves, during most of our waking moments. We learned as much, like the ancient rabbi, from our companions as from our teachers. It is not so with the children of our schools. Their education is almost entirely confined within the school hours. The vocabulary of their families is extremely limited. Home influences are destructive of school influences. This is the case even with reference to pupil-teachers, whose reading up to the moment of entering college is often as deficient in accuracy, intelligence, and expression as that of the younger children. It is, perhaps, natural that little children who know what a donkey is, or a "moke," should not know what an "ass" is, or that if asked how many legs a fish has, they should say "four," "two," or "one;" but it is almost incredible that great girls, pupil-teachers in the east end of London, should not know what is a "mushroom," or that both boy and girl pupil-teachers should habitually understand as a "churchyard" the "rampart" to which the body of Sir John Moore was hurried. One of the most favourite pieces of prose learned by pupil-teachers in their fifth year is the famous speech of Lord Chatham. I have not yet had one who understood what is meant by "extending the traffic to the shambles of every German despot." The meanings of the words were not always known; the sense of the entire passage, never. An amusing story about a sow was lately given out for the composition of the pupil-teachers. A good many understood "cow" instead of "sow," but the animal, whether as "cow" or "sow," was in almost every case spoken of as "he" or "him." The following is the account of the Indian Mutiny given by a female pupil-teacher in her fifth year of service and the eighteenth year of her age:—"There was a dreadful massacre in India, and thousands were slain; it was placed under the hands of a Governor, but he did not attend properly after the country, and so the people took the law into their own hands, and the country became in a dreadful state, men and children being killed. The Queen then became Empress of England."

But the picture has lights as well as shadows. Treating of the Jews' Free School in Bell-lane, Spitalfields, he says:—

This school is the largest school in his district, and probably in all England. The average attendance last year was 1248 boys and 850 girls. At one of his visits he found 2437 children present—1452 boys and 985 girls. There are nine certificated mistresses, and six certificated mistresses, six assistant teachers, and thirty-six pupil-teachers. The boys are under the superintendence of Mr. Moses Angel, and the girls under that of Mrs. Phillips, neither of whom is a certificated teacher. Mr. Angel, however, stands in the place of director, training-school, and, indeed, factotum of the entire institution, the efficiency and prosperity of which are in a large measure due to him. The inspector bears witness to the success of its action upon so large a number of children, many of whom belong to foreign families, in which the English language is but rarely and most imperfectly spoken, and who are also of migratory habits. The senior certificated mistresses, Miss Lipmann and Miss Goldsmid, are teachers of rare excellence. The inspector says he finds no school in which so large a proportion of the pupil-teachers, especially of the boys, obtain grants. He adds that a large Jewish infants' school is held in Commercial-street, Spitalfields, under the wise and maternal superintendence of Miss Harris, and that he has reported that in many visits to this school, private as well as official, he has never seen a little child idle. To all persons interested in education, a visit to this school, in which a large variety of physical types may be discerned, is full of interest.

The Glasgow News states that the Government intend erecting a general prison for Scotland in Renfrewshire.

MUSICAL PUBLICATIONS.

"When Summer dies" is an expressive song—simple in melody and accompaniment—by Miss M. Lindsay (Mrs. J. Worthington Blies), who has produced so many telling pieces of the same class. It is published by Messrs. R. Cocks and Co., who have issued two editions, one in D for a soprano voice, the other in C for contralto. "Sing to my slumbers" and "Soft star of the West" are songs by Signor Pinsuti, who has long since been known as a composer of agreeable vocal music. Each of the pieces now referred to possesses a taking melody which lies well for the voice, and within moderate compass. The second of these songs is especially adapted to be sung in unison by a number of voices, and is therefore particularly suitable for schools where vocal music is practised. Messrs. Cocks and Co. are the publishers; as also of an effective transcription, for the pianoforte, of Meyerbeer's "Coronation March," from "Le Prophète," by F. Lemoine; a similar arrangement, by W. S. Rockstro, of the old Scottish melody, "The Flowers of the Forest;" "Classical Extracts" (a series of short pieces from the works of the great composers), easily arranged by J. Duval; and two sets of spirited waltzes, "Queen of Hearts" and "The Swallow's Farewell," by Claude Davenport.

Nos. 1, 2, and 3 of "Six Pensées Dansantes," for the pianoforte, by Alfred Cellier (Metzler and Co), are well written for the instrument, and are at once melodious and piquant in style.

"Moments de Loisir" is the title of an extensive collection (reaching to fifty numbers) of extracts from classical works adapted for violin and pianoforte. The arrangements are very effectively made by Mr. W. Czerny, who is also the publisher of the series, which includes specimens of most of the great masters, of the old and modern schools. Mr. Czerny has likewise lately issued a "Romance," for violin or violoncello, by E. Marlois, a piece well calculated for the display of the expressive capabilities of those instruments. Another piece from the same publisher is a clever transcription for the pianoforte, by D. Vraisanges, of "La Danse des Sylphes," a characteristic movement from Hector Berlioz's grand work "La Damnation de Faust." "The Daughter of Jairus," sacred cantata, by John Stainer; "Hezekiah," a short oratorio, by Philip Armes (Novello, Ewer, and Co.). We have here two compositions that were performed at the recent Worcester Festival; the first-named work having been produced specially for the occasion. Of the merits of each we have already spoken, and need now therefore only record their publication in a handy and inexpensive form.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

Some competitions took place last week, the following being among the most noteworthy:—

The prize-meeting of the 13th Kent (Greenwich) was brought to a conclusion at Nunhead. The Greenwich challenge cup was won by Sergeant Wells, the same member also securing the ladies' challenge cup. In the other contests the chief winners were:—Series 3: Private Ridgers. Series 4: £5 5s., Lieutenant Lovibond; £4 4s., Sergeant Hollis; £3 3s. each, Private Ridgers, Corporal Hatfield, and Sergeant Ives; £2 2s. each, Private J. Shepherd, Lieutenant Frigout, Sergeant Orchard, and Sergeant Shepherd. The prizes for highest aggregate scores were taken by Sergeant Wells, Lieutenant Lovibond, and Private Ridgers; and Sergeant Carter won a silver cup presented by Major Bristow for attendance at drill and shooting combined.

An All-comers' Meeting was held at the range of the South London Rifle Club at Nunhead, and brought forward some very fine shooting. The first day was devoted entirely to the Martini-Henry rifle, and the second to the Snider. There were also range prizes and sweepstakes by Messrs. Steward.

The Artists' Rifles held their Monthly Cup Competition at Ealing, when the first place was taken by Private Boutcher, Corporal Downe and Private Brock coming next in order. In addition to the ordinary trophy the highest scorer became the holder of a challenge picture painted and presented by the commanding officer of the regiment, Colonel Leighton, R.A.

The annual prize-meeting of No. 4 company of the 29th (North) Middlesex (Captain Venables) took place at Child's-hill range, Hampstead; the following being the winners:—Messrs. Rudd, Sawle, Jennings, G. Batty, Johnson, H. Batty, Byers, Hawkins, Beeching, Hide, Weston, and Brandt. Private Phillips won the recruits' prize, and Privates Edwards and Kerr the prizes for members who had never won a prize.

The annual repository competition of the 3rd Essex Artillery took place at the head-quarters of the corps at Stratford. The three following shifts with a 32-pounder gun, mounted on an ordinary standing carriage, had to be performed:—1st shift, from carriage to carriage by slewing; 2nd, dismount by parbuckling; and, 3rd, mount up the rear on long skids and rollers. Eight detachments competed, and the first prize was won by No. 8 Battery (under Sergeant-Major Macklin as No. 1), who did the three shifts in 3 min. 58 sec. No. 4 Battery, with Sergeant Palmer as No. 1, completed the work in 4 min. 24 sec., and was second; and the third prize was taken by No. 3 (Bow) Battery, under Sergeant-Major Maw as No. 1, their time being 4 min. 33 sec.

At Leamington, the ex-Mayor's silver cup was won by Sergeant Metcalfe, of the Leamington Volunteers. Each competitor had to run fifty yards between each shot, and the prize was for the highest score thus made in two minutes.

An accident owing to rifle-practice occurred on the Brighton Downs last Saturday evening. While Major Kincaird Smith was riding with his daughter, the young lady remarked that her horse was going somewhat strangely. Her father lifted her from the saddle, and the horse immediately fell dead. It was then discovered that the animal had been shot by a bullet, fired, it is supposed, by some member of the 1st Sussex Rifles, who were at ball-practice at the butts in Sheepcote Valley.

Tuesday's Gazette announces that Major-General Martin Dillon, C.B., C.S.I., has been appointed Assistant Military Secretary at head-quarters, vice Major-General Robert Beaufoy Hawley, C.B., appointed Deputy Adjutant-General to the Forces.—It is also announced that Admiral Sir George Elliot, K.C.B., has been placed on the Retired List of his rank from the 26th ult.; and the following promotions consequent thereon have been made from the same date:—Vice-Admiral Charles Farrel Hillyar, C.B., to be Admiral in her Majesty's Fleet; Rear-Admiral Henry Schanck Hillyar, C.B., to be Vice-Admiral in her Majesty's Fleet, with seniority of Sept. 16, 1877; Captain Algernon M'Lellan Lyons, to be Rear-Admiral in her Majesty's Fleet. Consequent on the foregoing the following promotions have taken place on the Retired List:—Vice-Admirals Frederick Byng Montresor, Edward Codd, Spencer Smyth, Arthur William Jernigham, to be Admirals on the Retired List.

RUSSIAN AND BRITISH FRONTIERS IN ASIA.

Our Map exhibits the territories which intervene between the Russian possessions in Asia and British India. In its compilation the most recent explorations of Russian travellers and of British native agents have been consulted, and the head-streams of the Amu Darya, or Oxus, have been laid down in accordance with the information collected by them. The distance which now separates the Russian and British possessions in Asia hardly exceeds 160 miles, at one point. A traveller desirous of following that line from north to south would start from Khokand. He would first scale the mountain ranges south of that town into Alai, then ascend through the Kizil Yart, or some other pass, to that portion of the elevated steppe region of the Pamir, the centre of which is occupied by the great Kara-Kul lake, and thence wend his way southward, through an equally inhospitable region, to Gilgit. Hardly any inhabitants would be found along this route, and although the country can be, and has been, crossed by small caravans during summer, no army could ever hope to pass through it. A very much easier route exists to the west, and one, too, with which the Russians are well acquainted, they having recently explored it. Taking Samarkand for their starting-point, an army, accompanied by guns and store-waggons, may even now march to Cabul without meeting with obstacles which may not easily be removed by the pioneers attached to every field-force. The route runs through Shahr i Zebs, the famous Pass of the Iron Gate, Balkh and Bamian. The distance, as far as Cabul, without counting minor sinuosities, is not less than 500 miles. The route leads through Bokhara, nominally an independent State, though in reality very much at the mercy of Russia. There are routes to Afghanistan still further west, but a glance at our Map will show that none of these hold out any advantages to an enemy intent upon invading India from the north or west, unless, indeed, Persia were to be secured as an ally. The military operations of the Russians recently reported from Central Asia appear to point to two objects, the subjugation of the Turkomans and the conquest of Kashgar. The former have already given the Russians much trouble, and there can be no doubt that it is intended to occupy the Turkoman villages lying along the northern frontier of Persia, as far east as Merv. This is a town of some importance, and its possession would bring the Russians very close to Herat, the capital of North-Western Afghanistan. As for the Chinese, they have recently reoccupied Kashghar and the whole of Eastern Turkestan, close to the right-hand margin of our Map, and we hear that they now call upon the Russians to surrender the district of Kuldja, an important district to the north-east, which they occupied whilst the country was in a state of anarchy. The Russians naturally object to this restoration, while the Chinese, whom recent successes have rendered overbearing, may insist upon it. In that case, a war may be unavoidable; and, supposing the Russians to prove the stronger of the two, the British and Russian boundaries in Asia will come to be contiguous. With special reference to our map, we ought to mention that the districts of Darwaz, Roshan, and Shighnan, on the upper Oxus, are virtually independent, though they occasionally pay tribute either to Bokhara or to Afghanistan, or to both. Karategin we have included in Bokhara, but that district, too, appears to be in reality an independent principality.

AFGHANISTAN.

Our readers will endeavour to form a correct idea of the country which before long may be entered by a British army. Afghanistan is, on an average, about 430 miles from east to west, and 460 miles long from south to north. On the north it is bounded by the Oxus till a few miles below Kilat, and thence the boundary line dividing it from Khivan territory runs east and by south to a point a few miles west of Sarrakhs. On the west it is bounded by Persia, on the south by Khelat. From its south-easternmost extremity the frontier runs in a north-easterly direction along British territory as far as Swat. On the east it is bounded by Swat, Kaffiristan, and Kashgar. A glance at the map shows that there is a long narrow promontory, as it were, of Afghan territory, which is bounded on the south by Kaffiristan, on the east by Kashgar, and on the north by some minor khanates, more or less subject to Kokand and Bokhara. At one point this promontory is only 200 miles distant from Cashmere. As, however, we do not anticipate invasion from Afghanistan we may leave out of consideration the above-mentioned tongue of territory. The main features of Afghanistan are the mountain chains, the general direction of which is east and west, but which throw out buttresses to the north and south. Afghanistan is traversed across the centre from east to west by a chain of mountains, which may be viewed as an offshoot of the Himalayan system. This chain, called the Hindoo-Koosh, or more properly the Hindoo-Koh, ends in the Koh-i-Baba, a huge mass north-west of and at no great distance from the city of Cabul. It is covered with perpetual snow, and its loftiest peak is nearly 18,000 ft. high. Thence run two parallel chains, one called the Safed Koh; the other—the southernmost one—the Siah Koh. The northern range terminates just north of Herat; and the southern range, when it reaches a point just south of that city, trends off to the south-west and by south. These mountains are of no great height. North of the Koh-i-Baba and the Safed Koh is a high plateau, intersected by minor ranges, and called the Huzareh district. Running in a south-west direction from Cabul past Kandahar to Girishk is another chain of mountains. Practically, almost the whole of Afghanistan is a mass of mountains interspersed with valleys, of which some are of considerable size. The main watersheds of the country are, however, the crests of the two chains which run, one from east to west, and the other diagonally from north-east to south-west.

The chief rivers of Afghanistan are the Murghab, the Heri Rud, the Balkh, the Cabul, and the Helmund. The Murghab, rising near the north-eastern extremity of the Safed Koh, flows to Merv, a little beyond which the stream, whose waters in its course have been greatly drawn off for purposes of irrigation, loses itself in the sandy desert of Khiva. The Balkh, rising in the northern slopes of the Koh-i-Baba, is exhausted in a similar manner soon after it reaches the town of Balkh, and before it can effect a junction with the Oxus. The Cabul river rises in the mountains near the city of that name, and, passing by Jellalabad, makes its way through the Khyber Pass into British territory, falling into the Indus close to Attock. The Heri Rud, taking its rise in the north-easterly slopes of the Siah Koh, traverses the long narrow valley formed by the Safed Koh and the Siah Koh, runs close to and south of Herat, a few miles past which it turns to the north, following for some distance the boundary of Afghanistan, then, quitting that country, turns north-west and falls into the Tojend. The Helmund rises in the south-eastern slopes of the Koh-i-Baba, near Cabul, and, running in a south-westerly direction to Girishk, about one hundred miles south of that city, makes a sudden turn to the west, and, after flowing in that direction another hundred miles, emerges from Afghan territory. There are other rivers besides those we have named, but they are of no great importance. As a whole, it may be said that Afghanistan is well watered, and that in consequence the valleys are fertile. Unfortunately, we are able to give but scant details of even the principal rivers. The Murghab is described as a clear and rapid mountain stream. Of the Balkh river we can say little. Of the Cabul River we know that from Tezeen the body of General Elphinstone was, at the end of April, sent down on a raft to Jellalabad. We also know that in the same month the Cabul River was forded by cavalry with great difficulty opposite Lalpoora, at the Afghan end of the Khyber Pass. It is probable, therefore, that the river throughout the greater part of the course from Cabul to the Indus is navigable for small boats even in the spring. According to Captain Marsh, who travelled from Meshed to Herat about five years ago in the month of April, the Heri Rud, where he crossed it at the Afghan frontier, had very little water in it, being exhausted by the irrigating canals higher up. The stream itself was only two yards wide and 1 ft. deep, but the bed was more than 1000 yards broad. The plain of Herat is watered by canals from the river, and one of these enters the city. The same author says that during the winter, which sets in early and lasts four months, all the streams near Herat are frozen. Concerning the Helmund, which would have to be crossed by an army marching from the Bolan to Herat, Captain Marsh, who passed it at Girishk in the beginning of the month of May, says that at that season it is 100 yards broad and 3½ ft. deep. It is then at its lowest, and split up into many small streams. At the end of May or beginning of June, when the river is swollen by the melting of the snow, its breadth is computed at about a mile. The left, or south bank, is higher than the right, or northern bank.

The climate and soil of Afghanistan are very variable. In the valleys the climate is very hot in the summer, and fruit and grain are abundant. There is also a good deal of cultivation on terraces on the lower slopes of the mountains. Throughout the country, however, and especially in the north, there are frequent tracts of desert or rough rock-strewn plateaus, where nothing is cultivated. The valley of Cabul is remarkably fertile and highly cultivated—at all events, near the city of that name. The climate is, however, colder than that of Afghanistan generally, but is very regular. There are three months of the winter, three of spring, three of summer, and three of autumn. During the winter, which sets in about the beginning of December, the town is regularly blockaded by the snow, which completely blocks up the streets, so that business is at a standstill. The present ruler of Cabul, who bears the hereditary title of the Ameer, is Shere Ali, one of the sons of Dost Mohammed, our enemy from forty to thirty-five years ago, but who afterwards became a peaceful neighbour. The Ameer Shere Ali once visited a late Governor-General of India at Lahore, and received large gifts of money and guns from the Indian Government. We give his portrait, from a photograph by Mr. W. Baker, of Murree and Peshawur. He is shown wearing a head-dress of the Herat fashion.

It seems that history first recognises the existence of the tribes called "Afghans" when they were settled at Ghor, in Western Khorassan, in the eighth century. Here they were invaded by the Mohammedans, and, embracing Islam en masse, continued to flourish. About two hundred years later a Tartar invasion of Cabul proper succeeded in driving out thence the Hindoos who then possessed it, and in establishing a Tartar dynasty at the city of Ghuzni. The Afghans assisted the Tartars in the work of conquest, and with them spread, not only over the present Afghanistan, but across the Suleiman range into the present British districts of Moultan and Rohilkund, where their descendants still form a considerable proportion of the inhabitants. In time, however, they grew stronger than the conquerors, and in the twelfth century overthrew the Tartar dynasty of Ghuzni. One portion of the Afghans settled down as rulers of Cabul, while another entered India, where they founded at Delhi a dynasty that ruled in Upper India until 1526, when the Mogul conqueror, Baber, overthrew both kingdoms. After his death Western Afghanistan fell to the Persians, the Eastern portion remaining nominally under Delhi. But in 1740 Nadir Shah brought the whole under his sway, only, however, for seven years, for he was assassinated in 1747. His commander-in-chief, Ahmed Shah, an Afghan, at once seized the vast treasure which the Persian army was carrying home from the plunder of India, and, proclaiming himself King of the Afghans, readily united under him all the tribes of that name, and established within its present limits the independent kingdom over which Shere Ali now rules. Between the dates of Ahmed Shah and Shere Ali a hundred and forty years have elapsed, marked throughout by violent internal dissensions and resulting in frequent temporary changes of dynasty and frontier. The most important of these was the overthrow of the Suddozai family in 1839, which led to British interference. Under the impression that the restoration of the Suddozai dynasty would be pleasing to the Afghans, the British Government attempted the reinstatement of the deposed Ameer, Shah Shoojah, hoping also, by thus constituting a friendly Power in Afghanistan, to obtain a permanent guarantee against the intrigues of Russia, then threatening to occupy Khiva and to disturb the peace of Afghanistan. The history of that attempt and its results is now recalled to memory. The British invasion of Afghanistan in 1839, with an army commanded by Sir John Keane, was for the time a brilliant success. Ghuzni was taken by storm—the citadel being captured after a desperate combat of three hours' duration, and Hyder Khan, the Governor, one of the sons of Dost Mohammed, the then ruler of Cabul, being taken prisoner. The consequence was that Dost Mohammed, on receipt of the news of the fall of Ghuzni, abandoned his throne and fled, with only 600 horsemen, to seek a refuge beyond the Oxus. When Shah Shoojah, under the protection of the victorious British army, made his formal entry into his former capital of Cabul, the Afghan war appeared to be at an end. But the disasters which subsequently befell the British forces in Cabul, isolated and surrounded by hostile tribes — the assassination of Sir Alexander Burnes and Sir William Macnaghten, the convention under which Major Pottinger and Captains Laurence and Mackenzie were delivered up as hostages to Akbar Khan, and the massacres which ensued—are also matters of history. Twenty-six thousand men, women, and children fell in the rocky defiles and mountain gorges of Afghanistan, partly under the incessant attacks of the Afghan troops and the wild hill tribes, but more from hunger and the deep snows and wintry blasts of that region. Of all that host only one, Dr. Brydon, made his way alive to Jellalabad, bringing the news that the army of Cabul had ceased to exist. Seven or eight only of the survivors were taken prisoners; the rest were killed. The campaign of 1842, conducted by General Pollock and General Nott, vindicated the superiority of British arms, and compelled the Afghans to submit to the terms imposed on them. It is scarcely probable that they will be enabled to resist the military power of our Indian Empire, backed by that of England, upon the present occasion.

THE KHYBER PASS.

The Khyber Pass may be said, generally speaking, to commence at Jamrood, ten miles west of Peshawur, and to extend as far as Dhaka, a distance of about thirty-three miles. The actual entrance to the defile, however, is at Kadam, a place three miles west of Jamrood, which is a small village, surrounded by a mud wall. There still exist the ruins of an old Sikh fort built in 1837, after the defeat of the Afghan army on the adjacent plains by the Khalsa army under Hurree Singh. Within 1000 yards of Kadam the gorge narrows to 150 yards, with steep precipitous cliffs on either hand. Between this and the Afghan frontier fort of Ali Musjid, distant about ten miles, the mountains on either hand are about 1500 ft. in height, slaty, bare, and to all appearance inaccessible; the width of the pass varies from 290 to 40 feet. For a distance of two miles and a half beyond Ali Musjid the pass retains its difficult character. It then enters the Lâlâ Beg Valley, about six miles in length, with an average breadth of a mile and a half. The western end of the valley, however, finds the road entering a still narrower defile, there being scarcely room for two camels to pass each other. The Lundi Khana Pass is distant from this point about a mile and a half; the ascent over it is narrow, rugged, steep, and generally the most difficult part of the road; guns could not be drawn here except by men, and then only after an improvement of the track. The descent, however, is along a well-made road, and is not so difficult. On the west side of the pass the mountains gradually open out and lose much of their inaccessible nature. Dhaka is distant about eight miles, and here the defile ends. Difficult as the Khyber is to force, it is evident that what Wade and Pollock did many years ago can, if necessary, be done again. Moreover, our knowledge of these mountain ranges has much improved of late years, and several roads are well known which completely turn Ali Musjid, the most formidable obstacle between Peshawur and Jellalabad. Among these is the Tatara road, which enters the hills about nine miles north of Jamrood and joins the main route at Dhaka; the Kadapa road and one through the Bara Valley both avoid Ali Musjid, are practicable for lightly-equipped columns, and doubtless would be made use of were we compelled to force the Khyber. That the Khyber Pass presents but slight difficulty to a well-handled force is evident from the fact that in 1839 Colonel Wade forced it at the head of an irregular contingent, penetrating from Peshawur to Jellalabad, with a loss of but 180 men. In 1842 General Pollock forced it by shelling the heights from the ravines below, while two columns of twelve companies each on either flank pushed the enemy from ridge to ridge. His casualties were 128. On his return march he lost but fifty-six men.

It must be borne in mind that the tribes residing in the Pass and its immediate vicinity, though nominally owing allegiance to the Ameer of Afghanistan, are yet powerful enough to demand and to obtain subsidies from him in return for the privilege they grant in permitting the highway to be made use of. In the time of the Durani Kings the Maliks of the Khyber received 130,000 rupees per annum. After the annexation of Peshawur by the Sikhs, Dost Mahomed paid them only 20,000. During our occupation of Cabul, 1839-42, we paid them 125,000 rupees annually; and after our withdrawal Dost Mahomed continued a payment of 27,000. At his death these allowances were stopped, nor has Shere Ali renewed them. Consequently, his hold on the Afridi and Shinwarri tribes, who virtually hold the pass from Jamrood to Dhaka, has been much weakened. Once through the pass, there appears small reason to believe we should be unable to keep it open for the free transmission of supplies. Fortified posts at judiciously selected spots, coupled with liberal douceurs to the neighbouring chieftains, is all that is requisite. The forcing of the Khyber and the necessary construction of a road practicable for wheeled traffic to Cabul would be but the commencement of an Afghan war. The fortresses of Jellalabad, Cabul, and Ghuznee would have to be reduced. Of their present condition little is known; but the Afghan rulers have spent much labour and money in perfecting their defences.

The boundary line of British territory runs between Jamrood and Peshawur. It is understood that Sir Neville Chamberlain, the British Envoy, had crossed the frontier on his late mission to Cabul, and that his way was not stopped, according to the telegrams, till he reached the mouth of the Pass. One of our Illustrations therefore represents the scene of this event, the importance of which, relative to future history, time only can determine. Jamrood was erected by the former ruler of the Punjaub, Runjeet Singh, as a sentry-box to watch the mouth of the Pass. It was too small for that purpose in British possession, and it has been left to go to ruin. The station of Peshawur now serves the same purpose for which Jamrood did before, and is the principal military station on the frontier. The Khyber Pass being one of the only two doors into India, Peshawur, as the guard-house on its inner side, becomes of necessity a place of very great importance. There is a large fort at Peshawur, otherwise it is not fortified; but, in the event of invasion, the town could easily be put into a state of defence. An army coming into India by the Khyber would have to force the Pass, and then to reduce Peshawur, before advancing on the Indus, which is about twenty miles away, and is commanded by the Fort of Attock.

With the prospect of war, and of an advance upon Cabul through the defiles of the Khyber, the character of the tribes there becomes a point of some interest. They are all, in the true sense of the word, Highlanders, strong, active, and warlike, and they live in clans. They are usually armed with some weapon or another, at every moment, so that quarrels are often settled on the spot in a summary fashion, which leads to feuds and to wars of one clan with another. The Afghans have a tradition that they are descended from Saul, and they call themselves the "Beni Israel"—that is, the "Children of Israel." There is something of a Jewish type in many of their faces, and Jewish names are common; but these names might be derived since the Mohammedan conquest. One of the tribes of the Khyber is called the "Yusuf-zais," or "Sons of Joseph." The "Afreedis" and "Kookie-Khails" are the names of clans in the same region, which one often hears mentioned at Peshawur. They are very anxious, at all times, to take service in the Indian army; but their fighting qualities are such that the authorities avoid having more than a certain proportion of them in our regiments. The fierce "Khails," or tribes of that district, are one of the dangers which a force passing through the Khyber has to calculate on. They live among the mountains, and wherever there is a commanding point they can seize upon it; and as they fight desperately, they make every post of the road cost dear with the blood shed in forcing a passage. Such people, hanging about on the line of march, can swoop down like hawks upon stragglers; and their long knives are deadly weapons. If they are still anxious for service, the best plan, if we are to have war, would be to enlist most of them on our side.

It may be remembered that it was in the region of the Khyber Pass that Lord Clyde first won high military distinction. It was for service in that region he received the honour of the K.G.B. and became Sir Colin Campbell. Lord Clyde was at Peshawur with Lord Canning in 1860, at the time when our Artist, Mr. William Simpson, was there, having just paid a visit to the Khyber. One evening Lord Clyde was looking over Mr. Simpson's sketch-book, and, seeing the original from which our Illustration of an Outlook House is drawn, he said that those outlook houses were originally an idea of his own. He then explained how the outlying sentries in the Afghan War were sometimes found dead in the morning, stabbed to the heart by the fierce Khyberees; and how, for their safety, a line of these houses was consequently put up. The outlook house is loop-holed all round, so that it not only commands the view, but has military command of the space about it. There is no means of getting up into the upper part except by the ladder, which those on duty can pull up after them—a very simple arrangement to accomplish the object desired. This idea may have been taken from the martello towers of our south coast, or from the Border towers or "peels" of Tweedside.

THE BRIGHTON AQUARIUM.

The Brighton Aquarium has just added, to its other attractive features, a new Promenade and Terrace Garden, with a Music Pavilion, of which we give an Illustration. The space for these has been gained by suppressing the skating-rink, which at Brighton and elsewhere seems to have gone out of fashion. Its site has been converted into a pleasant promenade, which is partly sheltered by a glass screen on the side next the sea, and which will be gratefully enjoyed by invalids in the winter season. It is adorned with pretty flower-beds, and at the east end is a pavilion, of Moorish design, for the accommodation of a large band of musicians. The architect, Mr. E. Birch, has shown good taste and skill in this improvement of the Aquarium premises. The opening of the new Terrace on Saturday last was attended with some festivity. The Mayor of Brighton, Mr. Alderman Mayall, performed the ceremony of declaring it opened. A déjeûner was afterwards given, by the chairman and directors of the Aquarium Company, to a party of invited guests in the room beneath the Terrace. Mr. J. McMillan, chairman of the company, presided, and the Hon. Howe Browne was in the vice chair. The general manager, Mr. G. Reeves Smith, received high compliments, his health being coupled with that of the chairman, proposed by the Mayor of Brighton. The band of the 5th Lancers played on the Terrace, by permission of Colonel Massey, who was one of the guests of the company upon this occasion. The Aquarium concert, on the same afternoon, with songs by Madame Patey, and with Miss Lillie Albrecht as pianist, was much enjoyed by a large audience.

The annual congress of homœopathic medical practitioners was held at the Bell Hotel, Leicester, on Thursday week, under the presidency of Dr. Gibbs Blake, Birmingham.

Two memorial stones of the new English Presbyterian Chapel at Denbigh were laid on Tuesday—the first by Mr. Watkin Williams, Q.C., and M.P. for the Denbigh Boroughs, and the second by Mr. Thomas Gee, the Mayor of Denbigh. The chapel, which is to cost £3000, and to seat 300 persons, will have a tower and spire 90 ft. high.

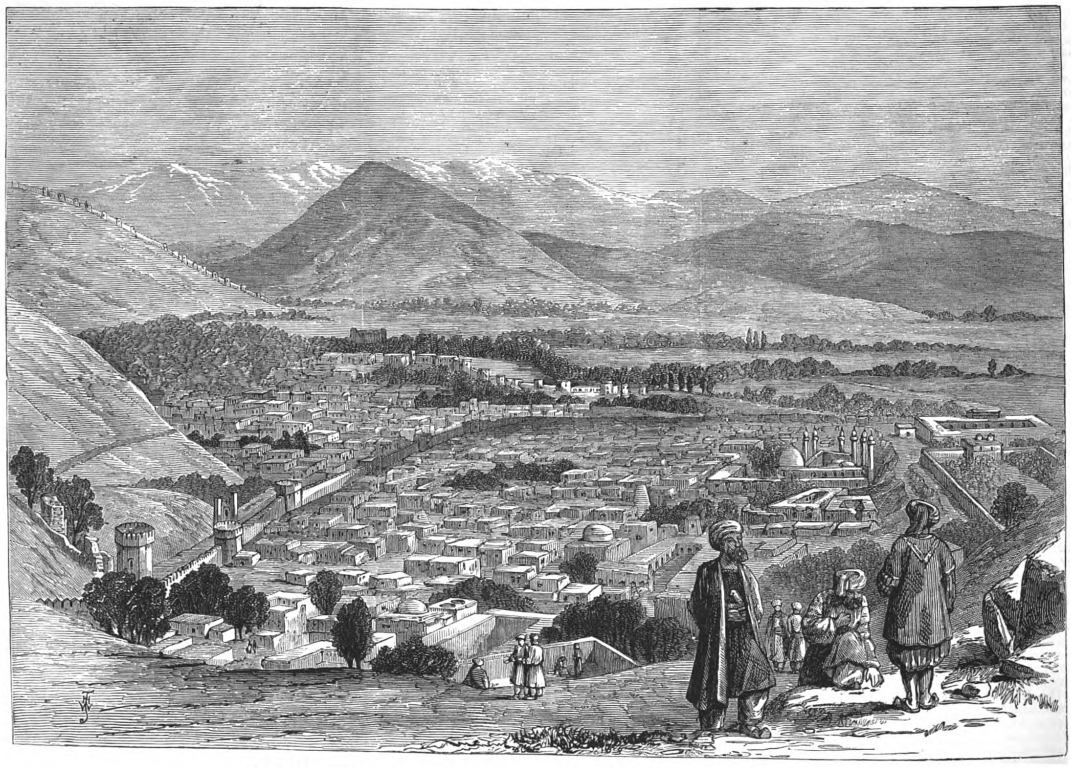
The Very Rev. W. Packenham Walsh was consecrated Bishop of Ossory in Christchurch Cathedral, Dublin, last Saturday. This is the first ceremony of the kind that has taken place in the cathedral since its restoration. The Archbishop of Dublin, assisted by the Bishop of Cork, officiated, and the sermon was preached by Canon Peacocke. The consecration service was read from the new Prayer-Book.

The predicted high tide on Saturday last was felt along the south coasts of England and Ireland, where considerable damage was done in the low-lying districts. On the eastern coasts, however, the tide was unusually low. The water rose very high on the western coasts, but no inundations took place. In the Thames the tide rose to a considerable height, but no damage was done.

Last week eight steamers arrived in the Mersey from the United States and Canada, having on board 1659 head of live cattle, 2942 sheep, and 1058 pigs. These figures, though large, show a slight decrease when compared with those for the previous week. The steamers conveying fresh meat were four in number, and all came from New York. The supply consisted of 4236 quarters of beef, and 420 carcases of mutton.

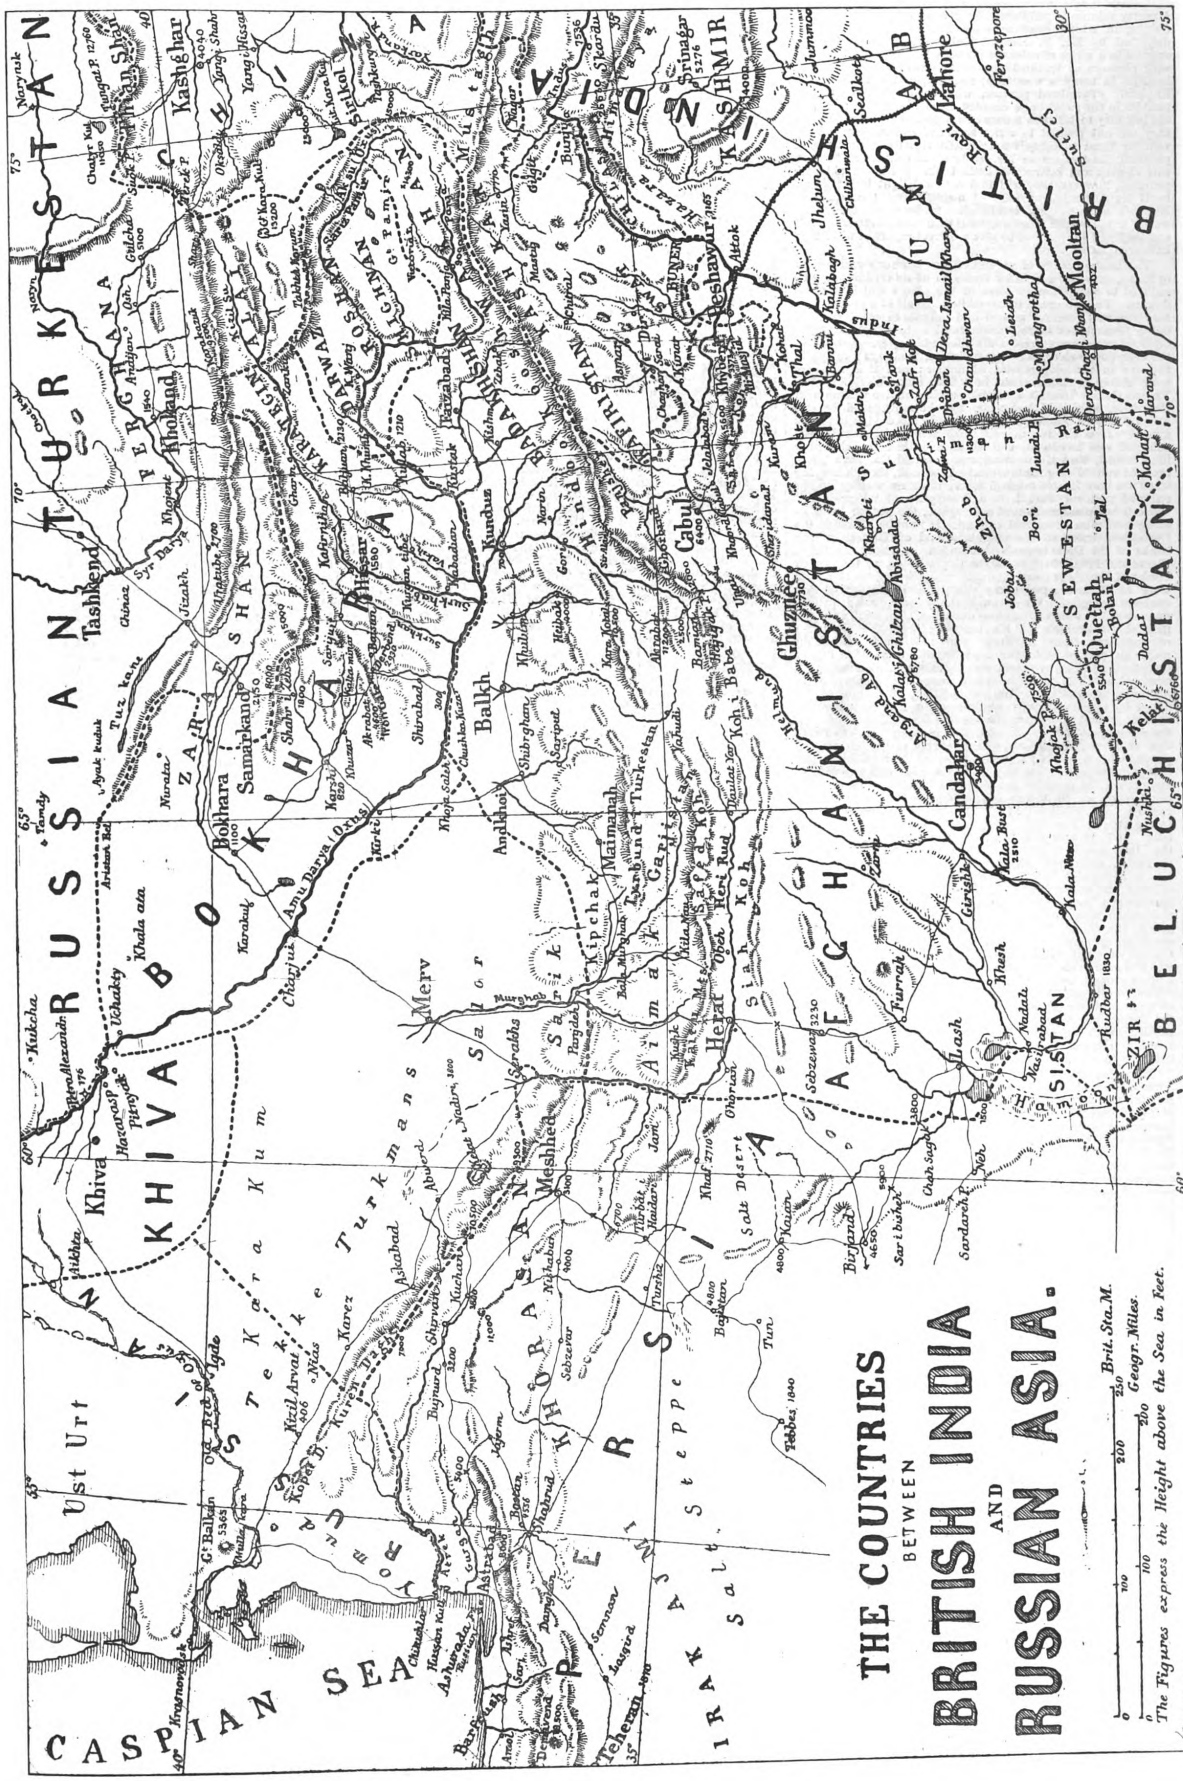
At the eighth annual show of cheese and butter at Frome last week £260 was competed for in prizes, and in several of the classes the competition was open to the United Kingdom, while in the butter classes there were eighty-four entries, against eighty-one last year. The cheese showed a remarkable falling off, there being only 159 entries, against 264 last year. Twenty of the prizes for cheese were carried off by Somerset exhibitors and eleven by Dorset.

Last Saturday afternoon the liverymen of the various companies of the City of London assembled at Guildhall for the purpose of electing the Lord Mayor for the year ensuing. The choice fell upon Sir Charles Whetham, the senior Alderman below the chair.—Mr. George Burt and Mr. Thomas Bevan, the newly-elected Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, were publicly admitted to their office on the same day. The ceremony was followed by a luncheon at the Albion Hotel.



The returns of the revenue of the United Kingdom up to Monday night show that the receipts of the past quarter amounted to £16,708,527, being a net increase of £83,545 as compared with the corresponding period of last year. For the past half-year, however, the net increase is only £34,372. During the past quarter there has been a decrease in customs, excise, stamps, land tax and house duty, and miscellaneous receipts; but an increase in property and income tax, Post Office and telegraph service, and interest on advances.

On Tuesday morning the Coroner's jury, which had been for nine days engaged in an inquiry into the loss of five lives at the fire at Digbeth, Birmingham, returned a verdict to the effect that the fire was wilfully caused, but by whom there was not sufficient evidence to show. The jury also strongly censured the police for inefficient management of the Fire Brigade appliances.—At the inquest held on the bodies of the persons killed in the recent accident on the Macroom line, the jury the same day brought in a verdict declaring that the deaths were the result of culpable negligence on the part of the directors, the traffic manager, and the working ganger of the line.



Last month the officers of the Fishmongers' Company seized at and near Billingsgate Market, and on board boats lying off there, no less than 119 tons 2 cwt. of fish as unfit for human food. Of this, 98 tons 17 cwt. had come by rail and 20 tons 5 cwt. by water. The fish numbered 144,186, and included 15 brill, 3 coalfish, 145 cod, 5 crawfish, 2500 dabs, 500 gurnets, 76,118 haddocks, 12 hake, 1875 herrings, 4 jack, 18 ling, 2538 lobsters, 94 mackerel, 257 mullets, 29,808 plaice, 92 skate, 500 smelt, 622 soles, 370 thornbacks, 44 trout, 136 turbot, and 23,600 whiting. There were seized, in addition, 2555 gallons of shrimps, 1464 bushels of periwinkles, 68 of whelks, and 34 of mussels, 4 barrels of cod-sounds, 28 lb. of prawns, and 333 lb. of eels, a bag of escallops, and one of oysters. The whole quantity was destroyed.

THE BRIGHTON SEASON: NEW PROMENADE AND MUSIC PAVILION AT THE AQUARIUM.

THE BALA HISSAR AND CITY OF CABUL, FROM THE UPPER PART OF THE CITADEL.

THE COUNTRIES BETWEEN BRITISH INDIA
AND RUSSIAN ASIA.
Brit. Sta. M.
Geogr. Miles.
The Figures express the Height above the Sea in Feet.
RUSSIAN TURKESTAN
KHIVA
BOKHARA
AFGHANISTAN
BELUCHISTAN
PERSIA
CASPIAN SEA
ARAL Sea
Khiva
Bokhara
Samarkand
Merv
Balkh
Kabul
Candahar
Herat
Quetah
Tashkend
Kokcha
Khokand
Kashghar
Yarkand
Khotan
Leh
Srinagar
Peshawar
Lahore
Multan
Mooltan
Jhelum
Attok
Indus
Ust Urt
Kara Kum
Kara Turkmans
Sahara
Steppe
Salt Desert
Hindoo Koosh
Sulimani Mts.
Safed Koh
Koh i Baba
Khyber P.
Bolan P.
Kojuk P.
Zhob R.
Helmund R.
Furrah
Girishk
Kelat
Nushki
Kudaur
Jash
Nasirabad
Sistan
Hamun
Zirreh
Sea of Aral
Sea of Azof
Black Sea
Caspian Sea
Persian Gulf
Red Sea
Mediterranean Sea
Constantinople
Smyrna
Aleppo
Damascus
Jerusalem
Cairo
Alexandria Suez
Mecca
Medina
Bombay
Calcutta
Madras
Delhi
Agra
Lucknow
Benares
Patna
Allahabad
Jeypore
Ajmere
Indore
Nagpore
Hyderabad
Poona
Goa
Mangalore
Cochin
Ceylon
Colombo
Trincomalee
Pondicherry
Madras
Vizagapatam
Cuttack
Calcutta
Chittagong
Rangoon
Moulmein
Tenasserim
Malacca
Singapore
Penang
Sumatra
Java
Borneo
Celebes
Philippines
Manilla
China
Canton
Hong Kong
Macao
Pekin Nankin
Shanghai
Japan
Yeddo
Nagasaki
Formosa
Loochoo Is.
Aden
Muscat
Ormuz
Bushire
Bussorah
Bagdad
Mosul
Diarbekir
Erzeroum
Trebizond
Sinope
Kertch
Taganrog
Azof
Sea of Marmora
Dardanelles
Gallipoli
Salonica
Athens
Corfu
Malta
Gibraltar
Tangier
Algiers
Tunis
Tripoli
Barbary
Fez
Morocco
Mogador
Canary Is.
Madeira
Azores
Cape Verd Is.
Sierra Leone
Liberia
Cape Palmas
Ashantee
Dahomey
Benin
Bonny
Old Calabar
Cameroons
Fernando Po
Gaboon
Congo
Loanda
Benguela
Mozambique
Zanzibar
Mombas
Abyssinia
Nubia
Dongola
Khartoum
Sennaar
Kordofan
Darfur
Wadai
Bornou
Timbuctoo
Soudan
Senegambia
Gambia
Sierra Leone
Liberia
Cape Palmas
Ashantee
Dahomey
Benin
Bonny
Old Calabar
Cameroons
Fernando Po
Gaboon
Congo
Loanda
Benguela
Mozambique
Zanzibar
Mombas
Abyssinia
Nubia
Dongola
Khartoum
Sennaar
Kordofan
Darfur
Wadai
Bornou
Timbuctoo
Soudan
Senegambia
Gambia

FLOWERS, FERNS, AND GARDENS.

A pretty volume is published by Messrs. Cassell, Petter, and Galpin, in which Familiar Wild Flowers are figured and described by Mr. F. Edward Hulme, F.L.S. The figuring appears in a series of coloured plates, which will be recognised with pleasure as truthful representations of our native floral beauties in many a woodland, meadow, and hedge of rural England. Townbred persons, who enjoy their occasional rambles in the sweet open country, have sometimes to regret the inability to tell the names of its commonest flowers. If they are not trained to strict botanical observation, it is in vain for them to consult a scientific treatise without such pictorial illustrations as Mr. Hulme has drawn for them in this elegant and instructive little book. With the aid here provided, however, they will find a new delight in revisiting, be it for a month, a week, or a single day, the scenes of Nature's unpretending loveliness. "The dustiest roadside walk," as the author promises, "will then have its attractions;" and they will be qualified to give a correct report of what they have seen and enjoyed.

The living beauty of vegetation, its harmony and variety of forms, and the delightful freshness of its verdure, may be enjoyed to perfection in some of the plants which bear no flowers. There is much to be said on behalf of a predilection for ferns, and even for mosses and lichens, as not less justifiable than the ordinary horticultural taste which cherishes artificial variations of rare and delicate blossoms. Greenness, the everyday garb of most vegetable life, is always pleasing to the eye in this department of nature; and it is nowhere more richly provided than in "The Fern World." Mr. Francis George Heath's agreeable and instructive volume with that title, published last year, had been preceded by one called The Fern Paradise, which already stood high in public favour. It is the fourth edition of this book, considerably enlarged and improved, and adorned with many charming illustrations, that Messrs. Sampson Low and Co. have lately brought out. Being made almost a new book, though keeping what was best in the original work, it seems worthy of our renewed notice. Part I. is a description of "Fern-land," which it is a pleasure to read over again; the author leads us along with him in several enthusiastic rambles through the Devonshire lanes, in the neighbourhood of Totnes, on the banks of the Dart towards Ashburton, or about Lustleigh Cleave and Pingle Bridge, on the Upper Teign, at the eastern border of Dartmoor; and he dwells with the rapture of a true lover of Nature upon every characteristic feature of that enchanting region. We are enabled, by some past acquaintance with the localities he describes, to recognise the general truthfulness of his account; and the profusion of luxuriant ferns in those places is such as would make his assistance in the capacity of a naturalist highly acceptable to one who should visit them with a discriminating admiration. The views of such green-lane scenery, from photographs by Messrs. Brinley and Son, of Totnes, reproduced by the Woodbury type process for this volume, are a suitable accompaniment to Mr. Heath's interesting pages. In the second part of his work, under the heading "A Fern Paradise at Home," which has been entirely re-written for the present edition, we find sufficient practical instructions for the culture of these fascinating plants, either in garden rockeries, upon lawns, in grottoes and artificial caverns, in areas and court-yards, or by indoor glass cases, in pots or hanging baskets, on window-ledges, and in many other ways, furnishing an exquisite adornment of the house. The next part is occupied with a satisfactory discussion of the influence of growing ferns upon the atmosphere of rooms, and upon the health of their inmates. Part IV. is a popular botanical treatise on the natural history of ferns, and on the chief species of British ferns, the bracken, hartstongue, lady-fern, Osmunda regalis or flowering fern, maidenhair, mountain parsley, and adderstongue, the polypody group, the shield, the buckler, and the bladder ferns, the woodsias, spleenworts, and others. These are illustrated by the aid of eight wood-engravings, by Mr. J. D. Cooper, in which the ferns are represented by white or shaded figures on a black ground, having been photographed on the blocks. In "The Fern World," it may be remembered, the photographs of ferns were transferred to stone for the lithographer, and the lithographs were printed in colour, by Messrs. Leighton Brothers, with very beautiful effect. Both these works of Mr. Heath's claim our hearty admiration, and are a valuable contribution to existing literature upon the subject.

From England to India, and from the pursuit or culture of ferns to the contemplation of exotic botany, with the accompanying native birds and insects, in a Paradise on the banks of the Ganges, is a rather considerable stride. This step, however, is easily taken by the reader who loves the gossip of a genial naturalist and genuine humourist, to be met with in Mr. Phil Robinson's delicious little book called In My Indian Garden (Sampson Low and Co.). A more agreeable pocket companion we can hardly choose than this volume of wholesome pleasantry concerning the plants, trees, fruits, and flowers; the sultry, the rainy, and the mild seasons; the parrots, crows, and various feathered tribes; the jackals, squirrels, and other common beasts of that country; the ants, flies, and mosquitoes, and the rustic habits of life among the people, as it seems, in the neighbourhood of Allahabad. It is a welcome change from the repeated descriptions of so many Indian towns and cities, temples and palaces, lately visited in state by his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales; and not less relief is found in the contrast of these quiet idyllic sketches with those perpetual stories of tiger and elephant hunting which have made the name of a "shikaree," or any mention of the jungle, somewhat fearful to tame-spirited stayers at home. Mr. Phil Robinson's readers are allowed to remain quite unconscious, while passing through the pages of this book, that there are such places as Calcutta or Bombay. In sojourning here the mind breathes only of the air of an Indian garden; and so true are the author's word-pictures, we can have no doubt but that the garden is a "compound" in the "Mofussil." The descriptions of the birds are perhaps the best part of the book. That of the Corvus splendens may be cited as an example; indeed, it smacks of Æsop. The author will no doubt be tempted to cultivate this literary kind of garden a little more. He might be reminded to add something about the native traditions concerning birds and animals in India; to give us what is now known as "folk-lore," such as prejudices, superstitions, and romantic legends. It is the common idea in the East that to see two crows is lucky, while to see one is the reverse; and there is a capital story founded on this, which is well known. A man said to his servant one morning, "Should you see two black crows, call me to see them, for that is a lucky omen." The servant, seeing two crows, called his master; but before he got to the window one of them had flown away, and the master, getting angry, beat the servant as the cause of his seeing an unlucky sign. A friend afterwards came in with a present of flowers and fruit, to whom the master related what he considered the stupidity of his attendant; but when he had done, the servant said, "Master, you saw one crow, and you have received a present of flowers and fruit; had you seen two crows, like me, you would have got a beating." The irony here is refreshing, and such tales are far from scarce in the East. The legends about Solomon and the Hoopoes would in themselves form a volume. We want all that can be collected of such flowers from the Garden of Indian popular thought; and this delightful little volume is a sign that our wishes are likely to be realised. It is prefaced with a brief introduction by Mr. Edwin Arnold, who knows India familiarly enough to vouch for Mr. Robinson's minute acquaintance with everything that he describes in his truthful though playful comments upon its characteristic forms of vegetable and animal life.

MUSIC.

The series of Covent-Garden Promenade Concerts closed on Monday night with the supplemental performance for the benefit of Messrs. Gatti, the directors, the occasion having derived special importance on account of the programme including Beethoven's ninth and final (the "choral") symphony, the greatest of all works of the kind. Not only did this form a grand climax to the season just terminated, but it completed the rendering of the whole series of the great master's symphonies, given in regular order on successive Monday evenings, the first eight only having been promised in Messrs. Gatti's prospectus.

Another series of Promenade Concerts, also at Covent-Garden Theatre, will begin this (Saturday) evening—these being under the direction of M. Rivière. This scheme will include the co-operation of a permanent chorus of forty voices, under the direction of Mr. Josiah Pittman, the number to be increased to about two hundred at the Friday concerts, which are to consist of sacred music; the Wednesday evenings being classical nights; Mondays, English ballad nights; and Tuesdays, operatic nights—the first four Thursdays being appropriated, respectively, to Scotch, Irish, Welsh, and English festivals. Among the sacred works to be performed are Rossini's "Stabat Mater," Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," and Verdi's "Requiem." On other evenings classical orchestral works will be introduced, besides adaptations from popular operas, arranged by M. Rivière. Among the solo vocalists engaged are Mesdames Sherrington, Enriquez, D'Alton, and Osborne Williams; Messrs. Penna and Arnim, Mr. Vernon Rigby, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Wadmore, Mr. Thurley Beale, and Signor Urio; many others being named in the prospectus, several being first appearances. The list of solo instrumentalists includes the names of Herr Remenyi, M. Sainton, M. Vivien, and Mr. Carrodus. The orchestra is to consist of about seventy-five performers, led by Mr. Eayres, and will be occasionally augmented by a military band. Mr. Lindsay Sloper will be the solo pianist and accompanist. During the series of concerts a "double piano" is to be introduced, its capabilities to be exemplified by M. Zarebski This remarkable instrument has two rows of keys, one placed over the other, the scale of the upper keyboard running the reverse way—that is, the highest notes beginning at the left hand. It is patented by MM. Mangeot Frères, of Paris.

Her Majesty's Theatre is to reopen on Oct. 19 for Italian opera performances at reduced prices. "Fidelio" being the opera selected for the first night, with Madame Pappenheim as Leonora. Signor Li Calsi is to be the conductor, assisted by Signor Orsini.

Mr. W. Carter's series of oratorio performances at the Royal Albert Hall is to begin on Oct. 24, with Haydn's "Creation."

Mr. Carter gave on Tuesday evening at Steinway Hall the first of three pianoforte recitals, playing Beethoven's Sonatas Pathétique, Moonlight, Appassionata, Funeral March, and Les Adieux. His choir sang some madrigals and part-songs. The other concerts will be held at the same place on Nov. 5 and Dec. 3.

At the Royal Academy of Music last Saturday, on the occasion of the inauguration of the new academic year, Professor Macfarren, the Principal of the Royal Academy of Music, delivered the opening address to the students. There was a large attendance of the students. Professor Macfarren, who was warmly applauded in the course of his address, first alluded with great regret to the death by the disaster to the Princess Alice of Master Henry Cockram, the Sterndale Bennett scholar, who, he said, was an ornament to the Academy. In that Academy a notable characteristic was that the teachers had free scope for the exercise of their powers; and, while each of the students had the advice and instruction of the particular professor to whom his talents were confided, each gathered some amount of the perception and insight of the whole academic staff, and it was noticeable that a large part of their instruction was communicated from one to another. They compared their views, they enlarged upon their perception of those very views, and they came by that means to a comprehension of truth—a many-sided statue. A point on which they must set considerable store was that when the Sterndale Bennett Scholarship was instituted it was made a condition that before entering the musical competition the candidate should pass a literary examination. A similar condition was subsequently made by the Oxford, Cambridge, and London Universities. The study of languages—and first and chiefly of our own beautiful language—was of very great importance to the musician. A young institution in the Academy was the operatic class, which he hoped had since last term been raised to something beyond an experiment. It was the regret—one might almost say the reproach—of this country that we had not an instituted opera in our language.

This (Saturday) afternoon, the twenty-third series of Crystal Palace concerts begins, the programme including the first performance in England of Brahms's new symphony, of which we must speak next week.

The Saturday afternoon performance of opera in English announced for this week at the Alexandra Palace is to consist of Auber's "Crown Diamonds," with Madame Blanche Cole as Catcrina.

On Saturday last a meeting of the stewards of the recent Worcester Festival was held, at which the accounts were produced and passed. The hon. secretary, the Rev. T. L. Wheeler, showed that, after paying all the expenses of the festival, there was a balance in hand of £97 odd, besides the sum collected for the charity at the doors of the cathedral after the oratorios and services, which amounted to the almost unprecedented sum of £1504 12s. 4d. The amount received for the charity in 1872 was £865; and in 1875, when the Dean and Chapter held a festival of their own, £1453, of which about one half was subscribed before the festival (so called) was held. The £1504 will be handed over intact to the charity for the relief of clergymen's widows and orphans of the dioceses of Worcester, Hereford, and Gloucester, and the £97 was ordered to be added to the amount already funded on behalf of these charities, which already brings in an annual income of nearly £100. The usual vote of thanks were passed to those gentleman who had kindly undertaken the execution; to Mr. Done, the conductor; and, lastly, to the chairman, Lord Hampton, in acknowledging which vote he expressed his extreme gratification at the result of the festival.

It appears from the annual report of Mr. Hullah on the examination in music of the students of training colleges in Great Britain that there are now forty of such institutions in England and Wales and seven in Scotland. The majority of the suggestions which he made in 1872, Mr. Hullah says, are now acted upon in every training school in the country, but he urges the further adoption of combined practice.

Franz Liszt, who is staying at Rome, is engaged at present in the composition of a dramatic oratorio, "St. Stanislas."

THEATRES.

DRURY LANE.

The national theatre reopened, under Mr. Chatterton's management, on Saturday, with one of the best of Shakspeare's plays, "The Winter's Tale." This fine drama belongs to the epic and imaginative period of the great poet's poetical development. We may, if we will, see in this the advanced thinker and artist, in perfect possession of his powers; aiming at, and succeeding in, a complex structure of drama, such as he had already tried in "Lear," "Troilus and Cressida," and "Cymbeline;" but never in so calm and serene a mood, holding his subject under complete control, and subduing it entirely to his will. Notwithstanding the conventional character of this legendary play, he has contrived to invest it with so much of beauty and grace, such fertility of fancy, and such facility of style, that the poetic element reigns supreme, and dominates even the passion and humour alike of its tragic and comic plots. The poetic artist is absolute master of its theme and its treatment. The latter intentionally brings it to the level of a child's sympathy. "The Winter's Tale" is eminently a nursery tale, and the familiar ballad is the model on which it is constructed. The genius of such a piece is represented in one of its comic characters, Autolycus, the ballad-monger, an idea which we have ventured to suppose must have been contained in the original conception of the tale. It is accordingly generally a favourite with the audience. Upon the present occasion it was represented by Mr. E. Atkins, a sound and judicious actor; but he seemed to act under restraint, and with a desire to subdue the comic element, and keep it in a condition of subordination to the more tragic business of the surrounding scenes. We regretted this, for we had expected more hilarity in the group of which he is the centre. Miss Hudspeth as Mopsa, however, acted in the old spirit, and was not afraid to be demonstrative in her retorts upon her rustic rival. We are afraid, too, that other characters and of more importance were under-acted and not adequately represented. Miss Wallis, indeed, showed lack of training for the part of Hermione, and adopted a false style of stilted elocution which destroyed the music of the lines she had to utter, and deprived the speeches of their wonted melody. Her person also was too slight for queenly dignity, and not sufficiently developed to give the full sculptural development to the statue scene. Throughout, too, she was stagey without being artistic; like an actress whose experience was insufficient duly to support a character so complex and intricate. Mrs. Hermann Vezin acted Paulina, and towered above the heroine in all that constitutes force, dignity, and emphasis. The episode of Florizel and Perdita was delicately interpreted by Mr. E. Compton and Miss Fowler, artists to whom the boards are familiar, and who sustained the pastoral attitude with native ease and simple elegance. Mr. John C. Cowper was admirable as the old Shepherd. The three principal rôles were in all respects satisfactorily filled. Mr. Charles Dillon looked remarkably well as Leontes, and entered from the very opening into the spirit of the part. The passion of jealousy in Leontes is very different from that in Othello—that of the Moor is derived from without, that of the Monarch is of home growth, and belongs to his nature, is a part of his individuality. Mr. Dillon treats it as a natural defect, nor seeks for it in any cause out of himself. Its very irrationality is owing to its purely subjective motive. Mr. Dillon was especially careful to give due effect to the emphatic lines and speeches, and deservedly won rounds of applause from a discriminating audience. Next in order comes Mr. John Ryder as Antigonus, always correct in delivery and intelligent in action. Mr. E. F. Edgar was excellent in Polixenes. The progress of the events was relieved by warlike and Bacchic ballets, and illustrated by some charming scenery. The curtain fell to immense plaudits; and the principal performers were all summoned to the front and enthusiastically greeted.

A brief Shakspearean season began last Saturday at the Park Theatre with the tragedy of "Othello," which commanded a numerous audience. Mr. T. Swinbourne as the Moor, and Mr. Forrester as Iago, left little to be desired, and were well appreciated. Mr. George Temple as Cassio was respectable. Mrs. Charles Harcourt's Emilia was better than Miss Edith Lynn as Desdemona. The tendency of all, however, was rather to under-act, a prevailing fault with the rising actors of the present day.

At Astley's Miss Virginia Blackwood has produced a new melodrama by Mr. G. Manville Fenn, entitled "Land Ahead." It is on the old basis of an Irish national interest, and consists of the old materials, so treated as to produce an intense feeling. A fatherly priest figures among the characters, and a fair-haired girl, with three lovers, the honest Brian More, the grasping landlord, and his designing bailiff. Matters are so arranged that Brian, according to all previous example, has to fly the country; but in the second act he returns, to meet with new troubles, from which he is delivered by the devoted priest.

The Star Theatre at Blackburn was destroyed by fire on Monday morning. The theatre was built of wood, and would seat 4000 persons, and had been erected at a cost of £3000

A Home for Incurables, dedicated to St. Michael and All Angels, was opened at Cheddar, near Weston-super-Mare, on Monday. The whole expense of building and endowing the home is borne by Mrs. Gibbs, of Tyntesfield, near Bristol.

The Cambridge Free Library report shows that during the past twelve months the total issue of books to borrowers and readers was 55,732, which was an increase of 2845 volumes over that of the preceding year. From a classification of the books issued it is observed that no fewer than 33,500 were works of fiction. The expense of the whole institution is covered by a penny rate.

The foundation-stone of the proposed railway bridge across the Firth of Forth was laid on Monday forenoon by Mrs. Bouch, wife of the engineer of the undertaking. The ceremony took place on the island of Inchgarvie, which is about equidistant from North and South Queensferry, and the stone was laid on the site of the middle pier. At a luncheon held in the afternoon at South Queensferry, Mr. Adam, M.P., spoke on the value of the bridge to the country generally, and especially to the East Coast and Midland Railway Companies.

OBITUARY.

LORD JOHN FREDERICK GORDON HALLYBURTON.

Lord John Frederick Gordon Hallyburton, G.C.H., Admiral R.N., whose death took place on Sunday, the 29th ult., at Hallyburton House, near Coupar Angus, was born Aug. 15, 1799, the third son of George, ninth Marquis of Huntly, by Catherine, his wife, second daughter of Sir Charles Cope, Bart., and was married, Aug. 24, 1836, to Lady Augusta Kennedy Erskine, sister of George, first Earl of Munster, and widow of the Hon. John Kennedy Erskine. He was D.L. for the county of Forfar, and represented it in Parliament from 1841 to 1852. His Lordship has died without issue. His wife had pre-deceased him Dec. 8, 1865.

SIR GEORGE COLTHURST, BART.

Sir George Conway Colthurst, fifth Baronet, of Ardrum, in the county of Cork, died on the 25th ult. He was born in 1824, the eldest son of Sir Nicholas Conway Colthurst, fourth Baronet, M.P., by Elizabeth, his wife, only daughter of Colonel George Vesey, of Lucan, in the county of Dublin. He succeeded to the title at the decease of his father in 1829, and married, Jan. 14, 1846, Louisa Jane, only daughter of St. John Jeffryes, Esq., of Blarney Castle, in the county of Cork, by whom he leaves, with two daughters, one son, now Sir George St. John Colthurst, sixth Baronet, formerly a Lieutenant in the 43rd Foot, and A.D.C. to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. The late Sir George Colthurst was a J.P. and D.L. for the county of Cork, served as High Sheriff in 1850, and sat in Parliament for Kingsale from 1863 to 1874.

SIR T. MYDDELTON BIDDULPH.

General the Right Hon. Sir Thomas Myddelton Biddulph, K.C.B., P.C., Keeper of her Majesty's Privy Purse, died on the 28th ult. The event has caused the Queen the profoundest grief. Sir Thomas had been for twenty-seven years one of her Majesty's most valuable and confidential servants. He was born 1809, the second son of Robert Biddulph, Esq., of Ledbury, in the county of Hereford, and Cofton Hall, in the county of Worcester, by Charlotte, his wife, daughter and eventual heiress of Richard Myddelton, Esq., M.P., of Chirk Castle, Lord Lieutenant of the county of Denbigh, representative of a distinguished branch of the old Welsh family of Myddelton of Gwaynenog. In 1826 he entered the 1st Life Guards, and in 1851, as Lieutenant-Colonel, went on half pay; he attained the rank of General in 1878. In 1851 he succeeded Sir George Bowles as Master of the Queen's Household and Extra Equerry to her Majesty. In 1866 he became joint Keeper of her Majesty's Privy Purse and Receiver-General of the Duchy of Cornwall, and in 1867 was appointed sole Keeper of the Privy Purse when the office was limited to one. For these long and valuable services he received the insignia of K.C.B. in 1863, and was sworn of the Privy Council in 1877. He married, Feb. 16, 1857, the Hon. Mary Frederica Seymour, the Maid of Honour, and now Hon. Bedchamber Woman to the Queen, and member of the Royal Order of Victoria and Albert (third class), only daughter of Frederick Charles Seymour, Esq., by Lady Mary Gordon, his first wife, third daughter of the ninth Marquis of Huntly.

JUDGE KEOGH.

Mr. Justice Keogh died on the 1st inst., at Bingen, on the Rhine, where he had been sojourning for the benefit of his impaired health. He was born in 1817, graduated at Trinity College, Dublin, entered Parliament for Athlone in 1847, became Solicitor-General for Ireland in 1853, Attorney-General in 1855, and in the following year was elevated to the judicial bench, where, during twenty-two years, he has acted as one of the justices of the Court of Common Pleas.

The deaths have also been announced of—

Lieutenant-Colonel Henry Yarburgh Gould, on the 22nd ult., at Windsor Cottage, Ringwood, Hants, aged seventy-two.

Mr. Thomas M'Donnell, Q.C., the father of the Irish Bar. He was called to the Bar in 1816, and received silk in 1837. He was a barrister sixty-two years.

Matilda, Mrs. Cairns, on the 26th ult., at her residence, 14, Elgin-road, Dublin, widow of the late William Cairns, Esq., formerly of Cultra, in the county of Down, aged eighty-six.

The Rev. T. Augustus Purdy, M.A., on the 26th ult., aged fifty-one, at his residence, 6, Plimsoll-street, East India-road, Poplar. He was formerly Chaplain of the London Hospital.

Charles Seager, M.A., Worcester College, Oxford, of Percy House, Brook-green, W., Professor of Hebrew at the Catholic University College, Kensington.

Henry Morris Kemshead, Esq., J.P. and D.L., formerly Chairman of the Middlesex Magistrates, on the 20th ult., at The Lodge, Westbourne-park, Paddington, aged eighty-six. He was long known as a City merchant, and held for nearly half a century a prominent position in the city of London.

Sir James Jell Chalk, Kt., F.S.A., on the 23rd ult., at 80, Warwick-square, aged seventy-five. He was second son o James Chalk, Esq., of Queenborough, Kent, by Mary, his wife, daughter of Edward Shove, Esq., J.P. He was called to the Bar at the Middle Temple in 1839, held the office of Secretary to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of England from 1850 to 1871, and was knighted in the last-named year.

William Henry Lee, Esq., late Clerk of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada, at his residence, Leeland-place, on the 11th ult., in the eightieth year of his age. The deceased entered the Government service as a clerk in the Executive Council Office of the late Province of Upper Canada in 1821 ; appointed senior clerk 1831, acting clerk of the Executive Council 1839 ; at the union of Upper and Lower Canada in 1841, assistant clerk of the Executive Council of the Province of Canada, and clerk of ditto, 1853. When the union of the B.N.A. Provinces took place in 1867 he was appointed Clerk of the Queen's Privy Council for the Dominion of Canada, and held that position until 1872, when he retired on his superannuation allowance. On his retirement the members of the Privy Council presented the deceased gentleman with a valuable silver urn, on which was engraved a suitable record of his public services. Mr. Lee married a daughter of the late Colonel the Hon. Samuel B. Smith, senior Executive Councillor of the late Province of Upper Canada, and some time Administrator of the Government, who survives him, together with two sons and three daughters.

The Duke of Cambridge yesterday week inspected the troops at Woolwich, and expressed his satisfaction with their appearance and training.

Mr. Gladstone, in acknowledging a copy of a book on the subject of the "Clergyman's Sore Throat," writes :—"When I have had very lengthened statements to make, I have used a glass of sherry beaten up with an egg. I think it excellent, but I have much more faith in the egg than in the alcohol. I never think of employing it unless on the rare occasions when I have expected to go much beyond an hour."

CHESS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All communications relating to this department of the Paper should be addressed to the Editor, and have the word "Chess" written on the envelope.

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE.—We note your correction of the first letter received from you.

J W S (Heytesbury).—Thanks for the information. We have pleasure in complying with your request.

OWLEY (Luton).—Blank chess diagrams can be obtained from W. W. Morgan, 67, Barbican, London.

W G (Whitby).—A little gem among chess problems. We should be glad to hear from you more frequently.

H F M (Mansfield, U.S.A.).—Your solution of No. 1801 is correct.

J F (Grimsby).—We are greatly obliged for the game played by Mr. Orchard, inclosed in your courteous letter.

B S (Bombay).—There is no Black King upon the diagram received from you.

St. J E (York).—The subscriptions to the tournament of 1851 amounted to £600.

A R G (Ventnor).—When the adverse King is alone on the board, mate cannot be forced by two Knights. The game is therefore drawn.

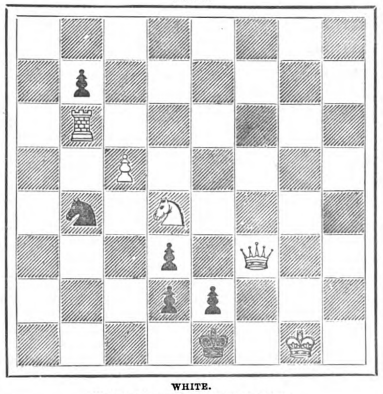
S. NEWCOMB (Washington, U.S.A.).—Your problem shall have early attention. Thanks.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1803 received from J S, W Leeson, E L G, and J G Kidd.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1804 received from Jane Nepven (Utrecht), Ned Nurca, Queen Beatrice (Ealing), J W W, J S, J G Kidd, J K, W M Curtis, Onno of Utrecht, Woodstock, A P Corrêa of Lisbon, E L G, and Emile Frau.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1805 received from Dr F St, B Phelan, Painter of Shepherd's-bush, Lulu, E P Vallamy, Norman Rumbelow, Alpha, J K, W Warren, H Brewster, R T K, S R of Leeds, C S Coxe, T Edgar, N B, C Danagh, T Greenbank, D Leslie, A Scot, Leonora and Leon, W Alston, St J E, P W S, G J G, C C Elmore, R Roughead, P Hampton, Dorothy, E Lewis, L of Truro, J B, W Franklin, S Theifall, T W Hope, L S D, Black Knight, Triton, J W Cooper, G Reeves, J Whiteley, S Western, E Esmonde, A R G, F L, Americaine, H Stansfield, N Powell, Mechanic, Tom, J S Wontone, E Esmonde, H Wilson, A Seaside Party, H L J (Mayfair), R Ingersoll, An Old Hand, W Lee, E Worsley, S Adams, W J S, M Thayer, L Sharswood, Leonard, E M (Darlington), B H Brooks, W S B, Jane Nepven (Utrecht), Guillaume, Franklin Institute, E G Davies, Eugene Peruzzi, Pretextat, Cojtapino, East Marden, Cant, W Leeson, J de Honsteyn, and P le Page.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1804.



WHITE.	BLACK.
1. P to K 6th	B takes P*
2. R (from B 2nd) to B 3rd	Any move
3. R mates.

* If the Bishop is played to any other square White continues with 2. B to B 5th, &c.

PROBLEM No. 1807.

By W. GRIMSHAW.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play, and mate in three moves.

CHESS IN HUNGARY.

A Game played at the Chess Club in Buda-Pesth between Herren S. SPITZER and J. UNGAR.—(Bishop's Gambit.)

WHITE (Herr S.)	BLACK (Herr U.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. P to K B 4th	P takes P
3. B to B 4th	Q to R 5th (ch)
4. K to B sq	Kt to K R 3rd
An unusual, if not altogether a novel move. It is probably designed, among other things, to prevent the Frazer attack, which, if now attempted, leads to an exchange of Queens—ex gr.:
5. P to K Kt 5th	P takes P
6. Q to B 3rd	P to Kt 7th (ch)
7. R takes P	Q to Kt 8th (ch), &c.
5. Kt to K B 3rd	Q to R 4th
6. P to Q 4th	P to K Kt 4th
7. Kt to Q B 3rd	P to Q B 3rd
8. P to K 5th	P to Q Kt 3rd
9. Kt to K 4th	B to K 2nd
10. Q to K sq	K to Q sq
11. P to Q 6th	P takes P
12. K B takes P	B to R 3rd (ch)
13. P to B 4th	Kt to Q B 3rd
14. P to Q Kt 3rd	Q R to B sq
15. B takes Kt	R takes B
16. Kt to Q 4th	R to K Kt 3rd
17. B to Kt 2nd	Kt to Kt 5th
18. Kt to K B 5th	R to K sq
19. R to Q sq	B to Kt 2nd
20. Q to Q 2nd	B to Q B 3rd
21. R to K sq	B takes Kt
22. R takes B	B to B 4th
23. B to Q 4th	Kt to B 3rd
24. B takes B

The attack up to this point presents many points of interest, but here White commits an error that proves to be irreparable.

WHITE (Herr S.)	BLACK (Herr U.)
24.	Kt takes R
25. Q to Q 5th	Q to K 7th (ch)

This coup disposes of the attack effectually enough, but if there is any danger to Black from capturing the Bishop with Kt, it is so remote that we are unable to discern it.

26. K takes Q	Kt to B 6th (ch)
27. K to Q 3rd	Kt takes Q
28. B to Q 6th	Kt to B 2nd
29. K to K 4th	P to B 3rd
30. Kt to Q 4th	P takes P
31. B takes Kt (ch)	K takes B
32. Kt to Kt 5th (ch)	K to Kt 2nd
33. R to Q sq	R to K 2nd
34. Kt to Q 6th (ch)	K to B 3rd
35. Kt to B 8th	R (from Kt 3rd) to K 3rd

Black, it may be assumed, is willing to concede the exchange, to simplify the game.

36. Kt takes P (ch)	K to Kt 2nd
37. Kt to Kt 5th	P to Kt 5th
38. Kt to Q 6th (ch)	K to B 3rd
39. Kt to B 5th	R to B 2nd
40. P to Kt 4th	P to R 4th
41. P to Q R 4th	P to Kt 6th
42. P to R 5th	P takes Q R P
43. P takes P (R5th)	P to Q 3rd
44. P takes P	P takes P
45. Kt takes P	R to B 5th (ch)
46. K to K 3rd	R takes P
47. Kt takes P	R to K Kt 3rd
48. R to Q Kt sq	K to B 4th, and White resigned.

CHESS IN LONDON.

The following amusing little Game was played recently between Dr. BALLARD and another Amateur.—(King's Gambit declined.)

WHITE (Dr. B.)	BLACK (Mr. A.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. P to K B 4th	B to B 4th
3. Kt to K B 3rd	P to Q 3rd
4. B to B 4th	Kt to Q B 3rd
5. Kt to Q B 3rd

This move is now more frequently adopted by good players than 5. P to Q B 3rd, which is given in the books.

5.	B to K Kt 5th
6. R to B sq

6. R to Q Kt 4th preventing the hostile Kt being played to Q 5th seems a safer line of play.

6.	Kt to Q 5th
7. P takes P	P takes P

WHITE (Dr. B.)	BLACK (Mr. A.)
He should, of course, have taken off the Kt with the Bishop at once.
8. B takes P (ch)	K to B sq
9. Kt takes Kt

The coup juste. The proffered Queen, if accepted, should turn out a "Greek gift."

9.	P takes Kt
10. Q takes B	Kt to K B 3rd
11. Q to B 5th	K takes B
12. Kt to Q 5th	R to K sq
13. P to Q 3rd	R to K 3rd

His best move here is 13. B to K 2nd; although even that move would not save the game.

14. Kt takes Kt, and wins.

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

Everyone interested in the practice of chess by correspondence will be glad to learn that there exists an association designed to promote that phase of the gentle game. The rules of the Albion Corresponding Chess Club require that each member shall pay an annual subscription of one shilling, and the pairing of competitors is arranged by the honorary secretary, Mr. J. W. Snelgrove, Channel-end, Heytesbury. The competition tourney of the club will be begun on Nov. 12.

The following paragraph appeared in a recent issue of the Town and Country Journal of Sydney under the title of "Chess Dreams" :—"We came across a curious work the other day, which professes to explain the signification of dreams—'the children of an idle brain.' Under the head of 'Chess,' we find the following inspiration :—'If any one dreams that he plays at chess with an acquaintance, it is a sign that he will fall out with somebody he knows ; and if he imagines in his dream he wins, he shall be over his enemies ; and, on the contrary, if he dream that he loses, he will be overcome and worsted in the combat.'" We are curious to know whether this interpreter of dreams was a Prophet or a Martyr.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated Aug. 14, 1878) of Mr. George Payne, late of No. 16, Queen-street, May-fair, who died on the 2nd ult., was proved on the 21st ult. by Charles Snell Paris, the sole executor, the personal estate being sworn under £25,000. The testator, in giving his plate, furniture, and other personal effects to his sister, Lady Elizabeth Martha Goodricke, goes on to say :—"From this bequest I except a magnificent present made to me by the farmers of Northamptonshire, and which I order may never be sold ; and if Lord Spencer would allow it a place at Althorp, making any use he pleases of it there (except selling it), where it would be in the old county in which I passed all the happiest days of my life, I should esteem it a great favour and an act of kindness on his part ; in the event of his allowing this request, I give the said testimonial or present to him and his heirs, with this stipulation, that it is never to be sold." All his money in the Consols is left to his said sister for life, and then for his nieces, her three daughters, Laura, Carolina, and Harriet ; to his executor he leaves £200 ; upon trust for Mrs. Simmonds, and afterwards for her son George, £1000 ; to his cook Annie, £20 ; and all his personal wearing apparel to his valet. The residue of his property, including his half of the Glasgow stud, goes to his sister, the said Lady Elizabeth Martha Goodricke.

The will (dated Nov. 21, 1877) of Mr. Henry Buckworth Powell Montgomery, late of Wilverley Park, Lyndhurst, Hants, who died on June 24 last, has been proved at the Winchester district registry by Dame Laura Emmeline Dickson, the widow, and William Martin Powell, the brother, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £60,000. The testator bequeaths to his wife £500, and his carriages, horses, furniture, linen, and china ; and legacies to relatives and servants The mansion house, park, and grounds, Wilverley Park, and all other his real estate, the testator devises to the use of his wife for life, if she so long continue his widow, with remainder to the first and other sons of his brother William Martin Powell successively, according to seniority ; his copyhold and leasehold property, and the residue of the personalty, are settled upon similar trusts. All persons, except his wife, becoming entitled in possession and not bearing the name of Powell are to take that name. His diamonds, plate, pictures, statuary, books, and articles of virtù are made heirlooms, so as to go with the settled property

The will (dated April 3, 1869) with two codicils (dated Jan. 15 and Aug. 8, 1870) of Mr. John William Egerton Green, late of Colchester, Essex, who died on June 1 last, was proved on the 12th ult. by Henry Egerton Green and Horace George Egerton Green, the sons, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £60,000. The testator devises his freehold property at Ardleigh, Essex, to his said son Henry, charged with the payment of £4000 to each of his sons the Rev. Vernon Thomas Green and Cecil Egerton Green ; he also gives to his two last-named sons further legacies of £500 each ; his capital in the Colchester Bank he leaves equally between his sons Henry Egerton Green and Horace George Egerton Green ; in addition he bequeaths £1000 to his son Henry and £500 to Horace. There are some other bequests, and the esidue he leaves to his said sons Henry and Horace.

The will (dated Oct. 27, 1877) with a codicil (dated June 6, 1878) of Mr. Thomas Knight, late of Finchley Villa, Lewisham, who died on Aug. 27 last, was proved on the 14th ult. by Octavius Chapman Tryon Eagleton, Alfred Smart, and James Arthur Tapley, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £25,000. The testator bequeaths £100 each to the Earlswood Idiot Asylum, Redhill, the London Master Bakers' Pension Society, the Royal Hospital for Incurables, the British and Foreign Bible Society, the Religious Tract Society, the London Church Missionary Society, and the Royal Kent Dispensary ; and £100 to the Rector and churchwardens of the parish of Gravesend, upon trust, to invest the same during the life of H.R.H. Prince Albert Victor of Wales and twenty-one years after, and to apply the dividends in keeping in repair his family grave, and the remainder, if any, in the purchase of bread to be given to the poor of the said parish in each year at Christmas.

The will (dated July 19, 1878) of Mr. John Ritchie Cartwright, late of No. 62, Grosvenor-street, and of No. 50, Oxford-road, Kilburn, who died on Aug. 5 last, was proved on the 17th ult. by Francis Machell Cartwright, the brother, and Robert Pirie Shiell, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £14,000.

The will (dated June 25, 1864) of Major-General George Alexander Oakes, C.B., who died on Aug. 22 last, was proved on the 13th inst. by Richard Francis Oakes, the brother, the surviving executor, the personal estate being sworn under £10,000.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Familiar Wild Flowers. By F. E. Hulme, F.L.S., F.S.A. First Series. Coloured Plates. (Cassell and Co.)

The Sight, and How to Preserve it. By H. C. Angell, M.D. (Hardwicke and Bogue.)

Proceedings of the Musical Association. Fourth Session, 1877-8. (Lucas Weber and Co., 84, New Bond-street.)

The Europeans. A Sketch. By Henry James, jun. 2 vols. (Macmillan.)

Cookery for the Artisan and Others. By M. Smithard. (Chapman and Hall.)

Nelson. A Play. By Emilio Aylmer Blake. (Chapman and Hall.)

Truths about Whisky. (Sutton, Sharpe, and Co., Queen Victoria-street.)

A Life's Hazard ; or, The Outlaw of Wentworth Waste. By Henry Esmond. 3 vols. (Sampson Low and Co.)

The Tragedy of Hamlet, according to the First Folio. By Allan Park Paton. (Edmonston and Co., Edinburgh.)

Plevna, The Sultan, and The Porte. Reminiscences of the War in Turkey. By J. Drew Gay, Commander of the Osmanie. (Chatto and Windus.)

The Six Chief Lives, from Johnson's "Lives of the Poets," with Macaulay's "Life of Johnson." Edited by Matthew Arnold. (Macmillan and Co.)

The Advantages of Glengarrif as a Winter Health Resort and Sanatorium. With Description and Maps of the Lakes of Killarney, &c. (J. Bush.)

The Sea : Its Stirring Story of Adventure, Peril, and Heroism. By F. Whymper. Illustrated. (Cassell and Co.)

The Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, from Judy's Point of View, as Shown by the Cartoons during the last Ten Years. ("Judy" Office.)

Humanity and The Man. A Poem. By Wm. Sharpe, M.D., Q.U.I. (Simpkin, Marshall, and Co.)

The Thirty-Nine Articles of the Church of England. A Historical and Speculative Exposition. By the Rev. Joseph Miller, B.D., Curate of Holy Trinity, Darwen. Vol. I. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

Tracts on the Greek Language. Nos. 6 and 7. By Frederick Parker. (Simpkin, Marshall, and Co.)

Land Ahead. A Novel. By C. Grant. 3 vols. (Chapman and Hall.)

Travels of Dr. and Madame Helfer in Syria, Mesopotamia, Burmah, and Other Lands. Narrated by Pauline, Countess Nostitz (formerly Madame Helfer), and rendered into English by Mrs. George Sturge. 2 vols. (Bentley and Son.)

Hibernia Venatica. By M. O'Connor Morris. With Photographs. (Chapman and Hall.)

Prince Bismarck's Letters ; to his Wife, his Sister, and Others. From 1844 to 1870. Translated by Fitz Maxse. (Chapman and Hall.)

Sporting Sketches : with Pen and Pencil. By Francis Francis and A. W. Cooper. (The Field Office, 346, Strand.)

History of the Corporation of Birmingham ; with a Sketch of the Earlier Government of the Town. By John Thackeray Bunce, F.S.S. Vol. I. Cornish Brothers, 37, New-street, Birmingham.)

Hunted Down ; or, Recollections of a City Detective. By James M'Govan. (Simpkin, Marshall, and Co.)

About Some Fellows ; or, Odds and Ends from my Note-Book. By an Eton Boy. (Sampson Low and Co.)

Auld Lang Syne. 2 vols. By the Author of "The Wreck of the Grosvenor." (Sampson Low and Co.)

Our Lady of Tears. A Novel. By Leith Derwent. 3 vols. (Chatto and Co.)

SPECIAL NOTICE.—CURTAINS. OETZMANN and CO. beg to announce that they have now received all their New Designs in CURTAINS and CURTAIN MATERIALS, British and Foreign, of every description; some of the designs are very artistic. An early inspection is solicited.—OETZMANN and CO., Complete House Furnishers, 77 to 79, Hampstead-road, near Tottenham-court-road.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to their extensive Show-Rooms and Galleries,
EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparison of price and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to country customers in delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and fixing in position by competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

THE SANDRINGHAM EASY-CHAIR, full size, upholstered very soft and comfortable, suitable for any room, price 25s.; Lady's ditto, smaller size, 21s.; also the Sandringham Couch, upholstered very soft and comfortable, Sandringham Couch to furnish should see these three 2 guinea. Everyone about to furnish should see these marvels of excellence and economy. Packed free and dispatched same day on receipt of order per post.—OETZMANN and CO.

ANGLO-TURKEY CARPETS. OETZMANN and CO.—These superior Carpets, of which Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. have the exclusive sale, are of first-class British manufacture, have all the style and appearance of real Turkey Carpets, at little more than the price of good Brussels, and are very durable. Price-List, post-free, on application. The "Art Journal" says:—Messrs. Oetzmann have made a better article than the Indians, Persians, and Turks, and at less than half the cost, without sacrificing aught of the grace of design and harmony of colours." For the convenience of those residing at a distance, a large piece, showing the border and centre of Carpet, sent on receipt of 5s., which will be deducted from price of Carpet or refunded upon return of pattern; or by sending 10s. three pieces—viz., Anglo-Turkey, Anglo-Persian, and Anglo-Indian—will be sent on the same terms. Hearth Rugs to match, 6ft. long by 2 ft. 8in. wide, £1 8s. 6d. A large stock of real Turkey Carpets at reduced prices.—OETZMANN and CO.

BOMBAY STRIPED CURTAINS.—The cheapest CURTAINS extant, effective style, 3 yards long by 46in. wide, 9s. 9d. per pair; 3½ yards, 11s. 9d.; 4 yards, 13s. 9d. Patterns on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

FURNISHING IRONMONGERY DEPARTMENT.—Superior Electro-Plate Tea and Coffee Pots, Spoons, Forks, Cruets, Liqueurs, Tea Trays, best wax Tapers, Table Cutlery, handsome Coal Vases, from 3s. 11d. upwards; Dish Covers, Japanned Toilet Sets, full size baths, pail, and can, various neat designs in colours, 3s. 11d. per set. Kitchen Ironmongery of every description. Mats, Matting, Brooms, Brushes, Pails, &c. Bronze Umbrella Stands, from 3s. 6d. Table Lamps, complete, good style, 3s. 11d.—OETZMANN and CO.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT. OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the selection to the firm, may rely upon a faithful attention to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally superintended by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 367 in Catalogue, sent free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

NOTICE.—SPOONS and FORKS, in SILVER and in ELECTRO-PLATE. ELKINGTON and CO., as the result of important improvements in the above manufactures, are able to offer their guaranteed qualities at such prices as, while fully maintaining their acknowledged superiority, place them within the reach of all classes. Revised Illustrated Price-Lists free by post on application. Purchasers of Silver Spoons and Forks obtain the advantage of any fluctuations in the silver market.
Address—ELKINGTON and CO., 22, Regent-street, London, or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unrivalled in price. Dinner Services from £3 3s. the Set for twelve persons, complete, with 15 per cent discount for cash on or before delivery. Table Glass Services from £3 5s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons complete.

DINNER SERVICES.

Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Blue and White.			In Green and Gold.
The Lansdowne	£3 3 0	The Lansdowne	£3 3 0
The Laurel	3 13 6	The Indiana	4 4 0
		The Danish	5 5 0

Discount 15 per cent.

In Enamelled Patterns.		In their unequalled Crown Ware.
The One Thousand and Two (A)	£5 5 0	In Ruby	£5 5 0
The Japanese Bamboo	6 6 0	In Pink	5 5 0
The Humming-Bird	7 7 0	In Black	5 5 0
The Sèvres	8 8 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES

Plain light stem glass	£3 5 6	Light engraved glass	£5 15 6
Richly cut glass	5 5 0	Richly engraved glass	5 19 6

Discount 15 per cent.

Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, sent post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Mediæval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every article made with plain screws. D. HULETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES. In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK. A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION, by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinions of Press. Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

MR. STREETER,
18, NEW BOND-STREET, W.
GOLDSMITH AND JEWELLER.
The only Jeweller in England whose Stock consists of one uniform standard quality—viz., 18 carats.
LONDON-MADE JEWELLERY
of Exquisite Design and Workmanship.
DIAMOND ORNAMENTS
in great variety, at prices relative to their intrinsic value.
SPECIALITIES IN BRIDESMAIDS' LOCKETS, WEDDING PRESENTS, &c.
THE "TALISMAN" BRACELET
(Patented) a Novelty for the Season from £5.

PIANO, £35 (Civil Service cash price) Trichord Drawing-Room Model, repetition action, grand rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with elaborately carved and fretwork front to and cabriole truss legs. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square.

BROADWOOD and COLLARD COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, fullest compass of Seven Octaves. Two beautiful instruments, of rich and full tone, in the choicest Italian walnut-wood, nearly new. To be SOLD at unusually low prices. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street.

TWENTY-POUND SCHOOL-ROOM PIANO (Co-operative price for cash). Seven octaves, strong, sound, and substantial. Adapted for hard practice. Packed free. Illustrated Book of Designs gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

EBONY and GOLD PIANOS, 25 guineas, 35 guineas, and 45 guineas.—These charming and elegant Pianos, with ormolu embellishments, repetition action, and every recent improvement, may now be obtained at the above low prices for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, at 1 guinea per month. The new Illustrated Catalogue gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

P. J. SMITH AND SONS'
IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS.
"The best and most substantial instrument produced."
2, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

MAPLE and CO.,
TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.

MAPLE and CO. supply every requisite for HOUSE FURNISHING, including Linens, Ironmongery, Glass, Crockeryware, Clocks, Bronzes, and every description of Ornaments, at Prices for dining or drawing room, or for Christmas and Wedding Presents, in separate departments.

MAPLE and CO., the largest and most convenient FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT in the world. A House of any magnitude Furnished from stock in three days. Purchasers should inspect the Stock before deciding elsewhere. All goods marked in plain figures. Estab. 35 years. An Illustrated Catalogue post-free.

MAPLE and CO., Importers.
TURKEY CARPETS,
INDIAN CARPETS,
PERSIAN CARPETS.

OVER 2000 DAGHESTAN and SOWRNACK CARPETS, also 500 Turkey Carpets, of extra fine quality and at marvellously low prices, just received from Constantinople. These Goods have been bought by Agents especially dispatched by Messrs. MAPLE and CO. for cash, are of great rarity, some being very handsome old prayer rugs, which have been made over a hundred years. The prices are wonderfully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these curiosities.—165, 166, 167, Tottenham-court-road, London.

PATTERNS FREE.
BLACK SILKS,
manufactured by Bonnet, of Lyons,
Messrs. JAY beg to inform their Patrons
and the Public generally that they are now selling the well-known
Pure Light-Dyed Silks
at a reduction of from 33 to 50 per cent off prices that were charged previous to the depression in the Lyons Silk Market.

Present price, 3s. 11d.; former price, 5s. 3d.
"	5s. 6d.;	"	8s. 9d.
"	6s. 11d.;	"	9s. 6d.
"	6s. 9d.;	"	10s. 6d.

Messrs. JAY are also selling Jaubert's good wearing Black SILKS, at the following prices:—

Present price, 3s. 9d.; former price, 5s. 6d.
"	4s. 6d.;	"	6s. 3d.
"	5s. 3d.;	"	7s. 6d.
"	6s. 3d.	"	8s. 3d.

"BLACK SATINS, all pure silk, 22 inches wide, from 5s. 3d. per yard.
JAYS', Regent-street.

TRAVELLING ASSISTANTS.
MESSRS. JAY have a Staff of Assistants, specially engaged to wait upon Ladies at their homes, either in town or country, and to forward Goods for inspection, all of which are marked in plain figures, and sold at the same price as if purchased at the warehouse in Regent-street.
JAYS',
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
REGENT-STREET, W.

SWAN and EDGAR
are now showing
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT
of
AUTUMN NOVELTIES,
Silks, Mantles, Costumes,
and Sealskin Paletots.

SWAN and EDGAR,
PICCADILLY and REGENT-STREET
London.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS at SUMMER PRICES.

33 inches,	36 inches,	40 inches,	45 inches,
12 gns.	13 gns.	16 gns.	18 gns.

These Paletots, manufactured from first-class skins only, can be sent on approval to any part of the country by giving a reference, and sending the following measurements:—Width of back between shoulders, across chest, round waist, length of Paletot.

WAYRE'S FUR-LINED CLOAKS, 3 gns. Summer price. French Cashmere, Real Squirrel Linings, 50 inches long.

WAYRE'S SKUNK PALETOT SETS complete, 4 gns. Summer price. Length of fronts, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 11 in. Dark natural colour.

WAYRE'S REAL SABLE-TAIL PALETOT SETS complete, 20 gns. Summer price. Natural colour. Length of front, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 9 in.

WAYRE'S REAL MARTEN-TAIL PALETOT SETS complete, 8 gns. Summer price. Dark natural colour. Length of front, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 12 in.

WAYRE, FUR MANUFACTURER, Importer of Foreign Skins direct, 95, Oxford-street, and 332, Oxford-street (corner of Regent-circus). Furs of every description sent for selection to all parts of the Kingdom. Ladies' own Seal Jackets re-dyed, re-lined, repaired, altered, and lengthened to present fashion.

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 37, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application

INDIGESTION.
It is conclusively ascertained that LACTOPEPTINE will bring about the Digestion of Food in a manner perfectly identical to that obtained under the influence of the natural gastric juice. "A glance at the Formula of LACTOPEPTINE would convince even the most sceptical of the valuable results that must ensue through its administration. Composed of ptyalin, pepsine, pancreatine, hydrochloric and lactic acids, it is a combination of all the digestive agents; consequently, can never be administered without giving the utmost satisfaction; for if there is a deficiency in the system of all or any of these agents, LACTOPEPTINE will supply it, and thus assist in digesting the food, enabling the organs that produce these principles of digestion to rest and recuperate their relaxed energies."—From "Practical Medicine and Surgery," July, 1877. LACTOPEPTINE being presented in saccharated form, is most agreeable to the taste, and can be administered even to the youngest child. The price of the LACTOPEPTINE is 4s. 6d. per one oz. bottle. (An ounce bottle contains forty-eight ten-grain doses.) If any difficulty is experienced in obtaining LACTOPEPTINE from your Chemist, communicate direct, sending P.O.O. for 4s. 6d. Address—GARNRICK, KIDDER, and CO., Gt. Russell-st., corner of Charlotte-st., London, W.C. Pamphlet to any address.

THROAT AFFECTIONS and HOARSENESS.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges are now sold by respectable Chemists in this country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box. People troubled with a hacking cough, a slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as stifled troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections.—Depôt, 493, Oxford-street, London.

COLDS CURED BY
DR. DUNBAR'S ALKARAM, or Anti-Catarrh Smelling-Bottle.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
IF inhaled on the first symptoms, ALKARAM will at once arrest them, and cure severe cases in half an hour. Sold by all Chemists, 2s. 9d. a Bottle. Address, Dr. Dunbar, care of Messrs. P. Newbery and Sons, 37, Newgate-street.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM, NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative power of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free for three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT, 194, REGENT-STREET, LONDON, W. AND 39 RUE ST. MARC, PARIS.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. P. Pratt, Surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet:"—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Times":—"Lozenges can thoroughly recommended."
G. R. C. Thorne, Ph. D.:—"LAXORA Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s. 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 82, South-wark-street.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT. The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. The Ointment is unrivalled in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

CORPULENCE.—YATE HOLLAND'S POWDERS (or Pills) speedily and safely absorbs superfluous fat and reduce corpulency, however long standing. Price 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. per Box.—MARTIN and CO., 3, Paradise-road, London, S.W.; or through any Chemist.

TOOTH-ACHE.
INSTANT CURE.
FORMS A STOPPING.
SAVES THE TOOTH.
J. Hounsell, Esq., Surgeon, Bridport, writes:—"I consider BUNTER'S NERVINE a specific for Toothache. Very severe cases under my care have found instantaneous and permanent relief."
Of all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. per Packet.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent by any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP.
For Toilet, Nursery, and Shaving.
Recommended in the "Journal of Cutaneous Medicine."
By the Editor, Mr.

ERASMUS WILSON, F.R.S.,
"As the most refreshing and Agreeable balm for the Skin,"
Pure, Transparent, and Durable.

A HEALTHY SKIN and GOOD COMPLEXION.
PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP, recommended by the Homœopathic Pharmaceutical Society as "The purest and best Toilet Soap made."

REDNESS, ROUGHNESS, and CHAPPING PREVENTED.
PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP.
Eighty years approved by the Public.
A specialty for Sensitive Skins.

SHAVING, TOILET, and NURSERY. PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP.
Always used by the Royal Family.
Sold by all Chemists.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE COMPLEXION, Making the skin clear, smooth, and lustrous.
WRIGHT'S COAL-TAR SOAP (SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS).
Highly and extensively recommended for the toilet and in all cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. Startin, M.R.C.S., Surgeon to St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, the late Mr. James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Saville-row. Mr. McCall Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodside-crescent, Glasgow, and the other leading members of the profession. In Tablets, 6d. and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of all Chemists.
W. V. WRIGHT and CO. London.

CAUTION.—The MACASSAR OIL for nourishing the hair, and ODONTO for whitening the teeth, prepared by A. ROWLAND and SONS, of 20, Hatton-garden, London, are the only genuine articles sold under these or similar names. Avoid cheap imitations

EPPS'S COCOA.
GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
JAMES EPPS AND CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

THE "Civil Service Gazette" says:—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly-nourished frame."

THE "Naval and Military Gazette" says:—"The nutritive qualities of cocoa over either those of tea or coffee are now so generally acknowledged that the steady increase shown by official statistics in its consumption during recent years ceases to be a matter of surprise. One of the first firms to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our breakfast-table was Messrs. Epps and Co., whose name, since 1839, has been so continuously before the public, and whose Homœopathic Cocoa is as familiar in our homes as the proverbial household words. Those whose business it has been to watch at Messrs. Epps's works the elaborate and complex processes, and to note the care and labour bestowed before the crude cocoa bean is considered ready for consumption, cannot but admit that the popularity Messrs. Epps's productions have secured is fully deserved. The vastness of those works may be imagined when it is stated that four millions of pounds of prepared cocoa alone are prepared there yearly. The reputation gained, now many years since, for Mr. James Epps's preparation, both for its purity and its value as a dietetic, has not more than maintained. A constant increasing demand fully testifies to this—which must be as gratifying to Messrs. Epps as it is certainly flattering to the good faith they have kept with the public to secure so gratifying a result."

"All the Year Round" says:—"Having now disposed of fancy chocolate, let us stroll to the Euston-road, hard by the Regent's Park, to prepare cocoa manufactory, where may be studied the making of cocoa on a stupendous scale, giving a just idea of the value of these articles, not as luxuries, but as actual food."

THE "Court Journal" says:—"In a climate so varying and trying as our own, to maintain sound and uniform health, our daily diet cannot be too carefully and attentively studied. Advancing science and recent discoveries have within the last few years been instrumental in adding several most valuable additions to our comparatively short list of dietetic foods. Foremost among these should be ranged cocoa, which, although known here several centuries previously, only came into general use within the last forty years. One of the first to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our table was Mr. James Epps, whose 'Prepared Cocoa' has gained such just repute for its excellent and nutritious character. Prepared originally on homœopathic principles, in a soluble and convenient form, and easy of digestion, it met a public demand, speedily became popular, until now Messrs. Epps produce over four millions of pounds of their cocoa a year, and their manufactory is the largest of its kind in this country."

"Cassell's Household Guide" says:—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston-road, London."

THE "Morning Advertiser" says:—"In the middle of the seventeenth century an announcement appeared in one of the few journals of that period, to the effect that 'out of Bishopsgate-street, at a Frenchman's house, is an excellent West India drink, called chocolate, to be sold at reasonable rates.' This is the first record we have of the introduction of cocoa into England. For a time it flourished as a fashionable drink, and then, like all fashions, subsided. Nearly two centuries after, in 1825, the duties, which had been almost prohibitive, were greatly reduced, and one of the first to take advantage of re-establishing the popularity of cocoa was Messrs. James Epps and Co., the Homœopathic Chemists. Under the name of 'Prepared Cocoa,' they introduced a soluble and convenient preparation, which required no boiling, and was palatable and highly nutritious. It met a public want, specially became popular, and yearly has increased in demand, till the consumption now exceeds four millions of pounds yearly."

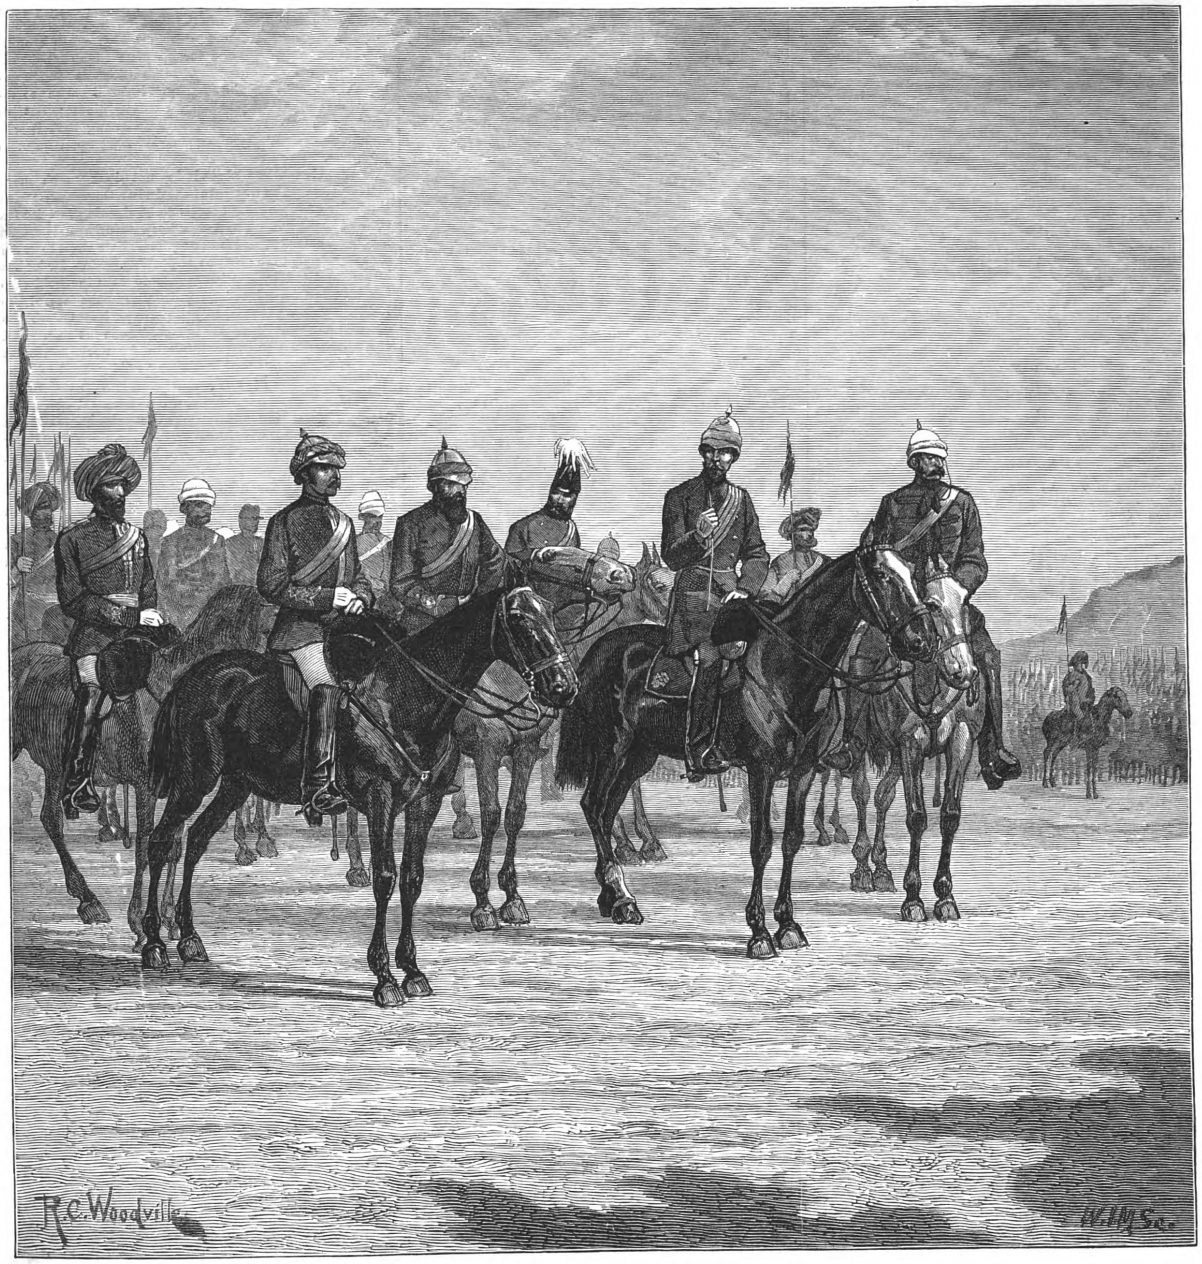
THE "Christian World" says:—"'If I am to take cocoa,' said I, 'I must know what it is made of; I must examine the process; I must dive into the mystery of its manufacture; I must see and judge for myself what are the ingredients of which it is composed.' With this view I made my way to the manufactory of James Epps and Co., in the Euston-road.'"

"John Bull" says:—"In no branches of industry are recent scientific and chemical discoveries more generally applied than in those upon which our food supply is so largely dependent. The increase of the last generation have in many cases become the daily necessaries of the present. A forcible illustration of this is to be found in the enormous increase in the consumption of cocoa year by year—in exact proportion to the increased facilities for its manufacture. An idea of the vast extent of this industry may be gained from the fact that one firm alone—that of Messrs. Epps and Co.—now sell over four millions of pounds annually. The 'Homœopathic Cocoa' of Messrs. Epps has, during the many years it has been before the public, gained great and just repute, which its excellent quality and careful preparation certainly entitle it to. A cocoa in soluble form, and combining what are technically known as 'flesh-forming' and 'heat-giving' properties, is clearly an invaluable addition to our scanty list of dietetic foods. Such Messrs. Epps claim for their prepared cocoas, and such analysts and—most valuable of all—experience has proved it to be."

THE "Church Review" says:—"Although we cannot yet boast of a free breakfast-table, still the active legislation in favour of that object during the last half century leaves us much to be thankful for. A striking instance of the general good resulting from the removal of heavy imposts upon our food supply is afforded by the marvellous increase in the consumption of cocoa since 1833, up to which period an almost prohibitive duty was levied. In 1830 the total amount consumed in this country was less than half a million pounds yearly. At the present time one firm alone, that of Messrs. James Epps and Co., the Homœopathic Chemists, sell annually four million pounds."

THE "Civilian" says:—"In the seventeenth century, before either tea or coffee had found their way into the English markets, chocolate was a favourite beverage with the luxurious classes at that period; it then fetched an almost fabulous price per pound. To-day, when modern science and enterprise have placed it within the reach of every class, cocoa is not only still regarded as a palatable and refreshing drink, but is valued for its nutritive and dietetic qualities. One of the first, we believe, who may be credited with introducing cocoa in its present form is Mr. James Epps. Prepared on sound dietetic principles, Epps's Homœopathic cocoa contains all the nutritive properties of the native product in such a form that they are rendered thoroughly soluble, and, therefore, much more easy of digestion. The natural superabundance of fat present in raw cocoa is, moreover, not only counteracted, but made to serve one of the most essential functions of sound diet. Messrs. Epps's works are now, perhaps, the largest in the country, the cocoa produced there amounting to many million pounds a year."

"Land and Water" says:—"Through the kindness of Messrs. Epps, I recently had an opportunity of seeing the many complicated and varied processes the cacao bean passes through ere it is sold for public use, and being interested and highly pleased with what I saw during the visit to the manufactory, I thought a brief account of the cacao and the way it is manufactured by Messrs. Epps to fit it for a wholesome and nutritious beverage, might be likewise of interest to the readers of 'Land and Water.'"



EPPS'S COCOA.
GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
JAMES EPPS AND CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1878.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2050.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS } SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½d.

BRITISH OFFICERS AT PESHAWUR.—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

BIRTHS.

On the 19th ult., at 3, Kenilworth-road, St. Leonards-on-Sea, the wife of W. Sharpley, of a daughter.

On the 3rd inst., at Edinburgh, Lady Gibson Craig, of a son.

On the 8th inst., at Glebe Field House, Stoke Newington, the wife of Francis Arthur Suffaly, of a daughter.

On July 20, 1878, at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, the wife of Charles H. Humming, of a son.

On the 4th inst., at Heaths Court, Ottery St. Mary, the Hon. Mrs. Coleridge, of a daughter.

On the 2nd inst., at Terling Place, the Lady Rayleigh, of a son.

On the 28th ult., Jane B. (née Cooke), wife of William White, F.S.A., (28A, Wimpole-street), Lyndon Lodge, Hanwell, W., of a son. All well.

MARRIAGES.

On the 8th inst., at St. Peter's, Eaton-square, Frederick William, youngest son of Colonel G. A. Maude, C.B., to Ellen Maud, only daughter of Sir John Kelk, Bart., of Bentley Priory, Stanmore.

On the 5th inst., at St. George's, Hanover-square, C. W. Howell, Esq., to Sarah, widow of the late Robert Keays, Puisne Judge of the Chief Court, Bombay.

On the 8th inst., at Branstone, Walter Hugh Earle Welby, Rector of Harsten, second surviving son of the late Sir G. E. Welby-Gregory, Bart., to Florence Laura, eldest daughter of the Rev. G. Sloane Stanley, Rector of Branstone, near Grantham.

DEATHS.

On June 25, at Bondebosch, Cape Town, Jessy Worsley, wife of S. J. Brodribb, Cape Civil Service, aged 25 years.

On the 3rd inst., at St. John's Park, Ryde, Sir R. Sutton, Bart., in his 87th year.

On the 5th inst., at Southsea, Annie Charlotte, wife of Captain F. Warren, R.N., daughter of the late Sir H. Blackwood, Bart.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCT. 19.

SUNDAY, Oct. 13.

Seventeenth Sunday after Trinity.
Morning Lessons: Jer. v., Coloss. ii.
S. Evening Lessons: Jer. xxii. or xxxv, Luke xi. 1 to 29.
Whitehall, 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., Rev. W. F. Erskine Knollys.
St. Paul's Cathedral, 10.30 a.m., Rev. Prebendary Row; 3.15 p.m., Bishop Claughton; 7 p.m., the Archdeacon of Middlesex, Ven. Dr. J. A. Hessey.
Savoy, 11.30 a.m., Rev. Dr. William Baker, Head Master of Merchant Taylors' School; 7 p.m., Rev. Edwin Price, Minor Canon of Westminster.

MONDAY, Oct. 14.

Royal Masonic Institution for Boys: Quarterly General Court and Elections, Freemasons' Tavern, noon.
British Dairy Farmers' Association: Exhibition at Agricultural Hall (last day).
Royal Albert Hall and Horticultural Gardens: beginning of Monday Organ Recitals, 3 p.m.

TUESDAY, Oct. 15.

Prince Alfred of Edinburgh born, 1874.
Norwich Musical Festival.
Humane Society, committee, 4 p.m.
Horticultural Society, fruit and floral committee, 11 a.m.; scientific, 1 p.m.; general meeting, 3 p.m.
Gresham Lectures (four days), 6 p.m. (Mr T. F. Dallin on Rhetoric).
Pathological Society, 8.30 p.m.
Races: Croydon, Newcastle Autumn Meeting.
Crystal Palace, Tenth National Cat Show (three days).
South Kensington Museum, 8 p.m. (Dr. G. G. Zerffi on the Historical Development of Ornamental Art).

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 16.

Warehousemen and Clerks' School, Croydon, new wing to be opened by Princess Louise.
King's College, 6 p.m. (Mr. G. C. Warr on Ancient History—Greece).
London Dialectical Society, Langham Hall, 8 p.m. (Mr. W. C. Coupland on the Principle of Individual Liberty: how far applicable to the Relations of the Sexes).

THURSDAY, Oct. 17.

The Duchess of Edinburgh born, 1853.
Fox-Hunting begins.
Royal Toxophilite Society (extra target).
College of Preceptors, 7 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Fitch on Practical Teaching—Discipline).
Sandown Park Races.

FRIDAY, Oct. 18.

St. Luke the Evangelist.
Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, 2 p.m.
City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy—the Causes of Production).

SATURDAY, Oct. 19.

Moon's last quarter, 7.10 p.m.
St. George's Hospital founded, 1733.

THE WEATHER.

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51° 28′ 6″ N.; Long. 0° 19′ 47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

DAY.	DAILY MEANS OF Barometer Reduced.	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	THERMOM. Maximum, read at 10 p.m.	Minimum, read at 10 p.m.	WIND. General Direction.	Movement in Miles, read at 10 a.m. next morning.	Rain in 24 hours, ending 10 a.m. next morning.
	Inches.	°	°	°	0-10	°	°		Miles.	In.
October 2	30·264	50·0	46·2	·88	5	61·3	40·8	NE. S.	109	0·000
3	30·164	54·0	48·6	·83	3	65·7	44·8	S. SW.	63	0·010
4	30·110	54·4	46·7	·77	7	64·1	43·8	SW. S.	111	0·000
5	30·037	58·2	53·7	·86	4	70·6	46·2	S.	97	0·000
6	29·728	60·8	58·0	·91	—	68·7	53·9	SE. S.	189	0·075
7	29·498	60·6	52·2	·78	6	64·3	57·9	SSW. S. SSE.	345	0·045
8	29·427	59·4	51·8	·77	5	64·3	55·9	S. SSW. SW.	373	0·000

* Dew.

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in inches) corrected ..	30·302	30·201	30·160	30·104	29·733	29·519	29·382
Temperature of Air	47·7°	55·2°	57·8°	61·6°	63·0°	61·1°	60·9°
Temperature of Evaporation ..	46·9°	54·1°	52·8°	58·9°	59·9°	57·3°	57·3°
Direction of Wind	NE.	S.	SSW.	S.	S.	SW.	SW.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE

FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCTOBER 19.

Sunday.		Monday.		Tuesday.		Wednesday.		Thursday.		Friday.		Saturday.
M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A
h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m
2 47	3 0	3 15	3 30	3 45	4 0	4 15	4 32	4 50	5 8	5 30	5 53	6 20	6 51

THE TWO ORPHANS, with all the Original Effects and Powerful Cast, EVERY EVENING at 7.30. Box-office open daily from Eleven to Five. No booking fees. MORNING PERFORMANCE on SATURDAY NEXT, at 1.45; Doors open at 1.15.—OLYMPIC THEATRE.

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.
ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.
THE
MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS.
All the year round.
Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.
THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.
It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.
THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.
Fauteuils, 5s.; Sofa Stalls, 3s.; Area, 2s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT, DOUBLEDAY'S WILL (last week but one), by F. C. Burnand; THE PARIS EXHIBITION, by Mr. Corney Grain; and AN ARTFUL AUTOMATON. Every Evening, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Every Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s., 3s., and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight; TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Music by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The performances of Fanfare, the Cornet-Player, and Labial on the Euphonium, are just now the attraction and talk of the entire kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 21s. to 2½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

NOW PUBLISHING,
PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½D.),
THE
ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK
FOR
1879, CONTAINING
TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,
PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,
FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS;
TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,
AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;
TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;
ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA,
WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;
The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Offices and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Tinces of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.
The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.
The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.
The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

THE ILLUSTRATED
PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.
An English Edition of
L'EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE DE 1878 ILLUSTRÉE,
in continuation of the Illustrated Journal issued in 1867 under the authority of the Imperial Commission, is issued every Tuesday,
PRICE THREEPENCE.
PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE OF
THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS,
198, STRAND, LONDON.
All Country Orders to be supplied through the London Agents.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £9000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRÆTORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 35 ft. by 22 ft.; with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street, W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1878.

Those who have read Sir George Nares's account of the last British Expedition to the Polar Sea will have risen from the perusal of his volumes with two general impressions deeply imprinted upon their minds. First, the long series of disappointments which the voyagers, and especially the sledge travellers, were doomed to encounter; and, next, the indomitable pluck and perseverance with which they met and wrestled with the most trying circumstances. Politics—comprehending under that term the widest range of signification which it will admit of—seem to us, just now, to present a similar aspect of almost unbroken gloom to that which the Arctic Regions presented to Captain Nares's exploring expedition. It remains to be seen whether it will be faced with the same bright courage and extraordinary power of endurance. At present there is no hopeful outlet in view, whether in respect of foreign or of domestic complications. Things are taking a course quite beyond the effectual control of her Majesty's Government, and possibly, for a weary period yet to come, of Parliament and the public. The Fates are not propitious to us. The plans of the most sagacious do not turn out successfully. The prophecies of the least sanguine are overshadowed and neutralised by what Napoleon III. aptly characterised as "the inexorable logic of facts." Of course, this will not be always so. "It is a long lane which has no turning," and, perhaps, in this as in other cases, "the darkest hour precedes the dawn." Still, it is difficult to bring under review the general condition of affairs in the kingdom without becoming conscious of the strong effort, both of reason and of will, which is needed to resist the encroachments of that despondency which is gradually eating its way into the heart of this great nation.

A glance, however cursory, at the domestic interests of the country catches but a very few points, if any, of immediate promise. The Board of Trade returns for September give no trustworthy signs that a revival from the depression which industry and commerce have suffered since 1874 has yet commenced. They indicate, we are afraid, rather a downward than an upward tendency. The imports of raw cotton and of flax and hemp are considerably below those of the corresponding month last year. The exports are not much better. All show a decline both in quantity and in value—greater in value even than in quantity. This may result from a general collapse of an artificial and unsound system of commercial enterprise, following upon which business may thereafter resume a more cheerful appearance. Meanwhile, the symptoms are becoming such as are not merely embarrassing but alarming. We cannot always feed upon hope, and especially is this true of "hope deferred." We are destined, it would seem, to an indefinite prolongation of the present gloomy state of the times, and must make up our minds to endure it as best we may.

As though to intensify the gloom of the present outlook, the public has been startled by an announcement of the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank, with liabilities, it is said, of upwards of ten millions sterling. Except amongst a few who discerned some reasons for anticipating such an unhappy issue, the event was certainly not foreseen by the public. The shares of the bank stood at an unusually high figure in the Market. Its dividends have for some years been at a rate of 10 or 12 per cent per annum. The sudden break-down has, of course, carried with it some industrial and commercial firms which had long depended upon it for support. It is an instance of the ruin which is always likely to overtake banking establishments when they are managed upon other than legitimate banking principles. The case, especially for Scotland, is believed to be quite an exceptional one; but it has started doubts which may easily grow into a panic. A great deal of vigorous self-control will be necessary in the financial world to abate, and finally to suppress, the misgivings which this failure is calculated to excite. But, though it will undoubtedly increase both the area and the intensity of commercial distress north of the Tweed, and although it may, to some extent, undermine confidence south of it, there is no evident ground for the conclusion that it will constitute a dominant factor in the financial and commercial depression of the country. No doubt it has somewhat deepened the previously existing gloom; but we must be upon our guard against inferring that it will exert a more decidedly disastrous influence upon business prospects.

Political matters abroad do not look much more exhilarating. The quarrel of the Indian Government with the Ruler of Afghanistan seems to be ripening fast into a state of hostilities. The Ameer has evidently made up his mind to a collision, and is taking immediate steps to make it as disastrous to the British as possible. How far he has been stimulated by Russian agents to take the bold step which he has done by flinging defiance in the face of the Indian Government it is, as yet, perhaps, impracticable to determine. That Shere Ali is confident in his own mind of receiving Russian support, in some form or other, seems likely enough. But that he has any solid ground for that confidence is not by any means incontrovertible, and is strongly denied at St. Petersburg. At any rate, he seems to be gaining the adherence of the barbarous tribes between his and our frontiers, and, unless something unlooked for turns up, there will be no little trouble in dealing with him effectually.

We have not much to congratulate ourselves upon in the contemplated reforms of Asia Minor. Sir Austen Layard, although his influence over the mind of the Sultan is evidently great, is unable to obtain on the part of his Imperial Majesty the slightest relaxation of his rights of Sovereignty. He will not yield an iota of them even to Austria, though Austria's arms have at length availed to beat down opposition in Herzegovina and Bosnia. He retains his nominal hold upon Cyprus and expects British authority in that island to subordinate itself (in theory, at least) to the interests of Turkey. Indeed, our occupation of Cyprus may be described in vulgar slang, not so much as "finding a mare's nest," but as "catching a Tartar." We have thrust ourselves into a perfect hotbed of disease. We have found no equivalent, either material or moral, strategic or commercial, to compensate us for the sacrifices we are making. Still, time, no doubt, may reveal much more agreeable features than have hitherto been developed by the Anglo-Turkish Convention, which so dazzled the eyes of the British public.

Our readers will perhaps regard us as having fallen into a pessimist vein of thought. It is not our wont. We do not wish, and certainly we do not intend, in the preceding remarks to lose sight of the recuperative energies which our country possesses. We doubt not they will come into play whenever a fair opportunity admits of it. But just now the outlook is not a pleasant one. That it will exercise upon us an educational and disciplinary influence we should be among the last to dispute. Meanwhile, however, we have to deal with realities, not fictions; and, in the confident expectation that the British people will "gird up their loins and quit themselves like men," we may all and each peer into the thickening darkness, and call to mind as we do so that we have more than once faced, and faced successfully, blacker prospects than any which the present generation is likely doomed to encounter.

The Duke of Richmond and Gordon will take the chair at the 214th anniversary festival of the Scottish Corporation on St. Andrew's Day, Nov. 30.

A meeting of the Representative Church Council of the Episcopal Church of Scotland was held at Dundee on Wednesday. The Primus presided. Schemes for special grants to poorer charges and for raising the salaries of the Bishops to at least £500 were agreed to.

THE COURT.

The Queen, with Princess Beatrice, continues at Balmoral Castle. Her Majesty and the Princess attended Divine service on Sunday at Crathie church. The Rev. Dr. Lee, of High Church, Edinburgh, officiated. The Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote arrived at the castle as the Minister in attendance on the Queen. Sir Stafford Northcote and Dr. Lee dined with her Majesty. The Queen, with the Princess, has walked and driven out daily.

The Queen has appointed Joseph Lister, Esq., M.B., F.R.C.S., to be surgeon extraordinary to her Majesty.

The Countess of Erroll has arrived at the castle as Lady in Waiting. The Duchess of Roxburghe, the Marchioness Dowager of Ely, and the Countess of Dufferin have left Balmoral. Colonel the Hon. Henry Byng has arrived at the castle as Equerry in Waiting to her Majesty.

In consequence of the lamented death of General the Right Hon. Sir Thomas Biddulph, Keeper of her Majesty's Privy Purse, the Queen intends to appoint Lieutenant-General H. Ponsonby, Private Secretary, to be Keeper of the Privy Purse, with two assistants. Lieutenant-Colonel A. Pickard, V.C., of the Royal Artillery, has been selected to fill one of the appointments as Assistant-Keeper of the Privy Purse.

Her Majesty, accompanied by the Princess, was present on the 3rd inst. at the funeral service which was performed at Abergeldie Mains by the Rev. A. Campbell, of Crathie, in the room in which the remains of the late Sir Thomas M. Biddulph were placed. The Hon. Lady Biddulph, Mr. and Mrs. Biddulph, and Captain Conway Seymour were also present. Shortly afterwards the coffin with the remains of the late General was taken in a hearse from Abergeldie Mains and conveyed to the railway station at Ballater for removal to Windsor. The Prince of Wales and various members of the Royal households followed in carriages to the station, where the detachment of the 79th Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, under the command of Captain Forbes Gordon, were drawn up at the station with reversed arms. The Queen remained for some time at Abergeldie Mains with the Hon. Lady Biddulph, who afterwards, with her son and daughter, drove to Ballater, and, accompanied by Captain Conway Seymour, proceeded by the same train to Windsor. At the funeral, at St. Andrew's, Clewer, on Monday, her Majesty was represented by Lord Bridport; the Duke of Connaught, the Marquis of Lorne, and the Duke of Cambridge were present. Wreaths, which had been sent by the Queen and all the members of the Royal family, were placed upon the coffin.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Prince of Wales has had good sport in the Royal forests in the Highlands during the week. The Princess, with her daughters, have driven and walked out daily, and have paid various visits to the Queen. Their Royal Highnesses are expected to arrive at Marlborough House from Abergeldie on Tuesday next, and the Prince purposes leaving for Paris on Thursday next.

Princess Louise of Lorne has fixed Wednesday next for the inauguration of the Leaf memorial wing of the Warehousemen and Clerks' Schools, at Russell-hill, near Croydon. The Marquis of Lorne will preside at the déjeûner which will follow.

Prince Leopold left Buckingham Palace yesterday week for Paris.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz arrived at St. James's Palace on Saturday last from the Continent, to join the Grand Duchess.

The Duke of Cambridge returned to Gloucester House on Saturday last from visiting Lord and Lady Londesborough at Londesborough Lodge, near Scarborough.

The Duke and Duchess of Teck returned to Kensington Palace on Wednesday from Rumpenheim.

His Excellency the French Ambassador and the Marchioness d'Harcourt and Mdlles. d'Harcourt have returned to the French Embassy, from Harlsford House, Great Marlow.

His Excellency the United States Minister and Miss Welch returned to London on Saturday last from the Continent.

The Duke and Duchess of Hamilton have arrived at Easton Park, Suffolk, from their seat in Scotland.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry have arrived at Plâs Machynlleth, their seat in Wales, from Wynyard Park.

Marquis and Marchioness Conyngham have returned to Bifrons from their marine residence at Ramsgate.

The Marquis of Huntly has returned to Aboyne Castle.

The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen have arrived at Haddo House.

The Countess of Lauderdale and Lady Brabazon have left for the Continent.

The Earl and Countess of Courtown and the Ladies Stopford have left town for Bournemouth.

Earl and Countess Fitzwilliam and the Ladies Wentworth Fitzwilliam have left Wentworth House for Coollattin Park, in the county of Wicklow.

The Earl of Roden has arrived in Paris from Scotland.

The Earl of Dartrey returned on Saturday last to Dartrey House, in the county of Monaghan.

Lord Windsor, who lately attained his majority, entertained on Wednesday a large number of his tenants at a banquet at St. Fagans, near Cardiff.

Marriages are arranged between the Hon. Richard Clere Parsons, third son of the late Earl of Rosse, and Miss Agnes C. Bateman, youngest daughter of Mr. John Frederick Bateman, of Moor Park, Farnham, Surrey; and between the Hon. Edwin Ponsonby and Miss Dora Coope, third daughter of Mr. Octavius Coope, M.P.

The memorial-stone of the schools which the Birmingham guardians are building for workhouse children, to remove them from the influence of pauperism, was laid on Tuesday at Marston-green. The buildings include three schools, fourteen cottage homes, masters' residences, workshops, and infirmary. The cost will be £20,000, exclusive of the site.

At the monthly meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution on Wednesday the secretary read a letter from one of the annuitants of the institution, who lives at Plymouth, thanking the institution for the annuity she has been receiving for the last four years, and stating that as, by the death of a relative, she had succeeded to a competence, she did not consider she was justified in receiving her annuity any longer.

The Hon. J. C. W. Vivian having resigned the appointment of Under-Secretary of State for War, Mr. Ralph Thompson, C.B., the Assistant Under-Secretary, has been appointed to succeed him. Colonel H. G. Deedes, who was private secretary to Mr. Hardy, and who was again selected for the same post by Colonel Stanley, succeeds Mr. Thompson as Assistant Under-Secretary. Mr. William Henry White has been appointed Accountant-General of the Army, Mr. Ralph Henry Knox to be Deputy Accountant-General, and Mr. H. T. De La Bère to be Assistant Accountant-General.

POLITICAL.

A Cabinet Council was held last Saturday, at which all the Ministers were present with the exception of Lord John Manners, who is detained in Scotland through an attack of gout.

Mr. Gladstone was on the 3rd inst. presented with an address from a deputation in Douglas, Isle of Man, expressing approval of the course which he had pursued in regard to the Eastern Question. In reply, the right hon. gentleman refrained from entering upon political topics in consequence of the menacing and ambiguous condition of affairs in the East—a condition of things which he viewed with the deepest grief and apprehension. The time would come when those affairs must be searched and sifted to the bottom, but at present, with the imperfect information we possessed, he did not think it became him either to form, or to express, or to indicate any opinion respecting them further than to say that they were to him a cause of deep concern and pain.—On Mr. Gladstone's arrival at Liverpool last Monday, from the Isle of Man, he was received by the president of the Liverpool Liberal Association and several gentlemen forming a deputation, and at their suggestion delivered a short and wholly non-political speech to an assemblage of 3000 to 4000 persons who had gathered to give him welcome. He said in conclusion, "I need not tell you that the place where I first drew breath has ever been, and must ever be, to me associated with the greatest and warmest and most lively feelings of interest, and that I have no more hearty desire than the desire for the prosperity and happiness of Liverpool."

To celebrate the incorporation of the borough of Burslem, a banquet was given by the first Mayor (Mr. T. Hulme) on the 3rd inst. Mr. Hanbury, responding for the Houses of Parliament, remarked that, taking on one hand Sir Stafford Northcote, and on the other the Marquis of Hartington and Mr. Gladstone, he believed that more conscientious statesmen did not exist. With regard to India, he said a cloud was on the horizon, but we must hope it will not turn out a storm-cloud.

Lord Enfield, speaking yesterday week at the annual dinner of the Middlesex Agricultural Society, expressed his approval of many portions of the Berlin Treaty, but said he looked with feelings of dismay and disappointment at the retrocession of Bessarabia, the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austrian troops, the disappointment naturally entertained by the Greeks at the treatment they had received, and the Anglo-Turkish Treaty. With regard to the Afghanistan question, he said he had not sufficient information to enable him to form an opinion, but he had been greatly impressed by the language of Lord Lawrence on the subject.

At a meeting of the Liberal party at Chatham yesterday week, which is said to have been largely attended, it was unanimously resolved to form a "Liberal Seventy" upon the Birmingham system.

Yesterday week Lord Colin Campbell, M.P., met his supporters at Glasgow, called with a view of forming a Liberal Organisation for Argyleshire. Lord Colin said the doubt regarding the recent contest arose from a want of sympathetic organisation. He believed his majority would have been larger if the party had been organised.

Mr. Samuelson addressed his constituents yesterday week at Banbury. He said the effect of the change of policy toward the tribes on the north-western frontier of India had been to drive the Ameer of Cabul into the arms of Russia, which was not sorry to see us placed in such a position in India as to prevent the repetition of the importation of Indian troops to Europe. The refusal to admit Sir Neville Chamberlain and his escort of 1000 men into Afghanistan would, it was said, if unresented, endanger our supremacy in India; and he feared there was too much truth in the statement. It was probable, therefore, that we should soon be engaged in a war with a barbarous Prince, in a rugged country destitute of supplies, at a cost of twenty millions or more. That country, when conquered, would have to be held at incalculable cost, unless we were prepared to see Shere Ali or his successor become the vassal of Russia the moment our troops were withdrawn. These were likely to be the first fruits of Imperialism in India. Mr. Samuelson spoke at Frome last Tuesday night on the subject of Cyprus, whither he has been since the closing of Parliament. He bore witness to the great fertility of the island, but thought it was not likely to be a field for British enterprise, nor a valuable possession to the British Crown. Regarded from a strategic point of view, he preferred Malta.

Colonel Drummond Moray, M.P. for Perthshire, replying for the Houses of Parliament at the annual dinner of the Perthshire Rifle Volunteers last Saturday evening, said he was proud to think that the Government and the party to which he had the honour to belong had brought the country through a great crisis with honour, and without the loss of a single man. He defended the recent war preparations and the calling out of the Reserves. He hoped war would not break out; but, if it did, the resources and valour of Great Britain would be once more demonstrated.

Speaking at Portsmouth on Monday night, Mr. Cowper-Temple, M.P., referring to the Afghanistan Question, said the affront which had been offered by that blind, wilful, barbarous chieftain, Shere Ali, must be atoned for and wiped out; and he trusted the wisdom, experience, and skill of the Indian Government, the courage of our soldiers, and the resources of our empire would soon overcome this Afghan ruler. Mr. T. C. Bruce, M.P., said the Ameer had been impressed, either by the Russians or by the reports which had reached him, with the idea that he had an opportunity of bearding the English, and it was for them to teach Shere Ali that he was mistaken.

In addressing his constituents at Kinross last Monday, Mr. Adam quoted the statistics of the elections which had taken place since January, 1876, and contended that the results, as affording a test of public opinion, were largely in favour of the Liberal party. With regard to the Afghan difficulty, he approved of the policy laid down in Lord Lawrence's letter.

Sir John Hay addressed his constituents at Stamford on Monday, under the auspices of the local Conservative Association. He upheld the financial policy of the Government. In Afghanistan, in view of complications which might arise between Russia and England, Russia had been stirring up Shere Ali to make an aggressive war against England on the North-Western frontier. Fortunately for us, the mine had exploded at a time when the person who set fire to it did not want it to go off; but the combustion had taken place, and the sooner it was put out the better.

Mr. Morgan Lloyd, in addressing his constituents at Holyhead on Tuesday night, severely criticised the Eastern policy of the Government, and expressed his opinion that the Afghanistan difficulty had been created by Russia, because during the Russo-Turkish war we endeavoured to intimidate that Power by bringing over the Indian troops to Europe.

Colonel Loyd-Lindsay, M.P., and Mr. Walter, M.P., were present on Tuesday, at the dinner of the Royal East Berks Association, held at Maidenhead. Colonel Loyd-Lindsay, referring to the recent Russo-Turkish war, said his hearers would share with him in feelings of astonishment at the moderation of the Emperor of Russia and his armies in not entering Constantinople when they had their hereditary enemy at their feet. He felt equally grateful to the British fleet for the part which it had taken, and especially that its object had been accomplished without the loss of a single bluejacket. Colonel Loyd-Lindsay said it was gratifying to observe the respect which had been paid our Plenipotentiaries at the Congress, and he believed that the same success which had attended our efforts at the Congress would follow us in an Afghan war. Mr. Walter said that his own view of the Eastern Question, without going into party politics, was that the decline and fall of the Turkish Empire was only a question of time. Nothing could arrest it, and this country was determined not to allow Russia to take the place of the Turkish Empire. When he looked at the result of the Berlin Conference, he saw no strong reasons for dissatisfaction.

Sir Henry Havelock, M.P., presided over a missionary meeting in the Leeds Townhall on Tuesday, and, referring to the Afghan difficulty, he declared that our dispute was not with a half-savage ruler, but to prevent our rule in India being disturbed by a power behind, which power, if it prevailed to break down our rule in India, certainly, to say the least, would not advance the cause of true religion.

Colonel Stanley, Secretary for War, was present last Wednesday at a banquet and public meeting in celebration of the opening of a Conservative Club at Blackpool. Speaking at the public meeting, he said he saw no reason, in spite of the desponding views which were taken, to be otherwise than satisfied with that part of the convention with Turkey under which we administered the island of Cyprus. There were valid reasons of a civil and military character which rendered that step as advisable as it was prudent. As to Afghanistan, he had no wish for aggression or conquest. We desired to go our way peacefully and untrammelled, but with the power of carrying out our own business in our own way.

At a Liberal gathering last Wednesday at Calne, Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice, M.P., was a speaker. Upon the question of local government he pointed out that representation and taxation should go together. The present system was one of great confusion, and it must be changed. Dr. Lush, M.P., congratulated the meeting on its earnestness and enthusiasm. He said the principles of the Tory Government meant war, taxation, and distress.

Sir Lawrence Palk and Sir J. Kennaway, the members for East Devon, speaking at the annual dinner of the Axminster Agricultural Society, referred to Eastern Affairs. The former explained his motives for originating a movement to remonstrate with the Government for inaction on the Eastern Question; the latter, referring to the Afghan war, said that, as we held India by the sword, we must plainly demonstrate that no stranger shall with impunity meddle with our north-western frontier.

Addressing his constituents at Helston on Wednesday Mr. Young condemned the foreign policy of the Government.

An announcement is made that it is proposed to hold a great North of England convention of the friends of "religious equality" at Leeds in January next to consider the relation of the Liberal party to certain great politico-ecclesiastical questions, to urge upon Liberal leaders the necessity of at once declaring in favour of disestablishment, and to promote the better organisation of Nonconformists.

Burton-on-Trent has received a charter of incorporation, being the sixty-sixth that has been issued since the passing of the Municipal Act. There are now 240 boroughs governed under the Act.

Among the applications for letters patent published in the Gazette is one for "a new or improved apparatus for protecting hats, clothes, and other articles from being stolen or exchanged in places of public resort." The inventor is a German.

A public park, forty-five acres in extent, and valued at between £20,000 and £25,000, the gift of Mr. John Talbot Llewellyn, the High Sheriff of Glamorganshire, was opened by the Mayor and Corporation of Swansea on the 3rd inst. It is situated about three miles from the town.

The supply of American food which arrived at Liverpool last week consisted of 971 live cattle, 3438 sheep, 360 pigs, 2064 quarters of beef, 276 carcases of mutton, and 850 tubs of butter, being a decrease in every instance except as regards sheep when contrasted with the figures of the former week.

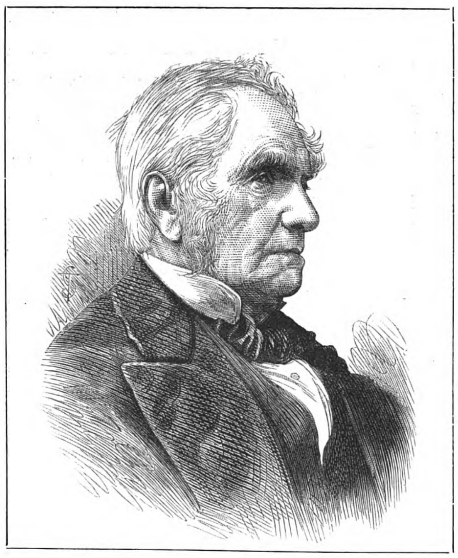
A fire occurred on the 4th inst. at Haileybury College, by which the chapel dome was burned down. The flames were subdued in time to save the other buildings, and no accident happened to any person. The chapel was lately built at a cost of £12,000.

At a special meeting of the Stratford-on-Avon Town Council last Wednesday it was decided to promote a bill in the next Session of Parliament for the extension of the borough boundaries, and also to acquire possession, at a cost of about £40,000, of the gasworks. The council contemplate making the borough four times its present size and increasing the number of councillors and aldermen.

The annual competition of the London Schools Swimming Club was held last Saturday at the Lambeth Baths. Mr. J. Macgregor (Rob Roy) acted as starter; Mr. R. H. W. Dunlop, C.B., as umpire. There were 122 entries. The head prize-winners were John W. Calder, Lambeth Boys' School; G. W. Austin, South Lambeth Board School; Arthur Blunden, Mantua-street Board School, Battersea; Charles Clark, Westmoreland-road Board School.

The new session of the City of London College (evening classes) began on Monday. Efforts are in progress to obtain a new building. The Haberdashers' Company have given a grant of £50 a year for five years. This is in addition to the £2500 already secured by the council. The amount required is £20,000. The Easter Vestries of several of the City parishes have given donations towards the new building fund. The inaugural address to the students was delivered by the founder of the institution, the Rev. Prebendary Mackenzie, M.A., on Thursday.

Speaking as the president of the North-Western Poor-Law Conference, held at Preston on Wednesday, Mr. Hibbert, M.P., said that, notwithstanding the recent great strike, pauperism in Lancashire was exceedingly small. He urged all the delegates present to instil into the public mind the supreme importance of being provident in their habits—a duty they owed to themselves and to the ratepaying community. In proof of the gratifying decrease in out relief in the county he might state that, in the year 1871, the expenditure on out relief was £3,663,000, and in 1876-7 it had been reduced to £2,616,000. In the same six years the number of outdoor paupers were reduced by 345,900. But the most satisfactory feature was that, while outdoor paupers had been decreased, indoor paupers had not been increasing.



THE OCCUPATION OF BOSNIA: AUSTRIAN RESERVES PASSING BY VRANDUK.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

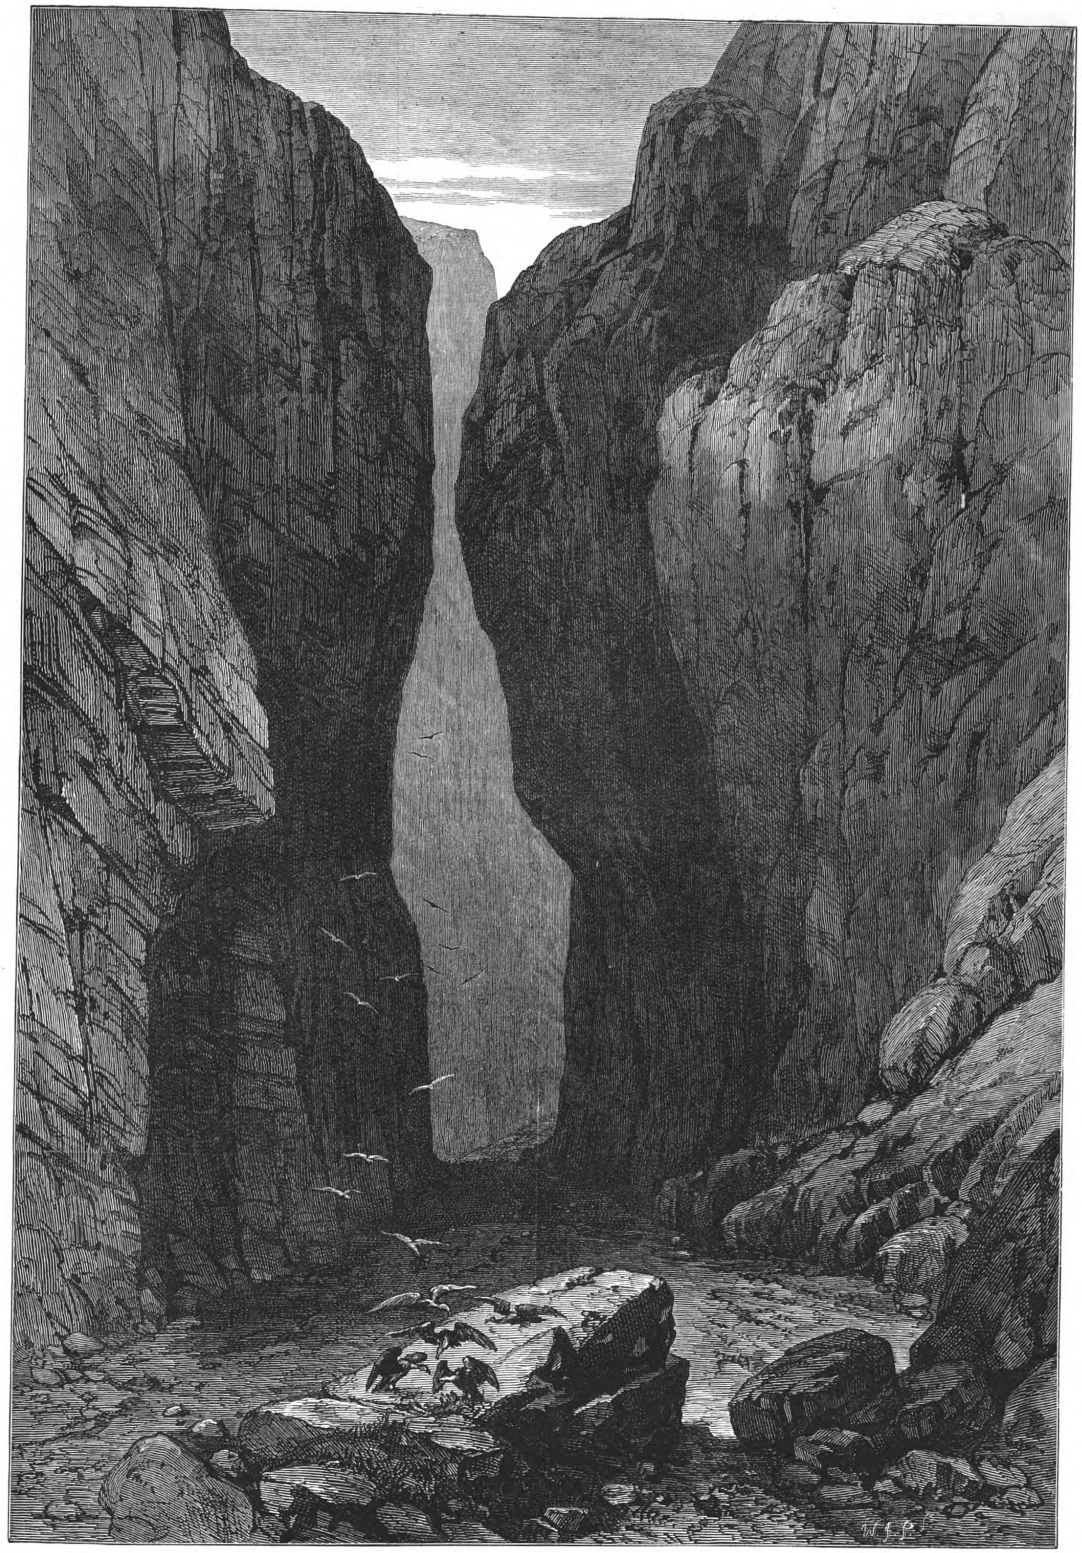
THE AUSTRIANS IN BOSNIA.

A sketch by our Special Artist at the head-quarters of General Philippovich in Bosnia shows the hillside road near Vranduk, with a regiment of the Austrian reserve forces passing down on their way to join the main army. Active hostilities, indeed, have by this time ceased; and the Austrian occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina is an accomplished fact. By the occupation of three points—Vichegrad, Gorajda, and Fora—on the line of the Upper Drina, the natural frontier of Bosnia and Herzegovina on that side has been fixed, while the pushing forward of a detachment to Koiniza and to Chajniza brings the Austrian army of occupation to the administrative line of the Bosnian vilayet. The later movements were effected without meeting with resistance, the insurgents having fled at the approach of the Imperial troops, leaving their intrenchments at Vichegrad, with the guns, ammunition, and tents in them. Next to Zvornik, Vichegrad is the strongest military position in Bosnia. Apart from its natural capabilities for defence, it has been one of the points which, like Zvornik, in consequence of its close vicinity to the Servian frontier, had received more attention during the Servian war than any others. The old picturesque castle, once a stronghold which barred the Drina valley, must not now be taken into account; but on the heights a succession of earthworks had been thrown up, which, if defended with that tenacity which Turks occasionally display, might have given some trouble to the Austrian troops. Of course, in this instance such a defence could only have been made at the risk of having the retreat in the direction of Novi-Bazar cut off, for, while one portion of the Austrian forces moved on Vichegrad, the other went to Gorajda, higher up the Drina, close to their only line of retreat. The total loss sustained by the Austrian troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina, including killed, wounded, and those who have succumbed to sickness, amounts to about 4000. The Albanian insurgents still remain in the field in the neighbourhood of Kossovo and Novi-Bazar, and manifest their determination to resist any further southward advance of the Austrian troops. But it is not expected that this will take place before next year.

THE BOLAN PASS.

The southernmost of three lines of approach, for the military forces expected to enter Afghanistan from British India, leads through this remarkable mountain defile. The Bolan Pass, of which we practically hold possession by our garrison at Quetta, and its support at Dadur, begins five miles to the north-west of the latter place. It is sixty miles in length, and leads straight to Quetta, on the road to Candahar. Its crest is 5800 ft. above the sea, and its average ascent gives 90 ft. to the mile. The great obstacle used to be from the Sir-i-Bolan torrent, but that was only active during a few weeks in the wet season. In one part the road becomes so narrow, as the ranges on each side close in, that only three or four men can ride abreast. The hills on each side tower up to a great height in lofty cliffs, and can only be ascended at each end. After a while the pass widens, and a broad plain is reached. The two narrowest points are that beyond the Sir-i-Bolan, mentioned above, where, it is said, a few determined men might hold it against any odds, and again at Khundilani, seven miles from the east entrance, which is shown in our Engraving. Water is abundant and good throughout the pass. Fodder is scarce, and hardly any wood is to be obtained. From a military point of view, the Bolan Pass is important, as artillery can be conveyed through it without serious difficulty. In 1839 it was traversed in six days by a Bengal column, whose artillery consisted of 8-inch mortars and 4-pounder howitzers, and 18-pounder guns. There is some danger from sudden floods, the Bolan torrent rising very suddenly at times.

THE LATE SIR RICHARD GRIFFITH, BART.



THE LATE SIR R. GRIFFITH, BART.

The death of this venerable gentleman at Dublin, in the ninety-fifth year of his age, was recorded in our Obituary a fortnight ago. He was a civil engineer and geologist of some eminence, author of the geological map of Ireland, on a scale of one inch to four miles, which was published by official authority in 1838; and during many years he held the posts of Chief Commissioner of Valuations for Ireland and Chief Commissioner of Public Works. In 1858 he was rewarded for his public services with a baronetcy, which descends to his son, now Sir George Waldie Griffith. The deceased gentleman preserved his vigour of mind and body to extreme old age.

The Portrait is from a photograph by Mr. Chancellor, of Lower Sackville-street, Dublin.

There are now only two ex-Lord Chancellors of England—Lord Hatherley and Lord Selborne. By the death of Lord Chelmsford a pension of £5000 a year ceases.

The movement for establishing hospitals for paying patients having now attained an assured position, and an association having been duly incorporated by the Board of Trade to carry out the purposes declared to be desirable in the interests of the public by the meeting held on June 27, 1877, in the Egyptian Hall of the Mansion House, under the presidency of the late Lord Mayor (Sir Thomas White), the provisional committee appointed at that meeting consider it expedient to secure permanent offices (246, Regent-street), and to open the first home hospital almost immediately. At the last meeting of the provisional committee, on the motion of Sir Rutherford Alcock, K.C.B., seconded by Dr. Quain, a unanimous vote of thanks was passed to Sir Thomas White and to the present Lord Mayor, Mr. Alderman Owden, for the great sympathy they had extended to the scheme, and for the valuable assistance they had rendered to the provisional committee in various ways.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR: ENTRANCE TO THE BOLAN PASS, FROM DADUR.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

A telegram of Wednesday last, from Simla, stated that the column of troops under Brigadier Ross, C.B., from Jumrood, had entered the Khyber Pass, beyond the Fort of Ali Musjid, in order to capture the fortress called Dakka Khan, at the western end of the Pass. This was published by the Standard of Thursday morning.

The Jumrood column under Brigadier Ross was formed by draughts of two hundred men from each of the regiments at Peshawur, making a force of 400 cavalry, 1200 infantry, four half-batteries of artillery, with a company of sappers and miners. It would comprise one battery of horse, one of field and one of mountain artillery, the head-quarters of two battalions of British and of four native infantry regiments, with two regiments of native cavalry, all picked men. But this force may since have been largely increased. The present is not the first occasion on which General Ross has served on the north-west frontier of India. In 1851-2 and 1853 he was present at various expeditions under Sir Colin Campbell; he commanded the 14th Sikhs during the Umbeyla Expedition of 1863, when he was severely wounded, mentioned in despatches, and promoted to a Brevet Lieutenant-Colonelcy, his latest hill service being the command of the Peshawur column in the Jowaki-Afreedi campaign last winter. In mountain warfare, therefore, he has had much experience.

Our description, last week, of the Khyber Pass and its approaches, should be kept in mind by the reader. The frontier fort of Jumrood lies at the mouth of the Pass, and five hundred feet higher than Peshawur, from which town it is distant some fifteen miles. Thence the road runs up the Pass, until ten miles farther the Fort of Ali Musjid bars the way. Ali Musjid stands on the summit of a very steep flat-topped rock, which appears to rise in the middle of the valley. The road, however, winds round under the rock, which lies on its left. The rock upon which the fortress stands is too steep to be scaled from the front, and its fire is supported by that of a smaller fort built high up on the hill opposite to it. Both the forts, however, are commanded by higher ground on each side, and our troops, with their long-range rifles, could annoy the defenders from these positions. Fortunately, moreover, Ali Musjid can be turned by more than one minor pass. There is a road from the Attock Valley which opens on to Lalabeg, eight miles in rear of Ali Musjid; and there are other small passes which, though not marked in the maps, are locally well known. One telegram says that Afghan troops have already been stationed in these passes. But the Khyber Pass can also be turned by an advance from our frontier fort of Abazai, north of the Attock, and some thirty miles from Peshawur. From this post an advance might be made by the Inzan Pass to Lalpura, at the Afghan end of the Khyber Pass, Lalpura and the whole country between that town and Abazai belonging to the Momunds, who are, like the Khyberees, entirely independent of Cabul, and with whom an arrangement for a passage could no doubt be made.

The north-west frontier of India, stretching from Abbottabad in Hazarah to Jacobabad in Scinde, gives us a line of defence of about 600 miles. To guard this we have ten large military stations, garrisoned, in round numbers, by 20,000 men. In advance, again, of these cantonments are ninety lesser fortified posts, placed so as to guard the entrance to the chief passes in the mountains. In pushing forward through the range into Cabul it will be essential that this line be not weakened, else the frontier tribes will recommence their old tactics of levying black mail all down our border. The question, then, before the Government of India is not only to take effective measures to coerce the Ameer, but also to provide against these border tribes aiding Shere Ali by carrying war into our own country or harassing our communications after our advance.

The total strength of our forces on the immediate frontier, from the sea to Abbottabad, including Kurrachee, Hydcrabad, Jacobabad, Rajanpore, Dera Ghazee Khan, Dera Ismail Khan, Bunnoo, Kohat, Peshawur, Hoti Mardan, Nowshera, Attock, Abbottabad, together with the reserves at Rawul Pindee, Sealkot, Jhelum, Lahore, Umritsir, Ferozepore, Mooltan, Jullunder, and the advanced post of Quetta, amounts to 800 British and 7000 native cavalry, 12,000 British and 21,000 native infantry, with 102 guns. Many of these are at stations which it is obviously impossible to denude of British troops—namely, Umritsir, the head-quarters of the Sikh religion; Lahore, with its fort and large fanatical population; Ferozepore, with its arsenal; Attock, with its bridge of boats over the Indus. The stoppage of the rail at Jhelum will prevent any very rapid movement.

AFREEDIS IN THE KHYBER PASS.

The wild and warlike tribes of hillmen on the north-west frontier of the Punjaub, and in the bordering mountains of Afghanistan, compose several distinct confederations, of which the Wuzerees and the Afreedis are the most considerable. The country of the Afreedis begins from the right bank of the Cabul river, and extends for fifty miles nearly due south, in contact with British territory the whole distance. A tongue of Afreedi territory interposes between Peshawur and Kohât, directly interrupting the communication between these two principal frontier stations. This tongue is known as the Kohât Pass, some fifteen miles in length and three or four in breadth. Instead of holding and fortifying the pass for ourselves, we chose, on the annexation of the Punjaub in 1849, to subsidise the Afreedis to keep it open for us for the sum of £570 per annum, subsequently increased for a time to £1370. The success of this sagacious arrangement may be gathered from the fact that for twenty-seven years scarcely one has passed without some act of robbery and murder on the part of the Afreedis and reprisals on ours. Numerous military expeditions have been taken against the Pass Afreedis, the last one during the cold weather of last year; but if the authorities congratulate themselves on the result of the Jowaki raid, and fancy they have tamed these gentry, they will be much mistaken. The various divisions, including the numerous Ozukrai clan, that make up the Afreedi nation, can muster between 30,000 and 40,000 fighting men.

It has lately been rumoured as probable that the following Afreedi sections will throw in their lot with Cabul:—Zaka Khel, Siphas, Kuki Khel, Khambar Khel, and Malikdin Khel, with the Shinwaris; they may be estimated to number about 18,000 fighting men, fairly well armed. These are the clans that gave us constant trouble during our occupation of the Khyber in the last Afghan war. Indeed, so aggressive were the Shinwaris that General Pollock detached a force in July, 1842, to punish them. Brigadier Monteath seems to have carried out his instructions to the letter, for it appears he destroyed thirty-five of their forts before he left their hills. Rumours of collisions between the Ameer's troops and the Afreedis must be received with great caution.

The Illustration of a View of the Bolan Pass, a few miles in from its entrance near Dadur, is copied, by permission, from one of the series of lithographs, "Sketches of Afghanistan," by Mr. James Atkinson, published by Messrs. Henry Graves and Co., of 6, Pall-mall.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

Marshal MacMahon arrived in Paris on Monday evening; and at a Cabinet Council held on the following day decrees were signed fixing the elections of the Senatorial Delegates for the 27th inst., and the elections of Senators for Jan. 5, 1879.

An election was held on Sunday for a member of the Municipal Council of Paris, the successful candidate being M. Maret (Radical), who obtained 1571 votes against 1447 recorded in favour of M. Risler (Republican).

The Grand Duchess Catherine of Russia arrived at Paris on Monday morning, and the Grand Duke Constantine left on Wednesday evening for St. Petersburg.

M. Gambetta arrived at Grenoble on Wednesday, and on Thursday he delivered a political speech in the theatre.

The International Peace Congress at Paris has ended with a banquet and reception. The members have been invited to meet next year in Rome.

M. Gounod's new opera, "Polyeucte" (the text, by MM. Barbier and Carré, based on Corneille's tragedy), was produced at the Paris Grand Opéra on Monday night. Judging from the accounts received, the work is one of the grandest efforts of the composer, and is especially great in those portions which express the religious aspect of the subject. "Polyeucte" appears to have been placed on the stage with almost unparalleled magnificence, and the principal singers—Mdlle. Krauss, M. Salomon, and M. Lassalle—are highly spoken of.

M. Ambroise Thomas, the composer of "Hamlet" and "Mignon," was married last Saturday, at Nancy, to Mdlle. Elvire Remaury, a sister of Madame Montigny-Remaury, the pianist.

The Budget for 1879 makes provision for a sum of £215,316 to be expended upon primary education in France, or about £18,000 more than was voted by the two Chambers for the current year.

Great preparations are being made at the Palais de l'Industrie for the ceremony of the distribution of the prizes.

SPAIN.

The King arrived at Burgos from Valladolid on Tuesday afternoon, and was received at the station by Marshal Quesada and the principal authorities, both civil and military. The troops of the garrison lined the street from the station to the cathedral, where a Te Deum was sung by the Archbishop and Chapter. A great concourse of people filled the noble pile. The streets were brilliantly ornamented, and the balconies decked with flags. His Majesty was prevented attending the manœuvres on Wednesday by a severe cold.

GERMANY.

The Corporation of Berlin is making preparations for a festive reception of the Emperor William on his return to the capital. The civic authorities have applied to the Town Council for 50,000 marks for this purpose.

Prince Bismarck was yesterday week received in audience of the Crown Prince.

At the resumption of the sittings of the German Parliament on Wednesday the second reading of the Socialist Bill was begun, and Herr von Frankenstein read a declaration from the Centre which, while recognising the dangers of the Socialistic agitation, yet considers the bill before the House as not calculated to arrest the evil, and stating that the members of the Centre intend to vote against it. Prince Bismarck took part in the debate. He pointed out that working-men's associations did not promote the welfare of the labouring classes when they sought to undermine the groundwork of the State and society and the rights of property. The Social Democrats had no positive propositions to bring forward, but played with the ignorant masses. He regarded the machinations of their unions as one of the causes of the present unsatisfactory state of commercial activity. In conclusion, he asked the deputies if they were more afraid of him and of the Federal Governments than of the Socialists, and he admitted that his aim went beyond the present measure, for he wished to unite parties in order to form a bulwark against all the tempests to which the empire was exposed.

SWITZERLAND.

By 8700 votes against 2600, the population of the Canton of Geneva have rejected the proposed new Constitution—a result considered to offer an important check to the present Geneva Government.

DENMARK.

The Queen and Princess Thyra, who, after their stay in London, proceeded to Rumpenheim on a visit to the Grand Duke and Duchess of Hesse, arrived at Copenhagen last Saturday morning. They were received by the King and the Crown Prince and Princess, with their children. The Crown Prince and Princess left Copenhagen on Tuesday for Paris.

The Parliament was opened on Monday by M. Estrupp, the President of the Council. There was no Royal message. The Budget was laid before the Chamber on Wednesday.

AUSTRIA.

The Pesth Official Gazette publishes an Imperial decree accepting the resignation of the Hungarian Ministers, and inviting them to remain at their posts until successors are appointed. The Emperor has addressed a separate letter to Herr Szell to the same effect. The whole of the Ministers, it seems, share in the difficulties of Herr Szell in regard to the financial situation and the foreign policy of Count Andrassy. The Emperor has been to Pesth, and there consulted three of the leading Hungarian politicians on the crisis, with the above-mentioned result. The Austrian Ministry have renewed their former resignation, but they also hold over for the present.

Visegrad was occupied on the 4th inst., without resistance; and, in a despatch from Serajevo, Marshal Philippovich says:—"Fotscha is clear of insurgents; and I now respectfully inform his Imperial and Royal Majesty that the insurrection has been crushed throughout Bosnia, and the country is in our hands." In reply the Emperor says:—"His Majesty is pleased to receive the congratulations and friendly assurances alike of Christians and Mussulmans, and trusts that henceforth an era of peace, reconciliation, and prosperity will begin for the occupied districts." The total loss sustained by the Austrian troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina, including killed, wounded, and those who have succumbed to sickness, amounts to about 4000. There was some fighting last Sunday on the heights south-east of Peci, but it is supposed that this will be the last effort of the insurgents.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

General Todleben has informed his Government that, on his route to Adrianople, where he arrived on the 2nd inst., the utmost popular enthusiasm prevailed, and the towns were decked with flags. The Turks, he reports, manifest their trust in the Russian authorities by surrendering their arms. Many Bulgarian families from Constantinople followed the departing Russian troops. Official possession of Bessarabia will be taken by the Russians on the 13th inst.

The Porte has decided to enter upon various reforms at Aleppo, Bagdad, Smyrna, Diarbekir, Erzeroum, and Trebizond, in conformity with the demands of England.

A committee has been formed in Constantinople for the purpose of asking the Sultan to grant an extensive district in Asia Minor near Ismid to the refugees, about 70,000 in number, who still remain in the Turkish capital. It is proposed to form an English company which would undertake to convey the refugees to this district and provide them with houses, cattle, agricultural implements, and seed. Sir Henry Layard has recommended the scheme to the Grand Vizier, and it is to be submitted to Lord Salisbury.

A circular has been addressed by the Porte to the Powers requesting them to compel Austria to conform to the declaration made by her Plenipotentiaries at the Berlin Congress. She ought, the circular says, to stop the advance of her troops in Bosnia, and put an end to the excesses committed by them, until a decision has been given by the Powers.

Roumania has telegraphed to the Porte requesting the cession of the Dobrudscha before winter sets in. A similar application has, it is said, been made to Russia.

AMERICA.

The elections in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, and West Virginia were held on Tuesday. We learn from the Times' correspondent at Philadelphia that "in Ohio the Republicans made large gains and elected State officers by 10,000 plurality. The total Greenback vote was 40,000, mostly drawn from the Democrats. The Democrats elected nine Congress men, and the Republicans eight, leaving three doubtful. The Republicans will probably lose four Congress men. In Indiana, 5000 Democratic plurality. Eight Democrats and five Republicans elected, a loss of one Congress man to the Republicans. The Republicans elected nine Congress men, there being a Republican gain of one. West Virginia elects two Democrats and one Greenback Republican to Congress, a Democratic loss of one Congress man. In Iowa, 20,000 Republican majority."

Instructions have been given by the United States Attorney-General to the district attorneys of Louisiana, Alabama, and South Carolina to take all legal measures for preventing interference with the freedom of election in those States.

There were forty-nine deaths from yellow fever in New Orleans on Tuesday, and thirty-three in Memphis. The Government has issued forty thousand rations to the destitute in New Orleans.

According to intelligence received at Washington, the Spotted Tail and Red Cloud Sioux Indians have left the reservations of Dakota, and are moving towards the West, probably for the purpose of joining the fugitive Cheyenne Indians, who are reported to have crossed the Union Pacific Railroad near Ogallala, closely pursued by the Federal troops.

A dreadful railway accident is reported. An excursion-train was returning to Boston with a large number of persons who had been to a rowing-match at Silverlake, when it ran into a goods-train. Five carriages were demolished, over twenty-five persons were killed, and 150 others were injured.

The sculling-match between Courtney and Hanlon for the championship of America was rowed on the 3rd inst. Hanlon beat Courtney, after a close contest, by two lengths. The time occupied was 35 min. 30 sec., the distance being five miles, with a turn.

CANADA.

Lord Dufferin left Quebec for Ottawa, to receive the resignation of the Ministry, which was tendered last Wednesday, and Sir John Macdonald has accepted the task of forming a new Cabinet. After the change of Government Lord Dufferin leaves for England, when Sir Patrick MacDougall, Commander of the Forces in British North America, who has arrived in Quebec, will act as Administrator till the arrival of the Marquis of Lorne.

The Grand Jury of Montreal have indicted the Orangemen for unlawfully assembling on the occasion of the Orange celebration on July 12.

In a match between the Australian cricketers and Twenty-two of Ontario, the Australians won, with eight wickets to spare.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

Sir Bartle Frere, the Governor of Cape Colony, according to news of the 17th ult. from Cape Town, was to leave on the following day for Natal, where he was to meet the Commander-in-Chief, and afterwards proceed to the Transvaal, Pretoria, Griqualand West, and Pondoland.

There is no news from the seat of war, and the advices from the northern border of the Transvaal are unimportant.

The Admiral's flag-ship has arrived at Simonstown with troops and stores.

The Cape Parliament has been dissolved, and writs will shortly be issued for a general election.

A public meeting has been held at Cape Town by Sir Bartle Frere with the object of raising funds to erect a memorial to the men who fell in the late war. The meeting was largely attended, and a liberal response was made to the appeal.

At a public meeting at Grahamstown a resolution was passed conveying expressions of loyalty to the Throne, and congratulations to Lord Beaconsfield on the Berlin Treaty, and also acknowledging the debt of gratitude to England for helping the colony in its recent trouble. The resolution concluded by expressing approval of a confederation policy.

Mr. Justice Dwyer has taken his seat on the bench of the Supreme Court.

The Bishops of Maritzburg and Pretoria have been cordially received at Port Elizabeth.

Fresh finds of nuggets are reported from the newly-discovered gold-fields.

INDIA.

We learn from Simla that no collision with the Afghans has yet occurred. Beyond active military preparations nothing, it is added, has yet been done. Shere Ali, it is stated, has sent strong reinforcements to the Khyber Pass, is massing troops at Ali Musjid and Candahar, and is threatening Quetta. These and kindred matters are detailed in another column.

A telegram in the Times states that Scindiah was invested with the order of the Empire of India in full Durbar at Gwalior on the 21st ult. Many guests were present. The Maharajah, it is stated, was "gracious and conciliatory."

A general exhibition of Russian produce is to take place in the First Garden of the Kremlin at Moscow in 1880.

The new great synagogue at Warsaw was opened on the 25th ult., in presence of the Governor-General and the local authorities.

The Pope has sent a message to the General of the Jesuits desiring that all under him may abstain from political hostilities and attend exclusively to their spiritual duties.

No disorder has followed the death of the King of Burmah, whose successor, the Crown Prince, has been proclaimed at Mandalay.

The Archduke Frederick of Austria married on Tuesday Princess Isabell of Croy, daughter of the Duke of Croy, and they arrived the same day in Paris, the Archduke Regnier accompanying them.

A Standard telegram from Alexandria says:—"The rising of the Nile in Lower Egypt continues. Near Massowah it has already overflowed its banks, but the damage is at present trifling. Cotton has increased half a dollar in price, owing to the rise of the river. The weather is bad.

According to information received by Sir Henry Layard, pirates have made their appearance in the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Volo, and his Excellency intends to ask the Porte to allow British vessels to act against them.

The Queen has conferred on Mr. Francis Ottiwell Adams, Secretary of her Majesty's Embassy at Paris, and on the Hon. Hussey Crespigny Vivian, her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt, the Companionship of the Bath.

One thousand six hundred and ninety-one persons emigrated from Switzerland last year for countries beyond the seas: 1027 of them went to North, 91 to Central and 244 to South America, and 117 to Australia. Geneva and four other cantons, however, have furnished no returns.

The Daily News' Correspondent in Malta telegraphs that the last of the Indian contingent have left, and that their departure is much regretted by the inhabitants. The conduct of the men during their stay in Malta has, the Correspondent says, been worthy of the highest praise.

Dr. Julius Müller, Professor of Systematic and Practical Theology in the University of Halle, died in that city, after a short illness, on Sept. 27, in the seventy-eighth year of his age. He was a younger brother of the great archæologist and historian, Karl Otfried Müller. He was originally destined for the legal profession; but he devoted himself to theology, became a pupil of Neander, and was greatly influenced by him.

Frederikstad, in the Danish possession of Santa Cruz, in the West Indies, has been half burned down by negro labourers. A telegram from Jamaica announces that the insurrection has been quelled, and that the ringleaders have been captured. It is said that the rising originated in a disagreement between the negroes and planters on the subject of labour contracts.

We learn from the Copenhagen Correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette that Professor Madvig, the Latin scholar, has been elected Rector Magnificus of the University for the coming twelve months. Professor Madvig was especially elected with a view of the coming festivities on the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the foundation of the University in 1479.

The Salisbury, 1094 tons, Captain G. Case, chartered by Sir Arthur Blyth, Agent-General for South Australia, left Plymouth on the 4th inst. for Port Adelaide, with 376 emigrants, amongst whom were 85 single female domestic servants, under the care of Mrs. Margaret Rogers, matron.—The ship Fritz Reuter, of 1475 tons, Captain Walters, sailed from Hamburg on the 5th inst., and had on board the following emigrants for Brisbane—viz., 60 married men and their wives, 239 single men, 43 single women, 92 children between the ages of 12 and 1, and 12 infants.

A Garibaldian demonstration took place on Sunday at Bagnorea, the first stone of a monument in memory of those who fell there in 1867 being laid with much ceremony. A letter from Garibaldi was read, and speeches were made in which allusions to the rectification of the Italian frontier elicited loud cheers. This ancient town, the birthplace of Saint Bonaventura is perched at a height of some 500 ft. on a precipitous summit, the cone of an extinct volcano, from the base of which the walls of the great crater rise around to a higher level, forming a complete geological basin, amid country of the wildest picturesque beauty.

ENGLISH EXHIBITORS AT PARIS.

The British exhibitors and jurors at the Paris Exhibition are subscribing for a testimonial to be presented to Mr. Cunliffe Owen, C.B., secretary to the British Royal Commissioners for the Exhibition. The treasurer of the fund is Mr. J. Hunter Donaldson, of the firm of Messrs. Gillow and Co., Oxford-street, and the subscription list will close on the 31st inst. Among the exhibitors whose productions have been greatly admired in the British Section, Messrs. Howell and James, of Regent-street and Pall-mall, claim particular mention. They have bestowed special attention upon the decorative application of ceramic art; and their display of clocks and other articles, designed in the Early English, Queen Anne, and Jacobean styles, inlaid with panels and plaques of faïence, painted by lady artists and amateurs, with other paintings on china and porcelain, has proved highly attractive. It is not, indeed, a novelty to most English visitors, since Messrs. Howell and James have, during three years past, held an annual competitive exhibition of such beautiful work, under the patronage of the Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and three other Princesses of our Royal family, at their Art-Pottery Galleries, in Regent-street, where the last exhibition, consisting of more than one thousand original works, was visited by nearly ten thousand persons. Many of these paintings on china, at the Paris Exhibition, have been purchased by the Directors of Continental Museums of Art. We have before spoken of the magnificent artistic productions of Messrs. Elkington and Co. one of which was the subject of an Illustration. They have, we observe, received a gold medal as exhibitors; while their gifted artists, M. Morel Ladeuil and M. Auguste Willms, have been rewarded, the former with a gold medal, the latter with a silver one, for the designs of Messrs. Elkington's manufactured works. The eminent firm of Messrs. Joseph Gillott and Co., of Birmingham, has also won high honours at the Exhibition; while Messrs. Osler, besides their various elegant glass chandeliers and candelabra, have shown a Gothic cabinet, in the form of an altar with reredos, and a superb Oriental throne or chair of state, made of solid cut glass, the back and seat of crimson velvet, which were viewed with great admiration. The famous chocolate manufacturers, Menier and Co., are entitled, by virtue of their great establishment in Southwark-street, to appear in the English, as well as in the French Section of the Food Department; and they have received a medal for the excellent quality of their production. A huge block of the finest chocolate, weighing about three hundredweight, commands the notice of passing visitors at the front of their stall.

The Marquis of Ormonde has been appointed Lieutenant of Kilkenny, in the room of the late Right Hon. Colonel Tighe; and Mr. King-Harman, M.P., has been appointed Lieutenant of Roscommon, vice Lieutenant-Colonel E. K. Teneson.

It was announced at the meeting of the Sheffield Town Council on Wednesday afternoon that the Duke of Norfolk had set apart three pieces of land as recreation-grounds for the people of Sheffield. The land is situated at Parkwood Springs, Carlisle-street East, and in Beighton-lane districts, where thousands of working people will be able to use these open spaces.

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Bode, Charles Lloyd, to be Curate of Kidderminster.
Chute, D. W.; Rural Dean of Basingstoke, N.E. Division.
Edgell, John; Vicar of Lambourne, Berks.
Harrison, William; Vicar of Worplesdon.
Humphrey, William Topley; Vicar of Wick.
Manclarke, R. P.; Rector of Anmer, Norfolk.
Owen, S. Hubert; Rector of Bucknall cum Bagnall.
Phillips, G. W.; Vicar of Pelsworth.
Risley, William Cotton; Rector of Shalstone, Bucks.
Scarlett, E. J.; Curate of Abbot's Bromley, Rugeley.
Smedley, John; Vicar of Blacktoft, York.
Smith, Edward Samuel; Vicar of All Saints', Viney Hill.
Wilmot, Francis Edward William; Curate of Newland.—Guardian.

On Wednesday Sir James Campbell, Bart, laid the foundation-stone of a new church at Coleford, Forest of Dean.

On Oct. 1 the chapel of the recently erected county hospital of Lincoln was consecrated by the Bishop of the diocese, and the hospital declared open for the reception of patients.

Among the collection at St. Andrew's Church, Liverpool, on Monday, after a sermon on behalf of the Seamen's Orphanage, was found a massive gold chain.

The restoration of the fine old Priory Church of St. Mary, Old Malton, which has been in hand about fifteen months, is progressing very satisfactorily, at the sole cost of Earl Fitzwilliam. The cost, it is stated, will be £3000.

About £75,000 has been promised towards the fund required for endowing a bishopric for Liverpool. This sum includes four subscriptions of £10,000 each. The total amount needed for the endowment is £85,000.

Whittlebury church was reopened for Divine service on the 4th inst., after restoration at the cost of Mr. R. Loder, the lord of the manor. The restoration has been conducted under the direction of Mr. St. Aubyn.

Messrs. Longmire and Burge have received the order to proceed with the new roof for the nave of St. Alban's Cathedral, of the old high pitch, according to the resolution of the meeting of subscribers two months ago, confirming the previous resolution of the Faculty Committee.

On Tuesday, the 24th ult., the Bishop of Hereford reopened the church at Bobbington, Staffordshire. This old Norman church is dedicated to the "Holy Cross." The nave was built not long after the Conquest, and the chancel about the time of Stephen.

Earl Nelson and the Bishop of Pennsylvania were present on Monday afternoon at the distribution of the prizes to the successful students of the Leeds Parish Church Middle-Class Schools, and spoke in favour of religious instruction being imparted along with secular knowledge.

A festival of the united choirs of the various churches within the borough of Leeds was held on Monday evening at the parish church, under the auspices of the council of the Leeds Church Institute and Sunday-School Association. The gathering included over 800 surpliced choristers and some sixty clergy in their robes.

The Church of St. Augustine and St. Faith, which is situated at the corner of Watling-street and Old Change, and which, according to tradition, was rebuilt, after the Great Fire, from designs furnished by a daughter of Sir Christopher Wren, has been put into a state of thorough repair; and, at the same time, has been rearranged and decorated, under the superintendence, and from the plans, of Mr. A. W. Blomfield.

On Monday the Bishop of Oxford preached at the reopening of Wilstock church after restoration, costing between £6000 and £7000, to which the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, whose palace of Blenheim adjoins the town, subscribed £500. The Bishop presided afterwards at a luncheon in the Townhall, at which Lord Randolph Churchill, the member for the borough, and a large number of local gentry were present.

The Church of St. Mary and St. Bartholomew, Hampton-in-Arden, has been restored. It is a grand old structure, in the Norman and Early English styles, and it had originally a lofty spire, which, according to Dugdale, was a noted mark to a great portion of the woodland, but it was destroyed by lightning in 1643. The restoration of the church has been carried out under the superintendence of Mr. W. Eden Nesfield. A handsome reredos, given by the Vicar, the Rev. T. J. Morris, will shortly be erected. The entire cost of the restoration has been about £3200, of which £600 has been given by the owners of the great tithes, the Master and Brethren of Lord Leycester's Hospital, Warwick.

A valuable testimonial was presented on Monday night to the Rev. Henry Robinson, Rector of St. Paul's, St. Leonards-on-Sea, upon the occasion of his leaving that parish, after a ministry there of over ten years. In acknowledging the gift, the Rev. Mr. Robinson gave an account of Church work in St. Leonards during that period, and pointed to the great increase in the number of communicants as evidence that his ministry had prospered. He said that he had collected in ten years for the purposes of his parish work £31,880, which had all been expended by means of various charitable funds or for the schools, crèche, and other buildings, and he would venture to assert that very few churches with a congregation of only 900 could boast of such results.

The Church of Holy Rood, Crofton, which replaces a curious old structure originally founded more than eight hundred years ago, was consecrated on the 2nd inst. by the Bishop of Winchester. It stands about half a mile from the old church, upon a plot of ground nearly an acre in extent, given by Mr. Montague Foster. It is a building of considerable size, and has cost £3500, the principal contributors being Mr. Foster, Sir Frederick Sykes, Sir George Wingate, and Mr. Delme. The architect is Mr. Goodchild. The church is in Transitional Gothic of the thirteenth century; it is built of flints, and is lined with Isle of Wight primrose-coloured bricks, pointed with pink mortar. The font is a gift from the Hon. Miss Baring; the Marchioness of Bath presented the reredos; Sir Frederick Sykes the organ; and Lady Sykes the lectern.

At the sitting of the Church Congress at Sheffield on the 3rd inst., the chief subject of discussion was the relations of the Church to the Stage, in the course of which the Rev. G. Everard, of Wolverhampton, denounced the theatre in strong terms, and said that either it must be given up or Christ must be lost. The Bishop of Manchester, who said that "for the moment his breath had almost been taken away by that tremendous utterance," contended that they had no right to condemn or declaim against the theatre until they had by some definite act of their own tried to amend it. On the 4th inst. the subjects of discussion included spiritual life, its helps and hindrances, and the supply, training, and examination of candidates for holy orders. In the section which met in the Cutlers' Hall, interesting papers were contributed by the Rev. Professor Rawlinson, Canon Tristram, and Mr. W. R. Cooper, on the results of the confirmation of Scripture given by the discoveries in Egypt, Nineveh, Palestine, and the catacombs of Rome. The Congress terminated with a conversazione in the evening. The meeting next year will be at Swansea.

At the Canterbury Diocesan Conference the chief subjects of discussion were "Mission Services in Rural Districts?" and "The Church Defence Institution." On the former the general feeling of the conference was against the "revival" system, though the Archbishop expressed the opinion that there were dull places where a little stirring up would do both the clergy and the laity good. On the subject of the Church Defence Institution, his Grace said the best means of Church defence would be for the clergy and laity to earnestly endeavour, in their various spheres, to perform the duty devolving upon them. By that means they would defeat the aims of the Liberation Society.—At the annual soirée of the Wakefield Church Institution yesterday week Mr. Beresford-Hope, M.P., spoke on the benefits of the Church of England bishopric movement. Mr. Sanderson, M.P., said he trusted they would not be long in having the bishopric question settled to their satisfaction. In no town throughout the country was the feeling between Churchmen and Dissenters more amicable than at Wakefield, and that was one reason why the town was chosen as the seat of a new diocese.—The Bishop of Chichester, in his triennial charge at Chichester on Tuesday, referred to the recent perversion to Rome of several of his Brighton clergy, and said that the distress and grief at such unfaithfulness had bowed down many hearts, but none more than his own.—At the Carlisle Diocesan Conference, held the same day, a resolution was carried by 47 votes to 19 to the effect that the mode of legislation for the Church should be reviewed and rearranged.—The Bishop of Oxford opened the Diocesan Conference in that city on Wednesday. Referring to the proposed censure upon Cuddesdon College, his Lordship said this conference hitherto had considered the welfare of the Church was best served by taking counsel together how to meet the growing secularism and increasing spirit of unbelief, rather than by attacking one another. He desired that there should be a loyal love to the Church rather than an attempt to use one party as a weapon of offence against the other.

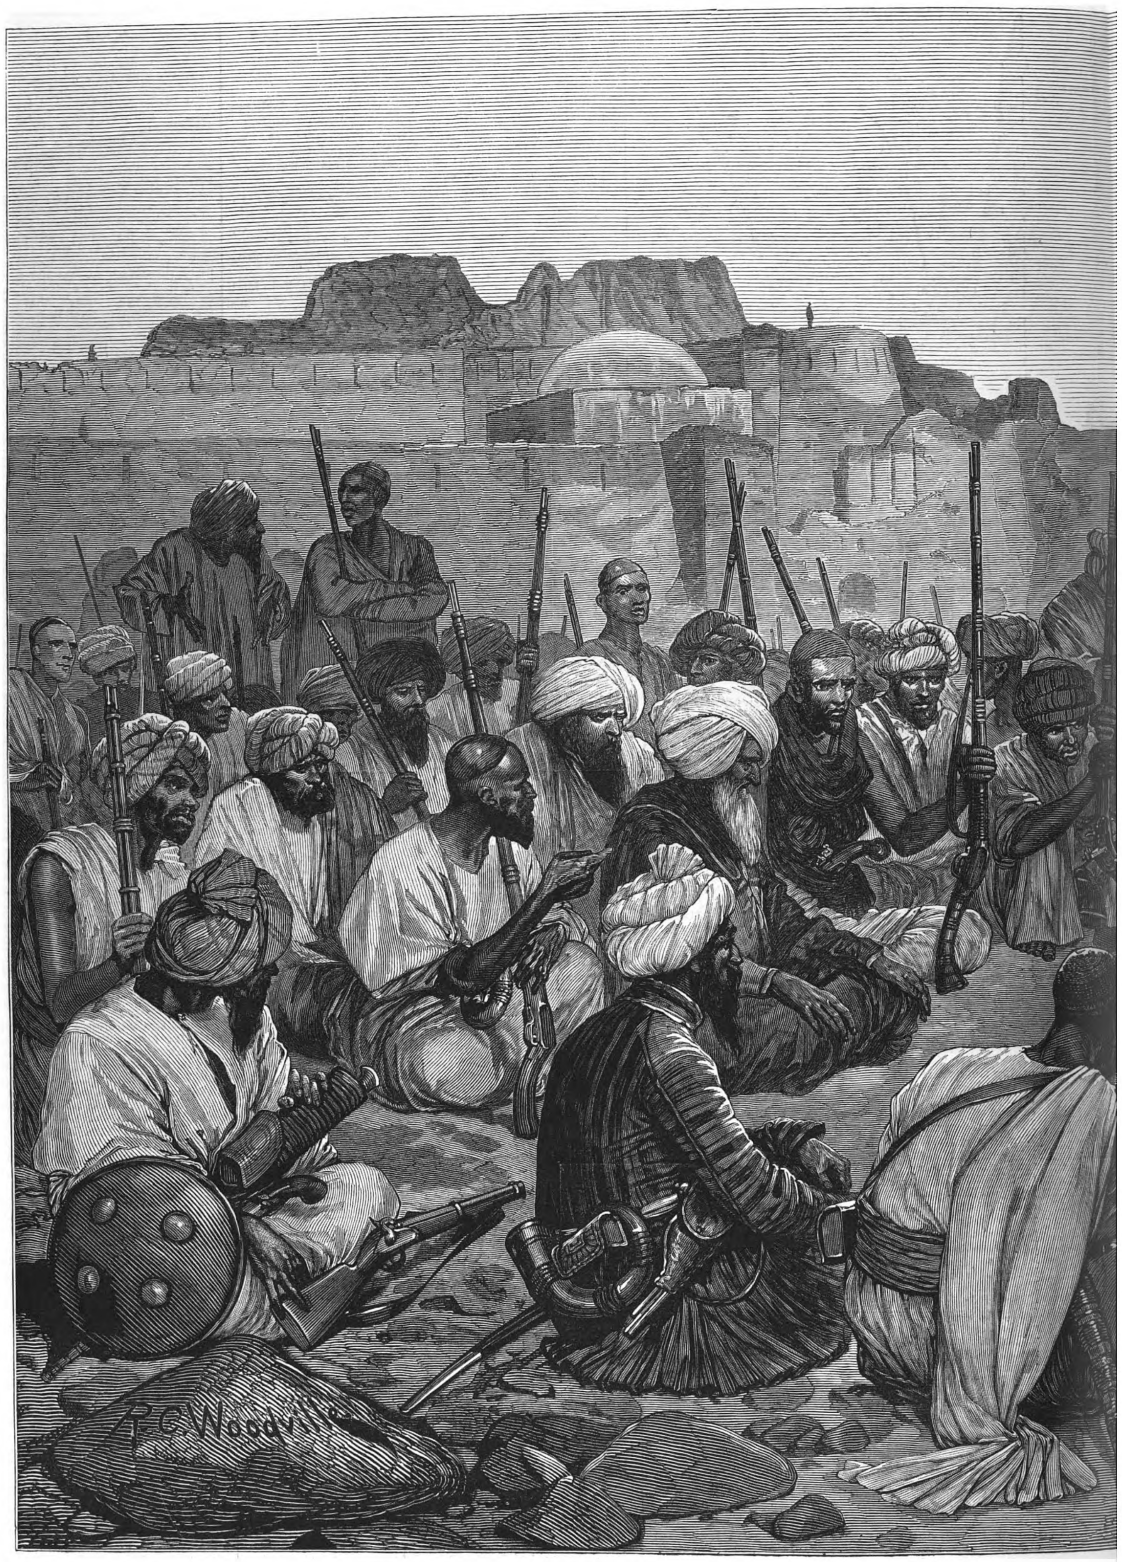
To the number of about seven hundred, the ministers and delegates of Baptist Churches throughout England and Wales assembled on Tuesday at Leeds. The sitting was devoted to the consideration of the comparative stagnation of missionary support during the past thirty years. At the afternoon meeting Dr. Underhill, in the name of the Baptist missionaries in India, presented a silver tea service to the Rev. C. B. Lewis, who has returned from Calcutta broken in health, after thirty years of labour. In the evening a public missionary meeting was held in the Leeds Townhall, which was crowded, about 3000 persons being present. The chair was occupied by Sir Henry M. Havelock, M.P.

At the Asylum for Fatherless Children on Tuesday a new church, which commemorates thirty years' service rendered to this charity by the Rev. T. Aveling, D.D., its hon. secretary, was opened in the presence of a large number of the friends of the institution. This asylum, which was founded by the late Dr. Andrew Reed in 1844, was first established at Stamford-hill. Afterwards it was removed to the present building, at Reedham (named after the founder), near Croydon.

Last Saturday afternoon the foundation-stone of a new Baptist Chapel at North Finchley was laid, in the presence of a large assembly of ministers and others. Mr. James Barlow (of Accrington) performed the ceremony, and the Rev. J. A. Spurgeon gave an address.

Mr. Mundella, M.P., laid the foundation-stone of a new Primitive Methodist Chapel, near Sheffield, on Monday, and said in doing so he wished the stone had been laid by the Archbishop of York or the Bishop of Manchester. He hoped the day was not far distant when we should force the narrow boundary lines which divide us, and that all Christians would feel they were seeking one common result.

THE UNIVERSITIES AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.



The Master of Pembroke College, Oxford, the Rev. E. Evans, M.A., was on Tuesday installed as Vice-Chancellor, in succession to the Warden of New College, who has filled the office for the customary four years. Dr. Sewell, on retiring, made the usual Latin speech, commenting upon the academic events of the year; and the new Vice-Chancellor, having taken his seat, remarked upon the difficulty he would experience in following a man so universally esteemed as his predecessor.—The following elections have been held at Pembroke College:—To Classical Scholarships: Mr. Tower, from Lancing College, and Mr. Walters, from Christ's Hospital. To a Mathematical Scholarship: Mr. Kingdon, from Eton College. Proxime accesserunt, Mr. Hare, from Bradfield College, and Mr. Marcus, from Manchester School.—The following elections to Classical postmasterships have been made at Merton College:—Mr. Philip Anthony Dwyer, of Christ's Hospital, and Mr. Edward Sumner Bicknell Fletcher, of Cheltenham College. Proxime accessit—Mr. George Thorn Drury, of the King's School, Canterbury.

At Cambridge, the following gentlemen have passed the examination in Sanitary Sciences:—J. R. Arbuckle, M.D.; E. A. Birch, F.R.C.S.; N. B. Elliott, F.G.C.S.; J. Mathews, L.R.C.P.; I. C. T. Ross, surgeon.

The examiners for the Andrews prizes for new students of University College, London, have recommended the award of the prizes (each of the value of £20) as follows:—Classics, G. B. Matthews; English and other languages, T. L. Allen; Science, H. Duncan. For the medical entrance exhibitions (tenable for two years) the following recommendations have been made: exhibition of £30 per annum, C. M. M'Shane; ditto £20 ditto, W. C. C. Wilkinson; ditto £10 ditto, E. R. St. Clair Corbin.

A meeting of Convocation of the Queen's University in Ireland was on the 4th inst. held in Dublin Castle. The report mentioned the continued success of the Queen's University and its colleges, and recognised with satisfaction the passing of the Intermediate Education Act, which, when modified in course of time under experience of its working, would be unexceptionable. The report further expressed a hope that the Government would take into consideration the representation of the University in Parliament and the erection of proper buildings.

We learn from the London (Ontario) Daily Free Press that the autumn term of the Hellmuth Ladies College, in Western Ontario, began under most favourable auspices on the 18th ult. This college was opened by Prince Arthur about ten years ago, when an engraving of it appeared in this paper. The Rev. James Hill is the Resident Principal and Chaplain, and Miss Clinton the Lady Principal and Musical Directress. The Free Press winds up a eulogistic notice of those who have charge of the college, singling out Mr. Hill and Miss Clinton for special praise, by commending the institution to all who may have daughters to educate.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR: MEETING

F AFREEDIS IN THE KHYBER PASS.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

Etre de Marly—to be invited to one of the fêtes given by the Grand Monarque at Marly, near Versailles, was accounted, two hundred years ago, as the most unimpeachable of guarantees of the social distinction of the guest. To be well thought of in Paris, just at present—to be reckoned among the crème de la crème, the fine fleur of society, you should have been present last Monday night at the Grand Opéra, to witness the first representation of M. Gounod's "Polyeucte." Everybody—everybody at least worth speaking of: statesmen, senators, deputies, ladies in diamonds, diplomatists with decorations, artists, authors, journalists, might be pointed out in the stalls or the avant-scènes. I need scarcely say that I was not present. I have the honour to be acquainted with M. Halanzier, the manager of the Académie Nationale de Musique; but I have little doubt that the judicious impresario in question would have seen me at Hong-Kong or at Hyderadab ere he thought of giving me a fauteuil d'orchestre for the first night of "Polyeucte."

So I stayed at home, "dipping my nose in the Gascon wine"—for which please read Eau de St. Galmier and gentian, a very nice beverage to smoke the pipe of peace over trying to remember what Alban Butler has said about St. Polyeucte in the "Lives of the Saints." The critic of one of the French papers says that he has been reading up "Polyeucte" in the Bollandists; but, at the risk of being considered discourteous, I must confess that I am loth to believe that critic—first, because the Bollandists have not got as far as the letter P; and, next, because I never knew but one layman who had read the Bollandists at all. And he died.

It is the pleasantly equitable custom in French theatres at the close of the first performance of a new piece for the régisseur, or acting manager, to come before the curtain and announce the names, not only of the author or authors of the play, but also those of the scene-painter, the chief machinist, the "property" master, and the draughtsman who has designed the costumes. He does, in fact, orally that which our playbills do typographically; for the French, with all their dramatic ingenuity, have not yet mastered the art of drawing up an exhaustive and attractive "bill of the play." A Boxing Night programme of one of Mr. E. L. Blanchard's pantomimes at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, is, next to the celebrated advertisement in which Pope's villa at Twickenham was offered for sale—is that advertisement going on still, I wonder?—one of the most artistic compilations that I have ever perused.

Among the names of the co-labourers in the production of "Polyeucte" proclaimed by the régisseur on Monday was that of Pierre Corneille. The libretto of M. Gounod's opera does indeed follow very closely the lines of the most illustrious of French tragic dramatists; and in some cases whole passages of Corneille's rhymed couplets have been converted into recitative. How would you like "Hamlet"—M. Gounod has already made the Prince of Denmark the subject of a French opera—set to English words? Cavatina, Polonius, "Very like a whale." Song, Hamlet, "Alas! poor Ghost." Grand Scena, Ophelia, "To a Nunnery go; no, not I." It is possible that the pit might rise at such an adaptation of the words of the "divine William's," even as they "rose" at Edmund Kean's; but it is equally possible that they might "rise" to throw orange-peel and halfpence at the performers.

Mem.: A literal version of the libretto of "Polyeucte" would scarcely, I am afraid, be tolerated in England. The subject is much too theological to be agreeable to a mixed audience. I remember, some twelve years since, witnessing Donizetti's "Poliuto" or "I Martiri"—I forget the precise name of the opera—at the Grand Opera, Madrid. Tamberlik was the Poliuto; and the scene in which he destroys the pagan idols provoked a violent religious demonstration in the house. The gallery, orthodox Catholics to a man, broke out in loud vivas of applause; while hisses and catcalls arose from the sceptical stalls. It happens, nevertheless, that our own dramatic literature possesses a masterpiece to which M. Gounod's magisterial music might most appropriately be fitted. I mean Massinger's "Virgin Martyr." The angelic Dorothea is a far more interesting heroine than Corneille's vacillating Paulina.

A brief "mem.;" and then farewell, M. Gounod. Who will favour me with a French rhyme for Polyeucte? Boileau, much to the annoyance of Corneille, did succeed in finding rhymes for "Agesilas" and "Attila." "Agesilas; hélas. Attila; holà!" exclaimed the satirist. But the rhyme was not so clever as that discovered by the English wag for "porringer":—

> The Prince of Wales a daughter had;
> He gave the Prince of Orange her.

But the Princess did not marry the Prince of Orange. It was Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, afterwards King of the Belgians, that our poor dear Princess Charlotte wedded.

The French "puzzle-master" in the World asks for a French equivalent for "flirting." It is not my business to spoil the play of his disciples; but I may hint that in the unacademical jargon of the Parisian papers of the Figaro and Gaulois type "flirter" has long since been adopted as a verb. In modern Greek a male flirt is philareskos, and a female one kalopiotes, the act of flirting is areskuomai. In the way of puzzle-locutions may I ask for equivalents for the following:—"A la Saint Rémi perdrix sont perdreaux." "Où la mouche a passé le moucheron demeure." "A mule donnée on ne regarde pas aux clochettes." To the last, Sancho Panza's caveat against looking a gift horse in the mouth comes very close indeed.

"Monsieur Francis Grand, of the British Academy, died lately at Edinburgh." Thus, in our French telegrams, was recorded the decease at Melton Mowbray of the accomplished and revered Sir Francis Grant, President of the Royal Academy of Arts; the "young Frank Grant" incidentally mentioned in Lockhart's "Life of Sir Walter Scott," and the brother of the heroic Sir Hope Grant. The French telegram-writer was not to be blamed, perhaps. The late President filled a most distinguished place in English society. His blameless character, his graceful manners, gained for him general esteem among his own countrymen; but as an artist Sir Francis was as totally unknown to Continental critics as Sir Martin Archer Shee, P.R.A. Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Thomas Lawrence they do know and admire; they have a dim notion that Sir Charles Lock Eastlake was a good judge of the Italian school of painting; while, curious to remark, they entertain great respect for our much maligned Benjamin West, who is classed with Raphael, Mengs, and with Poelemburg, as a learned Academical draughtsman, but a weak painter.

And yet our grandsires—nay, the sires of some among us—used to go into ecstasies over Benjamin West's grand picture of "Death on the Pale Horse," which the diva Sarah Siddons pronounced to be "truly sublime." I dare say Benjamin—who was intensely but harmlessly self-conscious—felt that he had reached the pitch of the "truly sublime" in this now wholly-forgotten painting. Do you remember that delicious passage in his diary descriptive of his visit to the Louvre in 1802 after the Peace of Amiens. "The Great Gallery was full of distinguished persons, among whom my presence seemed to attract much attention. They made a lane for me to pass through to the Salon d'Apollon. P.S.—I was accompanied by the Right Honourable Charles James Fox." This is almost as good as John Kemble's querulous complaint, when he was sojourning in Switzerland, that people bestowed a vast deal too much nonsensical attention on the Righi and Mont Blanc.

I have been reading some more of the prophecies of Nostradamus, but reading them so desultorily that I can scarcely tell whether the following jingle is indeed to be found among the predictions of the old seer or whether it is a creation of my own distempered imagination.

> L'an mil huit cent soixante et dix huit
> Mort conduict un peintre en gite,
> Frédéric, peintre, sculpteur qui occisa Python,
> Maistre les Académiciens trouvèrent bon.

Can Nostradamus really have foretold that the successor to Sir Francis Grant would be Mr. Frederick Leighton, R.A., and to this is it possible that he added:—

> Bonne Reyne, de joie en si leal valet,
> Bref, sur le champ, le nomma chevalier.

That evidently points to Sir Frederick Leighton.

"The descendant of Edmund Whalley, who was first cousin to John Hampden and of Oliver Cromwell," aye, and who signed the death-warrant of Charles I. "Can Bourbon or Nassau go higher" in the way of Puritan ancestry? Poor Mr. G. H. Whalley, sometime member for Peterborough. I read, in the English papers, with real sorrow of his death. I knew him well for years, but recently from afar off. I preferred to listen to him talking about the Pope and the Tichborne case, puffing at his meerschaum meanwhile, in a club smoking-room, to talking to him; for talking leads to arguing; and on the two thorny topics I have named Mr. Whalley was as much above argument as the old German Kaiser was above grammar. But I did not fail heartily to congratulate him after the last General Election on his being again returned for Peterborough; and I may venture to predict that he will be as much lamented by his constituents as he will be missed and regretted in the House. He may have had the Pope and the Claimant on the brain; but he was not the less, to my thinking, a simple, kindly, true-hearted gentleman, whom everybody liked, and whom many loved. G. A. S.

THE MAGAZINES.

Each of the serial fictions of the Cornhill contains exciting matter this month; but the strength of the magazine lies in its miscellaneous papers, which attain a high standard individually and collectively. Mr. Gosse gives a highly interesting account of the great Swedish poet Runeberg, recently deceased, with an excellent translation of one of his ballads. Runeberg was a Fin, and it is his great claim to distinction to have depicted Finnish life in its idyllic aspects, and at the same time to have made himself the mouthpiece of the martial spirit and military traditions of the country. His "Kings of Salamis" has also great reputation as a classical tragedy. The second part of Professor Colvin's able monograph on the Centaurs is chiefly occupied with the representations of their monstrous but beautiful figures in ancient art. Mr. Grant Allen, after a careful analysis of the office of colour in painting, seems more than half disposed to conclude that this will ultimately become merely decorative, and that incident and feeling will be expressed by mere form. "Literary Coincidences" is an erudite and entertaining register of some of the most remarkable instances, seasoned with much sound literary criticism. "Coven's Revenge" is another of the French stories for which this periodical has obtained a deserved reputation.

Mr. George Meredith's "Love in the Valley" is not only the best thing in Macmillan, but one of the most beautiful of his poems. It is, however, by no means a novelty, having appeared in its original shape nearly thirty years ago, although now considerably expanded, and no doubt improved. The only other contributions of much mark are Mr. Freeman's graphic sketches from Eastern Sicily and Mr. Minto's highly interesting demonstration, apropos of the African passages in Defoe's "Captain Singleton," how much of our recent African discovery is rediscovery. Mr. A. J. Evans stands up for the right of the Servians to absorb Bosnia and Herzegovina, although on his own showing such an annexation would be little in harmony with the wishes either of the Mohammedan or of the Catholic section of the population.

Fraser, as usual of late, is much too heavy. Turkish slavery, Victorian protection, Chinese emigration, and English Non-conformity are all important subjects, ably handled; but, taken altogether, are somewhat formidable, and require more relief than can be obtained even from the attractive continuation of "Italian Musical Life in the Eighteenth Century," the only lively paper in the number.

Blackwood, on the contrary, is exceedingly entertaining with the rich burlesque, deepening into seriousness, of "The New Ordeal," and the equally amusing abstract of the European and Oriental travels of the sturdy Scot Lithgow, a figure worthy of Sir Walter. "Three Days in Paris" is amusing also, but too long. "Fireflies" is the outline of a pretty comedy; and the five little poems signed "J. S." attain a standard of late most unusual in magazine poetry.

The sensational article of the Nineteenth Century of this month is Mr. Forbes's paper on the "Fiasco of Cyprus," which must itself be pronounced a fiasco. It is surprisingly deficient in the item of personal experience, and is, in fact, hardly anything else than a restatement of those obvious exceptions against the moral and strategical significance of our occupation, which could be and have been perfectly well discovered at home. Mr. Hyndman's study of the financial difficulties of India is a far more weighty contribution to a theme of more momentous consequence. Mr. Hyndman is a severe critic of the present Indian financial system, and his views, though not to be adopted implicitly, demand respectful attention. Mr. Mackonochie is a reformer of another sort. His proposal for the disestablishment of the English Church, carefully digested into a regular Act of Parliament, is a fine stroke of humour on the part of an unendowed incumbent who has everything to gain and nothing to lose by the operation. It is perhaps superfluous to observe that Mr Mackonochie makes very special provision for the abolition of the spiritual courts. Mr. Mallock, so lively as a satirist, takes rather a gloomy view of things when he comes to serious speculation. He writes a long essay to prove "that there is no belief of any human value that cannot be doubted or contradicted without absurdity." Mr. Romanes, however, in his interesting paper on "Animal Intelligence," finds an exception to this dictum in the theory of evolution, which is not only indubitable, but "a rising Sun of Truth." Mr. Romanes may be over-sanguine, but his honest enthusiasm is preferable to Mr. Mallock's laborious sophistries. Mr. E. Wilson exposes some of the abuses of the American caucus system; and a review of recent science is not only complete and lucid, but eminent for its sober and cautious spirit. The singular title of Mr. Gladstone's contribution, "The Slicing of Hector," proves to denote an ingenious and generally convincing refutation of the alleged discrepancy in the traits of Hector's character as represented in the Iliad.

The leading contribution to the Contemporary Review is also from Mr. Gladstone's pen. The distinguished statesman writes so much that his essays are becoming mere improvisations, and the chief importance of his reply to the Abbé Martin is the additional witness it bears to his estrangement from the Church of Rome. Mr. Gladstone's belief in the ultimate manufacturing superiority of America, recently stated with such ill-judged bluntness, would probably have been more cautiously expressed if he had the advantage of reading Mr. Henderson's paper on the subject. Mr. Henderson dwells on several considerations unfavourable to American manufacturers which could only have been appreciated by a practical man, as, for instance, the dryness of the atmosphere. He also refers to the degree to which American establishments are carried on by companies, and the consequent facilities for negligence and peculation. The other contributions are not remarkable, except the excellent letters from France and Russia on the present intellectual condition of those countries, and the "Contemporary Literary Chronicle," in seven sections, which promises well.

The contents of the Fortnightly Review are less interesting than usual. Mr. Lowe's paper on "Imperialism" is no statesman-like discussion of the question, but merely a brief electioneering address. The first of Mr. F. Harrison's projected series of essays on "The English School of Jurisprudence," treating of Austin's and Sir H. Maine's theories of sovereignty, is indeed a valuable contribution to the subject, but interesting only to a limited number of readers. Mr. Pater's pretty and ingenious criticism of Charles Lamb evinces that the writer is much less interested in Lamb in his own personality than as the exemplar of a critical method which he desires to recommend. The Chinese romance of "The Two Fair Cousins" has frequently been summarised before. Sir David Wedderburn, however, is enabled to impart a certain novelty to his analysis by his intimate acquaintance with Chinese life. Mr. Saintsbury's criticism of the elder Dumas is probably not less able than his previous performances of the same nature; but we are getting tired of the incessant stream of critiques on French novelists, not one of whom will be read or thought of a century hence. Mr. R. A. Earle's criticism of Mr. Gladstone's ideas of foreign policy is ingenious and worthy of attention. Mr. Earle's notion is that Mr. Gladstone is trimming too much between two opinions, and that he will ultimately have to come to a policy of Philo-Russianism and peace at any price.

The American magazines are, as usual, full of interest; but we can do little more than allude to their varied contents. Mr. Gladstone's unlucky "Kin beyond Sea," in the North American Review, has already received full attention from the English press. The same journal contains an exhaustive article on "Torpedo Warfare" by Admiral Porter, one of the men whose practical experience of it has been the largest; and a spirited appeal in favour of Civil Service reform in the United States, by Mr. John Jay, "Certain Dangerous Tendencies in American Life." The first paper in the Atlantic Monthly gives a gloomy prospect of the general war of the poorer classes against property, which the writer regards as preparing. A melancholy view of the enormous taxation of Boston, in the same periodical, deepens this uncomfortable impression. "The Europeans" is concluded, and there is the first of a promising series of papers on the inner life of the Brook Farm community, depicted in Hawthorne's "Blithedale Romance." The most important contribution to an excellent number of Scribner's Monthly is a thorough account of the art-schools of New York, copiously and capitally illustrated. General Viele's reminiscences of an expedition in company with President Lincoln and Secretaries Chase and Stanton are highly entertaining, and Mr. Mackay's little poem, "A Parable," is very beautiful and feeling.

The "remedy for Victorian Crises" proposed in the Melbourne Review is the election of the governor by the people, equivalent to the virtual independence of the colony. Victorian banking, brewing, and schooling are also the subjects of interesting papers.

The Gentleman's Magazine treats us to the continuation of Mr. Sala's amusing "Cupid;" and to an almost equally entertaining article by Dr. Richardson on ether-drinking in the north of Ireland, where the Doctor avers that in one limited district the anæsthetic has wholly superseded alcohol as a means of intoxication, to the advantage, as he thinks, of the consumer. Temple Bar and Belgravia are full of amusing reading, but contain nothing of special mark. The Month has a good paper on the recent conference of Librarians, and a vindication of the Jesuit Garnett from the charges brought against him in connection with the Gunpowder Plot. The Dublin University continues to improve. "Primitive Buddhism" is concluded, "An Innocent Sinner" continued, and the monthly portrait and memoir, both excellent of their kind, are devoted to Professor Max Müller. "Cressida" continues to be the chief attraction of London Society, as "Macleod of Dare" is of Good Words, which periodical, however, is full of good matter, and is particularly remarkable for a lucid and detailed account of the last scientific marvel, the microphone. The Argosy maintains its modest but genuine standard of excellence. Of the St. James's Magazine and the Churchman's Monthly there is little to be said.

Social Notes, a weekly periodical, conducted by Mr. S. C. Hall, has established a reputation for its light yet thoughtful papers on social matters, in which evils are pointed out and remedies suggested with a refreshing absence of sermonising. Writers of repute contribute to Social Notes, which is now rendered additionally attractive by a pictorial frontispiece to each number portraying "Benefactors: 'Not for an Age, but for All Time,'" drawn by Walter J. Allen. The first volume of this practical publication has been issued. It embodies a large amount of valuable information concerning social reforms, social requirements, and social progress.

The first Number of the Lives of the Cardinals (Roland, Ladelle, and Co.) has just been issued, and gives ample promise of being a handsome addition to the literature of Roman Catholicism. His Holiness Pope Leo XIII. (Cardinal Pecci), of whom an excellent lithographic portrait forms the frontispiece, is the subject of the first memoir, which is written in a fluent style by Mr. Patrick Justin O'Byrne.

We have also received the Psychological Review, Popular Science Review, St. Nicholas, Part 1 of Heroes of Britain in Peace and War, Part 4 of A Dictionary of Music and Musicians, Part 7 of Our Native Land, No. 18 of the Journal of Forestry, No. 34 of Men of Mark (containing portraits of the Right Hon. Hugh Childers, M.P., Dr. Andrew Clark, and Dr. J. Stainer), Part 1 of the Leopold Shakspeare, Part 5 of The Cheveley Novels—Samuel Weir, St. James's Magazine, Magazine

Art, Geographical Magazine, Lippincott's Magazine, St. Nicholas, Charing-cross Magazine, Mirth, Science for All, Science Gossip, Familiar Wild Flowers, Cassell's Family Magazine, Poet's Magazine, Church Sunday-School Magazine, Mission Life, Daisy, Golden Childhood, Christian Age, Myra's Journal of Dress and Fashion and Myra's Mid-Monthly Journal and Children's Dress, Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine, Sylvia's Home Journal, Milliner and Dressmaker; and monthly parts of All the Year Round, Once a Week, Weekly Welcome, Golden Hours, Day of Rest, Sunday at Home, Sunday Magazine, Leisure Hour, Garden, Gardeners' Chronicle, and Gardener's Magazine.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

The death of Sir Richard Sutton occurred suddenly on Thursday week. He began his connection with the turf in 1856, and among the first four yearlings he bought was Eurydice, who won the Althorp Park Stakes and the Cambridgeshire. No man ever had a greater share of success with a very limited stud; and he was exceptionally fortunate with Gardevisure and Lord Lyon, both of whom he leased from General Pearson for their racing career. We need hardly remind our readers that Lord Lyon secured the triple crown—Guineas, Derby, and Leger—a feat that has only been accomplished by two other animals, West Australian and Gladiateur. Sir Richard served in the Navy, on board the Pique, commanded by the late Admiral Rous, and he afterwards entered the 1st Life Guards.

The Newmarket Second October Meeting is of such great importance that we may be excused from passing over the "little-go's" of last week with the simple remark that great improvements have been effected at Kempton Park, and the public has taken so kindly to the new venture that its success seems assured. Proceedings began on Monday with the Royal Stakes, which was reduced to a match between Childeric and Sonsie Queen, and backers are becoming so tired of Lord Falmouth's ungenerous colt that they laid slight odds on the filly, however, was beaten by three quarters of a length, though Childeric required a good deal of driving home. Of the six starters for the Clearwell Stakes, which was wisely brought forward to the Monday, Rayon d'Or was backed freely against the field, in spite of his 9 lb. penalty, and, running far more gamely than he has sometimes done, he had little trouble in defeating Ringleader, who up to the present time has always disappointed Lord Falmouth and shown himself quite unworthy of his relationship to Silvio. The filly by Victorious—Modena, on whom odds of 4 to 1 were laid, was defeated by Prologue in a £100 Plate, and, on the whole, the fielders had decidedly the better of a somewhat poor day's sport. On Tuesday the Burwell Stakes fell an easy prey to Mowerina, and the hollow style in which she disposed of the speedy Preciosa at weight for age shows her to be a really good filly, especially as Thornfield and White Poppy, both of whom are winners, were behind her. The next two races were of small importance, and people began to congregate in the Birdcage to see the Cesarewitch candidates saddled. In this, however, they were somewhat disappointed, as, of the twenty runners, only six appeared there; yet, strangely enough, this half dozen included Jester (6 st. 10 lb.), Start (7 st.), and Rochampton (6 st. 9 lb.), the first, second, and fourth in the race. Sefton (8 st.) fully maintained his premiership in the betting up to the fall of the flag, and of the remainder there was most money for Harbinger (7 st.) and Insulaire (7 st. 9 lb.). A very even start was effected without any difficulty, but after going a few strides the line was broken, for Shillelagh (6 st. 8 lb.) appeared to overpower his jockey—a very favourite proceeding of his recently—and made the running at such a cracking pace as to completely upset a good many previous calculations. Coming through the gap he held a lead of fully six lengths, and when more than half the distance had been covered he was still going well, and retaining his advantage. Of course this strong pace told terribly on the heavily-weighted three-year-olds, Sefton, Insulaire, and Master Kildare (7 st. 4 lb.) being quite out of it at the T.Y.C. winning-post. Having completely settled all the favourites, Shillelagh began to tire himself, and the Bushes was joined by Jester and Start, the former coming away and winning in a canter by five lengths, while Shillelagh was third, about half that distance behind Start. Mr. Naylor has thus repeated the triumph that he gained with Cherie in 1869, and is the only man who has ever won a Cesarewitch twice, except Mr. "Rosebery" Smith. Jester showed excellent form as a three-year-old in 1876; but since that time he has never earned a winning bracket. His weight in the Cambridgeshire, including the 14 lb. extra, is 7 st. 9 lb., so he is by no means out of the race, though it is probable that he just lacks the requisite turn of speed to score such a grand double event. There was a novelty at the end of the day's card, in the shape of the Apprentices' Plate, the horses to be ridden by lads who had never had a winning mount. The idea was a capital one, and the race fell to Brogden, a boy in Blanton's stable, who was on Sir John Astley's Drumhead.

The same pair took the opening race on Wednesday; and then the Bedford Stakes went to the great French stable by the help of Ultima, a daughter of Flageolet and Contempt, who performed so moderately on Monday that she started without a quotation. When it became known that Lord Falmouth had decided not to run Wheel of Fortune for the Middle Park Plate, there was a general run upon Peter, who escaped with a 4 lb. penalty. Rayon d'Or and the unbeaten Scapegrace were also strongly supported, and, with the withdrawal of Blink Boy, a promising son of Blinkhoolie and Laura, the dam of Lemnos, Petrarch, &c., Discord became the fancied candidate of the "dark" division. The last mentioned made the running until coming over the Bushes hill, where he was joined by Rayon d'Or; but, as they came out of the Abingdon Mile Bottom, Victor Chief and Peter went to the front. At the distance the former held a lead of half a length, and appeared pretty sure to win, but Peter struggled on with the greatest gameness, and, getting on terms with the Duke of Westminster's representative a few yards from the judge's box, secured a neck verdict. Three lengths off came Gunnersbury, and close up with him were Rayon d'Or and Massena, all the others being widely scattered. Ruperra, who was saddled with the full penalty of 7 lb., ran well until asked to come down the hill, which he once more proved unable to do; and Charibert proved a sorry substitute for Wheel of Fortune. Judging by her Goodwood form with Peter, and allowing a wide margin for the improvement of General Peel's colt, Wheel of Fortune would have won; still, Lord Falmouth exercised a wise discretion in sparing her such a task, and reserving her for all her valuable engagements of next season. Lord Clive disposed of Brie, Attalus, and Phénix with consummate ease for the Select Stakes, and was afterwards heavily backed for the Cambridgeshire. He is about the best-looking three-year-old of the season, but the only time that he has met really first-class horses he was beaten easily—by Hampton and Verneuil at Epsom—so we do not feel sure that he is quite so good as his warmest admirers aver. Hermit, the sire of Peter, was again to the front in the Ditch Mile Nursery, in which his daughter, Out of Bounds, carried 8 st. 6 lb. successfully; and, in the last race of the day, Fordham and Goater rode their second dead-heat during the week.

After a period of complete stagnation in the billiard world, the Westminster Aquarium Company have given £50 for an American Handicap on a championship table. There was some difficulty in making up eight players of sufficient calibre, as four of the cracks are away from England, and Taylor will not play in public until he meets Joseph Bennett at the end of the month. However, the number was at last secured, and play began on Saturday. At the time of writing the affair seems reduced to a match between G. Hunt (60 points start) and R. Wilson (80), both of whom have won all the four games they have played. Owing to the exceptional difficulty of the table, the play has been very slow, and a 47 by Collins is the largest break yet made. We shall allude to the handicap again next week.

ART, SCIENCE, AND LITERATURE.

Mr. Francis George Heath's "Fern Paradise," which we noticed last week, has already reached a fifth edition.

The subject of the crayon portrait in the Whitehall Review this week is Mr. P. Cunliffe Owen, C.B., the British Commissioner at the Paris Exhibition.

Lord Derby has presented to the Manchester Conservative Club three elegantly-bound volumes, the two first being a copy of the Iliad of Homer rendered into English blank verse, and the third a series of "Translations of Poems Ancient and Modern," both works being by the late Earl of Derby.

At Hawkstone Hall, Christ Church, Westminster Bridge-road, Sir Charles Reed presided last Monday at the inaugural meeting of the session 1878-9 in regard to the lectures and entertainments given weekly under the auspices of the Lambeth and Southwark Mission and Temperance Society.

Mr. E. J. Physick has completed the erection of a handsome sculptured monument in white marble over the grave, in Cheam churchyard, of the late Lieutenant Frank Tabor, R.N., who was picked up by a small boat sailing near at the time of the foundering of the Eurydice, and died before the boat could reach the shore.

Some enterprising gentlemen at Manchester have made a discovery at Knowsley, the principal seat of Lord Derby. It is known that photographs of Peel Castle, Isle of Man, represent the place in ruins; but Lord Derby has in his possession a painting of the castle as built 378 years ago. The picture has been photographed by Mr. R. Banks, of Manchester.

Mr. Otway, M.P., distributed the science and art awards to the pupils of the Rochester classes on Wednesday evening. He remarked that, although this country always held its own in the sciences, it was behind in the fine arts. He had, however, procured returns from South Kensington, which showed that the number of students in art-subjects was increasing.

Sir Charles Reed read a paper before the Society of Arts last Tuesday night on Education at the Paris Exhibition. There was a hope, he said, that, under men like M. Waddington and M. Jules Simon, France would work up her schools to a higher efficiency. The result of his observations at the Exhibition was that England had no right to consider herself at the head of the education of the world.

The annual soirée of the Photographic Society took place on Tuesday in the Gallery of the Society of Painters in Water-Colours in Pall-mall. The guests were received by the president, Mr. James Glaisher, F.R.S., and other members of the council. The display of landscapes was admirable. The exhibition will remain open to the public until Nov. 12, there being evening admission on Mondays and Saturdays.

Captain Charles T. Ritchie, M.P., on Wednesday evening distributed the Queen's prizes and certificates gained by the students of the Old Ford-road School of Science and Art, and in the course of his address referred to the lessons to be derived from the Exhibition at Paris, and of the immense importance of the efforts which are now being made in this country for a widespread dissemination of technical education.

Under the auspices of the Turners' Company, an exhibition was opened at the Mansion House on Tuesday of articles of wood-turning, pottery, and diamond cutting and polishing. In each subject, as a first prize, the company give a silver medal and the freedom of their guild and of the City, and as a second prize a bronze medal, besides many smaller gifts of money and certificates. The Lord Mayor distributed the prizes on Thursday.

The Librarians' Conference at Oxford concluded on the 3rd inst. A paper was read by Mr. Stevens on the Postal Union and International Copyright, in which he expressed the opinion that England should give the American Government a year to withdraw or abide by the Postal Treaty. It was decided that the next annual meeting should be held in Manchester. The American Library Association has invited the association to meet them next June.

An important announcement was made on Monday night by Professor Barrett, in lecturing at Birmingham. He said that Mr. Edison's agent, Mr. Adams, had received the following telegram:—"I have just solved the problem of the subdivision of the electric light indefinitely; but it will not be shown until all the patents are secured, and then I will send a description." Mr. Adams writes that he is in receipt of letters from Mr. Edison, in which he expresses perfect confidence in having solved the difficulty of electric lighting.

We understand that the Second Winter Exhibition at the Grosvenor Gallery will open in December, and will consist, as before, of drawings by the old masters and water-colour drawings. All those collectors who last year contributed to the success of the exhibition have again promised their support, and many fresh promises of help have already been received. Sir Coutts Lindsay will be grateful to all who possess old drawings, or to others who may know of their existence, for any information which would serve to render the second exhibition a worthy successor to the first.

After the usual autumn holiday recess, the new term of the Working Men's College, Great Ormond-street, has begun, and a novelty appears on the prospectus in the shape of a series of free popular lectures of a high class for men and women, to be given every Thursday evening; and how thoroughly the efforts of the council have been supported may be gathered from the fact that the list of lecturers comprise the names of Professor J. R. Seeley (author of "Ecce Homo"), Professor W. H. Corfield, Professor Lowne, Mr. Frederic Harrison, Mr. F. J. Furnivall (the editor of the Leopold Shakspeare), Dr. Casson, and also the Principal, Mr. Hughes, Q.C. The subjects selected by these gentlemen are literary and scientific.

The session of the Liverpool Art-Club opened on Monday, one of the principal events being the display of a collection of specimens of art-work in Chinese snuff-bottles and other articles in enamel porcelain-work, &c., connected with the use of tobacco. The specimens form part of the collection of Mr. W. Bragge, F.S.A., of Shirle-hill, Birmingham, and they present curious illustrations of Chinese skill and ingenuity in porcelain, jasper ware, variegated glass, and cornelian. Mr. Bragge was entertained at dinner by the club in the evening. In addition to the Bragge specimens, the club have now on view a loan collection of Italian carved wood of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, and several pieces of tapestry formerly in the possession of the Earl of Nithsdale.

A numerous meeting of gentlemen interested in the Bradford trade was held on the 3rd inst. in the Townhall, under the presidency of the Mayor, Mr. B. Priestley, to consider the desirability of permanently establishing the recently formed and already flourishing Bradford Technical School by the erection of suitable buildings for its location, at an estimated cost of £25,000. Letters were read from Mr. W. E. Forster, M.P., and Mr. H. W. Ripley, M.P., both strongly expressive of their warm approval of the object. Resolutions were adopted in favour of the object and appointing a committee of gentlemen with authority to carry it out. A subscription-list was opened, and £12,000 was subscribed at once, the following being the principal subscriptions:—Mr. H. W. Ripley, M.P., £2500; the Clothworkers' Company and Mr. Isaac Holden, £2000 each; Mr. Angus Holden, Mr. M. W. Thompson, Mr. H. Mitchell, Messrs. D. Illingworth, and Messrs. John Priestman and Co., £1000 each; and Mr. Forster, M.P., £500.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

A special mission for young men and others was begun on Sunday evening at Exeter Hall, and will continue at the hall and other places until the 7th of next month.

The fiftieth anniversary of the Butchers' Charitable Institution was celebrated, under the presidency of Mr. T. Knight, on Tuesday, when the subscriptions amounted to £1000.

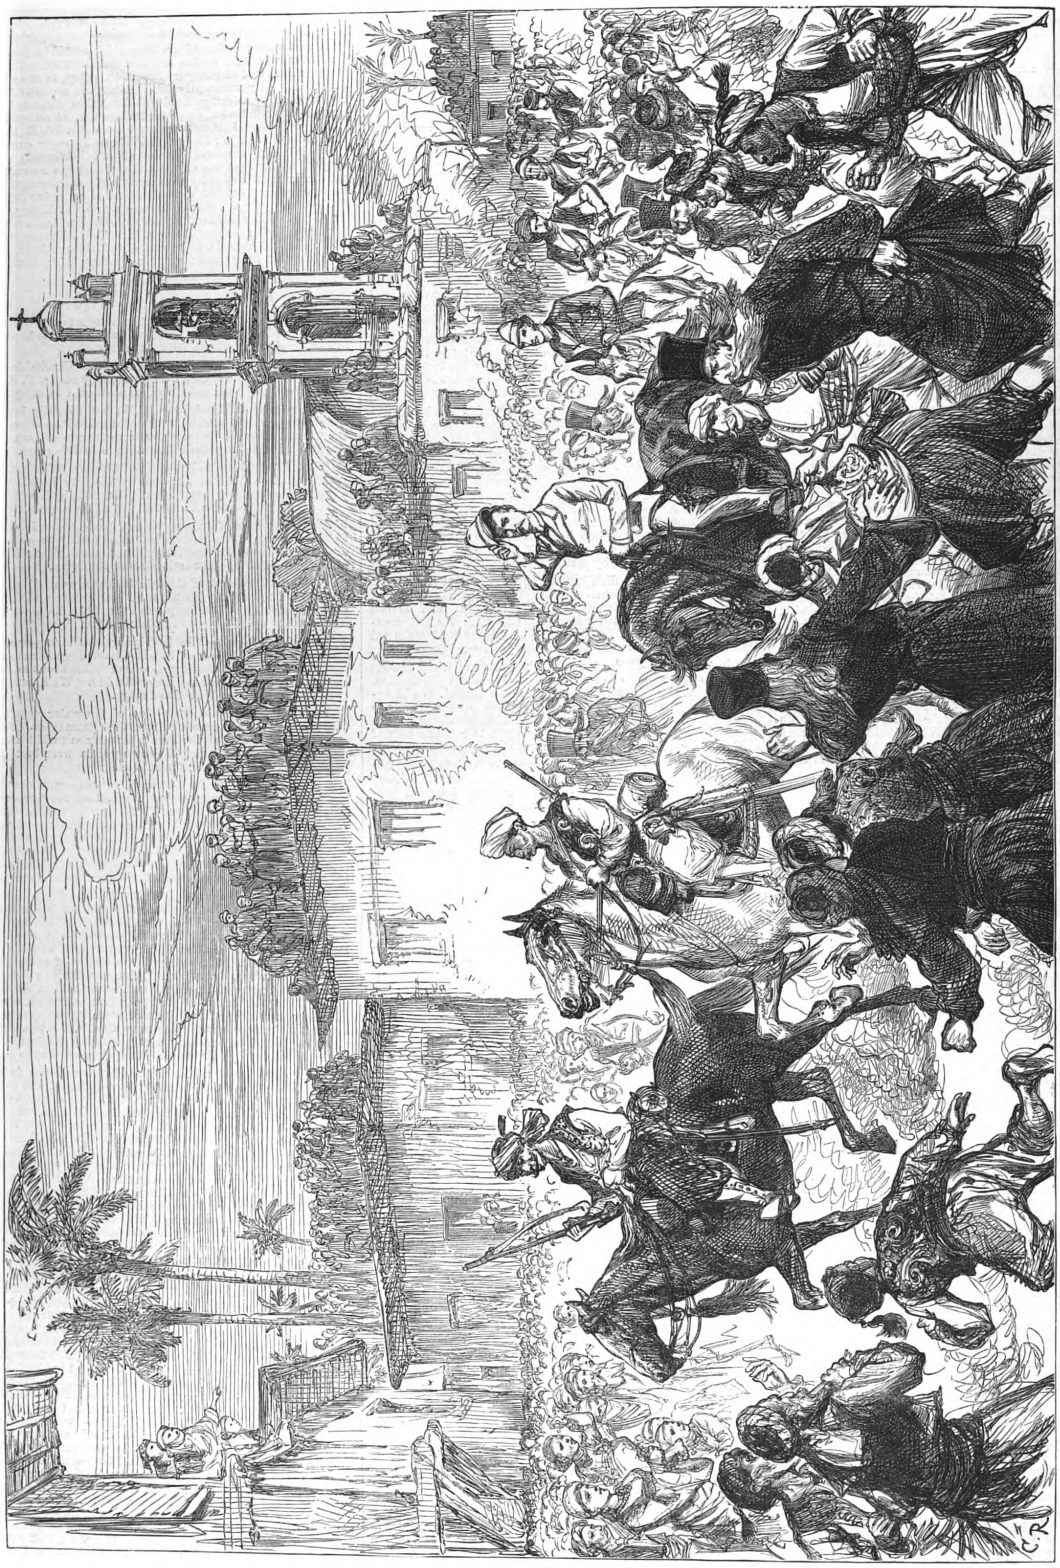
Major-General Hutchinson, R.E., has officially inspected the second and last section of the Alexandra Palace branch of the Great Eastern Railway, which runs from the Seven Sisters station on the Metropolitan Extension to Wood-green.

The Lord Mayor-Elect (Sir Charles Whetham) has appointed Mr. William Jameson Soulsby to be his private secretary during his year of office. Mr. Soulsby has filled the same office in the present and two preceding mayoralties.

In consequence of an accession of funds, the council of the Printers' Corporation determined on Monday to elect three orphans, the successful candidates being James Francis Wheeler, Mina Selina Usher, and Sarah Eleanor Robinson.

Owing to the death of Captain Redman, one of the senior members of the Trinity House, the Elder Brethren of that corporation have in a body requested the Lord Mayor to forego this year the usual banquet in their honour.

Waterloo Bridge and the foot-bridge at Charing-cross were opened to the public free of toll last Saturday afternoon; the sum paid by the Metropolitan Board of Works for the former being £475,000, and for the latter £98,540. We illustrate the opening ceremony at Waterloo Bridge.



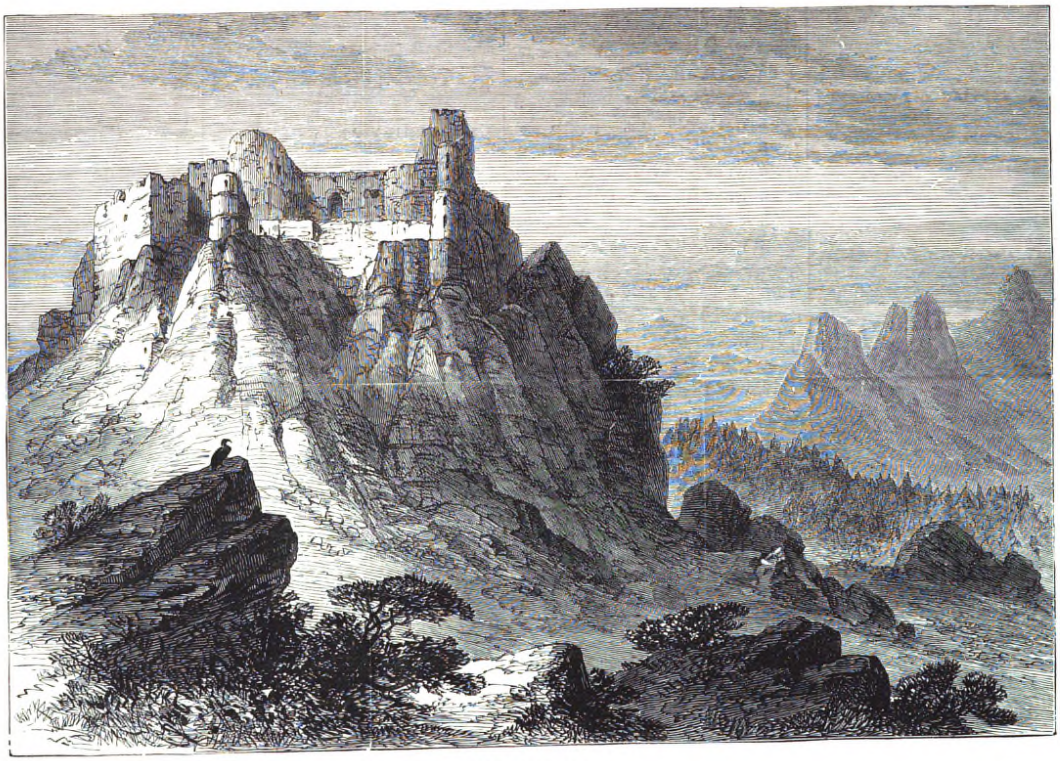
Dr. Frankland again complains of the water supplied by the five companies drawing from the Thames as being of inferior quality, and of the Lambeth water as turbid and containing moving organisms. The Lea waters were last month good, and had been efficiently filtered.

The weekly return of metropolitan pauperism shows that the total number of paupers at the end of the first week in October was 76,767, of whom 39,327 were in workhouses and 37,440 received outdoor relief. Compared with the corresponding weeks in 1877, 1876, and 1875, these figures show a decrease of 396, 1539, and 4698 respectively. The number of vagrants relieved on the last day of the week was 745, of whom 481 were men, 224 women, and 40 children under sixteen.

The Queen, Baroness Burdett-Coutts, Lady Gwydyr, the Hon. Mrs. Baillie-Hamilton, the Earl of Stamford and Warrington, the Earl of Rosslyn, and Lord Chesham, are among the exhibitors at the third annual show held by the British Dairy Farmers' Association, which opened on Thursday at the Agricultural Hall. The entries in the classes of cows, heifers, and bulls, number altogether 232, thus constituting the largest exhibition of prize and pedigree cattle ever held in the metropolis. Last year's show of goats, the best on record, has been excelled; and among the objects of curiosity are specimens of American cheese, each weighing more than half a ton. Butter-churning and cheese-making are practically illustrated, each day of the show, by dairymaids. The prizes amount to £1500.

The executive committee of the Mansion House fund for the relief of distress occasioned by the sinking of the Princess Alice met again on Monday, when it was stated that the fund amounted to £34,300, that £13,000 had been distributed to widows and other relatives, and that the cases of one hundred orphans remained yet to be dealt with. In accordance with the expressed opinion of the meeting, that the fund subscribed was large enough, a resolution was submitted and carried for the purpose of closing the lists. The inquest at Woolwich was resumed on Tuesday, and adjourned until the 18th inst. In the meantime the Board of Trade inquiry will begin, but it has been arranged that the two inquiries shall not proceed on the same days. The evidence of the general witnesses was nearly finished on Tuesday, and at the next sitting technical evidence as to the build of the steamer will be taken.

There were 2429 births and 1355 deaths registered in London last week. The deaths included 4 from smallpox, 19 from measles, 44 from scarlet fever, 20 from diphtheria, 40 from whooping-cough, 28 from different forms of fever, and 45 from diarrhœa. The deaths from whooping-cough, although 13 less than those in the previous week, exceeded the corrected average by 10. The fatal cases of scarlet fever showed a further increase upon the numbers in recent weeks, but were 62 below the average. The 20 deaths from diphtheria showed an excess of 11 upon the corrected average. The fatal cases of fever, which had been 32, 30, and 27 in the three preceding weeks, were 28 last week, of which two were certified as typhus, 22 as enteric fever, and 4 as simple continued fever. The Metropolitan Asylum Hospitals contained 105 enteric fever patients on Saturday last, and 16 were under treatment in the London Fever Hospital. The deaths from diarrhœa and simple cholera, which had steadily declined from 494 to 61 in the nine preceding weeks, further fell to 45 last week, and were 17 below the corrected average. The deaths referred to diseases of the respiratory organs, which had been 215 and 213 in the two previous weeks, rose to 247 last week, and exceeded the corrected average by 39: 155 resulted from bronchitis, and 61 from pneumonia. In Greater London 2906 births and 1600 deaths were registered, equal to annual rates of 35·1 and 18·8 per 1000 of the population. The mean temperature of the air was 55·8 deg., and 1·9 deg. above the average in the corresponding week of the sixty years 1814-73. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was but 41·0 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 80·5 hours.



BRITISH OCCUPATION OF CYPRUS: TRIUMPHAL ENTRY OF CAPTAIN SWAINE INTO LEVGONICO.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

OUR ARTIST IN CYPRUS.

VIEW FROM THE MONASTERY OF KANTARA.

CASTLE OF KANTARA.

The Extra Supplement.

"A VISIT TO THE DENTIST."

There is a refined humour and a power of delicate though vigorous expression of feeling in this picture by Mr. G. A. Storey, which was noticed in the late Royal Academy Exhibition. The costume of the three figures is that of a hundred years ago; but we are sorry to confess that the toothache has not gone out of fashion in the present Victorian era. This affliction is one of those painful touches of nature that "makes the whole world kin," and upon which we can sympathise with our once youthful great-grandmothers, when George III. or George II. was King, or with our remotest forefathers and their dames of the Elizabethan period. There is no abatement in modern times of the virulence of that particular kind of malady and consequent torture, which poor Tom Hood the Elder has so justly denounced:—

> Of all our woes, since man was curst
> (I mean of body, not the mental),
> To name the worst, among the worst,
> The dental sure is transcendental;
> Some bit of masticating bone,
> That ought to help to clear a shelf,
> Will let its proper work alone,
> And only serves to gnaw itself.

We wonder in vain who of mankind first had the toothache, and who will have it last. This fair lady of the last century, in the picture of which we present an Engraving, seems to be a tender sufferer in the same thankless cause. She is an interesting person, and her look of soft despair makes us feel sincerely sorry for her. The composed air of grieving resolution with which the female attendant prepares to assist in extracting the peccant tooth has equal dramatic truth. As for the dentist, he stands in an apologetic attitude, concealing the forceps in his ready right hand, while raising his left to deprecate the idea that he could be guilty of needless cruelty. It is a clever little play of tragi-comedy, and only too real.

The south-west and west coasts of England were visited on Monday by a severe storm, which had been anticipated by the weather warnings of the previous days.

The returns of the Government emigration agent at Liverpool show that during September there was a decrease of 1382 in the number of emigrants leaving Liverpool as compared with the previous month, but an increase of 1894 as compared with September last year. The number of ships that sailed during the month was sixty-eight, containing 8402 passengers. The great majority of the emigrants (6810) went to the United States.

The Warwickshire Yeomanry Cavalry competed on Wednesday for regimental prizes in Stoneleigh Deer Park, lent by Lord Leigh. The first prize, £10 with silver challenge cup, given by Mrs. Wise, of Woodcote, was won by Private Davis, of Warwick; and the second, £6, was gained by Private Griffin, of Chesterton; the third prize, £4, by Private Lloyd. Heavy rain rendered it necessary to postpone the contest for the Loyd-Lindsay prizes, amounting to another £20.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

POPULAR NOVELS AT ALL LIBRARIES.

THE FIRST VIOLIN. 3 vols., cr. 8vo.
POMEROY ABBEY. By Mrs. HENRY WOOD. 3 vols.
YOU PLAY ME FALSE. By MORTIMER and FRANCES COLLINS. 3 vols.
LOVE'S CROSSES. By the Author of "Olive Varcoe." 3 vols.
STRANGE WATERS. By R. E. FRANCILLON. 3 vols.
RICHARD BENTLEY and SON, New Burlington-street.

CONVERSATIONS WITH M. THIERS, M. GUIZOT, and other DISTINGUISHED PERSONS during the SECOND EMPIRE. By the late NASSAU W. SENIOR. Edited by his Daughter, M. C. M. SIMPSON. 2 vols., 8vo. 30s.
"A book of permanent historical interest."—Athenæum.
HURST and BLACKETT, 13, Great Marlborough-street.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE.—A Sermon preached in the Chapel Royal, Savoy, on Sunday, Sept. 15, 1878. By WILLIAM MACDONALD SINCLAIR, Resident Chaplain to the Lord Bishop of London. Price Threepence. London: THOMAS WAY, 21, Wellington-street.

Large 8vo, pp. 724, 8s. post-free; or, in half morocco, 10s. 6d.,
HOMŒOPATHIC DOMESTIC PHYSICIAN. By Drs. PULTE and EPPS.
CONTENTS:—General Diseases—Casual Diseases—Cutaneous Diseases—Fevers—Affections of the Mind—the Head—the Eyes—the Ears—the Nose—the Face, Lips, and Jaws—the Teeth, Gums, and Mouth—the Windpipe and Chest—the Stomach and Bowels—the Urinary and Genital Organs—Diseases of Women—Treatment of Children—Anatomy and Physiology—Hygiene and Hydropathy—Materia Medica—Domestic Surgery—Medical and Surgical Appliances—Dislocations and Luxations—Fractures.
A Chest of Medicines, Book inclosed, £3 10s. or £5 5s.
JAMES EPPS and Co., 48, Threadneedle-st.; and 170, Piccadilly.

9th Edition, 8vo, cloth, pp. 1102, 18s.,
HOMŒOPATHIC DOMESTIC MEDICINE. By J. LAURIE, M.D. Completely rearranged and revised by H. S. Gutteridge, M.D. The most comprehensive Guide published for the use of families, emigrants, and missionaries, being free of all technicalities. The present edition contains, in addition to the symptoms and treatment of all general diseases, including those of females and Children, many important new chapters, comprising, among others, the specific characteristic effects of all the new American remedies, plain Directions for the treatment of Accidents, and illustrations delineating the minor operations in surgery, Hydropathic Appliances, Affection of the Eyes (with a description of the Eyes and their Appendages, and Illustrations showing the various parts of the eye). Full directions are also given for the treatment of Diseases prevalent in Tropical Climates. A new and concise Dictionary of Medical Terms and Treatment, with leading indications of Treatment prefixed to the various chapters and divisions. An Epitome of the above, 282d Edition, price 3s.
A Case of Medicines adapted to the former Work, in tinctures or pilules, price £4 4s.; in globules, £3.
To the latter, tinctures or pilules, price £2 2s.; globules, £1 10s.
LEATH and ROSE, 5, St. Paul's-churchyard; and 9, Vere-street, W.

CANCER AND TUMOURS, A Successful Mode of Treating Certain Forms of. By ALEX. MARSDEN, M.D., senior Surgeon to the Cancer Hospital, London. Price 8s. 6d.—J. and A. CHURCHILL, New Burlington-street.

Just published, post-free, two stamps,
DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION. A small Pamphlet on these distressing complaints and their complete cure.
Published by the Author, RICHARD KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NOTICE.
JUST PUBLISHED, A NEW STORY, entitled
LIGHT AND SHADE.
By
CHARLOTTE G. O'BRIEN.
In Two Volumes, crown 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, price 12s.

READY THIS DAY,
A NEW STORY, entitled
THROUGH A NEEDLE'S EYE.
By
Miss HESBA STRETTON.
In Two Volumes, crown 8vo, cloth, gilt tops, price 12s.

C. KEGAN PAUL, and Co.,
1, Paternoster-square.

DOLCE NAPOLI: NAPLES; Its Streets, People, Fêtes, Pilgrimages, Environs, &c. By W. STAMER. Price 12s. 6d. "Replete with information."—Academy. "The English people who think of visiting Naples it will be invaluable."—Light. "Graphic and amusing."—Church Review. "A delightful work."—Victoria Magazine.
CHARING-CROSS PUBLISHING Co. Naples: English Library.

This day, post 8vo, 800 pp., strongly half-bound, price 5s. (postage, 10d.), WHOLESOME FARE. A Sanitary Cookery Book, comprising the Laws of Health and the Practice of Cookery, and embodying the Best British and Continental Receipts, with Hints and Useful Suggestions for the Selection of the Sick, and the Convalescent. By Dr. and Mrs. DELAMERE. Second Edition, Revised.
"A readable, interesting, and instructive treatise."—Lancet. "Contains more sound sense and culinary chemistry than any of the numerous cookery books we have met with."—Morning Advertiser.
CASSELL LOCKWOOD and Co., 7, Stationers' Hall-court, E.C.

DEBENHAM and FREEBODY.—NEW FASHION BOOK.

NEW FASHION BOOK.—The Eighteenth Number will be ready early in OCTOBER, with descriptive Articles and Illustrations of the latest and most approved Novelties in Costumes, Millinery, Mantles, Ball-Dresses, and Novelties in Costumes, Millinery, Mantles, Ball-Dresses, and Boys and Girls' Dresses. The information is drawn from the best sources, and no pains have been spared to obtain the models best adapted to the English taste. The articles illustrated are briefly described, and the price quoted, so that ladies unable to visit town can "shop at home."

THE NEW FASHION BOOK, post-free for twelve stamps.—DEBENHAM and FREEBODY, Wigmore-street and Welbeck-street, London, W.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

CHROMOPHOTOGRAPHY.
INVENTED BY H. KRAUS.
The new art of Colouring Photographs in Oil, in imitation of porcelain painting, by which simple process the most beautiful results may be produced. Boxes of complete and lifelike pictures may be produced. Boxes of complete materials, 15s. and 21s. each. Particulars free, and specimens shewn at J. BARNARD and SON'S, 339, Oxford-street, London, W. Sole Agents for Great Britain and Ireland.

THE WEEK.—A Saturday Newspaper.
THE WEEK.—Special and Important Notice.
THE WEEK.—For Ladies and General Readers.
THE WEEK.—A New and Original Page
THE WEEK.—Will forthwith be introduced.
THE WEEK.—"Familiar Quotations" will be given
THE WEEK.—From English, American, and French
THE WEEK.—Authors, and rewards given to
THE WEEK.—Readers who discover their sources.
THE WEEK.—Also, words to which Rhymes
THE WEEK.—Must be found. Rewards will be
THE WEEK.—Given of Eight Guineas and Four Guineas.
THE WEEK.—£8 8s., payable at Christmas, and
THE WEEK.—£4 4s., the second prize, to readers
THE WEEK.—Who trace the largest number of
THE WEEK.—Quotations to their Authors and find
THE WEEK.—Rhymes to words given in each Number.
THE WEEK.—The first set of papers will appear
THE WEEK.—Next Saturday, October 19,
THE WEEK.—When full particulars will be given.
THE WEEK.—Address to Publisher, 332, Strand, London.
THE WEEK.—Order at Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls,
THE WEEK.—In all parts of England, Ireland, and Scotland.
THE WEEK.—Six Stamps to Office, 332, Strand, London.

NOW READY,
THE ILLUSTRATED
PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Royal Family, Princes, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (172), Strand; and H. WILLIAMS, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

COLLECTIONS of PHOTOGRAPHS Arranged, Completed, Mounted, Titled, Bound, Framed, or Portfolioed.
Fine Photographs on View of India, Japan, Spain, and other places.
MARION and CO., 22 and 23, Soho-square, W.

SCRAPS for SCREENS and SCRAP-BOOKS. Coloured Flowers, Figures, Birds, and Landscapes, from 1s. per sheet; 12 assorted, 10s. 6d.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

"THE BEST PENS WE EVER TRIED."
Public Opinion.
"They come as a boon and a blessing to men,
The Pickwick, the Owl, and the Waverley Pen."
"They are a treasure."—Standard.
6d. and 1s. per Box; at all Stationers.
Specimen Box, containing all the kinds, by post, 1s. 1d.
Patentees, MACNIVEN and CAMERON, 23 to 33, Blair-street, Edinburgh. (Established 1770.)
Penmakers to her Majesty's Government Offices.

NEW MUSIC.

TOM, THE SAILOR. New Song, for Contralto or Baritone. By CIRO PINSUTI. Post-free for 18 stamps.
"Tom, the Sailor.' Song, written by Charles Swain; the music composed by Ciro Pinsuti. Unlike the run of 'Songs of Sailors' which have lately teemed from the musical press, this is a touching little ballad, the simple and homely narrative appealing to everyone, and the music identifying itself not only with the words of this song, but with the spirit of some of our best sea songs of a century ago. Tom has all the characteristics of a humble sailor hero: he takes care of his mother while she lives; he goes to sea, and does his duty to his country, and, when incapable of further service, returns to die in his native village. Mr. Swain has done his work well, and Signor Pinsuti's music is irreproachable. He has chosen the key of C, and 2-4 time, and the sentiment is carefully studied throughout. The last verse is in the minor. The voice extends from G to E, a range of 13 notes."—Vide the Orchestra for October.
London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

CLARKE'S CATECHISM OF THE RUDIMENTS OF MUSIC. 201st Edition. Free by post, 12 stamps. "Every child learning music should have this book."—Morning Chronicle.—London: ROBERT COCKS and Co.

QUESTIONS RELATING TO THE THEORY OF MUSIC. By GEO. F. WEST. Twenty-first Edition. Paper cover, 1s.; free by post, 12 stamps; in cloth, 18 stamps.—London: ROBERT COCKS and Co.

SUTTON'S THEORY OF MUSIC, pp. 123, is found most useful in Schools and Training Colleges, where it is rapidly becoming a standard book. Seventh Edition. In cloth, price 2s.
London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street; and of all Musicsellers and Booksellers.

MOONLIGHT MARCH OF THE ELVES. LANGTON WILLIAMS'S new Piano Solo. "Will rival the same composer's celebrated 'Sparkling Cascades.'" 2s. net.—W. WILLIAMS and Co., 221, Tottenham-court-road.

BRILLIANT PIANOFORTE DUET, VIVE LE PRINCE! (The Garden Party at Chiswick). Post-free, 20 stamps.
LONSDALE'S Music Library, 26, Old Bond-street, W.

CHARLES HALLÉ'S PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.
Section I.—No. 1. Pianoforte Tutor.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, London and Manchester.

Now publishing,
CHARLES HALLÉ'S NEW EDITION of all the most Popular PIANOFORTE PIECES.
Carefully Edited and Fingered, with metronome marks.
Catalogues post-free.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, 272a, Regent-circus, Oxford-street, London; Cross-street, South King-street, Manchester.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—Messrs. ERARD, of 18, Great Marlborough-street, London, and 13, Rue de Mail, Paris, Makers to her Majesty and the Prince and Princess of Wales, CAUTION the public that Pianofortes are being sold bearing the name of "Erard" which are not of their manufacture. For information as to authenticity apply at 18, Great Marlborough-st., where New Pianos can be obtained from 50 guineas.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—COTTAGES, from 50 guineas.
OBLIQUES, from 83 guineas.
GRANDS, from 125 guineas.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 92, Ludgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, £4 to £120. Snuff-boxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue free. Country orders post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES.
In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price-Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

OROIDE GOLD WATCHES, 21s., 25s., 30s.; free by registered post 6d. extra. Facsimile of cost gold watches; exact time-keepers. Catalogues post-free.
C. C. ROWE, 88, Brompton-road, London, S.W.

E. DENT and CO., 61, Strand; and 34 and 35 (within), Royal Exchange, London, Manufacturers of Watches, Chronometers, &c., to her Majesty. Makers of the great Westminster clock (Big Ben) and of the Standard clock (the primary standard timekeeper of the United Kingdom) of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. Catalogues on application.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Offices, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

FOR FAMILY ARMS (Lincoln's-Inn Heraldic Office), send Name and County. Sketch, 3s. 6d., or stamps. Arms Painted and Engraved on Seals. Book-Plates, Dies, &c.—PUGH BROS., Great Turnstile, Lincoln's-inn.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY
JENNER and KNEWSTUB,
HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb specimens of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DIESINKING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate prices; also, to their new mode of stamping in Colours (by machinery) without charge, in quantities of not less than two reams and 1000 envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large consumers generally, an immense saving is thus effected. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Books, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced list post-free.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 23 and 95, City-road, E.C. London; Pinaud and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each; Combs, 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Porteus-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

SPANISH FLY is the acting ingredient in ALEX. ROSS'S CANTHARIDES OIL, which speedily produces Whiskers and Thickens Hair. 3s. 6d.; sent in blank wrappers for 54 stamps.—Alex. Ross, 248, High Holborn.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, decry you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

LADIES' ELASTIC SUPPORTING BANDS for use before and after Accouchement. Instructions for measurement and prices on application to PUPE and PLANTE, 4, Waterloo-place, Pall-mall, London.

ROUND SHOULDERS and STOOPING HABITS Cured by Dr. CHANDLER'S CHEST-EXPANDING BRACE for both sexes. It assists growth, and produces a handsome figure. 10s. 6d., each.—66, Berners-st. Illustrations sent

MAPLE and CO.,
TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.

MAPLE and CO. supply every requisite for HOUSE FURNISHING, including Linens, Ironmongery, Glass, Crockeryware, Clocks, Bronzes, and every description of Ornaments, either for dining or drawing room, or for Christmas and Wedding Presents, in separate departments.

MAPLE and CO., the largest and most convenient FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT in the world. A House of any magnitude Furnished from Stock in three days. Purchasers should inspect the Stock before deciding elsewhere. All goods marked in plain figures. Estab. 80 years. An Illustrated Catalogue post-free.

MAPLE and CO., Importers.
TURKEY CARPETS,
INDIAN CARPETS,
PERSIAN CARPETS.

OVER 2000 DAGHESTAN and SOUMRACK CARPETS, also 500 Turkey Carpets, of extra fine quality and at marvellously low prices, just received from Constantinople. These Goods have been bought by Agents specially dispatched by Messrs. MAPLE and CO. for cash, are of great rarity, some being very handsome old prayer rugs, which have been made over a hundred years. The prices are wonderfully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these curiosities.—145, 146, 147, Tottenham-court-road, London.

STORY'S FURNITURE.
HALL and OFFICE
STORY'S FURNITURE.
DINING-ROOM and LIBRARY
STORY'S FURNITURE.
DRAWING-ROOM and BOUDOIR
STORY'S FURNITURE.
BED-ROOM
STORY'S FURNITURE.
PATENT COUCH BED (31s. 6d.)
STORY'S 2, COLEMAN-ST., CITY.
SHOW-ROOMS.

HEAL and SON
HAVE ON SHOW
THE LARGEST STOCK OF
BED-ROOM FURNITURE
IN LONDON.
FORTY SUITES are set apart in separate rooms, and the general stock occupies six galleries and two ground floors, each 130 feet long.
150 Bedsteads, fitted with every description of bedding, are ready fixed for inspection.
AN ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE,
CONTAINING 450 DESIGNS OF BEDSTEADS AND BEDROOM FURNITURE, AND PRICE-LIST OF BEDDING, SENT FREE BY POST.
196 to 198, TOTTENHAM COURT-ROAD, LONDON.

MORTLOCK'S CHINA.
MORTLOCK'S ART POTTERY.
MORTLOCK'S NEW GLASS.
MORTLOCK'S LAMPS.
JOHN MORTLOCK and CO.,
THE OLD POTTERY GALLERIES, 202, 203, 204, Oxford-street; 30, 31, 32, Orchard-street, W. Established 1746.

MAPPIN BROTHERS—Electro-Platers & Cutlers,
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Are placing the Public
MAPPIN BROTHERS—On the same footing as
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Members of Co-operative Stores, having
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Reduced their Prices
MAPPIN BROTHERS—20 per Cent.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—The well-known quality
MAPPIN BROTHERS—of their goods is strictly
MAPPIN BROTHERS—maintained.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Write for Catalogue to
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON BRIDGE.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON-BRIDGE; or,
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.

FURNISH YOUR HOUSE at DEANE'S.
Catalogue, with priced Furnishing Estimates, post-free.
1. Table Knives, Ivory, per doz., 19s., 25s., 35s., 40s.
2. Electro Forks—Table, 24s. to 68s.; Spoons, 24s. to 66s.
3. Papier-Mache Tea-Trays, in sets, 21s., 30s., 35s.
4. Electro Tea and Coffee Sets, £3 7s., £7 10s., £7 15s.
5. Dish-Covers in Sets—Tin, 22s.; Metal, 63s.; Electro £11 11s.
6. Electro Cruets, from 12s. 6d. to £6 6s.
7. Electro Liqueur Frames, 60s. to £7 7s.
8. Lamps—Patent Duplex Rock Oil, Colza, &c.
9. Fenders—Bright, 45s. to £15; Bronze, 3s. to £6.
10. Baths—Hot and Cold Water, Gas, Travelling, &c.
11. Bedsteads—Brass and Iron, with Bedding.
12. Gaseliers—3-light, 17s.; 3-do., 50s.; 5-do., £4 4s.
13. Kitcheners, from 3 ft., £3, to 6 ft., £35.
14. Kitchen Utensils—Copper, Tin, and Iron.
Deane and Co., 46, King William-st., London Bridge. A.D. 1700.

OSLER'S GLASS CHANDELIERS, Wall Lights and Lustres for Gas and Candles, Chandeliers in Bronze and Ormolu.
DUPLEX LAMPS
fitted with Patent Extinguisher.
KEROSENE AND OTHER OILS OF THE FINEST QUALITY.
TABLE GLASS of ALL KINDS
and NEWEST DESIGNS.
ORNAMENTAL GLASS, ENGLISH and FOREIGN.
Minton's and Worcester, Porcelain and Stone China.
BIRMINGHAM: Manufactory and Show Rooms, Broad-street.
LONDON: Show-Rooms, 45, Oxford-street, W.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Medieval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every Article marked with plain figures. D. HULETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn.

JEWEL ROBBERIES PREVENTED.—J. TANN'S RELIANCE SAFES have never failed to resist the attempts of the most determined burglars. Fire-Resisting Safes, £5 5s. Lists free.—11, Newgate-street, E.C.

JEWEL ROBBERIES.—CHUBB'S SAFES for JEWELS give the greatest security from the attacks of burglars, and are also Fire-Resisting. All sizes, with various fittings. Cash-Boxes, Detector Locks. Price-List sent free.—CHUBB and SON, 128, Queen Victoria-street, St. Paul's, E.C.; and 68, St. James's-street, S.W.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PRINTER. The People's Printing Press, for Authors, Amateurs, the Army and Navy, &c. Prospectuses forwarded on application to J. G. BERRI, 36, High Holborn, London, W.C.

PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP.—Pure, Fragrant, and Durable. Established 80 years. The "Journal of Cutaneous Medicine," edited by Mr. Erasmus Wilson, says—"Pears is a name engraven on the memory of the oldest inhabitant, and the Pears' Transparent Soap is an article of the purest and most careful manufacture, and the most agreeable and refreshing balm to the skin." Sold by all Chemists; and by Pears, 91, Great Russell-street, London.

THROAT IRRITATION.—EPPS'S GLYCERINE JUJUBES. Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. Sold only in Boxes, 6d. and 1s., labelled JAMES EPPS and CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.
110 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Coloured Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
360 Pieces extra rich Brocaded Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
600 Pieces of China Washing Silks, 18s. 9d. for 20 yards.
Grisaille and Quadrille Silks, 23s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—BLACK SILKS.
One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of Bonnet's Black Silks,
commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of extreme brightness, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address as
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES.
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes
at 63 gs.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES
at 5½ gs.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.
Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide,
2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.
CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 46 inches wide,
3s. 6d. per yard.
VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 6d.;
in black, 1s. 11d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials,
1s. 2d. to 3s. 3d. per yard.
WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plain, and Snowflake, from 1s. 9d. per yard.
CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs, Black,
full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for
AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY,
in Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Melton-pile Cloth,
and Drap Brute; also, in Velvet, Face, Sicilian,
and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Ulster Mantles.
The New Waterproof Tartan Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS
(half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles,
in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver,
Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine,
and every other description of
Muffs, Necktles, &c.
A large Stock of
RUSSIAN SEAL FUR JACKETS,
24 to 27 in. deep, from 4 guineas upwards.
Imitation Seal Fur Jackets,
42s. each, 26 to 28 in. deep.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood,
and lined Russian Squirrel, 45 in. deep, from 21s. upwards.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined from Russian Squirrel, 48 in. deep, 58s. 6d. upwards.
A great variety of New Shapes
in Silk Mantles,
lined with the finest quality of Russian Squirrel.
Fur Carriage and Travelling Rugs, from 30s. upwards.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

SWAN and EDGAR
are now showing
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT
of
AUTUMN NOVELTIES,
Silks, Mantles, Costumes,
and Sealskin Paletots.
SWAN and EDGAR,
PICCADILLY and REGENT-STREET,
London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
GIGANTIC SHOW OF DRESS FABRICS,
for the Fall and Winter of 1878.
French Foulés, Cashmeres d'Ecosse, Foreign and English Cashmeres, Tweed Foulés, Estamenes, All-Wool Foulé Twills, Vienna Cloths, Cloth Serges, Merinos, Serge, Foulé, and Black Goods of all kinds, selected from the leading British and Continental Houses in all the Fashionable Shades of the day, such as Bordeaux, Bronze, Cherry, Cardinal, Myrtle, Navy, Purple, Paon or Peacock, with many others in various tints.
The Real Rough-and-Ready Serge, 28 in. wide, 10½d. a yard, very suitable for warm costumes and winter wear.
Winter Cashmeres, 20 in. wide, 8½d.
Douglas Brilliantine, new autumn shades, 8½d.
Twill Foulé in all leading colours, at 10½d.
French Merinos, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.
Small Fancy Designs for mixing with plain textures.
The Leopard Mixture, at 8½d.; the Cabul Mixture, at 10½d.; the Costume Mixture, at 1s. 3½d.; the Afghan Silk Mixture, at 1s. 9½d.; the All-Wool Silk Mixture, at 2s. 1½d.
Heather Mixtures for Autumn, 1s. 6½d.
Ottawa Reigns, 16 in. wide, 1s. 6½d.
Fancy Scotch Cloths, as now worn in Paris, 1s. 3½d.
Serge Neglige, a light warm wool material in eleven new fashionable mixtures, 28 in. wide, 1s. 3½d.
Indian Cashmeres, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.; English Cashmeres, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6½d. a yard.
The Estamene Serge, Newest Colours, 1s. 0½d. and 1s. 6½d.
Cashmere Estamene, 25 in. wide, 9½d.
French Beige Foulé, 26 in. wide, 1s. 4½d.
The Scarborough Twill, New Autumn Colours, 10½d.
Scotch Cashmere Estamene, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6½d.
An endless variety of New Skirtings, 40 in. wide at 1s. 11½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6½d., and 4s. 11½d. a yard.
Patterns of all kinds post-free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
SILKS, SATINS, VELVETS, AND VELVETEENS.
Black Silks, rich Gros Grains, 2s. 11½d.; late 3s. 6½d.
Black Silks, a new make, wear guaranteed. "The Empress," not weighted with dye, but made of all pure silk, price 3s. 10½d. a yard.
Black Silks, several thousand yards, from the best Lyons firms, from 3s. 6½d. to 15s. a yard.
Oxonian Velveteens, are blue blacks, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11½d.
The Louis Velveteen is dyed the fashionable Oriental blue black, and made various qualities.
7000 yards Rich Coloured Velveteens, 50 different shades, 26in. wide, 2s. 10½d. a yard.
Silk Costume Velvet, in Black, 27 in. wide, only 6s. 11½d. the yard. Patterns free.
Black Satins, a specially cheap lot, at 2s. 6½d.; Coloured Satins, in every possible shade, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11½d. a yard. Patterns free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGES,
woven from pure wool, for LADIES' DRESSES, in Navy or Dark Indigo Blue, Black, Dark Browns, Prune, and other solid colours,
price 1s. 11½d., 2s. 6d., 2s. 11½d. per yard.
For CHILDREN a lower quality is made, very strong,
at 1s. 6½d. per yard.
For BOYS' HARD WEAR it is extra milled, price
54 in. wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
Books of Patterns sent post-free by
SPEARMAN and SPEARMAN,
Devonshire Serge Factors, Plymouth.
The ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGE is the only true Yachting Serge.
Sea Water cannot injure it.
Any Length is Cut by the Factors,
who arrange to pay the carriage of all Parcels above Two Pounds in value to and as far as London.

CHAPMAN'S, NOTTING-HILL, W.
Patterns Free.
BLACK SILKS and SATINS.
Bright, pure Black Glacé Silks .. .. .. 1s. 9d. per yard.
Rich Gros Grains (very special) .. .. .. 2s. 11d. "
Very Handsome Ditto .. .. .. 3s. 11d. "
Chapman's Yellow-Edged World-Famed Silk 4s. 11d. "
(Equal to any Silk ever sold at 6s. 11d. per yard, and excellent wear.)
Black Satins .. .. 1s. 11d. "
Black Satins .. .. 2s. 6d. "
Black Lyons Ditto .. .. 3s. 6d. "
Black Lyons, all pure Silk .. .. 6s. 6d. to 15s. 6d. "
White Lyons, for Brides' Dresses, 7s. 11d.;
8s. 11d., and 11s. 9d. "
Coloured Satins for Trimmings, &c., 1s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. "
COLOURED GROS GRAINS FOR PROMENADE.
DINNER AND EVENING SILKS.
A Superior Quality—Rich Havlesons, and corded Gros Grains,
3s. 11d. per yard.
Splendid Failles, rivals of Pure Italian Silk,
5s. 6d. and 6s. 11d. per yard.
JAPANESE SILKS.
One Uniform Price. One Hundred Colours. 1s. 11½d. per yard.

LYONS, GENOA, and ITALIAN
GOWN VELVETS.
Black, 19 in. wide, 3s. 11d., 5s. 11d., and 7s. 11d. per yard; Pure Silk ditto, 1s. 11d. to 4s. 11d. per yard.
Coloured Gown Velvets, 19 in. wide, 5s. 11d., 6s. 11d., and 8s. 11d. per yard.
The Queen writes, Oct. 5, 1878, as follows:—
"Mr. Chapman, of Notting-hill, has forwarded a large parcel of samples of his new materials for autumn and winter dresses and petticoats. The winter skirtings are exceedingly good; the best are a emble fine Welsh winseys, have dark rich Tartan colourings; the effect is most pleasing; and, as no one thing predominates, they can be worn under almost every dress. Tartan mixtures in longitudinal stripes are also capital and substantial without being bulky. In dress fabrics we like the Bellenne, a satin cloth woven with fine ziczac lines, but self-coloured; it would make up into fashionable costumes over silk to match; the colours include all the popular shades, also black and white. Bellenne, being supple, would drape in artistic folds. Chevron de Loine is another self-coloured, handsomely figured, as from the diagonal style of weaving the twill forms chevrons or herring-bone stripes. It is a German cloth, well dyed and firmly made, and is to be had in twenty self-colourings. As flannel is likely to be fashionable for this winter for dresses as well as petticoats and dressing-gowns, Mr. Chapman has provided us with that is fresh under this head. There are French twilled flannels and French fancy flannels in most pleasing combinations of colour, and in shaded stripes. The designs are woven, not printed, so heedfooze they measure 56 in. in width; the double-milled flannels would make up into comfortable child en's frocks, because of the extra warmth. In cordurovs, French cashmeres, Indian cashmeres, and velveteens, we find among Mr. Chapman's patterns all the newest tones—Clar green, Thiers red, mahogany, claret, the various shades, prunes, and paon, besides the bronzes and peculiar greens whose name is legion; and another point in favour of all these fabrics is that they are inexpensive."
Patterns of all the above free.

LINDEN VELVET OZONID.
The perfection of these splendid Velveteens is so apparent, and their superiority to every other kind so undeniable, that numberless imitations are produced in this country under different and unspelling craze, for all grades of mourning, 3½ to 8 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

SILKS.—SPECIAL NOTICE.
We are now offering 40,000 yards of Black and Coloured Silks, in all the new shades, at fully 15 to 20 per cent under last year's prices—2s. 11½d. to 6s. 11d. per yard.
An Inspection is solicited.
Patterns to the country free.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited),
58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE,
5, Wells-street.

BAKER and CRISP'S SILKS
From 1s. 11½d. { and SATINS. Patterns free, 198, Regent-street, London.

BAKER and CRISP'S VELVETEENS.
Patterns free. { 1000 Boxes Lyons Moleskin. Black, from 1s. 9½d. Coloured, from 2s. 11d.

BAKER and CRISP'S SERGES.
Patterns free. { Every make as advertised, from 10½d. yard.

BAKER and CRISP'S CYPRUS CLOTHS
From 8½d. yard. { and 100 Fabrics, New for Autumn. Patterns free.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERINGS
198, Regent-street. { and Suitings. Extra wide. Patterns free.

BAKER and CRISP'S TROCADÉRO
Engravings free. { and other Costumes, from 2½s. 6d. Patterns free, 198, Regent-street.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERS.
12s. 9d. { 1000 New and Most Ladylike.
21s. Sent for Remittance.—198, Regent-street.

SILKS! DRESSES! VELVETEENS!
D. NICHOLSON and CO.'S NEW AUTUMN PATTERN-BOOK of COLOURED SILKS, containing 450 Varieties of the best Lyons Manufacture, in the following Lots, may now be had post-free.

	s.	d.
LOT 1. Lyons Gros Grain..... 2 11½ per yd.; or 10 yds.	2	7
LOT 2. Rich " "	2	12
LOT 3. " Drap de France 3 11½ " "	3	3
LOT 4. " Lyons Gros Grain 4 11½ " "	3	10
LOT 5. " " 4 11½ " "	3	18
LOT 6. " Poult de Soie" .. 5 11½ " "	4	14
LOT 7. Extra Rich Paill ..... 6 11½ " "	5	10

D. NICHOLSON and CO.,
50, 51, 52, and 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

BLACK SILKS of Guaranteed Manufacture, 2s. 2½d., 2s. 6½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 3½d., 3s. 6½d., 3s. 11½d., 4s. 3½d., 4s. 6½d., 4s. 11½d., 5s. 3½d., 5s. 11½d., 6s. 6½d., 6s. 11½d., 7s. 6½d., 8s. 6½d., 9s. 6½d., and 10s. 6½d. per yard.
D. NICHOLSON and CO.'S QUEEN CACHEMIRE, warranted pure dye and not to cut or wear grossy.
Patterns post-free.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard.

NEW AUTUMN and WINTER DRESS
MATERIALS.
All the latest Novelties in French Cashmeres and Merinoes, Velour Cloths, Estamene and Serge Serges, Cloth Serges, Cashmerettes, Wool Plaids, Fancy Bouclettes, and every other fashionable material suitable for the present and coming season.
Patterns post-free.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard.

NEW BOOK of BLACK and COLOURED
VELVETEENS, containing the new Blue Black Linden Velveteen, warranted fast dye, 1s. 9½d., 2s. 3½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6½d., 3s. 11½d., and 4s. 11½d. per yard; also the Louis Velveteen, 1s. 6½d., 1s. 9½d., 1s. 11½d., 2s. 3½d., 2s. 6½d., 2s. 9½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 3½d., 3s. 6½d., 3s. 11½d., 4s. 6½d., and 5s. 3½d. per yard; and Coloured Genoa Velveteen in all the newest shades at 2s. 11½d. and 3s. 9½d. per yard.
Patterns post-free.
D. NICHOLSON and CO.,
50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard, London.

WOOLLEN CLOTHS for LADIES'
JACKETS, CLOAKS, ULSTERS, &c., in great variety at very moderate prices. We also keep a very large Stock suitable for Gentlemen's and Youths' wear. Livery Cloths, &c., equally cheap. Terms, ready money only.
C. MEEKING and CO., Woollen Warehouse, corner of Hatton-garden, Holborn-circus.

WIDOWS' MILLINERY—Mrs. Creaton
(late of 116, Oxford-street) begs to inform widow ladies that she has her usual select assortment of WIDOWS' CAPS of the first designs, for First and Second Mourning, in all materials suited to the present fashions. Also Hats and Bonnets, Crapes, Cuffs, and Collars for evening and morning wear. A superior class of Widows' Bonnets, and every description of Widows' Millinery.—Show-Rooms, No. 294, Regent-street, W. Pattern Sheets post-free. Established thirty-one years.

SHIRTS. — FORD'S EUREKA. — "The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing Shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 30s., 40s. 45s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

PATTERNS FREE.
BLACK SILKS,
manufactured by Bonnet, of Lyons,
Messrs. JAY beg to inform their Patrons
and the Public generally that they are now selling these well-known
Pure Light-Dyed Silks
at a reduction of from 33 to 40 per cent off prices they have charged previous to the depression in the Lyons Silk Market.
Present price, 4s. 11½d.; former price, 8s. 3d.
" " 5s. 6d.; " " 8s. 9d.
" " 5s. 11½d.; " " 9s. 6d.
" " 6s. 9½d.; " " 10s. 6d.
Messrs. JAY are also selling Jaubert's good wearing
Black SILKS, at the following reduced rate:—
Present price, 3s. 9d.; former price, 5s. 6d.
" " 4s. 6d.; " " 6s. 3d.
" " 5s. 3d.; " " 7s. 6d.
" " 5s. 9d.; " " 8s. 3d.
"BLACK SATINS, all pure silk,
22 inches wide, from 5s. 3d. per yard.
JAYS', Regent-street.

TRAVELLING ASSISTANTS.
MESSRS. JAY have a Staff of Assistants, specially engaged to wait upon Ladies at their homes, either in town or country, and to submit Goods for Inspection, all of which are marked in plain figures, and sold at the same price as if purchased at the warehouse in Regent-street.
JAYS',
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
REGENT-STREET, W.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited),
58 to 63, Oxford-street;
1 to 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

RICH SILK and other COSTUMES.
A grand display of rich Silk, Broché Velvet, and Silken Fabric Costumes for the Autumn, forming such a collection of recherché Novelties as is rarely seen out of Paris, at most moderate prices.
A large variety of novel Costumes of Fashionable New Fabrics in Serge, Lichen Cloths, Cyprus Cloths, Camel's Hair, &c., 2, 3, and 4 guineas each.

MANTLES, ULSTERS, and SEALSKINS.
A large importation of the Latest Novelties.
The Sedan Beaver Paletot, 1 and 2 guineas, handsomely trimmed.
New Travelling Ulsters, all wool, in 27 shades, at 1 guinea, unequalled.
Fine Sealskin Paletots, 36 in. in length, 9½ guineas each, Smaller sizes in proportion.
Fur-lined Mantles and Paletots, 31s. 6d. to 5 guineas.

DRESS MATERIALS in all the Newest
Textures, New Lichen Cloth, 11½d. per yard. Camel's-Hair Cloth, 1s. 6d. Tartans, Ramie-cord Cloth, and the new Broché Cashmeres, so much used in combination, 2s. 6d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
Fine French Cashmeres, in new shades, 1s. 11d., 2s. 7½d., and 2s. 11d. per yard, double width.

MOURNING GOODS
of every description at most moderate prices.
Black Serge Costumes, all wool, 2 guineas. Black and White Broché Costumes, 1 guinea; handsome Costumes, trimmed with patent unspelling crape, for all grades of mourning, 3½ to 8 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

CYPRUS.—THE IMPERIAL OTTOMAN
BANK is prepared, through its LONDON and PARIS AGENCIES, to grant CREDITS, to receive and REMIT MONEY, and to act generally as Bankers in connection with Cyprus, where it has for many years past had a branch establishment.

London Agency,	Paris Agency,
26, Throgmorton-street, E.C.	7, Rue Meyerbeer

MALVERN COLLEGE.
The NEXT TERM will begin on MONDAY, JAN. 27.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.
DUCAL LINE. Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; to McHarmid, Greenshields, and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.; or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, London, E.C.

BRIGHTON. FURNISHED HOUSES for the SEASON. — For particulars of those in the best situations — Adelaide-crescent, Palmeira-square, Brunswick-square, Brunswick-terrace, West Brighton—apply to Messrs. CROUCH and STEVENS, 35, Western-road, Brighton.

STEAM-BOAT ACCIDENTS, Railway
Accidents, Accidents of all kinds insured against by the RAILWAY PASSENGERS ASSURANCE COMPANY.
The Oldest and Largest Accidental Insurance Company.
The Right Hon. Lord KINNAIRD, Chairman.
£1,250,000 have been paid as compensation.
No. 64, Cornhill, London. WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

LOANS PRIVATELY NEGOTIATED.
Confidential communications to Mr. MORRIS, 28, Red Lion-square, W.C., will receive immediate attention. Reversions, Life Interests, and Legacies purchased.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of successful cases of operations for twelve years past, by Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily, Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM,
NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free for three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT, 194, REGENT-STREET, LONDON, W. AND 29 RUE ST. MARC, PARIS.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH
RUPTURE.—PRICE'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to D. J. F. Pratt, Surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The best remedy for acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The safest and most gentle Aperient for delicate constitutions, Ladies, Children, and Infants.
OF ALL CHEMISTS.

CORPULENCE.—YATE HOLLAND'S
POWDERS (or Pills) speedily and safely absorbs superfluous fat and reduce corpulency, however long standing. Price 2s. 9d., 5s., and 10s. per Box.—MARTIN and CO., 3, Paradise-road, London, S.W.; or through any Chemist.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. "All our customers for Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received such benefit from it."—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

HOOPING-COUGH.—ROCHE'S HERBAL
EMBROCATION.—The celebrated Effectual Cure without internal medicine. Sole Wholesale Agents, EDWARDS and SON, 157, Green Victoria-street (late of 38, Old Change), London. Sold retail by most Chemists. Price 4s. per Bottle.

INVALUABLE TO ALL WHO SUFFER from BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Giddiness, Dizziness of the Eyes, Habitual Costiveness, &c. Dr. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS (without mercury) are unequalled. Mild in their operation, they create appetite, and strengthen the whole nervous system. Sold by T. W. LAMBERT, 1A, Vere-street, London, W., and all Druggists, in Boxes, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. The Genuine are in a Square Green Packet.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT
LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet:"—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Press:"—"Laxora Lozenges can be safely recommended."
C. R. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s. 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 82, Southwark-street.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

THROAT AFFECTIONS and
HOARSENESS.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges are now sold by most respectable Chemists in this country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box. People troubled with a hacking cough, a slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections.—Depôt, 493, Oxford-street, London.

TOOTH-ACHE.
INSTANT CURE.
FORMS A STOPPING.
SAVES THE TOOTH.
J. Hounsell, Esq., Surgeon, Bridport, writes:—"I consider HUNTER'S TOOTHEVINE a specific for Toothache. Very severe cases under my care have found instantaneous and permanent relief."
Of all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. per Packet.

TAMAR INDIEN.—Owing to the marked success of this fruit-lozenge—so agreeable to take and universally prescribed by the Faculty for Constipation, &c.—Base Imitations are being foisted on the public. The genuine preparations have the name "Tamar Indien" on each Box. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.
E. GRILLON, Wool Exchange, E.C.; and all Chemists.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD
MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT.
The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. The Ointment is unrivalled in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FALLING
SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been discovered for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is desirous that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery; it is never known to fail, and will cure the most hopeless case after all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be sent by post to any person free of charge.—Address:—Mr. WILLIAMS, 10, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

NEW MUSIC.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS, COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS, Manufactured by CLOUGH and WARREN, DETROIT, U.S.A.
The immense advantages these instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory.
A large variety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas.
Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S "FAVOURITE ORGAN."
Compass, Five Octaves.
Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 74 octaves each, Knee-Swell.
Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case.
Price 25 guineas.
Illustrated Price-List free by post.
Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES.
TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON.
Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.
Pianinos from 18 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 50 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at 50, New Bond-street, may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View by the following eminent Makers:—
BROADWOOD. | ERARD. | CHAPPELL. | COLLARD. | LIPP. | ROSENKRANZ.
CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM.
Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View.
From 5 guineas to 100 guineas.
At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five stops and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals, 28 guineas, or £2 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2 gs. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S YACHT PIANINOS, 30 gs., or £3 per quarter on Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON GRAND, 50 gs., or £5 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON 110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.
NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW DANCE MUSIC.

CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.

CYPRUS POLKA	2s. 0d. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALLOP	2s. 0d. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	2s. 0d. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	2s. 0d. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	2s. 0d. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	2s. 0d. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	2s. 0d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	2s. 0d. net

N.B.—A Complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS of CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE.
No. 118.—POPULAR MARCHES.
Marche Romaine .. .. Ch. Gounod.
And twelve other Popular Marches by Handel, Mozart, Gluck, &c. 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.

No. 117.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 3.)

Song (Tenor)	Elly Mavourneen	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Contralto)	The lonely Harp	Miss Cowell.
Song (Soprano)	I'm alone	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Baritone)	I never can forget	A. Mellon.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	O ye voices gone	Zetti.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two wandering Stars	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	Soldier's Prayer	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Siren's Song	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Blue Bells of Scotland	B. Richards.
Dance Music	West End Polka	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	Little Nell Waltz	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Lord of Lorne Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Express Galop	Charles D'Albert.

No. 116.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)

Song (Baritone)	The Bell Ringer	W. Vincent Wallace.
Song (Soprano)	Tender and True	Arthur Sullivan.
Song (Contralto)	To Thee	Alberto Randegger.
Song (Tenor)	Oh! whisper what thou feelest	B. Richards.
Vocal Duet (Sop. and Con.)	When Birds are singing	H. Smart.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two Merry Gipsies	G. A. Macfarren.
Pianoforte	The Soldier's Chorus	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	Air by Louis XIII.	Henri Gibys.
Pianoforte	A Ray of Sunshine	Carl Leduc.
Dance Music	Dew Drop Waltz	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	The Sultan's Polka	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	Polo Lancers	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	The Mabel Galop	Dan Godfrey.

No. 115.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)

Song (Contralto)	Juanita	Mrs. Norton.
Song (Soprano)	The Maiden's Story	A. Sullivan.
Song (Baritone)	The Stirrup Cup	Luigi Arditi.
Song (Tenor)	There's Sunlight in Heaven	M. Balfe.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Wind and the Harp	S. Glover.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Ave Sanctissima	Mrs. Hemans.
Pianoforte	Home, Sweet Home	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	The Silver Trumpets	F. Vivian.
Pianoforte	Prière d'une Vierge	T. Badarzewska.
Dance Music	The Hink Galop	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	The Hilda Waltz	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Palermo Quadrilles	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	King Pippin Polka	Charles D'Albert.

ONE SHILLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.).
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

REMINISCENCES OF ENGLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF IRELAND.
REMINISCENCES OF SCOTLAND.
REMINISCENCES OF WALES.
Arranged for the Pianoforte by FRED. GODFREY (B. M. Coldstream Guards). Played by all the Bands in her Majesty's Service. Price 2s. each net.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW MUSIC.

BOOSEY and CO.'S NEW LIST.
This day, price 10s. 6d., cloth,
SPOHR'S VIOLIN SCHOOL. Edited by HENRY HOLMES. Complete, with numerous Explanatory Notes by the Editor.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 2s. 6d. each Book, paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges,
SCHUBERT'S 60 SONGS. (This day.)
Rubinstein's 50 Songs. | Mendelssohn's 60 Songs.
Schumann's 75 Songs. | Beethoven's 76 Songs.
All with German and English Words. The Royal Editions.

THE SONGS OF SCOTLAND. New and Enlarged Edition. This day. Containing 100 Songs, with new Introduction on Scotch Music by Dr. CHARLES MACKAY. Price 2s. 6d. paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges. Illustrated Edition (Imperial), with Engravings by the most eminent Artists, price 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s., cloth, gilt edges,
THE SONGS OF IRELAND. A New and Enlarged Edition, containing 78 of Moore's Irish Melodies (all the best) and 30 of the Popular Songs of Ireland, with New Symphonies and Accompaniments. By J. L. HATTON.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth boards,
CALLCOTT'S HANDEL ALBUM. One Hundred of the best Airs by Handel. Arranged for the Pianoforte by W. H. CALLCOTT. With Memoir and Three Illustrations.

BOOSEYS' Half-Guinea BEETHOVEN. The Thirty-two SONATAS, from engraved plates (nearly full music size), handsomely bound, gilt edges. 10s. 6d. Edited by W. DORRELL.

Price 3s. 6d. each, paper; 5s., cloth, gilt edges,
ROYAL EDITION OF ENGLISH OPERAS.
THE MOUNTAIN SYLPH. | SATANELLA.
THE BOHEMIAN GIRL. | SIEGE OF ROCHELLE.
LILY OF KILLARNEY.

New and much Enlarged Edition. Price 12s. 6d.,
LOGIER'S SYSTEM OF THE SCIENCE OF MUSIC. "As a guide to the teacher or for private study we know of no better work."—Musical Standard. Also,
DR. CALLCOTT'S GRAMMAR OF MUSIC. Edited by PITTMAN. 1s.

SINGING METHODS.—NAVA'S BARITONE METHOD. Edited by his pupil, SANTLEY. 10s. 6d. Panseron's Method for Mezzo-Soprano, 8s. Vaccaj's celebrated Method (complete), 1s. Madame Sainton-Dolby's Method for English Singers, 12s. 6d.

With Fifteen Illustrations, 2s. 6d.; paper covers, 4s., cloth,
LILLIE'S FIRST MUSIC-BOOK. The best Tutor extant for Beginners. 53rd Thousand. Also, LILLIE'S SONG-BOOK. Fifty Songs, Illustrated in Colours, price 1s.

THE CHORAL UNION. 40 Part-Songs, in Four Books (Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, and Bass), price 6d. each. Dr. Spark's Handy-Book of Choral Singing, including 156 Exercises and Part-Songs. THE CHORALIST, 226 Nos., 1d. each. New Number, "The Hop-Pickers," by Elizabeth Philp, post-free, 1d.

BOOSEYS' MARCH ALBUM (35 celebrated Marches), 1s. Robert Schumann's Albumblätter (complete), 1s. Rubinstein's First Album (7 pieces), 1s. Brahms' Album (including 16 Waltzes), 1s. Beethoven's Waltz Album (45 Waltzes), 1s.

BOOSEYS' HALF-GUINEA BEETHOVEN.—The 32 SONATAS from engraved plates (nearly full music size), handsomely bound, gilt edges, 10s. 6d. Beethoven's 76 Songs (the complete edition), with German and English Words. Price 2s. 6d. paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges.

BOOSEYS' SHILLING ORATORIOS, MASSES, and CANTATAS.

HYMN OF PRAISE.	BACH'S PASSION (Matt.) 1s. 6d.
HAYDN'S IMPERIAL MASS.	MOUNT OF OLIVES.
GOUNOD'S ST. CECILE.	WALPURGIS NIGHT.
MOZART'S TWELFTH MASS.	BEETHOVEN'S MASS IN C.
ROSSINI'S STABAT MATER.	ACIS AND GALATEA.
JUDAS MACCABÆUS.	MOZART'S REQUIEM.
THE RISING OF THE	DETTINGEN TE DEUM.
THE CREATION.	ISRAEL IN EGYPT.

Also
Booseys' Handy Editions of "The Messiah" and "The Creation."

BOOSEYS' SHILLING ORGAN BOOKS.
BOOSEY'S FIRST ORGAN BOOK.
HENRY SMART'S 50 PRELUDES AND INTERLUDES.
JOHNSON'S CONCLUDING VOLUNTARIES.
BATISTE'S 67 PRELUDES, INTERLUDES, &c.
HATTON'S SMALL ORGAN BOOK.
HILES'S SHORT VOLUNTARIES (WITHOUT PEDALS).
WELY'S OFFERTORIES.
ANDRE AND HESSE'S VOLUNTARIES.

BOOSEY and CO.'S SONGS by POPULAR COMPOSERS. 2s. each net.—295, Regent-street.

SONGS by HAMILTON AIDÉ.

Remember or Forget.	The Fisher.
Spanish Boat-Song.	Maid I Love is Six Years Old.
Let me Dream of Happy Days.	Brown Eyes, or Blue Eyes.

SONGS by ALFRED SCOTT GATTY.

Rothsay Bay.	One Morning, oh, so early.
Old Sweet Story.	The Departure.
Golden Shore.	Apart.

SONGS by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

The Lost Chord.	Let me Dream again.
Once Again.	Sleep, my Love, sleep.
Golden Days.	Looking Back.

SONGS by F. H. COWEN.

At Last.	The Better Land.
It was a Dream.	Old Love and the New.
Spinning.	Marguerite.

SONGS by DOLORES.

Destiny.	The Fairies.
Clear and Cool.	The Land of Long Ago.

SONGS by J. L. MOLLOY.

Dresden China.	Clochette.
Thady O'Flinn.	The Vagabond.
My Love has gone a-sailing.	Polly.

SONGS by STEPHEN ADAMS.

Nancy Lee	The Blue Alsatian Mountains.
True Hearts.	The Tar's Farewell.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street, W.

BOOSEY & CO.'S PIANOFORTE-ROOMS. GRAND and UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES, by all the great makers, both English and Foreign, for SALE or HIRE, subject to the largest discount obtainable in London. Pianettes, from £21. Short Grands, from £50. Sole Address, 295, REGENT-STREET.

BOOSEY and CO.'S Short Iron Grand PIANOFORTES, 60, 70, 80, and 85 guineas each, subject to a liberal discount for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, from £2 10s. per quarter. Special Instruments for India. Illustrated Price-Lists free.
Sole Address, 295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

SECONDHAND PIANOS.—BOOSEY and CO. have a large Stock of Instruments by all the great Makers, which they offer, according to their custom on the close of the season, at greatly reduced prices. The majority of these Pianos have been hired for one season only, and are as good as new.—295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

BOOSEY and CO.'S BRASS INSTRUMENTS FOR AMATEURS.
THE DISTIN CORNET, from £3 10s.
THE DISTIN CELEBRATED LIGHT VALVE CORNETS, 7 and 9 gs., are the best Cornets manufactured.
THE DISTIN MINIATURE CONSET-A-PISTONS, 9 gs.
THE DISTIN BALLAD HORN in C, 9 gs.
THE DISTIN DRAG AND POST HORNS AND BAND INSTRUMENTS at all prices.
THE DISTIN MONTHLY BRASS BAND JOURNAL, 10s. 6d. per annum.
Illustrated Price-Lists upon application to BOOSEY and CO., Manufacturers of Military Band Instruments of every description, 295, Regent-street, London. Manufactory, Blanhope-place, Hyde Park.

NEW MUSIC.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.
New models in handsomely carved walnut cases, black and gold, veneered and panelled—
Six stops and knee swell .. .. 20 guineas.
Nine stops and knee swell .. .. 28 guineas.
Thirteen stops, octave coupler, and sub-bass .. 36 guineas.
The superiority of these organs has been testified to by the most eminent musicians, they have also received the first medals at the principal exhibitions. Every Instrument offered for sale is warranted.
Complete Catalogue for Cash, or on the Three-Years' System of hire and purchase.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON and HAMLIN'S AMERICAN ORGANS.
SECONDHAND ORGANS.—A large number of these celebrated Instruments, lately returned from hire, at greatly reduced prices, for Cash or on the Three-Years' System of Hire and Purchase. Lists post-free.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MEDJÉ. Chanson Arabe de CH. GOUNOD. Transcrite pour Piano, par A. DE LEBEAU. Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

LA COLOMBE. Entr' acte pour le Piano. Par CH. GOUNOD. Post-free, 18 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

EDOUARD DORN'S NEW PIANOFORTE PIECES.
DOWN THE STREAM. Cantabile pour Piano.
SWEETLY DREAM (Traume Süss).
PERA. Valse Orientale.
THE CHORISTER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's beautiful Song.
THE SORCERER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's Comic Opera.
Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MORN, HAPPY MORN.
Trio for Two Sopranos and Tenor, with accompaniment of Flute and Piano, sung in the play of "Olivia." Words by W. G. Wills; Music by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.
Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. PINAFORE.
Vocal Score, 4s.; Pianoforte Score, 2s. 6d.
List of separate songs, pianoforte arrangements, &c., post-free.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

THE MUSICAL TIMES. Price Threepence. The largest and best Musical Journal.

THE MUSICAL TIMES FOR OCTOBER contains:—Modernity—A Second Musical Retrospect—The London Musical Season (continued)—The Great Composers Literature of National Music (continued)—The Great Composers Sketched by Themselves: Beethoven (continued)—Worcester Musical Festival (by our Special Correspondent)—Occasional Notes—Reviews—Foreign and Country Notes—Part-Song, "The Clouds that Wrap the Setting Sun," by S. Reay. Postage-free, 6d. Annual Subscription, 4s., including postage.
Ready on Oct. 15. Price 3s. 6d.
Dedicated by special permission to H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.

SONGS FOR SAILORS. Written by W. C. Bennett, and set to Music by J. L. HATTON. In one Volume, containing FORTY SONGS, with Illustrated Cover and Engraved Portrait of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS.

NO. 10.—FUGUE PRIMER. By J. HIGGS. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 14.—PLAIN-SONG PRIMER. By Rev. T. HELMORE. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 15.—INSTRUMENTATION PRIMER. By E. PROUT. Price 2s. Now ready.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS. Edited by Dr. STAINER. Now ready:—1. The Pianoforte (2s.). E. Pauer: 2. Rudiments of Music (1s.). W. H. Cummings: 3. The Organ (2s.). Dr. Stainer: 4. Speech in Song (Singer's Primer) (2s.). A. J. Ellis: 5. Harmony (2s.). Dr. Stainer: 9. Counterpoint (2s.). Dr. "Censor": 11. Scientific Basis of Music (1s.). Dr. Stone: 12. Elements of the Beautiful in Music (1s.). E. Pauer: 18. Tonic Sol-Fa (1s.). John Curwen. (To be continued.)
London: Novello, Ewer, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.; and 80 and 81, Queen-street, E.C.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS'S LIST.

LES CLOCHES DE CORNEVILLE.
Vocal Score, English Words, 10s. net.
Piano Score, complete, 2s. 6d. net.
PIANO SELECTIONS.
WILLIAM KUHE.

Grand Fantasia	4s. 0d.
Grand Paraphrase	4s. 0d.
Third Fantasia	4s. 0d.

BRINLEY RICHARDS.

Chanson du Mousse, Barcarolle	3s. 0d.
Rondo Valse, Solo or Duet	3s. 0d.
Valse Brillante, Solo or Duet	3s. 0d.

HENRI CRAMER.

Selection of Airs, Books 1 and 2	Each 3s. 0d.

FLORIAN PASCAL.

Grand Fantasia	4s. 0d.

EUGENE MONIOT.

Brilliant Fantasia	3s. 0d.

HAROLD THOMAS.

Bouquet de Mélodies	4s. 0d.

J. RUMMELL.
(Easy Arrangements.)

Valse	2s. 6d.	Quadrille
Polka	2s. 6d.	Galop
Polka Mazurka	2s. 6d.	Rondo Valse
Selection of Airs, Piano Duets, 3 Books		Each

WILLIAM SMALLWOOD.
(Very easy Arrangements for Small Hands.)

Couplets des Un dit	1s.	Allegro de Ballet
Rondo Valse	1s.	Chanson du Mousse

Grand Selection of Airs (C. Godfrey) 4s. 0d.
As performed by the Royal Horse Guards' Band.

Fantasia on Airs	(C. C. Hess)	4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs	(J. B. Duverney)	4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs, Violin and Piano	(A. Harman)	4s. 0d.

Selection, Violin and Piano (Henry Farmer).
DANCE MUSIC.

Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(O. Métra)	4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(Arban)	4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(C. Coote, jun.)	4s. each.
Lancers, Solo and Duet	(Arthur Greville)	4s. each.
Valses, Solo and Duet	(O. Métra)	4s. each.
Valses, Solo	(E. Dernaert)	3s. 0d.
Valses, Solo	(Arban)	3s. 0d.
Polka, Solo	(E. Natif)	3s. 0d.
Polka Mazurka		4s. 0d.

ORCHESTRA, 2s. SEPTET, 1s. 6d.

Quadrille	C. Coote, jun.
Valses	O. Métra.
Polka	Arban.
Lancers	A. Greville.

Halberstadts' Selection for Full Orchestra, 6s. net.
ORDER EVERYWHERE, OR POST DIRECT.
N.B.—The Sole Right of Representation, &c., for England and Colonies belongs to the Publisher, J. WILLIAMS.

HENRY FARMER'S PIANOFORTE TUTOR, considerably Enlarged and Fingered by the Author. 1000th Edition. 4s.
"Decidedly the best and most useful instruction book we have seen."—Musical Review.

CARILLON GALOP. By RIVIÈRE. Performed nightly at his Promenade Concerts, Covent Garden. Piano Solo, 2s.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS, 24, Berners-street, W.; and 123, Cheapside, E.C.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE, from 25 gs. upwards.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 45, Horseferry-road, Westminster.

P. J. SMITH AND SONS'
IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS.
"The best and most substantial instrument produced."
9, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS
are lent on Hire for Three Years, after which time they become the property of the hirers.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL
PIANOFORTES
were awarded
THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR of the Philadelphia Exhibition, 1876.
THE GOLD MEDAL, Paris, 1869.
THE HIGHEST AWARD—THE GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR, Paris, 1878.
LA MEDAILLE D'HONNEUR, Paris, 1867.
THE PRIZE MEDAL, London, 1862.
LE DIPLOME DE LA MENTION EXTRAORDINAIRE, Netherlands International Exhibition, 1869.
THE GOLD MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT, South Africa, 1877, &c.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION PIANOS,
Patented 1862, 1868, 1871, and 1875, in
GREAT BRITAIN, | AUSTRIA,
PRUSSIA, | ITALY, BELGIUM, and
FRANCE, | AMERICA.

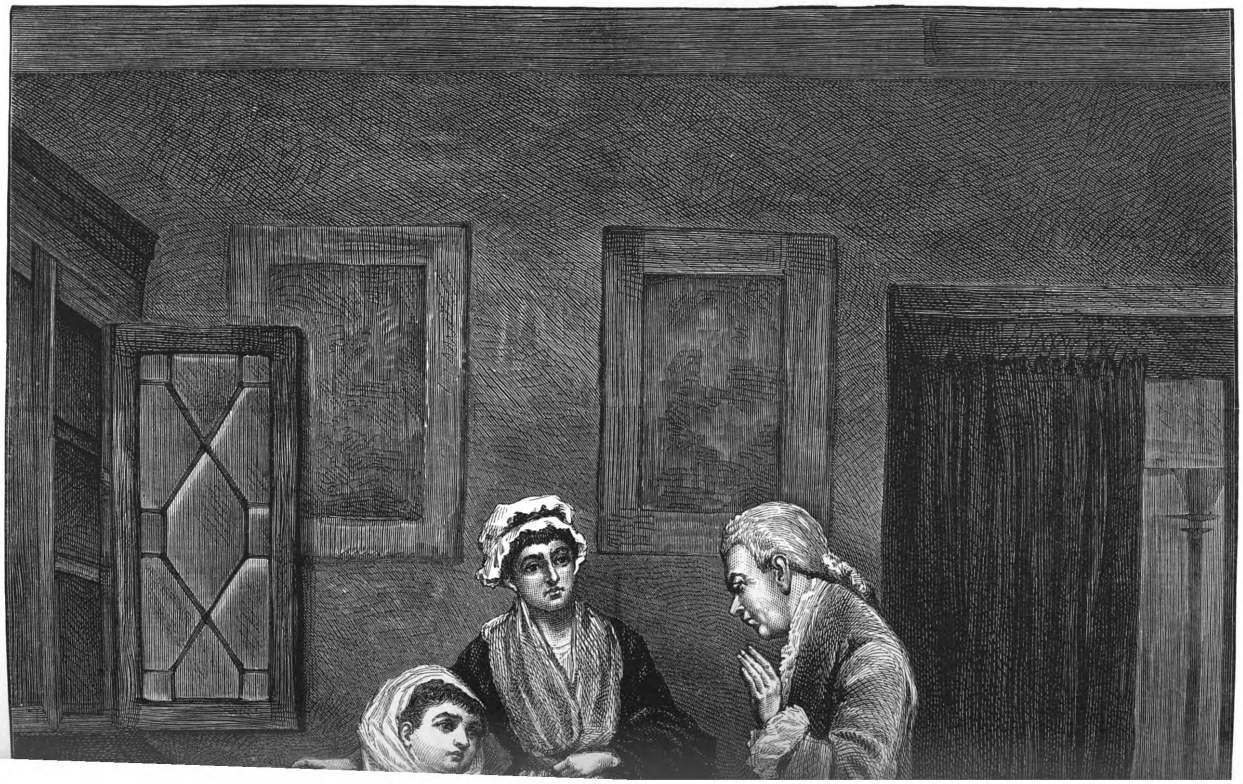
JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
With the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"This most ingenious and valuable invention cannot fail to meet with success."—Sir Julius Benedict.
"The touch is absolute perfection."—Sydney Smith.
"A very clever and useful invention, and likely to be extensively adopted."—Brinley Richards.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS.
"The tone is full, melodious, and of extraordinary power. The touch is extremely delicate, and the repetition is excellent."—The Chevalier Antoine de Kontski, Court Pianist to the Emperor of Germany.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"The nearest approach to perfection of 'manual expression' yet attained."—Examiner.
"The tone of the grand now referred to possessed all the qualities that a good piano ought to have, and in touch and action was perfect. The sweet and silvery quality of the upper octaves was worthy of special admiration."—The Era.
"Sir Julius Benedict played on one of Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons' grand pianos, with the recently patented improvements, which enabled him to produce sustained tones with great variety of effect in the light and shade of tones, especially so when extreme delicacy of touch was required."—Court Journal.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"An immense improvement in arpeggios. The rapid passages in the upper register, the beautiful flutelike tone, and quick and perfect repetition were very effective."—Figaro.
"Sir Julius Benedict, now seldom heard as a soloist, delighted the public once more. He played upon a new Patent Grand by Brinsmead, possessing a remarkably loud and clear tone."—Echo.
"The upright Iron Grand Piano, with sostenente sounding-board, produces the obvious result of a fuller and richer tone."—Morning Advertiser.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS.
"The improvements made in English pianos have caused this trade rapidly to increase, until one pianoforte manufactory after another has been built to supply the growing demand. One of the largest of these, lately erected by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons, of Wigmore-street, covers nearly an acre of ground in the Grafton-road, Kentish Town, and is intended to accommodate 300 workmen. These works alone can supply 2000 pianos annually. The French papers have been unanimous in their expressions of admiration of these splendid instruments. The two Grands especially have enchanted the Parisian professors and amateurs of music by their noble sonorousness, their enormous power, and the sympathetically voicelike quality of tone. The touch, also, is beautifully light, elastic, and certain, so that many pianists of every nation, from the Abbé Liszt downwards, who have tried these instruments, have highly complimented the enterprising manufacturers on their success. The improvements are too numerous to describe in detail, but it has been necessary to embody them in several patents recognised throughout Europe and America. Vigorous attempts have been made to forestall every portion of these instruments, and the whole has been constructed on entirely new principles throughout. The 'perfect check repeater action' renders the mechanism durable and perfect; 'the new complete metal framing' ensures the durability and strength of the case, in spite of a great increase in the length of the stringing; 'the new sostenente sounding-board' produces a lovely 'singing' and grandly powerful quality of tone; while 'the sympathetic bridge of reverberation' assists in the sustaining power; and 'the sustaining pedal' enables the performer to produce beautifully-sustained effects, without the confused roar that has hitherto been attendant on the employment of the forte pedal."—Illustrated London News.



JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"A metal bridge of a peculiar form is used to produce the treble, and a much finer tone is elicited than if a wooden bridge were used."—Morning Post.
"Beautifully light and elastic touch, and an instant repetition."—Globe.
"This invention is simplicity itself."—The Queen.
"Receive the greatest approbation everywhere of musicians and manufacturers."—The Standard.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
"PATENT PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION"
PIANOFORTES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.
Prices from 35 Guineas to 230 Guineas.

GILBERT L. BAUER'S PRIZE MEDAL ORGAN-VOICED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS on the Three-Years' System.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PIANOFORTES.
FOR INDIA AND EXTREME CLIMATES.
Illustrated Price-Lists and Descriptions, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded, post-free, upon application.
18, WIGMORE-STREET, LONDON, W.
MANUFACTORY,
THE "BRINSMEAD WORKS,"
GRAFTON-ROAD,
KENTISH TOWN, N.W.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1878.

A VISIT TO THE DENTIST.

BY G. A STORY, A.R.A.

H.M.S. HECLA, MERCHANT STEAMER PURCHASED AND FITTED FOR THE ROYAL NAVY.

THE BRITISH OCCUPATION OF CYPRUS.

(From our Special Artist and Correspondent.)

Trikomo, District of Carpas, Sept. 6.

On Monday, the 2nd inst., after leaving drawings, photographs, and letters for you with Captain Inglis, the Assistant Commissioner at Famagusta, to be forwarded to Larnaca, we started on our trip into the Carpas district, hitherto looked upon as the wildest of all the country districts. The Commissioner, Captain Swaine, or rather the Kaimakam of the district, as he is styled by the natives, with his secretary and interpreter, Mr. Cambettino, and myself, formed the party. We were attended by our baggage-mules and muleteers, and were preceded by an escort of two Turkish zaptiehs, or mounted police, in picturesque costumes—altogether forming a small cavalcade. Having assembled in front of the Konak at Famagusta, we left that town by its mediæval gates, the guard turning out and saluting the Kaimakam in correct form. Captain Swaine is a strict disciplinarian, and keeps both his zaptiehs and soldiers up to the mark; but I am sorry to say that there are, just now, many deserters. This is not on account of strict discipline; but the Turks feel that their rule is ended in the island, and know that they have given too much cause to fear retaliation from the Greeks. An emigration of the Turks to the coast of Syria has consequently set in.

It began to grow dusk long before we reached our first station, and as the sun sets early it was past dark that we arrived at Trikomo. Here we had been invited to stay with the chief agriculturist and merchant of the neighbourhood, Mr. Michael. At his house, on the outskirts of the village, we alighted after three hours and three quarters in the saddle. We were agreeably surprised with the comfort of our apartment. We were up betimes on Tuesday morning, myself to sketch and the Commissioner to transact business. There was a deputation to be received of two priests and three Greek farmers. One of the farmers spoke well and seemed very intelligent, while the priests were backward and diffident. Their talk was all of taxation and money advanced to the Turks, who seem to have despoiled the Greek villages prior to their departure by all manner of extortion.

We left Trikomo at three in the afternoon, and did not expect to reach Haghios Theodoro until dark, but we only rode for about two hours and a half. Our track lay eastward, towards the seacoast, through a more undulating country covered with low scrubwood, apparently juniper. We crossed several streams, and went round a rocky point within a few feet of the sea, meeting a train of mules coming in the opposite direction, just where the path was worst. After passing this point, Palæa, we turned northwards, through Gastria, to St. Theodoro, a miserable hamlet, where we were to stay at the house of M. Dingli, half Maltese by birth. He did all he could for us in the way of hospitality. This place is only interesting as being the locality of the custom-house; but I doubt much if, after the inspection by the English Kaimakam, it will much longer remain the seat of customs.

We were not sorry to get away next morning as soon as we could, after the usual deputation of notables of the neighbourhood, priests and farmers, all of whom seem to have been ground down by taxation and to be very poor. We now followed a track leading towards the hills, leaving the sea at our back. Soon the landscape improved, and the scenery became more rural and less desert. The fields, villages, and farms were more frequent; the watercourses were not entirely dried up, and wherever moisture remained in their beds thickets of lovely oleander bloomed. The flocks of sheep and herds of cattle were larger, and thriving better. The olive-trees, too, were more abundant. Altogether, we had entered a richer district. We crossed the line of telegraph which joins the submarine cable to the eastward. We were almost up to the hocks of our animals in marsh and water in one of the gullies. The mere sight of anything like water, or even moisture and vegetation, is pleasant to the eye after a continued course of desert and sunburnt plains. We passed caravans of camels and riders on mules, which also betokened a thriving district.

Early in the day we reached Hepta-Khumi, a bright-looking village on a spur of the southern slopes of the Carpas Mountains. Here we met Mr. Parkes, an Englishman, who, next to the late Consul, Mr. Lang, has the greatest experience of the island. We were amused by the custom of incensing which takes place on the arrival of any important guest or on the occasion of any serious business. The dwelling in which we put up was more quaint and original than any we had yet seen. We were surprised to see a fireplace, and were told that it is really cold here in the winter. As we had no aneroid with us, we could not tell the altitude with any accuracy; but I should judge we were at least 500 ft. above the sea-level. The usual deputation, on a rather large scale, was duly received; and the Mudir from the neighbouring village also paid an official state visit to the English Kaimakam. A case of assault was brought before the Kaimakam, and it was stated that in this rude district abductions were of frequent occurrence. The proceedings were quite peculiar and picturesque; a large amount of incense was burnt. Satisfaction appeared to reign here, as it did everywhere, after the Kaimakam's visit. Captain Swaine appeared to be very popular, and generally received what is vulgarly called an ovation.

After mid-day we were escorted by the Mudir to Khumi-Kebir. We had sent on our baggage by a more direct route from St. Theodoro. We were received by all the population of the village, the bells of the Greek church clanging out their best peal to apprise the country-folks of the arrival of the Kaimakam. We were followed to the house prepared for us by a crowd of villagers, who nearly all had to run to keep up with our animals. The reception and durbar here was very similar to all our previous ones, though on a larger scale. We subsequently visited the Mudir at his own house, and accompanied our host to his gardens outside the village. Melons of different kinds, maize, bringals, chilis, and other vegetables were in profusion here, as wherever water for irrigation is procurable. But the people are too poor to procure the means of digging wells and tanks, or to employ the labour of mules and horses requisite for the machinery of the water-wheel to raise the precious fluid. Outside Khumi Kebir there are plenty of vineyards and quantities of olives; and here was the only place where we observed hedges forming regular lanes. At this village we first came across stone mills for crushing the olives, and the wooden rude screw presses with which the coarse bags of crushed olives are squeezed to make the oil exude—a very crude process. In about a fortnight's time the olives would be ready for picking. I should fancy that the introduction of proper machinery for pressing and refining the oil would pay any enterprising Englishman who turned his attention to this matter. On Thursday we sent our baggage by direct route back to Trikomo. We ourselves obtained the service of a guide to take us over the mountains to the monastery of Kantara. We knew that, according to the map, the monastery was only a few miles beyond the castle of Kantara, which is a conspicuous object for miles round, as it crests the highest mountain top. Apparently that was all our so-called guide knew. He took us safely enough up within half a mile of the castle, and then was anxious to take us down to Davolo, on the other side of the mountain ridge. But to this we decidedly objected, and consequently made the best of our way as we could to the castle itself, or rather foot of the stupendous crag on which this magnificent Gothic ruin stands,

Like an eagle's nest perched on the crest of lofty Apennine——

And sure enough several splendid eagles were soaring about the ruin, a pair of them occasionally swooping down within a few yards of us. Their tameness showed that few guns find their way up so high as this place. The crests of this range, which hardly anywhere exceed 2000 feet, are remarkable for their jagged forms. We were on the higher ground, and could see the sea on either hand as we rode westward along what was really nothing but a goat's path on the very summit. We diverged here and there, where the precipitous rocks forced us to push through thickets of myrtle, and pines of small, stunted growth (Pinus Laricio), and we often had to find paths for ourselves. The guide was utterly out of his reckoning. I send you a few rough sketches of the really grand scenery. We could see, in front of us, the chain of mountains stretching west till their peaks were lost in the haze of the distance, boldly faced with precipices towards the sea on their northern sides, and descending in smoother slopes towards the Messarian plains to the south. We were delighted to find the monastery in sight, and to learn that the priest from Ilios had arrived there to meet us, well provided with cold chicken and eggs.

The sole actual resident at this tumble-down old monastery is an aged and very ragged monk, who complains that the neighbouring herdboys throw stones at him, and bring their flocks not only into the grounds of the monastery, but actually upon the roofs of the buildings. He pointed out holes in the ceiling of the cloisters, which this obnoxious proceeding had occasioned. We were many feet above the sea, and the solar radiation was intense; we consumed a large amount of cold water. Our Turkish zaptiehs, true to their Mussulman religion, alone refused to drink, merely washing their faces and hands, it being Ramazan this month (from Sept. 28 to Oct. 27), when they are forbidden to touch food or drink or even smoke between sunrise and sunset. The rapture with which they enjoyed their sunset drink of water and subsequent pipe was interesting to witness. Of the monastery of Kantara there is little or nothing to say, as there was nothing to see. Only the chapel building is actually in repair, and its interior is curious to a certain extent from its intense squalor and poverty-stricken appearance. As this monastery owns, I believe, a considerable acreage of property, it would be interesting for economists to inquire into the expenditure. The portly, hospitable priest who came from Ilios lives in affluence. The descent from the monastery into the plains was an ordeal not willingly to be repeated. The series of zigzag paths, which in the rainy season must be simply the beds of torrents filled with boulders and rolling stones, are of such gradients that to ride down is simply impossible. Though fully exposed to the rays of the afternoon sun, these paths are so sheltered from all breezes that to enter them is like entering an earthly purgatory. To lead a refractory mule down such a place is an intense agony. We got cold water about half an hour afterwards at a small village, and coffee at Ilios, in the priest's house; but we were pretty well done up when we arrived here, at Trikomo, last night, after sunset.

Nicosia, Saturday, Sept. 7.

Yesterday was certainly the hottest day we have yet felt. Leaving Trikomo we traversed the sandy plain for an hour, reaching the village of Syngrassi, where, after some trouble, we found the head-man. Captain Swaine halted to hold the usual reception of notables; but the heat was so great, as there was not the slightest breath of air, that I rode on quietly with the baggage. We then ascended a limestone plateau, perfectly destitute of vegetation, with little or no depth of soil, but with stony ridges of limestone cropping up, the whiteness of which reflected the blazing rays of the sun in a manner quite painful to the eyes and face. Another hour brought us to Lapatos, where we obtained a few minutes' shelter and a drink of water. The next village was Ipsos. As all these villages are alike, there is little to describe—they are merely a collection of mud huts. If the village is Turkish, there is a miserable building used as a mosque, barely rising above the other houses; and the women are in white, and covered, as to their heads, with yashmaks. Should the village, as is oftener the case, be Greek, there is as miserable and squalid a church, and the women are in colours, with only kerchiefs tied round their hair. Another hour brought us to Levconico, the most important town in the district. A zaptieh had ridden on to announce our approach; and, as we were expected to stay the night, the best house (that of the doctor) was prepared for us. I had hurried on in front, so that I was able to witness Swaine's approach and entry with more advantage than if I had accompanied him. The people were assembling at the entrance of the village, and as soon as the Kaimakam and his escort were observed coming over the plain, the bells of the Greek churches noisily clanged. Many hundreds soon collected together in the street, and also on the roofs of all the houses which commanded a view of the scene. A good many priests and other leading men of the town went out some distance to meet the Kaimakam on his arrival, and a regular triumphal procession was formed; but there was no cheering, no noise of any description, except that of the bells ringing. In front rode the brigand-like zaptiehs, looking as important as possible, and then came Captain Swaine and his interpreter on their ponies, surrounded by a motley crowd of townsfolk, which increased in numbers as they moved along. Under the window from which I surveyed the scene were collected a large number of women, who on the like occasions always keep together, and hold aloof from the men, awaiting the approach of the procession, which came on at a rapid pace. Priests and all were on the trot, kicking up no end of dust, but, as I said before, without noise. This noiseless crowd had a curious effect; it must have numbered at least six or seven hundred, and such a tumultuous running and jostling crowd would in England and most parts of Europe have been accompanied by shouts, hurrahs, and other cries. But all these people were so serious and quiet that the contrast was peculiar. Captain Swaine was quite taken aback by his reception, but preserved his imperturbable demeanour; in fact, he looked every inch the Kaimakam. The scene would have been almost ludicrous if it had not suggested the painful thought of what these silent, reserved people had suffered under former Kaimakams, and of what they looked forward to under British rulers. On dismounting, Captain Swaine came up to the upper chamber, where I was, and the room was quickly filled; not only the room, but the house was full of all the people who could manage to push in, blocking up stairs, windows, and doors, wherever there was a chance of viewing the Kaimakam. The lady of the house approached and presented the usual burning incense in a handsomely worked silver censer, through the fragrant smoke of which you are expected to pass your hand and waft the scent to your face, after which rose-water was poured on our hands from a quaintly fashioned and chased silver-gilt vessel or phial, and then coffee in the usual minute cups was handed round.

Business now commenced, and the customary compliments were exchanged through the medium of the interpreter. Here be it observed that until our officials are able to converse freely and fluently with the people in their own tongue we shall never be able truly to rule them justly or understand their requirements. This place, Levconico, is mostly a Christian town; but there is a small community of Turks. The Kaimakam, in his speech, observed that henceforth Turk and Greek, Mohammedan and Christian, would be treated alike under the Queen's rule. But to show how little these people appreciate toleration, they almost immediately asked that two neighbouring Turkish villages should be destroyed, or rather that the Turks should be driven away from these two villages, because they annoyed them and stole their sheep, and they had never hitherto been able to get redress. There was the old palaver about poverty and the same cry of too hard taxation; and there is little doubt that the Turkish officials ground down these unhappy people whenever they could.

Our travels for the day were not yet over, as we had decided to go on at once to Cythræa. So, mounting our animals at three p.m., we quitted Levconico, and rode over the same flat plains, gradually approaching the foot of the mountains. Leaving on our left hand, to the southward, several populous villages, we rode into the groves and avenues of Cythræa after sunset, delighted to see green leaves, luxuriant vegetation, and hear the sound of many streams, which spring from the abundant source at the foot of Mount Pentedactylon. We were astonished to see such large buildings rising through the trees by which they are surrounded. In the principal place of the town, where the cafés are, grow plane and sycamore trees of some height and girth, almost large timber, the first umbrageous trees of any respectable size we had yet seen in the island. A large proportion of ground in this neighbourhood is planted also with mulberry, and there are very many acres of cotton and the ubiquitous sesame. This oasis at the foot of craggy Pentedactylon is visible from Nicosia, which is only about nine miles off to the south. We were hospitably entertained in the large roomy house of an Armenian trader, and were thoroughly tired out after our long ride.

Next morning (Saturday) we rode to Nicosia, sorry to leave the verdure of Cythræa. I have omitted to mention that two English agriculturists, Messrs. Sparrow and Bass, have bought a large farm, called Cheftlic Lazara, at Leisata, in Kouklia, not far from the sea. They speak highly of the country, and intend importing good breeds of English sheep, which they have found successful in Australia. These gentlemen are the first English farmers who have become settlers in Cyprus, and it is to be hoped that their experiment will prove remunerative, and thus induce other Europeans to follow their example. I shall endeavour, when I visit that part of the island, to inspect their domain, and to judge for myself of their prospects, when they have had more time to know the capabilities of their property. It would be a good thing if the Government would hold out inducements for men of this sort to embark their capital in land here, as at present the landowners hold such small properties, and larger proprietors could farm at a far less expense. S. P. O.

H.M.S. HECLA.

In moving the Supplementary Naval Estimates last Session, Mr. W. H. Smith referred to the preparations which had been made for the arming of merchant steam-ships. He gave the number of such ships which could be fitted out at a very short notice, and he said that a merchant-steamer, the British Empire, had been purchased to show how the idea could be practically carried out. This vessel, now her Majesty's ship Hecla, was built under Lloyd's special survey, taking the highest class, and the engines, also included in Lloyd's survey, were made by Messrs. George Forrester and Co., of Liverpool.

It has been decided by the Admiralty that no merchant-steamer can be employed for the Queen's service unless the water-tight bulkheads are so arranged that the ship would float in smooth water with any one of the compartments in free communication with the sea. The Hecla, when purchased, had her water-tight bulkheads so spaced as to fulfil this important condition. In the fighting-ships of the Royal Navy the engines and boilers are kept down below the water-line, so that they may be protected from horizontal gun fire; but in merchant-steamers a different form of engine, having the steam-cylinders much above the water-line, is generally adopted, and this type of engine is in the Hecla. The height of the engines admits of a limited breadth, and leaves ample room on both sides of the ship. Advantage has been taken of this, and the cylinders and boilers are surrounded with permanent bunkers, filled with ordinary coal or patent block fuel, and with intervening thin iron plates, forming what may be termed "coal armour." Experiments were recently made in the Oberon to ascertain the value of coal so arranged for resisting shot and shell. The Hecla is fitted to carry eight 64-pounder guns, and two more may be added. The bow and stern guns fire in a line with the keel as well as on the beam. To provide for the stowage of powder, shot, and shell, a large number of ingeniously arranged portable magazine tanks and shell boxes have been supplied to the Hecla. She may now be taken as a representative armed merchant-steamer, and could in time of war be used as an ordinary cruiser or as a troop or store ship. Her large cargo capacity makes her peculiarly adapted for the latter purpose. The Hecla is to be a torpedo and mining store-ship. One of her compartments is devoted to the stowage of Whitehead torpedoes, countermines, electric cables, and such stores. Not only is she a store for torpedoes, but she is also fitted to fight an enemy with them; for this purpose ports are cut through the ship's sides, through which they are to be fired. She carries six steel torpedo-boats and a 42-ft. steam-launch, all available for torpedo warfare; and strong derricks and purchases have been provided for hoisting and lowering these heavy boats. As a means of defence against the attack of torpedoes, she has a strong wire netting suspended from booms, at a distance of about 20 ft. from the ship's side, all round the ship. The after-part of the main deck is appropriated as a workshop for the repair of torpedoes and for doing light engine work. The dimensions of the Hecla are—Length, 390 ft.; breadth, 38 ft. 6 in.; depth, 28 ft.; gross tonnage, 3573 tons; displacement, 6000 tons. She is divided into seven main water-tight compartments, has two complete iron decks, a long deck-house amidships, and a light forecastle or "turtle back." She has four iron pole masts and a fore-and-aft rig, with square sails on the foremast and no bowsprit.

In the special arrangement of the ship great ingenuity has been displayed, which reflects high credit on Mr. N. Barnaby, the Director of Naval Construction, and his assistant, Mr. Dunn. The latter has been for some years engaged in visiting the entire merchant fleet of the United Kingdom, and, with a staff of surveyors, carefully surveying all ships offered for the public service.

The famous Lincolnshire herd of shorthorns bred by the late Mr. Hutton, of Gate Burton, Gainsborough, was sold on the 3rd inst. by Mr. Thornton, the sale realising nearly £2000.

MUSIC.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

The twenty-third series of Saturday afternoon concerts opened well last week, the occasion having derived special importance from the first performance in England of Herr Brahms's new symphony, the second of his works of that class. The composer had become extensively known in this country during recent years by the frequent performance of various important chamber compositions—instrumental trios, quartets, quintets, &c., and vocal pieces, his name having gained still greater prominence through his Requiem, first given in public here, in 1873, by the Philharmonic Society; and by his first symphony (in C minor), the earliest hearing of which by an English audience was at the concert of the Cambridge University Musical Society, in March last year, on the occasion of Herr Joachim taking his degree as Doctor of Music. The symphony was soon afterwards given at the Crystal Palace and by the Philharmonic Society.

The second symphony, performed on Saturday last, is in the key of D, and was originally produced at the fourth concert of the Philharmonic Society of Vienna last Christmas Eve. The work, brighter and more cheerful in tone than its predecessor, is, like it, laid out on a sufficiently broad scale, and consists of four movements—"Allegro non troppo," "Adagio non troppo," "Allegretto Grazioso," and "Allegro con spirito." The whole work is more compact in treatment than the first symphony, and is, moreover, brighter and more genial in tone, with the exception of the "Adagio," which is sombre in character and vague in treatment. There is much melodic beauty in the first "Allegro;" but by far the best portion of the symphony is the finale, which is bright and jubilant in style, and written with more fluency and freedom than any other division of the work, the supplemental "coda" forming a truly splendid climax. In the Vienna performance the "Allegretto" produced the most effect, having been enthusiastically encored. This was not the case on Saturday, when the impression made on ourselves was that the movement is forced and strained in the effort at originality. It possesses, however, much bright piquancy of character, and some effective contrasts of rhythm. The instrumentation is masterly throughout the whole symphony, and the work will no doubt find frequent repetition in this country.

Saturday's concert also brought forward M. Brassin, a pianist who holds a high rank at Brussels, where he is Professor at the Conservatoire. This gentleman gave an excellent interpretation of Beethoven's "Emperor" concerto (that in E flat) and of Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasia." His rendering of the first was classical in style and masterly in execution, his bravura powers having been successfully displayed in the second piece. He met with an enthusiastic reception. Miss Emma Thursby sang, with brilliant execution, Mozart's elaborate concert-scena, "Ma che via fece," and was also warmly applauded for her delivery of Taubert's "Bird Song" and Handel's air (from "Rodelinda") "Mio caro bene." The concert began with Gluck's overture to "Iphigénie en Aulide" (with the coda added by Wagner), and ended with Sterndale Bennett's overture, "The Wood Nymphs." Mr. Manns received the usual greeting on his reappearance as conductor.

A new series of Promenade Concerts was begun at Covent-Garden Theatre on Saturday evening, under the direction of M. Rivière, who conducts the performances. As stated last week, an excellent band has been engaged, headed by Mr. Eayres as leader, and comprising many of our best instrumentalists; and a special feature at these concerts is the engagement of a select chorus of forty voices (under the direction of Mr. J. Pittman), to be augmented to two hundred on oratorio nights. At the opening performance Rossini's overture to "Semiramide" and Auber's to "La Sirène," the "Pilgrim's March" from Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony," and other pieces were finely rendered by the orchestra, which was supplemented by a military band and chorus in a selection from Lecocq's "Le Petit Duc." Vocal solos were contributed by Mesdames Lemmens-Sherrington, Zimeri, and Jenny Pratt, Mr Pearson, and Mr. W. Clifford; and Miss Fanny Albert played two pianoforte pieces with brilliant effect, having been encored in the second. M. Remenyi, the celebrated Hungarian violinist, was to have played a solo; but, owing to his indisposition, his appearance was postponed to this week. There was a very large attendance, and the concerts will doubtless prove as successful as those recently given in the same theatre by Messrs. Gatti.

Operatic recitals are being very effectively given on Wednesday and Saturday evenings at the Royal Aquarium, including the co-operation of Mesdames Rose Hersee, Sanderini, and Osborne Williams; Misses José Sherrington, Helen D'Alton, and Coyte Turner; Signor Leoni, Mr. B. M'Guckin, Mr. Abercrombie, Mr. Thurley Beale, Mr. F. Ward, and Signor Brocolini, and a chorus of 200 voices, and the Royal Aquarium orchestra, augmented for the occasion.

This (Saturday) afternoon the first of a series of weekly performances of opera in English will take place at Drury-Lane Theatre, when Goetz's comic opera, "The Taming of the Shrew," will be produced for the first time in England, under the direction of Herr Karl Meyder.

We have already stated that Her Majesty's Theatre will reopen, under Mr. Mapleson's management, on Oct. 19, for Italian opera performances at reduced prices, "Fidelio" being the opera announced for the first night, with Madame Pappenheim as Leonora, and a new tenor, M. Candidus, as Florestano. Besides other well-known works, Weber's "Oberon," M. Gounod's "Mirella," and Rossini's "Semiramide" are to be revived; "Carmen" (produced by Mr. Mapleson during the past summer season) is to be given, with Madame Trebelli in the title character, in replacement of Mdlle. Minnie Hauk, and Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" is to be reproduced, with alterations by the composer. Besides the vocalists just named, the company will include Mdlles. Marimon, Valleria, and Bauermeister, Madame Crosmond, Signori Gillandi, Runcio, Carrion, Rinaldini, M. Thomas, Signori Rota, Mendioroz, Roveri, M. Behrens, and other efficient artists; in addition to whom, first appearances are to be made by Mdlle. Ambre and Signor Leli. As previously stated, Signor Li Calsi is to be the conductor.

The Royal Albert Hall Choral Society will open its eighth season—again under the conductorship of Mr. Barnby—on Nov. 7, the dates of the following concerts being Nov. 28, Dec. 12 and 25, Jan. 23, Feb. 13 and 26, March 13 and 27, and April 11. The works announced for performance are "Elijah," "The Hymn of Praise," "Saint Paul," "The Creation," "Stabat Mater," "Messiah," "Israel in Egypt," and "Judas Maccabæus."

The Hackney Choral Association will begin its new season at the Shoreditch Townhall on Nov. 18, again under the able direction of Mr. Ebenezer Prout. The first concert will include Schumann's music to Goethe's "Faust" (the third part) and a selection from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" music. The three remaining concerts will take place next year—on Jan. 13, March 10, and May 5. As before, there will be an excellent orchestra, and Mr. Prout will conduct the performances.

The competition for the Sterndale Bennett Scholarship at the Royal Academy of Music took place last Saturday. There were eight candidates, and the scholarship was awarded to William George Wood.

THE NORWICH MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

The nineteenth of these triennial music-meetings will begin on Tuesday evening next—the performances taking place, as on past occasions, in St. Andrew's Hall. The arrangements are, as usual, on an extensive scale, including the engagement of a band of sixty performers, comprising many o our most eminent instrumentalists, headed by Mr. Carrodus as leading violinist. The other principals are—of second violins, Mr. A. Reynolds; violas, Mr. R. Blagrove; violoncellos, Mr. W. Pettit; double basses, Mr. J. Reynolds; flutes, Mr. Radcliffe; oboes, M. Dubrucq; clarinets, Mr. Lazarus; bassoons, Mr. Hutchins; trumpets, Mr. T. Harper; horns, Mr. C. Harper; &c.

The chorus consists of members of the Norwich Cathedral choir, and choristers from various other places, numbering altogether upwards of 270 voices.

As at eleven past festivals, Sir J. Benedict will conduct the performances, and will contribute the only novelty of importance in the programme—an overture entitled "Das Kätchen von Heilbronn," which will open the second part of Thursday evening's miscellaneous concert. The principal vocalists engaged are Mesdames Albani, Trebelli, and Antoinette Sterling; Misses Catherine Penna and Anna Williams; Mr. E. Lloyd, Mr. W. Shakspeare, Mr. H. J. Minns, Mr. Santley, and Mr. R. Hilton. The programmes, with the exception above referred to, consist almost entirely of familar materials, that for the opening night comprising Handel's serenata "Acis and Galatea" and the first part ("Spring") of Haydn's "Seasons." On Wednesday morning Professor G. A. Macfarren's oratorio "Joseph" will be given; and in the evening a ballad concert; "Elijah" is to be performed on Thursday morning, the evening being appropriated to a grand operatic concert; and the Festival will close on Friday morning with the usual climax, the "Messiah"—the supplemental ball heretofore given on the Friday evening being omitted on this occasion. The long list of the vice-presidents and general committee, headed by the name of the president, the Earl of Leicester, gives good guarantee for the success of the festival and consequent advantageous results to the funds of the principal charities in the county of Norfolk and city of Norwich, in whose behalf the performances are given.

THEATRES.

Our dramatic record of this week is rather of a narrative than a critical character. After a twelvemonth's absence Mr. John S. Clarke has reappeared at the Haymarket. Of course, Sheridan's comedy of "The Rivals" was selected for the occasion, and we had again the pleasure to witness this wonderful actor's performance of Bob Acres. On Monday Mrs. Swanborough resumed possession of the Strand, the performances being "Our Club" and the revived burlesque of "Nemesis." Both pieces were acted with great spirit, and will probably continue to attract for some weeks. At the Gaiety a "gaiety" has been produced at a matinée. On Saturday this novelty saw the light for the first time. We see by the advertisement that this piece is not to be mistaken for a burlesque, but to be accepted as a new kind of thing, "a comedy-vaudeville." It is the dainty handiwork of Mr. Hermann C. Merivale, and is entitled "The Lady of Lyons, Married and Settled." The nondescript is divided into three acts, leading the heroine back from the enjoyment of affluence and luxury to the conditions of the widow Melnotte's cottage, where Claude, a second time in love, is paying his attentions to a young washerwoman. Pauline is the principal feature in this new kind of vaudeville, and appears in a new light, Miss Nelly Farren's eccentric person and manner being the appropriate media of illumination. Miss Farren, notwithstanding her oddities, really looks exceedingly elegant in the character. The fun is obtained by exaggerating the peculiarities of the original actress. The new Lady Pauline "steps out like a horse" and "throws out her arms from the shoulders" in a style that becomes appalling by repetition. Beauseant is likewise made funny by an admixture of the Lytton-product with Dubosc in "The Lyon's Mail," and is well played by Mr. E. W. Ryce, not without some casual reference to Mr. Henry Irving's characteristic representation of the famous robber. Mr. Edward Terry's Claude must be witnessed to be understood. The soi-disant gardener studies poetry among his plants, and is famous for the composition of inane riddles and patter-songs. One of the latter does duty for the famous Lake of Como's description, and runs through the scientific topics investigated by the British Association in a style calculated to provoke vertigo and delirium. Whether this new sort of piece is destined for popularity we cannot undertake to say. But its repetition this afternoon, by affording it a second trial, will perhaps put the matter to the test. By all means let us encourage originality and prevent absurdity from becoming too ancient. A new form of fun were not unacceptable.

Preparations are being made for the production at the Park of "The Flying Scud," which is to follow "Mazeppa."

A new theatre at Cardiff, built on the most modern principles, at a cost of over £10,000, and capable of seating 2500 people, was opened on Monday night, when "Pygmalion and Galatea" was played to an immense audience.

MUSICAL PUBLICATIONS.

"Tears, idle tears" (Messrs. J. B. Cramer and Co.) is an expressive setting, by Lady Ross (of Balnagowan), of Tennyson's beautiful lines. The melody is appropriately pathetic in character, and lies well for a mezzo-soprano voice of moderate extent. "Soldaten-Leben," by Albert Hartmann; "Le Gage d'Amitié," by H. De Vaux; and "Lucette," by C. Coote, jun., are sets of waltzes of a very spirited kind. Messrs. Cramer and Co.'s recent publications also include "Cyprus," a vivacious galop, by H. De Vaux, with a frontis-piece map of the island.

"The Farmer at the Banks" is a very effective song, by Mr. J. L. Hatton, who has set a melody of genuine English character to some capital lines by Sir John Bennett, which happily express the writer's rejoicings in the wholesome influences of country life. Messrs. Novello, Ewer, and Co. are the publishers, and from them we have also "The Bouquet of Flowers," a series of sketches for the pianoforte, by C. J. Frost. The collection comprises twenty-four pieces, in the different major and minor keys, each named after a flower. These movements are characterised by much grace and contrast of style, and are well adapted for the purposes of tuition, copious indications being given for the fingering of the passages.

"Woo a lassie, win her well," Scotch ballad; "The spirit of morn," song; and "When sparrows build," ballad, all by W. C. Levey, are pleasing in melody and easy of execution, and will be welcome additions to the drawing-room répertoire. "Exercises and Solf-eggios for Contralto or Bass," by A. Gilardoni, are a useful collection of practical lessons for vocalists, each piece with a pianoforte accompaniment. Students of the vocal art, of the class referred to in the title, may derive much improvement from the practice of these exercises. They are issued by Messrs. Duff and Stewart, who also publish some effective pianoforte music, among which are, "Still Waters" and "Sanctuary," two brilliant pieces by Charles Oberthur.

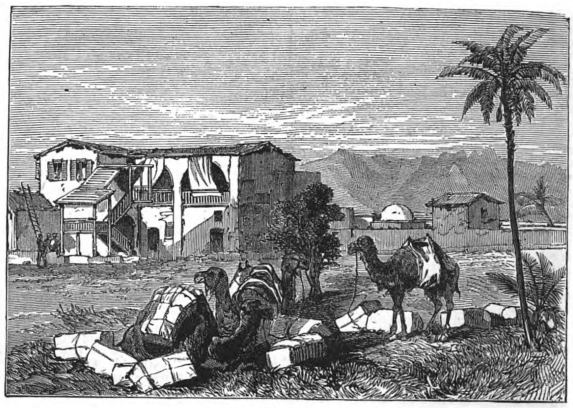
"Le Réveil du Rossignol" (Duncan Davison and Co.) is a spirited and brilliant "Valse élégante," by Miss Lillie Albrecht, the well-known pianist. The piece has the true dance rhythm, and is graceful as well as vivacious in style.

"The Taming of the Shrew," comic opera in four acts, by Hermann Goetz (Augener and Co.). This work, which has achieved a great success in Germany since its first production in 1874, has just been published by the firm named above, with the original German text and an English version by the Rev. J. Troutbeck. As will be inferred, the libretto is based on Shakspeare's comedy. Of the music we defer speaking until after its first performance in England, which is announced to take place at Drury-Lane Theatre on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12. Meanwhile, we may draw attention to the neat and inexpensive edition brought out by Messrs. Augener.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

The Volunteer Service Gazette says that during September, the eleventh month of the current volunteer year, there were twenty-eight resignations and only twenty new appointments, so that there is a net loss of eight for the month. There had been a gain on every month since last December, and over the whole eleven months just expired the gain is 274. One captain and eight subalterns of volunteers have resigned since its last issue. The new appointments are eight in number, giving a net loss of one. Five of the resigning officers held certificates of proficiency, three of them from schools of instruction.

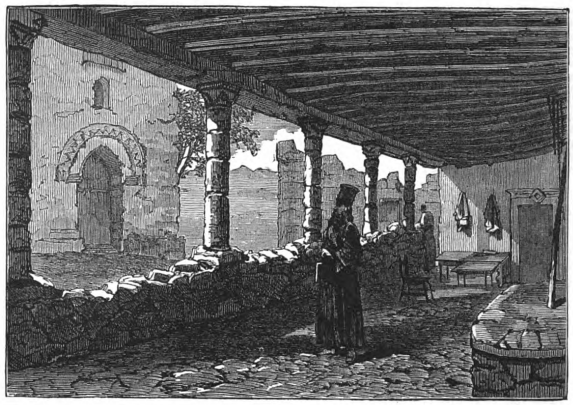
The annual prize-meeting of the British Museum Association was held on the 2nd inst. at Child's-hill. The challenge badge of the association, a silver cup, and twenty-two money prizes, given by the officers and gentlemen connected with the British Museum, were competed for. The following are the principal scores:—Corporal Anderson, challenge badge; Private Gatfield, silver cup. The money prizes were won by Corporal Anderson, Privates Gatfield, Waghorn, Saunders, Lake, Lowe, Woolford, Parker, and Tatnal, Colour-Sergeant Tomlinson, Corporal Baynes, and Private Layfield.



The annual prize-meeting of B (Art Students') company of the 1st Middlesex Engineers took place on the 1st inst., at the Ealing range, with the following results:—Ladies' Challenge Cup, first prize, Captain Glenny; second prize, Corporal Shoebridge; third prize, Staff Sergeant Davison. For the highest score at 600 yards, Captain Glenny; ditto at 500 yards, Corporal Shoebridge; ditto at 200 yards, Corporal Girling. Company's Subscription Prizes.—At 200 yards: Staff Sergeant Davison, 1; Corporal Shoebridge, 2; Captain Glenny, 3. At 300 yards: Corporal Girling, 1; Captain Glenny, 2; Staff Sergeant Davison, 3. Extra prizes, not open to winner of cup: Corporal Girling, 1; Staff Sergeant Davison, 2. Recruits' prize—Sapper Yeovil. Consolation prize—Sapper Body.

The results of the great rifle contest with the Martini-Henry and the Snider, begun on the 26th ult., resumed on the 27th, and now concluded at the Nunhead ranges, under the auspices of the South London Rifle Club, have been announced. The principal interest centered in the Martini-Henry competition, for which seventy-one competitors entered for prizes of the aggregate value of about £80. After a most exciting contest, Private W. Vicars, of the Queen's Westminster Rifles, came in first and won £12; Private M. L. Mempes, of the South Middlesex Rifles, the second prize, £8; Private R. J. Cameron, Queen's, was third, and wins £5; and Lieutenant Baker, 33rd Middlesex, fourth. The remaining winners in this contest were:—£3 each—Private W. Fagg, 4th Cinque Ports Artillery; Major Farrell, 26th Kent; Private C. F. Lowe, Queen's (the silver medallist at Wimbledon this year); Private H. Courtis, 19th Surrey. £2 each—Private C Howell, 4th Surrey; Sergeant-Instructor Gilder, 18th Middlesex; Private Sandell, 19th Surrey; Private W. Spor, 1st Surrey; Colour-Sergeant Mould, 4th Surrey; and Colour-Sergeant Honeyball, 5th East Kent. The other prizes, value £10, were won by Corporal Frost, 26th Kent; Lieutenant Allison, 26th Middlesex; Sergeant Gilbert, 41st Middlesex; Private C. Brown, 19th Surrey; Captain Lloyd-Jones, 6th Dorset; Private Hollis, 3rd Kent; Private Butcher, 33rd Surrey; Private H. Smith, London Rifle Brigade; Captain Stakie, Queen's, and Sergeant Wells, 13th Kent. The range prizes in this contest, value about £20, were awarded to Private Cameron, Queen's; Major Farrell, 26th Kent; Private C. Brown, 19th Surrey; Private A. Reid, 19th Surrey; Quartermaster Cortis, 1st Sussex; and Lieutenant Livesay, 1st Sussex, for highest scores at 200 yards. At 500 yards, Sergeant-Major Gilder was awarded £1 15s. for his extraordinary feat of seven consecutive bull's-eyes: Private Mempes, South Middlesex; Major Young, 39th Middlesex; Colour-Sergeant Fletcher, London Rifle Brigade; Private Fagg, 4th Cinque Ports; and Sergeant Mellings, Queen's, received prizes. At 600 yards the highest individual scores were made by Private J. Serle, 23rd Surrey, who wins £2 15s.; Private J. M. Hay, Artists', £2 4s.; Private H. Smith, London Rifle Brigade, £1 13s.; Private W. Jenner, 1st Manchester; Private C. Brown, 19th Surrey, and Sergeant-Major Gilder. In the Snider contest there was also some splendid shooting. Captain W. Morris took the first prize of £12; and the remainder, ranging in value from £8 to £1, were won as follows:—Private C. F. Lowe, Queen's (Westminster); Sergeant J. Mellings, Queen's; Lieutenant H. Munday, Hon. Artillery Company; Corporal H. Brand, 26th Kent; Private L. H. Thomas, 19th Middlesex; Private W. Spor, 1st Surrey; Sergeant P. Oliver, 18th Kent; Sergeant P. Morgan, 49th Middlesex; Private H. Felton, 19th Surrey; Private W. Butcher, Artists'; Drum-Major Smith, 10th Surrey; Private Manzie, 25th Kent; Private G. Sandell, 19th Middlesex; Private G. Rosenthal, St. George's; Private J. Serle, 23rd Surrey; Corporal H. C. Frost, 26th Kent; Sergeant-Major Gilder, 18th Middlesex; Lieutenant R. M'Kerrill, London Scottish; Corporal Cutting, St. George's; Sergeant-Instructor Mumford, 1st Essex; and Private H. Courtis, 19th Surrey. The range prizes in this contest were awarded as follow:—200 Yards: Private C. Brown, 19th Surrey; Quartermaster Cortis, 1st Sussex; Private H. Smith, London Rifle Brigade; Colour-Sergeant Fletcher, London Rifle Brigade; and Private J. Hay, Artists'. 500 Yards: Private J. Serle, 19th Surrey; Private J. Hay, Artists'; Private R. Cameron, Queen's; Private Bonner, 8th Lincoln; Private W. Butcher, Artists'; and Sergeant Morgan, 49th Middlesex. 600 Yards: Private H. L. Thomas, 19th Middlesex; Private C. Brown, 19th Surrey; Quartermaster Cortis, 1st Sussex; Sergeant-Instructor Mumford, 1st Essex; Private J. Hay, Artists'; and Private A. W. Pilling, Leeds Rifles.

OUR ARTIST IN CYPRUS.

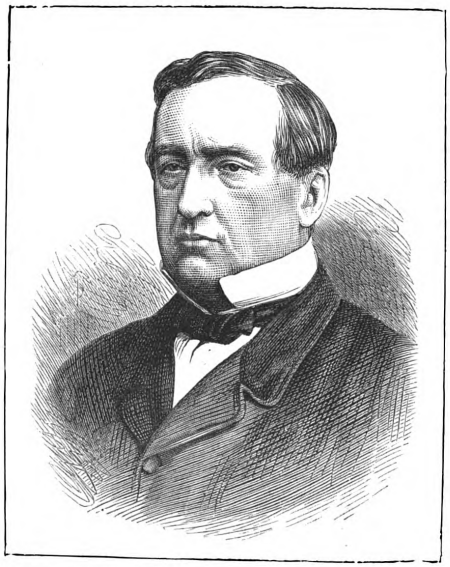


TRIKOMO.

MICHAEL'S HOUSE, TRIKOMO.

RECEPTION OF A DEPUTATION, TRIKOMO.

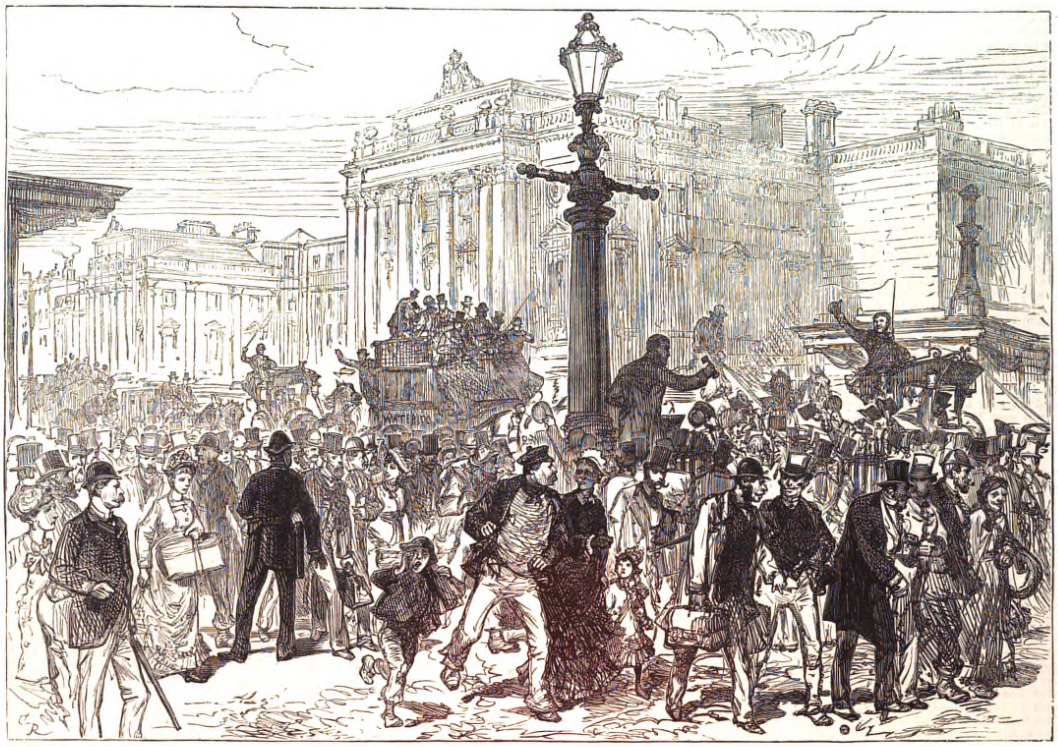
CLOISTERS OF MONASTERY, KANTARA.



THE LATE MR. JUSTICE KEOGH.

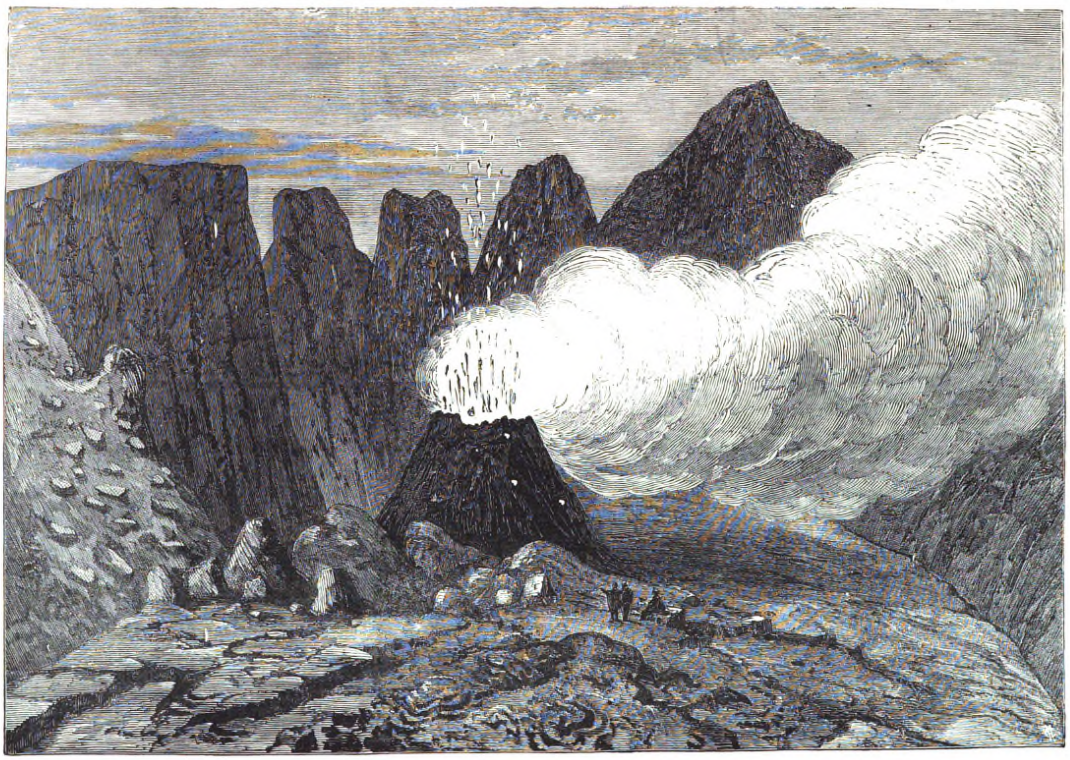
The death of this well-known Irish Judge, following soon after the terrible visitation of insanity under which he attempted to kill his man-servant at Brussels, must be regarded as a merciful release from a very deplorable state of body and mind. The Right Hon. William Keogh was born in 1817, a son of Mr. Keogh, of Roscommon, Clerk of the Crown for Kilkenny. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, where he obtained high University honours, studied the law at Lincoln's Inn, and practised with success at the Irish Bar, becoming a Q.C. in 1849. He became M.P. for Athlone in 1847. In 1852, under Lord Aberdeen's Government, he was appointed Solicitor-General for Ireland, and was promoted to be Attorney-General in 1855. A year later he was raised to the Irish Bench, as one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas. Mr. Justice Keogh was, at one time, an active politician of the Liberal party, and a vigorous writer and speaker.

The Portrait is from a photograph by Mr. Chancellor, of Lower Sackville-street, Dublin.



WATERLOO BRIDGE OPENED TOLL-FREE.

The Metropolitan Board of Works on Saturday last at noon opened Waterloo Bridge and the Charing-cross foot-bridge free of toll for ever. They have paid, under the arbitrators' award, £475,000 for Waterloo Bridge, which cost a million, and which was opened by the Prince Regent in 1818. For the foot-bridge at Charing-cross, belonging to the South-Eastern Railway Company, £98,540 has been awarded. It is intended to purchase the toll-bridges at Lambeth, Vauxhall, Chelsea, and Battersea, and) ee them from toll. The ceremony of opening Waterloo Bridge, of which we give an Illustration, was performed by Mr. Dresser Rogers, a member of the Metropolitan Board of Works, and chairman of the Works and General Purposes Committee, deputed by his colleagues in place of Sir James Hogg, M.P., Chairman of the Board. He was accompanied by many other members of the Board, who came in two omnibuses from their offices in Spring-gardens. They passed on the bridge at its north end, from Wellington-street, and the gates were closed for a time. Mr. Dresser Rogers ascended a portable rostrum, and briefly addressed the meeting; he exhibited the key which he had just received from the Chairman of the Waterloo Bridge Company, and stated the arrangements which had been made, under the Act of Parliament of 1877, to settle all claims of the proprietors. He then descended from his rostrum, and with his colleagues mounted their two omnibuses, and were driven first across the bridge. As soon as they were fairly on their way the gates were taken away, and there was an instant rush of foot-passengers, cabs, and vehicles of all kinds, the bridge in a few seconds presenting a scene of great animation. The two omnibuses were driven fairly over the bridge to the other end, where there was equal excitement. A salute of guns was fired; the roadway here was spanned by flags. The omnibuses turned and were driven back to the Strand, and thence by Villiers-street to the entrance steps of the Charing-cross Bridge. Here Mr. Dresser Rogers's rostrum was again in waiting for him, and he and his colleagues were met by Mr. Alexander Beattie, chairman of the finance committee of the South-Eastern Railway, and several other gentlemen connected with the company, with a large concourse of people. The key of the turnstile gate was handed by Mr. Beattie to Mr. Dresser Rogers, who spoke as he had done at Waterloo Bridge; three cheers were given, the turnstile was removed, and the members of the Board of Works then walked on the bridge, followed by a crowd of people.



THE LATE MR. JUSTICE KEOGH, IRISH JUDGE.

Birmingham had its town's meeting yesterday week to consider the question of water supply. The Town Council wish to borrow £300,000 to extend the supply, and, though there was some opposition, the proposal was agreed to.

THE ABOLITION OF THE TOLL ON WATERLOO BRIDGE: DECLARING THE BRIDGE FREE.

PRESENT CONDITION OF THE CRATER OF MOUNT VESUVIUS, SKETCHED SEPT. 26.

ENGLISH MEN OF LETTERS.

We bid fair to have in course of time, by the co-operation of Mr. John Morley as editor, and Messrs. Macmillan as publishers, such a series of handy volumes devoted to biographical, didactic, and critical sketches of "English Men of Letters" as, in respect of brevity combined with completeness and competent skill on the part of the biographers and critics, will leave nothing to desire. This, at least, is the hope excited by three samples, entitled, respectively, Gibbon, by James Cotter Morison, M.A.; Samuel Johnson, by Leslie Stephen; and Sir Walter Scott, by Richard H. Hutton. It may and will, no doubt, be urged by persons who must find some objection to everything, that such works, which are, of necessity and from the very nature of the case, abbreviations and, for the most part, compilations, are calculated, like long reviews of books, to prevent readers from betaking themselves to original sources of information and forming therefrom an independent estimate. But those persons ought to be silenced by the reflection that, whilst the day still consists of but four-and-twenty hours and the hours remain of the same length as heretofore, the quantity of literature with which every cultivated mind should be tolerably familiar has increased upon us with such rapidity and in such bulk that, without the assistance of abbreviators and compilers, it would be impossible for the majority of a busy people to become acquainted with an appreciable fraction of the whole. The main condition, of course, is that the abbreviators and compilers should be capable and trustworthy, a condition which, in the case under consideration, appears likely to be amply fulfilled. Let a description now be given of the process adopted in each of the three monographs.

"Gibbon" is disposed of in ten chapters. The first contains a sketch of the illustrious historian's life, from his birth, in 1737, to his conversion, in 1753, to Romanism, whereby "he had ceased to be a member of the University" of Oxford. The second deals with his five years' sojourn at Lausanne, whither he was sent by his father, immediately after conversion, "far away from the influences and connections which had done such harm." The third exhibits him soldiering "in the militia." The fourth gives a very short but very interesting account of the visit he made to Paris and thence to Italy, after a second sojourn at Lausanne, in 1763. The fifth "shows him returned to his father's house," in 1765, remaining there "till the latter's death, in 1770," not only revolving but carrying out certain literary schemes, and betraying the first symptoms of that state of mind which was afterwards to make his name almost synonymous with Antichrist. In the sixth we find him settled "in London as master in his own house," at 7, Bentinck-street, Manchester-square, taking his seat as a member of Parliament, and cutting but a poor figure as a politician; hungering for place, and accused of accepting it at the expense of principle; and finishing, in the comparatively short space of three years, the first volume of his immortal "Decline and Fall," a short space, be it observed, when the difference between beginning and continuing a great work is appreciated, and when his leisurely method of achievement is taken into account. The seventh contains a discourse concerning the first three volumes of the "Decline and Fall," volumes which he had finished before he migrated, under the pressure of pecuniary embarrassment, to his familiar Lausanne, in 1783. The eighth gives a description of "the last ten years of his life in Lausanne;" and the ninth is occupied with a sort of commentary upon the last three volumes of the "Decline and Fall," which was concluded in the first half of those ten years. The tenth and concluding chapter offers the sad picture of Gibbon's last illness and, in more than one sense, premature death, together with some remarks upon his miscellaneous works and with a sound estimate of his excellence as an historian.

"Samuel Johnson" occupies but six chapters, devoted respectively to a review of his childhood and early life, of his literary career, of his personal figure, habits, and friendships, of his position as a literary dictator, of the closing years of his life, and of his writings. The whole is fully, compactly, forcibly, sympathetically done; and the reader cannot fail to derive from it a very vivid and satisfactory idea of what manner of man, outwardly and inwardly, was he who obtained the name of the great lexicographer. The monograph, moreover, is written with great spirit and liveliness, with an evident relish for whatever is droll and humorous, with open delight in the uncouth antics of the dancing bear; so that dulness has little or no place in the pages. The dullest chapter is naturally, the last, in which a judgment is passed upon Johnson as a writer; and the inferior position he occupies in that capacity, compared with his supremacy as a talker, is insisted upon. That is a proposition which has by this time met with such very general acceptance that to dispute it would be unprofitable, even if it were not impossible. It may be said, in a general way, that, though everybody who can reads Boswell's "Life of Johnson" and the table-talk wherewith that incomparable biography abounds, nobody nowadays reads a line of Johnson's own writings, prose or verse, albeit, according to Mr. Leslie Stephen, the "Vanity of Human Wishes" is "perhaps, the finest poem written since Pope's time and in Pope's manner, with the exception of Goldsmith's still finer performances." Even the "Lives of the Poets," which "intelligent readers, who have once made its acquaintance, will be apt to turn into a familiar companion," is not clamorously demanded, if experience may be trusted, either at the libraries or elsewhere. And it is probable that the interest which Dr. Johnson and his career and his talk continue to excite among successive generations of readers is due less to the wisdom and moral tendency of his utterances than to the fascination exercised over mankind by any monstrous phenomenon.

"Sir Walter Scott" may be called a biographical tragedy, in seventeen chapters, based upon the voluminous "Life" which we owe to the labour and affection of Lockhart; for nothing short of a tragedy is the story of a great enterprise which ended as the "Wizard's" attempt to "found and endow a new branch of the clan of Scott." The catastrophe is thus summed up:—"When, fifteen years after his death, the estate was at length freed from debt, all his own children and the eldest of his grandchildren were dead; and now forty-six years have elapsed, and there only remains one girl of his descendants to borrow his name and live in the halls of which he was so proud." The following is the order of subjects, chapter by chapter:—Ancestry, parentage, and childhood; youth and choice of a profession; love and marriage, though the marriage was not the consequence of the love; Scott's earliest poetry, and "Border Minstrelsy;" his maturer poems; his companions and friends; his first country homes; his removal to Abbotsford and life there; his partnership with the Ballantynes; the Waverley novels; Scott's morality and religion; his distractions and amusements at Abbotsford; his relations with King George IV.; his character as a politician; his conduct in adversity; the last year of his life; and the end of the struggle—that heroic, Herculean struggle which he had maintained to repair the evil "his sanguine temper had worked," and to leave his "name unstained." Of course, there are mingled with the biographical narrative pieces of criticism, and of acute criticism, upon the "Wizard," both as a man and as an author; and these critical remarks, if they do not always command assent, are fair enough, and certainly instructive. On the whole, however, the monograph has been so arranged, and is pervaded by such a spirit, that, notwithstanding the light freely admitted to relieve the shade, the impression left upon the reader is that of a tragic fate, of chastisement inflicted by Nemesis, of vaulting ambition overleaping itself, of genius forced to illustrate the fact that "man proposes, God disposes." As we lay down the volume, we are inclined to dwell rather upon the failure of Sir Walter Scott's cherished purpose than upon the literary riches he, incidentally rather than intentionally, bequeathed to his country. Whether the author of the monograph considered, and ought to have considered, that it was his duty to leave us so impressed, we need not pause to inquire; the fact remains that his work, satisfactory as it is in other respects, causes us to lay it down with the disagreeable sensations of men for whom victory has been turned into mourning.

THE CRATER OF VESUVIUS.

We are indebted to Mr. J. Eddy for the sketch we have engraved, showing the actual condition of the crater of Mount Vesuvius on the 26th ult. It is accompanied by the following letter, dated the 30th, from Rome:—"Vesuvius having been for a long time in a disturbed condition, and the reports of an eruption growing more and more exciting, I determined to pay a visit to the mountain, and to see in what condition it really was. It is, perhaps, almost needless to say that I found everything had been very much exaggerated. This, indeed, I had expected; for anyone who knows where the Observatory is placed, and how Professor Palmieri stayed there, unmoved by the terrible eruption of 1872, will find it difficult to believe that he would now spend his time in building a dyke round his observatory, as the telegrams reported. Still, the visit was not unsatisfactory, for I was able to descend into the old crater, which would, of course, have been impossible in a great eruption, and to see the new cone and the small eruption which is actually going on. Leaving Naples with a friend, we drove up as far as what used to be the Hermitage, now deserted by the monks, who have been expelled even from that solitude by the Italian Government. Here we left our carriage at a small inn and took horses to the foot of the cone, accompanied by a crowd of guides, who, however, soon tailed off, leaving us with the three who were chosen to go up with us. At the foot of the cone we were beset by as many more of them. My friend, after about fifty yards of ascent among the loose ashes, found it too fatiguing, and consented to be hauled up. This encouraged others of the loafers to follow us, in hopes of my doing the same; but, finding that it was a waste of time, they soon left us. The climbing is certainly tiring, like walking through loose sand on the seashore, with a stiff hill thrown in; but, with a little patience, one works one's way on. The crater was so filled with smoke that we determined to descend into it to see what was to be seen. Half-way down, when we got in sight of the new cone throwing up flames and showers of red-hot stones, I confess to feeling rather nervous about continuing the descent, and I think it was excusable; but the guides said there was no need for alarm, and that other people were already down there, so we went on. The floor of the old crater has in the last few weeks risen a considerable height, and is still rising, for when we reached it there were two or three small streams of lava oozing out of cracks in it, and slowly flowing over the cooler blocks. These streams came out red hot, but soon turned to the dull lead colour of the rest of the lava; only directly you stirred them up they became glowing like fused metal. The floor itself is full of cracks, showing the lava red hot at about a foot or two beneath the surface; and even where we stood you could not bear the hand on it long. At the upper end of the hollow is the new cone, which forced its way up suddenly, and keeps up a continuous shower of lumps of red-hot lava. The more violent explosions throw up to a height of a hundred feet or so, with a dull, smothered report; the lesser ones throw up the liquid fire some twenty or thirty feet; and as the pieces of lava fall on the side of the cone they turn black almost instantly, and help to raise the little hill in height. The cone is quite black, and about fifty feet high. One theory is that it will grow until it fills the present crater, and take the place of the old cone, as the old one did that of the left-hand cone in the year 79, when Herculaneum was destroyed. In front of the cone is a mass of rock which lately fell from the sides of the crater. At the opposite end of the crater, and therefore not visible in the small sketch I took, is a sort of gap in the walls of the crater, through which the lava is expected to flow. At present it will have to rise about 20 feet before it reaches the gap, unless the side should crumble away under the great heat and pressure. This gap is on the side towards the hollow or ravine which divides the two crests of the mountain; and the lava would therefore take the course it followed in 1872, towards the Observatory and San Sebastiano. At present the activity of the eruption has so much diminished that there is little probability of the lava flowing down the sides of the mountain for some weeks to come, if it does at all. But perhaps, as the moon seems to exercise some mysterious influence over the volcanic elements, there will be a further increase of activity at the next full moon, and then the lava will rise high enough to overflow."

The Glasgow News says that an elder of the Church of Scotland, who on former occasions has shown great liberality to the Church, has given £6000 to the Home Mission, £1000 to the Endowment Scheme, and £1000 to the Colonial Scheme.

Messrs. Anderson and MacGrigor, who were appointed to examine the books of the City of Glasgow Bank, have reported that it is impossible for the bank to continue business. They advise it should be wound up. The directors will call a meeting of the shareholders for the 22nd inst., to obtain their decision on the subject. A Glasgow newspaper gives a list of ten firms, who collectively owe the bank £6,088,000. The Times states in its City article that the position of this bank is better than it was at first thought to be as regards the nature of the assets. The property belonging to the largest debtor, whose liability to the bank is £2,200,000, consists of land in New Zealand of the first quality, valued at £1,300,000, and the balance is covered by wool. It is believed that the bank will lose nothing in this case, but the realisation will take time—some few years, probably. The Australian merchants, Messrs. Potter, Wilson, and Co., whose inability to meet their engagements has already been announced, are put down for about £160,000. Their assets are said to be very fair, and it is stated that they will be well able to pay. At a meeting of the Merchants' House in Glasgow on Tuesday the President, Sir James Watson, said the failure would in one way be beneficial to business by stopping rash speculation and giving honest traders an opportunity of carrying on a wider legitimate business.

OBITUARY.

LORD CHELMSFORD.

The Right Honourable Sir Frederick Thesiger, Baron Chelmsford, of Chelmsford, in the county of Essex, D.C.L., F.R.S., died at his residence in Eaton-square, aged eighty-four. He was born July 15, 1794, the only son to survive youth of Charles Thesiger, Esq., Collector of Customs in the Island of St. Vincent, by Mary Anne, his wife, daughter of Theophilus Williams, Esq., of London. At an early age he entered the Royal Navy as a Midshipman, but, soon changing his profession, was called to the Bar in 1818. Thenceforward his forensic career was one of continuous success. He soon became a leading Counsel on the Home Circuit, and obtained a silk gown in 1834. In 1844 he was appointed Solicitor-General and knighted, and in the following year succeeded to the Attorney-Generalship, which office he again filled in 1852. In 1858 he was constituted Lord Chancellor, and raised to the Peerage. He resigned the Chancellorship in April, 1859, but resumed it in 1866, again to retire in 1868. His Lordship was an eloquent and brilliant advocate while at the Bar, and was leading counsel in the chief causes célèbres of his time. His Lordship married, March 9, 1822, Anna Maria, youngest daughter and co-heir of William Tinling, Esq., of Southampton, and niece of Major Peirson, the heroic defender of Jersey, and by her, who died April 9, 1875, had issue five sons—viz., 1, Frederick Augustus, C.B., a General officer, now commanding in South Africa, who becomes second Lord Chelmsford; 2, Charles, late Lieutenant-Colonel 6th Dragoons, now Inspector of Auxiliary Cavalry; 3, George Cochran, died under age; 4, Alfred Henry, P.C., Q.C., one of the Lords Justices of Appeal; 5, Edward Peirson; and five daughters—viz., 1, Sidney Louisa, died an infant; 2, Augusta, married to W. F. Higgins, Esq., of Chester-place; 3, Sidney Maria, died young; 4, Julia Selina, married to Major-General Sir John Eardley Wilmot Inglis K.C.B., who died in 1862; and, 5, Mary Lincoln.

SIR R. SUTTON, BART.

Sir Richard Sutton, fourth Baronet, of Norwood Park, in the county of Nottingham, died at St. John's Park, Ryde, Isle of Wight, on the 3rd inst. He was born Oct. 21, 1821, the second son of Sir Richard Sutton, second Baronet, by Mary Elizabeth, his wife, daughter of Benjamin Burton, Esq., of Burton Hall, in the county of Carlow, and succeeded to the title at the death of his brother, Sir John Sutton, third Baronet, June 5, 1873. He married, first, May 18, 1845, Anna, daughter of the Rev. H. Houson, Rector of Brant Broughton, which lady died in 1846; and secondly, July 29, 1851, Harriet Anne, daughter of W. F. Burton, Esq., of Burton Hall, by whom he leaves four sons and eight daughters. Of the former, the eldest, now Sir Richard Francis Sutton, Bart., was born Dec. 20, 1853. The deceased Baronet was patron of four livings, and possessed a considerable estate, not only in the counties of Nottingham, Leicester, and Berks, but also in Piccadilly, London. He was a magistrate for Berks and Leicestershire, a Deputy Lieutenant for Notts, and High Sheriff of Leicestershire in 1861. He was formerly in the Royal Navy, and afterwards in the Life Guards, and was master of the Skefflington hounds.

GENERAL SIR H. J. W. BENTINCK.

General Sir Henry John William Bentinck, K.C.B., Colonel of the 28th Regiment, Commander of the Legion of Honour, died on the 29th ult., at 22, Upper Grosvenor-street, aged eighty-two. He was the youngest son of Count John Charles Bentinck, by Lady Jemina Helena, his wife, daughter of the Earl of Athlone, and was descended from William, first Earl of Portland, the ancestor of the Dukes of Portland. He entered the Army, in the Coldstream Guards, in 1811, and served with that regiment during the Crimean War with great distinction, being present at Alma, Balaclava, and Inkerman (where he was wounded), and Sebastopol. For these services he was created a K.C.B., and received the orders of the Legion of Honour, and Medjidie, and the Sardinian and Turkish medals. He was appointed Colonel of the 28th Regiment in 1854, and attained the rank of General in 1867. He was formerly a Groom-in-Waiting to the Queen. General Bentinck married, March 10, 1829, Renira Antoinetta, daughter of Admiral Sir James Hawkins Whitshed, Bart., but had no issue

SIR FRANCIS GRANT.

Sir Francis Grant, President of the Royal Academy, died at his residence, The Lodge, Melton Mowbray, on the 5th inst. He was born Jan. 18, 1803, the fourth son of Francis Grant, Esq., of Kilgraston, and Pitcaithlie, in the county of Perth, by Anne, his wife, eldest daughter of Robert Oliphant, Esq., of Rossie, Postmaster-General of Scotland. He was consequently brother of the late John Grant, Esq., of Kilgraston (whose daughter Margaret became Baroness Gray), and of General Sir James Hope Grant, the distinguished Indian commander. He received his education at Harrow and at Edinburgh High School. This eminent painter, particularly noted for his portraits, was elected an Associate of the Royal Academy in 1842, an Academician in 1851, and President in 1866. In that year he received the honour of knighthood, and in 1870 the honorary degree of D.C.L. of Oxford University. Sir Francis married, first, Emily, eldest daughter of Ross Farquharson, Esq., of Invercauld; and secondly, Isabella, fifth daughter of Richard Norman, Esq., by Lady Elizabeth, his wife, sister of the Duke of Rutland. A portrait of Sir F. Grant appeared in our Number for March 10, 1866.

MR. WHALLEY, M.P.

George Hammond Whalley, Esq., died on the 7th inst., at The Tower, near Llangollen, in his sixty-sixth year. Mr. Whalley was the son of a merchant and banker of Gloucester. He was educated at University College, London, where he took the first prize in rhetoric and metaphysics. In 1836 he was called to the Bar and was appointed an assistant tithe commissioner, a post which he held for eleven years. At the general election of 1852 Mr. Whalley unsuccessfully contested the Montgomery boroughs, but was subsequently returned for Peterborough, Sir George Cornewall Lewis being an unsuccessful candidate. He was, however, unseated on petition. He again contested Peterborough in 1857, and was defeated, but was returned for that city in 1859, and has since continued to represent it. He was nominally elected as a Liberal, but he was best known in the earlier pert of his career in St-

Stephen's as the opponent of the Jesuits in every shape and form, and more recently as the unflinching supporter of Arthur Orton, the impostor who claimed the Tichborne title and estates. He was a magistrate for Merionethshire and Montgomeryshire, and a magistrate and Deputy-Lieutenant for Denbighshire; he also served as a High Sheriff for Carnarvonshire in 1852. Mr. Whalley married, in 1846, Anne Wakeford, daughter of Mr. Richard Attree, of Bisterne, Hampshire.

MR. GEORGE THOMPSON.

George Thompson, Esq., died at Leeds on the 7th inst., in his seventy-fifth year. He first became widely known to the public in connection with the agitation against slavery in the British colonies, and by his ardent and powerful oratory contributed largely not only to the downfall of slavery, but also to the abolition of the apprenticeship system. Subsequently he joined the Anti-Corn Law League, and addressed many of the earliest meetings held under the auspices of that great organisation. He also took an active part in forming the British India Association. Mr. Thompson was associated with Mr. Garrison, Mr. Whittier, and the members of the American Anti-Slavery Society, in the movement for the abolition of slavery in the United States. A visit which he paid to that country in the year 1834 led to the formation of upwards of 150 anti-slavery societies. He was, however, denounced by General Jackson in a Presidential message; and, in consequence of repeated plots against his life, he was compelled to leave the country. During the Civil War he revisited the United States, a public reception being given to him in the House of Representatives in the presence of President Lincoln and the majority of his Cabinet. Mr. Thompson was associated with Mr. Hume, Sir Joshua Walmsley, and many other public men in the National Parliamentary Reform Associations, whose programme included household suffrage, vote by ballot, and equal electoral districts. In 1846 he was presented with the freedom of the city of Edinburgh, and in 1847 he was elected M.P. for the Tower Hamlets.

The deaths have also been announced of—

Colonel James Hale Warden, Madras Staff Corps, on the 27th ult., in India.

William Richard Crabbe, Esq., F.S.A., on the 2nd inst., at Heavitree, near Exeter, in his sixtieth year.

William Henry de Merle, Esq., of Iwood, Somerset, D.L., on the 29th ult., at Ward Hill, Farnham, aged eighty-seven.

Captain G. J. Redman, J.P., an Elder Brother of the Trinity House, on the 30th ult., at Belsize Park, N.W.

Edward Armitage, Esq., on the 2nd inst., at Farnley Lodge, Cheltenham, in his eighty-second year.

Dr. Edward Denis de Vitre, of The Elms, Bare, near Lancaster, the founder of the Royal Albert Asylum for Idiots and Imbeciles of the seven northern counties, on the 4th inst.

Professor Robert Harkness, Professor of Natural History in Queen's College, Cork, on the 5th inst. He dropped dead while walking along the landing in the Imperial Hotel, Dublin, on Saturday.

John Thomas Woodhouse, Esq., of Derby, founder and first president of the Midland Institute of Mining, Civil, and Mechanical Engineers. Mr. Woodhouse was widely known in connection with mining. He was in his sixtieth year.

Augustine William Massy, formerly of the 56th Regiment, eldest surviving son of the late Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon. John Massy, of Monkstown, in the county of Dublin, on the 29th ult., at St. Leonards-on-Sea, aged forty-two.

The Rev. John Dunmore Lang, D.D., Presbyterian minister, at Sydney, on Aug. 8. He was for many years a member of the Legislative Council at Sydney, where he was very popular, and was a zealous promoter of emigration to Australia.

Harris Prendergast, Esq., Q.C., eldest son of the late General Sir Jeffery Prendergast, at Brighton, on the 30th ult., aged seventy-three. He was directly descended from Jeffery Prendergast, of Crohane, younger brother of Sir Thomas Prendergast, Bart., of Gort, M.P., killed at Malplaquet.

Charles Henry Evans Judkins, for some years Commodore of the Cunard Atlantic Fleet, at his residence, Linton Lodge, Mossley-hill, near Liverpool, on the 7th inst., at the age of sixty-nine years, after an illness of a fortnight's duration. Captain Judkins's connection with the Cunard Company dated from the early days of that great undertaking.

General John Liptrap, recently, at Kensington, aged seventy-eight. He entered the military service of the East India Company in 1818, and a few months since attained the rank of General. He served during the first Burmese War in the Afghanistan and Sutlej campaigns, and during the Indian Mutiny, and on several occasions received special thanks for daring personal bravery.

Joseph Ivimey, Esq., who was formerly for many years an active member of and solicitor to the Anti-Corn Law League. In the early days of the Reform Bill Mr. Ivimey was the political agent for the Liberal candidates for the borough of Marylebone. By the death of Mr. Ivimey the Superintendent Registrarship of St. Pancras, which he had held ever since the passing of the Registration Act, becomes vacant.

Robert Holbeche Dolling, Esq., of Maralin, in the county of Down, and Tamlaght O'Crilly, in the county of Derry, J.P. and D.L., on the 28th ult., in Dublin, aged sixty-nine. He was the eldest son of the late Rev. Boughey William Dolling, of Magheralin, by Mary, his wife, daughter of John Short, Esq. He married, in 1842, Eliza, third daughter of the late Josias Du Pré Alexander, Esq., M.P., and niece of James, first Earl of Caledon, and by her (who died 1870) leaves issue. He served as High Sheriff of the county of Londonderry in 1865.

Major-General H. Bingham, late of the 60th Rifles, on the 1st inst., at Wolverton House, in the county of Dublin. The deceased officer joined the 60th Rifles in April, 1827, and served in the regiment for upwards of thirty-seven years. He took part in the Punjaub campaign of 1848-9, and received the medal with two clasps. He also commanded the companies of the 60th engaged against the hill tribes in the Euzofzye country in December, 1849, and was severely wounded in the head. For these services he received the medal with clasp. On quitting the 60th Rifles he was appointed inspecting officer of the Leeds recruiting district. He was promoted to Colonel in 1862 and Major-General in 1874. By his death there is a vacancy on the active list of General officers, and a distinguished service reward falls vacant.

The total number of lives lost in the Ebbw Vale Colliery disaster is now known to be 286, two fresh names, those of Griffith England, twenty years of age, and a lad named Edwin Williams, having been added to the list. No danger of fire now exists, and the work of raising the water, which is estimated to be about 28 ft. deep, is progressing satisfactorily. We are requested to say that gifts of flannel, clothing, &c., which will be much needed in the approaching winter, will be most gratefully received by the chairman of the Local Distribution Committee, Mr. Phineas James, of Abercarne House, Abercarne, Monmouthshire.

CHESS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All communications relating to this department of the Paper should be addressed to the Editor, and have the word "Chess" written on the envelope.

CHESSPLAYER (Lutterworth).—Your question raises a point that must be left to the player's sense of honour. The rule is that, if a player says "J'adoube," after touching a piece he is not obliged to move it and no one but himself can know whether his intention was to move or to adjust it. The perpetual check at page 31 of Staunton's "Handbook" is solved by 1. R to B 8th (ch), B takes R; 2. Kt to Kt 6th (ch), K to Kt sq; 3. Kt takes K P (ch), K to R sq; 4. Kt to Kt 6th (ch) ad lib.

WOODWICK (Belfast).—The position shall be examined, as requested.

E G L (Park-hill).—You should consult some elementary treatise upon the game. The question of a plurality of Queens has been answered frequently in this column. You may have two or more Queens, three or more Bishops, Knights, and Rooks all on the board at the same time.

J P (Bedford).—The two-move position shall be sent to you through the post.

W B (Torquay).—The fifth edition of the "German Handbuch."

G J S.—There is a second solution to your problem, commencing 1. Kt P takes B.

J S T.—After 1. B to Q 2nd, should Black play 1. R to K 6th, how is the mate effected?

J G C (Highgate).—Your last problem would be vastly improved by cutting out the first move on both sides. Shall we make this alteration?

J J CORTES (Lima).—The solutions of Problems Nos. 1793, 1796, and 1795 by the members of your club are correct.

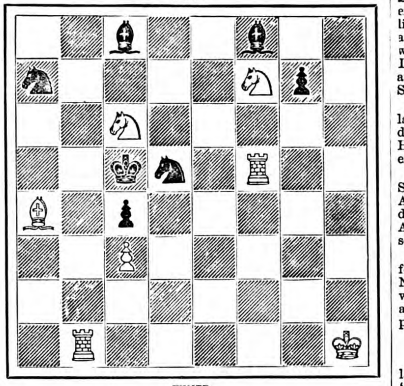
ANY AMATEUR desirous of playing a game by correspondence may address Mr. W. Ball, Walmer House, Torquay.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1804 received from Devonshire, Dabbshill, E Burkhard, Charles Hayward, and Franklin Institute.

CORRECT SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1805 received from A Patricio Correa (Lisbon), Emile Frau, E H H V, Tonks, and C H B.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1806 received from J C M, An Old Hand, E M and T P F, T W Hope, C C E, S Threlfall, Copiapino, C S Coxe, P le Page, H Standfield, East Marden, T R V, Cant, Leonora and Leon, Painter (Shepherd's-bush), E Worsley, S R (Leeds), L Burnett, R Ingersoll, W Scott, Will Curtis, M Whiteley, H Brew ter, Dorothy, L of Truro, T Edgar, M Meredith, G Foshooke, G Wright, F Hampton, L Sharswood, Orson, L H, R E Lewis, W Lee, C J G, W C D, C Darragh, J A Winstanley, W J W (Claverese), F P Vuillamy, J K, Norman Rumbelow, Rothery, W S B, Jo Honeyes, St J E, Guillaume, G H V, E H H V, Jane Neppen (Utrecht), W R C, Robin Roughead, A Wood, C H B, O Johnson, B H Brooke, Devonshire, Thorpe, Dr F St. Alpha, C G Ellison, Lulu, J Osborn, J Sargent, E L G, and H Bentlall.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1805.



WHITE.	BLACK.
1. R to K B 5th	Kt to R 4th *
2. R takes B (ch)	P takes R (Queening)
3. Kt to R 2nd. Mate.

* If Black play the Kt to Q 2nd, the continuation is as above, and if to any other square, 2. R takes Kt, or 2. B takes Kt, and mates next move.

PROBLEM No. 1808.

By A. WLADIMIROFF (Berlin).

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play, and mate in three moves.

CHESS IN BATH.

A Game played recently between Mr. E. THOROLD and another Amateur, the former yielding the odds of the Pawn and two moves.

(Benoco Black's K B P from the board.)

WHITE (Mr. A.)	BLACK (Mr. T.)
1. { (P to K 4th) / (P to Q 4th	P to Q B 4th

Black's safest defences are 1. P to K 3rd, 1. P to Q 3rd, or 1. Kt to Q B 3rd. Against sound play the sacrifice of the second Pawn should result in the loss of the game.

2. Q to R 5th (ch)	P to K Kt 3rd
3. Q takes Q B P	Kt to K B 3rd
4. B to Q 3rd

A very injudicious move indeed. In this position the bishop block the Queen's best line of retreat when attacked on Black' seventh move, and the strongest piece is placed hors de combat at the very opening of the battle.

4.	Kt to Q B 3rd
5. P to Q B 3rd	P to K 3rd
6. Q to Q B 4th	P to Q R 3rd
7. P to Q R 4th	Kt to Q R 4th
8. Q to R 2nd

The effect of his fourth move. This concentration of force upon the Queen's side should be entirely satisfactory to the second player.

8.	Q to B 2nd
9. P to Q Kt 4th	B takes P
10. B to Kt 2nd

WHITE (Mr. A.)	BLACK (Mr. T.)
10. B to Q 2nd would surely have been better.
10.	B to K 2nd
11. Kt to Q 2nd	Castles
12. Kt to K 2nd	Kt to Kt 5th
13. Kt to K B 3rd	P to Q Kt 3rd
14. Kt to K Kt 3rd	B to Kt 2nd
15. P to K R 3rd	Kt takes K B P

This little game is a good example of the "readiness" that characterises Mr. Thorold's play.

16. K takes Kt	B to R 5th
17. P to K 5th	Q B takes Kt
18. P takes B	Q to Q B 3rd
19. P to Q 5th

19. B to K 2nd would have given Black more trouble.

19.	Q to B 4th (ch)
20. K to Kt 2nd	B takes Kt
21. K takes B	R takes P (ch)

All this is very neat and forcible.

22. K takes R	R to K B sq (ch)
23. K to Kt 4th	P to R 4th (ch)

There appears to be a forced mate in four or five moves by 23. Q to R 6th.

24. K to Kt 5th	Q to K 6th (ch)
25. K takes P	Q takes B (ch), and White resigned.

CHESS IN LONDON.

A Game played a few days ago between Mr. MACDONNELL and another strong player at Simpson's Divan.—(Scotch Gambit.)

WHITE (Mr. M.)	BLACK (Mr. —.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. Kt to K B 3rd	Kt to Q B 3rd
3. P to Q 4th	P takes P
4. B to B 4th	B to B 4th
5. P to B 3rd	Kt to B 3rd
6. Castles	P to Q 4th

The usual move is 6. P to Q 3rd, producing a well-known variation of the Giuoco Piano, and this game is mainly interesting from the move in the text having been adopted by one strong player against another.

7. P takes Q P	Kt takes P
8. P takes P	B to Kt 3rd
9. B takes Kt	Q takes B
10. Kt to B 3rd	Q to K R 4th

The game would have been more instructive, and probably longer in its course, had Black here retreated the Queen to her own square.

11. R to K sq (ch)	K to B sq
12. P to Q 5th	Kt to K 2nd
13. Q to K 2nd	B to Q B 4th
14. Kt to K 4th	B to Kt 5th
15. P to Q 6th	P takes P
16. Kt to Kt 3rd, and wins.

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

We have received a copy of a photograph published by Mr. J. N. Walker, of Ayr, representing the sixty-four squares of the chessboard, each square being filled with the portrait of a chessplayer more or less known to fame, most of them being amateurs engaged in the correspondence tourney now in progress between England and the United States of America.

For the Paris International Problem Tourney there have been contributed thirty-one sets, each containing three problems. The end-game competition has been abandoned, and the fund set apart for it is now to be applied in prizes for a literary tournament. The conditions of the latter require that each competitor shall send to M Camille Morel, 38, Rue de la Borde, Paris, before Dec 15 next, an article upon the subject of chess, written in the French language. Chess is to be the theme, but the widest latitude will be permitted in the treatment, which may be "historical, critical, statistical, analytical, fantastic, or romantic," at the discretion of the author. The best contributions will be inserted in the "Book of the Congress," to be published some time next year.

We have been requested to announce that it is proposed to establish a chess club in connection with the Westminster Aquarium, should the project receive the support of a sufficient number of gentlemen interested in the practice of the game. Names will be received by the Secretary of the Aquarium, Broadway Chambers, Westminster.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated July 10, 1874) with three codicils (dated July 10, 1874, and May 20 and 22, 1878) of the Right Hon. Margaret, Baroness Gray of Gray and Kinfauns, and of No. 42, Grosvenor-gardens, Pimlico, who died on May 26 last, was proved on the 23rd ult. by Charles Thomas Constantine Grant, the brother, and Charles Archibald Murray, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £30,000. The testatrix gives numerous legacies and souvenirs to relatives and friends, and the residue of her property between her sisters Mary Grant and Charlotte Augusta Grant, and her brother Alaric Frederick Grant.

The will (dated April, 1876) with a codicil (dated May 28, 1878) of Mr. Jeremiah Rotherham, late of Anlaby Houses, Upper Clapton, and of Nos. 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, and 87, High-street, Shoreditch, who died on Aug. 30 last, was proved on the 27th ult. by the Rev. Edward Hubbard Boardman, Frederick Snowden, John Daniel Viney, and Thomas Phelps, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £350,000. The testator bequeaths £300 to the Deaf and Dumb Asylum for Females, Lower Clapton; £200 each to the Linen and Woollen Drapers' Institution, the Warehousemen and Clerks' School, Caterham, the London General Porters' Benevolent Association, the Consumption Hospital, Victoria Park, the London Orphan Asylum, Watford, and the Infant Orphan Asylum, Wanstead; £100 each to the Shoreditch Girls' School, the Shoreditch Boys' School, the Shoreditch new almshouses, Haggerstone, and the German Hospital, Dalston; and £50 to the Hoxton Dorcas Society. There are very numerous bequests to relatives, friends, executors, persons in the employ of his firm, and others.

The will (dated March 1, 1867) with two codicils (dated May 31, 1871, and May 13, 1876) of Mr. George Bird, formerly of No. 38, Edgware-road, and late of The Hall, Pinner, Middlesex, who died on June 30 last, was proved on the 26th ult. by Stanley George Bird and Arthur Bird, the sons, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £60,000. The testator leaves to his gardener, William Plum, an annuity of £20; to his wife, Pinner Hall estate, with the furniture and effects, and certain other freehold and leasehold properties for life; on her death the Pinner Hall estate with the furniture and effects are to go to his son, Stanley George Bird, charged with the payment of £1000 to each of his brothers and sisters. There are specific devises and bequests to each of his children, and the rest of his property is divided between his said sons, Stanley George and Arthur.

The will (dated April 25, 1877) of Mrs. Caroline Clarissa Purser late of Nos. 84 and 86, West India Dock-road, Limehouse, who died on June 15 last, has been proved by William Merrin, Henry Kinder Cheese, the nephew, and John Webster, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £45,000.

The will (dated Feb. 21, 1873) with three codicils (dated Sept. 29, 1875, Jan. 4, 1877, and June 29, 1878) of Mr. John Arnold, late of No. 143, Seven Sisters-road, Holloway, who died on Aug. 31 last, was proved on the 24th ult. by James Arnold and George Arnold, the sons, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £26,000.

The will (dated March 20, 1875) of Henry Lockyer Sharp, formerly of No. 24, Talbot-square, Hyde Park, but late of No. 41, Kensington Park-gardens, who died on Aug. 28 last, was proved on the 21st ult. by George Wyatt Sharp, the son, and Mrs. Eliza Sharp, the widow, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £14,000.

The Sanitary Congress concluded its meetings in Stafford last Saturday, when Dr. Russell, of Edinburgh, read a paper on "Food and Drink," in which he recommended oatmeal boiled in water as a substantial drink, and that a craving for alcoholic liquors denoted an unsanitary condition of the body, to be remedied by fresh air.

A temperance conference has been held throughout this week at Birmingham. The annual Diocesan Temperance Conference was held on Monday in Reading, the High Sheriff of Berks presiding. Resolutions were passed advocating the establishment of reading-rooms and coffee and refreshment houses for agricultural labourers, in order to counteract the temptations offered by public-houses.

The National Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War have issued a report relating to the operations of the society in the Russo-Turkish War. The total expenditure was £30,143, which was made up of subscriptions to the amount of £2549, and expenditure from the funds £27,594. The amount expended in transport service was £2100; in medical stores, £5046; in clothing, £3933; in staff allowances and expenses abroad, £6149; hospital bedding and equipment, £2170; and grants to local hospitals and other agencies, £2255.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Pleasant Ways in Science. By Richard A. Proctor. (Chatto and Windus.)
Recollections of Writers. By Charles and Mary Cowden Clarke. (Sampson Low and Co.)
With Axe and Rifle; or, Western Pioneers. By W. H. G. Kingston. (Sampson Low and Co.)
The Pyrotechnist's Treasury; or, Complete Art of Making Fireworks. By Thomas Kentish. (Chatto and Windus.)
Canters in Crampshire. (Illustrations.) By G. Bowers. (Chatto and Windus.)
Michelle and Little Jack. By Frances Martin. (Hurst and Blackett.)
Ephraim and Helah. A Story of the Exodus. By E. Hodder. (Hodder and Stoughton.)
Carmina Regia, and Other Songs of the Heart. By Edwin Chas. Wrenford. (Hodder and Stoughton.)
Tales from Blackwood. No. 6. (Blackwood and Sons.)
The Royal Guide to the London Charities for 1878-9. By Herbert Fry. (Hardwicke and Bogue.)
Freda. A Novel. By the Author of "Mrs. Jerningham's Journal." 3 vols. (Bentley and Son.)
Sermons on Daily Life and Duty. By George Dawson, M.A. (C. Kegan Paul and Co.)
Physical Geology and Geography of Great Britain. By A. C. Ramsay, LL.D., F.R.S. Fifth Edition. (Edward Stanford.)
Clare. A Narrative. By Lizzie Alldridge. (Marcus Ward and Co.)
Village Politics. Addresses and Sermons on the Labour Question. By the Rev. C. W. Stubbs. (Macmillan.)
The Student's Guide to the Medical Profession. By Charles Bell Keetley, F.R.C.S. (Macmillan.)
Analysis of English History; Based on Green's Short History of the English People. By C. W. Taite, M.A. (Macmillan.)
Bright Sundays. The Cosy Corner Series. (Cassell, Petter, and Galpin.)
Social Notes: Concerning Social Reforms, Social Requirements, Social Progress, &c. Vol. I. March to August, 1878. (Office, 16, Southampton-street, Strand.)
Essays in Romance, and Studies from Life. By John Skelton. (Blackwood and Son.)
The Children's Isle. A Story for the Young. By Eliza Meteyard. (Hodder and Stoughton.)
French Pictures Drawn with Pen and Pencil. By the Rev. S. D. Green, D.D. With Illustrations. (The Religious Tract Society.)
Town and Country Toy Book. Coloured Plates. (Religious Tract Society.)
Harrison Weir's Pictures of Animals. With 24 Coloured Plates. (Religious Tract Society.)
The Two Friends. By Lucien Biart. (Sampson Low and Co.)
Funny Foreigners and Eccentric English. By Clifford Merton. Coloured Plates. (Sampson Low and Co.)
Cabul, or Afghanistan. With a Map of the Country. By Phil Robinson. (Sampson Low and Co.)
The Curious Adventures of a Field Cricket. By Dr. Ernest Candèze. Translated by N. D'Anvers. Illustrated by C. Renard. (Low and Co.)
The Cruise of H.M.S. Challenger. By W. J. Spry, R.N. Illustrated. Seventh and Cheap Edition. (Sampson Low and Co.)

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to their extensive Show-Rooms and Galleries, the goods in which are arranged in separate departments, all communicating.

EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparison of price and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to country customers in delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and fixing in position by competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

BEFORE PURCHASING your BEDDING see OETZMANN and CO.'S PATENT COMPENDIUM MATTRESS, requires no other mattress, bolster, or bed to be used with it, and is at once the healthiest, softest, most economical, and complete bed extant. Descriptive Price-List post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

CARPET DEPARTMENT.—Stout Tapestry Brussels Carpet, 1s. 9½d.; handsome pattern ditto, from 2s. 2d. to 2s. 9d. per yard; superior Brussels, new designs, from 2s. 9½d. to 3s. 6d. per yard; Kidderminster Carpets, all wool, 1s. 11d. per yard; superior Felt Carpeting, from 11½d. per yard; superior Felt Carpeting, from 11½d. per yard; superior Rock-Dye ditto, handsome designs, double width, 1s. 11d. per Yard; excellent Stair Carpet, from 6d. per yard; best quality, all-wool ditto, 1s. per yard.—OETZMANN and CO.

CLEOPATRA TOILET SERVICE. Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. have just received a large consignment of the Oriental pattern—a handsome new rose bevel design manufactured exclusively for OETZMANN and CO. This and a variety of other patterns can be had on O. and Co.'s new special design, the Cleopatra Shape, in any colour, including the fashionable deep blue, at prices from 8s. 6d. per set. Descriptive Price-List post-free.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT. OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the selection to the firm, may rely upon a faithful attention to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally superised by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 287 in Catalogue, sent free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Services from £5 3s. the Set for twelve persons, complete, with 15 per cent discount for cash on or before delivery. Table Glass Services from £2 5s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons complete.
DINNER SERVICES.
Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Deep Blue.		In Blue and White.
The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0	The Laurel ..	£3 3 0
The Laurel ..	3 13 6	The Indiana ..	4 4 0
		The Danish ..	5 5 0

Discount 10 per cent.

In Enamelled Patterns.		In their unequalled Crown Derby Ware.
The One Thousand and One (A) ..	£5 5 0	In Ruby	£5 5 0
The Japanese Bamboo ..	6 6 0	In Pink	5 5 0
The Humming-Bird ..	7 7 0	In Black	5 5 0
The Sèvres ..	7 7 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES

Plain light stem glass	£3 5 6	Light engraved glass ..	£5 15 6
Richly cut glass ..	5 5 6	Richly engraved glass	5 19 6

Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, sent post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

NOTICE.—SILVER and ELECTRO-PLATE.—ELKINGTON and CO., Manufacturing Silversmiths and Patentees of the Electro-Plate. Revised Illustrated Pattern-Book of New Designs in Table Plate of all kinds, and new qualities in Spoons and Forks forwarded free by post on application. Testimonial Plate in Solid Silver, in great variety, always in stock; and Committees provided with Designs and Photographs, suit all occasions.
Address—Elkington and Co., 22, Regent-street, London; or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

FIRST-CLASS QUALITY. SUPERIOR TASTE. LOWEST PRICES.
ALFRED B. PEARCE'S
DINNER, DESSERT, TEA, and TOILET SERVICES.
BREAKFAST, TEA, and TOILET SERVICES.
The Newest and Best Patterns always on View.
TABLE GLASS, CUT, ENGRAVED, and ETCHED.
ARTISTIC DESIGNS.
Stock conveniently arranged for parties furnishing to select from.
ORNAMENTAL GOODS.
Large Assortment,
combining Novelty with Beauty.
VASES, STATUETTES, GARNITURES, SEAUX, CANDELABRA.
Descriptive Catalogue post-free.
39, LUDGATE-HILL, E.C.
Established 1760.

SILVER WAITERS.—The GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited) have always ready a large Stock of SILVER WAITERS and TEATRAYS of the newest and most elegant designs:—

Size and Weight.	Plain centres. 9s. per oz.	King's. Neatly chased. 9s. 6d. per oz.	Beaded, Richly engraved. 11s. 6d. per oz.
8 inch 12 ounces	£5 8 0	£5 14 0	£6 18 0
9 inch 17 ounces	7 13 0	8 1 6	9 15 0
10 inch 20 ounces	9 0 0	9 10 0	11 10 0
12 inch 30 ounces	13 10 0	14 5 0	17 5 0
14 inch 43 ounces	19 7 0	20 8 6	24 14 6
16 inch 58 ounces	26 2 0	27 11 0	33 7 0
18 inch 80 ounces	36 0 0	38 0 0	46 0 0
20 inch 124 ounces	55 16 0	58 18 0	71 6 0
22 inch 158 ounces	67 10 0	71 5 0	86 5 0
25 inch 200 ounces	90 0 0	95 0 0	115 0 0

A Pamphlet of Prices, illustrated with Engravings, will be forwarded, gratis and post-free, on application.
11 and 12, Cornhill, London.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK.
A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinions of Press. Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

PLEASE NOTICE—
THERE IS ONLY ONE ADDRESS
FOR PETER ROBINSON'S
FAMILY AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.
All letters and orders intended for this House must be clearly addressed to
REGENT-STREET—Nos. 256 to 262.
(Established thirty years.)

INEXPENSIVE MOURNING, as well as the richest qualities, can be supplied by PETER ROBINSON, of REGENT-STREET, upon the most advantageous terms to Families.

MOURNING for FAMILIES, IN CORRECT TASTE, at a Great Saving in Price.
WIDOW'S DRESS made complete, Trimmed best English Crape, } £3 13s. 6d.
DEEP MOURNING DRESSES, Trimmed best English Crape, for Brothers, Sisters, or Parents, } £2 13s. 6d.
SKIRTS and COSTUMES in New Mourning Fabrics, } 35s. to 5 gs.
MANTLES and PALETOTS in the newest shapes, handsomely trimmed best English Crape, } 2l. to 5 gs.
BONNETS in fashionable and beautiful variety, } 15s. to 2 gs.
Mourning orders, however large, can be completed in a few hours' notice by perfect-fitting Dressmakers (either French, German, or English).
Please observe—The Only One Address,
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
THE COURT AND FAMILY MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,
Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Tapissier et Cie, at 5s. 3d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie, at .. 4s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Legoye et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.
Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 4s. 9d.
200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 6s.; usual price, 8s. 9d.
PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.
As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.
Address Envelope for Patterns as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.
THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS, Exceptional Value, at 3s. 11d., 4s. 6d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.
RICH LYONS VELVETS, at 10s. 6d., 12s. 9d., and 15s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET.
Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES,
from pure and good wearing silks, at 5l., 7l. 9s., 10l. 10s., 12l., and up to 20 guineas, fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet. Copies of the most recent Paris models.
Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.
For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement form address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES. New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.
Tartatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s.
Black Brussels Net, 25s., 29s. 6d., and 35s.
Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 50s.
Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the above, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

COSTUMES.—Richly Embroidered.
THE FASHION FOR THE AUTUMN.
In Black, Navy, and neutral shades, from 3 to 10 guineas complete.
Our Buyers have returned from Paris with great novelties in all departments.
For Samples please address only to PETER ROBINSON, Regent-street, Nos. 256 to 262.

FURS at SUMMER PRICES.
REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.
33 inches long .. .. 9½ guineas.
36 inches long .. .. 11½ guineas.
39 inches long .. .. 13 guineas.
New and Perfect Shapes, and of the most enduring qualities.
FUR-LINED CLOAKS,
Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 34s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.
Also a special lot, Lined with Plain Grey Squirrel, 47 inches long, at 5 guineas.
For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS, 33 in. long, 9½ guineas.
WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS, 36 in. long, 12 guineas.
WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS, 40 in. long, 14 guineas.
WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS, 45 in. long, 16 guineas.
WAYRE'S RUSSIAN SABLE TAIL SETS, 9 guineas. Real Marten Tail, 8 guineas. Skunk, 4 guineas. Length of fronts, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 9 in. to 11 in.
WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS can be sent on approval to any part of the kingdom by forwarding a reference, and the measurements across back, across chest, round waist, and length of paletot, to
WAYRE, SEAL PALETOT MANUFACTURER, 96, Oxford-street, and 332, Oxford-street (corner of Regent-circus).
Established Half a Century.

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 37, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost. Consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 42d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 69, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY. THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES. Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

ORANGE CHAMPAGNE is a light, pleasant drink, made simply from Oranges. It is effervescent, but entirely free from spirit, and perfectly wholesome. Price 7s. per Dozen Quarts; 4s., Pints. Bottles and Cases Is. Made only by CHAS. CODD and CO., per Dozen until returned. 79, Copenhagen-street, London, N.

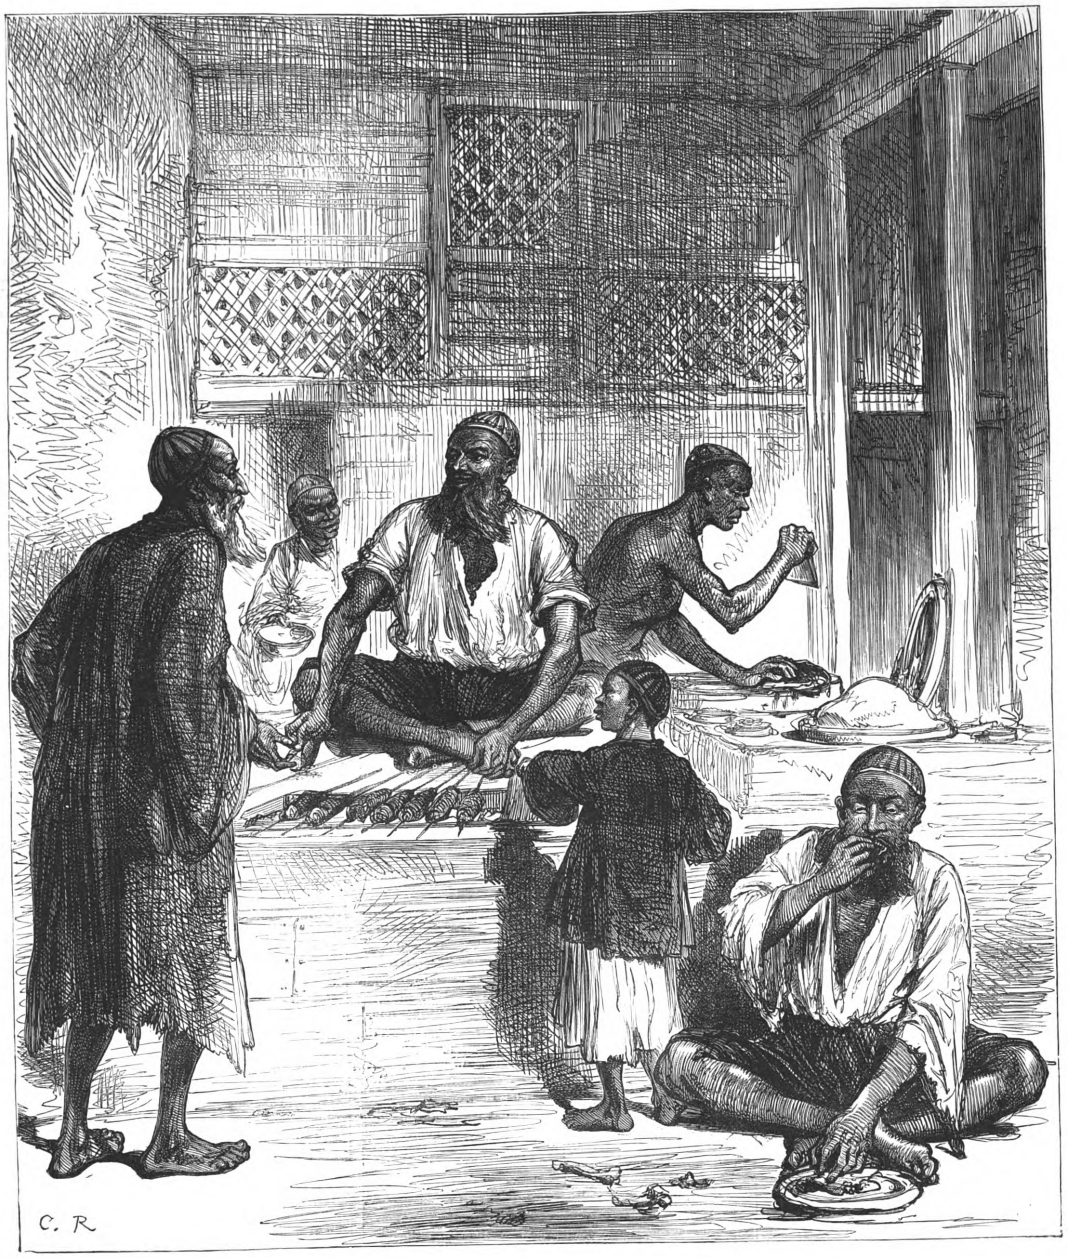
PURE KANGRA VALLEY TEA, direct from the Plantations, at 4s. per lb. in Ten Pound Tins, or 3s. 6d. per lb. in original Chests of Fifty Pounds each, may be obtained from COCKBURN'S AGENCY, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

HORNIMAN'S TEA for Forty Years has commanded a large sale, because it can always be relied on for strength, flavour, and cheapness. It is the best tea imported. Sold only in Packets.

CHOCOLAT MENIER, in ½ lb. and ¼ lb. Packets. For BREAKFAST and SUPPER.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.—Awarded Twenty-Three PRIZE MEDALS. Consumption annually exceeds 17,000,000lbs.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Paris, London, New York.
Sold Everywhere.



POSSESSING ALL THE PROPERTIES OF THE FINEST ARROWROOT.
BROWN & POLSON'S CORN FLOUR
IS A WORLD-WIDE NECESSARY FOR THE NURSERY, THE SICK ROOM AND THE FAMILY TABLE.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whites, for Pastry, 9s. 4d. per bushel; Households, for Bread, 8s. 8d. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 8s. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3s. 2d. per stone; fine, 3s. 4d. American Hominy, 4s. Barley Maize, Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 5s. per bushel, or 1gs. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 1s. 3d. per sack. Peas, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Split Peas, 8s. Meat Biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, Ground Pollard, 1s. 8d

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2051.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½d.

AFGHAN SKETCHES: A KABOB SHOP AT CABUL.

BIRTHS.

On the 4th ult., at the Quinta de Herrera, Prado Oriental, Montevideo, the wife of Edward Cooper, of a son.

On the 14th inst., at Stanley House, Lavender Hill, the wife of Charles Downs, of a daughter.

On the 16th inst., at 40, Eccleston-square, Mrs. Grant Suttie, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

On the 3rd inst., by license, at Monanimy church, by the Rev. G. E. Cotter, Rector, assisted by the Rev. S. Young and the Rev. T. Rice, Wm. Hon. Cotter, LL.D., Rector of Buttevant, youngest son of Jas. Lawrence Cotter, LL.D., late Vicar of Buttevant, to Catherine Letitia, youngest daughter of Geo. Stawell, Esq., Crobeg, Donerailе.

On the 8th inst., at the Collegiate Church, Neuchâtel, George Greenwood Pearson, son of the late Michael Pearson, of Lancaster-gate, to Adeline, sixth daughter of William Evans, of Cornwall-gardens, South Kensington.

On the 16th inst., at St. James's, Piccadilly, by the Rev. J. E. Kempe, M.A., Rector, Prebendary of St. Paul's and Chaplain in Ordinary to the Queen, assisted by the Rev. Lacy Henry Rumsey, M.A., Vicar of Llanstadwell, Pembrokeshire, cousin of the bride, Charles Edward Strachan, eldest son of the late James Innes Strachan, of Ceylon, to Beatrice Rumsey, younger daughter of Henry Rumsey Forster, of Brunswick-square, London.

On Tuesday, the 10th ult., at St. Mark's, Grenada, W.I., by the Rev E. B. Bovell, assisted by the Rev. G. A. Gurth, R. J. Sergeant, Esq., formerly of Liverpool, Singapore, and Manila, to Alice, third daughter of the late John Copland, Esq.

DEATHS.

On the 11th inst., at Fairfield, Lyme Regis, in the 83rd year of her age, Georgiana, widow of John Drummond, Esq.

On the 13th inst., at Marske Hall, in Cleveland, Lady Harriet Frances Lane, widow of Colonel Henry Lane, late of 15th Hussars, and second daughter of Lawrence, first Earl of Zetland, aged 77.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.*

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCT. 26.

SUNDAY, Oct. 20.

Eighteenth Sunday after Trinity.
Morning Lessons: Jer. xxxvi.; 1 Thess. v.; Evening Lessons: Ezek. ii. or xiii., to 17; Luke xiv. 25 to xv. 11.
Westminster Abbey, 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., Rev. Canon Duckworth.
Whitehall, 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., Rev. A. F. Kirkpatrick.
St. Paul's Cathedral, 10.30 a.m., Rev. Prebendary Scott; 3.15 p.m., Bishop Claughton; 7 p.m., Rev. F. J. Ponsonby, Vicar of St. Mary Magdalene, Munster-square.
Savoy, 11.30 a.m., Right Rev. Dr. A. N. Bethune, Bishop of Toronto; 7 p.m., Hon. and Rev. Canon Legge, Vicar of Sydenham.

MONDAY, Oct. 21.

Battle of Trafalgar, Victory and Death of Nelson, 1805.
General Conference on Foreign Missions: Hall, Mildmay Park, 10 a.m, 3 and 7 p.m. (five days).
Medical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Royal Albert Hall and Horticultural Gardens: Organ Recital, 3 p.m.
Royal Naval Benevolent Society, Quarterly Court, Willis's Rooms, noon.
Races: Newmarket Houghton.

TUESDAY, Oct. 22.

Gresham Lectures (four days), 6 p.m. (Dr. J. T. Abdy on Law).
West London Scientific Association, 8 p.m.
Medical and Chirurgical Society, 8.30.
South Kensington Museum, 8 p.m. (Dr. G. G. Zerffi on the Historical Development of Ornamental Art).

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 23.

National Association for Social Science, meeting at Cheltenham (seven days): 11 a.m., meetings of council and committees; 3.30 p.m., sermon at the parish church by Rev. Canon Barry; Assembly-Room, 8 p.m., address by Lord Norton, the president.
King's College, 6 p.m. (Mr. G. C. Warr on Ancient History—Greece).
Ross Poultry, Pigeon, and Dog Show (two days).
Christ's Hospital, annual dinner, Albion Tav-rn.
St. James's Hall, 8 p.m., Mr. H. M. Stanley on African Explorations.

THURSDAY, Oct. 24.

National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotonda: 10.15 a.m., address by Professor Bonamy Price on Economy and Trade; 8 p.m., conversazione by Baron de Ferrieres.
College of Preceptors, 7 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Fitch on Practical Teaching—the Memory).
Royal Toxophilite Society (extra target).
Royal Albert Hall, 8 p.m., Mr. W. Carter's Choir (Haydn's "Creation").
Working Men's College, Upper Kennington-lane, 8.30 p.m., address by the principal—Professor Huxley.

FRIDAY, Oct. 25.

New Moon, 10.58 p.m.
Battle of Agincourt, 1415; of Balaclava, 1854.
National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotonda: 10.15 a.m., address by the Hon. George Brodrick on Education.
Conference on Foreign Missions, Exeter Hall, 7 p.m. (Earl of Shaftesbury in the chair).
City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy—Causes of Variation in Productiveness).
Quekett Microscopical Club, 8 p.m.
Clinical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Architectural Association, conversazione, 8 p.m.
Royal Academy of Music, chamber concerts, 8 p.m.

SATURDAY, Oct. 26.

National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotonda: 10.15 a.m., address by Mr. W. H. Michael on Health.
London Athletic Club, Stamford-bridge.
Thames Sailing Club, twelfth match.

THE WEATHER.

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51° 28′ 6″ N.; Long. 0° 10′ 47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

DAY.	DAILY MEANS OF Barometer Corrected.	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	THERMOM. Maximum, read at 10 P.M.	Minimum, read at 10 P.M.	WIND. General Direction.	Movement in 24 hours, read at 10 A.M. next morning.	Rain in 24 hours, read at 10 A.M. next morning.
	Inches.	°	°	°	0-10	°	°		Miles.	In.
October 9	29·485	57·0	53·6	·89	9	61·4	51·9	SSW. S.	455	0·445
10	29·328	56·6	51·4	·83	9	60·8	54·7	S. SW.	510	0·040
11	29·929	50·6	38·5	·66	6	57·3	45·7	SW. W.	288	0·000
12	30·249	48·9	41·0	·76	1·2	58·9	41·3	W. NNW.	52	0·000
13	30·281	48·0	42·2	·92	—	59·5	33·8	NNW. S.	117	0·000
14	30·005	49·8	40·3	·72	1	59·9	37·6	S. SSE. E.	297	0·010*
15	29·952	51·2	48·3	·90	10	56·8	44·6	E.	126	0·000

* Dew.

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in inches) corrected ..	29·201	29·227	29·987	30·244	30·314	30·143	29·957
Temperature of Air	49·1°	54·2°	53·8°	52·2°	50·7°	54·3°	52·7°
Temperature of Evaporation	45·9°	50·5°	49·0°	47·4°	46·5°	49·7°	50·9
Direction of Wind	s.	ssw.	w.	w.	w.	ESE.	s.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE

FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCTOBER 26.

Sunday.		Monday.		Tuesday.		Wednesday.		Thursday.		Friday.		Saturday.
M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A
h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m
7 20	8 10	8 0	8 55	9 43	10 22	10 55	11 27	11 55	—	0 18	0 40	1 1	1 25

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.

ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.

THE

MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS.

All the year round.

Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.

THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.

It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.

THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.

Fauteuils, 5s.; Sofa Stalls, 3s.; Area, 2s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT. EVERY EVENING, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s.; Stalls, 3s. and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place. An entirely New Programme will shortly be produced.

NOW PUBLISHING,

PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½D.),

THE

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK

FOR

1879,

CONTAINING

TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,

PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,

FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS

TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,

AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;

TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;

ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA

WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;

The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Offices and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Times of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.

The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.

The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

THE ILLUSTRATED PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.

An English Edition of

L'EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE DE 1878 ILLUSTRÉE,

in continuation of the Illustrated Journal issued in 1867 under the authority of the Imperial Commission, is issued every Tuesday,

PRICE THREEPENCE.

PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE OF

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS,

198, STRAND, LONDON.

All Country Orders to be supplied through the London Agents.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRAETORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 25ft. by 22ft.; with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street, W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £9000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY-LANE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, F. B. Chatterton.—TO-NIGHT, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday until further notice, her Majesty's servants will perform, at Eight o'clock, Shakspeare's romantic play A WINTER'S TALE. Principal characters by Messrs. Charles Dillon, John Ryder, Cowper, Edgar, Russell, Calhaem, Barsby, Tritton, Miss Wallis, Miss Fowler, Miss Bindreth, and Mrs. Hermann Vezin. Preceded, at Seven, by THE UNFINISHED GENTLEMAN. Conclude with a Ballet by the Lauri Family. On SATURDAY NEXT, 26, will be performed, with Locke's celebrated music, Shakspeare's tragedy MACBETH. Macbeth, Mr. Charles Dillon; Lady Macbeth, Mrs. Hermann Vezin. Box-Office open from Ten till Five daily. Prices as usual. Stage Manager, Mr. Edward Stirling. Treasurer, Mr. James Grieve.

THE TWO ORPHANS, with all the Original Effects and Powerful Cast, EVERY EVENING at 7.30. Box-office open daily from Eleven to Five. No booking fees. MORNING PERFORMANCE on SATURDAY NEXT, at 1.45; Doors open at 1.15.—OLYMPIC THEATRE.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight. TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Music by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The performances of Fanfare, the Cornet-Player, and Lubial on the Euphonium, are just now the attraction and talk of the entire kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 21s. to 2½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

LISTON (the eminent Mimic, Ventriloquist, Vocal, and Instrumental Entertainer) will COMMENCE a SEASON at the EGYPTIAN HALL, DRAWING-ROOM, with his popular Entertainment, entitled MERRY MOMENTS, on MONDAY EVENING NEXT, OCT. 21, and Every Evening, at Eight (Saturdays excepted); Saturday Afternoon at Three. Admission, 5s., 3s., 2s., and 1s. Box-Office open daily.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1878.

A brief paragraph which has been going the round of the papers this week has attracted almost universal notice. The fact which it records is extremely interesting in itself, but, besides being interesting, is highly suggestive. We are told that at Sheffield, by the help of the electric light, a football-match was played by two teams belonging to the Sheffield Football Association, in the presence of nearly 30,000 people, on Monday night. The spacious grounds on which the match came off were illuminated by four lamps of great brilliancy, thirty feet in height. Nearly the whole of the space was lighted so that the players could be seen almost as clearly as at noonday. The incident can hardly be said to have taken even the unscientific world by surprise. The value of the electric light for illuminating large areas has been practically demonstrated even in London, but especially in Paris, for some months past. But it brings under public notice at an opportune time the immense power and the still greater and more indefinite potentialities which science may hereafter apply to social uses of no small importance. The Gas Companies have already taken the alarm for the permanent security of their property. Gas shares have gone down in the market. But whilst the directors of this class of joint-stock companies see some cause for apprehending that the Electric Light will, in a somewhat approximate future, supersede that of gas, which has now a sort of quasi-monopoly, they are, on the whole, sufficiently prudent rather to take the change of the one method of lighting to the other under the conduct of their own administration, than to obstruct it by needlessly hostile tactics.

The problem awaiting solution is unquestionably one of incalculable importance. If it were possible to substitute the Electric Light for all the purposes in our social economy secured by gas there would unquestionably follow a nearly total extinction of an immense mass and range of property. There does not, however, appear to be any reasonable probability that such is likely to be the case during the lifetime of any now living. Many conditions of use, particularly of economical use, have to be fulfilled before the superior method of lighting can be substituted for the inferior. It does not follow because a new principle has been discovered that it can forthwith be generally practically applied. It does not even follow that where it is applied it will drive out of the field that which it would seem designed to set aside. When railways were still in their infancy it was predicted, and perhaps by a large majority of the people confidently expected, that the employment, and consequently the value, of horse labour in this country would almost entirely cease. Everyone now knows that the prophecy, so far from having been realised, has in fact been more than reduced to a nullity. Horses were never more valuable than they are now, after some fifty years of railway development. So it may be with gas, even when, to a great extent, it has been cast aside (for all public uses, at least) as an illuminating agent. Other uses will be found for it; other ranges of application will be opened up as time rolls on. In some senses it may become subsidiary; in others, it will find ample room for independent use. That it will be permanently discontinued or fall into desuetude as a necessary consequence of improved method of lighting being introduced, is not only as unlikely as that horse carriage would disappear before railways, but even far more so on many obvious accounts.

The quality of the Electric Light will need, perhaps, to be somewhat modified to be brought into ordinary use. Scientific men, however, may be trusted to discover the means of doing this. There is no theoretic impossibility in the way. The light being of exactly the same chemical composition as the light of the sun, may unquestionably, by suitable manipulations, be made to accomplish within its range the same purposes. But it is not to domestic uses that it will probably be applied for some time to come. As Mr. Northover, in his letter to the Times of Friday last, has conjectured, its application will be limited, at least during the present generation, to the lighting of our coasts, to naval and military signalling, to harbours, quays, warehouses, and public buildings, including, perhaps, picture galleries, and drawing-rooms, in which latter already the objections to gas are felt to be almost insuperable. It is true Mr. Edison, the well-known American expert and inventor, has announced his discovery of a method of dividing and distributing the electric current so as to make it available for domestic needs. Other difficulties, however, are in the way. The element of cost is one of them; for even brilliancy of light, perfect as may be the appliances by which it may be obtained, will be estimated by an immense majority of the public as second, certainly, to cheapness of light. Hence, it would hardly be reasonable to expect such a socio-economical revolution as that which gas shareholders are contemplating with alarm. That we are on the eve of a considerable change for the better in regard to the public ends served by illuminating apparatus and agency we can quite believe. But the full development of the possibilities covered by the electric light will most likely be reserved for our children or grandchildren.

Assuming that the anticipations of electrical experts will, at some time, sooner or later, be realised, one can hardly forbear speculating upon the effects which may result from it—social, political, and moral. How strangely it will alter the tone of our great towns, and, perhaps to a considerable extent, the moral character of town life itself! What a host of physical evils it will relegate to oblivion, though not, perhaps, to the entire exclusion of others now unknown? To how great an extent it will minister to social enjoyment and lighten many of the privations now attendant upon several kinds of labour! It will pretty assuredly enhance the public desire and appreciation of sanitary arrangements. It will increase what ought to be a natural repugnance to crime and dirt, and, in many cases, will eliminate not merely the inconveniences but even the sufferings which darkness entails. And all this without interrupting those greater purposes of Nature which are answered by the division of time into day and night. To our thinking, the application of this discovery presents as joyous a prospect for coming times as could well be imagined,; and if the universal diffusion of intellectual light by education and the influence of that light upon moral character should at all correspond, as we hope it may, with the progress of the electric light in the lower sphere of physics, we might almost be tempted to wish that our lot had been cast in those brighter days to which the world has been looking forward, with more or less faith, from the beginning of time.

THE COURT.

The Queen and Princess Beatrice continue at Balmoral Castle. Her Majesty and the Princess attended Divine service on Sunday, performed at the castle by the Rev. A. Campbell, of Crathie. Sir Stafford Northcote and the Rev. A. Campbell dined with her Majesty. The Queen and Princess Beatrice went to the Glassalt Shiel on Monday for a short stay. Her Majesty and the Princess have taken their usual out-of-door exercise. The Prince and Princess of Wales, Miss Knollys, and Sir Stafford Northcote, dined with the Queen yesterday week. Colonel Teesdale, Mr. F. Knollys, Dr. Robertson, the ladies and gentlemen in attendance on her Majesty, and Dr. Profitt and Dr. Marshall, joined the Royal circle in the evening. The Princess of Wales with her three daughters have also lunched with her Majesty.

The Queen has accepted the resignation of Lieutenant-General Henry Ponsonby as Equerry in Ordinary to her Majesty, and has appointed him Extra Equerry. The Hon Mary Pitt has succeeded the Hon. Harriet Phipps as Maid of Honour in Waiting.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Prince and Princess of Wales, accompanied by Princesses Louise Victoria and Maud of Wales, left Abergeldie Castle on Saturday last for Marlborough House. The Prince of Wales presided at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Royal Commission of the Paris Exhibition at Marlborough House. The Prince and Princess, accompanied by the Duke of Connaught, visited Covent-Garden Theatre on Monday evening. The Prince and Princess and Princess Louise of Wales went to the Opéra Comique on Tuesday evening. The Prince and Princess left Marlborough House on Wednesday evening en route for Paris. Their Royal Highnesses travelled from Charing-cross by a special train (which was under the charge of Mr. John Shaw) to Dover, whence they embarked on board the special steamer Maid of Kent, Captain Dane, and crossed to Calais. Here the South-Eastern Company's saloon, which had been specially prepared for the journey, was attached to the Chemin de Fer du Nord train, by which the Prince and Princess travelled, viâ Amiens and Creil, to Paris. Their Royal Highnesses are staying at the Hôtel Bristol, and they are expected to remain in Paris about a fortnight.

The Prince has appointed General the Right Hon. Sir William Thomas Knollys Receiver-General of the Duchy of Cornwall. Colonel A. Ellis has succeeded Colonel Teesdale as Equerry in Waiting to his Royal Highness.

The Duke of Edinburgh will leave Coburg at the end of the week, to join her Majesty's ship Black Prince, which is to escort the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise to Canada.

Princess Louise of Lorne, accompanied by the Marquis of Lorne, inaugurated a new wing that has been added to the buildings of the Warehousemen and Clerks' Schools, at Croydon. The "Leaf Memorial Wing" has been erected in respect to the memory of the late Mr. Leaf (of Messrs. Leaf, Sons, and Co., a firm engaged in the silk trade), who, with the members of his family, have been among the most liberal benefactors of the institution from its foundation. After the ceremonial purses were presented to the Princess by ladies. The subscriptions and donations for the day amounted to about £3000, of which half came from the ladies' purses. The Princess and the Marquis were afterwards entertained at a déjeûner, at which the Marquis of Hartington presided.

The Duke of Connaught distributed the Queen's prizes at the Guildhall yesterday week to the successful students of the metropolitan drawing classes. An illustration and particulars of the ceremony are given in the Supplement.

His Excellency Count Münster has returned to the German Embassy, Carlton House-terrace, from visiting the Earl and Countess of Rosslyn at Dysart House, Kirkaldy, Fifeshire.

The Duke and Duchess of Westminster have returned to Clivedon from Paris.

The Duchess of Roxburghe has arrived at Broxmouth, the Duke's seat in Haddingtonshire.

The Earl of Beaconsfield has arrived at Shifnal on a visit to the Earl and Countess of Bradford, at Weston Park.

MARRIAGES.

The marriage of Captain Alfred Egerton, Equerry to the Duke of Connaught, and the Hon. Mary Ormsby Gore, eldest daughter of Lord and Lady Harlech, was solemnised in the parish church of Oswestry on the 10th inst.

The marriage of Lord Lyttelton and the Hon. Mary Cavendish, second daughter of Lord and Lady Chesham, is to take place at Latimer to-day, the 19th inst.

The marriage of Colonel Oliphant and the Hon. Mary Gerard is fixed for Tuesday, Nov. 19.

The marriage of the Rev. W. Page Roberts and the Hon. Margaret Grace Pitt, niece of Earl Granville, is arranged to take place early in November.

As a result of the recent Board of Trade inquiry at Liverpool into the loss of the steamer Democrat, on the Isle of Man coast, the Board of Trade have decided to erect a lighthouse at Langeness Point, where the disaster took place.

Their Excellencies Kuo Ta Jen, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and Li Fang Pao, Chinese Minister Designate at the Court of Berlin, visited the Court of Session, Edinburgh, on Wednesday. They were conducted through the Parliament House by the Dean of Faculty. They afterwards visited other places of interest in the city.

Mr. Balguy, stipendiary magistrate for Greenwich, on Monday morning opened the Board of Trade inquiry into the causes of the collision between the Bywell Castle and the Princess Alice steamers. The points presented by the Board of Trade for the consideration of the Court are five in number—namely, what was the cause of the collision? Was any blame attributable to the officers of either or both of the ships? Were any alterations or additions to the rules relating to the navigation of the Thames desirable? What was the cause of the great loss of life? Was any alteration desirable in the conditions upon which passenger certificates were granted by the Board of Trade? A statement was made by Mr. M. Jones, on the part of the Board of Trade, as to the facts in connection with the collision, after which the first mate of the Princess Alice gave evidence. The inquiry is proceeding. It was determined, at a meeting of the Mansion House Committee on Monday to confirm the recommendation of the sub-committee to place the orphans, subject to modifications in special cases, in orphanages, and to invest money for them to receive when they leave the institutions. Before sending the children to the asylums, there is to be an inquiry into the educational standard and general class of children admitted into them. About 110 orphans will become chargeable to the fund, and most of them are between ten and fourteen years of age. There were seventy fathers and mothers lost, and they appear to have had with them the whole of their younger children. The balance in hand was £20,000, more than £16,000 having been disbursed to widows, widowers, and other relatives of the deceased.

POLITICAL.

The war of words is as active as ever, and the Eastern Question continues to be energetically argued pro and con. Even deaf and dumb debaters have had their say on the matter. The opening debate of the session of the Deaf and Dumb Debating Society took place last week in the lecture-hall of the Royal Association in Aid of the Deaf and Dumb, St. Saviour's, Oxford-street—Mr. Thomas Davidson (president) in the chair. The question discussed was, "Is the Indian Government justified in going to war with Afghanistan?" After a spirited discussion by means of the finger-and-sign language, the following result was obtained:—Ayes, 33; noes, 5; neutral, 2.

Several meetings were held on Monday:—

Mr. Jacob Bright, speaking at a Liberal meeting at Manchester, said the Government had stolen Cyprus, and that if any other European Power, while talking in the loftiest tone of public law, had secretly committed such a base act, it would have been execrated by every newspaper in England, and not least by that portion of the metropolitan press which had followed with adulation the crooked paths of the Government.

Mr. G. O. Trevelyan, M.P., addressed a crowded meeting of his constituents at Solkirk, and in the course of his speech spoke strongly against the foreign policy of the Government.

Presiding at a temperance entertainment at West Hartlepool, Mr. Bell, M.P., dwelt on temperance legislation.

A meeting of the Liberal Four Hundred was held at Bristol to hear Mr. Morley's reasons for retiring from the representation at the end of the present Parliament. Mr. Morley denied that he wished to retire because he thought he was in less favour than formerly, or disagreed with his colleague, or intended to stand for another constituency. The fact was he was getting an old man. He was in his sixty-eighth year, and wanted rest, and the duties of the House of Commons required the expenditure of more physical as well as mental powers now than heretofore. Speaking as a commercial man, he could not afford the sacrifice. He condemned strongly the Eastern and Indian policy of the Government, and said, whatever his future sphere might be, he should press forward those Liberal principles which he believed were closely identified with the welfare of the people. A resolution was cordially passed thanking Mr. Morley for his past services and requesting him to take time to reconsider his intention.

Among the meetings held on Tuesday were the following:—

The annual meeting of the Midland International Arbitration Union was held at Birmingham, when a resolution was passed expressing satisfaction at the success of the efforts to prevent this country being involved in the Eastern war. A further resolution was adopted regretting the action of the Indian Government in the Afghan difficulty, and protesting against any steps that might involve England in another Afghan war, which, if successful, would entail suffering and immense sacrifice of life and treasure. Several letters expressing disapproval of the Government policy with regard to India and Afghanistan were read.

Mr. Gorst addressed his constituents at Chatham. In dealing with the Eastern Question, he expressed his approval of the policy pursued by the Government, and denounced the conduct of the Opposition. Referring to the Afghan difficulty, he thought the Home Government were to be held responsible for it. It might not, however, prove so serious as some thought, and he hoped it would only turn out one of those frontier difficulties of which they had had so many.

At the Reading Philanthropic Society's dinner, Mr. Palmer, M.P., said that if the nation determined to have a large standing army, a great fleet, and volunteer force, let them do it well, but he objected to fostering ill will between this and other countries.

There was more speech-making on Wednesday:—

A great political meeting took place at Leominster, when Mr. Blake gave his annual address to his constituents. The hon. gentleman reviewed the Parliamentary Session, and touched also upon the Afghanistan difficulty.

Colonel Drummond Moray, M.P. for Perthshire, speaking at Blairgowrie, said the Berlin Treaty was not perfect, but everything was done that mortal men could do to arrive at a satisfactory decision. Russia was intriguing at Cabul, and, although we need not fear a Russian invasion on our Indian frontier, disturbance in Afghanistan would strengthen Russia's hand nearer home.

Speaking at a municipal banquet at Newcastle-under-Lyme, Mr. Hanbury, M.P., referred to the absence of young men from the British Legislature, and the necessity of a political training for members of Parliament. As to the Afghanistan difficulty, he thought a wrong policy had been pursued in the past in India—an uncertain policy having been pursued instead of an open and consistent one. One result at least of the present difficulty he hoped would be an honest and straightforward policy for the future; for he believed that the one thing upon which the British Empire in India must rest was a policy of justice with good government. Mr. Allen, M.P., thought all parties were agreed that we were bound to hold India for the good of the people themselves, and he hoped an amicable settlement of the Eastern difficulty might yet be arrived at.

Mr. Garnier, M.P., spoke at an agricultural gathering at Plympton on the Eastern Question in favour of Government.

Sir H. Selwin-Ibbetson, in charging the grand jury at the Chelmsford Quarter Sessions on Wednesday, referred to the new Prisons Act.

The Hon. J. W. Fitzwilliam addressed a crowded meeting of Peterborough electors, and was well received. Mr. Potter also met his supporters. Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Macliver are holding frequent meetings.

The Liberals of Hastings on Wednesday passed a resolution requesting Mr. T. Brassey, M.P., and Sir U. J. Kay-Shuttleworth, Bart., M.P., again to contest the borough in the Liberal interest for representing it in Parliament. A resolution was also passed expressing the anxiety of the meeting as regarded the foreign policy of the Government.

A memorial signed by sixty-five Armenians residing in England, principally engaged in mercantile pursuits, has been presented to Lord Salisbury, expressing satisfaction at the prospect of an English Protectorate of Asia Minor.

The Mayor of Birmingham having issued cards of invitation to a dinner to meet the borough members on the 31st, Mr. Bright has replied, expressing his regret that he will not be able to partake of his Worship's hospitality, as he is still obliged to refrain from taking part in public meetings.

The Home Secretary has accepted an invitation to the Dolphin banquet of the Colston anniversary in Bristol, on Nov. 13.

Mr. Gladstone has consented to address his constituents next month, and a committee has been appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the meeting.

Mr. Francis Roxburgh, Q.C., has been appointed Recorder of Aldborough, in succession to Mr. Schomberg, deceased.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

The probable contingencies of war between the British Indian Empire and the Ameer Shere Ali of Cabul are more seriously discussed from day to day, and all the news or rumours we get from India, bearing on this subject, find eager reception here. The agent of the Indian Government who was sent to Cabul to demand an explanation of the repulse of Sir Neville Chamberlain was a native Indian gentleman, the Nawab Gholam Hassain; and it is expected that he will now be on his return journey by way of the Koorum Valley, and will arrive at the frontier station of Kohat to-morrow (Sunday) bringing with him the Ameer's reply. He left the City of Cabul on the 6th inst., having been treated by the Ameer with polite consideration. No active measures will be taken before his arrival. If the tenour of the letter is unfavourable all hopes of peace will be at an end, and operations will begin at once, as by that time it is anticipated that all will be ready for an advance. A steady and continuous movement of troops is going on towards the frontier, and many of the regiments are now at the positions assigned to them. The 5th Punjaub Infantry and the 5th Punjaub Cavalry arrived at Thull on the 13th, the 29th Punjaub Infantry marched into the same place on the 14th, and the 12th Bengal Cavalry came in from Kohat on the following day. A squadron of the 10th Hussars, a mountain battery, and the 5th Goorkhas are at Kohat.

The formation of a reserve at Hassan Abdul, between Attock and Rawul Pindee, towards Peshawur, shows plainly enough that the Government of India does not underrate the possibilities of a situation long foreseen. It has now two, and perhaps three, active field forces afoot. The Quetta and Koorum columns, unless war be averted, are certainly intended to move forwards; while it is possible that political considerations may enjoin a march on the Khyber Pass. They are supported by the reserves collecting at Sukkur and at Hassan Abdul. The former can only be designed to sustain or reinforce the Quetta column when it sets out for Candahar; the troops at Hassan Abdul might either proceed to Peshawur or Kohat. If it should be determined to enter the Khyber, the immediate objective must be Jellalabad.

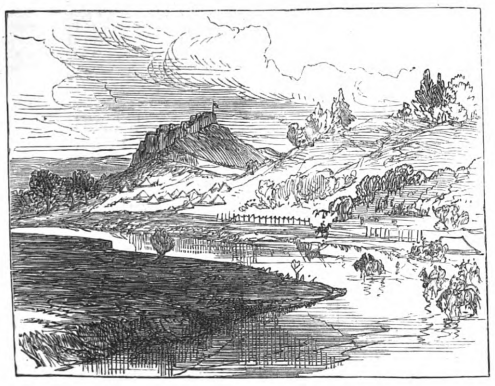
The Kohat or Koorum column, under General F. S. Roberts, will consist of three batteries, a squadron of the 10th Hussars, the 12th Bengal Cavalry, the 17th Foot, and six native regiments. The Quetta force, commanded by Major-General A. S. Biddulph, will be composed of three batteries, three native horse regiments, the 18th British, and six native infantry battalions. At Sukkur, General Donald Stewart will have eight batteries and a siege train, the 15th Hussars, two Bengal cavalry regiments, and five native battalions. This is the Mooltan division. Sappers and engineers are attached to each column. A correspondent states that the Mhairwarra battalion has volunteered for frontier service, and their offer has been accepted by the Government. He adds:—"The great hindrances in the way of the advance of troops are the defective commissariat arrangements and the deficiency in the means of transport. It is estimated that nearly 6000 camels alone are required, without taking into account other various and numerous means of transport indispensable before anything like a strong advance along the frontier can be attempted. It is no light task to have to make arrangements for supplying an army of 30,000 men, exclusive of camp followers, with all the necessaries of life while making a hostile march into an enemy's country which is almost completely barren."

There was no confirmation of the rumour we noticed last week that Brigadier Ross, with the troops from Jumrood, had already entered the Khyber Pass, beyond the fort of Ali Musjid, in order to seize Dakka, at the western end of the Khyber. Although Jumrood is in British territory, its proximity to the mountains renders it unsafe as an outpost. Ever since the British occupation of the Peshawur Valley it has been the residence of gangs of Afreedi thieves. It is probable that strong parties of the Peshawur Division were pushed on to this village, not for the object of an attack on Ali Musjid, but for the purpose of watching our own frontier and preventing its violation by lawless bands of Afghan levies. Now that the Ameer has moved down a force to Ali Musjid, we may at any moment hear of desultory skirmishing at or near the mouth of the Khyber. The alliance between the Momunds and the Ameer will necessitate great vigilance on the part of the officer commanding the Peshawur Valley, as one or two successful raids into our territory would set an example to the other frontier tribes, which they would not be slow to follow. But some recent despatches state that dissensions exist between Afghanistan and the Siah tribes, who threaten to withdraw their support. The Ameer is stated to be endeavouring to raise a Jehad, or Holy War of the Mohammedan populations; but from Constantinople we are informed that the Turkish journal, Al Jawaib, deprecates Shere Ali's hostile attitude towards England, and says that a war between England and Cabul would profoundly disturb every Mohammedan kingdom in the world. It is stated that Shere Ali has asked the Russians to construct a line of telegraph to Afghanistan.

Our Illustrations of this subject comprise a view of the ruins of the celebrated native fort of Mooltan, in the Punjaub, captured by the British forces, under General Whish, in January, 1841, after a siege in which Major Herbert Edwardes greatly distinguished himself. Mooltan had been held by the Sikhs since the conquests of Runjeet Singh in 1818. It is a large and wealthy town, next to Lahore and Umritsur the most important in the Punjaub. The fort was irregularly hexagonal in shape, occupying the summit of a mound, with a brick wall surmounting a high escarpment, faced with masonry, a deep moat, and thirty towers. It was partly destroyed by floods undermining the walls and towers soon after its conquest by the British, and is now quite useless for defence, but is occupied by a detachment of soldiers. Just outside the walls is the tower of Idgurh, where Mr. Vans Agnew and Lieutenant Anderson took refuge in 1848, and were treacherously murdered by Dewan Moolraj, the Sikh Commander at Mooltan, after pretending to give them up the keys of the citadel. We are indebted to Mr. J. E. Hilton for the Sketch of Mooltan we have engraved. A Sketch of one of the Afghan watch-towers in the Khyber Pass, and a View of Jellalabad, are presented this week; also a scene of common city life at Cabul, the interior of a cook's shop, where "kabobs," or slices of hot roast mutton rolled on skewers, are sold by the cook, who is a man from Cashmere. We are indebted for this Illustration to the series of lithographs, "Characters and and Costumes of Afghanistan," published by Messrs. Henry Graves and Co., of Pall-mall.

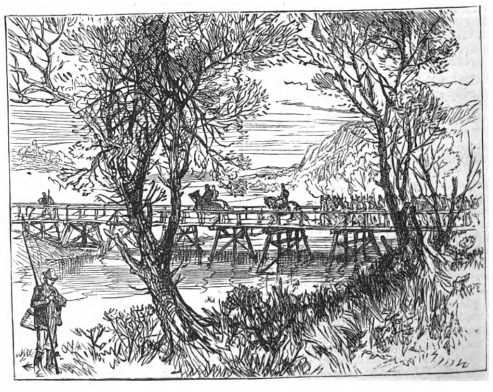
The Duke of Montrose, while staying at the Central Station, Newcastle, during the races, was robbed of his travelling-bag, containing valuables to the amount of £200.

Messrs. Elkington and Co. have completed a costly silver centre-piece for the officers of her Majesty's 14th, or Prince of Wales's Own, Regiment. The design consists of a massive silver group, representing the origin of the Prince of Wales's crest and motto, an incident from the battle of Cressy, fought A.D. 1346. The work has been submitted for the inspection of the Prince of Wales at Marlborough House.



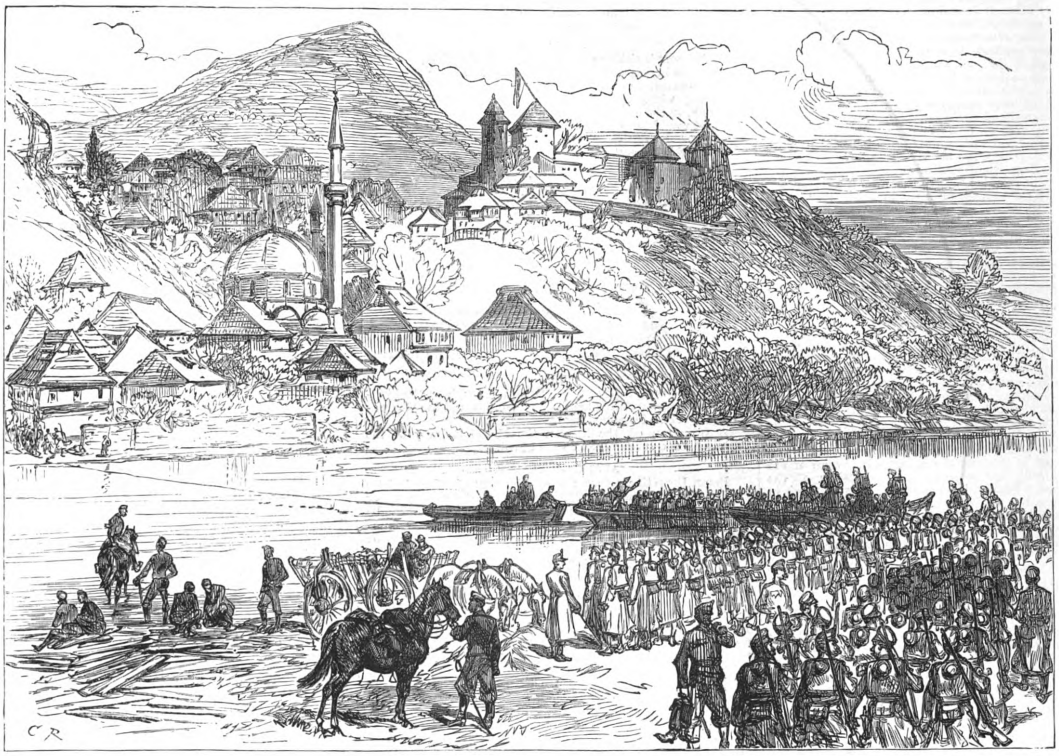
THE LATE LORD CHELMSFORD.

THE LATE LORD CHELMSFORD.

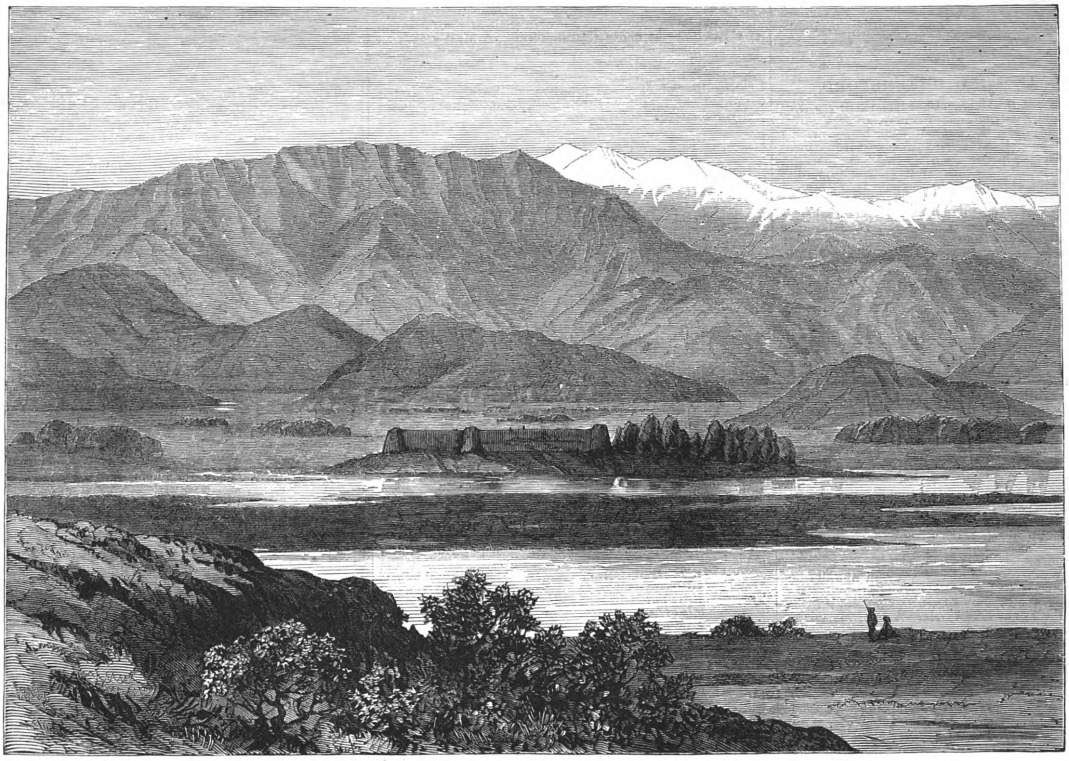


An obituary notice of this distinguished member of the House of Lords and of the legal profession appeared last week. Dying at the age of eighty-four, the last ten years of his life have been passed in comparative inactivity, and his brief tenure of the Chancellorship, upon two occasions, was not marked by any great historical achievements. But his earlier successes at the Bar, and the sort of prestige he once enjoyed in popular esteem, as Sir Frederick Thesiger, the most winning of contemporary advocates with a jury at Nisi Prius, must be remembered by the majority of middle-aged men. He was also, in the time of the late Earl of Derby's leadership of the Conservative party, an important politician, though never a statesman, and he was a personage of social consideration. The Portrait is engraved from a photograph by Mr. Fall, Baker-street.

THE AUSTRIANS IN BOSNIA.



Two Sketches by our Special Artist, lately with the Austrian army of occupation in Bosn , which are presented this week, illustrate the crossing of the er Bosna at Doboj, by a military bridge constructed for the passage of the troops, in order to pursue the campaign against the Mussulman insurgents in the eastern districts. One Sketch represents a crossing in boats at Maglai, higher up the river. All substantial resistance is now at an end; but there are local scattered bands which have continued within the past week to give the Austrian officers some trouble. It should not be forgotten that the people recently subdued are the feudal retainers and partisans of the Mohammedan aristocracy, the class of privileged landlords styled Begs in Bosnia, whose cruelty and rapacity had driven a hundred thousand of their Christian fellow-countrymen into exile. The miserable condition of those unhappy fugitives during the last three years, mostly sojourning in the adjacent Slavonic provinces of Austria, has been frequently described. Two English ladies, Miss Irby and Miss Johnston, have employed themselves all the while in benevolent labours for relief of the distressed families, and more especially for the instruction and maintenance of the orphan children. Miss Irby, who is just now in England, spoke last week at a select



CASTLE OF DOBOJ, ON THE BOSNA RIVER.

AUSTRIAN MILITARY BRIDGE AT DOBOJ, BOSNIA.

AUSTRIAN OCCUPATION OF BOSNIA: TROOPS CROSSING THE BOSNA AT MAGLAI.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR: VALLEY OF JELLALABAD.

meeting in the Birmingham Townhall, giving some account of the actual state of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The need for charitable aid was very great; and, she was sorry to say, was likely to become greater than ever this year, even if the fugitives did return to their own land, for Bosnia was almost a waste. There had been hardly anything sown there for three years, except in the centre of the land; the houses and villages formerly occupied by the poor people who had fled had been entirely destroyed; and when they went back, which they would do when safety of life was secured to them by the action of the Austrian army of occupation in Bosnia, they would still have neither houses nor food. It would be some time before they all went back, and if they did she did not see what prospect there was for them unless the Austrian Government continued its scanty pittance, which it would do under great difficulty, because Austrian finances were never in a very good condition, and had been impoverished by the great expenses of the Bosnian expedition. The resistance lately made in Bosnia to the Austrian occupation had been wholly from the Mussulmans, not from the Christians, who were in a minority. She hoped that the Bosnian Begs would soon be subdued, and that peace and order might be established. In the mean time there was the question how were these fugitives to live. There were 115,000 in Austria, and she did not know how many in Servia and Montenegro, but their number was large, and they stood in urgent need of help. In concluding her remarks, Miss Irby said that she intended to return to Bosnia on the 21st inst., and that any further subscriptions she might receive would be very welcome.

Major-General Reinlander reports that the pacification of the district of Kraina has been effected at a cost to the Austrian army of occupation of 500 men killed. He adds that the advance of the troops is everywhere greeted in a friendly spirit. The text of the Austrian reply to the Circular of the Porte reaches us from Vienna. The charges of cruelty brought against the troops are indignantly denied as manifestly false and calumnious, and regret is expressed that the Turkish Government should have deemed it consistent with its dignity to make them without first instituting inquiries of the Austrian Government. The Porte is urged to compare the present occupation with that of Omar Pasha in 1851 and 1852, the one being accomplished in two months, the other in two years. The Porte is also urged to contrast the humane behaviour of the Austrian troops with the massacre and mutilation of the Austrian wounded. Finally, it is maintained that the spirit in which the occupation was undertaken was proved by the respect shown to all creeds, and, in spite of treacherous surprises, the army felt bound in honour to carry out its mission in accordance with its European mandate and the Imperial proclamation.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the Budget on Tuesday morning the report of M. Langlois upon the amount to be provided for the Budget of the Ministry of War was read.

The Council of Ministers was on Tuesday engaged in discussing the question of the fêtes to be held on the occasion of the distribution of prizes to the successful exhibitors at the Great Exhibition. The distribution is to take place, with great ceremony, on Monday next, in the nave of the Palace of Industry, in the Champs Elysées. Marshal MacMahon will make a speech, and M. Teisserenc de Bort will read a report on the labours of the jury. Notice has been given to the public and the exhibitors that no medals will be distributed. They will be delivered by the respective commissioners at the close of this year. The ceremony on the 21st inst. will consist of the delivery of 150 diplomas for grand prizes. The presence of both Chambers, of all the French authorities, of the jury, and of one member of each firm to whom gold medals and grand prizes have been awarded, renders any distribution or sale of tickets to the general public or exhibitors impossible. The list of fêtes for the occasion is imposing, and quite unusual at this dead season of the year in Paris. On Thursday and Friday this week soirées and entertainments at the Ministries of Public Instruction and Foreign Affairs have been announced; and on Saturday (to-day) there is to be a gala performance at the Grand Opera, to be attended by the President, the Prince of Wales, and other Royal personages. On Sunday the Minister of the Fine Arts announces that all the theatres, circus, concerts, Hipprodrome, &c., will be open to the public gratis. Next Monday, after the distribution of the prizes, a banquet will be given by the President to the foreign Princes, Ambassadors, Ministers, and a limited number of the recipients. On the 22nd this festive week will end with the grandest fête of all, that at night in the gardens of Versailles, with the grandes eaux and illumination of the fountains. The Baroness Alphonse de Rothschild is preparing a fête to the foreign Princes sojourning in Paris at her country seat at Ferrières, on the day after the distribution of the Exhibition prizes.

M. de Freycinet, the Minister of Public Works, left St. Malo yesterday week. After a careful inspection, it has been decided that the towns of St. Malo and St. Servan shall each have a floating dock. The expenses are estimated at 10,000,000f.

A double election took place on Sunday. At Moulins M. Datas, a Republican, was elected deputy; and at Sceaux M. de Goudert, a Radical.

In his speech at Grenoble on the 10th inst. M. Gambetta said that he thought the Senate a necessary institution, but it should be one of control, not of conflict. If it were to be composed of incorrigible Monarchists and aristocrats, it would be swept away by universal suffrage. He was of opinion that the Senatorial elections would give the Republic a majority of twenty. M. Gambetta reached Paris early on Sunday morning. He was enthusiastically cheered on leaving Grenoble and at various stations on his way.

The new Anglican Church of St. Andrew, Biarritz, was consecrated on the 11th inst. by the Bishop of London. The ceremony was attended by the Sous-Préfet of Bayonne, by the English chaplains of Pau, St. Jean de Luz, and Archachon, and the secretary of the Colonial and Continental Church Society.

The Comte de Montalivet, Louis Philippe's last surviving Minister, who four years ago rallied to the Republic, has been celebrating his golden wedding at La Grange (Cher).

Paris was on Wednesday night enveloped in a white icy fog, so thick as even to obscure the electric light.

Mgr. Dupanloup, the Bishop of Orleans, died suddenly on the 11th inst., at the age of seventy-six. A brief memoir of him is given in our Obituary column.

The deaths are also announced of M. Leymarie, Professor of Geology at Toulouse, the author of the first geological map of France; and of M. Gabriel Delafosse, Professor at the Jardin des Plantes, a naturalist and mineralogist of some note, at the age of eighty-four.

ITALY.

Signor Cairoli addressed his constituents at Pavia on Tuesday night, and stated that the financial position of Italy was excellent, there being a large surplus to be placed against the loss by the abolition of the grist tax. He spoke at great length on the internal affairs of the kingdom, and then defended the conduct of the Italian Plenipotentiaries at the Berlin Congress.

News of the damage caused by storms and inundations is being received from all parts of the Italian peninsula. On Sunday night a hurricane destroyed a portion of the railway between Castellamare and Salerno, and at Avellino a torrent called the Sant' Antonio invaded the lower quarter of the town, threw down a number of houses, and damaged the Church of Madonna della Saletta to such an extent that the campanile fell. Seven persons were drowned.

DENMARK.

In Tuesday's sitting of the Folkething the debate on the Budget was begun. Count von Holstein Ledreborg, the leader of the Moderate Left, declared that his party would adhere to the policy which it had hitherto pursued. He added that although, in the event of the Ministry remaining in office, the prospect would not be very hopeful, his party wished to avoid conflicts. He criticised several bills brought forward by the Minister of War, and proposed that the increase in the salaries of officials granted in consequence of the rise in prices should now be reduced.

GERMANY.

After long and at times acrimonious debate the second reading of the Socialists' Repression Bill was brought to a close on Wednesday. The duration of the bill is limited to March, 1881. The Berlin correspondent of the Morning Post says that the Government has caused it to be made known that, as soon as the bill shall have become law, it proposes to appoint a commission to inquire into the condition of the working classes and to frame proposals for its amelioration.

The same correspondent says Dr. Falk, the Prussian Minister of Public Worship and Education, will remain in office.

Count Bismarck, nephew of the German Chancellor, on Tuesday shot himself at Venice. Bodily suffering seems to have prompted the act.

PORTUGAL.

Elections were held on the 13th inst. throughout the kingdom for members of the Chamber of Deputies, and the Government obtained a large majority.

A train ran off the line on the Minho Railway on the 13th inst., and seven persons were killed.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Baron Depretis received the appointment of War Minister on Tuesday, and has accepted the mission of forming a new Parliamentary Cabinet. The formation of the Cabinet will be effected after the reassembling of the Reichsrath, next Tuesday, when the views of the Parliamentary majority may be determined.

Count Andrassy, the Hungarian Minister, M. Tisza, and Baron Wenckheim had an audience of three hours' duration yesterday week with the Emperor. An Imperial autograph letter has been published at Pesth charging the Premier, M. Tisza, with the provisional direction of the Ministry of Finance, and Baron Wenckheim with the provisional management of the Ministry of the Interior. The Emperor definitively relieves M. Szell from the provisional direction of the Ministry of Finance. The Emperor was to arrive at Buda-Pesth, to open the Hungarian Diet by a speech from the Throne, on Saturday or Sunday.

A majority in support of the policy of Count Andrassy is assured in the two Legislatures and the Delegations, it being believed that the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina will not be extended, and that the expenditure will be reduced.

Count Beust has been appointed Ambassador in Paris, and will be succeeded in London by Count Karolyi.

Austria's reply to the circular of the Porte and other matters relating to Bosnia are noted in another column.

ROUMANIA.

By a vote of forty-eight votes against eight the resolutions of the Roumanian Senatorial Committee, authorising the Government to conform to the provisions of the Treaty of Berlin, have been passed by the Senate.

SERVIA.

An official announcement has been made of the formation of a new Cabinet, under the presidency of M. Ristics, who remains Minister of Foreign Affairs. The Prince thanks the former President, M. Michailovich, and his Cabinet for their services during critical times.

Nov. 10 has been fixed for the Skuptschina elections. Servia sends 104 delegates, New Servia twenty-four, and the Prince's delegates number forty-two.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

A circular has been addressed by the Russian Government to its agents abroad, expressing a desire to come to a definite arrangement with Turkey on the basis of the Berlin Treaty. It is stated that the circular was rendered necessary by various difficulties arising from the powerlessness of the Turkish Government on its own territory, massacres having occurred after the departure of the Russian troops. In view of this state of things a united and common action of the signatary Powers is suggested.

Prince Lobanoff, the Russian Ambassador, has, it is stated, represented to the Porte the necessity for stopping the evacuation, on account of the massacre of Christians after the departure of the Russian troops. Sir A. H. Layard is reported to have discovered only a few isolated cases in which the assassins were brigands. A despatch reporting atrocities committed by Bulgarians in the neighbourhood of Philippopolis has been sent by Consul Calvert to Sir A. H. Layard.

Prince Lobanoff, the Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, has received a telegram from the Grand Duke Michael requesting him to urge the Porte to take such measures as will put an effective check on the extensive emigration of Armenians into Russian territory.

The Sultan has appointed Baker Pasha one of his Aides-de-Camp.

Hobart Pasha has had an audience of the Sultan, and is stated to have been assured by his Majesty that it is the intention of the Porte to carry out even more reforms than were demanded by England.

The Porte is said to be preparing the draught of a scheme for the reorganisation of Eastern Roumelia, which is to be submitted to the International Commission.

A Constantinople telegram states that the Faysal tribes, near Bagdad, have revolted, and captured the town of Damam. The authorities have telegraphed for reinforcements.

A telegram from Canea states that an arrangement between the Turkish authorities and the Cretans, by which the questions at issue have been finally settled, has been signed. The documents have been sent to Constantinople for approval.

AMERICA.

The Vermont Legislature have re-elected Mr. Morrill as United States senator for that State.

The Agricultural Department estimates that the cotton crop of the present year will be from 5,250,000 to 5,500,000 bales. This is the largest crop ever grown.

There were thirty deaths from yellow fever in New Orleans on Tuesday, and thirty-one at Memphis.

Steps are being taken by the Vatican, on the strength of a report sent by Cardinal M'Closkey, the Archbishop of New York, for bringing about a considerable development of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States.

There was a terrific gale last Saturday on the New England coast, and the loss of life was considerable.

CANADA.

A telegram of Wednesday's date from Halifax reports the resignation of the Nova Scotian Ministry.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

We have news from Capetown to Sept. 24.

Sir Bartle Frere left Capetown on Sept. 18, per Courland, amidst a great display of popular enthusiasm. News has been received of his arrival at Durban on Sept. 23, where he was met by General Thesiger. Before leaving his Excellency commuted the sentence of death passed on Gongabele and Tini Macomo to penal servitude for life.

The news from the Zulu border is of no importance, beyond a general feeling of uneasiness which prevails. No overt acts on the part of the Kaffirs are reported on the Transvaal.

Mr. R. Hughes, of the commissariat staff, whilst in charge of a convoy of provisions, has been attacked on the road between Fort Weber and Fort Borgers. One man was wounded, and several head of cattle were taken. One hundred men of the 18th Regiment have been ordered to march straight to Fort Weber instead of to Lydenburg, as previously intended, and more troops are leaving Pretoria for the front.

It is rumoured that Mapoch has broken out in rebellion, and that Makapau is about to do the same. An attack is said to have been organised on Secocoeni, and was to have taken place three days ago. It was thought that the Boers would give their assistance in the attack.

The Premier is at Queenstown, and has delivered a speech in favour of the division of the Cape colony into provinces under a federal union.

A detachment of volunteer artillery left Cape Town on Sept. 24 for the Northern border, whence no later intelligence had been received. A special commission will be appointed to administer native affairs in that district.

The Rev. Samuel Hardey, general superintendent of the Wesleyan missions, died at Capetown on Sept. 18.

AUSTRALIA.

It is stated in a Melbourne telegram of the 3rd inst. that the Ministerial bill for a reform of the Constitution curtailing the powers of the Legislative Council has passed the third reading in the Legislative Assembly by fifty votes against twenty-one, substantially in the form in which it was originally presented. It is probable that a conference of the two Houses of the Legislature will be held to agree upon the amendments proposed by the Legislative Council. Both Houses have sanctioned the loan for £3,000,000, and the measure has received the Governor's assent.

The New South Wales Parliament was opened on Sept. 10. The Governor, in his speech, alluded to the continued prosperity of the colony, and stated that efforts were being made to bring about a general customs union in the Australian colonies. His Excellency announced that the proposed loan of £1,500,000 had been postponed, owing to the disturbance of the English money market, which had temporarily affected Australian securities. This unsettled state had apparently been caused by the intention expressed by the neighbouring colonies of borrowing largely in London. The speech promised the introduction of an extensive number of useful measures, including bills for the amendment of the electoral and of the land laws, and stated that prospectuses for the construction of 1000 miles of railway would also be submitted. The estimated population of the colony at the end of last year was 663,212. The extension of the railway to Wagga-Wagga, a distance of 304 miles from Sydney, was opened on Sept. 3, amidst a grand demonstration. There are now 650 miles of railway open for traffic in New South Wales.

The Queensland Parliament was prorogued on Sept. 10 until Oct. 3. The Governor, in his speech, congratulated the members upon the legislative activity displayed during the past Session, stating that a number of laws of unexampled importance had been embodied in statutes since the opening of the present Parliament, in 1874.

The South Australian Ministry has resigned, and a new Cabinet has been formed, composed as follows:—Premier, Mr. William Morgan; Attorney-General, Mr. Bundez; Minister of Education, Mr. Rowland Rees; Colonial Treasurer, Mr. Mann.

An official connected with the Spanish Consulate at Tetuan has been assassinated by the Moors, and the Spanish Government has demanded reparation from Morocco.

The Dutch vessel William Barends has returned to Amsterdam from her voyage to the Arctic regions. The voyage has been very successful from a scientific point of view.

The Jersey police have arrested Stafford, the clerk who stole £15,000 worth of notes from the Liverpool branch of the Bank of England. He had hired at Cowes a yacht, in which he had been sailing about all last week.

The New Zealand Shipping Company's sailing-ship Piako, Captain Boyd, left Plymouth Sound yesterday week with emigrants for New Zealand. The ship Fernglen, Captain Frazer, sailed on Saturday with emigrants for New Zealand.

Governor Hennessey, in submitting his financial statement to the Legislative Council of Hong-Kong on Oct. 16, said that the revenue of the colony had never been so prosperous, and that the cash balances to the credit of the colony amounted to 740,000 dols.

A telegram from Paris states that the Egyptian Government has given its adhesion to the arrangement concluded between England and France respecting the future administration of Egypt.

The Daily News states that Sir George Bowen, who has been successively Governor of Queensland, New Zealand, and Victoria, has been appointed to the Governorship of the Mauritius, in succession to Sir Arthur Phayre.

The Royal Court of Jersey has given a decision affirming the validity of marriage with a deceased wife's sister, on the ground that Lord Lyndhurst's Act had not been registered in Jersey, and that the law, consequently, had no force there.

Mr. J. S. Lumley, C.B., her Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary to the King of the Belgians, has been appointed a Knight Commander of the Bath; and Mr. F. O. Adams, Secretary to the Embassy at Paris, and the Hon. H. C. Vivian, the British Agent and Consul-General in Egypt, Companions.

The following Consular appointments have been approved by her Majesty:—Mr. Gottfried Buhmeyer, as Consul at Bassein for the Emperor of Austria; Mr. Frank Hool, as Consul at Lagos for the King of Denmark; Mr. E. C. M. Ooms as Consul at Aden, and Mr. Felix Dolmas as Consul for Sierra Leone, for the King of the Netherlands; Mr. F. Y. de San Juan as Consul at Gibraltar, Mr. Rafael Lozano as Vice-Consul at Swansea, and Mr. B. de Angulo as Vice-Consul at Newport, for the King of Spain.

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Baker, Charles, to be Curate of Salmon Cove, Newfoundland.
Bennett, Hugh; Rector of Pirton with Croome D'Abitot, Worcester.
Blyth, E. H., Vicar of Hammersmith; Incumbent of St. Paul's, Edinburgh.
Bowles, William; Rector of Herringham, Norfolk.
Braithwaite, A.; Rector of Persfield.
Brereton, Thomas Joseph; Perpetual Curate of Wyresdale.
Crock, James; Perpetual Curate of St. Paul's, Townend, Morley.
Dillon, C. F. A.; Vicar of Enstone.
Gaiton, G. J.; Rector of Brimfield.
Hurst, John Palmer; Rector of Yelford, Oxon.
Jebb, Dr.; Chancellor of the Choir in Hereford Cathedral.
Lewis, Daniel; Vicar of Bettws Garmon.
Payne, C. L.; Curate of Bonne Bay, Newfoundland.
Perring, Charles Augustus; Vicar of Norton.
Shaw, T. S.; Rector of Bedingfield.
Smith, F. J. J.; Missionary at Salvage, Newfoundland.
Turner, Charles; Rector of Bixley and Framingham Earl, Norfolk.
Walters, William, Vicar of Pershore; Rural Dean of Pershore.
Wilberforce, Ernest Rowland; Canon of Winchester.—Guardian.

The Convocation of Canterbury was prorogued on Thursday week till Nov. 4.

The Church of St. Mary, in St. James's-street, Brighton, was on Tuesday consecrated by the Bishop of Chichester.

The Times understands that there will be a dedicatory service of the new peal of bells at St. Paul's Cathedral on All Saints' Eve.

The secretary to the Bishopric of Liverpool Committee states that only about £50,000 has been promised towards the fund, and that it is not more than half the sum necessary.

The Bishop of Christchurch, Primate of New Zealand, left London for Marseilles on the 10th inst., en route for New Zealand, viâ Suez. He expects to arrive early in December, and will have been absent from his diocese seven months.

A layman in the West of England has offered £3000 to erect a church dedicated to St. Simon, at Shepherd's-bush, as a thank-offering for the preservation of the peace of Europe, provided £2000 more is raised before the end of the year.

A new church, Holy Trinity, was opened at Aldershott on Monday by the Bishop of Winchester, in the presence of a large congregation of various denominations. The church will accommodate 600 persons, and it cost about £6000.

A choral festival at the parish church, Leamington, on Tuesday, attracted a crowded congregation. About twelve choirs were represented, and the festival was entirely successful in a musical point of view.

Mr. C. S. Read, M.P., on Saturday last distributed the prizes won by the children and pupil-teachers of the Church of England schools in the diocese of Norwich, as a result of an independent examination in religious knowledge.

Mr. Cross, the Home Secretary, laid the foundation-stone of the new church of St. Lawrence, Liverpool, on Thursday afternoon. The right hon. gentleman was accompanied by Mr. Torr, M.P., and Colonel Ireland Blackburne, M.P.

The Lord Mayor presided on Tuesday at the first of three mission services in the Guildhall, conducted by the Rev. W. H. M. Aitken, who has been conducting similar services throughout the country. The Lord Mayor wore his robes of office, and was accompanied by the Archdeacon of London.

Henry Stuart Marshall, late assistant clerk to the Curates' Augmentation Fund, was finally examined at the Westminster Police Court, on Tuesday, and committed for trial at the Central Criminal Court, on the charge of embezzling nearly £7000, the property of the trustees of the fund.

The Bishop of Peterborough officiated on the 10th inst. at the consecration of a new church at Northampton, dedicated to St. Lawrence, and the first of a series of churches undertaken by the Northampton Church Extension Society. The building is a substantial structure of brick and stone, capable of seating some 800 people, and was erected at a cost of £7000.

The Archbishop of Canterbury on the 10th inst. inspected the School Board school in the South Lambeth-road, when, in reply to an address presented by the teachers, he drew a comparison between the educational facilities of the present day and those which existed when he was a boy; and, pointing to the fact that the education afforded in school should only be regarded as the foundation for that of after life, urged upon the children the importance of making the best use of their time.

The company appointed for the revision of the Authorised Version of the Old Testament finished their fifty-third session on the 11th inst. at the Jerusalem Chamber, and were engaged upon the second revision of the Psalms, which they carried to the end of Psalm xliv.—The Revisers of the Authorised Version of the New Testament met last Tuesday in the Jerusalem Chamber for their eighty-third session, and sat for seven hours, and carried on their second revision to the close of the second chapter of the Colossians.

The Bishop of Lincoln, presiding on Thursday at the annual Diocesan Conference at Nottingham, in the course of an address said that the acquisition of Cyprus had been censured by some as a profitless venture. He did not desire to deal with it in its political aspect; but, regarding it from a religious point of view, he looked upon it as providential. There was something full of interest in the history of Cyprus, and its annexation to us might afford a happy opening for friendly intercourse between the Church of England and the ancient Church of the East.

The site of Christ Church, in Darley-street, Bradford, being required for street improvements, the site and the church have recently been bought by the Bradford Corporation, at the price of £10,000. The church was built in 1815, and was the second in the town after the ancient parish church, erected probably 700 or 800 years before. Seventeen or eighteen churches have since been added to the number within the borough, most of them during the last twenty years. A new site has been secured for Christ Church, at a distance of a quarter of a mile from the old site, and last Saturday afternoon the foundation-stone of the new church was laid by Mr. F. S. Powell. The estimated cost of the building, including the site, is about £11,000.

Now that, owing to the untiring exertions of the Rev. J. Cumming Macdona, the restoration of the fine old abbey church of Cheadle has been completed, a few remarks on the most important points may be of interest. Thanks to the generosity of Mr. Bamford Hesketh, of Gwrych Castle, the Moseley Chapel has been thoroughly restored and a beautiful Munich stained-glass window has been erected. Mr. Charles Stocks has also put in two handsome windows, while the west window has been presented by Master Egerton Macdona. The Rector has also presented to the choir a handsome window representing the origin of Christian music, in the persons of St. Gregory and St. Cecilia. These windows are all executed by Messrs. Mayer and Co.

By strenuous exertions Milland church, which has been distinguished in ecclesiastical reports as one of the worst and most inefficient in England, is about to be replaced by a handsome Gothic building, the foundation-stone of which was laid on Saturday last, in presence of the Bishop of Chichester and a large body of clergy. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. Durnford, the wife of the vicar, and great interest was evinced in the proceedings, many hundreds being present. The land for the church has been presented by Sir John Hawkshaw; and, although the district is comparatively a poor one, the building fund now amounts to £2600, leaving about £1000 yet to be raised to defray the cost of the intended building, which is to be erected from the designs of Mr. William C. Street, the contractor being Mr. Pink, of Godalming.

DIOCESAN CONFERENCES.

Four Diocesan Conferences were sitting on the 10th inst.

At the Lincoln Conference, which was held at Nottingham, the Bishop, in his address, said that the acquisition of Cyprus had been censured by some as a profitless venture. He did not desire to deal with it in its political aspect; but, regarding it from a religious point of view, he looked upon it as providential. There was something full of interest in the history of Cyprus, and its annexation to us might afford a happy opening for friendly intercourse between the Church of England and the ancient Church of the East.

At the Oxford Conference a long debate took place upon a motion made by the Rev. E. A. Knox declaring that the teaching of Cuddesdon College was not entitled to the confidence of members of the Church of England. Sir Robert Phillimore moved that the subject be not entertained, and this was ultimately carried by a majority of 252 to 75. Another subject discussed was that of Sunday observance, which was introduced by Mr. Walter, M.P., who moved the following resolution:—"This Conference commends to Churchmen throughout the diocese the duty of promoting a better observance of the Lord's Day in their respective parishes." Mr. Walter said that he would rather see Sabbatarianism or over-strictness than the Continental system. Mr. Wallace moved as a rider:—"That the Conference petition Parliament to close the public-houses on Sunday or shorten the hours;" and both the motion and the rider were carried.

At the Winchester Conference the spread of scepticism and the best way of dealing with it was discussed, Lord Carnarvon being among the speakers.

In the course of his charge, delivered at Pulborough, the Bishop of Chichester strongly animadverted on the practice of Ritualism, but remarked that Ritualistic congregations, even in places the most infected, were comparatively few, though, like all minorities, they were zealous, active, and self-sacrificing. He objected strongly to the throwing open the churchyards to Nonconformists, and said that the logical consequence of admitting Nonconformist services in churchyards would be to allow them in the church.

On the same day the Bishop of Norwich distributed the prizes and certificates awarded by the Diocesan Education Board. Lord Hatherley was among the speakers, and dwelt upon the increased activity of the Bishops as causing a larger appreciation of the Apostolic institution of episcopacy, and regarded the multiplication of Bishops as showing real life in the Church at home and stimulating missionary activity.

At the Ripon Diocesan Conference on the 11th inst. the principal subject under discussion was the proposed subdivision of the diocese. The conference formally approved of the subdivision and of the creation of a see of Wakefield. The Bishop of Ripon further expressed his approval of the schemes, and it was stated that some £30,000 out of the £85,000 which was necessary to found the new see had been raised. This is the first year in which a conference has been held at Ripon.

The Bishop of Peterborough began his triennial visitation in Peterborough Cathedral last Tuesday. He strongly advocated the increased utilisation of cathedrals for special services. The Bishop of Carlisle had announced his intention to bring before Parliament next Session a bill to enable cathedral bodies, if they thought proper, to amend, from time to time, their laws and statutes. He thought it desirable that Deans and Chapters should possess the power of making such amendments in their statutes as circumstances might appear to call for.

Conferences have also been held in the dioceses of Carlisle and Bath and Wells.

The examination at Westminster School for the Mure Scholarship has resulted in the election of W. A. Peek, Q.S. The play to be represented at Christmas is "Phormio."

The Cathedral of St. Mary, Tuam, was consecrated last week by the Bishop of the united diocese of Tuam, Killala, and Achonry, the Hon. and Right Rev. Dr. Bernard, second son of the second Earl of Bandon.

The presentation of a testimonial, consisting of a service of plate and of a sum of £2000, for the foundation of Gaskell scholarships at Owens College, Manchester, for students of the Home Missionary Board, was made to the Rev. William Gaskell, M.A., in the Townhall, Manchester, on Tuesday night, in commemoration of his jubilee as minister of the Unitarian Chapel in Cross-street. The Rev. W. Gaskell is the husband of the late Mrs. Gaskell, the novelist.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Union was opened in Liverpool on Monday night with a sermon, at Great George-street Chapel, by the Rev. Dr. Fairbairn, Principal of Airedale College. The Congregational Total Abstinence Society also met, under the presidency of Mr. Edward Baines, of Leeds.—At Tuesday's sitting the Rev. J. Baldwin Brown gave the opening address, remarking that the union should resist attempts to frame new formularies. Their Churches strenuously protested against the bastard imperialism that had substituted force for moral influence, which it had been the privilege of England to express throughout the world. The unjust Afghan war was the outcome of imperialism. It was its latest and not least dangerous development. He spoke of the splendid services Mr. Gladstone had rendered to England, which were even more conspicuous than the clear appreciation he had always manifested of England's dignity and glory. Bloated armaments were steadily crushing the industries, hearts, and hopes of the people. Hierarchy, monarchy, aristocracy, and plutocracy had alike failed to reign over Europe, and democracy would come next, and one shuddered to think what it would cost the world. His hope that in England the struggle will be conducted with moderation, and will issue in progress, lay mainly in the influence which may be established over those wild fierce hearts by the preachers of the gospel. Subsequently resolutions were agreed to touching the importance of the increase of a healthy denominational sentiment in the Congregational body, and recommending a conference of representatives of non-established churches. In the afternoon a large number of the members were, by the invitation of the Mayor (Mr. A. B. Forwood), present at an "at home" at the Townhall; and in the evening a meeting was held in Great George-street Chapel.—At Wednesday's meeting deputations were received from several other religious bodies, who gave a cordial greeting to the union. The chairman, in acknowledging the sentiments thus expressed, commented on the absence of a deputation from the Church of England. A public meeting was held in the evening, Mr. S. Morley, M.P., in the chair.

A resolution was passed at the Baptist Conference, held at Leeds, expressive of the high estimation of the delegates of the eminent services rendered by the late Mr. George Thompson to the cause of freedom to India. Reference was made more especially to the part which he took in bringing about the emancipation of the slave, not only in the colonies of Great Britain, but in the United States of America. It was also resolved that special efforts be made to raise the income of the Home Mission to £10,000 a year.

A new Wesleyan chapel at Oxford, which has been erected, at a cost of nearly £8000, from the plans of Mr. Charles Bell, architect, of London, by Messrs. Symm and Co., of Oxford, was opened yesterday week. The new chapel is situate at the north part of New Inn Hall-street. The architecture is of the decorated Gothic style of the latter part of the fourteenth century. The President of the Wesleyan Conference, the Rev. Dr. Rigg, preached to a crowded congregation, and appealed to them for funds to liquidate the balance of debt, amounting to £3000, on the sanctuary, which had been erected for the worship of their body in the city where Wesley himself was an undergraduate, a graduate, and a fellow. The amount collected at the close of the service was £185. At five o'clock there was a public tea in the City Buildings, and later the Rev. Dr. Pope, the ex-President of the Conference, preached to a very crowded congregation.

THE UNIVERSITIES AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

OXFORD.

At Lincoln, Messrs. Patchell, Hendy, Cripps, and Hodgson have been elected to scholarships of £80 per annum; Messrs. Jenkins and Vincent to scholarships of £60 per annum.

The following elections have taken place at Exeter:—To a Natural Science Scholarship, Mr. Thomas Cunningham Perter, from Bristol Grammar School; to Stapleton Scholarships, Mr. Edward S. Leverton, from Marlborough College, Mr. Isaac Richards, from the Wesleyan College, Taunton; to an Exhibition, Mr. William Dawson.

The following have been elected to scholarships and exhibitions at Jesus:—To Scholarships—J. J. Huckwell, Owen Jones, C. A. W. Gilbert, J. Carrow, S. W. G. G. Johnson, P. E. Howell, E. Roderick, W. O. Nares. To Exhibitions—F. W. Enson, P. Harold Davies, W. Jones, H. J. Bevan, D. Stanley Davies, E. J. Evans, J. E. Evans, and T. Morris.

The Rev. A. J. D. D'Orsey, Lecturer at King's College, London, has agreed to lecture at St. Mary Hall every Saturday during Term on "Public Reading and Speaking," beginning on the 19th inst.

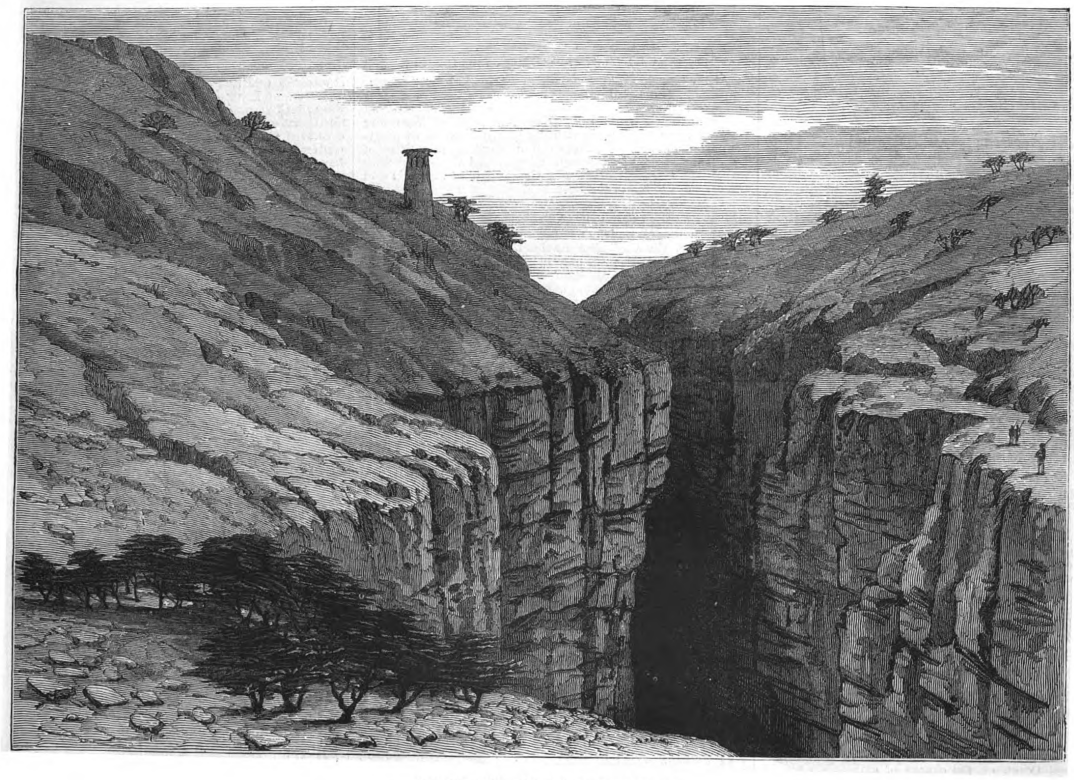
CAMBRIDGE.

The annual election of Fellows at Trinity took place on the 10th inst. W. A. Wright, M.A., secretary of the committee for the revision of the Old Testament, and joint editor of the Cambridge Shakspeare, was elected a Fellow of the college on the ground of literary merit. The undermentioned (all scholars of the college and Bachelors of Arts) were elected to fellowships, after competitive examination:—William Edward Heathcote, bracketed eighteenth wrangler and also bracketed eighteenth classic, 1876; Francis John Henry Jenkinson, sixth classic, 1876; George Campbell Macaulay, bracketed fourth classic, 1876; John Percival Postgate, bracketed eleventh classic, 1876; John Henry Poynting, bracketed third wrangler and bracketed eighth classic, 1876; Richard Charles Rowe, third wrangler, 1877.

At Queen's, the Rev. Arthur Wright, M.A., has been elected a tutor of the college, and Mr. Ernest Temperley, M.A., has been elected a mathematical lecturer. These appointments are vacated by the Rev. G. Pirie, M.A., Fellow of the college, who has been appointed a professor in mathematics at Aberdeen University. A scholarship of £50 per annum, tenable until the holder is a Master of Arts, has been awarded to D. G. Davies, B.A., who was senior in the Semitic Languages Tripos, 1878.

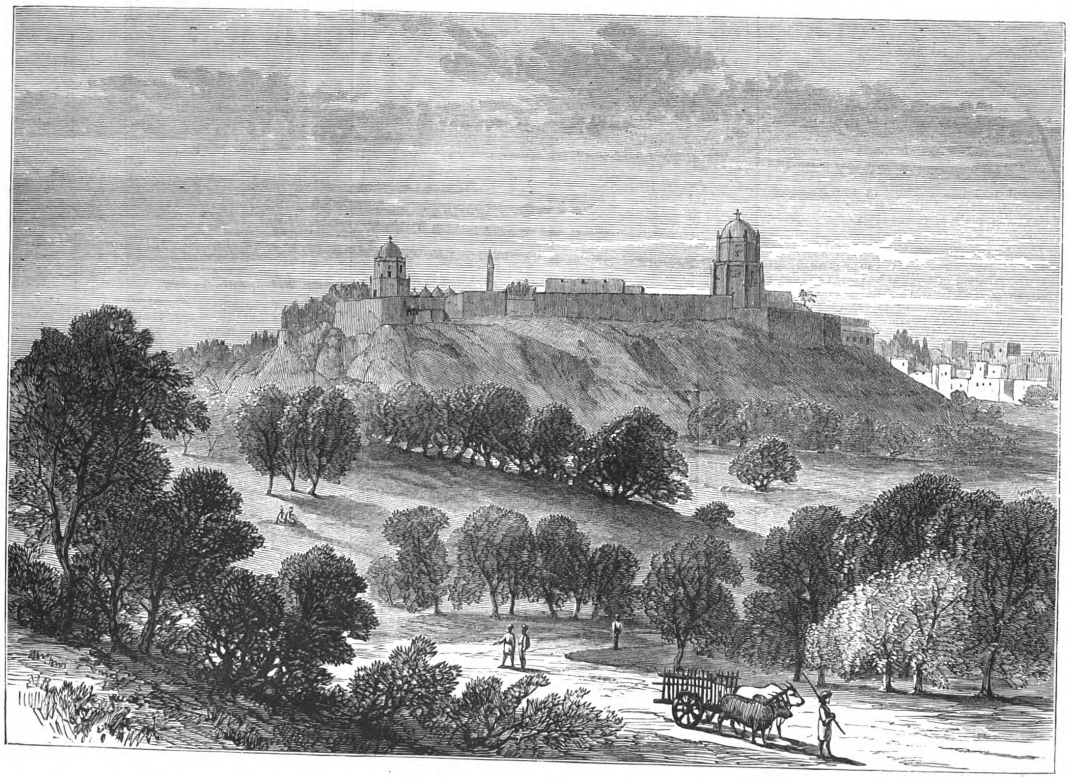
At St. John's the following gentlemen have been elected Sizars:—Atmore, Bennell, Bonnett, Brill, Cory, Gaskin, Hannam, Harker, Horne, Lerigo, Mackie, Parker, Samways, Thomas, Tucker, N. N. Thompson, A. W. Ward, T. Walker, and Winter. Baker Exhibitioners—F. G. Mayor and W. P. Mayor, from Durham School. Dowman Exhibitioner—H. R. Hannan, Pocklington School. Lord Exeter's Exhibitioners—A. Robb, Stamford School. Lupton and Hebblethwaite Exhibitioners—N. N. Thompson, C. P. Cory, Sedbergh School. Munsteven Exhibitioner—G. M. Livett, Peterborough School. Dr. Newcome's Exhibitioner—W. A. Atmore, Grantham School. Duchess of Somerset's Exhibitioners—J. S. Clementson, J. H. Payne, Manchester School; J. A. Owen, Hereford School. Spalding and Symonds Exhibitioner—W. J. Harvey, Bury St. Edmund's School.

At King's J. P. Whitney, R. Staveley, and A. F. J. Ford have been elected to Scholarships; exhibitions for one year being awarded to the following:—J. L. Green, G. H. Powell, N. G. Lawson, R. B. Yardley, R. P. Scott, and A. R. Stokes.



At the annual meeting of the Queen's University in Ireland on the 10th inst., in St. Patrick's Hall, Dublin Castle, the Duke of Leinster, Chancellor, said that, during the past year, the numbers had increased from 844 to 886. Two hundred and twenty-six of them are returned as members of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Ireland, 224 as Roman Catholics, 348 as Presbyterians, and the remaining eighty-eight are of other denominations. It was remarked that by far the largest number of students came from the Queen's College, Belfast.

The Royal Commission of Inquiry into the Endowed Schools of Ireland is now fully constituted. The following are the Commissioners:—The Earl of Rosse, Lord Randolph Churchill, M.P., the Solicitor-General, Mr. Andrew Searle Hart, Vice-Provost, T.C.D., Mr. Richard O'Shaughnessy, M.P., Mr. Wilson, M.P., and Mr. Arthur Hill Curtis, LL.D., Professor of Natural Philosophy, Queen's College, Galway.



The Rev. Dr. Porter, Professor of the Queen's College, Belfast, and the Rev. Dr. Molloy, Vice-Rector of the Roman Catholic University, have been appointed Assistant-Commissioners under the Intermediate Education Act for Ireland.

The Bishop of St. David's and an influential committee have issued an appeal for a Jubilee Memorial Fund for St. David's College, Lampeter, which was founded in 1822 by Bishop Burgess for the education of candidates for holy orders. It is proposed to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the college by erecting a new chapel in place of the present incommodious structure and by raising a fund for the assistance of poor students. The Bishop of Winchester, all the Welsh Bishops, the Earl of Powis, the Earl of Cawdon, the Hon. Mrs. Cotton, Mr. Howell Gwynn, and many others have subscribed, £1400 having been raised for the chapel and £500 towards exhibitions. A considerably larger sum is needed.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

WATCH-TOWER IN THE KHYBER PASS.

FORT OF MOOLTAN IN THE PUNJAUB.

"LES CHÂTELAINS." BY HUGUES MERLE.

FROM THE PHOTOGRAPH PUBLISHED BY GOUPIL AND CO.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

Sorrow as wide-spread as that felt in England for the death of the admirable Bishop Wilberforce has been expressed in France on the decease of the venerable Monseigneur Dupanloup. In the blamelessness of their lives, the amiability of their characters, and their courage and activity as members of the Church Militant there were many points in common between the French and the English prelate; but in the fiercer polemics of theological pamphleteering the late Bishop of Orleans more closely resembled "Harry of Exeter" than "Sam Oxon." There was a sonorous ring of the true Philpotts timbre about some of Monseigneur Dupanloup's deliverances. He was as vigorous in his dislikes as in his likings. As a Professor at the Sorbonne thirty years ago he all but raised a riot among the students of his class by an attack on the memory of Voltaire; and nearly the last of his published writings was a furious diatribe against the Voltaire centenary.

Mem.: It was Monsigneur, then the Abbé Dupanloup, curé of St. Roch, who was called in to administer the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church to Charles Maurice de Talleyrand Perigord, Prince of Beneventum. That wicked old gentleman made, as is well known, a very edifying end of it. There was no time for the aged statesman to make anything more than a general confession to his ghostly counsellor; but, had he confessed details, the breast of the late Bishop of Orleans would have been the sole depository of the secret of who was really responsible for the murder of the Duc d'Enghien. Honoré de Balzac used to tell a terribly terse story about that tragedy. Talleyrand, then Minister of Foreign Affairs under the Consulate, was playing cards very late one night at the hotel of the Duchesse de Luynes. Suddenly he laid down his cards and asked, "How many children has the Duc de Bourbon?" "What an idle question," exclaimed the Duchess. "No one than yourself knows better that the Duc d'Enghien is the Duc de Bourbon's only child." "Then," replied Talleyrand, taking up his hand again, "La maison de Condé est faite." At that self-same time, nearly daybreak, the Duc d'Enghien was being shot to death in the ditch of the citadel of Vincennes.

I see by the Russian papers that "M. de Greigh," the Russian Minister of Finance, has arrived in Paris; which fact recalls to my mind a curious example of the hereditary tenacity of "the Scot" abroad. When I was at St. Petersburg two years ago, I made a collection (breathe it not in Jingoland!) of the cartes de visite of the most conspicuous Russian statesmen of the day; and among them was a portrait of "M.de Greigh," then Comptroller of the Imperial Finances. Travelling subsequently down to Moscow, I made the acquaintance, in the railway-carriage, of a most agreeable Russian gentleman of middle age, who, notwithstanding his General's uniform, had about him an unmistakably British look. I was struck, moreover, by his remarkable facial resemblance to the Imperial Comptroller, and took the liberty of showing him the carte de visite. "That is the portrait of my brother," the General replied in fluent English—we had been talking French for the last fifty miles—but with just the soupçon of Scottish intonation. "We were brought up at the High School of Edinburgh, and we are the grandsons of Admiral Greig, of whom, perhaps, you have heard." Who has not heard of Catherine the Second's famous Scotch Admiral? I subsequently met the Comptroller of Finances himself at dinner at St. Petersburg, and I found him attired in full naval officer's uniform; for M. de Greigh, it would seem, is an Admiral in the Russian service, as well as the Czar's Chancellor of the Exchequer. And he was even more Scottish in mien than his brother the General.

Mem.: The Irishman, I fancy, is apt to efface him nationally in the second generation, away from his own country. Marshal MacMahon is a thorough Frenchman. So was, according to history, Lally Tollendal. Marshal O'Donnell, Duke of Tetuan, was a thorough Spaniard; so was Count O'Reilly. But the Scot, I take it, remains a "Scot abroad" even to the third and fourth generation.

Prince Bismarck, to judge from a passage in his great speech against the Democratic Socialists, has been reading "Lalla Rookh," that delicious poetic romance which, I am afraid, is not sufficiently studied by the existing Tennyson-Browning-Swinburne-Morris-loving generation. The German Chancellor likens Socialism to Mokanna, the Veiled Prophet of Khorassan. In our youth, how we used to shudder at the fearsome couplet:—I quote from memory, and possibly am quoting it incorrectly—

> He raised his veil. The maid turned slowly round,
> Looked at him; shrieked; and sank upon the ground.

Mokanna, you will remember, had a Death's Head, which he was foolish enough to conceal under a veil. Well; Samuel Rogers, the poet and banker, had a death's head; at least, when he and Thomas Moore were ushered into a Parisian salon together, the valet de chambre, confusing the two names, whispered to him, and struck by the cadaverous physiognomy of Rogers, announced him as "Monsieur le Mort." But the banker-poet was wise enough not to put his head in a bag; and so the maidens never shrieked nor sank to the ground when they saw him. On the contrary, they admired his wit and his pleasantry, and thought him a very nice old gentleman.

Mem: If you are modest and timid never give precisely your own name to the servant at the door when you go into society. I generally announce myself to the groom of the chambers as "Mr. Solomons." Nobody takes any notice of Mr. Solomons; so you slip unobserved through the brilliant throng; and when you pay your respects to the hostess she either smiles and observes that the servant has blundered in pronouncing your name; or she hasn't heard it at all; but she smiles all the same (and very sweetly), and there is an end of it. Bashful people might save themselves from very nearly all the agonies which they suffer when they fancy that "all eyes" are upon them, if they would only bear this cardinal verity in mind, that in nine hundred and nine cases out of a thousand nobody cares twopence-halfpenny about who or what they are, and are totally indifferent to their presence.

But, returning to Prince Bismark's ad captandum reference to the Veiled Prophet of Khorassan, I think that the tables might have been signally turned on him had some member of the opposition drawn attention to an appalling apparition occasionally witnessed in lonesome churchyards on moonlight nights. The Apparition is thought to be a Ghost; but, on close examination—after knocking the Ghost down—it will be found to consist of a white sheet stuck on a pitchfork, and surmounted by a large turnip scooped out so that the light of a farthing rushlight within may give dreadful radiance to two goggle-eyes. The whole is a contrivance of some mischievous rustic; but it may bear a very close resemblance to Prince Bismarck's "Veiled Prophet," nevertheless. In brief, it is "Bogey:"—"Bogey" that used to frighten us so terribly when we were children, and that sometimes frightens us quite as much when we are grown men. There is a "Bogey," just now, whose weird, wicked shadow is apparent to I know not how many thousand wiseacres—now looming over the blue mountains of the Bosphorus, now flickering on the craggy passes of Afghanistan. Of course, there can be no doubt about the genuineness of this particular "Bogey" (which is made in the likeness of a Bear). It would be "un-patriotic," "un-English," and all the rest of it, not to hate Bogey, not to hold him as a savage monster, not to thirst for his blood; but how is it that there was no "Bogey" on the English brain a few—a very few—years ago, when I had the privilege of sitting in the gallery of St. George's Hall, Windsor, to watch her Majesty the Queen sitting at a grand banquet with the Czar Alexander, the Grand Duchess his daughter, and the Duke of Edinburgh? How was it that nobody talked about "Bogey" when I went to the Guildhall to see the Czar welcomed in right Royal style by the Lord Mayor and Corporation? Mr. Monckton, the Town Clerk, ought to be a philosopher by this time. How many addresses of welcome and felicitation has he read, in that sonorous voice of his, to Imperial and Royal Personages who only to-morrow may become "Bogies"?

That horrible accident at the Colosseum Music-Hall, Paradise-street, reminds me that I wrote an article about the place in "Household Words" some six-and-twenty years ago. Whether it had been rebuilt since 1852 I do not know; but in my time it was one of the lowest of conceivable music-halls. There was a legend that it had once been a church or chapel; and the compartments in which the seats were placed certainly bore an uncomfortable resemblance to pews. If I am not mistaken, the Pantheon in Oxford-street, an edifice which had been twice a theatre, once a bazaar, and is now the store of a well-known firm of wine merchants, was at one time a church.

They tell me that, owing to the telegraphic announcement of the discovery by Mr. Edison, of New York, of the divisibility of the electric current and the feasibility of establishing innumerable luminous points more or less distant from the source of light, gas shares are rapidly going down in the London market. Similar financial consternation has arisen in Paris, whose quick and ingenious inhabitants are fast utilising the electric light (let me see, was it in 1841 or 1842 that I saw Trafalgar-square illuminated by the "Bude Light," a title immediately adopted by a short-lived comic periodical?) to a thoroughly practical use. M. Jablochkoff, who claims priority of invention over Mr. Edison (it is well known that nobody ever invented anything: people only find that which somebody else dropped ages ago), points out in the Paris papers that his light has been for a whole year in full and habitual use at the Grands Magasins du Louvre, the largest dry-goods store in the world; and that a saving of thirty per cent, as against the expenditure of gas, has been effected. The manager of the Châtelet theatre saves thirty-five francs a night by using the Jablochkoff light. Gas used to cost him forty-nine francs a night. Jablochkoff can be had for fourteen.

Mem: I suppose that, when the names of the great gas companies have passed into the legendary stage, and your burners are fed by an "electric crayon," that electro-horology, on which I heard a lecture at the Polytechnic ever so many years ago, will assert itself; and that the "time of day" will be laid on by wire to all our clocks. The electric clock company ought at once to be a commercial success. Most housekeepers are generally in arrear with the gas company's collector: but you would be obliged to pay your electric-clock rate to the minute—else, "connections" being severed, you would be in the dreadful condition of possessing so many dials in your house and not knowing what o'clock it was. G. A. S.

"LES CHATELAINS."

This picture by a French artist, Hugues Merle, which is copied for our Engraving from the photograph published by Messrs. Goupil and Co., represents such an ordinary incident of the manners of the feudal age, in Germany, France, Flanders, or Italy, as must be familiar to the imagination of all readers of historical romance. It makes us think, at once, of the kind of persons we meet with in "Anne of Geierstein," and in many another tale of fiction abounding with stately and gentle figures of highborn chivalry and its companionable ladyhood. How they used to walk, in times of peace, upon the terraces of their grand and stern old castles, and would there graciously bestow a dole of Christian charity, with a serene benediction, on the grateful peasantry waiting beside their path, like that poor widow in the picture with her baby on her lap! Nous avons changé tout cela, in these days of Poor Law guardians and overseers, and of a Charity Organisation Society; and Charles Lamb's "Complaint of the Decay of Beggars" is already quite out of date. But we cannot doubt that my Lord and my Lady, and every other couple in the aristocratic or wealthy classes of modern society, continue to exercise the virtue of liberal pecuniary benevolence, not in careless almsgiving to chance-comers by the roadside, but with strict examination and inquiry, and with earnest consideration of the probable effects of their bounty. "The poor will never cease out of the land:" and it will ever be the duty of the rich, and indeed of all who have wherewith, be it only a little to spare, to contribute, in some way or other, to the relief of distress.

A fête was given on Wednesday by Mr. Edmund F. Davis in his private grounds at St. Peter's, near Broadstairs, to the members of the sixteen fire brigades of East Kent, amongst whom a series of contests took place, witnessed by several thousand spectators.

At the agricultural show held on the 10th inst. in Tralee for the county of Kerry the show of horses and cattle was good, and several valuable prizes were awarded. A banquet was served in the evening in the Corn Exchange—Mr. Herbert, M.P., occupying the chair, and Sir J. Godfrey the vice-chair.

The October Quarterly Review has an historical essay of substantial quality on the "Rise of the Modern British Empire;" a good piece of literary and biographical criticism upon "Dryden," like those which the late John Forster used to write; a monograph on Petrarch, interesting to Italian scholars; a chapter of entertaining anecdotes on the catching of wild elephants in India; and a dissertation upon the antiquities of Cyprus. The articles of more urgent practical discussion relate to the political career of the late M. Thiers, the recent strike in the Lancashire cotton-manufacture, the "Revival of Turkey," and that important religious question of the day, "Is the Church of England Protestant?" The answer given to that question is what might be expected from an honest and faithful organ of Conservative English nationality; and it is to be hoped that the Ritualist clergy, and those who coquet with their ecclesiastical school, will be attentive to the serious warning here administered. The concluding article, devoted to an examination of the actual defects and abuses in the administration of Asiatic Turkey, and its capabilities of amendment, is well worthy of perusal at the present crisis.

MUSIC.

DRURY LANE THEATRE.

The experiment of a weekly performance of operas in English was inaugurated on Saturday afternoon last, under the direction of Herr Karl Meyder.

The occasion brought forward, for the first time in this country, a version of Hermann Goetz's comic opera, "Der Widerspanstigen Zahmung," the original text being a free adaptation, by Herr Widman, of Shakspeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," under which latter title the opera was given last week, the English version being by the Rev. J. Troutbeck. The composer was born at Königsberg in 1840, and died in 1876, just as he was entering on a career of success which would probably have led to the production of more important works than that now referred to.

The pervading tone of the music of "The Taming of the Shrew" is far too serious to be in keeping with the comic humour of the subject, which sometimes becomes even farcical. In many cases Herr Goetz's style is sombre to the point of gloom; and the general impression left on hearing the entire work is that he would have succeeded far better in tragic opera. Several traces of the influences of Gounod's music on the composer are observable, and still more of his admiration of Wagner. The frequency of prolonged heavy declamation is felt as peculiarly wearisome in an opera that ought to be bright and sparkling throughout—the fierceness of Petruchio being assumed, and the contumacy of Katherine comic rather than affecting. That the music is ingeniously written, and includes much elaborate and skilful instrumentation, must be admitted by all; but it cannot be denied that its general heaviness suggests a larger amount of retrenchment than was exercised on Saturday, when the four acts of the opera occupied nearly as many hours in performance.

The characters retained from the comedy are Katherine, Bianca, Baptista, Petruchio, Lucentio, Hortensio, Grumio, a Tailor, and one or two other subordinate personages. The overture is spirited in style, but somewhat fragmentary in construction. The first act contains a pleasing although simple serenade, "Haste, ye tones," for Lucentio, followed by some clever concerted music, including some good choral climaxes, an effective love duet, "Fair Bianca," for this character and Lucentio, and a well-written duet, "Truly, great congratulations," for Hortensio and Lucentio. The second opens with a song for Katherine, "I'll give myself to no one," in which a good opportunity is made but little of by the composer. It was very well sung by Mdlle. A. Zuliani. The following concerted music has little interest or merit, except in the clever details of the orchestral accompaniments; the subsequent scene of the interview of Petruchio and Katherine, however, being one of the best portions of the opera. It contains several effective passages, especially that for Katherine, "He makes me fear." Even in this movement, however, the composer's serious tendency is occasionally disadvantageously apparent. The quintet "All is well," which ends the second act, is much brighter in style, and forms an agreeable close. The third act is, perhaps, the best in its general treatment. The opening quartet, "As it seems, all vainly are we waiting," includes a melodious solo for Baptista, "You are welcome," which, like the other music of the part, was very effectively rendered by Mr. G. Roland. The lesson-scene for Bianca, Lucentio, and Hortensio contains some ingenious treatment. The passage at the Latin quotation "Arma virumque cano," which Lucentio translates into an avowal of his love for Bianca, and its repetition by the latter, is characteristic, and produced much effect, well delivered as it was by Mr. F. Gaynar and Madame Rolt; and Hortensio's explanation of the gamut, each musical phrase commencing with the note indicated, and the first word of each sentence beginning with the corresponding letter, is cleverly contrived. A trio for the characters last named—melodious but rather trite—is followed by a spirited quartet, announcing the arrival of Petruchio—perhaps the most cheerful piece in the opera. Petruchio's entry gives occasion for some music in which he repeats characteristic phrases that have before been used to mark his individuality, and some concerted writing, including some good choral effects, bring the act to a close, and leave the best impression yet obtained. The fourth act is short, and forms a musical anti-climax, being forced and strained, and offering a special instance of the composer's non-appreciation of the comic humour of the subject. The scene between Katherine and Petruchio, at table, is treated very heavily, the only effective point being an expressive adagio, "My strength is spent," for Katherine. The quartet, "Still, I say the cap is charming"—in which the interview with the tailor occurs—is utterly wanting in the "vis comica." Far better is the following duet, "Come, Kate, my dearest," in which the husband confesses that his bearing has been assumed, and the wife reciprocates his love. The closing septet and chorus have little of the character of a finale to a comic opera.

We have only incidentally referred to the representatives of the principal characters, and fresh recognition of their merits is due. All exerted themselves to the utmost, and gave evidence of careful preparation. Mdlle. Zuliani as Katherine, Madame Rolt as Bianca, Mr. Walter Bolton as Petruchio, Mr. G. Roland as Baptista, Mr. F. Gaynar as Lucentio, and Mr. C. Howard as Grumio, sang and acted with effect; and the subordinate parts were adequately filled. The Drury Lane orchestra had been greatly increased for the occasion, and was highly efficient; an excellent chorus (of about seventy voices) having been an important auxiliary. The performance was ably conducted by Herr Karl Meyder.

The Covent-Garden Promenade Concerts, under M. Rivière's direction, are pursuing a successful career. The celebrated Hungarian violinist, M. Remenyi, who was prevented by illness from playing on the opening night, has since appeared, and contributed some brilliant solos. This week he was succeeded by M. Vivien, an eminent Belgian violinist, whose performances have proved highly successful.

Dr. Stainer, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, presided last Saturday at the opening soirée of a series of music classes to be held during the winter by the Tonic Sol-Fa College.

A morning concert was given on Wednesday evening in the Egyptian Hall of the Mansion-house by the pupils of the National Training School for Music, under the auspices of the Court of Common Council.

We gave last week full details of the arrangements for the Norwich Triennial Festival, which took place, for the nineteenth occasion, this week. As already said, the programmes were almost entirely devoid of novelty, and slight comment is therefore required. The opening performance on Tuesday evening consisted of Handel's "Acis and Galatea," and the first part ("Spring") of Haydn's "Seasons." The solos in the first-named work were sung by Misses Anna Williams and Catherine Penna, Mr. W. Shakspeare, Mr. H. J. Minns, and Mr. Santley; the solo vocalists in the selection from "The Seasons" having been Miss Williams, Mr. Shakspeare, and Mr. Hilton. On Wednesday morning Professor G. A. Macfarren's oratorio, "Joseph," was given, the principal soloists having been Mesdames Alb'ani, Trebelli, Antoinette Sterling, Miss A. Williams, Mr. E. Lloyd, Mr. Hilton, and Mr. Santley. The oratorio was followed by Mozart's First Mass (in C), the solos by Miss A. Williams, Madame Trebelli, Mr. Shakspeare, and Mr. Hilton. On Wednesday evening a miscellaneous vocal and instrumental concert was given. For Thursday morning "Elijah" was announced, the evening being appropriated to another miscellaneous concert; and the festival was to close yesterday (Friday) morning with "The Messiah."

As we have already announced, Mr. Mapleson will reopen Her Majesty's Theatre this (Saturday) evening for a series of Italian opera performances, beginning with Beethoven's "Fidelio," in which Madame Pappenheim will reappear as Leonora, M. Candidus making his first appearance here as Florestano. The cast in other respects is as often before.

On Thursday next Mr. W. Carter begins his new season of oratorio performances at the Royal Albert Hotel with Haydn's "Creation."

The twenty-first season of the Monday Popular Concerts will begin on Nov. 4, and the first of the afternoon performances associated therewith is announced for the following Saturday.

The fifth series of concerts given by the Edinburgh Choral Union will begin on Nov. 18 with a performance of "Elijah," which is to be followed by "Israel in Egypt" on Dec. 18, and "The Messiah" on Jan. 4, all conducted by Mr. Adam Hamilton. The orchestral concerts, directed by Herr Tausch, will take place on Nov. 18 and 25, and Dec. 2, 9, 16, and 23. The programmes of these will include many classical symphonies, overtures, and other instrumental pieces, in addition to which Brahms's new symphony, in D major, and a new overture, composed for the occasion by Herr Tausch, will be given. Among the solo vocalists will be Madame Nouver, Misses Robertson, F. Robertson, E. De Fonblanque, and Mr. Harries, Mrs. Davison, Mr. B. M'Guckin, Mr. H. Guy, Mr. J. H. Pearson, Mr. Wadmore, and Herr Behrens. The orchestra will be on an extensive scale, and will include many members of our opera and Philharmonic bands. Mrs. Beesley and Herr Tausch will be the solo pianists, and Mr. H. Hartley will officiate as organist and accompanist. The scheme promises to maintain the high reputation which Edinburgh has for some years maintained as a centre of sound musical taste.

The sixth annual festival of the London Church Choir Association will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral next Thursday.

The forty-seventh season of the Sacred Harmonic Society will begin at Exeter Hall on Friday, Nov. 22, when Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and Rossini's "Stabat Mater" will be performed. Among the other works to be given during the season are Rossini's "Moses in Egypt," Handel's "Samson," Mozart's "Requiem" and "Twelfth Mass," Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," Spohr's "Last Judgment," Costa's "Eli," Mendelssohn's "Elijah," and Handel's "Israel in Egypt." Sir Michael Costa will be the conductor.

MASKELYNE AND COOKE'S AUTOMATA.

The wonderful exhibition at the "Home of Mystery" in the Egyptian Hall, Piccadilly, where Mr. John Nevil Maskelyne and Mr. John Algernon Cooke present their series of contrived illusions to nightly crowds of interested spectators, has been a popular London entertainment these five or six years past. It will not soon be forgotten that Mr. Maskelyne, who is a zealous opponent, on moral and social grounds, of the hypocritical professors to morbid supernatural agency, the "mediums," "clairvoyants," and necromancers of different pretensions, contributed to their practical defeat, in several instances, by proving that he knew how to produce the same appearances without the aid of "the Spirits." This was a public benefit, added to the continual supply of harmless amusement, not without stimulating a desire for scientific knowledge, through the honest performance of what are ironically styled "Modern Miracles" at the Egyptian Hall. We give an Illustration of four ingenious mechanical figures, apparently self-acting or automatic, which have been admired by thousands of curious and wondering visitors, and the secret of whose motions, evidently guided by intelligence and consistent purpose, no one has been able to guess. These are Psycho, the Hindoo whist-player, card-player in general, and arithmetician: Zoe, a pretty little lady in Greek costume, who writes and draws portraits; Fanfare, the cornet-player, and another musician, named Labial, who performs on the euphonium, these sometimes playing in company with their human masters, executing duets or trios. The figures are too small for even a little boy or girl to be concealed inside them, and they are placed on glass pedestals, which might be supposed to preclude any communication with them by wires, cords, or tubes. That there is some kind of hidden clockwork, we can hardly doubt; but the marvellous control of the various movements by an intelligent mind, somehow or other directing the machinery, is really worth consideration. All we can say about it is that Messrs. Maskelyne and Cooke are very clever men, and fully deserve the patronage they have so fairly won.

Baron Abraham Oppenheim, the chief of the great banking firm of that name, died at Cologne last Saturday night, at the age of seventy-four. Together with his brother, he has conducted the affairs of the house for the last fifty years. It was owing to his urgent intervention that the Prussian Government decreed in 1847 the emancipation of the Jews.

A beginning has been made in the erection of the new Glasgow University Hall, the gift of the Marquis of Bute. The want of a common hall has been much felt by the University authorities, and when finished the hall will be a splendid addition to the college buildings, of which it formed a part in the original design.

More injurious dyes are complained of. Mr. Charles Ekin, of Bath, writes that this year a special green and bronze are fashionable, the former chiefly for gloves and the latter for artificial flowers; and that he has had several cases brought under his notice where the patient had suffered for weeks from a troublesome eruption. In one case the gloves were suspected and tested for arsenic, with, of course, negative results, and the eruption, which necessitated several weeks of medical attendance, continued until the gloves were worn out.

The system of lectures recently established under the auspices of King's College, London, for the higher education of women has assumed a permanent character. The classes are to be conducted in the same neighbourhood where they were commenced—at 5, Observatory-avenue, Kensington. During the first two terms, when the system was regarded as tentative, the entries ranged from 500 to 600. A regular examination was held at Midsummer, with very satisfactory results; a class-list was issued and certificates granted. The committee have now ventured on a larger scheme, in which all the chief elements of a liberal education are represented. Canon Barry, Principal of King's College, gave the opening address on Monday.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

Thanks to the Champion Stakes, which was established last year, and the Grand Challenge Stakes, an entirely new race, the interest in the Newmarket Second October Meeting was fully maintained to the end of the week. On Thursday a Maiden Plate for two-year-olds fell to the Duke of Beaufort, by the aid of an unnamed colt by Knight of Kars from Crytheia, who completely overpowered Archer, and won, running away. Indeed, he made such a frightful exhibition of his eight opponents, that, from £500, at which price he was entered to be sold, he was run up to 1150 gs. before Mr. Peck could obtain possession of him. Though there was no Springfield among the seven competitors for the Champion Stakes this year, we must not expect to see such a horse as Mr. Houldsworth's wonder twice in a decade, and quality could scarcely have been better represented. There were the St. Leger winners of 1876-7-8 — Petrarch, Silvio, and Jannette — the winners of the Prince of Wales's Stakes in the same years—Petrarch, Glen Arthur, and Glengarry—Verneuil, the hero of the unprecedented triple event at Ascot, and and Kaleidoscope, one of the best handicap horses in training. In fact, for a field of similarly high class we must go back to the Ascot Cup of 1867, in which three Oaks winners—Regalia, Tormentor, and Hippia—took part, to say nothing of such celebrities as Lecturer and Rama. Lord Falmouth made no declaration with respect to his pair; and Archer wore the first colours on Jannette, and as soon as the flag fell Osborne took Silvio to the front and made the running at a rattling pace. Jannette lay off with Petrarch, and only began to close on the leaders at the T.Y.C. post, soon after passing which Verneuil was done with, and Jannette, very tenderly ridden, defeated her stable companion cleverly, though only by a neck. Within a couple of hours the mare appeared again and galloped the T.M.M. against Clémentine, to whom she gave 7 lb. and such an easy beating that the French filly's chance for the Cambridgeshire appears hopeless.

Lord Falmouth began with another of his favourite first and second on the Friday, as Leap Year and Charibert occupied those positions in the Prendergast Stakes, and once more "the mare was the better horse." Leap Year is evidently an improving filly, and ought to prove a rare second string to Wheel of Fortune next season. The third meeting of Hampton and Verneuil created the greatest interest, as each had defeated the other once this season; and they could not have played out the rubber better than over the last two miles of the Cesarewitch course. Winchilsea took care that there was a strong pace for fully a mile and a half, when he was passed by the cracks; and, though Verneuil led until close home, it was evidently only on sufferance, as Hampton then came away, and won in a canter by a couple of lengths. Trappist, Lollypop, Placida, and Peace were capital representatives of speed in the First Great Challenge Stakes, and, naturally enough, odds were laid upon the first named, who has been reserved for this event. He was rather fractious as he went down to the post, and, not getting away so well as Lollypop, he never seemed to care to really do his best. Peace swerved about a good deal at the finish, and seriously interfered with Placida, who pulled up so full of running that, but for this misfortune, she might have defeated the Duke of Hamilton's horse; and, as she was conceding him a year and 4 lb., exclusive of sex allowance, it should not be forgotten that she is engaged in the first race of next Tuesday, with 8 st. 9 lb. to carry. The Newmarket Derby was virtually a match between Thurio and Inval, and, though the Grand Prix winner had a 7 lb. penalty, he just managed to beat the Frenchman by a head.

The present week is an "off" one in every sense of the word. The meetings at Croydon and Newcastle need no comment, while, at the time of writing, that held at Sandown Park is not ripe for discussion.

On Tuesday last Messrs. Tattersall disposed of the Glasgow stud, which was left by the nobleman of that name to the late Mr. George Payne and General Peel. Within the last three or four years such animals as Sefton and Peter have been bred at these paddocks, and hence, in spite of the present great depression in the value of blood stock, the twenty-eight brood mares realised the sum of 12,330 gs. Lady Masham, the dam of Peter, headed the list, Mr. Crawfurd giving 1700 gs. for her: and the same gentleman obtained the dam of Sefton for 1550 gs., and Flurry at the same price. Mr. Chaplin was also an extensive purchaser. Thirteen foals made 2380 gs.; but the sires did not sell at all well, and 520 gs. was all that could be obtained for that sterling good horse Musket.

The American billiard tournament at the Westminster Aquarium resulted in the victory of G. Hunt (60 points start), who won all his seven games. He played a steady and careful, but by no means brilliant, game throughout. Naturally enough, the best form was shown by Joseph Bennett (scratch), and his break of 96 was about as great a performance as has ever been accomplished upon a billiard-table; he also made breaks of 78 and 64. D. Richards (35) played very well during the latter half of the tournament, and made the third-best break, one of 65; and R. Wilson (80), who won six games out of seven, played a thoroughly sound game. G. Collins (25) succeeded in making ten consecutive spot-strokes, a number that has never been exceeded in public on a champion table; but the very small pockets seemed to put him all abroad at times, and he not unfrequently played the wrong game. The attendances during the seven days was very fair, and often included a few ladies.

There were four competitors for the Long-Distance Challenge Cup of the Thames Hare and Hounds Club on Saturday last. The course is the well-known eight-mile one at Roehampton, and the holder, C. H. Mason, resigned. Benson was favourite; but was well beaten nearly two miles from the finish, and, eventually, Stevenson defeated Fuller by forty seconds, his time being 48 min. 20 sec.

Mr. John Brinton has presented the Mayor and Corporation of Kidderminster with a cabmen's shelter.

An Illustration of H.M.S. Hecla, the fine ship recently purchased by the Admiralty and fitted up as a torpedo and general transport ship, was given in our last week's paper. It was stated by us that this vessel had originally been built for the merchant service, in which she was known under the name of the British Empire. No reader could suppose that the credit of constructing this vessel was claimed for a Government dockyard. We much regret that, by a defect in the information then supplied to us, the name of the builders, Messrs. Harland and Wolff, of Belfast, was omitted in our description of the Hecla. The performances of that eminent ship-building firm have repeatedly been noticed in this Journal with the applause they fully deserve. We are heartily glad that Irish shipbuilders, as well as those of the Tyne and the Clyde, should get their due share of whatever Admiralty patronage is bestowed on private firms; and we are now reminded of the fact that Messrs. Harland and Wolff were the builders of a gun-boat for her Majesty's Government some years ago, which gave entire satisfaction to the official authorities.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The tenth national exhibition of cats has been held at the Crystal Palace this week.

A cabmen's shelter, being the twentieth erected in the metropolis by the Cabmen's Shelter Fund, has been opened at Paddington Station.

Messrs. Burt and Bevan, the Sheriffs of London, intend to give their inaugural banquet on Friday, Nov. 1. The entertainment will, by permission, be given at the Grocers' Hall.

A bicycle-rider who had knocked down and seriously injured a lady was on Tuesday fined forty shillings by the Wandsworth police magistrate, and ordered to pay £10 compensation, with an alternative of a month's imprisonment

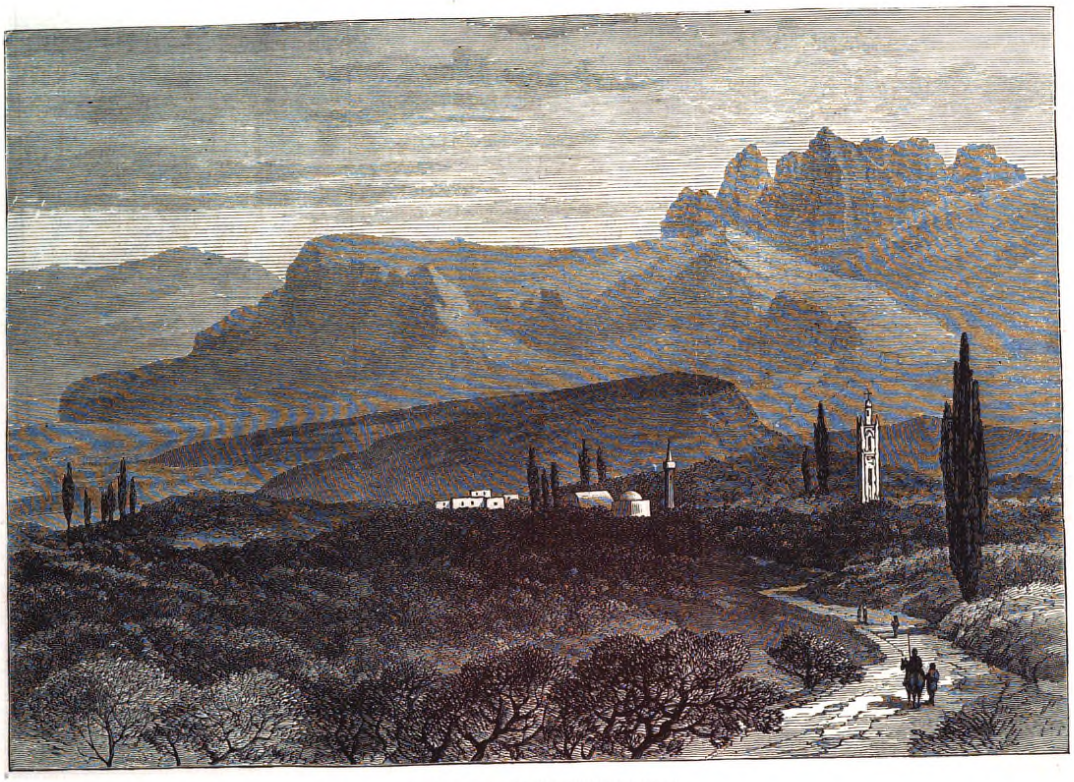
Mr. Arthur Sketchley has consented to give his entertainment, "Mrs. Brown at the Play," at Mr. and Mrs. German Reed's entertainment during the enforced temporary absence of Mr. Corney Grain, who has been ordered complete rest.

The show of fruit and flowers held on Tuesday at South Kensington, in connection with the meetings of the fruit and floral committees of the Royal Horticultural Society, produced a small but fine display of those riches of the botanical world which come to perfection late in the year. There were hardy ornamental shrubs, orchids, apples, pears, and potatoes, and a remarkable collection of grapes.

Some friends of the Rev. B. Waugh, formerly a member of the London School Board for the Greenwich division, have presented him with a cheque for 500 guineas, "as a mark of their appreciation of his work for neglected children, especially as a member of the first and second School Boards for London, and as an expression of their sympathy with him in his present enforced retirement from public life."

The weekly return of metropolitan pauperism shows that the total number of paupers at the end of the second week in October was 76,893, of whom 39,641 were in workhouses and 37,252 received outdoor relief. Compared with the corresponding weeks in 1877, 1876, and 1875, these figures show a decrease of 184, 866, and 3818 respectively. The number of vagrants relieved on the last day of the week was 976, of whom 603 were men, 277 women, and 96 children under sixteen.

Three persons were summoned at Brentford last Saturday for taking roach under the proper size. It was stated that the Thames Conservancy has issued an order that no roach measuring less than 8 in. from eye to tail should be allowed to be taken by anglers, and handbills had been circulated to that effect; but the defendants were found to have taken six or seven dozen about half that size. The defendants, who said they were ignorant of the rules, and stated that they intended to use the roach for jack-fishing, were fined—the punt-owner, £1, and the other two 5s. each, the magistrate remarking that the public ought to support the Conservancy in their action.

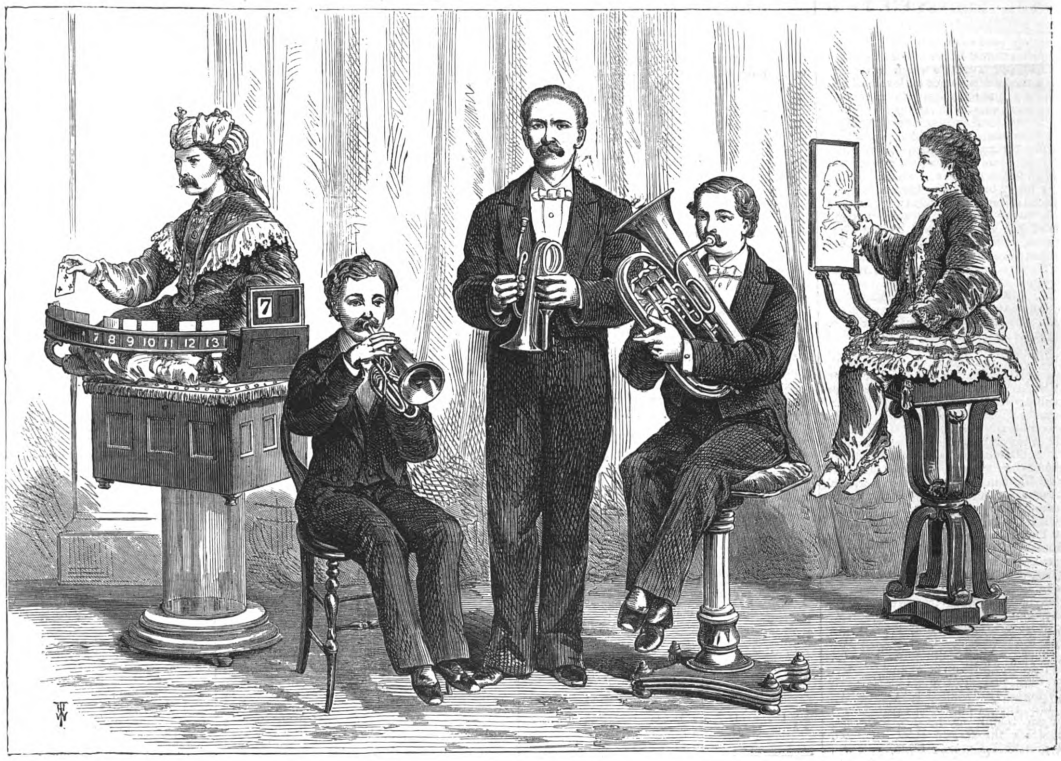


There were 2358 births and 1418 deaths registered in London last week. The deaths included 5 from smallpox, 13 from measles, 33 from scarlet fever, 17 from diphtheria, 52 from whooping-cough, 34 from different forms of fever, and 37 from diarrhœa. The deaths referred to diseases of the respiratory organs, which had increased from 158 to 247 in the five preceding weeks, further rose to 286 last week, and exceeded the corrected average by 59. In Greater London 2887 births and 1652 deaths were registered. The mean temperature of the air was 56·9 deg., or 5 deg. above the average in the corresponding week of the sixty years 1814—73. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was 31·3 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 77·3 hours.

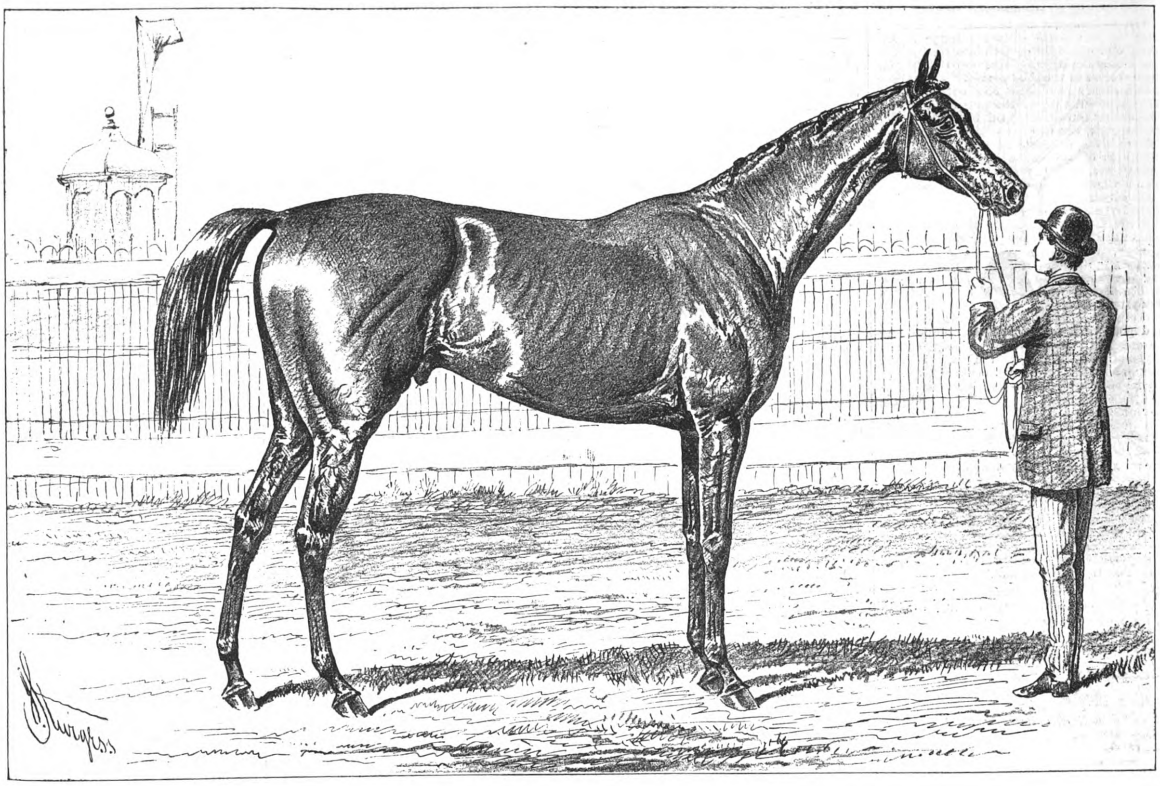
Last Saturday afternoon Mr. Daniel Grant opened the Station Arms coffee tavern, situate at 387, Euston-road, near the Portland-road station, being the eleventh institution of its kind built by this company. The company has now eight coffee taverns open; and houses have been secured in Commercial-road East and in High-street, Stoke Newington, where business will shortly be commenced. The Euston-road establishment is situated at the corner of the street, and has been plainly but substantially furnished with comfortable wooden seats, and the conventional narrow tables with marble tops. On the counter are the supplies of cocoa, tea, and coffee, in huge urns, while the rest is covered with plates of bread and butter and cake. Bills on the wall announce that workmen may bring their own dinners and have them cooked on the premises. No intoxicating drinks are sold or allowed to be consumed on the premises. On the doors being opened to the public the shop was at once filled with working men and others, who seemed to take considerable interest in the proceedings. After a few words from Mr. Pope, the chairman of the company, Mr. Grant gave a short opening address, in which he wished the tavern every success. Mr. Barnard, the hon. secretary, announced that if the establishment was well supported by those for whom it was intended, smoking, reading, chess, and billiard rooms would be added.

On Monday night the successful show, in the Agricultural Hall, by the British Dairy-Farmers' Association was brought to a close. The attendance was greater than on any preceding day, and the numbers during the period of this interesting display were equal to those registered at the last Islington Horse Show. Many leading agriculturists and landowners were among the visitors. This year's show has been the third of the annual series, and its management, under a good working committee, with Mr. John Raffety as principal director of the arrangements, and Mr. Robert Dale as secretary, has been such as to receive general approbation. The prizes distributed, in plate, medals, and cheques, amounted to the aggregate value of about £1600. Mr. Wodehouse, as exhibitor in the pure bred shorthorn class of cows, took first prize, Mr. Tisdall being second. In this class her Majesty's fine cow of the Fawsley tribe took commendation only, in the face of so formidable a competition as was brought to bear upon it. Lord Chesham met the same fate in the excellent Ayrshire class; but the Queen and his Lordship were more fortunate in the principal class for butter, taking severally first and second prizes. In the class of cured butter Messrs. Salter and Stokes, of Colyton, Devon, were recipients of the first prize. From a paper which was read by Mr. Finlay Dunn, it appears that there about 2,250,000 cows in the United Kingdom, and that about 3,000,000 gallons of milk are yielded daily for human food. As about two thirds of this quantity are used for butter and cheese, the daily consumption of fresh milk does not exceed a fifth of a pint per head. On the whole, it would seem that our dairies are deplorably inadequate; for last year we had to import £3,732,405 worth of butter from France alone. Combined with the show was one of poultry, and the fancy price of £100 which was set upon a carrier-pigeon by its owner was, to his chagrin, actually tendered and paid.

Herr Rösler, Professor of Political Economy at the University of Rostock, has accepted the post of councillor in the Japanese Foreign Office, at an annual salary of £1850 for the next six years. The payment of the salary is guaranteed by the German Government, which engaged him for the post.



SKETCHES IN CYPRUS, BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.



CYTHRÆA, WITH MOUNT PENTEDACTYLON.

THE BRITISH KAIMAKAM HEARING AN ASSAULT CASE AT HEPTA-KHUMI.

MASKELYNE AND COOKE'S AUTOMATA AT THE EGYPTIAN HALL.

JESTER, THE WINNER OF THE CESAREWITCH.

The Extra Supplement.

"THE EDDYSTONE LIGHTHOUSE."

The Engraving presented this week for our Extra Supplement will be recognised as one of those fine works of Turner's which have long commanded the admiration of all lovers of art. It is scarcely a fortnight since there was an alarming rumour, prevalent during a few hours at Plymouth, of the disappearance of the light on the Eddystone Rock, which should be visible, under ordinary conditions of weather, from Plymouth Hoe. That rumour was happily dispelled in the course of the same night; but it has lately been made known, from a careful official examination, that the rock upon which the tower is built actually betrays symptoms of being undermined by the force of the waves, and the Trinity House Corporation have already begun the construction of a new lighthouse upon one of the neighbouring group of rocks, which are twenty-three in number, to supersede the admirable structure of dove-tailed stone masonry, erected by Smeaton a hundred and twenty years ago. The Eddystone Rocks are situated fourteen miles south-west of Plymouth Sound, and in a line with the Lizard Head, on the Cornish coast, and Start Point, on the southernmost shore of Devon. At high water the rocks are barely visible; at low tide several broken ridges of gneiss appear above the sea, the waves making a terrible riot over them when the south-west wind is blowing up the British Channel. The first lighthouse, a fantastic edifice resembling a Chinese pagoda, was constructed in the reign of William III., by an amateur, Mr. Henry Winstanley, an Essex country squire, but was swept away by the first November storm, when poor Mr. Winstanley, with several of his workmen and servants, were in the lighthouse, and perished with it; their bodies were never found. The next architect on those sea-beat rocks was John Rudyerd, a mercer of Ludgate-hill, who in 1709 completed a very compactly-framed structure of oaken timber and granite, laid in alternate courses, and wedged together with iron cramps and bolts, rising to the height of 69 ft. upon a base of 23 ft. square, and containing four rooms, one above the other, with an octagonal lantern. This was destroyed by fire in 1755, and one of the keepers was killed by the molten lead of the roof, some of which poured into his open mouth as he lay prostrate, and entered his throat and stomach. The third and present Eddystone Lighthouse was built, from August, 1756, to October, 1759, by John Smeaton, of Hull, one of the most eminent of English engineers, whose life has been written by Dr. Smiles, along with those of other great conquerors in works of mechanical science and public utility. His idea was to compose the lower courses of building of very large slabs of stone, cut so as to dovetail into each other and into the cut surface of the rock, forming a compact mass in the shape of a circular disk, all the pieces being secured by oaken wedges and by cement, with central plugs of hard marble, driven through a hole bored in the middle of each course, pinning the course together. There are twenty-four such courses in the solid part of the building, which stands 35 ft. 4 in. above its base and 27 ft. above the top of the natural rock. Its nethermost course, being set in a deep cavity of the rock, consists but of four laid stones, one of them weighing 2½ tons; the second course is of thirteen stones, the third of twenty-five, and the fourth of thirty-three. The ordinary wash of the tide reaches the sixth course. Above the solid portion, which is really a pillar of jointed stones, rises the tower of three floors, containing a store-room, without windows, an upper store-room, a kitchen, a bed-room, and the top lantern, altogether 70 ft. in height; the rooms, which are circular, being 12 ft. 4 in. of diameter, with walls more than 2 ft. thick. This is the Eddystone Lighthouse, which is, so far as concerns the artificial building, quite as strong a d good as it was in the first year of King George III., and would probably outlast Plymouth Breakwater, if the rock beneath Smeaton's structure did not begin to give way. It is understood, however, that the new Eddystone Lighthouse, now to be erected, will more than equal its predecessor. "It is established," we are told, "upon a firmer and, in many respects, a much more durable rock; it will be less exposed to the terrible action of the sea; it will be nearly double the height—that is, a hundred and thirty as against the seventy-two feet of the present tower; and it is being constructed on a principle of dovetailing which will ensure it against all the worst fury of the waves, even should they exceed the enormous power lately registered at the Skerryvore Rock, which equalled a pressure of three tons to the square foot."

A young man named Hicks was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at the Berkshire Quarter Sessions on Tuesday for stealing several articles of clothing and some gold studs from Windsor Castle during the absence of the Court. When arrested, the prisoner had in his possession keys one of which opened thirteen locks in the castle.

Tuesday's Gazette formally announces the appointment of the Marquis of Lorne as Governor-General of Canada; of General Warre as a member of the Council of the Governor of Bombay; of Mr. John Carr, jun., as Chief Magistrate for her Majesty's settlement in the Gambia; and of Sir W. T. Knollys as Receiver-General of the Duchy of Cornwall.

THE WINNER OF THE CESAREWITCH.

The result of the race at Newmarket, on Tuesday week, for the Cesarewitch Stakes, was duly reported in our chronicle of National Sports. We now give an Illustration, which shows the winning horse, Jester, a five-year-old, whose sire was Merrymaker, but whose dam's pedigree is unknown. He is owned by Mr. R. C. Naylor, but formerly belonged to Lord Lonsdale, and once to the Duke of St. Albans, when, as a three-year-old, he showed good form at Ascot, though he failed, more recently, to win the Ascot Cup or Stakes for his present owner. His weight to carry for the Cesarewitch was 6 st. 10 lb., but for the Cambridgeshire it was by that success raised 14 lb. more, according to the handicap rule upon such occasions.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW AND POPULAR NOVELS.
Now ready, at all the Libraries,
A TRUE MARRIAGE. By EMILY SPENDER, Author of "Restored," &c. 3 vols.
MICHELLE AND LITTLE JACK. By FRANCIS MARTIN. 2 vol. 9s. 6d.
A CHEQUERED LIFE. By Mrs. DAY. Author of "From Birth to Bridal," &c. 3 vols.
MISS GREY'S REMINISCENCES. By LADY BLAKE, Author of "Claude," &c. 3 vols.
UNDER TEMPTATION. By the Author of "Thomas, a Love Story," &c. 3 vols.
THE BUBBLE REPUTATION. By KATHARINE KING. 3 vols.
A BROKEN FAITH. By IZA DUFFUS HARDY. (Oct. 26). Author of "Glencairn," &c. 3 vols.
HURST and BLACKETT, 13, Great Marlborough-street.

NEW SERIAL WORK.
PART I. ready Oct. 25, price 7d. (including a Steel Engraving Frontispiece of Liverpool).
OUR OWN COUNTRY: An Illustrated Geographical and Historical Description of the Chief Places of Interest in Great Britain.
Natural scenery; great Commercial Cities: Ancient Castles, Abbeys, and Manor-Houses; Primeval Antiquities, like Stonehenge; the Old Harbours of the Country, like Chester Porte, Plymouth, or Portsmouth; Battle-Fields, like Towton or Edgehill; Cathedrals and Great Churches—these are among the principal subjects to be described in OUR OWN COUNTRY.—Extra 48-col. Prospectuses.
Prospectuses at all Booksellers.
CASSELL, PETTER, and GALPIN, London; and all Booksellers.

POTTERY-PAINTING: a Handbook to the Practice. By JOHN C. L. SPARKES, Director of the Lambeth School of Art, &c. Second Edition. Post-free, 1s. 1d. London: LECHERTIER, BARBE, and Co., 99, Regent-street, W. (Agents in England for LACROIX'S Ceramic Colours).

By DR. BARR MEADOWS, Physician to the National Institution for Diseases of the Skin. Seventh Edition, post-free, 32 stamps,
ERUPTIONS; their Rational Treatment, Remarks on the abuse of arsenic, mercury, and other reputed specifics.—London: G. HILL, 154, Westminster Bridge-rd.

32mo, pp. 300, bound in cloth, 1s., or 14 stamps,
HOMŒOPATHIC FAMILY INSTRUCTOR. By RICHARD EPPS, M.D., M.R.C.S. This handbook describes and prescribes for a hundred diseases. JAMES EPPS and CO., No. 48, Threadneedle-st.; and 170, Piccadilly.

Just published, post-free, two stamps,
DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION. A small Pamphlet on those distressing complaints and their complete cure.
Published by the Author, HAROLD KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

CANCER AND TUMOURS, A Successful Mode of Treating Certain Forms of. By ALEX. HARSDEN, M.D., Senior Surgeon to the Cancer Hospital, London. Price 7s. 6d.—J. and A. CHURCHILL, New Burlington-street.

ABUSE OF SPIRITS.—DISEASES of the STOMACH treated by his original method of thirty-one years' experience.
HEYMANN, M.D. BERLIN, S.W.
Fees, including remedies, One Guinea.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, and Patentees, 18, 14, Portsdown-road, London, W.
J. HARRADA and SON, 329, Oxford-street, London, W.

CHROMOPHOTOGRAPHY.
INVENTED BY H. KRAUS.
The new art of Colouring Photographs in oil, in imitation of porcelain painting, by which simple process the most beautiful results in oil painting may be produced. Boxes of complete materials, 12s. and 24s. each. Particulars free, and specimens shown at J. BARNARD and SON'S, 359, Oxford-street, London, W. Sole Agents for Great Britain and Ireland.

NOW READY,
THE ILLUSTRATED PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (172), Strand; and H. Williams, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

ZADKIEL'S ALMANAC for 1879, now ready.—Year of Troubles.—Voice of the Stars.—Weather Predictions, Hieroglyphic, &c. Zadkiel foretold War in Turkey, Yellow Fever in America, Troubles in India, &c. Circulation 100,000.
London: Corrasso and Co., 3, York-street, Covent-garden, W.C.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY MACHINERY.
JENNER and KNEWSTUB, HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb specimens of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DIE-SINKING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate prices; also, to their new mode of stamping in colours by machinery; also, to their low rate of charges for printing, in quantities of not less than two reams and without charge, in quantities of not less than two reams and 1000 envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large connections generally, an immense saving is thus effected. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Offices, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-List post-free.

FOR FAMILY ARMS (Lincoln's-Inn Heraldic Office), send Name and County. Sketch, 3s. 6d.; or stamps. Arms Painted and Engraved on Seals. Book-Plates, &c. &c.—PUGH BROS., Great Turnstile, Lincoln's-Inn.

SCRAPS for SCREENS and SCRAP-BOOKS. Coloured Flowers, Figures, Birds, and Landscapes, from 1s. sheet; 12 assorted, 1s. 6d.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Books, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced List post-free.
Wm. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

"THREE PENS for three essential virtues famed.
The 'Pickwick,' 'Owl' and 'Waverley' were named.
The first in flexibility surpassed,
In ease the next, in elegance the last.
These points, united with attractions new,
Have yielded other boons, the 'Phaeton' and 'Hindoo.'"
"They are a treasure."—Standard.
At all Stationers. 6d. and 1s. per Box.
Sample Box, containing all the kinds, by post, 1s. 1d.
Patentees, MACNIVEN and CAMERON, 23 to 33, Blair-street, Edinburgh. Penmakers to her Majesty's Government Offices. (Established 1770.)

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE.
NEW AND RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

HOME LIBRARY.
[A Series of Books illustrative of Church History, &c., specially, but not exclusively, adapted for Sunday Reading.]
HOUSE OF GOD (THE); THE HOME OF MAN. By the Rev. G. E. JELF, M.A., Vicar of Saffron Walden. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 3s. 6d.
INNER LIFE (THE), as Revealed in the Correspondence of Celebrated Christians. Edited by the late Rev. T. ERSKINE. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 3s. 6d.
SAVONAROLA: His Life and Times. By the Rev. WILLIAM R. CLARK, M.A., Author of "The Comforter," &c. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 3s. 6d.
(Others in preparation.)

FATHERS FOR ENGLISH READERS.
[A Series of Monographs on the Chief Fathers of the Church, the Fathers selected including centres of influence at important periods of Church History and in important spheres of action.]
APOSTOLIC FATHERS (THE). By the Rev. H. S. HOLLAND, Student of Christ Church, Oxford. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
DEFENDERS OF THE FAITH (THE); or, The Christian Apologists of the Second and Third Centuries. By the Rev. J. WATSON, M.A., Rector of Stanton, Norfolk. Fcap 8vo cloth boards, 2s.
SAINT AUGUSTINE. By the Rev. WILLIAM R. CLARK, M.A., Vicar of Taunton. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
SAINT JEROME. By the Rev. EDWARD L. CUTTS, M.A., Author of "Turning Points of Church History," &c. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
(Others in preparation.)

CONVERSION OF THE WEST.
[A Series of Volumes showing how the Conversion of the Chief Races of the West was brought about, and their condition before this occurred.]
THE CONTINENTAL TEUTONS. By the Very Rev. CHARLES MERIVALE, D.D., D.C.L., Dean of Ely. With Map. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
THE CELTS. By the Rev. G. F. MACLEAR, D.D., Head Master of King's College School. With Two Maps. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
THE ENGLISH. By the same Author. With Two Maps. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
THE NORTHMEN. By the same Author. With Map. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
(Others in preparation.)

NON-CHRISTIAN RELIGIOUS SYSTEMS.
CORAN (THE): Its Composition and Teaching, and the Testimony it bears to the Holy Scriptures. By Sir WILLIAM MUIR, K.C.S.I., LL.D. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.
BUDDHISM: Being a Sketch of the Life and Teachings of Gautama, the Buddha. By T. W. RHYS DAVIDS, of the Middle Temple. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.
HINDUISM. By Prof. MONIER WILLIAMS, M.A., D.C.L.,&c. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.
ISLAM AND ITS FOUNDER. By J. W. H. STOBART, B.A., Principal, La Martiniere College, Lucknow. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.

ANCIENT HISTORY FROM THE MONUMENTS.
SINAI: from the Fourth Egyptian Dynasty to the Present Day. By HENRY S. PALMER, Major R.E., F.R.A.S., Fcap 8vo, with Map, cloth boards, 2s.
[Gives the results of the late Ordnance Survey, and brings the History of the Peninsula up to date.]
ASSYRIA: from the Earliest Times to the Fall of Nineveh. By the late GEORGE SMITH, Esq., of the Department of Oriental Antiquities, British Museum. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
BABYLONIA (THE HISTORY OF). By the late GEORGE SMITH. Edited by the Rev. A. H. SAYCE, Assistant Professor of Comparative Philology, Oxford. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
EGYPT: from the Earliest Times to B.C. 300. By S. BIRCH, LL.D., &c. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
PERSIA: from the Earliest Period to the Arab Conquest. By W. S. W. VAUX, M.A., F.R.S. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.
GREEK CITIES AND ISLANDS OF ASIA MINOR. By W. S. W. VAUX, M.A., F.R.S. Fcap 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.

THE HEATHEN WORLD AND ST. PAUL.
Fcap 8vo, with Map, cloth boards.
ST. PAUL IN DAMASCUS AND ARABIA. By the Rev. GEORGE RAWLINSON, M.A., Canon of Canterbury, Camden Professor of Ancient History, Oxford. 2s.
ST. PAUL IN GREECE. By the Rev. G. S. DAVIES, M.A., Charterhouse, Godalming. 2s.
ST. PAUL AT ROME. By the Very Rev. CHARLES MERIVALE, D.D., D.C.L., Dean of Ely. 2s.
ST. PAUL IN ASIA MINOR AND AT THE SYRIAN ANTIOCH. By the Rev. E. H. PLUMPTRE, D.D., Prebendary of St. Paul's, Vicar of Bickley, Kent, and Professor of New Testament Exegesis in King's College, London. 2s.

MANUALS OF HEALTH.
Fcap 8vo, 128 pp., limp cloth, price 1s. each.
ON PERSONAL CARE OF HEALTH. By the late E. A. PARKES, M.D., F.R.S.
FOOD. By ALBERT J. BERNAYS, Professor of Chemistry at St. Thomas's Hospital.
WATER, AIR, AND DISINFECTANTS. By W. NOEL HARTLEY, Esq., King's College.
Also in Preparation.
HEALTH AND OCCUPATION. By B. W. RICHARDSON, Esq., F.R.S., M.D.

A SERIES OF FIVE STORY BOOKS. Each with three full-page Illustrations on toned paper. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.; or bevelled boards, gilt edges, 3s.
CRINGLEWOOD COURT. By F. SCARLETT POTTER, Author of "Out-of-Doors Friends," &c.
NED GARTH; or, Made Prisoner in Africa. A Tale of the Slave Trade. By W. H. G. KINGSTON.
NORTH WIND AND SUNSHINE. By ANNETTE LYSTER.
PERCY TREVOR'S TRAINING. By the Author of "Two Voyages," &c.
ROYAL BANNER (THE). A Tale of Life before and after Confirmation. By AUSTIN CLARE, Author of "The Carved Cartoon," &c.

A SERIES OF SIX STORY BOOKS. Each with Three full-page Illustrations on toned paper. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 2s. 6d.; or bevelled boards, gilt edges, 2s.
MATE OF THE "LILY" (THE); or, Notes from Harry Musgrave's Log-Book. By W. H. G. KINGSTON.
WILFORD FAMILY (THE); or, Hero Worship in the Schoolroom. By LADOLIA, Author of "The Snow Fort," &c.
HARRY PRESTON; or, "To Him that Overcometh." A Story for Boys. By the Author of "Ellen Mansell," &c.
HARVEY COMPTON'S HOLIDAY. By the Author of "Percy Trevor's Training," "Two Voyages," &c.
KITTY BLIGH'S BIRTHDAY. By ALFRED H. ENGLEDEW, Author of "Lionel's Revenge," &c.
LEFT TO CHANCE: being the History of my Great Responsibility. By AUSTIN CLARE, Author of "The Carved Cartoon," &c.

HIDDEN WORKINGS. By Miss H. R. RUSSELL, Author of "Muriel," &c. With Three Full-Page Illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 2s.; gilt edges, 2s. 6d.
HERMANN DARRELL, and other Stories. By EALGYTH. Crown 8vo, cloth boards, 1s.; gilt edges, 1s. 6d.
LITTLE DWARF'S MIRROR (THE), and THE CHILDREN'S PRAYER. Adapted from the German by A. L. G. Royal 16mo, cloth boards, 1s.
A BONFIRE, AND WHAT CAME OF IT. With numerous Illustrations. Royal 16mo, cloth boards, 1s.
BIBLE STORIES IN WORDS OF ONE SYLLABLE. By M. A. B. With 16 page Illustrations. Royal 16mo, cloth boards, 1s. 6d.

London: 77, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, W.C.; 4, Royal Exchange, E.C.; and 48, Piccadilly, W.

NEW MUSIC.

Ready on Oct. 15. Price 3s. 6d.
Dedicated by special permission to H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.
SONGS FOR SAILORS. Written by W. C. Bennett, and set to Music by J. L. HATTON. In one Volume, containing FORTY SONGS, with Illustrated Cover and Engraved Portrait of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS.

NO. 10.—FUGUE PRIMER. By J. HIGGS. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 14.—PLAIN-SONG PRIMER. By Rev. T. HELMORE. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 15.—INSTRUMENTATION PRIMER. By E. PROUT. Price 2s. Now ready.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS. Edited by Dr. STAINER. Now ready:—1. The Pianoforte (2s.); E. Pauer; 2. Rudiments of Music (1s.), W. H. Cummings; 3. The Organ (2s.), Dr. Stainer; 6. Speech in Song (Singer's Pronouncing Primer—2s.), A. J. Ellis; 8. Harmony (2s.), Dr. Stainer; 9. Counterpoint (2s.), Dr. Bridge; 11. Scientific Basis of Music (1s.), Dr. Stone; 16. Elements of the Beautiful in Music (1s.), E. Pauer. (To be continued.)
London: NOVELLO, EWER, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.; and 80 and 81, Queen-street, E.C.

PIANO, £35 (Civil Service cash price) Trichord Drawing-Room Model, repetition action, grand rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with elaborately carved and fretwork front, and cabriole truss legs. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square.

BROADWOOD and COLLARD COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, fullest compass of Seven Octaves. Two beautiful instruments, of rich and full tone, in the choicest Italian walnut-wood, nearly new. To be SOLD at unusually low prices. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street.

TWENTY-POUND SCHOOL-ROOM PIANO (Co-operative price for cash). Seven octaves, strong, sound, and substantial. Adapted for hard practice. Packed free. Illustrated Book of Designs gratis and post-free. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

EBONY and GOLD PIANOS, 25 guineas, 35 guineas, and 45 guineas.—These charming and elegant Pianos, with ormolu embellishments, repetition action, and every recent improvement, may now be obtained at the above very low prices for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, at 1 guinea per month. The new Illustrated Catalogue gratis and post-free. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE, from 25s. upwards.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 46, Horseferry-road, Westminster.

P. J. SMITH AND SONS'
IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS. "The best and most substantial instrument produced." 9, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

MUSICAL-BOX DEPÔTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Ludgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, 54s. to £120. Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, 54s. to £120. Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, 54s. to £120. snuff-boxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & MCCULLOCH, as above.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES. In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett. manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett. manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett. BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superselling all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

DIAMONDS. — GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited), 11 and 12, Cornhill, London.—DIAMOND NECKLACES, Bracelets, Brooches, Ear rings, Crosses, Lockets, Half-hoop, and single-stone Rings, &c., in great variety, at fixed net prices for cash.

THE BEST ENGLISH WATCHES. The GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited) request the attention of purchasers to their stock of LONDON-MADE PATENT LEVER WATCHES, which, being manufactured by themselves on the premises, are confidently recommended for accuracy and durability.

Prices of Silver Watches.
Patent Lever Watch, jewelled, emanel dial, and seconds	£4 14 6
Ditto, jewelled in four holes and capped	5 5 0
Ditto, the finest quality, jewelled in six holes	5 8 0
Ditto, the finest quality, jewelled in six holes
Silver Watches in hunting cases, 5s. 6d. extra.
Gold Watches.—Size for Ladies.
Patent Lever Watches, with gold dial, jewelled	11 11 0
Ditto, with richly engraved case	12 12 0
Ditto, with very strong case, and jewelled in four holes	14 14 0
Gold Watches.—Size for Gentlemen.
Patent Lever Watches, jewelled, seconds, and capped	13 13 0
Ditto, jewelled in six holes, and gold balance	18 18 0
Gold Watches in hunting cases, £3 3s. extra.

Lists of Prices, with remarks on watches, gratis and post-free.

GROIDE GOLD WATCHES, 21s., 25s., 30s.; free by registered post 6d. extra. Facsimile of costly gold watches; exact timekeepers. Catalogues post-free. C. C. ROWE, 88, Brompton-road, London, S.W.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK. A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION, by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK Without the aid of any artificial light. Every house should possess one. See opinions of Press. Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

MORTLOCK'S CHINA.—ASTER POTTERY.—Reproductions of the Old Oriental Aster Pattern, made expressly for Messrs. John Mortlock and Co. This ware is in exquisite taste, of Oriental character, and of exceedingly cheap. A Dinner Service for 12 persons for 1 guinea; Dessert Service, 22s. 6d.; Breakfast service for 12 persons, 30s.; Tea Service, 15s. 6d.; and Toilet Service, 7s.—Show Rooms, 202, 203, and 204, Oxford-street; 30, 31, and 32, Orchard-street; Portman-square, W. Establish 1 1770.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Service for 12 persons, complete, with 10 per cent discount for cash on delivery. Table Glass Service from £2 2s. 6d. the set for twelve persons complete.

DINNER SERVICES.

Coloured Lithographs post-free.	In Blue and White.
In Deep Ruby	£3 3 0
The Lansdowne	3 13 0
The Indiana	4 4 0
The Laurel	3 13 0
The Danish	5 5 0

Discount 15 per cent. In their unequalled Crown Ware.

In Enamelled Patterns.
The One Thousand and	£3 5 0
Two (A)	3 5 0
The Japanese Bamboo	6 6 0
The Humming-Bird	7 7 0
The Severe	10 10 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES.
Plain light stem glass	£2 5 0
Richly cut glass	2 5 0

Light engraved glass 2 12 6
Richly engraved glass 3 12 6
Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, sent post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

"YOUR NEW 'TOWEL' A 1 is a one-self roll Machine, both as Washer, Wringer, and Mangler; seriously, Mrs. G. considers it beyond all praise."—Vide Purchaser. Price 46 18s., carriage free and Trade 50. Catalogue free by post. Paris, 1878, three silver Medals 50. THOMAS BRADFORD and CO., 130 to 143, High Holborn, London, and Cathedral-steps, Manchester.

IMPROVED BREECHLOADERS, Central Fire, Choke-Bore, Express Rifles, single and double. Wildfowl Guns, large calibres.—E. M. REILLI and CO., 315 and 502, Oxford-street, London; 5, Rue Scribe, Paris.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of success fol cases forwarded for twelve stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily. Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

FRESH MEAT FROM CENTRAL EUROPE.—LONDON MEAT IMPORTATION AND STORAGE COMPANY (Limited).—Capital, £600,000, in 10,000 Shares of £10 each, and 100 Founders' Shares of £1 each.

APPLICATIONS are invited for 2921 SHARES, forming the balance of the First Issue of 2500 Shares, and the Second Issue of 2500 Shares, payable as follows:—£2 on application; £3 on allotment; £2 10s. on Jan. 1, 1879; and £2 10s. on March 1, 1879.

In inviting subscriptions for these Shares, the Directors would point out to investors that this undertaking presents itself to their notice under exceptionally favourable circumstances, inasmuch as—

1. All the preliminary arrangements of the Company are completed, and actual permanent operations commenced.

2. The Sheep and Mutton imported have given the greatest satisfaction at the Foreign Cattle Market at Deptford, at the Metropolitan Meat Market, Smithfield, and at the Central Market Hall in the Company's Premises.

3. The Company can at once obtain from 50,000 to 100,000 Sheep and a large quantity of Cattle for delivery during the current season at very low prices.

4. Definite arrangements have been made for slaughter-houses, refrigerator cars, and through traffic, which will enable the Meat to be bought and retailed in this market at good profits.

5. The best evidence of the soundness of the Company's position will be found in the annexed CERTIFICATES of the WHOLESALE SALESMEN, in whose hands the Consignments received were placed for disposal.

Foreign Cattle Market, Deptford, Oct. 4, 1878.

To the London Meat Importation and Storage Company (Limited).

Gentlemen,—We have much pleasure in reporting that the 1265 sheep imported by you, ex Mouse, arrived in very good condition, and were much better in character and quality than the usual shipments of Continental sheep that reach this market; they sold readily at the best rates of the day for their class; and parcels of a similar description will command good current rates at all times.

A. OPPENHEIMER and VAN GELDER.
ROAS BROTHERS.
R. A. ROSELAAR.

Metropolitan Meat Market, Oct. 12, 1878.

We hereby certify that the 458 sheep received by the London Meat Importation and Storage Company (Limited), ex RollCall, from Antwerp, proved good useful mutton, such as would at all times make a fair sale in our market.

R. PARSONS, 111, 112, Metropolitan Meat Market.
G. and W. COOKE, 135, Metropolitan Meat Market.
W. COOKE and SON, 127, Metropolitan Meat Market.
A. W. TAPPER, 107, Metropolitan Meat Market.
DIXON BROTHERS, 108, Metropolitan Meat Market.
JOSIAH BURKETT, 110, Metropolitan Meat Market.

Central Market Hall, St. Usmer Tha a s-treet, London, E.C.

We hereby certify that the meat imported by the above Company, and retailed by us to the public, has given universal satisfaction.

BUCKINGHAM BROTHERS,
Sole Retail Agents for the Company.

NOTICE.—The Company's Refrigerated Steamer Roll Call arrived on Thursday at the Cold Storage Wharf, with a cargo of 800 Sheep in carcase.

Forms of Application for Shares may be had of the Company's Bankers, Messrs. Barclay, Bevan, Tritton, Twells, and Co., 54, Lombard-street, E.C.; Messrs. Lucy, Son, and Hartland, Smithfield, E.C.; of the Solicitors, Messrs. Venning, Robinson, and Venning, 9, Tokenhouse-yard, Lothbury, E.C.; or at the Offices, Central Market Hall.

T. H. GROBECKER, Secretary.
84, Upper Thames-street, London.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whites, for Pastry, 9s. 4d. per bushel; Households, for Bread, 8s. 8d. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 8s. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3s. 2d. per stone; Fine, 3s. 4d. American Hominy, 4s. Barley Maize Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 5s. per bushel, or 19s. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 19s. 6d. per sack. Peas, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Tick Beans, 7s. 6d.; Middlings, 2s. 4d.; Ground Pollard, 1s. 8d. Meat Biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, 3s. per peck. Lentil Flour, for Invalids, in Tins, 1lb. size, 1s.; 7 lb., 5s. All other kinds of Grain and Seed. Special prices for larger quantities. P.O. Orders and Cheques payable to G. Young.

MAPLE and CO.,
TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD,
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.

MAPLE and CO. supply every requisite for HOUSE FURNISHING, including Linens, Ironmongery, Glass, Crockeryware, Clocks, Bronzes, and every description of Ornaments, either for Gifts or during the Season, or for Christmas and Wedding Presents, in separate departments.

MAPLE and CO., the largest and most convenient FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT in the world. A House of any magnitude Furnished from Stock in three days. Purchasers should inspect the Stock before furnishing elsewhere. All goods marked in plain figures. Estab. 39 years. An Illustrated Catalogue post-free.

MAPLE and CO., Importers.
TURKEY CARPETS,
INDIAN CARPETS,
PERSIAN CARPETS.

OVER 2000 DAGHESTAN and SOUMRACK CARPETS, also 500 Turkey Carpets, of extra fine quality and at marvellously low prices, just received from Constantinople. These Goods have been bought by Agents especially dispatched by Messrs. MAPLE and CO. for cash, are of great purity, some being very handsome old pieces, which have been made over a hundred years. The prices are wonderfully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these curiosities.—145, 146, 147, Tottenham-court-road, London.

DUPLEX TABLE LAMP, with instantaneous extinguisher.—The Patent Duplex Lamp, for petroleum or rock oil, gives an intense, pure, and beautiful light, equal to that of twenty-four sperm candles at a cost of about one farthing per hour. Deane and Co. invite inspection of their new season's stock in Crystal, China, Ormoulu, and Bronze. Prices from 15s. to 8l. Illustrated Priced List post-free. DEANE and CO., 46, King William-street, London Bridge.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Medieval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every article marked with plain figures. D. BULFETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn.

PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP. For the Toilet, the Nursery, and for Shaving. Refined free from excess of alkali and from artificial colouring, delicately and wholesomely perfumed, it is Soap in its purest form, and hence the most beneficial to use; its great durability makes it also the most economical. For Ladies, Children, or anyone with delicate and sensitive skin it is unrivalled, as it may be safely used where no other Soap is admissible. It has stood the test of eighty years' trial, received six prize medals, and the valued recommendations of many eminent medical practitioners. Sold by all Chemists, and by Pears, 91, Great Russell-street, London.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, deceive you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

JUDSON'S DYES.—6d. each, of Chemists. Curtains, Tablecovers, Mantles, Scarves, Jackets dyed in ten minutes in a pail of hot water. Judson's Dyes—Crimson, Green, and Twenty-four Colours.

A FACT.—HAIR COLOUR WASH.—By damping the Hair with this Wash, in twelve hours it becomes its original colour (this is guaranteed). 10s. 6d. Sent by stamps.—ALEX. ROSS, 248, High Holborn, London.

LOANS PRIVATELY NEGOTIATED. Confidential communications to Mr. MORRIS, 28, Red Lion-square, W.C., will receive immediate attention. Reversions, Life Interests, and Legacies purchased.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
PLEASE DIRECT ALL LETTERS AND ORDERS FOR
PETER ROBINSON,
SILK MERCER and LINENDRAPER,
THE ONLY ADDRESS,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, W.,
where the Business was established in 1833.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.
110 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Coloured Satins to match, at 5s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
369 Pieces extra rich Brocaded Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
600 Pieces of China Washing Silks, 18s. 9d. for 20 yards.
Grisaille and Quadrille Silks, 23s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

BLACK SILKS.
One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of 2000 pieces of Black Silks, commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of unusual lustre, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES.
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes at 6l 6s.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES at 5l 5s.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.
Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.
CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 48 inches wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 6d.
In Black, 1s. 11d. to 5s. 9d. per yard.
ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials, 1s. 2d. to 3s. 3d. per yard.
WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plaid, and Snowflake, from 1s. 6d. per yard.
CREPE CASHMERE (RE-HISPERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs, Black, full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY,
in Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Mille-raye Cloth, and Drap Bride; also, in Velvet Pile, Sicilian, and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Fitter Mantles.
The New Waterproof Tartan Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS
(half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles, in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Chinchilla, Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Sable, Beaver, Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine, and every other description of Muffs, Necktties, &c.
A large Stock of
RUSSIAN SEAL FUR JACKETS.
24 to 27 in. deep, from 4 guineas upwards.
Imitation Seal Fur Jackets,
42s. each, 26 to 28 in. deep.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined Russian Squirrel, 45 in. deep, from 21s. upwards.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined from Russian Squirrel, 48 in. deep, 58s. 6d. upwards.
A great variety of New Shapes in Silk Mantles, lined with the finest quality of Russian Squirrel.
Fur Carriage and Travelling Rugs, from 30s. upwards.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
33 in. long, 5½ guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
36 in. long, 12 guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
40 in. long, 14 guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
45 in. long, 16 guineas.

WAYRE'S RUSSIAN SABLE TAIL SETS, 70 guineas. Real Marten Tail, 8 guineas. Skunk, 4 guineas. Length of fronts, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 9 in. to 11 in.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS can be sent on approval to any part of the kingdom by forwarding a measure, and a measurement across back, across chest, round waist, and length of paletot, to
WAYRE, SEAL PALETOT MANUFACTURER, 96, Oxford-street, and 332, Oxford-street (corner of Regent-circus).
Established Half a Century.

FOR ALL SEASONS AND ALL CLIMATES.
UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE
ENGLISH and FOREIGN COURTS.
EGERTON BURNETT'S
WELLINGTON SERGES,
AND VARIOUS OTHER APPROVED WOOLLEN FABRICS.
EGERTON BURNETT has repeatedly had the honour of supplying "these admirable Serges" to the ROYAL FAMILY, and executes Orders daily FROM ALL PARTS.
Neither rain nor salt water can affect their permanent dye. Prices from 1s. 2½d. to the finest at 4s. 6d. per yard. PATTERNS free by post from any part of the United Kingdom or London on parcels over 2l. GOODS PACKED FOR EXPORTATION.
A Special Strong Make for BOYS' and GENTLEMEN'S SUITS, 24 inches, from 3s. 6d. per yard.
EGERTON BURNETT,
SERGE WAREHOUSES,
WELLINGTON, SOMERSET

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 37, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application.

WOOLLEN CLOTHS for LADIES' JACKETS, CLOAKS, ULSTERS, &c., in great variety, at very moderate prices. We also keep a very large Stock suitable for Gentlemen's and Youths' wear. Livery Cloths, &c., equally cheap. Terms, ready money only.
C. HEKING and CO., Woollen Warehouse, corner of Hatton-garden, Holborn-circus.

SWANBILL CORSETS.—NOTICE.—My advertisement referring to the sale by me of Swanbill Corsets is an infringement of the rights of Mrs. Addley Bourne, of 37, Piccadilly, who is the sole proprietor and vendor of Swanbill Corsets; the public are informed that Swanbill Corsets are not supplied by me.—HENRY GLAVE, 534 to 537, New Oxford-street.

AUTUMN AND WINTER MANTLES.
The small capes worn during the spring and summer seasons paralysed for a time the business of some of the largest caterers of Fashion; but it nevertheless gave them impetus and energy to make some attractive Mantles for the Autumn and Winter Seasons.
Messrs. Jay are unusually well supplied with these necessary garments and are trimmed Jackets and their charges will suit all classes of the community.
JAYS', Regent-street.

FAMILY MOURNING.
WIDOW'S DRESS, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £4 4 0
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Materials at One Shilling per Yard.
JAYS', Regent-street.

MILLINERY.
The small-shaped bonnets of last season are no longer the fashion, the Bonnets now protect the head, and the face is not so much exposed.
The correct and newest modes may be seen in Messrs. Jay's Millinery Department.
JAYS'
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
Regent-street, W.

BAKER and CRISP'S SILKS
From 1s. 11½d. { and SATINS. Patterns free. 198, Regent-street, London.

BAKER and CRISP'S VELVETEENS.
Patterns free. { 1000 Boxes Lyons Moleskin. Black, from 1s. 9½d. Colours, from 2s. 11d.

BAKER and CRISP'S SERGES.
Patterns free. { Every make as advertised, from 10½d. yard.

BAKER and CRISP'S CYPRUS CLOTHS
From 8½d. yard. { and 100 Fabrics, New for Autumn. Patterns free.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERINGS
198, Regent-street. { and Suitings, Extra wide. Patterns free.

BAKER and CRISP'S TROCADÉRO
Engravings free. { and other Costumes, from 29s. 6d. Patterns free. 198, Regent-street.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERS.
12s. 9d. 21s. { 1000 New and Most Ladylike.
Sent for Remittance.—198, Regent-street.

PARIS EXPOSITION COSTUMES.
D. NICHOLSON and CO. beg to announce the Return of their Buyers from Paris, and that on MONDAY NEXT and Following Days they will make a Grand Display of Elegant COSTUMES, including several facsimile Copies of those shown in the Paris Exhibition.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50 to 53, St. Paul's-churchyard, London.

SILKS! DRESSES! VELVETEENS!
D. NICHOLSON and CO.'S NEW AUTUMN PATTERN-BOOK of COLOURED SILKS, containing 600 Varieties of the best Lyons Manufacture, in the following lots, may now be had post-free.

	s. d.
LOT 1. Lyons Gros Grain..... 6 yds per yd.; or 16 yds.	2 7 0
LOT 2. Rich " "	3 3 0
LOT 3. " Drap de France 3 11½ " "	3 3 0
LOT 4. " Lyons Gros Grain 4 6½ " "	3 12 6
LOT 5. " " 5 11½ " "	4 18 6
LOT 6. " Pont de Soie .. 5 11 " "	4 14 6
LOT 7. Extra Rich Pall " 6 11 " "	5 10 0

D. NICHOLSON and CO.,
50, 51, 52, and 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

BLACK SILKS
OF GUARANTEED MANUFACTURE.
2s. 2½d., 2s. 6¾d., 2s. 11½d., 3s., 3s. 3½d., 3s. 6¾d., 3s. 9½d., 3s. 11½d., 4s. 3½d., 4s. 6¾d., 4s. 11½d., 5s. 3½d., 5s. 11½d., 6s. 6¾d., 7s. 6¾d., 8s. 6¾d., 9s. 6¾d., and 10s. 6¾d. per yard.
D. NICHOLSON and CO.'S QUEEN CACHEMIRE, warranted pure dye and not to cut or wear greasy.
Patterns post-free.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard.

NEW AUTUMN and WINTER DRESS MATERIALS.
All the latest Novelties in French Cashmeres and Merinoes, Velour Cloths, Estamene and Lorne Serges, Diagonal Serges, Cashmerettes, Wool Plaids, Fancy Bouretties, and every other fashionable material suitable for the present and coming season.
Patterns post-free.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard.

NEW BOOK of BLACK and COLOURED VELVETEENS, containing the new Blue-Black Linden Velveteen, warranted fast dye, 1s. 9½d., 2s. 3½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6¾d., 3s. 11½d., and 4s. 11d. per yard; also the Black Genoa Velveteen, 1s. 6¾d., 1s. 9½d., 1s. 11½d., 2s. 3½d., 2s. 6¾d., 2s. 9½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 3½d., 3s. 6¾d., 3s. 11½d., 4s. 6¾d., and 5s. 3½d. per yard; and Coloured Genoa Velveteen in all the newest shades at 2s. 11½d. and 3s. 9½d. per yard.
Patterns post-free.
D. NICHOLSON and CO.,
SILK MERCERS TO THE QUEEN,
50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
GIGANTIC SHOW OF DRESS FABRICS,
for the Fall and Winter of 1878.
The Real Rough-and-Ready Serge, 24in. wide, 10½d. a yard, very suitable for warm autumnand winter wear.
Winter Cashmeres, 26in. wide, 8½d.
Douglas Brilliantines, new autumn shades, 8½d.
Twill Poplins in all leading colours, at 10½d.
French Merinos, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.
Small Fancy Designs for mixing with plain textures.
The Leopard Mixture, at 8½d.; the Cabul Mixture, at 9½d.; the Costume Mixture, at 1s. 3½d.; the Afghan Silk Mixture, at 1s. 9½d.; the All-Wool Silk Mixture, at 2s. 11½d.
Healthy Mixtures for Autumn, 1s. 6½d.
Ottawa Beiges, 16 in. wide, 1s. 6½d.
Fancy Scotch Cheviots, as now worn in Paris, 1s. 3½d.
Serge Neglige, a light warm wool material in eleven new fashionable mixtures, 21in. wide, 1s. 6½d.
Indian Cashmeres, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.; English Cashmeres, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6¾d. a yard.
The Estamene Serge, New Colours, 1s. 09½d. and 1s. 6¾d.
Cashmere Estamene, 23 in. wide, 9½d.
French Beige Poule, 24in. wide, 1s. 4½d.
The Beige Poule, New Autumn Colours, 10½d.
Scotch Cashmere Estamene, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6¾d.
An endless variety of New Stripings, 30in. wide at 1s. 11½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6¾d., and 4s. 11d. a yard.
Patterns of all kinds post-free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
SILKS, SATINS, VELVETS, AND VELVETEENS.
Black Silks, rich Gros Grains, 2s. 11½d.; late 3s. 6¾d.
Black Silks, a new make, wear guaranteed, "The Empress," not weighted with dye, but made of all pure silk, price 3s. 10d. a yard.
Black Silks, several thousand yards, from the best Lyons firms, from 3s. 6¾d. to 5s. 9½d.
Oxonian Velveteens, are blue blacks, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d.
The Lunn Velveteen is dyed the fashionable Oriental blue black, and made various qualities.
7000 yards Rich Coloured Velveteens, 50 different shades, 26in. wide, 2s. 10½d. a yard.
Silk Costume Velvet, in Black, 27 in. wide, only 6s. 11d. the yard. Patterns free.
Black Satins, a specially cheap lot, at 2s. 6¾d.; Coloured Satins, in every possible shade, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d. a yard. Patterns free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

SHIRTS.—FORD'S EUREKA.—"The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing Shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 38s., 40s. 42s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 58 to 63, Oxford-street; 1 to 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

RICH SILK and other COSTUMES.
A grand display of rich Silk, Broche Velvet, and Silken Fabric Costumes for the Autumn, forming such a collection of recherché Novelties as is rarely seen out of Paris, at most moderate prices.
A large variety of novel Costumes of Fashionable New Fabrics in Serges, Lichen Cloths, Cyprus Cloths, Camel's Hair, &c., 2, 3, and 4 guineas each.

MANTLES, ULSTERS, and SEALSKINS.
A large importation of the Latest Novelties.
The Sedan Beaver Paletot, 1 and 2 guineas, handsomely trimmed.
New Travelling Ulsters, all wool, in 27 shades, at 1 guinea, unequalled.
Fine Sealskin Paletots, 36 in. in length, 9½ guineas each, Smaller sizes in proportion.
Fur-lined Mantles and Paletots, 31s. 6d. to 5 guineas.

DRESS MATERIALS in all the Newest Textures. New Lichen Cloth, 11½d. per yard. Camel's-Hair Cloth, 1s. 6d. Tartans, Rampoor Cloth, and the New Broche Cashmeres, so much used in combination, 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d. per yard.
Fine French Cashmeres, in new shades, 1s. 11½d., 2s. 7¾d., and 2s. 11½d. per yard, double width.

MOURNING GOODS
of every description at most moderate prices.
Black Serge Costumes, all wool, 2 guineas. Black and White Broché Costumes, 1 guinea; handsome Costumes, trimmed with jet and unspotting crape, for all grades of mourning, 3½ to 8 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

SILKS.—SPECIAL NOTICE.
We are now offering 40,000 yards of Black and Coloured Silks, in all the new shades, at fully 15 to 20 per cent under last year's prices—2s. 11½d. to 6s. 11½d. per yard.
An Inspection is solicited.
Patterns to the country free.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-treet, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

LOUIS VELVETEENS, Dyed in the New Shade of Blue Black by a special process, are guaranteed to retain their colour and brilliancy, and cannot be distinguished from Lyons Silk Velvet at four or five times the price. Our prices are from 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d.
Patterns free.
JAMES SPENCE and CO., St. Paul's-churchyard.

THE LOUIS GENOA PILE VELVETEEN, at 4s. 11½d. and 5s. 11½d. per yard.
Cannot be distinguished from velvets at 21s. to 30s. per yard.
Patterns free.

COLOURED VELVETEENS in 100 Choice Shades. 1s. 11½d.; usual price, 2s. 11½d. Richest quality made, 2s. 11½d.; usual price, 3s. 11½d. Patterns free.
JAMES SPENCE and CO., St. Paul's-churchyard.

CYPRUS SILK.—A Specialite.—A New Pure Silk of extreme richness, beautifully soft, and has the handsome effect of a Lyons Gros Grain at half a guinea a yard. The shades are simply lovely, and the choice almost unlimited. Only 2s. 11½d. per yard.
Patterns free.
JAMES SPENCE and CO., St. Paul's-churchyard.

SPECIALITY for WIDOWS' MILLINERY.
A large and varied assortment of Widows' Caps, &c., for First and Second Mourning, of the most superior quality and styles, on view at Mrs. Creaton's Show-Rooms, an inspection of which is solicited.
Mrs. CREATON, 294, Regent-street, W.

PRETTY FLOWERS.—Tastefully arranged Bridal Bouquets from 7s. 6d.; Bridesmaids' Bouquets from 2s. 6d. each. Baskets of Cut Flowers and Plants. Forwarded to any part of London or country.
WILLIAM HOOPER, 88, Oxford-street, London, W.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 93 and 95, City-road, E.C. London: Pinand and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

NUDA VERITAS.—GREY HAIR restored by this valuable specific to its original shade, after which it grows the natural colour, not grey. Used as a dressing, it causes growth and arrests falling. The most harmless and effectual restorer extant. One trial will convince it has no equal. Price 10s. 6d., of all Chemists and Hairdressers. Testimonials post-free.—R. HOVENDEN and SONS, London.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR.
If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth, of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath.
Is the best Liquid Dentifrice in the World: it thoroughly clears away partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Floriline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed everywhere.

JOHN GOSNELL and CO.'S VIOLET and MILLEFLEUR POWDER, for the Toilet and Nursery. Universally admired for its purity and fragrance. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale, 93, Upper Thames-street

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable, 2s. 6d. to 63s. per Bottle. Breidenbach's MACASSARINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 1s., 2s. 6d., 5s., 10s. per Bottle.
Of all Chemists and the Makers, 157a, New Bond-street, W.

CAUTION.—The MACASSAR OIL for nourishing the hair, and OBONTO for whitening the teeth, prepared by A. ROWLAND and SONS, of 20, Hatton-garden, London, are the only genuine articles sold under these or similar names. Avoid cheap imitations.

PIESSE and LUBIN'S
PESTACHIO-NUT SKIN AND COMPLEXION POWDER
imparts a natural whiteness and youthful delicacy to the skin, attainable by no other means; also represses the unpleasantness of too copious perspiration.—2, New Bond-street, London. May be had of all the fashionable Perfumers and Druggists throughout the Earth, with the same facility as a book. In boxes, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 10s. 6d., and 21s. each. Price-List post-free.

EAU DE CHYPRE.—PIESSE and LUBIN. This is an ancient perfume from Cyprus. During the national career of Egypt, Persia, Greece, and Rome, the Island of Cyprus was the resort of the elite, learned, and refined. It was at the time of the Crusades that Richard I. of England assumed the title of King of Cyprus, that the famed Eau de Chypre was introduced into Europe, the composition of which is yet preserved in the archives of the Laboratory of Piesse and Lubin. Those who are curious in ancient perfumes can be gratified at 2, New Bond-street, London.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10d. of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Porteus-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

NEW MUSIC.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS, COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS, Manufactured by CLOUGH and WARREN, DETROIT, U.S.A.

The immense advantages these Instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory. A large variety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas. Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S "FAVOURITE ORGAN." Compass, Five Octaves. Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 7½ octaves each, Knee-Swell. Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case. Price 35 guineas. Illustrated Price-List free by post. Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES. TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON. Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash. Pianinos from 18 guineas. Cottages from 20 guineas. Grands from 50 guineas. 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at 50, New Bond-street, may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View by the following eminent Makers:—
BROADWOOD. | ERARD.
COLLARD. | CHAPPELL.
LIPP. | ROSENKRANZ.
CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM. Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View. From 3 guineas to 100 guineas. At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN MODEL, by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five stops and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals. 28 guineas, or £2 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of keyboards, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2 gs. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S YACHT PIANINOS, 30 gs., or £3 per quarter on Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

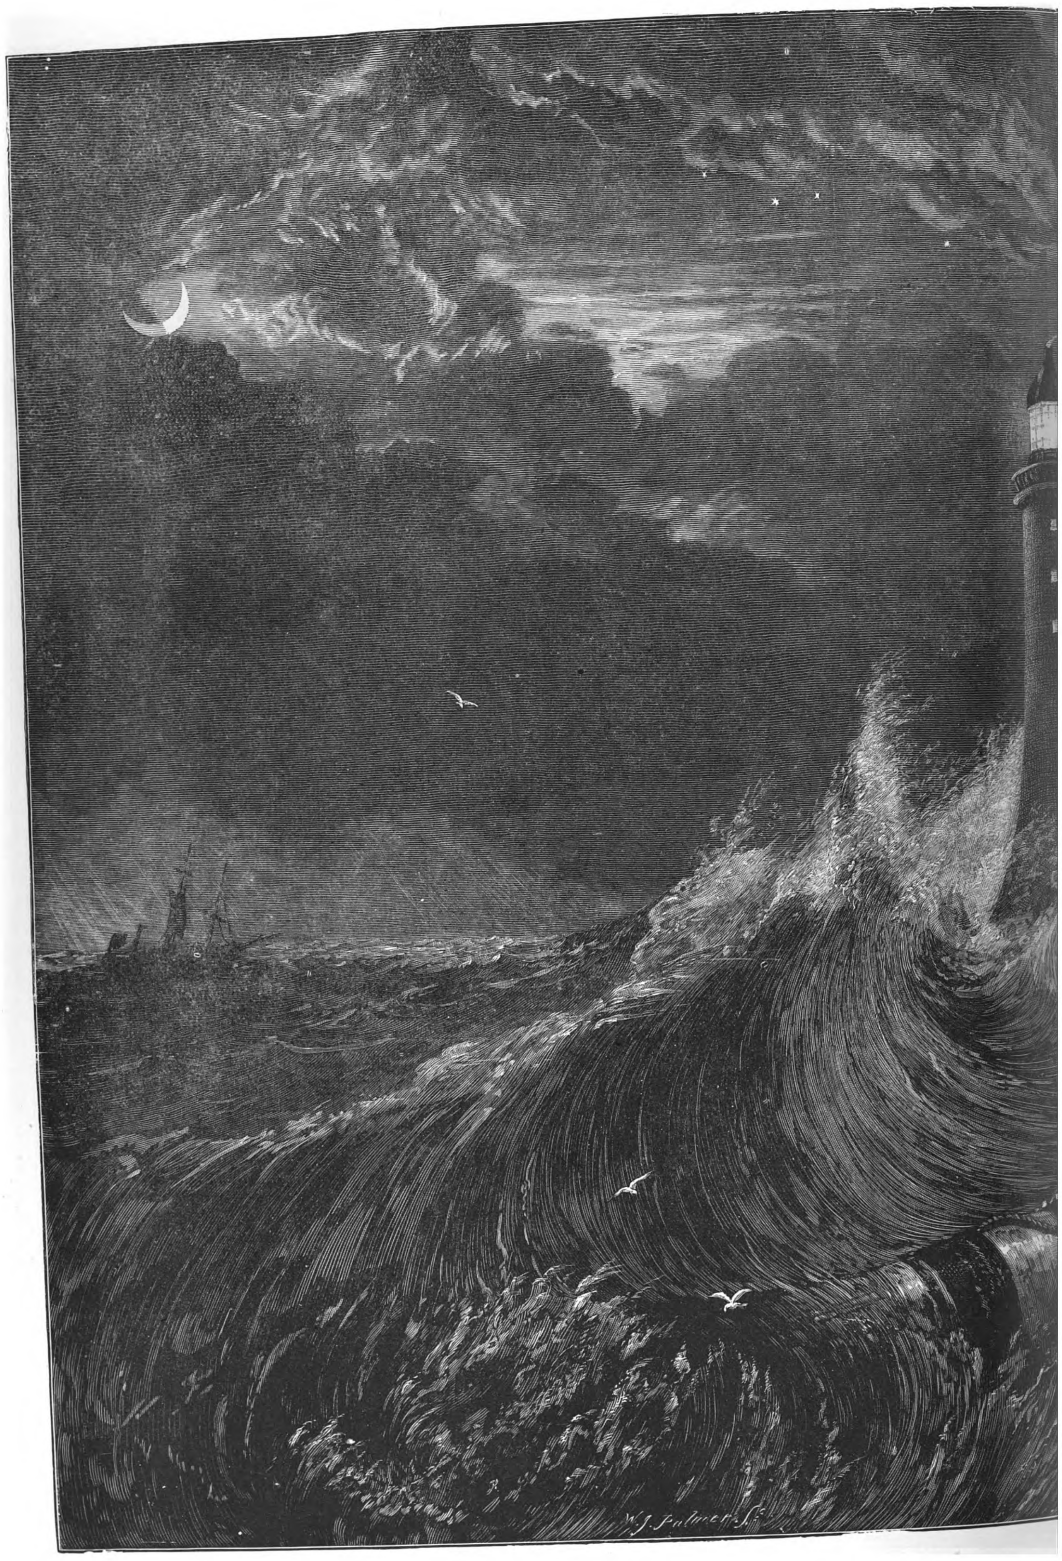
CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON GRAND, 60 gs., or £8 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON 110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase. NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW DANCE MUSIC.

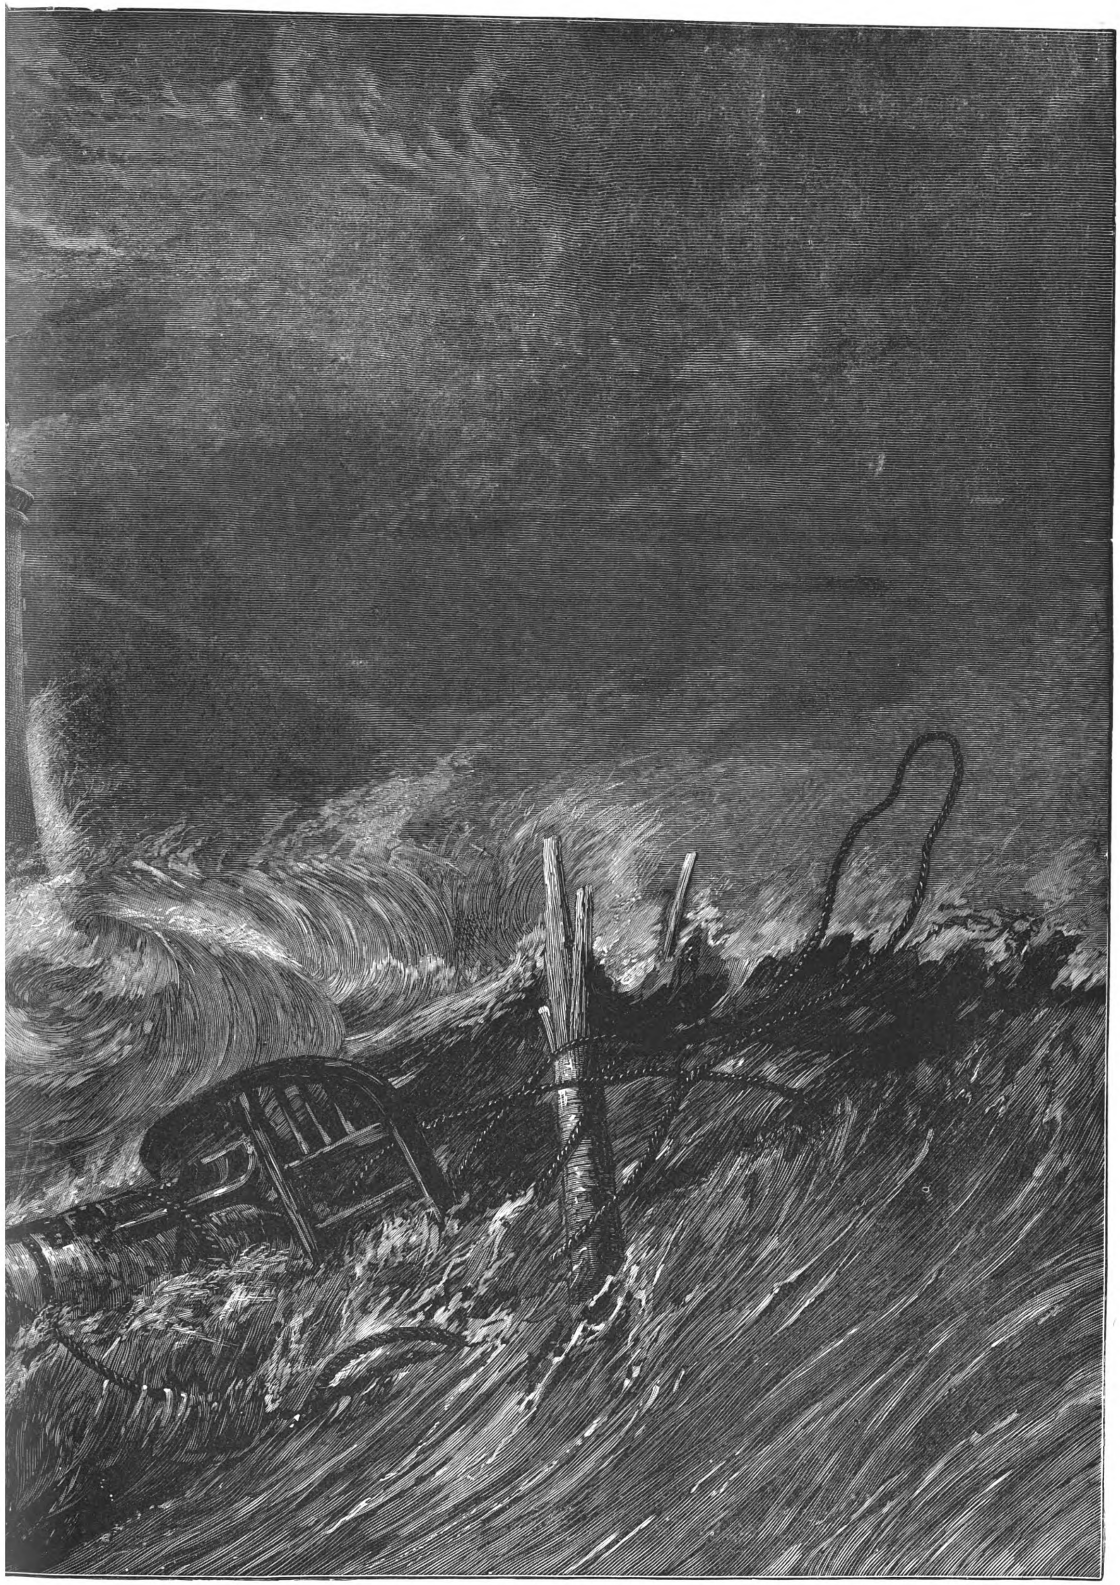
CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.



CYPRUS POLKA	2s. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	2s. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	2s. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	2s. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALOP	2s. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	2s. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	2s. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	2s. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	2s. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	2s. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	1s. 6d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	2s. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	2s. net

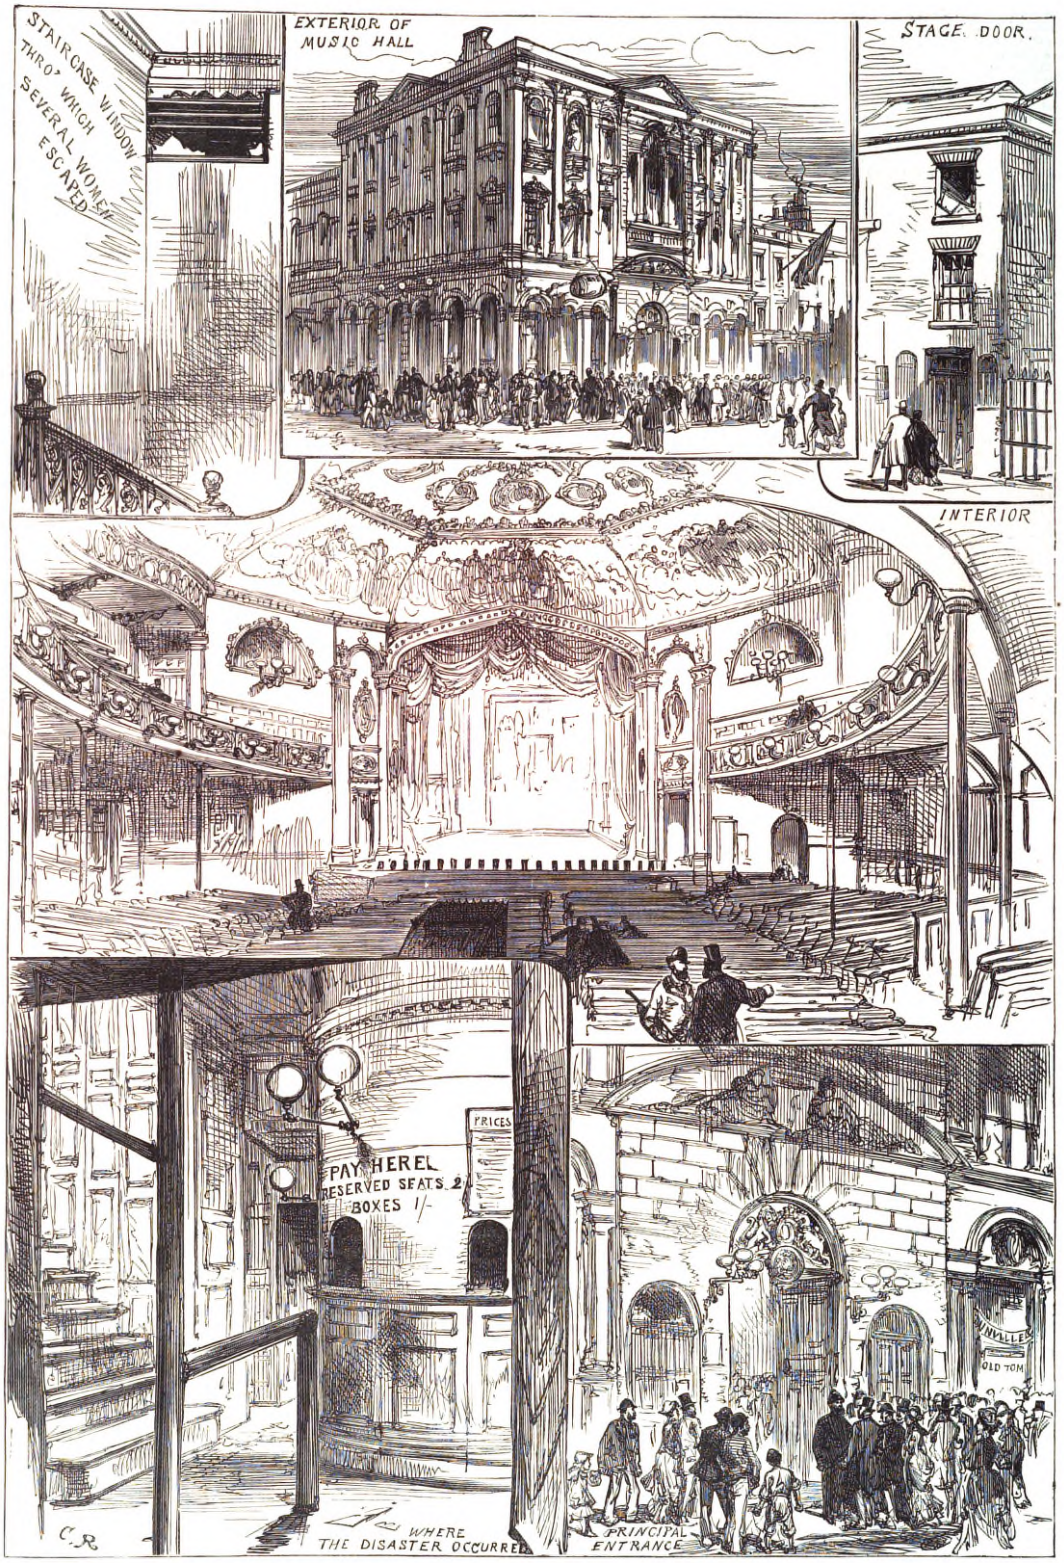
N.B.—A complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS OF CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE. No. 118.—POPULAR MARCHES.



Marche Romaine .. .. ..

| | | |



THE EDDYST

FROM THE PICT

LIGHTHOUSE.

W. TURNER, R.A.

FATAL PANIC AND CRUSH AT THE COLOSSEUM MUSIC-HALL, LIVERPOOL.

FATAL PANIC IN A MUSIC-HALL.

A terrible disaster, causing the loss of nearly forty lives, happened yesterday week at Liverpool. It was a sudden panic and crush in a crowded public hall, the Colosseum in Paradise-street, which is nightly thronged with a company of a low class, chiefly youths and girls, listening to a vulgar sort of musical performance, while eating and drinking or smoking, as in some of the London music-halls. The hall was full, as usual on a Friday evening; the number is estimated at 4000 persons. About twenty minutes past eight, as Fred Coyne, one of the vocalists, was on the stage singing a comic song, a fight took place in the corner of the pit under the gallery. The disturbance increased, and those who were taking part in it could not be seen from every part of the house. Some one raised the cry of "Fire!" A great stampede ensued, a rush was made to the doors, and in a few minutes a large number of people were crushed under foot, being unable to escape from the building, the doors of which seem at first to have been closed. There are no less than six available exits, but the audience rushed to one leading into Paradise-street. As the free passage of the people there was interfered with by an upright in the centre of the doorway, there was a complete block. Hundreds rushed down from the gallery; others slid down the pillars on the heads of those in the pit. The police, seeing the shrieking crowd trying to emerge from the building, endeavoured to persuade them to hold back; but in vain. At length order was restored, and the people gradually made their way out of the main door, as well as by the other exits. The panic, however, had done its worst, though brief in duration. In a few moments thirty-seven dead and numbers of injured persons were carried out into the street. As fast as possible, they were placed in cabs and taken off to the Royal Infirmary. In the interval, different means for restoring animation were used under the direction of Dr. Worsley, of Manchester, who happened to be there at the time. Crowds of people followed the cabs to the Infirmary, and assembled round the entrance to that institution to watch the conveyance of the bodies into the hall. Here they were received by Dr. Damer Harrison, resident medical officer, Mr. Hodgson, and Mr. Twinem, assistant surgeons. One gentleman was appointed to ascertain whether there was life in the bodies; the others trying to recover those who were pronounced to be still living. But out of thirty-nine persons received only six were living; the others were all dead, and were placed in a small room in a melancholy array. The faces were in nearly every instance calm in appearance; and the verdict of the doctors, from the widely-opened mouths, was that death had resulted from suffocation. Few bore marks of outward injuries, but their torn clothing showed how severe had been the struggle. Three of the living were removed to the wards for medical treatment, two were able to walk away, and one remained, being more drunk than injured. Some of the injured were taken to the Northern and Southern Hospitals. At the former establishment one was received dead, and at the latter three. The structure of the building at the point where the crush took place is intricate. The exit converges into a narrow well, and in this the dead were collected, until they formed a ghastly pile six or seven bodies deep. The upright before referred to in the centre of the doorway stopped the passage, until one of the men attached to the place, having procured an axe, cut it away, and so enabled some of the imprisoned people to escape. A scene of great excitement prevailed outside the building. The fire-engine and fire-escape arrived on the scene, and the firemen, joining with the police, entered the building to reassure the people. Mr. Jacob Goodman, the manager, upon the first alarm, rushed into the pit and shouted to the audience to remain quiet, but his words had not the least effect on the excited throng. There does not appear to have been the least foundation for the alarm. The panic over, the people who had not left the hall remained, whilst others returned; but the performance was, of course, stopped, and the building was taken possession of by the police. Major Greig, the head constable, was present, and took occasion to warn the people against the folly of raising such panics. The bodies at the Royal Infirmary were laid out for identification next morning. There were two women amongst them; the rest were youths and boys, and so were the dead at the other hospitals.

Mr. Briggs Priestly, the Mayor of Bradford, last week opened a handsome block of thirteen dwelling-houses connected with the Bradford Tradesmen's Home, erected at the sole cost of Mrs. Wright, in memory of her husband, the late Mr. Isaac Wright, a former Mayor of Bradford. The expenditure was more than £5000, and an additional £1000 has been invested by Mrs. Wright's son, Mr. J. C. Wright, as an endowment for the repair of the houses. The thirteen houses make up forty-three, which form what is known as the Bradford Tradesmen's Home, which consists of dwelling-houses for unsuccessful tradesmen and their wives and widows in their declining years, and is situated on a broad area of ornamental ground in a pleasant suburb of Bradford.

There arrived at Liverpool last week from the United States and Canada 2120 live cattle, 6509 sheep, 809 pigs, and 10 calves, numbers which far exceed those of any other week since the trade in live stock was initiated. As regards sheep, the increase over any former period is enormous. The importation of live stock last week is significant from the fact that, although the weather experienced in most instances was very severe, the mortality amongst the animals in transit was small. There was also a larger supply of fresh meat. Four steamers arrived from New York and one from Philadelphia, bringing 4280 quarters of beef, 535 carcases of mutton, and 710 packages of fresh butter.—The steam-ship Brooklyn, recently bought by the Dominion Steam-Ship Company, arrived in the Mersey on Monday, from Canada, with her first cargo of live stock, comprising 2040 sheep and 442 head of fat cattle.

A case of most audacious fraud came before the Birmingham borough sessions yesterday week. George Dunn, described as a merchant, was convicted of various frauds. A few months ago he opened a small shop, and sent circulars all over the country, headed "The Birmingham Bedstead and General Hardware Company," requesting orders accompanied by remittances, as, according to the circular, the company intended "doing nothing but a cash trade." Numerous orders inclosing checks and post-office orders were sent to the "company," but no goods were received. When letters complaining of the delay in the sending of goods were sent to the prisoner, he replied that the delay was owing to the pressure of business, and issued prospectuses stating that the company had been turned into "Moore, Thomas, and Company (Limited), incorporated under the Companies Act 1862 and 1867, with a capital of £10,000, divided into 2000 shares of £5 each." The public were invited to take shares, and a large number was subscribed. It was proved that the company was not incorporated, and was in reality fictitious. After Dunn's arrest his stock-in-trade was sold for £6, and it appeared that he had been sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment as a fraudulent bankrupt at Leicester. He was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment.

ART.

THE PRESIDENCY OF THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

In accordance with the rules of the Royal Academy of Arts, a meeting of the members has been appointed to take place one month after the interment (on Saturday last) of Sir Francis Grant, in order to elect a successor to the presidential chair left vacant by his lamented death. The task of selection appears to be regarded as of more than ordinary difficulty and delicacy. At least four Academicians are named as presenting nearly equal claims; but it is not always certain that the office will be accepted by the member upon whom the choice may fall. It is no secret that, on the last election, the presidency was in the first instance offered to, and successively declined by, Sir Edwin Landseer and Mr. Maclise. On that occasion eminence in the artistic profession was evidently a paramount consideration in the minds of the Academicians (and very properly so) in the nomination of the official head of the fine arts in this country. And now, if the honour were to be offered to at least one of the most eminent members of the Academy it would be almost certainly declined, so unambitious is the character of some of the ablest artists of our school.

It may be interesting shortly to describe the process of election to the presidency—the same process applying equally to the election of Associates and their elevation to full Membership, and which has been unvaryingly used since the election of the present secretary. The plan is the more worthy of notice because it is, like many other of the internal regulations of the Academy—whatever may be its shortcomings in other respects—well devised to secure purity. We should premise that no voting by proxy is allowed. One reason is that members should not vote, as it were, in the dark, but have the benefit of the discussion in the council, or general meeting, on the merits of candidates or nominees. The names of those proposed for election are chalked on a black board, and each member has a list. Against the name of his choice the voter privately makes a mark or "scratch." All those names which have three or more marks are subjected to a fresh "scratching," and the two names which en suite receive the highest number of marks are finally put to a vote by ballot. Curiously enough, it not unfrequently happens that of the two names which come out of the second scratching with the most marks, the one which has a minority only comes out of the ballot with a majority.

To speculate respecting the probable successor to Sir Francis Grant is not unnatural. An attempt, however, to influence the choice of the Academy in favour of any individual candidate or candidates, is not, we conceive, within our province. There are several Academicians almost equally eligible; and the Forty themselves should be in a better position to estimate relative suitability than any "outsider." Nevertheless, there are some most important considerations which may, without impropriety, be submitted to the Academicians; seeing that all bodies, self-elective, and holding their councils within closed doors, are liable, however unconsciously, to be biassed by corporate interests or prestige, and personal predilections, in forgetfulness, more or less, of public obligations. First, then, it is of the highest consequence that the future President should be the best artist that can be induced to accept the post. Although the office is most inadequately paid, the honour (which on that account is the greater) should go to the worthiest. It is likewise most desirable that he should belong to no clique, and that his art should be of indigenous, not exotic, growth—should represent the national life and character. For, such an artist would, in a measure, raise the status and increase the estimation of British art, both at home and abroad. Secondly, the future President should—since the Academy is a school as well as an arena for the profession at large—be an active and enlightened promoter of art-education, and an impartial and sympathetic friend to his brethren both within and without the academic pale. The President has little power directly; his throne resembles that of a Constitutional Monarch; he has only a casting vote in the event of a balance of votes. Indirectly, however, he can exert much influence alike in the secret councils of the Academy, and in many public relations which are or should be incidental to the office. But, though desirable, it is not necessary that he should have a scholarly acquaintance with the history of art, like Sir Charles Eastlake; or be able to give, like Sir Joshua Reynolds, a masterly exposition of its principles; or, indeed, be a teacher otherwise than by his work; for there are Professors within and attached to the Academy.

Other requirements are quite secondary, or purely fanciful. An absurd impression seems to prevail that the President of the Royal Academy should be, before all things, a courtier and an orator—perhaps because there have been one or more Presidents that were these, and little more. But the first and greatest President, Sir Joshua Reynolds, was no courtier in the sense intended; rather, he himself was courted by the major part of the rank and wealth, the beauty and learning of his time. A mere rhetorical display is barely listened to in the first assemblage of the realm: and few men who have received a liberal art education would be incapable of setting forth in an acceptable manner the plain facts concerning the progress of British art, which is all that is looked for from the President on returning thanks to the toast of the Royal Academy at the annual dinner in Burlington House. The Court and aristocracy do honour to themselves in honouring the arts which adorn the life of all classes in their degree. The day has happily long past when British artists were almost entirely dependent on fashionable "patronage"—and that vouchsafed for portraiture alone. It is the great middle class that has created the enormously increased demand for the products of British genius and taste. It is the great British public that has caused the marvellous development of British art, which has placed it, at least in several of its applications to industry, second to none, if not superior to all, in the world-wide competition now about to close in the capital of our artistic neighbours. T. J. G.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC EXHIBITION.

The annual exhibition of the Photographic Society of Great Britain is now open for a short time at the gallery of the Society of Painters in Water Colours, Pall-mall. We miss from the walls some of the most valuable contributors of former years; particularly of the class of amateurs whose legitimate success was due to their aiming at purely scientific and artistic results, without resorting to any artifice to secure a trading profit. We think the society would act wisely by not only rendering (as already done) ineligible for a medal photographs "improved" by hand, but by limiting the works admissible in the exhibition to pure photographs from unsophisticated negatives. At all events, any "retouching" of portraits, any additions of skies to landscapes, any "combination" contrivances; in short, any falsification of the direct products of the camera from nature, taken at a single sitting, should be distinctly avowed in the catalogue. This would prevent the exhibition from degenerating into a show-room and advertising medium for the benefit, principally, of those who are least scrupulous in the means adopted to catch the eye and flatter ignorant or perverted taste.

Take, for example, the portraits. We may safely say that nearly the whole have been touched up by hand; in most cases the flesh has been stippled all over, though the touches may be almost too minute for the eye to follow. It is this "retouching" which gives the waxen hue or the woolly or puffy surface to the flesh, the insipid expression, the characterless want of detail, the glaring eyes, that render so much photographic portraiture comparatively worthless. A remarkable illustration of the truth of our remark is afforded in the present display. We allude to two photographs by Mr. G. Nesbitt, from a negative portrait of a man in slouched hat and swathed cloak, called "The Brigand." The first (142) is "untouched," as stated in the catalogue; the other (202) has undergone the usual manipulation. In the former the eye may, it is true, lack due brilliancy; the lips may be too white, owing to the diffusion of the light on smooth surfaces in photography; the skin may appear unnaturally coarse, and freckles and the colour of the hair may be much deepened in tone, because, while photography is almost insensible to the softening pearly tints, it greatly exaggerates in intensity the yellows and reds. Nevertheless, an artist would not hesitate for a moment in preferring the former. The difference is that between a painting by Rembrandt in his more vigorous manner and a tame, over-wrought miniature.

Several other portraits by Messrs. Lombardi, Slingsby, Boucher, and Lock and Whitfield possess much merit, making due deduction for the retouching; and the costume portraits of Mr. Shuter may afford suggestions to artists. Mr. Faulker's faint portraits of children on opal glass strengthened in sepia are more frankly wrought up by hand, and are charming vignette sketches, so to speak. This operator is peculiarly happy in seizing—of course by thei nstantaneous process—the characteristic attitudes and gestures of his little models. It is much easier to work by the instantaneous process on a small scale, and a tiny photograph may be enlarged to nearly any dimensions, as shown in some remarkable examples exhibited by the Autotype Company. The value of the process in the rendering of animals is illustrated in contributions by Mr. H. Dixon; and in sea-studies with yachts in full sail, by Mr. P. Jennings—the later of which have been awarded a medal. In the department of "genre" a medal has also been given to Mr. G. Nesbett for an artistically arranged group of a little girl fondling a dog with a "broken leg" enveloped in bandages. Another medal has been carried off by Mr. A. W. Wilson for one of an expressive series of figures illustrating Shakspeare's "Seven Ages of Man."

In landscape the exhibition is, as usual, very rich. Some views in Warwickshire, by Mr. Bedford, leave, it need hardly be said, nothing to desire. They are "not for competition," Mr. Bedford having been a member of the jury. To Mr. Vernon Heath a medal has been awarded for a series of landscapes; and there are many other admirable works in this section by Captain Abney, Messrs. H. Cooper, Pringle, &c. One of the surprises of the exhibition is the excellence of the work turned out by the School of Military Engineering, Chatham, considering that the students can have little experience of the requirements of picturesque landscape photography. A view "Near Bettws-y-Coed" by the school has been justly awarded a medal, although there are few planes of distance to test the operator's delicacy of chemical manipulation and focal adjustment. Mr. England sends numerous illustrations of the buildings and courts of the Paris Universal Exhibition; and Mr. G. Berwick points to the applications of photography to scientific purposes in his "Micr photographs." Mr. Warnercke has lent a highly interesting series of Russian and Swedish subjects, some of them taken in the Russian state establishments. The Woodbury Company (to whom a medal has been given) exhibit samples of its highly ingenious process of reproduction in a series of "book illustrations," which present great fidelity to the originals from which they were taken. By the side of the printed impressions are the metal blocks from which they were taken; and a fresh wonder is awakened at seeing hard metal dug into as though it were by the burin, knowing all the while that those furrows are due to pressure of a mere photographic film. The sole drawback of the process—and it is only a commercial one that is perhaps compensated for by other advantages—is that the printing is less direct than in the rapidly-improving processes of the "Eliotype," the French "Photogravure," and the "Autotype." A transparency of an interior taken by lamp or gas light (of course, by means of a long exposure), exhibited by Mr. Bennet, is suggestive of the possibility of new applications of photography being found on the introduction of electrical lighting.

A rule of the society which forbids the introduction of photographs coloured by hand has not prevented some specimens of the so-called "Poikilographic Process" of colouring, introduced by Lombardi and Co., from finding their way to the stairs leading to the gallery. These are simply photographic transparencies on thin prepared paper or canvas, painted in colours on the reverse, so as to show through. Artistically considered, the process is almost valueless, though less objectionable than painting on the obverse, for the reason that the photograph is less obscured and falsified. It is also an advance on the "photochromie" of M. Vidal—that is to say, the application of variously-coloured films of gelatine—for the display of which a special pavilion has been provided in the Champ de Mars. But it is obviously not the slightest approach to photographing in colours: the photographers are as far off as ever from making Apollo a colourist as well as draughtsman; and, if they were to succeed, the result would be no more a work of art than the present photograph is so, and the sun-god would be no more an artist than he now is. In the section of apparatus, a medal has been awarded to Cadett's patent pneumatic shutter, devised for rapidly closing the mouth of the camera. It is more portable than the electrical apparatus for the same purpose.

We may announce, in conclusion, that a competition is invited, by the dry-plate process now so much in use, for a prize of £50, offered by Mr. Joseph Paget.

The Duke of Marlborough has appointed Lord Gough and Sir R. Wallace to be trustees of the Irish National Gallery.

The Duke of Connaught yesterday week, at the Guildhall, distributed the Queen's prizes awarded to students of the Metropolitan Drawing Classes.

Our portrait of the late Mr. Justice Keogh in last week's issue was taken from a photograph by Mr. Cranfield, of Grafton-street, Dublin.

The Lord Mayor's colleagues in the representation of the Ward of Bishopsgate have presented his Lordship with a portrait of the Lady Mayoress, painted by Mr. Hughes, R.A.

The private view of the Twenty-sixth Annual Winter Exhibition of Pictures at the French Gallery will take place next Saturday, and the exhibition will be open to the public on Monday, the 28th inst.

The French Government has ordered a statue and two busts of M. Thiers—the former for the Museum of Versailles—of M.

Guillaume; and the others, one for the institute and one for the native city of the illustrious statesman, of M. Chanu and Madame Claude Vignon.

The final casting of Mr. Foley's equestrian statue of the late Lord Gough, which was to be erected on Carlisle Bridge, Dublin, was successfully accomplished on Saturday afternoon at the foundry of Messrs. Masefield and Co., Chelsea. It is expected that the work will be completed and in readiness for the formal ceremony of unveiling within six months. This statue, which was originally sketched by Mr. Foley, has been finished by his pupil and chief assistant, Mr. Thomas Brock.

The funeral of Sir Francis Grant took place at Melton Mowbray last Saturday, the ceremony being performed by the Archbishop of York, Chaplain to the Royal Academy, and the Rev. Dr. Collis, Vicar of Melton Mowbray. The funeral was attended by, in addition to the members of the deceased's family, most of the chief members of the Royal Academy. The pall-bearers were the Duke of Rutland, Lord Kinnaird, Viscount Hardinge, Mr. Charles Grant, and Mr. W. C. Marshall, R.A., Mr. Cope, R.A., Mr. Frith, R.A., and Mr. Redgrave, R.A. Colonel Grant and Mrs. Grant were the chief mourners. Mr. George Scharf, Keeper and Secretary of the National Portrait Gallery, was present at the funeral. Sir Francis was a trustee of the Gallery, and always manifested a warm interest in its advancement. Mr. Alfred Bierstadt, the American landscape-painter, attended as the representative of the Fine-Arts Society of the United States.

The Society of Arts announce that their opening meeting will be held on Nov. 20, when the chairman's address will be given and the following medals presented:—The Albert Medal (gold), for "Distinguished Merit in Promoting Arts, Manufactures, or Commerce," to Sir William G. Armstrong, "because of his distinction as an engineer and as a scientific man;" to Alexander Graham Bell, for his paper on "The Telephone;" to J. Bennett Lawes, for his paper on "Freedom in the Growth and Sale of the Crops of the Farm, considered in its bearings upon the interests of Landowners and Tenant Farmers;" to W. H. Preece for his paper on "The Phonograph or Talking Machine;" to R. M. Gover, for his paper on "Dietaries in their Physiological, Practical, and Economic Aspects;" to Basil H. Cooper for his paper on "Egyptian Obelisks and their Relation to Chronology and Art;" to H. B. Cotterill, for his paper on "A Year on the Nyassa, with Notes on the Slave Trade, and on the prospects and means of opening up the surrounding country;" to Sir Joseph Fayrer, M.D., for his paper on "The Destruction of Life in India by Wild Animals;" to W. T. Thornton, for his paper on "Irrigation regarded as a Preventive of Indian Famine;" to Colonel J. T. Smith, R.E., formerly Master of the Mint, Madras and Calcutta, for his paper on "The Depreciation of the Value of Silver, with especial reference to the exchange between India and England, and suggestions for a remedy;" to F. C. Danvers, for his paper on "Agriculture in India;" to James Mactear, for his paper on "Some Recent Improvements Connected with Alkali Manufacture;" to Dr. Yates for his paper on "Higher Commercial Education;" and to Mr. Thomas Wills, on "Explosions in Coal-Mines." The following examination prizes have been awarded:—The Prince Consort's prize of 25 guineas to G. W. Irons, who has obtained nine first-class certificates; the council prize (for female candidates) of 10 guineas to Emma Dickes, of the Birkbeck Literary and Scientific Institution, who has obtained three first-class certificates and about twenty other prizes in commercial and other subjects. The council also announce that the following papers will be read:—On Nov. 27, "The Land of Midian," by Captain Burton; Dec. 4, "The Electric Light," fully illustrated with experiments, by T. N. Shoolbred; Dec. 11, "The Route to India, with especial reference to the Euphrates Valley Railway," by Hyde Clarke; Dec. 18, "Science Teaching in Elementary Schools," by Dr. Gladstone, F.R.S.; and the first course (six in number) of lectures by W. M. Williams on "The Manufacture of Mathematical Instruments."

The Misses Brooke, sisters of the late Mr. John Brooke, Q.C., have forwarded to the National Life-Boat Institution £600 to defray the cost of a new boat for Cahore, on the coast of Wexford.

The Bradford and Thornton portion of a new railway in course of construction between Bradford and Halifax, and Bradford and Keighley, in connection with the Great Northern system was opened on Monday for passenger traffic. The work was begun four years ago. This portion of the line has been open some time for mineral traffic.

At the meeting of the Surrey magistrates last Tuesday the report of the committee of visitors appointed to provide an additional lunatic asylum for the county, which contained a recommendation that the plans of the new asylum and the estimates prepared by them be sanctioned, and that the finance committee be empowered to raise £200,000 when called upon to do so by the committee of visitors, to be at their disposal as they might require, was agreed to.

A public meeting, attended by the leading agriculturists of the district, was held on Tuesday at the Royal Hotel, Slough, for the purpose of establishing a corn market at that place. There is already a cattle market of considerable importance held on Tuesdays at Slough, and it has been thought that the addition of a corn market would be a great convenience. A resolution having been unanimously passed that a corn market be held every Tuesday at one o'clock, the market was on Tuesday declared open. The market will be held for a time at the Royal Hotel, near the railway station.

All the arrangements are complete for the holding of the twenty-second annual Congress of the National Association for the Promotion of Social Science, which will be held at Cheltenham next week, beginning on Wednesday. The week's programme may be summed up as follows:—On Wednesday, the 23rd, after morning meetings of the committee of departments and the council, there will be a sermon in the afternoon by the Rev. Dr. Barry, Canon of Worcester, at the parish church, and at the evening meeting, at the Assembly-room, at eight o'clock, the President (Lord Norton) will deliver the inaugural address. The addresses of the presidents of the different departments will be given on successive mornings—viz., on Thursday by Professor Bonomy Price (Economy and Trade); on Friday by the Hon. George Broderick (Education); on Saturday by Mr. W. H. Michael, Q.C., F.C.S. (Health); on Monday, 28th, by Mr. Commissioner Miller, Q.C., LL.D. (Jurisprudence and Amendment of the Law); and on Tuesday by Mr. Gambier Parry (Art). On the last morning, Wednesday, the 30th, the president of the council, Mr. G. W. Hastings, will also give an address. The five departments will meet daily in different sections during the week. On Thursday night there is to be a conversazione, on Saturday there will be excursions to places in the neighbourhood, and on the following Tuesday a conversazione will be held at the Ladies' College. The concluding meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon, the 30th, at the Queen's Hotel.

THEATRES.

Two new pieces, both of an irregular character, have been produced since our last notice—one at the Folly, and the other at the Court; the former a success, the latter with an equivocal result.

The former is an extravaganza, entitled "Tantalus; or, Many a Slip 'Twixt Cup and Lip," by Arthur Matthison and Charles Wyndham. They who recollect "the musical madness, in three fyttes," called "The Night of Terror," or "La Boite à Bibi," on which it was founded, will understand the kind of thing now produced. "Tantalus" is divided into "five sips," in which the hero is brought into near but not actual contact with the object of his desire, that even to the end evades his pursuit. The incidents are partly suggested by some of the situations in "La Boite à Bibi" aforesaid, so far connected with the previous piece alluded to as "The Night of Terrors." The hero is personated by Mr. W. J. Hill, as one Mark Chubbley, a sentimental locksmith, in love with an aristocratic lady, Madame Vere de Vere, a widow (Miss Annie Poole), and meets with the most ludicrous accidents in the course of his adventures. It is almost impossible to describe these within reasonable limits. They are scarcely intelligible when witnessed, they would be much less so if told. Besides, the interest could not be maintained in the narrative. The central situation is the unconscious drugging of Chubbley, who in a state of insensibility is treated not as a man but as a thing. The action throughout proceeds with a dazzling and perplexing rapidity which precludes even any attempt at reflection. Character is out of the question One, however, is permitted to make its mark; that of Mrs. Gunne-Cotton (Miss Lydia Thompson), whose husband, Major Gunne-Cotton (Mr. Lionel Brough), with his Irish extravagance, provokes the jealousy or impatience of his excitable partner. The whole passes before the mind as a perpetually-changing panorama, like an evanescent vision, which fades as soon as seen. The scenes are artistically illustrated with fashionable accessories, well calculated to ensure the success of the performance.

The Court is now under the temporary conduct of Mr. W. H. Stephens, who appears to work under disadvantage. Miss Agnes Leonard is the leading actress of his company. The new piece is entitled "Memories;" it is in three acts, and written, it is whispered, by Mr. T. A. Palmer. Like its predecessor, "Marie, the Pearl of Savoy," it appears to be deficient in the requisite dramatic art, without which, in these days, no so-called drama can take possession of the boards. Not having been invited to witness the performance, we cannot personally speak as to its merits.

POSTAL NOTICES.

NEWSPAPERS FOR FOREIGN PARTS.

A very large number of newspapers posted for foreign parts are daily kept back and sent to the Returned Letter Office in consequence of one or more of the regulations not being complied with. In the great majority of cases these newspapers cannot be returned to the senders, so that not only do they fail to reach the persons for whom they were intended, but the senders themselves are unaware of their having been detained. The most common fault in these cases is an insufficient prepayment of the postage. Some of the newspapers are prepaid a half-penny only, which is the postage for an inland newspaper, and some, although exceeding four ounces in weight, are prepaid only a penny, the right postage in most cases being a penny for every four ounces, or fraction of that weight, in the case of each separate newspaper. A large proportion of the newspapers are found to be written upon, or to have inclosures, sometimes letters, inserted in them, and not a few are posted beyond eight days from the date of publication. The public are requested, in order to prevent disappointment to themselves, to be careful not only to prepay sufficient postage on the newspapers which they post for foreign parts, but also to comply strictly with all the regulations affecting such newspapers as laid down in the "British Postal Guide."

BOOKS FOR THE UNITED STATES.

In a communication received from the United States Post Office in December last, and announced to the public, it was stated that a book sent from this country to the United States in the mails was exempt from Customs duty provided it did not exceed in value one dollar. The Postmaster-General has now been informed by the United States Post Office that this exemption is not an absolute right, but is altogether subject to the discretion of the collectors of Customs, who are instructed not to permit the delivery of books imported through the mails which are sent by publishers or booksellers in the way of trade, or which, from the quantity or other circumstances, are presumably intended for the use of anyone other than the person to whom they are addressed, even though such books are of less value than one dollar. It should be understood that no exemption from duty will be allowed except in the case of single copies of books transmitted through the post for the use of private persons sent in good faith for that purpose.

Through the use of the electric light a football-match, witnessed by nearly 30,000 persons, was played on Monday night at Sheffield.

The South London Free Library and Reading-Room will be open for men and women daily (excepting Saturday and Sunday) from 9.30 until twelve, as well as in the evening.

Baron Dimsdale was on Monday elected Deputy-Chairman of the Herts Quarter Sessions, in succession to Earl Cowper, who was elected Chairman on the retirement of Lord Salisbury; and at the Oxfordshire Quarter Sessions on the same day Mr. C. E. Thornhill was unanimously elected Chairman of County Sessions, in the place of Mr. Hugh Hamersley, who retires; the Earl of Jersey being unanimously appointed Vice-Chairman in Mr. Thornhill's place.

One of the balloons with which the military authorities have been experimenting at Woolwich escaped on Monday out of the hands of those engaged about it. The balloon had been inflated with gas to the height of sixty feet, and twenty men were holding it to the ground. The wind, however, being gusty, the balloon broke away and sailed aloft with only two or three sand bags attached to the netting. It touched terra firmâ again the same evening in Essex, and was secured.

On Monday the Duke of Cambridge reviewed the troops stationed at Colchester, on the parade ground at Middlewick Farm, near that town.—The Duke of Cambridge, who has been at Port mouth on his annual inspection, was present last Tuesday at a sham fight on Portsdown-hill. About five thousand men were engaged, the defending force occupying Fort Fareham, on the crest of the hill. The object of the attack was to carry the fort by assault, so as to plant artillery on the hill and destroy Portsmouth Dockyard. After nearly an hour's vigorous fighting, the Duke decided that the attack had been successful. A march past concluded the day's engagement, in which the local rifle volunteers took part.

THE RETURN OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY.

It does not seem as though Russia intended to withdraw more than a portion of her army from Turkey, the province of Eastern Roumelia, as well as Bulgaria, still remaining in her military occupation. But the Imperial Guards, and other bodies of troops, have been conducted home to St. Petersburg, where they were greeted, in some instances, with a triumphal reception, but without much popular enthusiasm. The entry of a regiment of Cossacks on the 20th ult. is the subject of our Illustration, from a sketch by Mr. John Beer. The scene upon this occasion, however, was surpassed three or four days later by the entry of the Imperial Grenadier Life Guards, accompanied by four field batteries of Guards Artillery, a battalion of Sappers, the Staff of the Guards Corps, and a squadron of Life Guards Gendarmerie, all of whom were loudly cheered. Among the Grenadiers there was a whole company of Knights of St. George, several of them being decorated with two and even three crosses. The St. George is the only military order par excellence in the Russian army, and is given for personal valour on the field of battle. There are four grades of the soldier's order and four of the officer's. Of the former, the first two are silver crosses, the second two golden ones. The members of the Imperial family were present at the ceremony of reception. The inhabitants of the poorest quarter of the city welcomed the Grenadiers right hospitably, and treated them to a good dinner, with plenty to drink and smoke, every shopkeeper and inhabitant contributing his share of the entertainment. The same thing was done by the dwellers of the Vasily Ostrof, or William's Island (encircled by the waters of the Great and Small Neva), for the Finnish regiment, which is quartered in that part of the town. The tobacconists contributed cigarettes, the bakers bread, the butchers meat, and the publicans beer and vodka. Two days after their entrance into the city the officers of the Imperial Grenadiers were entertained at dinner by the members of the River Yacht Club.

METROPOLITAN DRAWING CLASSES.

Yesterday week, at an evening meeting, his Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught presented to the successful competitors the prizes given by the Queen for students of the Metropolitan Drawing Classes in connection with the South Kensington Museum. The ceremony took place at the Guildhall, in the presence of a large assembly, the Lord Mayor occupying the chair. The Duke remarked that the results of the present examinations had been most successful, and that nowhere in the kingdom had they been more so than in the metropolitan classes, which had taken one fifth of the total number of prizes. He must, he added, congratulate the working men of London upon having these opportunities of improving themselves in the art of drawing, which would qualify them for higher employment in trades and handicrafts. These classes are opened at Blackfriars, Marylebone and Paddington, Westminster, Somers-town, Hoxton, Chelsea and Battersea, Lambeth, Stockwell, Bermondsey, Peckham, Deptford, Woolwich Arsenal, Hampstead, and Croydon, under the direction of Mr. W. Busbridge, first-class certificated teacher, assisted by Messrs. Ellercamp, J. Busbridge, Grover, and Spencer; each class for one evening in the week, besides lessons to be done by the pupils at home. The instruction comprises geometrical drawing, machine construction and drawing, building construction and architectural drawing. Local examinations take place in each class at the end of the course, which terminates in May, when every student who gains a sufficient number of marks is entitled to a Queen's Prize. The prizes, thus unlimited in number, consist of books, drawing instruments, colour-boxes, and microscopes, with gold and other medals. Her Majesty and most of her sons and daughters are themselves accomplished in the art of drawing; and it is pleasing to observe that these classes are specially patronised by the Royal Family.

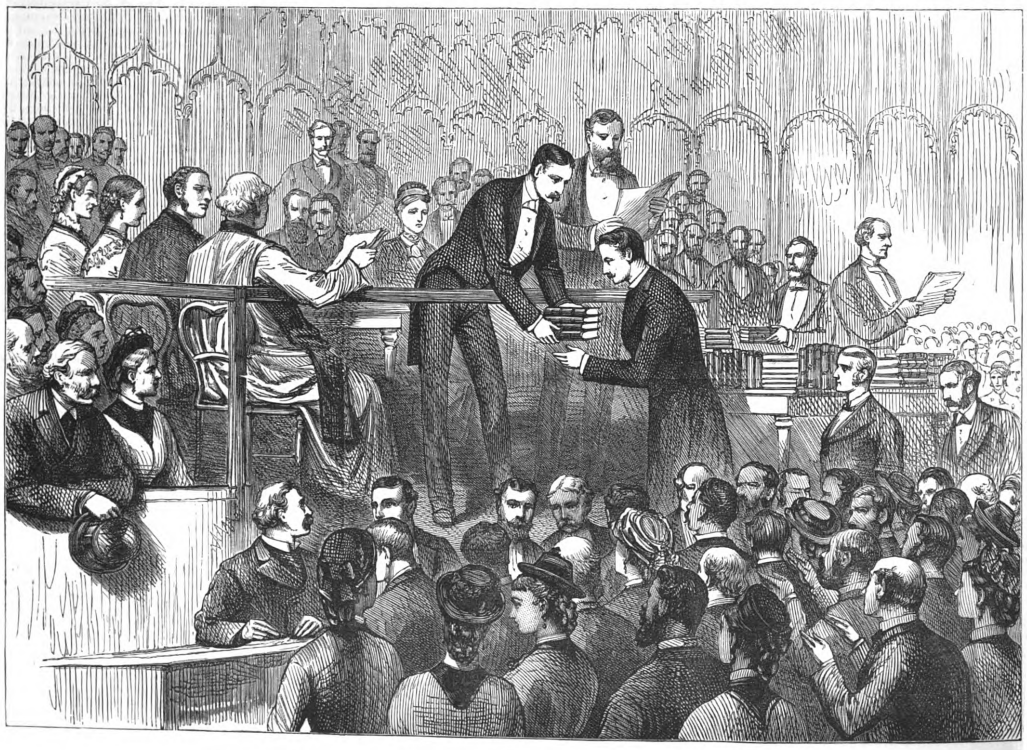
THE CITY OF GLASGOW BANK.

Yesterday week a meeting of the shareholders in the City Bank was held in Glasgow. The idea of resuscitating the bank was, it is stated, regarded as hopeless, and the general feeling is said to have been favourable to voluntary liquidation as against compulsory liquidation. A committee of ten Glasgow shareholders was appointed, to act with the Edinburgh and Aberdeen committees, and take such steps as they considered requisite for the general interests of the shareholders. Stock in the bank to the amount of £73,917 is held by the committee.

A meeting of the managers of the Scotch banks was held at the Bank of Scotland head office at Edinburgh, on the 11th inst., for the further consideration of the facilities to be afforded to the City of Glasgow Bank depositors. The conclusion arrived at is contained in an announcement to the effect that the banks are now prepared to allow depositors of the City of Glasgow Bank, whose accounts may be taken over by them at their head office or branches, and who are not shareholders of or debtors to that bank, the following facilities—viz., 1. On all accounts or receipts where the total balances do not exceed £200 one half of the amount will either be placed to depositors' credit on current account, or a deposit receipt will be granted therefor, payable on demand. 2. On all accounts or receipts where the total balances exceed £200 the banks will issue deposit receipts for one half of the amount, repayable upon a notice of twelve months. It will be necessary in every case that a certificate be procured beforehand from the City of Glasgow Bank stating the amount due to the depositor, and that he is neither a shareholder nor indebted to the bank. The City Bank, however, have given official notice that they will not be prepared to issue these certificates until after the 18th inst. In all cases the full amount of the deposits must be transferred to the banks, who will charge the same against the City of Glasgow Bank, and account to the depositors for all payments recovered from that bank.

There have been other failures in connection with this bank.

The Cardiff Town Council has decided to buy the local waterworks for £300,000.



The Ludlow Agricultural Society held their annual ploughing-match last Saturday on Lord Windsor's estate at Felton. There were sixteen competitors, and the ploughing prize was taken by John Russell, in the employ of Mr. E. Groucott.

The Irish Sunday Closing Act came into force last Sunday. The Dublin constabulary were instructed to see that it was observed, and the suburban districts presented a quiet appearance. In many places of worship, both Roman Catholic and Protestant, allusion was made to the enactment, with the object of interesting the congregations in its success.

During the quarter ending September last, 349 seamen were admitted to the Dreadnought Seamen's Hospital, Greenwich, as in-patients from the British and foreign ships, of which number seventy-four came from the port of London, twenty-one from Liverpool, twenty-four from Glasgow, eight from Newcastle, eight from Hartlepool, and seven each from Shields and Sunderland. In addition to the British seamen, eighty sailors of different nationalities were benefited.

RETURN OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY: TRIUMPHAL ENTRY OF COSSACKS INTO ST. PETERSBURG.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT DISTRIBUTING THE QUEEN'S PRIZES FOR DRAWING AT GUILDHALL.

THE LATE MR. WHALLEY, M.P.

A brief record of the public life of this hon. gentleman, who died in his sixty-sixth year, at his residence near Llangollen on the 7th inst., was given in our last publication. He had been nearly twenty years M.P. for Peterborough; but his usefulness in the Legislature was much impaired by a singular want of tact, and of the sense of due proportion and plausible likelihood, in his pertinacious advocacy of views not conducive to the harmonious progress of business. Mr. Whalley was, nevertheless, a man of considerable intelligence, of cultivated mind, and of unquestionable sincerity; cordially patriotic and benevolent, and with an enthusiastic love of justice. His local influence and activity as a Welsh landowner in Denbighshire, Montgomery, and Merioneth, as a magistrate, guardian of the poor, railway director, and patron of volunteer corps, and in various industrial undertakings, were exercised much to the general advantage. Personally, in social and domestic intercourse, he was a good deal liked, and esteemed by those who knew him. The friendly remarks to this effect of our regular contributor "G. A. S.," in our last "Echoes of the Week," have drawn forth a responsive testimony from Mr. Freeland Filliter, Recorder of Wareham, who was intimately acquainted with "poor George Hammond Whalley." We readily admit that gentleman's expression of high regard for Mr. Whalley's "simple, kindly, true-hearted, and unselfish nature;" and many other persons will agree in saying that they always found him ready to do a kind action. He was, in short, a good man and clever man, with an imperfect faculty of critical perception, and with a sanguine rashness of temperament, which too often led him into eccentric mistakes. It may be observed, before quitting this mention of the late Mr. Whalley, that he was a lineal descendant of Edmund Whalley, cousin to Oliver Cromwell, and one of the members of the "High Court of Justice" which tried King Charles I. in 1649. There was an ancestor of remoter date who held a high place at the Court of Edward VI.

THE LATE MR. G. H. WHALLEY, M.P.

Our Portrait of Mr. Whalley is from a photograph by Messrs. Barraud and Jerrard.

THE PLATT MONUMENT AT OLDHAM.

This monument, dedicated to the memory of the late Mr. John Platt, M.P. for Oldham, was unveiled by his widow the other day in front of the Townhall, Oldham. Mr. Platt was member for Oldham from 1865 to 1872, the time of his death. He was a Liberal in politics; and, as the head of the great machine firm of Platt Brothers and Co. (Limited), commanded large influence in Oldham. The inaugural ceremony was celebrated with great rejoicing. A procession was formed of upwards of 10,000 people; the streets were decorated with flags, and at night the town was illuminated. The monument, which is a statue in bronze, is the work of Mr. D. W. Stevenson, Edinburgh, and cost 3000 guineas. Its pedestal has three supporting female figures, designed to personify Mathematical Science, Engineering, and the Cotton Manufacture.

MONUMENT TO THE LATE MR. JOHN PLATT, M.P., AT OLDHAM.

THE LATE MR. GEORGE THOMPSON.

Those who are old enough to recollect the habits and customs of public discussion and "agitation" some thirty years ago, methods which have to a great extent been superseded by the penny newspaper of these days, will appreciate, better than the youth of the present generation can, the profession of platform orator and lecturer at large popular meetings. The Anti-Slavery cause, the Anti-Corn-Law struggle, and the efforts to carry measures of Parliamentary Reform, Extension of the Suffrage, the Ballot, and so on, beyond the Act of 1832, were served with great industry and ability by a special class of accomplished speakers, the like of whom scarcely now remain in public view. They were, as distinguished from the zealous men of independent position combining to promote such beneficial objects, persons whose talents and training had fitted them to make this avocation the business of their lives, and who, having from conviction adopted certain ideas of political or social welfare, were engaged for due pecuniary remuneration to do the work of promulgating them. One of the most eminent of this class was the late Mr. George Thompson, whose recent death at Leeds, in his seventy-fifth year, has been announced in our Journal. We have already noticed the most important of his labours, beginning with the ever-memorable contest for the abolition of slavery in the British West Indian colonies, leading to the Act of 1834; then extending to an active share in the American crusade of Lloyd Garrison and others, for a similar purpose, in the United States; afterwards taking up the questions of Free Trade and Constitutional Reform in England, which gained for him, in 1847, as a prominent second-rate politician, the seat in the House of Commons for the Tower Hamlets. These historical achievements, no doubt, have during the last quarter of a century been overlaid by a great press of other national and international concerns; but the names of those who proved worthy champions of every righteous cause, when it was tried upon its merits, ought not to be entirely forgotten. Mr. George Thompson's later years have been spent in the retirement of private life.

THE LATE MR. GEORGE THOMPSON.

The portrait is from a photograph by Mr. C. H. Braithwaite, of Briggate, Leeds.

SKETCHES IN CYPRUS.

The letter from "S. P. O.," our Special Artist and Correspondent in Cyprus, which was printed in last week's paper, narrated his journeys through the Carpas district of Eastern Cyprus, starting on the 2nd ult. from Famagusta, and passing through Trikomo, St. Theodoro, Hepta Khumi, and Khumi Kebir, visiting the decayed Greek monastery of Kantara, and returning to Trikomo; thence again making an excursion to Cythræa, by way of Syngrassi and Levconico, not to mention several insignificant villages. It was an official tour made by Captain Swaine, the British Commissioner for the district, which gave our Special Artist the opportunity, by kind permission, of accompanying that officer in this round of administrative inspection. Very soon after setting out from Famagusta, proceeding northward along the seacoast, in the neighbourhood of the ancient Greek fort and town of Salamis, our Artist made his two sketches of a remarkable structure called the Church of St. Katharina, and used by the Greek clergy as a church, but which is of remote antiquity, in form a rude vault, built of large stones without mortar or cement, the "Cyclopean" kind of building, and which he considers to have originally been a sepulchre. It is hopeless to guess by whom or when it was constructed, the island of Cyprus having been occupied by so many different races in pre-historic and historic times. The roof appears to have been formerly covered with a tumulus, or heap of stones, protecting the ANCIENT SEPULCHRE IN CYPRUS.

INTERIOR OF SEPULCHRE, USED AS A CHURCH.

sepulchral chamber from access, as in some of the Celtic tombs of Western Europe; and the remains of this tumulus still lie around its base. The size of some of the stone blocks in the building is enormous, reminding the visitor of those at Tiryns, near Mycenæ, in the Peloponnesus of Greece. There were two other tumuli of similar appearance in sight at this place.

The subject of the next Sketch of Cyprus we have to notice was mentioned in the letter published last week. It is the scene at the village of Hepta Khumi, when the British Commissioner, who is popularly called by the Turkish official title of Kaimakam, had to sit in magisterial judgment upon a case of assault, in which a peasant girl, or rather her parents, bore the part of complainant. Mr. Parkes, an English gentleman who has taken up his residence in that district, met Captain Swaine and his party at this village. We are assured that the decision pronounced by the British Kaimakam, in this and other cases, gave satisfaction to the local public; but our Special Correspondent, in a previous letter, dated some days before he joined Captain Swaine or visited the eastern part of Cyprus, laments the deficiency of respectable and competent dragomans, or official interpreters. He says:—

"What we want is officials who can not only talk, but read and write, Turkish and understand Turkish accounts. At present matters are at a deadlock in this respect. Mr. Baring is the only one who talks and understands Turkish in the least, and he does not read or write it; at least, so I understand. Mr. Baring's father-in-law, who has been many years in our Consular service, is well fitted for the highest Government employ here; but the terms offered him are such as he could not possibly accept. All officialdom is in the hands of interpreters, and most unsatisfactory interpreters too. Justice and the administration of the government must suffer. A proper staff of Turkish-speaking Foreign Office officials, from Constantinople and Cairo, should be sent here. It is an uphill job for Sir Garnet Wolseley, with a raw staff, utterly ignorant of the requirements of a strange people, to administer the government. The whole administration will fall into disrepute if we are not alive to our interests which suffer now. Our Treasury is robbed with impunity, as no one knows accurately what should be paid in and what the revenues are; and that can never be arrived at as things are carried on at present.

"It may seem presumptuous for me to say so, but I cannot help thinking that the Executive has too much of the military element in it at present. It is all very well to appoint smart young subalterns of crack regiments as Commissioners and Assistant-Commissioners of districts, but a military education is hardly that which is best fitted to train civilian Judges; a staff of experienced Indian civil servants would have been far superior. As it is, all the appointments made to the districts are good as far as energy, hard work, and goodwill may do the utmost in their power."

The above remarks were written so far back as Aug. 28, and must not be taken as bearing reference to anything witnessed subsequently in the Carpas district, but may find their application more properly elsewhere. It could not have been expected that the British civil administration of Cyprus would at once be made perfect; it is nevertheless a vast improvement upon the barbarous Turkish anarchy, by which the island was all but irretrievably ruined. The Greek Christian population, at any rate, seem to be most grateful for the change.

The remaining Sketch presented this week is a view of the jagged summit of Mount Pentedactylon, about 2200 ft. high, looking over the nearer hills above Cythræa, which pleasant little town, with its surrounding groves and gardens, is situated nine miles to the north of Nicosia, the capital of Cyprus. Our Correspondent spoke with pleasure of his brief stay at Cythræa, which is agreeably shaded with trees, and watered with streams from the neighbouring mountains.

NEW BOOKS.

The history of comparatively brief periods and small transactions at the commencement of those new English communities beyond the ocean, which seem destined to grow into considerable nations, has a sort of ex post facto importance. Mr. F. P. Labillière, a native of Melbourne, residing now in London, and a zealous member of the Royal Colonial Institute, has compiled two volumes of the Early History of Victoria, published by Messrs. Sampson Low and Co. The first volume is chiefly occupied with the explorations, from 1798 to 1836, of that south-eastern corner of the Australian Continent which was an unknown land for a long time after the colonisation of New South Wales. The bold maritime adventures of Bass and Flinders, in boats or small vessels, with which they volunteered to examine the dangerous coast, are related with much exactness; and fresh light is cast upon the discovery of Port Phillip, in 1802, by Lieutenant Murray, commanding the Lady Nelson. Westernport, a large inlet not far eastward of Port Phillip, but not available for a commercial harbour, was discovered by Mr. George Bass, naval surgeon, four years before. Mr. Labillière is now enabled to publish, for the first time, the log of the Lady Nelson, as written by Murray in 1802 and sent to the Admiralty; it has been lying neglected ever since in the Record Office. This is an interesting original narrative, and it is not the only valuable document which Mr. Labillière has rescued from oblivion. The abortive scheme of a settlement at Port Phillip in 1803 and 1804, concerning which there was an obstinate difference of opinion between high colonial officers, Governor King, of New South Wales, and Lieutenant-Governor Collins, of Tasmania, are detailed in one or two chapters. The result was, at any rate, to save the future province of Victoria from beginning as a penal abode of convicts; but its occupation was deferred more than thirty years. Overland explorations, from the back country of New South Wales, in a direction west by south, superseded those conducted along the southern shore. There were the journey of Mr. Hamilton Hume and Captain Hovell, in 1824 and 1825; that of Captain Sturt and Mr. Macleay, in 1830, down the Murrumbidgee and Murray rivers; and that of Sir Thomas Mitchell, the Colonial Surveyor-General, in 1836, crossing the Australian Alps and Grampians to the well-watered and fertile country beyond. Mr. Labillière does not add materially to our previous knowledge of these interesting journeys; but he has condensed the accounts of them with much skill and judgment. His second volume deals with the actual settlement and colonisation of the territory, commencing with the private venture of Mr. Henty and his sons, from Tasmania, who had established themselves at Portland Bay shortly before Sir T. Mitchell's overland journey. The settlement of Messrs. Batman and Fawkner, in 1835, on the shores of Port Phillip, where they pretended to buy from the natives a vast extent of land, now the site of Melbourne and the neighbouring townships, is next related, with the romantic story of William Buckley, a fugitive convict, and his wild life among the black people. Then came, in September, 1836, the official establishment, by the authority of Sir Richard Bourke, Governor at Sydney, of a regular settlement at Port Phillip, from which point its civil and social history is continued by Mr. Labillière for twenty years. The foundation of Melbourne, its capital city, named after the Whig Prime Minister, and the rule of Mr. Latrobe, its Superintendent, acting under Sir R. Bourke and Sir George Gipps, the New South Wales Governors, the increase of population, the development of sheep-breeding and wool-growing prosperity, of agriculture and trade, the opening of the Gippsland district, and the economic and monetary vicissitudes which affected the new community, are fairly described. We read how Melbourne became in 1842 a Municipal Corporation: how the Port Phillip district was at length separated from New South Wales in 1850, becoming a distinct province, as the Colony of Victoria, with Mr. Latrobe for its first Governor; and how, in 1856, it was endowed with a constitutional Government. The discovery of the gold-fields in 1851, the rush to the Ballarat and Bendigo diggings, and the extraordinary transformation of social life that ensued, are but lightly touched upon. The author, however, relates some curious and amusing features of domestic and personal experience in those days of colonial youth. His work is recommended by an engaging air of modesty and by a candid and impartial spirit.

CLASSICS FOR ENGLISH READERS.

He that has no Latin may learn quite as much as he need know, and perhaps quite as much as is good for him, about the Roman philosopher-poet who wrote the famous didactic poem "Concerning the Nature of Things," and about the poem itself, together with the doctrines it contains, from the little volume entitled Lucretius, by W. H. Mallock (William Blackwood and Sons), and belonging to the excellent series of "Ancient Classics for English Readers," edited by the Rev. W. Lucas Collins, M.A. It was hardly to be supposed that either Mr. Munro or Mr. Sellar would find it worth their while to waste their pearls of scholarship upon mere English readers; and, that being so, it is a fortunate thing that the work has fallen into such competent hands, especially as regards the manner in which certain passages of the original have been rendered into English verse. They are not all equally well done, nor would anybody expect such equality, but nearly all the specimens given are good, and some of them are really admirable. Moreover, they are selected from each of the six books in regular order, and are accompanied by a running commentary in prose, briefly explaining the succession of ideas and the course of the argument. So far the author has carried out what is understood to have been the original intention with which the series was projected—namely, to set before the English reader a summary of the ancient writer's work, together with a sufficient number of translations to illustrate the style. Criticism, comparisons between ancient and modern ways of thought, and all such matters, would seem to be beyond the scope of the undertaking. No doubt a biographical sketch of the ancient classic, and a few remarks upon the prevalent characteristics of the age in which he lived, would be looked for; but they would be expected to occupy but a very small portion of space, compared with the amount allotted to an analysis, with copious illustrations, of the writer's actual productions and peculiarities. A different plan, however, has been adopted, so that, out of the 172 pages devoted to "Lucretius," not more than sixty-one are occupied with an exposition of the poem to which he owes his immortality, to which he owes the fact that his name is known to Englishmen. It is true that we have a very long chapter, wherein the "scientific system of Lucretius" is discussed; but one would rather have imagined that the proper method would have been to let the poem speak for itself and book by book, by means of helpful comment and explanation, unfold its own system before the astonished reader. But opinions differ; and there are those to whom the preliminary dissertation may seem preferable. That the little volume contains no story of the poet's life is nobody's fault; for there is scarcely more story than the needy knife-grinder had to tell: not only is next to nothing known about the life of Lucretius, but the little which is known is not to be altogether relied upon. If it be granted that Mr. Mallock has gone the right way to work, he has done it more than indifferently well, though there are those who would have been better satisfied if he had regarded Lucretius more from the poetical and less from the philosophical point of view, more as a picturesque describer of natural effects than as a speculative interpreter of natural causes.

The hand of a master, the knowledge of an expert, who is as familiar with his subject as with his alphabet, may be cordially allowed to the author in the case of Goethe: by A. Haywood (William Blackwood and Sons), a volume of the neat and useful "Foreign Classics for English Readers," edited by Mrs. Oliphant; and yet it may be doubted whether he has produced such a work as one would think it was the object of the series to produce. It was no affair of his, one would imagine, to run a-tilt, every now and then, at Mr. G. H. Lewes, or Mr. Carlyle, or anybody else with whom he differs or whom he has detected in a mistake. All he had to do was to put within the reach of English readers ignorant of German, and without the leisure or the inclination to tackle long and learned biographies, a sort of Liebig's extract of Goethe, together with the best life of him, consistently with brevity as well as wit. This, probably, he could have done better than any other living man could do it. But he has chosen to do something else; he has mixed up with what was necessary a great deal that was unnecessary. Not that he has thereby spoilt his book. Far from it; he has made it, perhaps, still more interesting, but rather for readers who have already a tolerably wide acquaintance with what has been written by and concerning Goethe than for those who are supposed to be intended by the style and title of "English readers." The latter, one cannot help thinking, would have been led to a better appreciation of Goethe if a liberal allowance had been given of his minor poems and ballads, to the exclusion, if need were, of the criticisms and contentious observations, or even of some among the specimens translated from the dramas. The estimate which the reader is taught to form of Goethe as a poet is probably quite correct; beyond "Faust," says the authority, "there is no other work of Goethe which can be called first-rate of its kind; but take them all together, and where shall we find a richer cluster, a brighter constellation, of poetry, romance, science, art, philosophy, and thought?" This estimate, however, would no doubt have disgusted the German gentleman who, as spokesman of a deputation at the tercentenary in honour of Shakspeare, rose and said that he and his friends had come to show their respect for "the second greatest poet that ever lived—Goethe being the first." As for Goethe's physical attributes, they drew from Napoleon I. the laconic acknowledgment—"voilà un homme!" As for his moral qualities, they were not quite so irreproachable, as some people count morality. He is likened by Heine to Zeus, and, with malicious significance, is said to have "smiled with the same lips with which he had once kissed the fair Leda, Europa, Danaë, Semele, and so many other Princesses and ordinary nymphs besides." And so we commend him to the attention of "English Readers" in search of a "Foreign Classic."

The Liverpool Courier states that the late Captain Judkins, so long connected with the Cunard Company, has bequeathed £1000 to the Seamen's Orphanage.

OBITUARY.

THE BISHOP OF ORLEANS.

Monsignor Felix Antoine Philibert Dupanloup, Bishop of Orleans, the eloquent and eminent prelate, perhaps the most prominent of his generation, died suddenly on the 11th inst., in his seventy-seventh year. Ordained priest, he became, in 1827, Chaplain to the Duc de Bordeaux, and at the Revolution of July, 1830, was Almoner to the Dauphin. In 1841 he was nominated to one of the chairs of Theology in the College of the Sorbonne, and in 1849 was consecrated Bishop of Orleans, being decorated the following year with the insignia of the Legion of Honour. As a preacher, Dupanloup stood in the foremost rank, and he was author of several works of more or less importance. His literary acquirements gained for him admission to the French Academy; but all his zeal in the cause of religion failed to secure the honour of a Cardinal's hat. The Bishop of Orleans is universally regretted. Friend and foe, Catholic and Protestant, Royalist and Liberal, join in paying a high tribute of homage to the memory of this illustrious French divine.

THE RIGHT REV. DR. MACKENZIE.

The Right Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, late Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham, died on the 15th inst. at his residence, Lincoln, from congestion of the lungs, in his seventy-second year. Dr. Mackenzie was educated at Pembroke College, Oxford, graduated B.A. in 1834, M.A. in 1838, and D.D. in 1869. He was ordained priest in the year 1835 by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and appointed Canon Residentiary and Sub-Dean of Lincoln Cathedral in 1864. From 1840 to 1843 he was Perpetual Curate of St. James's, Bermondsey, and from 1848 to 1855 Vicar of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Westminster. From 1866 to 1871 he was Rector of South Collingham, Notts, and in 1870 he was consecrated Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham. The duties of this position, which has since been enlarged into an additional see, called the See of Southwell, he discharged until about eleven months ago, when failing health compelled him to relinquish it.

COLONEL JONES, OF KELSTON PARK.

Lieutenant-Colonel Inigo William Jones, Esq., of Kelston Park, in the county of Somerset, M.A., late of the 11th Hussars, died on the 5th inst., at Nice, in the seventy-third year of his age. He was elder son of the Rev. Inigo William Jones, of Chobham Place, Surrey, by Margaret Elizabeth, his wife, only daughter of Lieutenant-General Henry Richmond Gale, of Bardsey Hall, and, as the Christian name indicates, claimed to be of the family of the celebrated architect. Colonel Jones was educated at Harrow, and Trinity College, Cambridge, was a Justice of the Peace and a Deputy-Lieutenant for the county of Somerset, served as High Sheriff in 1868, and was Lord of the Manor of Kelston, and patron of one living. He married, Aug. 14, 1844, Miss Neeld of Grittleton, Wilts.

The deaths have also been announced of—

James Patrick McInroy, Esq., of Lude, on the 11th inst., at Lude, Blair Athol, aged seventy-eight.

Edward James Shearman, M.D., F.R.S.E., on the 2nd inst., at Rotherham, in his eighty-first year.

The Hon. F. A. Forbes, formerly Speaker of Parliament, Queensland, on July 9, at Ipswich, Queensland.

Dr. Julius Müller, Professor of Systematic and Practical Theology in the University of Halle, in that city, on the 27th ult., aged seventy-seven.

Prince Kivaan Kudr Ahmud Ullee Meerza Bahadoor, fourth son of his Highness the Nawab Nazim of Bengal, on the 16th ult., at the Palace, Moorshedabad, in his twenty-sixth year.

Lancelot St. Albyn, Esq., eldest and last surviving son of Langley St. Albyn, formerly of Alfoxton Park and Weacombe, Somerset, on the 4th inst., at Alfoxton Park.

Thomas Crowley Weston, Esq., formerly Judge of the Mixed Commission Courts at Sierra Leone for the Suppression of the Slave Trade, on the 4th inst., aged sixty-three.

Walter John Clifford, Esq., late 68th Light Infantry, second son of the late Henry J. Clifford, Esq., of Frampton-on-Severn, on the 6th inst.

Joseph Kay, Esq., Q.C., of the Northern Circuit, and one of the Judges of the Court of Record for the Hundred of Salford, on the 9th inst., at Fredley, Surrey, aged fifty-seven.

The Rev. Thomas Brown, M.A., Prebendary of the Cathedral and Rural Dean of Chichester during forty-two years, Vicar of the parishes of St. Paul and St. Peter the Less, and Master of the Prebendal School, on the 10th inst.

Captain Richard Charles Elliott, one of the survivors of the Peninsular and Waterloo campaigns. He joined the Army in 1809, and was present at the battles of Salamanca and Vittoria, and through the campaign in 1815. He had been on the half-pay list since 1827.

The Rev. Peter Holmes, D.D., suddenly, at Plymouth, on the 13th inst., at an advanced age. He was ordained in 1840 by the Bishop of Exeter, but devoted the greater part of his life to scholastic work. He was a ripe theological scholar, and collected a fine library of 25,000 books. He was associated with the late Dr. Tregelles in critical works on the text of the New Testament.

Colonel Joseph H. Hampton, late Bengal 50th Native Infantry, on the 5th inst., at Brynhyfryd, Beaumaris, aged seventy-eight. He was second son of John Hampton Hampton-Lewis, Esq., of Henllys, in the county of Anglesey, by Mary, his wife, daughter of Richard Chambers, Esq., of Whitburn Court, in the county of Hereford. He married Ellen, daughter of Major Hall, E.I.C.S.

William Henry Francis Bosanquet, Esq., of Knockane and Kilmagamogue, Waterford, third son of the late Samuel Bosanquet, Esq., of Forest House, Essex, and Dingeston Court, in the county of Monmouth, by Letitia Philippa, his wife, younger daughter of James Whatman, Esq., of Vinters, Kent, on the 20th ult., five days after the death of his wife, Amelia Mary Georgiana, daughter and coheir of John Sherlock, Esq.

Robert Capel Cure, Esq., J.P., barrister-at-law, M.A., on the 28th ult., at Blake Hall, Ongar, Essex. He was eldest son of Capel Cure, Esq., of Blake Hall, High Sheriff of Essex, 1830, by Frederica, his wife, daughter of General Cheney, of Badger Hall. He married, first, in 1850, Sarah Maria, daughter of Dr. George Murray, Bishop of Rochester; and, secondly, 1868, Margaret Mary, eldest daughter of Sir Thomas Western, Bart.

The Rev. Anthony Berwick Lechmere, M.A., Vicar of Hanley Castle, Hon. Canon of Worcester Cathedral and Rural Dean, on the 8th inst., at The Vicarage, aged seventy-six. He was second son of Sir Anthony Lechmere, first Baronet, of The Rhyd, by Mary, his wife, daughter and heiress of Joseph Berwick, Esq., of Hallow Park, in the county of Worcester. He married, Oct. 11, 1842, Emily Mary, eldest daughter of Sir Sir Harry V. Darell, Bart, and became a widower in 1869.

George Huband, Esq., M.A., J.P., in the county of Dublin, formerly Captain 8th Hussars, and subsequently a Poor-Law Inspector in Ireland, on the 13th inst., at his residence in Upper Mount-street, Dublin. He was elder son of the late Wilcocks Huband, Esq., by Frances, his wife, eldest daughter of Arthur Chichester Macartney, Esq., of Murlough, in the county of Devon, and descended from a branch of the ancient family of Huband, of Ipsley, in the county of Warwick. He married, May 1, 1844, Marianne, youngest daughter of Admiral Croft, of Stillington, in the county of York, and leaves two sons and two daughters. Captain Huband held high office among the Freemasons of Ireland.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated April 3, 1873) with three codicils (dated Jan. 23, 1874, Dec. 6, 1877, and Feb. 1, 1878) of the Right Hon. Bertram, Earl of Ashburnham, late of Ashburnham Place, near Battle, Sussex, who died on June 22 last, was proved on the 8th inst. by the Right Hon. Katherine Charlotte, Countess of Ashburnham, the widow, and his eldest son, Bertram, now Earl of Ashburnham, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £90,000. The testator leaves to his wife the vicarage and parish church of Ashburnham, and the rectory and parish church of Penshurst, Sussex, and the rectory and parish church of Barking-cum-Darmsden, Suffolk; all the rest of his ecclesiastical patronage is to be sold, and the net proceeds divided between his sons John, William, Thomas, and George, and his daughters Margaret and Mary; he also leaves to his younger sons £15,000 each, and to his said daughters £1000 each, a further sum of £5000 each on their respective marriages, and until then annuities. In addition to other benefits, the testator gives to his wife his town house in Dover-street, with the furniture, pictures, and effects, certain carriages and horses, the "St. Asaph" plate and all his jewels, except the Ashburnham family diamonds, and he makes up her income to £4500 per annum; to his land steward, Robert Hodgson, he bequeaths £1000, free of duty; to his butler and house steward, James Toynton, an annuity of £100; to his valet, Thomas Fraser, an annuity of £50; to his footman, John Quintrell, an annuity of £20; to his game-keeper, Relph, an annuity of £20; a conditional annuity to Mrs. Williamson; and two years' wages to each of his other domestics who have been ten years in his service at his decease. His unsettled real estate in the counties of Suffolk and Sussex and the Principality of Wales are devised to the use of his eldest son, on the condition that he resettles within a twelvemonth the settled family estates; and the residue of his property is given to his said eldest son.

The will (dated Nov. 12, 1875) of the Hon. Mrs. Mary Eliza Henniker, late of Brighton, who died on Aug. 4 last, at No. 48, Upper Grosvenor-street, was proved on the 3rd inst. by Philip Witham and Richard Ward, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £40,000. The testatrix bequeaths £100 each, free of legacy duty, to the Convent of the Little Sisters of the Poor, Portobello-road, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Great Ormond-street, and the Aged Poor Society; and £25 to the clergyman of the parish church of Quorndon, Leicestershire, to distribute, at his discretion, among the poor of that place; she also bequeaths, out of such part of her personal estate as she may by law bequeath for charitable purposes, to his Eminence Cardinal Manning or other the person who for the time being shall fill the office or represent the Archbishop of Westminster in the Roman Catholic Church, the sum of £4000, upon trust, for the disposal thereof for such lawful charitable uses as he shall, in his absolute and uncontrolled discretion, think fit. There are legacies to relatives and others, including a bequest of £9000 which is settled upon her niece Louisa Augusta Manning, and the residue of her property the testatrix leaves to her said niece absolutely.

The will (dated July 13, 1870) with three codicils (dated Oct. 11, 1872, Jan. 17, 1873, and March 29, 1878) of Mr. Andrew Cuthell, late of No. 61, Warwick-square, Pimlico, who died on Aug. 17 last at Shrub-hill, Dorking, was proved on the 28th ult. by Mrs. Mary Anne Cuthell, the widow, the Rev. William Middleton Snell, and George Cubitt, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £45,000. The testator gives to his wife all his furniture, plate, household effects, horses, and carriages; the remainder of his property is left upon trust for his wife for life, giving her a general power of appointment at her death over the sum of £4000; and subject thereto the residue is to be held for his sons, Thomas George, Charles Edward, and William Andrew, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Sybil Kinglake.

The will (dated May 18, 1878) of Mr. Lutwidge Dunbar Reynard-Cookson, late of Whitehill Park, Chester-le-Street, Durham, and of Scarborough, Yorkshire, who died on Aug. 5 last, has been proved at the York district registry by John Woodall Woodall and Walter James Guy, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £30,000. The testator charges the settled real estate under the will of his grandfather, John Cookson, with £400 per annum in favour of his wife, Elizabeth, and he gives her all his furniture, plate, and household effects; to his friend Walter James Guy, an annuity of £100; to his valet, John Freeman, 100 guineas; to his house-keeper, Mary Bates, an annuity of £50; to her daughter, Margaret, an annuity of £25; and the residue of his property upon trust for his wife for life if she shall so long continue his widow, and then for his children.

The will (dated Dec. 22, 1877) of Mrs. Elizabeth Howey, late of Coleshill House, Amersham, Herts, and of No. 9, Stanley-crescent, Notting-hill, who died on Aug. 24 last at Lowestoft, was proved on the 4th inst. by Ralph Patterson Nisbet, the nephew, and John Dunkin Francis, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £30,000. The testatrix after giving some legacies, leaves one half of the residue of her property to her said nephew, Mr. R. P. Nisbet, and the other half upon trust for her nephew, John Nisbet, for life, and then for his daughters.

The will (dated Feb. 16, 1874) with two codicils (dated March 9, 1876, and Dec. 18, 1877) of Mr. Aaron Cohen, late of No. 35, Upper Bedford-place, who died on Aug. 30 last, at St. Leonards-on-Sea, was proved on the 27th ult. by Samuel Aaron Cohen, and Edward Aaron Cohen, the sons, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £18,000.

The will (dated March 17, 1874) of Mr. Henry Holme, formerly of Manchester, but late of Altrincham, Cheshire, who died on Aug. 24 last, was proved at the district registry at Chester on Sept. 18 last by John Holme, Henry Holme, and George Hartley Goldsmith, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £40,000. The testator, who was a widower, gives all his property for the benefit of his children and grandchildren.

On Monday afternoon Councillor Carbutt, the Mayor of Leeds, laid the foundation-stone of the new corporate offices, which are to be built opposite the Townhall, at an estimated cost of £60,000. The Mayor said the new offices were required owing to the growing wants of the town, the population, during the past twenty-five years, having increased from 175,000 to 309,000. After the ceremony of laying the stone, the Mayor gave a luncheon in the Victoria Hall, at which 400 gentlemen sat down.

CHESS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All communications relating to this department of the Paper should be addressed to the Editor, and have the word "Chess" written on the envelope.

E L G (Blackwater).—We shall miss your regular and uniformly correct solutions of our problems, but shall hope to hear from you again upon your return to England.

A K C (Camberwell).—The City of London Chess Club should suit you. The members meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, at Moulbet's Hotel, Newgate-street.

H T S.—The answer to 1. K takes R is 2. B to Q B 5th (ch).

E S (Port Glasgow).—Send the position upon a diagram, and it shall be examined.

F V P.—We indorse your opinion of both problems.

H M P (Plymouth).—The machinery is too ponderous for the conception embodied in the problem. There should be something beyond the mere "block" in a two-move problem. We are obliged for the trouble you have taken, and shall be glad to examine your future compositions.

P le P (Guernsey).—Your solution was correct, and was acknowledged some weeks ago.

L (Truro).—Please refer to the solution in our issue of Dec. 22 last.

J P (Bedford).—If Black play 1. Kt to Q 4th, what is White's continuation?

C E (Broad-street).—Thanks; the problem shall have early attention.

S T (Manchester).—We have no recollection of the first letter. Your analysis is correct.

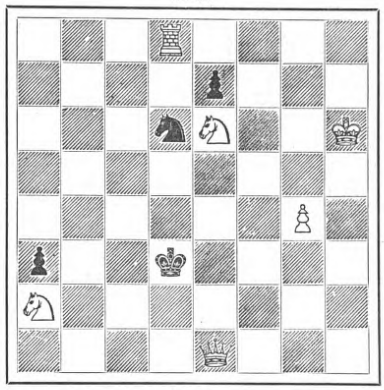
CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1805 received from Hereward, H Benthall, D A (Guildford), and Thorpe.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1806 received from Hereward, Emile Frau, D A (Dublin), Prétextat, H Benthall, J G Kidd, F V P, and C Eggert.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1807 received from H B, Hereward, C C E, N Brock, L of Truro, T Edgar, D Wilson, R Roughead, St J E, L Burnett, Leonora and T W H, C S Cox, E Worsley, D Leslie, F W S, H Brewster, S R of Leeds, Orion, G W W, F V P, R H N B, Prétextat, Alpha, East Marden, Cant, David Millar, J G Finch, W J W (Claygrass), Dr F St. D A (Dublin), Jane Neyven (Utrecht), S Stripe, Guillaume, J de Honsteyn, E P Vuilliamy, Painter (Shepherd's-bush), St Aldate (Oxford), W Lemon, Freddy, A Fohlmann, J K, N Rumbelow, C Eggert, Members of the Chapel of Ease Chess Club (Islington), E M and F F, C H Stepan, E L G, Thorpe, C A Pryce, P le Page, Julia Short, W Scott, Fairholme, and Coptapino.

NOTE.—A large number of correspondents, overlooking the true defence, believe they have solved this problem by 1. R to K B 6th. Black's reply to that move is 1. K to Q 8th; and, should White then play 2. Q to B sq (ch), the answer is 2. P to K 8th, queening, and there is then no mate on the following move.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1806.



WHITE.	BLACK.
1. R to K B 8th
2. R takes B (ch)	Kt to R 4th or Q 2nd*
3. Kt to R 2nd. Mate.	P takes R

* If the Kt is moved elsewhere, White captures that piece with Rook or Bishop, and mates next move.

PROBLEM No. 1809.

By B. S. WASH, St. Louis.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play, and mate in three moves.

CHESS IN LONDON.

The following Game was played at Mr. Gastineau's garden party, by Messrs. CHAPPELL and DOWS, in consultation, against Dr. BALLARD, the latter yielding the odds of Pawn and move.

(Remove Black's K B P from the board.)

WHITE (Messrs. C. and D.)	BLACK (Dr. B.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K Kt 3rd
2. P to Q 4th	P to Q 4th
3. P to K 5th	P to K 3rd
4. B to Q 3rd

White might also have played 4. P to R 4th, after which Staunton recommended the following continuation:—

4.	P to Q B 4th
5. P to R 5th	B to Kt 2nd
6. P takes P	P takes P
7. R takes R	B takes R
8. B to Q 3rd, with a good attack.
4.	Kt to K R 3rd
5. B to K 3rd	P to Q Kt 3rd
6. P to K B 4th	Kt to Q R 3rd

This, as will be seen from his eighth move, is lost time. We think that 6. P to Q B 4th is the best line of play here.

7. B to Kt 5th (ch)	K to B 2nd
8. Q to K 2nd	Kt to Q Kt sq
9. Kt to K B 3rd	B to K 2nd
10. Q Kt to Q 2nd	K to Kt 2nd
11. P to K R 3rd	R to B sq
12. P to Kt 3rd	P to Q B 4th
13. P to Q B 4th	B to Q Kt 2nd
14. P takes Q P	B P takes P
15. Kt takes P	Q takes P

15. B takes P would have been better; but Black must have overlooked, or at all events underestimated, the force of the coup threatened the moment the Rook has been moved to a place of safety.

16. R to R 2nd	Kt to K B 4th
17. B to Q B 4th

WHITE (Messrs. C. and D.)	BLACK (Dr. B.)
Very well timed. Indeed, the Allies must be credited with much care and skill in the conduct of the opening.
17.	Kt takes Kt
18. B takes Q	Kt to B 7th (ch)

Black has a choice of ills here. If he play 18. Kt takes Q, then follows B takes B, and the Rook is lost.

19 K to Q sq	Kt takes B (ch)
20. Q takes Kt	B takes B
21. Kt to K 4th	Kt to B 3rd
22. P to Q R 3rd	Q R to Q sq
23. R to Q 2nd	R to Q 2nd
24. R to Q B sq	K R to Q sq
25 K to K sq	Kt to B 4th
26. Kt takes Kt	B takes Kt
27. Q to K 2nd	R to Q B 2nd
28. K R to Q B 2nd	P to Q R 4th
29. Q to Kt 5th	B to B 3rd
30. R takes B	P takes R

As good as 30. B takes Q, to which White replies with 31. R takes R (ch), and 32. R to Q Kt 7th, &c.

31. Q takes R P	K R to Q 2nd
32. R takes P	R to R 2nd
33. Q to Kt 6th	B to Q 4th
34. R to B 8th	R to K B 2nd
35. Q to Q 8th	K to R 3rd
36. P to K R 4th	Q R to Kt 2nd
37. Q to Kt 5th (ch)	K to Kt 2nd
38. P to R 5th, and wins.

CHESS IN CAROLINA.

A Game occurring in a recent Match between Mr. M. B. PAINE, the strongest player in Charlestown, and Mr. J. E. ORCHARD, of Columbia.

(Greco Counter-Gambit.)

WHITE (Mr. P.)	BLACK (Mr. O.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. Kt to K B 3rd	P to K B 4th
3. Kt to Q B 3rd	P to Q B 3rd

This ingenious move is the invention of Mr. G. B. Fraser, of Dundee. It produces many interesting positions, but, in common with every other variation of this opening, it is suspected of being theoretically unsound.

4. Q to R 5th (ch)	P to Kt 3rd
5. Kt takes P	Kt to B 3rd
6. Q to R 4th

The correct move here is 6. Q to R 3rd.

6.	R to K Kt sq
7. Kt takes B	R to Kt 5th
8. Q to R 6th	R takes P (ch)
9. K to Q sq	K Kt to Kt 5th
10. Q to R 5th (ch)	K takes Kt
11. Q takes P (ch)	K to Kt 2nd and Black wins. The final position is curious as well as pretty.

WHITE (Mr. P.)	BLACK (Mr. O.)
12. P to Q 3rd	P to Q 4th
13. Q to B 3rd

13. Q to Kt 4th (ch), offering an exchange of Queens, is not much more promising.

13.	Kt takes P (ch)
14. Q takes Kt	B to Kt 5th (ch)
15. K to Q 2nd

If, 15. K to Q 2nd, Black mates in five moves.

15.	R takes B (ch)
16. K to K sq	B takes P (dis. ch)
17. K to Q sq	B to K 7th (ch)
18. K to K sq	Kt to Q 5th
19. Kt to R 3rd	Q to Q 3rd
20. B to K 3rd	P to B 4th
21 K to Q 2nd	Q R to K sq
22. B takes Kt (ch)	R takes B (ch)
24. K to B 3rd	Q to K 4th,

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

The annual report of the Bristol and Clifton Chess Association announces that the president, the Rev. J. Greene, has presented a silver cup for competition among the members. The competitors are to be paired by lot, and the victor will be required to play a deciding match with the winner of the first prize in the late handicap.

THE VOLUNTEERS.

At the City rifle ranges, Rainham, Essex, on Saturday last the C and E companies of the 2nd City of London competed for their annual prizes. About sixty members entered, the majority of the competitors being furnished by E company (Messrs. Waterlow and Sons), under the command of Captain S. E. Underwood. In C company the winners were: Corporal W. White (who wins the company silver badge the third year in succession), Corporal P. Hart, Private H. Houghton, Private E. Houghton, Private F. Parsons, and Sergeant J. Symons. Second series, third-class distances and targets, open to recruits: Private Ramsey, Private Rice, Private Veniss, E company. The highest scores were made by Private Cowan, Private Fellows, Private Trenhaile, Captain Underwood, and Sergeant Richards.

The annual carbine prize competition of A battery of the 1st London Artillery took place at the butts on Staines-moor on the 5th inst. The men mustered at the Staines railway station, and were marched to the range by Captain Adams. In the battery series, open to non-commissioned officers and gunners, the winners were—Gunners Taylor and Gurling, Staff-Sergeant Warne, Sergeant-Major Berry, Corporal Scard, and Gunner Daniels. The second series, or club prizes, were won by Quartermaster Gray, Captain Adams, and Sergeant Warne. The consolation prizes were won by Gunners Tomblerson and Stevens, and the battery officers' prizes by Quartermaster Gray.

The Islington company (No. 8) of the North Middlesex (29th) held its annual prize-competition at Child's-hill Range, Hampstead. The first prize, "The Mohawk Cup," valued at five guineas, presented by the Mohawk Minstrels, was won by Sergeant Ross. The remaining prizes, given by the officers of the company, were won by Sergeants Shaw and Powell, Corporals Hackney, Harris, and Freeman; Privates Herbert and Wade, and Sergeant Tregear. The first recruit's prize was won by Private Haswell. At the same meeting the company's badge was won by Sergeant Shaw.

The new drainage works at Windsor were formally opened on Monday in the presence of the Mayor and Corporation of the Royal borough. About five acres have been purchased for the works, and the entire cost of the new system will, it is said, exceed thirty thousand pounds.

Lord Cottesloe presided on Monday at the Bucks Michaelmas Sessions held at Aylesbury, at which Lord Beaconsfield was present. A resolution was agreed to constituting the County Licensing Committee as the authority for carrying out the Highways and Locomotives Act. It was further resolved, on the motion of the Hon. P. Barrington, that it was desirable to establish a county mendicity society.

Lord Coleridge and his former colleague in the representation of Exeter, Mr. Edgar Bowring, attended on Monday evening a lecture by the Hon. Bernard Coleridge on Oliver Cromwell, the Bishop of Exeter presiding. His Lordship pointed out that nothing so tended to the elevation of the working classes as the existence of mutual improvement societies, and nothing promoted improvement more than the study of such characters as Cromwell's, who was one of the greatest rulers known in this or any other country.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Light and Shade. By Charlotte G. O'Brien. 2 vols. (C. Kegan Paul, and Co.)
Canterbury Chimes; or, Chaucer Tales Retold for Children. By F. Storr and H. Turner. (Kegan Paul, and Co.)
A Secret Marriage and Its Consequence. By the Author of "The Honeymoon," &c. 3 vols. (Chapman and Hall.)
The Donalds. By Mary J. Mapother. (M. H. Gill and Son, 50, Upper Sackville-street, Dublin.)
The Autobiography of Sir George Biddlecombe, C.B. (Retired) Captain, Royal Navy. (Chapman and Hall.)
Life of Robert Schumann. With Letters, 1833—1852. By Von Wasielwski. (Reeves, 185, Fleet-street.)
Our Woodland Trees. By Francis George Heath, Author of "The Fern Paradise," &c. (Sampson Low and Co.)
Cecil Crofton's Repentance. By Vere Grey. 2 vols. (Chapman and Hall.)
On Horseback Through Asia Minor. Captain F. Burnaby. Seventh and Cheaper Edition. (Sampson Low and Co.)
Cook's Handbook to the Health Resorts of the South of France and the Riviera. (Cook and Son.)
Cyprus: Its History, its Present Resources, and Future Prospects. By R. Hamilton Lang, late H.M. Consul for the Island of Cyprus. (Macmillan.)
Our Village. By Mary Russell Mitford. Illustrated. (Sampson Low and Co.)
Old and New London: A Narrative of Its History, Its People, and its Places: The Southern Suburbs. By Edward Walford. Vol. 6. (Cassell, Petter, and Galpin.)
Songs of Far Away Lands. By Joaquin Miller. (Longmans and Co.)
Songs of the Sierras and Sunlands. Two Volumes in One. By Joaquin Miller. Revised Edition. (Longmans and Co.)
Root and Flower. A Story of Work in a London Parish. By John Palmer. (Griffith and Farran).

(Published by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.)

North Wind and Sunshine. By Annette Lyster.
Cringlewood Court. By F. Scarlett Potter.
Ned Garth; or, Made Prisoner in Africa. A Tale of the Slave Trade. By W. H. G. Kingston.
The Royal Banner. A Tale of Life before and after Confirmation. By Austin Clare.
Percy Trevor's Training. By the Author of "Motherless Maggie," &c.
The Mate of the "Lily;" or, Notes from Harry Musgrave's Log Book. By W. H. G. Kingston.
Real Stories from Many Lands. By Lady Verney.
The Little Dwarf's Mirror and The Children's Prayer. Adapted from the German. By A. L. G.
A Bonfire and What Came of it. By M. D.
As Good as Gold. A Tale. By F. Harrison.
Kitty Bligh's Birthday. By Alfred H. Engelbach.
Harry Preston; or, "To Him that Overcometh." A Story for Boys. By the Author of "Elben Manse," &c.
Hereward Dayrell, and other Tales. By Eadgyth.
Left in Charge: The History of My Great Responsibility. By Austin Clare.
The Wilford Family; or, Hero-Worship in the Schoolroom. By Eadgyth.
Hidden Workings. By H. Rutherford Russell.
Harry Compton's Holiday. By the Author of "Motherless Maggie," &c.
Manual of Elementary Science: Crystallography. By H. P. Gurney, M.A.
Sinai. From the Fourth Egyptian Dynasty to the Present Day. By H. Spencer Palmer, Major R.E.
The Korán. Its Composition and Teaching, and Testimony to the Scriptures. By Sir W. Muir, LL.D.
Step by Step; or, The Devout Communicant led through the Church to the Vision of God. By W. C. Bromehead.
The Rule of God's Commandments. By George E. Jelf, M.A., Vicar of Saffron Walden.
Bible Stories in Words of One Syllable. By M. A. B.
A Manual of Prayers; for the use of the Scholars of Winchester College, and other Devout Christians. By the Bishop of Bath and Wells.
The Aged Pilgrim's Staff. By the Rev. Robert Gunn, B.C.L.
The Jewish Prophets: from the Babylonian Captivity till the Close of the Old Testament Canon.
The Home Library:
The Inner Life; as revealed in the Correspondence of Celebrated Christians. By the Rev. T. Erskine.
The House of God the Home of Man. By the Rev. G. E. Jelf, M.A., and Vicar of Saffron Walden.
Savonarola: His Life and Times. By W. R. Clark, M.A., Vicar of Taunton.
Conversion of The West:
The Celts. By the Rev. G. F. Maclear, D.D., Head Master of King's College School.
The Continental Teutons. By the Very Rev. Charles Merivale, D.D.
The Northmen. By the Rev. G. F. Maclear, D.D.
The English. By the Rev. G. F. Maclear, D.D.
The Fathers for English Readers:
The Defenders of the Faith; or, The Christian Apologists of the Second and Third Centuries. By the Rev. F. Watson, M.A.
The Apostolic Fathers. By the Rev. H. S. Holland, M.A.
Saint Jerome. By the Rev. Edward L. Cutts, B.A.
Saint Augustine. By W. R. Clark, M.A., Vicar of Taunton.

MALVERN COLLEGE.

The ANNUAL EXAMINATION for SCHOLARSHIPS and ENTRANCE EXHIBITIONS will be held on DEC. 12 and 20.

TUITION.—A CAMBRIDGE M.A. is Prepared to give LESSONS to JUNIOR PUPILS at their Own Homes.—Address, the Rev. J. F. B., 16, King-street-Portman-square, W.

THE STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.
Established 1825.
SPECIAL NOTICE—DIVISION OF PROFITS.
The Company's business year will close on Nov. 15, 1878, and to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the Profit Scheme, proposals should be lodged with the Company on or before that date.
The TENTH Division of Profits will take place in 1880, and all who take out Policies during the present year will rank for three years' profits on that occasion.
For the very LIBERAL CONDITIONS of the Standard Policy, see Prospectus, which may be had on application.

AMOUNT OF ASSURANCES.
Accepted during the last five years..	£6,527,788
Subsisting Assurances	£18,902,833
Revenue, upwards of	£760,000
Assets, upwards of	£5,200,000

H. JOHNS WILLIAMS, General Secretary for England.
EDINBURGH—2 and 5, George-street (Head Office).
LONDON—82, King William-street, E.C., and 3, Pall-mall East.
DUBLIN—86, Upper Sackville-street.

BANK OF NEW ZEALAND
(Incorporated by Act of General Assembly, July 29, 1861).
Bankers to the New Zealand Government.
Authorised Capital, £1,000,000. Paid-up Capital, £725,000.
Reserve Fund, £325,000.
DIRECTORS.
J. LOGAN CAMPBELL, Esq., President.

George R. Owen, Esq.	W. I. Taylor, Esq.
Alfred Cox, Esq., M.G.A.	J. C. Firth, Esq.
Samuel Browning, Esq.	Hon. Jas. Williamson, M.L.C.

LONDON BOARD.

The Right Hon. Sir James Fergusson, Bart., K.C.M.G.	Falconer Larkworthy, Esq.
Archd. Hamilton, Esq.	Robert Porter, Esq.
A. J. Mundella, Esq., M.P.	Thomas Russell, Esq., C.M.G.

Head Office—Auckland.
BRANCHES AND AGENCIES.
In Australia—Melbourne, Sydney, and Newcastle.
In Fiji—Levuka.
In New Zealand—Auckland, Blenheim, Christchurch, Dunedin, Invercargill, Napier, Nelson, New Plymouth, Picton, Wellington, and at eighty-two other towns and places throughout the Colony.
The Bank grants Drafts on all their Branches and Agencies, and transacts every description of banking business connected with New Zealand, Australia, and Fiji on the most favourable terms.
The London Office RECEIVES DEPOSITS of £50 and upwards for fixed periods of two to five years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum. The rate for shorter periods can be ascertained on application.
F. Larkworthy, Managing Director.
No. 1, Queen Victoria-street, Mansion House, E.C.

CYPRUS.—THE IMPERIAL OTTOMAN BANK is prepared, through its LONDON and PARIS AGENCIES, to grant CREDITS, to receive and REMIT MONEY, and to act generally as Bankers in connection with Cyprus, where it has for many years past had a branch established.

London Agency, 26, Throgmorton-street, E.C.	Paris Agency, 7, Rue Meyerbeer.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.
DUCAL LINE. Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., No. 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; to McInnes, Greenshields, and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street; or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, London, E.C.

BRIGHTON. FURNISHED HOUSES for the SEASON.—For particulars of those in the best situations—Adelaide-crescent, Palmeira-square, Brunswick-square, Brunswick-terrace, West Brighton—apply to Messrs. CROUCH and STEVENS, 95, Western-road, Brighton.

WILLS' "There is no sweeter Tobacco comes from Virginia, and no better brand than the "THREE CASTLES." Vide "The Virginians."
"THREE CASTLES."
Sold only in Packets and Cigarettes, protected by the Name and Trade-Mark of W. D. and H. O. WILLS, Bristol and London.

PALOMINO. A Pure Spanish SHERRY of dry character, produced from the finest grape in the Xeres district. Recommended with complete confidence. 30s. per dozen, railway carriage paid. Sole Importers, HENRY BRETT and CO., 26 and 27, High Holborn, W.C. Established 1828.

ORANGE CHAMPAGNE is a light, pleasant drink, made simply from Oranges. It is effervescent, but entirely free from spirit, and perfectly wholesome. Price 7s. per Dozen, Quarts; 4s. Pints. Bottles 2s. and Cases 1s. per Dozen until returned. Made only by CHAS. CODD and CO., 79, Copenhagen-street, London, N.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY.
THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES.
Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

PURE KANGRA VALLEY TEA, direct from the Plantations, at 4s. per lb. in Ten Pound Tins, or 3s. 6d. per lb. in original Chests of Fifty Pounds each, may be obtained from COCKBURN'S AGENCY, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

SCHWEITZER'S COCOATINA.
Anti-Dyspeptic Cocoa or Chocolate Powder.
Guaranteed Pure Soluble Cocoa, with excess of Fat extracted. Four times the strength of Cocoas Thickened yet Weakened with Arrowroot, Starch, &c.
The faculty pronounce it the most nutritious, perfectly digestive Beverage for "BREAKFAST, LUNCHEON, or SUPPER." Keeps in all Climates. Requires no Cooking. A teaspoonful to Breakfast Cup, costing less than a halfpenny. Samples gratis. In Air-Tight Tins, at 1s. 6d., 3s., &c., by Chemists and Grocers.
H. SCHWEITZER and CO., 10, Adam-street, London, W.C.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
A SLIGHT ADDITION OF THE EXTRACT GIVES GREAT STRENGTH AND FLAVOUR TO SOUPS, MADE DISHES, AND SAUCES, AND EFFECTS GREAT ECONOMY.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
Caution.—Genuine only with facsimile of Baron Liebig's signature in blue ink across label.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
In use in most households throughout the Kingdom.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

DR. RIDGE'S FOOD { Gives Health, Strength, Comfort, and Quiet Nights to Mothers, Nurses, Infants, and Invalids. Sold by all Chemists and Grocers.

SAVORY & MOORE, 143, New Bond-street, Preparo

THE BEST FOOD for INFANTS.
Supplied to the Royal Families Of England and Russia.
To be had of Chemists, &c., everywhere.

THE BEST FOOD for INFANTS.
The most digestible; contains the Highest Amount of Nourishment, in the most convenient form.

THE BEST FOOD for INFANTS.
Malted on Liebig's principle, is Sweet and Wholesome in itself. Entirely free from Beetroot Sugar.

SAVORY and MOORE, 143, NEW BOND-STREET, LONDON; and Sold by Chemists, &c., everywhere.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to their extensive Show-Rooms and Galleries, the goods in which are arranged in separate departments, all communicating,

EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparisons of prices and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to country customers in the delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and fixing in position by their competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO.'S BED-ROOM SUITES.—One of the largest and best assortments in the kingdom to select from, displayed in Show-rooms 228 ft. long, with Bedsteads and Bedding fitted up for inspection. Bed-room Suite, consisting of Wardrobe, Chest of Drawers, Washstand, Toilet Table and Glass, Towel Airer, Three Chairs, and Pedestal Cupboard, from 6½ guineas, complete. Handsome and handsomely decorated designs at 15, 18, and 21 guineas. Large and handsomely decorated Bed-room Suites in ash, pitch pine, and other woods, at 28, 36, 50, and 75 guineas; also in black and gold, 50 guineas upwards.—OETZMANN and CO.

ARTISTIC FURNISHING.—OETZMANN and CO. are introducing a variety of Elegant Persian and Indian Designs in Rugs and Mats, to meet the requirement for Artistic Furnishing, at moderate cost. Large Rugs (excellent copies of real Persian and Indian) from 10s. each. A visit of inspection solicited.—OETZMANN and CO.

CRETONNES.—OETZMANN and CO. CRETONNES.—An immense assortment of all the choicest designs in this fashionable material, in every variety of style and colourings; excellent imitations of rare Tapestries, some being exact copies of the finest Gobelin Tapestry. Prices varying from 6½d. per yard. Some at 1s. 6d., per yard, usually sold at 1s. 9d.; Super ditto, at 1s. 2½d., usual price, 2s. per yard. Patterns sent into the country by stating kind required.

PARIS EXHIBITION.—Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. invite an inspection of their large display of Royal Worcester Porcelain, Doulton Ware and Faience, Sevres Porcelain, Japanese and Chinese China, Nankin Blue and White China, the new Rose Pompadour Decorated Faience, French and English Terra-Cotta and Parian China Statuettes, Busts, &c.; Dresden China, Flemish Ware, Vallauris Pottery, Venetian and Iridescent Glass; also, a large Assortment of both English and Foreign Table and Ornamental Glass of every description: the Foreign Table and Ornamental Glass of every description: the latest Parisian designs in Clocks, Bronzes, and both ornamental and useful China, many of which are Duplicates of Goods exhibited at the Paris Exhibition. The prices will be found considerably lower than charged in Paris, besides saving the expense and annoyance of Carriage and Custom House. Catalogue forwarded post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

THE "Art Journal" says:—"We were conducted through the crowded rooms and long galleries of Messrs. OETZMANN and CO.'S Establishment, frequently to admire productions of good and true and useful art, but more often to see how every need was met that ministered to convenience and comfort."—OETZMANN and CO., Complete House Furnishers, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road; 146 and 148, Drummond-street; 8, Frederick-street; and Nos. 1 to 34, Eagle-place, London, N.W.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT.
OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the selection to the firm, may rely upon a faithful attention to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally supervised by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 257 in Catalogue, sent free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

HEAL and SON
HAVE ON SHOW
THE LARGEST STOCK OF
BED-ROOM FURNITURE
IN LONDON.
FORTY SUITES are set apart in separate rooms, and the general stock occupies six galleries and two ground floors, each 130 feet long.
150 Bedsteads, fitted with every description of bedding, are ready fixed for inspection.
AN ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE,
CONTAINING 450 DESIGNS OF BEDSTEADS AND BED-ROOM FURNITURE, AND PRICE-LIST OF BEDDING, SENT FREE BY POST.
196 to 198, TOTTENHAM COURT-ROAD, LONDON.

MAPPIN BROTHERS—Electro-Platers & Cutlers, Are placing the Public
MAPPIN BROTHERS—On the same footing as
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Members of Co-operative Stores, having
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Reduced their Prices
MAPPIN BROTHERS—20 per Cent.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—The well-known quality of their goods is strictly maintained.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Write for Catalogue to LONDON BRIDGE.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON-BRIDGE; or, REGENT-STREET, W.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.

NOTICE.—SPOONS and FORKS, in SILVER and in ELECTRO-PLATE. ELKINGTON and CO., as the result of important improvements in the above manufactures, are able to offer their guaranteed qualities at such prices as, while fully maintaining their acknowledged superiority, place them within the reach of all classes. Revised Illustrated Price-Lists free by post on application. Purchasers of Silver Spoons and Forks obtain the advantage of any fluctuations in the silver market.
Address—ELKINGTON and CO., 22, Regent-street, London, or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

PLEASE NOTICE—
THERE IS ONLY ONE ADDRESS
FOR PETER ROBINSON'S
MOURNING WAREHOUSE.
ALL LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS intended for the Mourning Warehouse MUST BE CLEARLY DIRECTED
TO REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.
Occasional misdirection of letters and orders renders this Notice necessary.

MOURNING ORDERS SENT AT ONCE
BY PETER ROBINSON
UPON RECEIPT OF LETTER OR TELEGRAM.
A large Staff of very competent Dressmakers and ASSISTANTS are kept purposely to TRAVEL to all parts of the country—no matter the distance—
(free of any extra charge whatever to the Customer) with a full assortment of Made-up Goods of the most fashionable and suitable description.
FOR A FAMILY MOURNING,
and also Mourning for Servants,
Orders, however large, can be completed at very short notice by Dressmakers of the greatest proficiency. (either French or English).
Observe the only one Address—for PETER ROBINSON'S COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET, LONDON.
One of the most important Houses of its kind in England. Established as a Mourning Warehouse Thirty Years.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,
Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Taylor and Cie, at 5s. 3d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie, at .. 4s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Dégove et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.
Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 4s. 9d.
200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 6s.; usual price, 8s. 9d.;
PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.
As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.
Address ONLY for Patterns as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.
THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS,
Exceptional Value,
at 3s. 11d., 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.
RICH LYONS VELVETS,
at 10s. 9d., 12s. 9d., and 15s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET.
Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES,
from pure and good wearing silks,
at 5½, 7½, 9, 10, 12, and up to 20 guineas,
fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet.
Copies of the most recent Paris models.
Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.
For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement form address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES.
New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.
Tarlatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s.
Black Brussels Net, 32s., 36s. 6d., and 35s.
Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 50s.
Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the above, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

FURS at SUMMER PRICES.
REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.

33 inches long	9½ guineas.
36 inches long	11½ guineas.
39 inches long	13 guineas.

New and Perfect Shapes,
and of the most enduring qualities.
FUR-LINED CLOAKS,
Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 36s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.
Also a special lot,
Lined Siain Grey Squirrel, 47 inches long, at 6 guineas.
For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to
REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

SWAN and EDGAR
are now showing
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT
AUTUMN NOVELTIES,
Silks, Mantles, Costumes,
and Sealskin Paletots.
SWAN and EDGAR,
PICCADILLY and REGENT-STREET,
London.

THE LOUIS VELVETEEN.
The "Morning Post" of Aug. 15, 1878, says:—
Probably in no city in the world is all that pertains to dress and personal adornment so submitted to a keener criticism than in Paris, which has long enjoyed the reputation of being the centre of fashion. One of the most recent examples of articles of attire of English manufacture satisfactorily passing such an ordeal is afforded by the favour with which the introduction of
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN
has been received in that city. This BEAUTIFUL FABRIC,
which, in texture, appearance, and durability, bears the closest possible resemblance to the best Lyons Silk Velvet, has completely won the suffrages of the most severe PARISIAN critics, and deservedly so too. The Louis Velveteen, which is now universally sold, possesses several advantages over other Velveteens, amongst which may be specially mentioned that it neither changes colour, fades, cockles, nor spots with rain, one and all considerations of great importance. It is, moreover, dyed by a new process in the
FASHIONABLE PERMANENT ORIENTAL BLUE-BLACK,
and made in various qualities and thicknesses suitable for either Millinery, Dressmaking, or Trimming purposes. With so many good points to recommend it, it is not surprising that the LOUIS VELVETEEN should have been largely imitated, a fact which has rendered it necessary to stamp it on the reverse side every seven yards with a Trade-Mark representing a Griffin's Head, and the motto, "Nos aspera juvant."
THE LOUIS GENOA FAST PILE VELVETEEN, AT 5s. TO 7s. PER YARD, CANNOT BE DISTINGUISHED FROM VELVETS AT 21s. TO 30s. PER YARD.
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN IS NOT DEARER THAN INFERIOR DYES AND MAKES.
CAUTION.—YOU MUST SEE THE VELVETEENS ARE STAMPED AT THE BACK IN PLAIN LETTERS "THE LOUIS VELVETEEN," WITH TRADE-MARK AND MOTTO, OR YOU ARE NOT BUYING THE GENUINE ARTICLE, NOTWITHSTANDING ALL ASSERTIONS TO THE CONTRARY.
Agents for Wholesale only:—J. H. FULLER, 92, Watling-street, London; WM. PIPE, 22, Glassford-street, Glasgow JOHN FREEMAN, 20, Wicklow-street, Dublin.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost. Consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 4½d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 69, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

INDIGESTION.
It is conclusively ascertained that LACTO-PEPTINE will bring about the Digestion of Food in a manner perfectly identical to that obtained under the influence of the natural gastric juice. "A glance at the Formula of LACTOPEPTINE would convince even the most sceptical of the valuable results that must ensue through its administration. Composed of ptyalin, pepsine, pancreatine, hydrochloric and lactic acids, it is a combination of all the digestive agents; consequently, can never be administered without giving the utmost satisfaction; for if there is a deficiency in the system of all or any of these agents, LACTOPEPTINE will supply it, and thus assist in digesting the food, enabling the organs that produce these principles of digestion to rest and recuperate their relaxed energies."—From "Practical Medicine and Surgery," July, 1877. LACTOPEPTINE being presented in saccharated form, is most agreeable to the taste, and can be administered even to the youngest child. The price of the LACTOPEPTINE is 4s. 6d. per one oz. bottle. (An ounce bottle contains forty-eight ten-grain doses.) If any difficulty is experienced in obtaining LACTOPEPTINE from your Chemist, communicate direct, sending P.O.O. for 4s. 6d. Address—DARNICK, KIDDER, and CO., 61, Russell-st., corner of Charlotte-st., London, W.C. Pamphlet to any address.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE COMPLEXION,
Making the skin clear, smooth, and lustrous.
WRIGHT'S COAL-TAR SOAP
(SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS).
Highly and extensively recommended for the toilet and in all cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. Startin, M.R.C.S., Surgeon to St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, the late Mr. James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Savile-row, Mr. McCall Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodside-crescent, Glasgow, and the other leading members of the profession. In Tablets, 6d. and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of all Chemists.
W. V. WRIGHT and CO. London.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. "All our children use Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it."—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet:"—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Press:"—"Laxora Lozenges can be safely recommended."
G. R. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s. 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 82, Southwark-street.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

THROAT AFFECTIONS and HOARSENESS.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges are now sold by most respectable Chemists in this country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box. People troubled with a hacking cough, a slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections.—Depôt, 493, Oxford-street, London.

HOOPING-COUGH.—ROCHE'S HERBAL EMBROCATION.—The celebrated Effectual Cure without internal medicine. Sole Wholesale Agents, ELLIMAN and SON, 167, Queen Victoria-street (late of 38, Old Change), London. Sold retail by most Chemists. Price 4s. per Bottle.

COLDS CURED BY
DR. DUNBAR'S ALKARAM, or Anti-Catarrh Smelling-Bottle.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
If inhaled on the first symptoms, ALKARAM will at once arrest them, and cure severe cases in half an hour. Sold by all Chemists, 2s. 9d. a Bottle. Address, Dr. Dunbar, care of Messrs. F. Newbery and Sons, 37, Newgate-street.

THROAT IRRITATION.—EPPS'S GLYCERINE JUJUBES. Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. Sold only in Boxes, 6d. and 1s., labelled thus:—
JAMES EPPS and CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London.

PILLS
KAYE'S WORSDELL'S
PURIFY THE BLOOD,
CLEANSE FROM DISEASE,
IMPROVE DIGESTION,
ESTABLISH THE HEALTH.
Sold everywhere.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FALLING SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been discovered for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is desirous that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery; it has never known to fail, and will cure the most hopeless case after all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be sent post to any person free of charge.—Address: Mr. WILLIAMS, 10, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT.
The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. The Ointment is unrivalled in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

DR. LOCOCK'S PULMONIC WAFERS instantly relieve and rapidly cure Asthma, Consumption, Coughs, Bronchitis, Colds, Rheumatism, and all Nervous Complaints. Sold at 1s. 1½d. per Box.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM, NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free for three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT, 194, REGENT-STREET, LONDON, W. AND 23 RUE ST. MARC, PARIS.

ROUND SHOULDERS and STOOPING HABITS Cured by Dr. CHANDLER'S CHEST-EXPANDING BRACE for both sexes. It assists growth, and produces a handsome figure. 10s. 6d. each.—66, Berners-st. Illustrationsent.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. F. Pratt, Surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1878.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2052.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS } SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½d.

NAWAB GHOLAM HUSSEIN KHAN, C.S.I., BRITISH ENVOY TO THE AMEER OF CABUL.

BIRTHS.

On the 21st inst., at Gowan Park, Cupar, Fife, the wife of Keith Norman Macdonald, Esq., M.D., of a daughter.

On the 21st inst., at Edinburgh, the wife of William Muir Muirhead, M.D., Assam, of a daughter.

On the 16th inst., at The Moat, Uckington, near Cheltenham, the wife of Sir F. C. Ford, of a daughter.

On the 18th inst., at Wollaton Rectory, Nottingham, the Hon. Mrs. H. C. Russell, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On the 15th inst., at Belleville, Ontario, Canada, by the Rev. Arthur Baldwin, the Hon. Octavius Henry Lambart, second son of the Earl of Cavan, to Hannah Sarah, eldest daughter of the late Hiram E. Howard, Esq., of Buffalo, New York.

On the 22nd inst., at St. James's Church, Piccadilly, F. B. M. Montgomerie, of Lincoln's Inn, barrister-at-law, Esq., to Isabella Lindsay, eldest daughter of the Hon. C. Lindsay and Lady F. Lindsay.

DEATHS.

On the 17th inst., at Stanfield House, Clarence-parade, Southsea, Herbert Benjamin Harenc, Esq., third son of the late Rev. Edward Harenc and Mrs. Harenc, of The Lower Hall, Ledbury, Herefordshire.

On the 16th inst., near Dublin, Sophia Dorothea Beauchamp, widow of Colonel Richard Beauchamp, late of 16th Lancers and Grenadier Guards, in the 83rd year of her age.

On the 16th inst., at Mansfield, Notts, Helen, eldest daughter of the late John Dethick, M.R.C.S., of Worksop, aged 53.

On the 21st inst., Elizabeth, the dear wife of Thomas Doowra, of Ball's-pond, London, and The Grove, Swanage, Dorset.

On the 13th inst., at Burnham, Somersetshire, Marcia, widow of T. Gabb, Esq., of Abergavenny, Monmouthshire, and daughter of the late Sir C. Willoughby, Bart., of Baldon, Oxford, aged 73.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 2.

SUNDAY, Oct. 27.

Nineteenth Sunday after Trinity.
Morning Lessons: Ezek. xiv.; 1 Tim. iv. Evening Lessons: Ezek. xviii. or xxiv. 15.; Luke xix. 11—28.
St. Paul's Cathedral, 10.30 a.m., Rev. W. J. Hall, Minor Canon; 3.15 p.m., Bishop Claughton; 7 p.m., Rev. A. Wilson, Vicar of Tottenham.
Whitehall, 11 a.m., Rev. T. F. Papillon; 3 p.m., Rev. F. Garden, Sub-Dean of the Chapels Royal.
Westminster Abbey, 10 a.m., Rev. Bradley H. Alford, M.A., Vicar of St. Luke's, Marylebone; 3 p.m., Rev. Canon Duckworth.
St. James's, noon, probably Rev. W. R. Jolley.
Savoy, 11.30 a.m., Rev. Reginald H. Barnes, Prebendary of Exeter and Vicar of Heavitree; 7 p.m., Hon. and Rev. Adelbert J. R. Anson, Rector of Woolwich.

MONDAY, Oct. 28.

St. Simon and St. Jude, Apostles.
Royal Albert Hall and Horticultural Gardens: Organ Recital, 3 p.m.
Medical Society, 8.30 p.m.
National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotunda; 10.15 a.m., address by Mr. Commissioner Miller on Jurisprudence and Amendment of the Law: meeting at Assembly Rooms, 8 p.m.

TUESDAY, Oct. 29.

Hare-hunting begins.
Accession of Albert, King of Saxony, 1873.
Grosham Lectures, (four days), 6 p.m. (Rev. E Ledger on Astronomy).
Ipswich and Eastern Counties Poultry, Pigeon, and Cage Bird Show.
National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotunda: 10.15 a.m., address by Mr Gambier Parry on Art; Ladies' College, 8 p.m., conversazione.
Races: Brighton Autumn Meeting, Thames Sailing Club, twelfth match.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 30.

National Social Science Association, Cheltenham, Montpellier Rotunda: 10 a.m., address by Mr. G. Hastings, President of the Council; 1 p.m., concluding meeting.
King's College, 8 p.m. (Mr. G. C. Warr on Ancient History—Greece).
St. James's Hall, 8 p.m., Mr. H. M. Stanley on his African Explorations.
Oxford Poultry and Pigeon Show.
Birkbeck Institution, 8.30 p.m. (Mr. B. J. Malden on Paris and the Exhibition).

THURSDAY, Oct. 31.

Luis I., King of Portugal, born, 1838.
St. Paul's Cathedral, dedication of the new peal of bells (announced).
Meteorological Society (at Civil Engineers' Institution), Lecture, 8 p.m. (Dr. Robert J. Mann on the Physical Properties of the Atmosphere).
College of Preceptors, 7 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Fitch on Practical Teaching—the Art of Examining).
Bristol, Clifton, and West of England third annual Dog Show.
Races: Lewes Autumn Meeting.
Royal Toxophilite Society (extra target).

FRIDAY, Nov. 1.

All Saints' Day.
Moon's first quarter, 9.51 p.m.
Philological Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. H. Sweet on Old English Phonology and on Modifications of Mr. Bell's Visible Speech).
City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy—the Laws which determine the Quantity of Labour and Capital).
Geologists' Association, 8 p.m. (Mr. W. H. Hudleston on the Controversy respecting the Gneiss Rocks of the North-West Highlands).

SATURDAY, Nov. 2.

All Souls' Day.
Michaelmas Law Sittings begin.

THE WEATHER.

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51° 28′ 6″ N.; Long. 0° 10′ 47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

DAY.	DAILY MEANS OF Barometer Reduced.	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	THERMOM. Maximum, read at 10 P.M.	Minimum, read at 10 P.M.	WIND. General Direction.	Movement in 24 hours, A.M. next morning.	Rain in 24 hours, 10 A.M. next morning.
	Inches.	°	°		0-10	°	°		Miles.	In.
October 16	30·033	53·2	52·4	·97	10	57·0	51·4	E.	28	0·000
17	29·942	49·0	48·8	·99	10	54·9	44·4	E.	45	0·000
18	29·762	50·5	45·0	·83	7	54·4	43·8	E. ENE.	356	0·000
19	29·743	53·4	48·2	·84	8	56·3	51·7	E.	242	0·050
20	29·750	52·2	50·5	·94	—	57·3	47·4	E. ESE. SSE.	47	0·005
21	29·337	55·9	52·6	·89	10	62·7	49·7	SSE. S. SSW.	278	0·235
22	29·242	47·8	41·0	·79	4	56·7	44·0	SW. WSW.	237	0·035*

* Hail.

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in inches) corrected ..	30·049	29·988	29·832	29·729	29·738	29·486	29·223
Temperature of Air	54·3°	52·3°	53·1°	50·4°	53·3°	56·8°	50·2°
Temperature of Evaporation ..	53·7°	51·9°	49·5°	52·2°	52·0°	56·0°	48·3°
Direction of Wind	E.	E.	E.	E.	ESE.	S.	SW.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE

FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 2.

Sunday.	Monday.	Tuesday.	Wednesday.	Thursday.	Friday.	Saturday.
M. h m 2 10	A. h m 2 31	M. h m 3 3	A. h m 3 15	M. h m 3 38	A. h m 4 0	M. h m 4 23	A. h m 4 47	M. h m 5 10	A. h m 5 33	M. h m 6 0	A. h m 6 28	M. h m 7 0	A. h m 7 33

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.

ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.

THE MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS. All the year round.

Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.

THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.

It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.

THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.

Fauteuils, 5s.; Sofa Stalls, 3s.; Area, 2s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight; TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Music by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The performances of Fanfare, the Cornet-Player, and Labial on the Euphonium, are that now the attraction and talk of the entire Kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 2ls. to 3½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

NOW PUBLISHING,

PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½D.),

THE

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK

FOR

1879.

CONTAINING

TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,

PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,

FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS

TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,

AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;

TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;

ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA

WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;

The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Officers and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Times of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.

The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK for the year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.

The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

THE ILLUSTRATED

PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.

An English Edition of

L'EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE DE 1878 ILLUSTRÉE,

in continuation of the Illustrated Journal issued in 1867 under the authority of the Imperial Commission, is issued every Tuesday,

PRICE THREEPENCE.

PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE OF

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS,

198, STRAND, LONDON.

All Country Orders to be supplied through the London Agents.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £c.000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRÆTORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 33 ft. by 29 ft.; with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street, W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT, "No. 204;" MRS. BROWN AT THE PLAY, by Mr. Arthur Sketchley; and CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME, EVERY EVENING, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s.; Stalls, 3s. and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place.

THE TWO ORPHANS, with all the Original Effects and Powerful Cast, EVERY EVENING at 7.30. Box-office open daily from Eleven to Five. No booking fees. MORNING PERFORMANCE on SATURDAY NEXT, at 1.45; Doors open at 1.15.—OLYMPIC THEATRE.

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY-LANE.—Sole Lessee, F. B. Chatterton.—The National Drama at the National Theatre, Shakspeare's Tragedy MACBETH, at Eight o'Clock, SATURDAY, OCT. 26, Tuesday, Oct. 29, Thursday, Oct. 31, with Locke's celebrated music, increased orchestra, and numerous chorus. Macbeth, Mr. Charles Dillon; Lady Macbeth, Mrs. Hermann Vezin. Shakspeare's romantic drama, A WINTER'S TALE, at Eight o'Clock, MONDAY, OCT. 28, Wednesday, Oct. 30, Friday, Nov. 1. Leontes, Mr. Charles Dillon; Hermione, Miss Wallis; and Paulina, Mrs. Hermann Vezin; supported by Messrs. John Ryder, John C. Cowper, Edward Compton, Atkins, Calhaem, Howard Russell, Barsley, R. F. Edgar, Shepherd, Tritton, &c.; Mesdames Huntpeth, Fanny Huddart, Fowler, &c. Preceded every evening by THE UNFINISHED GENTLEMEN. Conclude with a Comic Ballet by the Lauri Family. Box-Office open Ten to Five daily. Stage Manager, Mr. Edward Stirling. Prices as usual. Treasurer, Mr. James Guiver.

SACRED HARMONIC SOCIETY, EXETER HALL. Conductor, Sir Michael Costa.—The FORTY-SEVENTH SEASON will commence on FRIDAY, NOV. 22, with a performance of Mendelssohn's HYMN OF PRAISE, and Rossini's STABAT MATER. During the season the following Works will also be performed:—Rossini's "Moses in Egypt," Handel's "Samson," "Israel in Egypt," and "Messiah," "Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," Mozart's "Requiem," and "Twelfth Mass," Spohr's "Last Judgment," and Costa's "Eli." Subscriptions (tickets transferable), 4, 2l, and 3 guineas for Ten Concerts. Season Prospectus now ready, and subscriptions received at No. 6, Exeter Hall, daily, from Ten till Five; Saturday, Ten till Two.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1878.

Once more we have before us the documents respectively issued every year by the Board of Trade and by the National Life-Boat Institution, so vividly illustrative of the perils braved by the "toilers of the deep." It will be borne in mind that the statistics with which they have furnished the public relate, not to the current year, but to the year 1876-7, ending June 30, 1877. The account of the year 1877-8, ending last June, will, we fear, tell a gloomier tale than many preceding it. But "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Our business now is with the earlier annual period exclusively. There are two pictures of marine experience brought by these summaries under notice, and it is our custom to look at them side by side. The one represents a dire crowd of melancholy events; the other, an assemblage of facts which do honour to human nature. In the one, we see much to deplore, much to be ashamed of, something even to denounce with indignation; in the other, we meet with little but what evokes our praise and gratifies our pride. The one embodies, to a distressing extent, the selfishness of man; the other, his generosity, his enthusiasm, his heroic self-sacrifice. Not that we mean to depreciate the large amount of conscientiousness, courage, and noble character to be found generally diffused through the mercantile fleet of this country, nor to deny that in not a few instances it may present worthy comparisons with what is especially characteristic of the Life-Boat Institution; but here it is that selfishness, carelessness, and culpable ignorance have a much wider sphere for making themselves manifest. What the breadth of that sphere is may be judged from the following facts:—In 1876-7 the number of British vessels which entered inwards and cleared outwards to and from ports of the United Kingdom was 581,099, representing a tonnage 101,799,050, 224,669 of which vessels, with a tonnage of 66,560,127, were steamers. Add to these about 60,000 foreign ships, with a tonnage of nearly 20,000,000, which, during the same period, arrived at or left our ports; add, likewise, that on board these 641,099 ships, British and Foreign, there were probably (apart from passengers), four millions of men and boys, and some not altogether inadequate idea may be obtained of the vast magnitude of that "shipping interest" with the séparate fatalities and casualties of which the Wreck Register and Chart of the Board of Trade summarily deals. We have no right nor wish to forget, when analysing the cases in which ships have come to grief, the immense majority of cases in which the duties they have undertaken, perilous as they are, have been successfully achieved.

The year 1876-7 was remarkable for the frequency of its violent and destructive gales of wind, which are to be taken into due account in considering the sum total of losses sustained in the course of it by our Mercantile Navy. The number of Wrecks, Casualties, and Collisions from all causes on and near the Coasts of the United Kingdom was 4164, exceeding that of the foregoing twelvemonths by 407. Of these cases, 511 involved total loss, while those of the two preceding years were 502 and 472 respectively. The remaining casualties, after deducting these, comprise 1120 of a serious character and 2533 of a minor class: 847 of these wrecks were caused by collisions, and involved a loss of human life to the extent of 57 souls, while no less than 48 occurred on or near our coasts between two steam-ships both under way, not to mention numbers of others in our harbours and rivers, the particulars of which are not given in the Abstract. This fact is an extremely serious one. A collision at sea may occasionally, it is true, be purely accidental, but in most instances it will be found to have resulted from easily preventible causes. The loss of the Princess Alice, in September last, reminds us how terrible may be the effects of such a calamity, and induces the conclusion that something additional should be done by authoritative regulation to prevent (in as far as they can be prevented by such means) this class of disasters. Of the 3317 wrecks and casualties, other than collisions—the whole number reported during the year—446 resulted in total loss, 902 in serious damage, and 1969 were minor accidents. They were more by 335 than the number reported during the previous twelvemonth. We need hardly pursue the analysis further. It is made up of the same items as usual. The proportion of serious cases attributable to defects in structure or equipments of ships, to errors of officers, to stress of weather, and to other causes; the age and tonnage of the vessels destroyed or damaged; the localities in which the wrecks occurred; the direction and force of wind under which they happened; and some other particulars, curious as well as interesting in themselves, furnish much the same kind of information as that with which the public has been annually made acquainted for several successive years. There is one feature, however, of the Wreck Register Abstract to which especial attention needs to be called and will surely be directed. We refer to the casualties which have occurred to our shipping in the rivers and harbours of the United Kingdom. The total number of these during the year now under survey was 984; of which 658 were collisions, founderings 13, strandings 184, and miscellaneous 129. The lives lost in these casualties were 15.

We have left ourselves but little space to bring before the reader the brighter picture exhibited by the National Life-Boat Institution. In tempestuous times one can hardly take up a newspaper, metropolitan or provincial, without lighting upon some unobtrusive paragraph cursorily describing the saving of life by one or other of the Boats of this Institution. Taken in connection with the Board of Trade's Rocket Apparatus worked by the Coastguard and Volunteer Brigades, 4795 lives were rescued from the fury of the waves in the course of the year. The number reported as lost is 776—by far too high a figure, alas! but what it would have been but for the appliances and exertions specially devoted to the saving of life at sea may be approximately conjectured. The story would then have been a much more terrible one than it is now—terrible as it must be admitted to be. Few persons, we think, of human, not to say generous, sympathies, will hesitate to congratulate the National Life-Boat Institution. It is to be admired, we may almost say envied, for its great success. It is to be even more admired for its noble and persistent exertions. It certainly deserves the hearty and liberal support of the British public. To some extent, it has received it. May the aid be even more fully rendered in days to come! We all owe our brave tars this recognition of their serviceable lives. They contribute not a little to our daily comforts and pleasures. Perhaps the least we can do for them in return is to hold out a helping hand to the admirable organisation which is on watch round our coast to rescue from destruction those whom the perils of the ocean threaten to engulf.

THE COURT.

The Queen, accompanied by Princess Beatrice, returned to Balmoral Castle yesterday week from the Glassalt Shiel. The Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach arrived at the castle on Saturday last as Minister in attendance on her Majesty. Captain Edwards, R.E., and the Rev. Dr. Taylor also arrived. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach and Dr. Taylor dined with the Queen. Her Majesty and Princess Beatrice attended Divine service on Sunday at Crathie church. Dr. Taylor officiated. Lord and Lady Muncaster were invited to luncheon at the castle on Monday, and they were afterwards received by the Queen. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach dined with the Queen on Tuesday. Her Majesty and the Princess have taken their customary daily out-of-door exercise.

The Queen has selected Captain Edwards, aide-de-camp to General Sir J. Lintorn Simmons, for the appointment of Assistant Keeper of the Privy Purse, jointly with Lieutenant-Colonel Pickard.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Prince of Wales took part in the ceremonial on Monday in Paris at the fête for the distribution of awards accorded by the juries of the Universal Exhibition. His Royal Highness responded in French to the opening speech of the President, and was very warmly applauded. The Princess of Wales was present. On Tuesday a deputation of British commissioners, exhibitors, and jurors waited on the Prince at the British Embassy, to present him with an address inscribed in a costly volume. The Prince received them standing, Lord Lyons being on his right hand, and Mr. Adams, first secretary of the Paris Embassy, on his left. Lord Granville read the address. The Prince's reply was received with the utmost enthusiasm. His Royal Highness was afterwards at the luncheon given by Lord Lyons. The Prince, accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh, has made various inspections in the Exhibition.

Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein have returned to Cumberland Lodge from Germany.

The Duke of Connaught went to the Folly Theatre on Saturday.

The Duke of Cambridge returned to Gloucester House last Saturday from inspecting the troops in garrison at Devonport.

The Empress Eugénie and Prince Louis Napoleon have returned to Chiselhurst from the Continent. The Empress has recovered from the effects of her fall upon landing at Dover, and was able to walk to church on Sunday.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and the Duchess of Marlborough, accompanied by the Ladies Georgiana and Sarah Spencer Churchill, have left the Viceregal Lodge for Knockdrin Castle, county Westmeath, the seat of Sir R. Levinge, where he is to reside for a couple of months. At Mullingar an address was presented by the town commissioners, and in his reply the Lord Lieutenant spoke of the prosperity of the country, and added that he looked forward to yet spending many happy days in Ireland.

The Duke and Duchess of Westminster have arrived at Eaton Hall from Paris.

The Duke and Duchess of Norfolk have left town for Paris.

The Duke and Duchess of Manchester have arrived at Kimbolton Castle, Hunts.

The Duchess (Dowager) of Cleveland has arrived at Osterley Park.

Count Beust arrived at the Austrian Embassy on Tuesday from Vienna to resume his diplomatic duties.

Lord Beaconsfield passed through town last Wednesday on his way to Hughenden Manor from visiting the Earl and Countess of Bradford at Weston Park, Shifnal, and the Countess of Chesterfield at Bretby.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Bath, the Earl and Countess of Darnley and the Ladies Bligh and Viscountess De Vesci have arrived in Paris.

The Earl and Countess of Stamford and Warrington have arrived at Parks House, Newmarket.

The Earl of Carnwath and Lady Emma Dalzell have arrived at Torquay.

Count and Countess Batthyany and Mdlle. Anna de Bornemann have arrived on a visit to Lady Delawarr at Buckhurst.

Count Montgelas has returned to the Austrian Embassy, Belgrave-square, from the Continent.

Lord and Lady Otho Fitzgerald have arrived at Oakeley Court from Paris.

Lord and Lady Dacre have arrived at The Hoo, near Welwyn, Herts, from Scotland.

Lady Churchill has arrived at Nairn Side, Inverness.

The Hon. Lady Biddulph, accompanied by Countess Spencer, has left town for Hastings, to pass a few weeks in retirement.

The Right Hon. Sir Stafford and Lady Northcote have arrived at The Pynes, Devon.

The Hon. Sir Arthur Gordon, Governor of the Fiji Islands, and Lady Gordon and family have arrived at Haddo House, Aberdeenshire, on a visit to the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen and the Dowager Countess of Aberdeen, after a long absence from England.

Sir Richard Garth, Chief Justice of the High Court of Judicature of Bengal, with Lady Garth and Miss Garth, has left England for Brindisi, en route for Bombay.

The Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, M.P., with Mrs. and Miss Mary Gladstone, have arrived on a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Bedford at Woburn Abbey.

The First Lord of the Admiralty left town on Monday for Paris, on his way to Marseilles, whence he goes to Malta and Cyprus, accompanied by the Secretary of State for War.

FASHIONABLE MARRIAGES.

The marriage of Lord Lyttelton and the Hon. Mary Susan Caroline Cavendish, second daughter of Lord and Lady Chesham, was solemnised at the village church of Latimer on Saturday last. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of white satin duchesse, trimmed with Brussels point and orange flowers, and a veil of the same lace, over a wreath of orange flowers, fastened with diamond brooches. The other ornaments comprised a diamond necklace and pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were the Hon. Katherine Cavendish, her sister, Lady Susan Byng, Miss Grenfell, the Hon. Sarah Lyttelton, Miss Talbot, and Miss Mary Gladstone. The dresses were of ivory white broché silk, trimmed with satin and lace fichus, and white satin hats; and each wore a brooch with the initials "M. L." and coronet, studded with pearls and turquoises, the bridegroom's gift. Lord Lyttelton was accompanied by his brother, Captain the Hon. Neville G. Lyttelton, Rifle Brigade, as best man. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Hon. and Rev. W. H. Lyttelton, Canon of Worcester and Rector of Hagley (uncle of the bridegroom), assisted by the Rev. Bryant Burgess, M.A., Rural Dean and Rector of Latimer. The service was choral—the Hon. Victoria Grosvenor presiding at the organ. Lord and Lady Chesham received about a hundred friends to breakfast, after which, Lord Lyttelton and his bride started, amidst a shower of rice, for Cleveden, the Duke of Westminster's residence, near Maidenhead, for the honeymoon. The bride's travelling dress was of dark green velvet, with bonnet to match. The gifts were of great value; and not least valued were those from Lord Lyttelton's tenantry and household, and the inhabitants of Hagley.

The marriage of Mr. Frederic Molyneux Montgomerie and Miss Isabella Lindsay, eldest daughter of the Hon. Colin and Lady Frances Lindsay, was solemnised on the 17th inst. at St. James's Church, Piccadilly. The bridesmaids were the Ladies Mabel and Anne Lindsay, her cousins; and Miss Gunning and Miss Georgina Mary Gunning, granddaughters of the Rev. Sir Henry J. Gunning, Bart. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of rich white satin duchesse, trimmed with point de gaze and orange-flowers, and over a wreath of orange-blossoms a tulle veil. Her jewels comprised a diamond pendant, the gift of her aunt, the Countess of Crawford and Balcarres, and a diamond brooch and pin, presents from the Hon. Mrs. Loyd-Lindsay and Miss Emily Sumner. The bridesmaids wore dresses of white cashmere, trimmed with dark blue velvet, and dark blue velvet hats trimmed with white lace. Each lady wore a gold locket, with the monogram "I.M." in the centre, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was accompanied by the Rev. A. D. L'Estrange as best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Beaulands, M.A., Incumbent of St. Michael's, Brighton, assisted by the Curate of St. James's. The wedding party proceeded to the Hon. Colin and Lady Frances Lindsay's residence, 15, Collingham-road, South Kensington, to breakfast, after which the newly-wedded couple left the Hon. Colin Lindsay's for Tunbridge Wells for their honeymoon. The bride's presents were numerous.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Court of Common Council has fixed the salary of the Remembrancer at £1500.

The Mercers' Company have contributed £105 to the fund being collected at the Mansion House towards the expenses of holding the agricultural exhibition in London next year.

On Tuesday morning the whole of the roadway of London Bridge, which had been partially closed for repaving since the 30th ult., was thrown open for traffic.

Sir Richard Wallace, M.P., who is an Honorary Associate of the Order of St. John, has sent £50 in support of the funds of the St. John Ambulance Association.

It is stated that Dr. Erasmus Wilson has handed to Mr. John Dixon a cheque for £10,000 in redemption of his pledge to pay him that sum on the erection of Cleopatra's Needle on the banks of the Thames.

On Wednesday the teams, consisting of forty horses, which have run with the Brighton coach this season, were sold by auction at Aldridge's Repository. The top-priced horses were Cavalier, 100 gs.; Lily, 86 gs.; Blue Bell, 86 gs.; Hendon, 82 gs. The entire stud fetched 2200 gs.

Experiments with the electric light are to be made on the Thames Embankment, on Waterloo Bridge, in Billingsgate Market, in front of the Mansion House and on the Holborn Viaduct. Mr. Edison's patents for the subdivision of the electric light have been filed in the Patent Office in London.

Under the patronage of the Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, an industrial exhibition was opened last Wednesday at Tottenham, in the Drill Hall, Park-lane. In the evening a concert was given, and on each successive day of the show some musical entertainment will be provided for the visitors. The exhibition will close next Wednesday.

Some time ago a gentleman, whose name has not transpired, announced his intention to give one hundred pounds to each of the metropolitan parishes, to be expended on the purchase and planting of trees in the principal thoroughfares. The same person has made a similar offer to the Hornsey Local Board for the purpose of planting Highgate with trees, and at a meeting of that body on Tuesday the offer was accepted.

At the Auction Mart, on Wednesday, Messrs. Fox and Bousfield offered to auction freehold estates in the New River Company, comprising two fifths of a king's share, one eighth of an adventurer's share, and thirty-one £100 shares (paid up). The adventurer's share realised at the rate of nearly £91,000 per share; the king's share at the rate of £88,200 per share; and the £100 shares sold at an average price of £310 per share.

Mr. H. M. Stanley gave a lecture at St. James's Hall on Wednesday evening to a large and appreciative audience, who greeted his entrance with continued cheering. The subject of the lecture was Through the Dark Continent, being a brief description of Mr. Stanley's journey from Zanzibar to the Victoria Nyanza, thence to the Tanganyika, and on by the Lualaba and Congo, now called the Livingstone, to the Atlantic Ocean.

At the sitting of the Commissioner and assessors in the inquiry into the loss of the Princess Alice on Tuesday Mr. Mansell Jones stated, on behalf of the Board of Trade, the nature of certain charges which will be brought against George Thomas Long, first mate of the Princess Alice; Thomas Harrison, captain of the Bywell Castle; and Henry Dunelow and Robert Thorn, first and second engineers of the Bywell Castle.

The weekly return of metropolitan pauperism shows that the total number of paupers at the end of the third week in October was 77,069, of whom 40,123 were in workhouses, and 36,946 received outdoor relief. Compared with the corresponding weeks in 1877, 1876, and 1875, these figures show a decrease of 869, 1003, and 4656 respectively. The number of vagrants relieved on the last day of the week was 967, of whom 644 were men, 249 women, and 74 children.

Mr. Thomas Cant Mills, a milk-dealer, in Pratt-street, Camden Town, who was recently convicted by Mr. Barstow at the Clerkenwell Police Court for assaulting a detective officer and sentenced to six months' hard labour, appealed, at the Middlesex Sessions last Saturday, against the conviction. Witnesses who did not appear before the magistrate were called on behalf of the appellant, and their evidence satisfied the justices that the constable was mistaken as to the person who assaulted him. They therefore quashed the conviction.

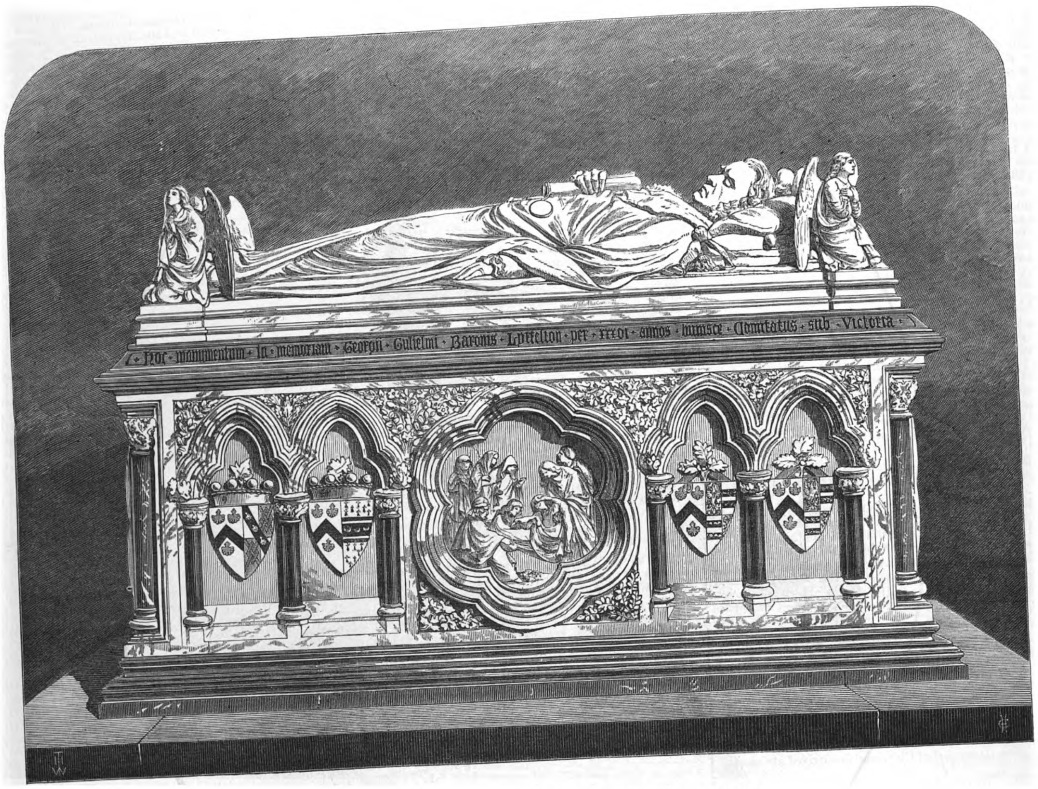
A quarterly court of the governors of the Marine Society was held at the offices in Bishopsgate-street on Monday—Mr. Joseph Moore in the chair. The report of the committee stated that, during the last quarter, thirty-seven destitute persons had been admitted to the Warspite, twenty-five of that number being orphans; thirty-four boys had been sent to sea in the merchant service, and seven draughted into the Royal Navy, leaving on board the ship 301. Five medals for good service at sea had been presented. The swimming practice had been most successful, no less than 134 boys who, on joining, knew nothing whatever of this important branch of a sailor's training, having become good swimmers during the summer.

The opening meeting for the present session of the members of the Society of Medical Officers of Health took place yesterday week, at the Social Science Rooms, Adelphi, under the presidency of Dr. Thomas Stevenson. He gave an address on the "Acquisition and Distribution of Sanitary Knowledge by the Medical Profession," enforcing with particular emphasis the desirability for the advancement of sanitary science, of hygiene, or what might be termed preventive medicine, forming an obligatory and systematic part of the instruction given at our medical schools. The report for last year states that the society now consists of 158 members, of whom thirty-six are metropolitan and sixty-seven country members.

In digging the foundations for a new shaft at the rear of premises in the occupation of Messrs. Morgan and Co., in Long Acre, some workmen came upon a chest containing a large number of gold and silver coins of the reign of Henry VIII. in a good state of preservation. Besides a quantity of miscellaneous articles, the box contained about twenty pieces of church plate and ornaments. Among these were a massive chalice, a ciborium, and a monstrance, all set with precious stones; a finely-carved crozier head, a lapis lazuli crucifix, a pectoral cross and chain attached, some small vessels, and what appears to have been the mitre of an abbot or a bishop. At the foot of the chalice a cross with a nimbus is engraved, and in a scroll the Latin inscription, "Ad majorem Dei gloriam."

There were 2558 births and 1369 deaths registered in London last week. The deaths included 5 from smallpox, 10 from measles, 45 from scarlet fever, 12 from diphtheria, 33 from whooping-cough, 30 from different forms of fever, and 36 from diarrhœa; thus to the seven principal diseases of the zymotic class 171 deaths were referred, against 190 and 191 in the two preceding weeks. The fatal cases of scarlet fever exceeded the numbers in recent weeks, although they were 60 below the corrected average. The fatal cases of diphtheria, which had been 20 and 17 in the two previous weeks, further declined to 12 last week, although they exceeded the corrected average by 4. The deaths referred to diseases of the respiratory organs, which had risen from 158 to 286 in the six preceding weeks, further rose to 326 last week, and exceeded by 66 the corrected average; 216 resulted from bronchitis and 73 from pneumonia. In Greater London 3111 births and 1635 deaths were registered. The mean temperature of the air was 51·9 deg., or 1·9 deg. above the average in the corresponding week of sixty years. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was 18 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 74·2 hours.

NAWAB GHOLAM HUSSEIN KHAN, C.S.I.



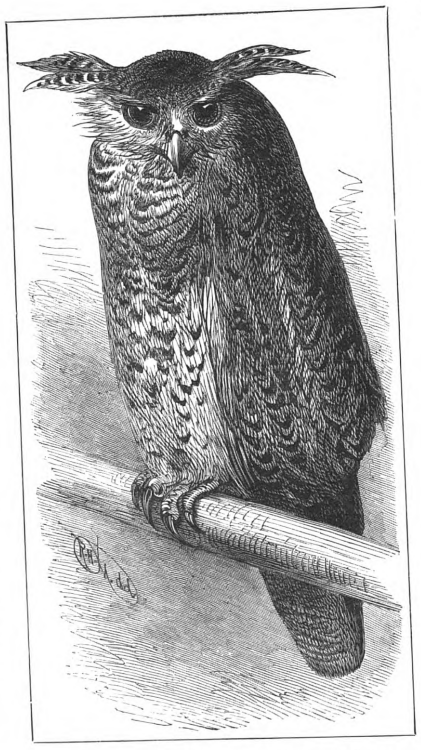
Our front-page Engraving is a portrait of Nawab Gholam Hussein Khan, the native gentleman deputed by Lord Lytton to announce to Shere Ali Sir Neville Chamberlain's intended Mission. He belongs to the clan of the Alizae Pathans, who have, according to their own traditions, been settled in the Derayat upwards of 1000 years. He is eldest son of Ashik Mahomed Khan, who was ruler of the Tank subdivision of the Dera Ismail Khan district under the Maharajah Runjeet Singh. On the death of his father, Gholam Hussein Khan went to Lahore. In 1847, under the orders of the late Sir Frederick Currie, then resident at the Sikh capital, he, together with other Mohammedan chiefs, attacked the rebellious Bhai Maharajah Singh, completely dispersing his band. We find Gholam Hussein Khan a few weeks later earning the approbation of Major R. Napier, chief engineer at the siege of Mooltan. He was next dispatched to Dera Ismail Khan to hold the country against the Sikh troops then in open rebellion in Bunnoo. Their loyal assistance to Lieutenant Reynell Taylor enabled that officer, with a few untrained levies and two old cannon—the only shot for which were stones—to reduce by siege the fort of Laki, which was defended by 500 men and ten guns. This exploit is, perhaps, one of the finest military achievements in our Indian history. During the siege Azim Khan, Dost Mahomed's son, marched down from Cabul with a strong force and endeavoured to seduce the Alizae chiefs from their allegiance, but it was of no avail; and, on finding that he could expect no support from his co-religionists in the Derayat, Azim Khan fell back. From 1851 to 1857 Gholam Hussein remained at or near Bunnoo, aiding his old chief, Major Reynell Taylor, in the civil duties of the place; but on the outbreak of the mutiny he once more placed his sword at the disposal of the British, and was directed by Sir Herbert Edwardes to raise a body of Horse for service in the Derayat, so that the regular garrisons might be detached for service in Hindostan. In a few weeks Gholam Hussein had raised 2000 men, who were the mainstay of the District Officer on the frontier during the early part of the rebellion. Towards the end of 1857 Sir John Lawrence directed the Nawab to take six troops of his Mooltan Horse to Lahore, where they were formed into a regiment and placed under the command of Captain—now General—C. Cureton. This corps took part in no less than sixteen different engagements with the rebels; and for his services during that period Gholam Hussein received the title of Khan Bahadur, the third class Order of Merit, the Mutiny Medal, and a pension.

At the close of the Mutiny the Nawab was dispatched to Cabul as our Envoy, and remained there until 1863, during which time he did the British Government excellent service. He accompanied the Afghan army to Herat, and was the means of inducing Shere Ali to punish Sultan Mahomed Khan (his own father-in-law), who openly assisted the Momunds in the affair against us at Shubkudder in 1863. During the five years he remained in Cabul his conduct received the warmest approval of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjaub. On his return from Cabul Gholam Hussein was raised to the rank of Nawab, and in 1868 he was made a Companion of the Star of India. In the same year he was appointed Commandant of the Army of the State of Bhawulpore; but, owing to a slight put upon him before the Nawab, requested to be removed. Lord Napier, of Magdala promptly reinstated him in his position of Native Commandant of the Mooltan Horse, and appointed him his Aide-de-Camp at the Camp of Exercise in 1873. During the Prince of Wales's visit to India the Nawab was nominated to his Royal Highness's Staff.

The Duke of Sutherland has presented each of the tradesmen on his Trentham estate, some 120 in number, with a milch cow and sufficient pasture land for feeding. This is in addition to the gardens and pasture land they already possess

The Eastern Telegraph Company announce the extension of their submarine system to Cyprus. The cable has been laid by the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company between Alexandria and Larnaca, and was opened for traffic yesterday week.

Lady Hall, widow of the late Admiral Sir William Hall, K.C.B., has informed the secretary of the Falmouth Sailors' Home that she is about to present a portrait of the Admiral to the institution. Sir William was the founder of sailors' homes, and that at Falmouth was one of the first he helped to start. Mrs. Cecil Hall has also presented £5 to the funds in memory of the Admiral.



MONUMENT TO THE LATE LORD LYTTELTON IN WORCESTER CATHEDRAL.

THE LATE LORD LYTTELTON.

Shortly after the death of the late Lord Lyttelton a number of his Worcestershire neighbours and friends met to give expression to their regard by the erection of some appropriate memorial. An influential committee was formed, headed by the Earl of Dudley, Lord Hampton, and Sir Edmund Lechmere, Canon Melville acting as honorary secretary. On the announcement of the proposal liberal subscriptions flowed in, and the committee, after due consideration, determined upon the erection of a monument in Worcester Cathedral. This proposal was cordially sanctioned by the Dean and Chapter. The late Sir Gilbert Scott was commissioned to prepare a design, which was approved, and which has now been carried out. The design is an altar-tomb in the manner of early fourteenth-century Gothic, on which reposes a recumbent statue of the deceased, dressed in the robes of a Peer. The statue is distinguished by perfect repose, as if asleep. The head inclines slightly to the left side; the left arm lies at full length by the side, the right hand resting upon the breast, holding a parchment with seal attached, in token of his office of Custos Rotulorum of Worcestershire. The figure and the four kneeling angels which flank the four corners are executed in pure white marble. The tomb, which is executed in alabaster and different coloured marbles, is enriched with a series of arch-headed panels, supported by antique marble columns and carved capitals. These panels are filled with shields, on which are marshalled armorial bearings, illustrating the pedigree of the Lyttelton family. The sculptor is Mr. James Forsyth, of Baker-street.

THE ORIENTAL EAGLE OWL.

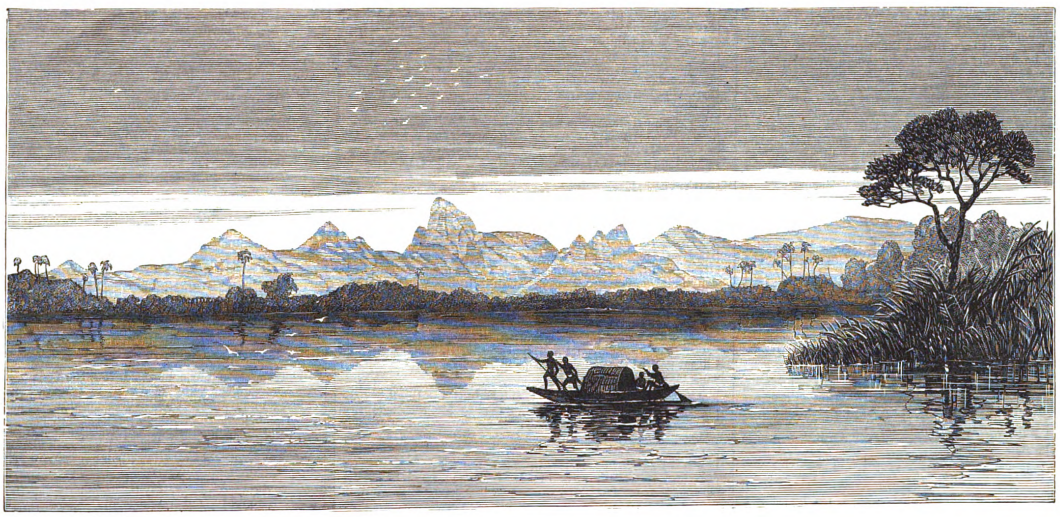
Among the recent additions to the aviaries of the Zoological Society in Regent's Park is an example of the rare and little-known owl of which we now give an Illustration. This bird, which had not previously been received alive in Europe, was obtained in Siam by Mr. Charles Fowler, of Cherryhinton, near Cambridge, and was presented to the Society on the 14th of last month. Its native home is said to be the forests of Karenne, in the interior of Siam. The Oriental owl belongs to the group of eagle owls, which are distinguished by their large size and by the long tufts of feathers that spring from each side of their heads, and cause them to be commonly designated as "horned" owls. Of the habits of the species, which is found in Malacca, Java, and Borneo, as well as in Siam, little has been recorded by naturalists. But there is a closely allied species found in British India, which Jerdon, in his "Birds of India," calls the "forest eagle owl" (Huhua Nepalensis). Jerdon found this bird in the high forests of Malabar, where it was not very common, and was said to kill hares, various birds, cats, rats, and even fishes, and to have a low, deep, and far-sounding hoot. Other members of the group of horned owls are the great horned owl of Central Europe (Bubo maximus) and the Virginian owl of America (Bubo Virginianus), both which are also represented in the Zoological Society's collection.

THE ORIENTAL EAGLE OWL, ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS.

MONSEIGNEUR DUPANLOUP.

Our last week's obituary contained a brief record of this eminent French prelate, who had been, since 1849, Bishop of Orleans, and was an influential ecclesiastical politician. He was, of course, a strenuous advocate of the temporal dominion of the Pope at Rome; but he was never regarded as one of the zealots for the Ultramontane claims of absolute and unlimited authority vested in the Roman See to determine all questions of faith and practice in the Roman Catholic Church. He, nevertheless, took part in the Vatican Council of 1868, and acquiesced in its decrees. He was a native of Savoy, and of humble birth; he died in his seventy-seventh year.

The Portrait of Monseigneur Dupanloup is from a photograph by Franck, Rue Vivienne, Paris.



EAST AFRICAN EXPLORATION.

We present another of Mr. H. Thelwall's sketches of the scenery in that region of tropical East Africa, between the Lower Zambesi and Lake Nyassa, inland from the Mozambique coast, which has lately been traversed by several missionary expeditions. This is a view of the inundation that covered the Morumbala marsh, on the left bank of the Shiré river, at the season of the Artist's journey, which was continued by means of a native boat. The birds flying aloft are pelicans, their white backs flashing in the bright sun, alternating with the dark grey wings, in a manner that often attracts notice.

Our scientific contemporary Nature makes the following announcement concerning East African Exploration:—"According to present arrangements, we believe that Mr. Keith Johnston, the leader of the expedition which the committee of the African Exploration Fund are about to dispatch from the East Coast of Africa to Lake Nyassa, will leave England on Nov. 14 for Zanzibar, together with his second in command, Mr. Thompson, whose more especial function it will be to study the geology of the country traversed. Mr. Thompson, we believe, has an excellent training as a geologist, and it is expected that he will make important contributions to our knowledge of the geology of the region to be visited. The expedition will not actually start for the interior till next spring, and the interval will no doubt be utilised in making short journeys on the mainland, and in procuring all information possible in regard to the inhabitants, language, and natural condition of the region which is about to be thoroughly and scientifically explored. We sincerely trust that Mr. Johnston may not meet with the same trouble in the matter of porters as has so long retarded the progress of the Belgian and other expeditions."

THE LATE MONSEIGNEUR DUPANLOUP, BISHOP OF ORLEANS.

IN THE MORUMBALA MARSH, EAST AFRICA.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

The return to India of Nawab Gholam Hussein Khan, the Special Envoy sent by Lord Lytton to the Ameer Shere Ali of Cabul, has brought no tokens of a pacific disposition. The Ameer's answer to the Viceroy of British India is described by this week's telegrams as "unsatisfactory" and "unconciliatory;" and the military preparations in India are not relaxed, though it is stated, in the Bombay Gazette of last Wednesday, that the Government has decided to postpone the attack on Cabul till next year, for which purpose "an irresistible force" will be organised. The force to be collected in the Peshawur Valley and at the mouth of the Khoorum Pass, is stated to be 35,000 of all arms, besides which there are the troops destined to reinforce the garrison of Quetta, and perhaps to occupy Candahar. Shere Ali is said to have 60,000 infantry, mostly armed with breechloaders, a hundred guns, and a good proportion of cavalry. It is expected that he will defend Ali Musjid and the Khyber Pass, and the cities of Jellalabad and Cabul, but not Candahar. The Khan of Khelat has readily consented to the passage of any number of British troops through his territory to Quetta, and has offered to furnish supplies. The principal Sikh chiefs of the Punjaub and the Nawab of Bhawulpore have volunteered to send contingents to the British Army.

On the other hand, the Russian envoy to Cabul, General Stolietoff, who had been staying with the Ameer Shere Ali since last July, has returned to St. Petersburg, but has left at Cabul some superior officers well versed in topographical surveys. The St. Petersburg journal Golos publishes an article which declares that Russia will not remain indifferent to any attempt on the part of England to alter the present neutral position of Afghanistan, as Russia's Central Asian possessions are at stake. "The fate of Afghanistan must not be decided without Russia's consent, and without Russia's co-operation no change in the existing order of things can be introduced in Central Asia." A despatch says that the Russian Government are constructing a telegraph from Samarcand to the Amu Darya, and that Shere Ali has offered to extend the wire to Cabul.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

Marshal MacMahon presided on Monday at the distribution of the Exhibition prizes at the Palace of Industry in the Champs Elysées. The ceremony is said to have been one of the most successful of the kind ever witnessed in Paris. Among those present were the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Crown Prince of Denmark, the Crown Prince of Sweden, and the Duke of Aosta. The Marshal delivered an address, in which he thanked the Governments and peoples for the confidence they had shown by their readiness to take part in the Exhibition, the success of which showed what could be effected by seven years of self-concentration and labour in retrieving terrible disasters. "It has been seen (he added) that the solidity of our credit, the abundance of our resources, the peace of our cities, the calm of our population, the training and good bearing of our now reconstituted army, testify to an organisation which I am convinced will be fruitful and durable. Our national ambition will not stop there. If we have become more careful and laborious, we still owe it to the memory of our misfortunes to maintain and develop among us the spirit of concord, respect for institutions and laws, and ardent and disinterested love of our country." The Minister of Commerce, after acknowledging the Marshal's speech, proceeded to read the lists of awards and to distribute the principal prizes and decorations. The president of each group, French and foreign, here came forward and received the decorations and honours accorded to each particular section en bloc, this being the only way of recognising the multitude of awards. The ceremony closed with musical honours, amongst which the new hymn of Laurent de Rillé was conspicuous. The President retired with a military escort, as did the Royal Princes. We intend to illustrate the ceremony next week.

Some idea can be formed of the share assigned to different nations in the Exhibition awards. Out of 130 grand prizes, 2470 gold medals, 6400 silver medals, 10,000 bronze medals, and 10,000 honourable mentions, England takes 20 grand prizes, 231 gold, 341 silver, 459 bronze medals, and 349 honourable mentions; while the Colonies carry off three grand prizes, 59 gold, 199 silver, 286 bronze medals, and 318 honourable mentions. England also takes 21, and her Colonies 13 diplomas of honour. The United States, according to the American Register, carry off grand prizes, 10; diplomas of honour, 30; gold medals, 135; silver medals, 200; bronze medals, 220; and honourable mentions, 156.

An address bearing upwards of a thousand signatures was presented on Tuesday by Lord Granville to the Prince of Wales at the British Embassy thanking his Royal Highness for his labours in connection with the Exhibition, and also referring to the able manner in which Mr. Cunliffe Owen had discharged his duties as secretary to the British Commission. The Prince, in reply, said he was very sensible of the compliment paid him, spoke of the cordial good feeling which existed between England and France, and said that he thoroughly concurred in the remarks which had been made respecting Mr. Owen. The deputation, which included a large number of British jurors and exhibitors, was afterwards entertained at luncheon by Lord Lyons. In the evening there was a grand fête in the park at Versailles, and later in the evening a ball was given in the rooms of the palace. Great confusion prevailed at the ball, owing to the want of proper organisation.

A breakfast was given on Tuesday by about fifty Prefects, who had come up to Paris for yesterday's ceremony, to M. de Marcère, the Minister of the Interior. He was warmly complimented on the goodwill he had invariably shown; and, in reply, he described moderation and sincerity as the fundamental qualities of a Prefect.

On Wednesday the remains of Monseigneur Dupanloup were interred at Orleans with imposing religious ceremony, in presence of a large concourse of people from all parts of France, including many dignitaries of the Church and high personages in the political and social world. The funeral took place in the cathedral.

ITALY.

Signor Cairoli arrived at Rome on Tuesday from Monza. On his presenting to the King the resignations of Count Corti, General Bruzzo, and Admiral di Brocchetti, he stated that the whole Cabinet had now resigned. His Majesty protested warmly, and declared positively that even if the whole Cabinet retired from office he would again charge Signor Cairoli with the formation of a new Ministry.

An increase of activity in the eruption of Vesuvius was observed on Tuesday evening.

HOLLAND.

Both Chambers have passed the bill sanctioning the approaching marriage of the King of the Netherlands and Princess Emma de Waldeck-Pyrmont.

The Dutch Society of Commerce and Industry has resolved to support the demand of Messrs. Crans and Co. for obtaining a concession for the construction of a seaport at Scheveningen, to be joined by a canal to the Meuse.

DENMARK.

Attention was drawn in the Danish Parliament yesterday week to the fact that ill-treatment had been experienced by some Schleswig emigrants on visiting their former homes. The Minister for Foreign Affairs said that all efforts made in Berlin to obtain a remedy for the existing state of things had hitherto failed, and that a change for the better was scarcely to be expected.

GERMANY.

The Anti-Socialist Bill was passed in the German Parliament last Saturday by 221 votes against 149. Both sections of the Conservative party and the National Liberals recorded their votes, without exception, in favour of the bill, and they were joined by the Löwe group and some Liberals belonging to no special party. Prince Bismarck then read a message from the Emperor authorising him to close the Reichstag. The Prince expressed his satisfaction at the passing of the bill, and said that the Federal Governments were determined with the means provided by this measure, to make a sincere effort to cure the prevalent disease. They could scarcely succeed in accomplishing this in the space of two years and a half, but the Government hoped for further concessions from the Reichstag after the discussions which had now taken place. After giving three cheers for the Emperor, the House adjourned.

The Anti-Socialist Bill, which was signed by the Crown Prince at Potsdam on Monday, was published on Tuesday by the German Official Gazette, and immediately came into force, four clubs in Berlin and a large number of publications having been put down by the police.

Prince Bismarck left Berlin on Tuesday afternoon for his country seat at Friedrichsruhe, Lauenburg.

The annual conscription is to be raised by 20,000 men..

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

The Hungarian Parliament was opened on Sunday by the Emperor, who delivered a speech in which reference is made to the occupation of Bosnia. His Majesty, amidst the cheers of the Assembly, spoke of the bravery and praiseworthy conduct of the army, by which he said the first part of the duty cast upon Austria by the Berlin Congress had been accomplished. That justified them in the hope that what remained to be done would be achieved without further sacrifices being demanded from the nation. On the whole, the speech seemed to have produced a satisfactory impression. In Thursday's sitting of the Chamber of Deputies M. Koloman Ghiczy was elected President by 206 votes out of 350 recorded.

The Austrian Reichsrath reassembled on Tuesday after the recess. In the Lower House the President thanked the army for its bravery, heroism, and self-sacrifice, and his remarks were received with loud cheers. The Austrian estimates for 1879, which were distributed to the members, show a reduction of twelve millions of florins in the expenditure and a decrease of four millions in the revenue as compared with the preceding year. The requirements of 1879 will exceed those of last year by upwards of four millions of florins. The deficit in 1879 is in round numbers fifteen millions of florins, which, compared with the deficit of 1878, shows an improvement to the amount of eight millions.

GREECE.

A debate in the Chambers on the past policy of the Government, which began on Monday week, was brought to a conclusion on Friday evening. On a resolution being put to the vote, sixty-nine members supported the Government and sixty-three the Opposition.

ROUMANIA.

The extraordinary Session of the Chambers was closed on the 16th by a Message from Prince Charles, and the ordinary Session is announced to begin on Nov. 27. The Government is now authorised to take possession of the Dobrudscha, and troops destined for its occupation have been dispatched.

A Cabinet Council was held on Tuesday at Bucharest for the purpose of deciding upon the measures to be taken for the administration of the Dobrudscha.

The troops made their triumphal entry into Bucharest on Sunday, and were reviewed by Prince Charles. The men were received with much enthusiasm, and at night the town was illuminated.

A new decoration, called the Elizabeth Cross, has been established by princely decree. It is to be given to persons who have aided the Roumanian sick and wounded during the recent campaign.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

A semi-official statement has been published in St. Petersburg giving a contradiction to the report that the Czar intended to withdraw from public affairs. His Majesty, it is declared, attends to business exactly as he has done for years past.

M. Miliutin has (a Berlin telegram says) returned to St. Petersburg from Livadia, with strict orders from the Czar to spare no pains and to use whatever means seem proper for the suppression of Nihilism in the empire.

Two of the St. Petersburg newspapers have received official warnings, one for exhorting the new Chief of the Secret Police to deal leniently with political offenders, the other for publishing an article against the new Socialist law in Germany.

On Monday Bessarabia was delivered to the Russian authorities. The Governor, in a telegram announcing the event to the Czar, says that the surrender took place amidst the unbounded enthusiasm of the inhabitants. "All classes of the population (he adds) join in expressing the most loyal sentiments towards your Majesty."

Administration of the finances of Eastern Roumelia has been transferred to the International Commission.

According to telegrams from Constantinople, published in the Times, Prince Lobanoff, at an interview with the Grand Vizier on Monday, said that the Russian troops would not retreat from their present positions till some arrangement had been made concerning the Christian refugees who are following the Russian army. Prince Lobanoff also repeated the declaration made by him at a former interview, that the Russians would not retreat beyond Adrianople till after the signature of the definitive treaty imbodying those articles of the Treaty of San Stefano which are not annulled by the Congress of Berlin. A great part of the Russian troops in Bulgaria are, it is stated, being moved southward.

The Sultan on the 16th inst. entertained the English Ambassador and Lady Layard, accompanied by Mr. Sandison, the first Secretary of the Embassy, at dinner. Lady Layard, having received permission from Queen Victoria to accept the new order instituted by the Sultan, his Majesty, after the repast, invested her Ladyship with the decoration. His Majesty subsequently gave Sir A. H. Layard renewed verbal assurances of his acceptance of the British schemes of reforms in Asia Minor.

The Sultan has informed Sir A. H. Layard that he sent a letter on the 16th inst. to Shere Ali, calling upon him, as a good Mussulman, to come to an amicable arrangement with the English Government.

Hobart Pasha having informed the Sultan that he was suspected in England of inclining towards a Russian alliance, his Majesty has declared to Sir A. H. Layard that he would never conclude such an alliance.

A telegram has been sent by the Porte to Mukhtar Pasha thanking him for pacifying Crete, and congratulations have at the same time been presented to him by the Christian and Mussulman inhabitants of the island.

Baker Pasha, by order of the Sultan, has inspected the lines at Tchataldja and reported on the subject to his Majesty, who has authorised him to employ 40,000 men to complete the fortifications.

The Sultan has given orders to his Ambassador in Berlin to have a lifesize portrait made there of the late Mehemet Ali Pasha. It is intended for the Military Academy in Constantinople.

AMERICA.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the Times telegraphs that one of the new Russian steam-cruisers built at Philadelphia was launched on Tuesday, Captain Semetchin, the chief of the Russian expedition to fit out vessels, being present. The vessel is not yet named. She is of 1000 tons burden, and is expected to make a speed of 14½ knots at sea.

The correspondent also states that there have been immense prairie fires in North-Eastern Nebraska. They have caused great loss of property, and seven persons were burnt to death.

Mr. Mapleson's company gave their first performance at the Opera in New York on Wednesday week. Numbers of persons were unable to obtain admission.

The order issued by Mr. Sherman, the Secretary of the Treasury, for the purchase of silver bullion is to the effect that 400,000 oz. shall be bought weekly.

Nightly frosts are reported to be having the effect of steadily diminishing the violence of the yellow fever epidemic. On Wednesday there were nineteen deaths at New Orleans and fifteen at Memphis. The relief associations are being dissolved, and business is stated to be reviving.

The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco has adopted a resolution opposing a reduction in the Customs tariff for French wines.

During a wedding in a negro church at Lynchburg, Virginia, last week, a piece of plaster fell from the ceiling and caused the crowded congregation to rush to the doors. Ten persons were killed and thirty injured.

Denial is given to the report that there has been fighting at Water Proof. It is stated that the negroes made some threatening demonstrations, but that quiet was restored on the appearance of a body of volunteers.

A violent storm has occurred in Pennsylvania, causing great destruction to property. At Philadelphia seven people were killed.

CANADA.

After a most successful administration of the Dominion of Canada, Lord Dufferin is on his way back to England. His Lordship embarked at Ottawa last Saturday on board the steamer Polynesian for Europe. Pending the arrival of the Marquis of Lorne, the new Governor-General, Mr. Macdougall has been appointed administrator.

The new Cabinet has been gazetted, and is composed as follows:—

Sir J. Macdonald	...	...	Premier and Minister of the Interior.
Mr. Tilly	...	...	Minister of Finance.
Mr. Tupper	...	...	Minister of Public Works.
Mr. Pope	...	...	Minister of Agriculture.
Mr. M'Donald	...	...	Minister of Justice.
Mr. O'Connor	...	...	President of the Council.
Mr. Masson	...	...	Minister of Militia.
Mr. Langevin	...	...	Postmaster-General.
Mr. Bowell	...	...	Minister of Customs.
Mr. Baby	...	...	Inland Revenue.
Mr. Alexander Campbell		...	Receiver-General.
Mr. Aikin	...	...	Secretary of State.
Mr. J. C. Pope	...	...	Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

The new Nova Scotian Government has taken the oaths of office. Mr. S. H. Holmes has been appointed Premier; Mr. J. S. D. Thompson, Attorney-General; and Mr. Creelman, Commissioner of Mines.

The Government of Manitoba has been reconstructed, Mr. Norquay, the late Minister of Public Works, being Premier.

The Orangemen at Montreal, who were tried on a charge of belonging to an illegal society, have been acquitted, and they have entered an action for false arrest against the Mayor.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

News from the Cape to the 1st inst. has been received. It is stated on what is believed to be trustworthy authority that it will not be long before Cetewayo breaks out into open hostility. His spies are closely watching the British troops. Kreli's witch-doctor has been captured at Umtata, but it is not known where Kreli himself is. The disarmament of the natives is proceeding quietly on the frontier. From Griqualand it is reported that an attack was made by Kaffirs on the camp at Moosfontein, a few miles from Griquatown, but was repulsed. Most of the Kimberley volunteers are in the field. The latest rumour from the Transvaal is to the effect that both Mapock and Makapan have broken out in rebellion.

AUSTRALIA.

The Governor of New South Wales, with the advice of the Executive Council, has directed it to be notified that it is intended to hold, under the supervision of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales, an International Exhibition in Sydney, in August, 1879, according to a general programme, which may be seen at the offices of the Agent-General for New South Wales, 3, Westminster-chambers, Victoria-street, or obtained from that office on application.

Serious injury has been done by an overflow of the Nile, several villages being under water. Precautionary measures, at great expense, have been adopted by the Government.

Great discontent, the Turkestan Gazette reports, prevails in the newly-conquered Chinese province of Kashgar, on account of the oppression of the Chinese officials and soldiers.

On the site of the lacustrine village near Estavayer, Switzerland, laid bare by the lowering of the waters of the Lake of Neuchâtel, have been found amber ornaments belonging to the age of stone, and a beautiful golden buckle of the age of bronze. Four canoes, besides the one found last week, are visible, but they have not yet been raised to the surface.

The readers of our columns during the Indian Mutiny will remember that the ambulance most used by our army was the dooley, an improved form of which—the "Bourke dooley"—has been adopted by the Government of India. This dooley may be used as a bed, and four of them fit into the ambulance-waggon recently built by Dr. Bourke for the Indian Government, and favourably reported upon officially in England.

The Postmaster-General notifies that the Aconcagua screw-steamer, Orient Steam Navigation Company, leaving Plymouth on Oct. 28 for Adelaide, Melbourne, and Sydney, will take letters and newspapers for all the Australian and New Zealand colonies, if specially addressed "Per Anconcagua, viâ Plymouth," and posted in London on or before the evening of Saturday, Oct. 26.

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS

Andrews, Frederick Gould, to be Perpetual Curate of Wettenhall.
Anketell, H., Vicar of Seagry; Chaplain to the Chippenham Workhouse.
Baker, William Robert; Vicar of Hagbourne, Berks.
Bedford, William Campbell Ryland; Perpetual Curate of Little Aston.
Coghlan, John Armstrong; Vicar of Tetsworth, Oxon.
Domville, Charles Compton: Rector of West Chickerell.
Fearon, Arthur; Curate of Branksea.
Garde, Thomas Hugh; Senior Curate of St. John's, Bedminster, Bristol.
Hamilton, A.; Canon of Christ Church, Dublin.
Hare, Henry; Vicar of Towersey, Bucks.
Haymes, Robert Evered; Rector of Holdgate.
Henderson, Thomas Julius; Vicar of South Banbury, Oxon.
Holmes, J.; Minister of the New Church of St. John-the-Evangelist, Warley.
Horsfall, Thomas M.; Vicar of Bobbington.
Johnson, John; Vicar of Rudby, in Cleveland, and Chapelries of East Rounton and Middleton.
Knipe, Christopher; Vicar of Erlestoke.
Lawson, R.; Rural Dean of Upton Deanery.
Laycock, James Marshall; Perpetual Curate of St. Mark, Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire.
Lutman, Adrian Henry; Vicar of Weston-Zoyland, near Bridgewater.
Lynes, W., Curate of Aswardby and Sansthorpe; Vicar of Cinderthorpe.
Maclean, J. H., Curate of Whitgarish; Vicar of Brawlbaw.
Meaby, George; Perpetual Curate of St. Matthew's, Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire.
Meade, de Courcy; Rector of Tockenham.
Oak, Edward William; Perpetual Curate of St. Luke's, Barrow-in-Furness, Lancashire.
Pepys, P. H.; Honorary Canon of Worcester Cathdral.
Powell, William F.; Prebendary of Fyon Parva, in Hereford Cathedral.
Ram, Robert Digby; Vicar of Teddington, Middlesex.
Rhoades, E. J.; Vicar of Elmley Castle.
Ridley, W. C.; Rector of Shalstone.
Rudkin, M., Curate of St. James's, Gloucester; Vicar of Horsley.
Serjeantson, William James; Curate of Foston.
Shaw, J. H.; Incumbent of Trinity Church, Cheltenham.
Tylecote, Thomas B; Rector of Lowther.
Veysey, John; Rector of Cann St. Rumbold, Shaftesbury, Dorset.
Wickham, William Arthur; Incumbent of St. Andrew's, Wigan.
Yonge, Vernon George; Rector of Whitmore.—Guardian.

On St. Luke's day Lord Skelmersdale laid the first stone of a new church at Southport, with Masonic honours.

The Bishop of Ripon has been presented by his clergy and laity with an oil painting of himself, by Mr. Watts, R.A.

On the 16th inst. the parish church of Fittleton, Wilts, was reopened after a partial restoration.

The Church of All Saints', Great Glemham, Suffolk, was reopened, after restoration, on the 10th inst.

On the 17th inst. the parish church of SS. Peter and Paul, Dagenham, Essex, was reopened by the Bishop of St. Albans, after having undergone a complete restoration.

A church was consecrated at Arcachon last week by the Bishop of London. The church, which is being erected from designs by Mr. Barber, will, when completed, seat 300 persons.

St. James's Church, Piccadilly, which has been closed for the last two months, was reopened on Sunday. The interior has undergone a complete renovation and some alterations.

The Bishop of Manchester preached on the 18th inst. at the opening of a new church at Dunston. His Lordship said the Ritualists of the present day appeared to lack that simple faith and largeness of mind which was peculiar to the founders of the Tractarian movement.

The annual conference of the clergy and laity of the diocese of Chester was begun on Wednesday. An address was given by the Bishop. A paper on the Work and Influence of the Church upon the Middle and Humbler Classes was read by Mr. J. Croston, and a discussion followed.

At the Central Criminal Court on Thursday Henry Stuart Marshall, who had pleaded guilty to four indictments charging him with embezzling various sums of money, the property of the Curates' Augmentation Fund, was sentenced to be kept in penal servitude for seven years. The Recorder added that, after what had been stated that day, he should advise the council of the fund to adopt some better system of audit. The total sum misappropriated was £6972.

A choral festival was held on Wednesday evening in the parish church, Croydon, in aid of the Choir Benevolent Fund. The choir consisted of about seventy members of the Chapels Royal, Westminster, St. Paul's, Canterbury, Eton, and St. George's Chapel, Windsor, choirs; and Dr. Bridge, Mr. W. S. Hoyte, and Mr. Cambridge officiated at the organ. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Duckworth. The offertory, together with donations and the collection at an organ recital given in the afternoon by Mr. Hoyte, amounted to over £130.

We learn from the Guardian that testimonials have been presented to the Rev. Henry A. Mason, Curate of Stepney parish, prior to his departure to North Queensland, Australia, as chaplain to the Bishop of North Queensland, and also as Vicar of St. James's, Townsville. From the congregation, a gold watch; from day-school teachers and scholars, a silver salver; from Sunday-school teachers and scholars, a walnut-wood writing case; from youths' Bible class, books of considerable value. Mrs. Henry A. Mason also received a testimonial as a mark of the affection and esteem in which she was held.—The Rev. W. A. C. Macfarlane, on quitting the vicarage of Criftins for the rectory of Elmswell, Suffolk, has been presented with an illuminated address.

The seventh session of the Exeter Diocesan Conference was begun at Exeter on Tuesday, the Bishop presiding. Among those present were Earl Fortescue, the Earl of Devon, Sir John Kennaway, Bart., M.P., the Dean of Exeter, and other dignitaries of the cathedral. The principal subject discussed was religious education.—Animated and interesting discussions took place on Wednesday (Bishop Temple presiding) respecting extempore preaching, and a proposal to constitute a new order of voluntary lay helpers, who should preach in churches and perform all clerical duties except administer sacraments. This was referred to the committee. Written sermons were generally condemned, and extemp ore preaching recommended by a resolution.

In his visitation charge on the 17th inst. the Bishop of Peterborough dealt with the assaults made upon the Church by sectarianism, infidelity, and democracy, and suggested that some concessions should be made upon the burial question. The subject of disestablishment was also dealt with. On Saturday last the Bishop continued his visitation charge, addressing his clergy at Kettering. He quoted statistics illustrative of the progress of church building and restoration, and founded upon the work already accomplished an earnest argument against those sweeping changes which in the estimation of some were to make the Church what she might or ought to be. On Wednesday the Bishop gave a portion of his charge at All Saints', Northampton. Dealing with the question of the obedience or not of the clergy to the law as finally interpreted by the Supreme Court of Appeal in matters ecclesiastical, he urged on the clergy a thorough loyalty to the Church of England, free alike from Puritanical and Papal bias. The Bishop concluded his visitation on Thursday at St. Martin's, Leicester.

The Meath Diocesan Synod, which met on Tuesday, was presided over by Lord Plunket, Bishop of Meath, who in the course of his address said that the Irish Church was at present doing its work quietly, efficiently, and harmoniously.

The visitation sermon for the Archbishop of Dublin was preached on Wednesday by the Rev. Hewitt Poole, Fellow of Trinity College. It was, the Pall Mall Gazette correspondent says, a well-knit argument in justification of Christianity against recent philosophic criticism.

Sir E. Kerrison, Bart., has presented to the Roman Catholic Church of St. Edmund, Bury St. Edmunds, a Gothic alms-box made of the oak to which St. Edmund, "Martyr, mayde and kyng," as Lydgate calls him, was tied at his martyrdom by the Danes in 870, and which fell at Hoxne, near Eye, in 1848, an arrow-head being found in the trunk.

At the sitting of the Congregational Union at Liverpool on the 17th, delegates were received from the Primitive Methodists and the Congregational Unions of Ireland and Scotland. Various papers having been read, the usual votes of thanks were passed to the preacher of the year, Dr. Fairbairn, and the local committees. The Union closed on the following night by a meeting of young men, at which addresses were delivered. The Rev. Alfred Morris, of Tynemouth, spoke on the subject of amusements, contending that the character of English amusements was very limited. The good from theatres in the present day was counterbalanced by the evils, and the plays often flung aside the Ten Commandments.

THE UNIVERSITIES AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

OXFORD.

Mr. Howley, Professor of Tamil and Telugu at King's College, London, has been appointed to the recently constituted University lecturership in those languages.

The election to the headship of Trinity College took place on Tuesday. By the statutes of the college the Fellows are obliged to submit two names to the visitor, the Bishop of Winchester, and these were selected on Tuesday, the choice of the electors resting on the Rev. J. Percival, M.A., Head Master of Clifton College, who took his degree in 1858, and the Rev. H. G. Woods, M.A., who took his degree in 1865, and has filled the office of bursar and tutor of the college for some years.

In a Congregation held on Wednesday the Rev. J. Griffiths, D.D., Warden of Wadham College, was elected a member of the Hebdomadal Council, in the place of the Rev. S. W. Wayte, B.D., late President of Trinity College, who had retired; and Dr. Rolleston, Merton College, Linacre Professor of Physiology, was chosen in the place of the Venerable Dr. Palmer, late Corpus Professor of Latin, who had also retired. Canon Liddon was also nominated for the latter vacancy, but he retired previous to the voting.

The following elections to scholarships have been held at Pembroke:—Classical: Mr. Tower, from Lancing College, and Mr. Walters, from Christ's Hospital. Mathematical: Mr. Kingdon, from Eton College. Proximè accesserunt: Hane, from Bradfield College, and Marcus, from Manchester School.

Mr. W. H. Grenfell, of Balliol and Taplow Court, Maidenhead, has been elected president of the Oxford University Boat Club, in the place of Mr. T. C. Edwardes-Moss, of Brasenose; Mr. W. H. Cross, of University, secretary, in the room of Mr. Mulholland, of Balliol; Mr. Courtney, of New College, was re-elected treasurer; and Mr. Hobart, of Exeter and Mr. Southwell, of Pembroke, were placed upon the committee.

CAMBRIDGE.

The Right Hon. R. A. Cross arrived at Cambridge on Wednesday evening and proceeded to Trinity College, where he dined in hall as a member of the college. He took his degree in the Senate House on Thursday.

Professor Skeat, first Bosworth Professor of Anglo-Saxon, gave his lecture in the Senate House on Tuesday.

A studentship of £50 per annum, tenable till the holder is of standing to take his M.A. degree, has been awarded at Queen's College to D. G. Davies, B.A., who was the solitary occupant in the first class in the first Semitic Languages Tripos, early in the present year.

The Board of Historical Studies, having been intrusted with a sum of £100 per annum for three years, by grace of the Senate, to make provision for the instruction of students preparing for the Indian civil service in Indian history and geography, have appointed S. M. E. Kempson, B.A., of Caius College, lately of the Educational Service of the North-West Provinces of India, to be teacher of the subject during the present academical year, at a salary of £100.

The Cambridge Chronicle gives the following as the numbers of freshmen entered at the several colleges:—Peterhouse, 13; Clare, 32; Pembroke, 37; Gonville and Caius, 32; Trinity Hall, 49; Corpus Christi, 32; King's, 11; Queens', 12; St. Catharine's, 16; Jesus, 61; Christ's, 29; St. John's, 111; Magdalene, 17; Trinity, 167; Emmanuel, 20; Sidney, 13; Downing, 10; non-collegiate, 46 (of whom five are at Cavendish College).

DURHAM.

There is a great increase in numbers this term. Forty students have entered in Theology and Arts, and the total number in residence is much greater than it has been for several years. The examiners for the first year examination in arts have issued the following lists:—

Class List.—III. Class—J. Howarth. Univ. Coll.
Pass List.—F. F. Collin, Univ. Coll.; J. P. Collin, Univ. Coll.; T. Davies, Hatf. Hall; C. E. Foottit, Univ. Coll.; J. H. Lewthwaite, Hatf. Hall; W. E. Postance, Univ. Coll.

The Newby Scholarship is awarded to J. Howarth, Univ. Coll.

The Entrance Scholarships have been awarded as follows:—J. S. Addison, £70; W. H. Fiecker, £70; C. J. Hall, £40.

Medical Scholarships, £25, C. S. Blair.

The following have passed the First Year Examination in Theology:—A. Armstrong, Univ. Coll.; J. Dodd; S. Edge, Hatf. Hall; W. Edwards, Hatf. Hall; H. Hughes, Hatf. Hall; D. W. James, Univ. Coll.; A. Lees, Univ. Coll.; R. Marley; W. B. Pratt; W. Thwaites, Hatf. Hall; J. L. Williams, Hatf. Hall; R. Williams, Hatf. Hall.

The Entrance Scholarships and Exhibitions have been awarded as follows:—Scholarships: Wansborough, £60; Bowman, £60; Meldrum, £30. Exhibitions: Boddy, £30; Carter, £30.

A "First Year" Exhibition of £30 has been awarded to S. Edge, Hatf. Hall, and one of £40 to A. B. Timbrell, Univ. Coll.

The council of University College of Wales, having decided not to apply any portion of the funds for new scholarships and exhibitions this session, the Principal has placed at the disposal of the senate three scholarships of £30 each, tenable for one year. The other scholarship and the exhibition now awarded are the contributions of visitors to the college during last summer, given for the purpose and tenable for one year. The Principal's Scholarships.—Modern Languages and Literature: J. E. Lloyd, Liverpool, £30, for one year. Classics: Rees Jones, Llanwrtyd, £30, for one year. Science: Evan Evans, Ystalyfera, £30, for one year. Visitors' Scholarship and Exhibition.—General Proficiency: S. C. Jones, Llanddyssul, £30, for one year; W. Jenkyn Jones, New Quay, £10, for one year. Close Scholarship—T. Griffiths, £20 (Ardwyn School Scholarship).

At the Westminster School athletic sports, concluded on the 18th inst., the tug of war was won by the Town boys, who pulled the Queen's scholars over twice in succession.

General Ponsonby has, by command of the Queen, forwarded to Dr. Poore, secretary to the Parker's Museum of Hygiene, University College, £50, as her Majesty's donation towards the establishment of a Museum of Hygiene.

The foundation-stone of the additional building to the General Assembly's College, Belfast, has been laid by Mrs. Gamble, of Ashburn, Scotland. Some time since "an anonymous friend" subscribed £10,000 to the college, on the terms that an additional £10,000 would be subscribed by the Irish Presbyterian Church, five of the contributors to give £1000 each. The subscription-list was headed with £1000 by Mr. J. P. Corry, M.P. for Belfast, and with the amount thus contributed the buildings are now being erected.

Lord Norton presided yesterday week at the annual reunion of the Worcester, Lichfield, and Hereford Training College, Saltley, near Birmingham.

Mr. E. C. Copas, B.A., of Balliol College, Oxon, late Assistant Master at Felsted, has been appointed Natural Science Master at King William's College, Isle of Man.

The Bishop of Rochester has nominated the Rev. John Fletcher Woodhouse, M.A., Assistant Inspector of Schools in the diocese of Durham, to be School Inspector in Religious Knowledge for the diocese of Rochester.

The successful competitor for the Entrance Scholarship, value £30, of the London School of Medicine for Women, 30, Henrietta-street, is Miss Annie M'Call. The subjects were English, Latin, arithmetic, geometry, and Physics.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

The Houghton Meeting—the last of the seven held at Newmarket—commenced on Monday, and racing will be carried on unflaggingly until this (Saturday) afternoon, when a few old-fashioned sportsmen consider that the season is ended, and ignore the existence of such popular meetings as Liverpool, Shrewsbury, and Warwick. The Criterion Stakes was the chief event of Monday, for which Monsieur Philippe, a son of Plutus, who ran third to Peter and Peace in the Rous Stakes, was made a strong favourite. He looked far fitter than when he ran a fortnight ago, and was in receipt of 7 lb. from Rayon d'Or, who has done an immense amount of work this year. The most notable of the remaining half-dozen were Massena and Lancastrian, the latter of whom is by Toxophilite from the dam of Sefton. Monsieur Philippe had the race in hand a long way from home; and Lancastrian, though still very backward, beat Rayon d'Or and the rest easily enough. A capital field of twenty-three ran for the Monday Nursery Handicap, for which High and Mity (8 st. 5 lb.) was as good a favourite as anything, and, in Archer's hands, made the whole of the running, and carried her heavy weight home easily.

There was another very heavy day's racing on Tuesday, though, with the exception of the Cambridgeshire, there was nothing of much importance. By a somewhat injudicious arrangement, no less than four events preceded the great race on the card, and it was about four o'clock, and rapidly growing dark, before the flag fell. A report that Macbeth (6 st. 5 lb.) was coughing drove him back in the quotations; and at last Greenback (7 st. 1 lb.), in spite of having drawn about the worst station, started an equal favourite with him; Touchet (7 st. 7 lb.) and Placida (8 st. 5 lb.) were also backed very heavily. After a tedious delay at the post, the thirty-eight got away very evenly, and, after running in an unbroken line for some little distance, Lancaster (7 st.) drew out and made the running until he was headed by La Merveille (6 st. 3 lb.). Passing the Red Post, Greenback was beaten, and Isonomy (7 st. 1 lb.) had drawn up to the leader, Tallas (7 st. 2 lb.), Placida, and Hampton (9 st. 3 lb.), being the most prominent of the remainder. A few strides further on Isonomy took the first place, and, though Fordham brought Touchet with a rare rush, he was beaten pretty easily by two lengths. La Merveille was only half a length behind, and just beat Hampton, who ran grandly under his crushing weight, for third place. Tallas and Placida came next. Mr. Gretton has thus won his second Cambridgeshire, Playfair having secured the same race for him in 1872; and it is said that he wins about £40,000 in bets, though Isonomy, not being a public fancy, started at 40 to 1.

In the Home Bred Foal Stakes on Wednesday, Lord Falmouth relied upon Placentia, a daughter of Parmesan and Lady Coventry, and therefore half-sister to Lady Golightly, who proved good enough to dispose of Reconciliation and four others. Monsieur Philippe (8 st. 10 lb.) was made a hot favourite for a Nursery over the Rous Course, but could not concede 15 lb. to Japonica (7st. 9 lb.), who got away from him as they descended the hill, and won cleverly. In spite of the presence of twelve opponents, odds of 2 to 1 were laid upon Wheel of Fortune for the Dewhurst Plate, Flavius, Discord, Peace, and Caxtonian, made up a respectable opposition, and a 7 lb. penalty is no joke over this long and trying course; but the beautiful filly scored a clever victory, and will retire into winter quarters with an unbeaten certificate.

The return 100-yards swimming-match for £50, between William H. Beckwith, of London (son of the ex-champion), and E. T. Jones (champion), of Holbeck, two of the fastest swimmers in the world, was decided satisfactorily at the Lambeth Baths on Monday evening last, when, amidst the greatest excitement, Jones won by a trifle over a yard. Time, 1 min. 8½ sec., beating record time by over five seconds.

At Cambridge, in the amateur and professional five-mile bicycle competition, the Hon. J. Keith-Falconer succeeded in beating J. Keen (champion), after a close race, by about six yards, in 15 min. 13 2-5 sec.

The second autumn meeting of the London Athletic Club will be held this (Saturday) afternoon, commencing, at half past two, with the Ten-Miles Challenge Cup. Gibb having resigned, an interesting race will probably take place between W. Elton, Fuller, and W. Stephenson.

A team of English cricketers left Southampton on the 17th inst. for Australia in the Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamer. It includes Lord Harris, and Messrs. Hornby, Schultze, Lucas, Absalom, Mackinnon, Royle, and Maule, and Emmett and Ulyett, professionals. Mr. Webb, Mr. Horne, and Mr. Ayers travel by way of Brindisi, and will join their companions at Suez. Lady Harris and Mrs. Hornby accompany the party.

The shop of Mr. Veal, jeweller, at Bath, was broken into on Wednesday night, and nearly the whole stock of the shop, valued at £400, stolen. Only plated goods were left. The burglars effected an entrance by breaking through the roof, and had previously made an attempt with a centre-bit to get through the wall of an adjacent house.

The Rev. Jeremiah Donovan, Curate of Jonesborough, in the county of Armagh, appeared in the Irish Bankruptcy Court last week, having been made bankrupt at the suit of a young lady, who recovered £500 damages against him for breach of promise of marriage. He had pleaded ill-health as the cause of the breach, but he had married another lady in the meantime. He was ordered to furnish a statement of his affairs within ten days.

BODEEN PEAK, AND VILLAGE OF MADZAI, KHOORUM VALLEY, AFGHANISTAN.
FROM A SKETCH BY COLONEL WALTER JAGO.

"A WOMAN OF CONSTANTINOPLE." PICTURE BY J. L. GÉROME.

FROM THE PHOTOGRAPH BY GOUPIL AND CO.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

I was imprudent enough, recently, to send home for the letters which have been accumulating since the beginning of August last at four or five London addresses, of which four or five different sections of my kindly correspondents are aware. I had much better have left the letters alone. I should have saved the Paris postman a heavy burden, and myself a considerable disbursement for postage. As a rule, letters which come to your abode in England during your absence abroad should be considered in the light of the sleeping dogs of the proverb. Let them lie. If you rouse them by sending for them they are apt to bark furiously.

Of course I make an exception to the above rule in the case of the communications forwarded from all parts of the world to the office of the Illustrated London News. The vast majority of the epistles forwarded to me from 198, Strand, are very nice ones. Some of them are quite sweet; but, on the whole, I must entreat my correspondents to "take their letters as answered"—first, because I have not the hands of Briareus; next, because scores of the letters relate to sundry comments which during three or four weeks running I ventured to make on the "French puzzles" in the World. One correspondent, indeed, writing abusively (and of course anonymously) accuses me of unfair interference with the World's puzzle competitions, and of "childish vanity" because I presumed to opine that few educated people could be so ignorant as not to know that the expression used in "Candide," "pour encourager les autres," referred to the shooting of Admiral Byng. Now, I have no desire to interfere unfairly or to enter into what the French term "concurrence déloyale" with anybody, and I will pledge myself henceforth, while the "French puzzle-bees" continue, not to say a word about French grammar or English equivalents for French locutions. The enjoyment of one little Parthian dart I must, however, permit myself. Readers of the World, please discover and forward, not to me, but to the editor of the vivacious periodical just mentioned, corrections of the five flagrant blunders in grammar, orthography, and punctuation (and an error, to boot, of omission) in the following quatrain published in the last number of the World, not in the "French puzzle" department, but in "What the World says":—

Il a, dit trompe de même coup
(Si ce n'est vrai, c'est du moin vraisemblable),
Le bon Dieu, le monde, et le diable,
Et de Quelen et Dupanloup.

But, dear me, who does not blunder now and then? and what a world of strife and recrimination it would be if we spent our whole time in finding out and denouncing the mistakes of other folk. I believe that Mr. Charles Reade has the supremest scorn for the mere verbalist, the censor who cries "haro!" upon you for writing, now and then, "was" instead of "were," or "is" instead of "be." For my part—naturally apt, as I am, to blunder, and writing, as I do, a crabbed and not very legible hand—I am full of astonishment that these "Echoes," these twelve weeks past, have not been disfigured by at least a hundred more blunders than I, from week to week, have noticed in this humble column. And I am fuller of gratitude to the Editor, the compositors, and the "readers" who have so patiently deciphered and corrected my much-blotted copy.

Yet; even as "the meek Racine," according to Mr. Carlyle, uttered one cry of expostulation as he expired under the unkindness of Louis XIV., I may vent one quiet sob of sorrow over a certain comma in the "Echoes." Alluding lately to that conscientious but feeble painter, Benjamin West, I said that foreigners placed him, as an academical draughtsman, in the same category with Raphael Mengs and Poelemberg. The printers placed a comma between "Raphael" and "Mengs." Alas and alack! Rafaelle Sanzio d'Urbino was one of the greatest painters that ever lived. Raphael Mengs was a highly respectable artist of the last century, who wore a very voluminous full-bottomed wig, drew very academically, painted very poor pictures (our Royal Academy have one of his performances, I think, in their private collection), wrote, albeit himself of Teutonic extraction, a very elegant tractate in Spanish on æsthetics, and was munificently patronised by Charles IV. of Spain. Still is there as wide a gulf between Rafaelle Sanzio and Raphael Mengs as yawns between Dr. Samuel Johnson and Mr. Samuel Weller.

Do you remember the "aristocratic fête" at poor old Cremorne Gardens? The festival in question, organised by a noble Lord of artistic tastes, must have taken place (how the time slips by!) nearly twenty years ago. Cremorne was then in its glory: the gardens were exquisitely pretty; the entertainments were varied, sparkling, and attractive; and it occurred to the noble Lord that it would be a very nice thing to charter Mr. Simpson's premises for a single evening, form a committee of ladies patronesses, and, by the maintenance of a rigid system of vouchers, exclude all but the crème de la crème of society from the bowers, the buffets, the marionette theatre, and the dancing-platform for that night only. The festival, harmless and even ingenious in its inception, duly took place. The Brahminical classes came, if not in their thousands, at least in their hundreds, to the Chelsea Casino. There was music; there was dancing; "twenty thousand additional lamps" shone upon fair women and brave men; and all would have gone merry as a marriage bell, only, unfortunately, it poured cats and dogs throughout the evening: and that which should have been an Almack's in the open air was converted into a Festival of Umbrellas and a Carnival of Goloshes.

Fierce downfalls of rain, combined with a furious wind, spoiled a great many things in Paris on Tuesday: the flags and Chinese lanterns on the boulevards to wit; to say nothing of the tempers of innumerable promenaders who were overtaken by the showers who could not get cabs. At Versailles the rain and the wind worked between them even more mischief; and the foulest of foul weather all but spoiled the magnificent fête given in the palace and gardens of Versailles by the President of the French Republic and Madame la Maréchale de MacMahon, Duchesse de Magenta, to the foreign princes and grandees sojourning in Paris and the élite of Parisian society. The gardens became one vast morass of mud; the water was ankle-deep in the ill-paved Cour de Marbre; large numbers of ladies had to walk a hundred yards from their carriages to the staircase of entrance; trains (they are worn longer than ever: the which fact leads me to opine that the fashion of very short dresses will soon set in again) were trodden upon; lace scarves were soaked; silk stockings were splashed; back hair came down limp and damp; gentlemen's white cravats hung pendent with moisture; and, to crown the drawbacks of the evening, nobody could find his great coat at the vestiaire when the hour of departure arrived. The cloak-room arrangements were imperfect; the attendants had "lost their heads;" ulsters were handed to people who ought to have had Inverness capes, and the lawful owners of overcoats with Astrachan collars could not obtain their property at all.

I remember quite as fearful a struggle for great-coats at the Palazzo Reale, at Venice, in 1875, on the occasion of the ball given by King Victor Emmanuel to the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. The contest became proverbial in the cafés of St. Mark's Place as "Il combattimento degli Paletò." The Italians are less placable than the French; and the Battle of the Great-coats at Venice grew at last quite alarming in its animation. Disputed property in a paletôt led in many instances to gentlemen plucking at one another's hair and beards; and cards were freely interchanged with a view to mortal combat on the terra firma on the morrow morning.

Paris has been full this week of English personages of the most exalted rank, whose movements have been duly chronicled in the French press. I confess that the names of "Lord Trampwelle," "Lord Inglefod," and "Viscount Smith" are not familar to me; but then I am a very bad student of Burke and Debrett. But I can vouch for the presence in Paris of the Prince of Wales, since his Royal Highness (whose popularity among the Parisians is amazing) has been visible to all eyes every day in places of public resort. Lord Granville likewise is among us; and Colonel Stanley, Minister for War, Mr. W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Sir George Elliot, M.P., have just passed through Paris on their way to Cyprus.

If the quotation be genuine which I have just read of a codicil to the will of Monseigneur Dupanloup, Bishop of Orleans, the deceased prelate must have been richly gifted with two qualities not very common among his countrymen—modesty and common-sense. "I desire," wrote the good Bishop, "that no funeral oration be pronounced over my grave. In such discourses the defects of the defunct are usually concealed, while his virtues are exaggerated. Of myself both good and evil may possibly have to be said—but not yet; and I have no wish that truth should be perverted ere my tomb is closed." Good and noble words these.

G. A. S.

POLITICAL.

SIR STAFFORD NORTHCOTE IN THE MIDLAND COUNTIES.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer has been making an oratorical tour. Sir Stafford Northcote visited the Birmingham Reformatory Schools, on the occasion of the annual meeting, last Saturday, and moved the first resolution expressing approval of the principles upon which the institution had carried on its operations during the past twenty-five years. In the evening Sir Stafford Northcote addressed a public meeting, at which it is computed that 6000 persons were present, in the Townhall, Birmingham; and, in a speech of great length and fulness, explained and defended the foreign and domestic policy of the Government. The Chancellor of the Exchequer visited Birmingham again on Monday, and was entertained by the Conservative Club at a banquet in the Townhall. In replying to the toast of "Her Majesty's Ministers," Sir Stafford Northcote expressed his acknowledgments for the warmth of the reception he had met with from all classes in Birmingham. He regarded it as a proof that however much the people of Birmingham might differ from the policy of the Government and the course they had pursued, at any rate they recognised that, under difficult circumstances, Ministers had endeavoured to do their duty, and had upheld the honour and interests of the country. Adverting at length to the financial position of the country, he repudiated the responsibility for the annual increase of expenditure, and pointed out that it was the necessary result of legislation for education, the abolition of purchase in the Army, and grants in aid of local rates.—At the close of the luncheon the right hon. gentleman proceeded to Wolverhampton, where he was entertained by the Conservative Club of that town at a banquet in the Agricultural Hall. Replying to the toast of the evening, Sir S. Northcote defended the foreign policy of the Government, and said the manner in which he had been received on his present visit showed that it met with the general approval of the people. He lamented the unprecedentedly long check which the commercial prosperity of the country had received, but promised that no effort should be wanting on the part of her Majesty's Government to lighten the burdens of the people. On Tuesday night Sir Stafford Northcote addressed a large meeting, chiefly composed of working men, in the Agricultural Hall, and dwelt at considerable length upon the efforts made by the Conservative party to ameliorate the condition of the working classes.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer brought his visit over the midland counties to a close on Wednesday. In the early part of the day he drove over from Patshull to Dudley, and was entertained at luncheon at The Priory and at a private banquet in the afternoon at the Dudley Arms. He subsequently attended a large meeting of the working classes in the public hall, and received a warm welcome. He reminded his audience that he owed his introduction to Parliamentary life to the constituency of Dudley, having been returned as their representative nearly five-and-twenty years ago. He proceeded then to contrast the condition of the country now with what it was at the close of the Crimean War, and to argue that the population had made a steady advance, not only in political power and knowledge, but in comfort, education, and independence.

The Home Secretary and Colonel Blackburne were entertained at a Conservative banquet at Southport on the 17th inst.; and, in response to the toast of "Her Majesty's Ministers," Mr. Cross dealt with the causes of the depression of trade. The Eastern Question and the difficulties connected with the carrying out of the Berlin Treaty, as well as the objections which have been raised to the acquisition of Cyprus, were likewise dealt with by Mr. Cross.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, M.P., speaking at a meeting at Longtown on the 17th inst., said the House of Commons ought to refuse to vote one penny of the national money for the Afghan war until the verdict of the people could be taken at a general election as to whether they would endorse the Government policy of aggression and wickedness.

At the meeting of the North Staffordshire Union of Conservative Associations at Hanley on the 17th inst., Mr. Hanbury, M.P., in replying for the House of Commons, spoke on the leading political topics of the day. Referring to the Afghan difficulty, he said that whoever started it did so on the principle of darkness and intrigue. Doubtless it was Russia; but England would protect her colonies, especially India.

Lord Rosebery on the 19th inst. addressed a large meeting of Liberals in Aberdeen, and strongly condemned the responsibilities entered into by the Government in regard to Asia Minor, and said that even India might be held at too dear a price.

Speaking at an agricultural dinner at Christchurch on the 17th inst., Lord Bury alluded to the Afghan difficulty, and expressed the opinion that sooner or later we should have to meet and cope with Russia, and that it was better we should do so now, rather than wait till the ruler of Afghanistan became the vassal of the Muscovite.

Mr. E. Jenkins addressed his constituents at Dundee on the 18th, adversely criticising the foreign policy of the Government. He declared that no nation would now accept the diplomatic word of Great Britain, so full was it of double-dealing and intrigue.

Mr. Clare S. Reed, M.P., presided on the 18th at the Blofield Agricultural Association, Norfolk, and in the course of his speech expressed his satisfaction with the expenditure of six millions on the national defences, the calling out of the reserves, and the summoning of troops from India.

Mr. Chamberlain, at a meeting in Birmingham last Monday, condemned the policy of the Government, and expressed a hope that no encouragement would be given to that policy. Never in this generation had the political horizon looked darker, both abroad and at home.

Mr. Herschell, Q.C., and Sir Arthur Middleton, the members for Durham city, addressed a crowded meeting of electors in the Townhall on Monday evening. Mr. Herschell strongly condemned the foreign policy of the Government, especially in reference to the Turkish Convention and the acquisition of Cyprus, which, he said, had made France suspicious, had irritated Italy, rendered Germany indifferent, and Russia bitterly hostile. The impending difficulty in Afghanistan was the outcome of the boastful policy of Lord Beaconsfield.

Mr. Mackintosh, addressing his constituents at Inverness on Monday night, said it was high time the people should have an opportunity of expressing an opinion on the critical state of our foreign relations. He condemned the Government for entering the Congress tied down with conventions with Russia and Turkey; but he believed Congress was useful in that it checked Russian influence in South-Eastern Europe.

Mr. Forster, speaking at the Mayor's dinner at Bradford on Tuesday evening, said the past Session, which was one of the most laborious in his recollection, was chiefly spent in a desperate effort to find out what the Government was doing. He maintained that a reorganisation of the business of the House of Commons was necessary, as it was outgrowing the capabilities of that assembly to deal with it; and he therefore had come to the conclusion that their only hope was to depend more upon the administration in localities than they had hitherto done.

Mr. Carpentier Garnier, the junior member for South Devon, in the course of a speech at Totnes on Tuesday, said he agreed with Sir Stafford Northcote that the Government were giving their earnest attention to the fair and complete execution of the Treaty of Berlin, and he urged that its provisions should be enforced both upon the Turks and the Russians. He spoke of an Afghan war as a thing to be avoided, because of the loss of blood and treasure it would involve. Nevertheless, he maintained that England could not submit to insult or affront from whatever quarter it might come.

On Tuesday Colonel Alexander, M.P. for South Ayrshire, addressed his constituents in the Corn Exchange, Ayr. He said it had been asserted that last Session was entirely barren of legislation. If sensational legislation were intended, he was not disposed to question the assertion. After noticing several measures that had been passed, he adverted to the foreign policy of the Government, which had been eminently successful in promoting peace and averting the horrors of war; so successful, indeed, as to induce the leaders of the Liberal party, with characteristic audacity, to claim it as their own.

Sir Julian Goldsmid and Mr. Otway, the members for Rochester, gave their annual addresses to their constituents on Wednesday evening. Sir Julian Goldsmid's criticism of the Government was that, whereas their opponents were said to harass every home interest, they themselves harassed every foreign interest. Mr. Otway accused the Government of having no comprehensive foreign policy, if they had one at all; and blamed them for not having attempted to come to a peaceful understanding with Russia respecting common Asiatic interests. He added that Cyprus had been obtained in a secret manner, subversive to our Constitution; and he despaired of Turkish reforms.

Lord Galway, M.P., and Mr. W. Beckett Denison, M.P., spoke on Wednesday night at a meeting of the Retford Working Men's Association. Lord Galway alluded to Lord Lawrence's letter on Afghanistan, and asked what had been the result of the policy pursued by Lord Lawrence himself and previous Viceroys. It was that the Ameer now despised us, and refused to receive our mission. He feared the Afghan trouble was only part of one great intrigue. It was a curious coincidence that at the same time the Russian troops were again advancing in Roumelia. Mr. Denison spoke of the disunion of the Liberal party, of the manner in which the Government had been harassed during a difficult and trying time, and of the necessity of maintaining Conservative principles.

The constituency of Wolverhampton, which the Right Hon. C. P. Villiers has represented in Parliament in unbroken succession since 1835, has subscribed £1000 for a public memorial to him. It takes the form of a statue in Sicilian marble, and is a copy from that in the Manchester Townhall. At a numerous meeting of subscribers on Wednesday it was resolved to erect it temporarily on Snow-hill, Wolverhampton.

The Mayor of Peterborough received the writ on Tuesday, and fixed the nomination for Friday, the 25th, and the polling for Tuesday, the 29th inst.

According to the Daily News, Saturday, Nov. 30, has been decided on by Mr. Gladstone as the day upon which he will visit his constituents.

"A WOMAN OF CONSTANTINOPLE."

The Oriental type of female loveliness is probably not so much endeared to the romantic imagination of those whose acquaintance with it comes from the reading of poetry, as it was in the heyday of Byron's and Tom Moore's literary renown, some fifty or sixty years ago. There are few young gentlemen, we believe, of this generation, who are disposed to give their hearts away to an ideal Delight of the Harem, such as were formerly supposed to yield an indolent domestic felicity to every fortunate Pasha, Beg, and Agha, or wealthy Effendi of the Sultan's happy Empire. We are now pretty well undeceived and désillusionnés, by the hideous botherations of the Eastern Question during the past quarter of a century, and by the multitude of travellers and newspaper correspondents, in times of peace as well as in the military campaigns, whose prose writings have made us but too familiar with the sorry realities of Mohammedan social life. As for the condition and quality of womanhood in that region of the world, it is evidently such as to render the sex, whether a man possess one sole wife or half a dozen, the most tedious incumbrance to their male proprietors. We should not be inclined, for our part, to make an exception in favour of this delicate creature, with her big black eyes sadly looking out above the "yashmak" or veil that covers her nose and lips, in M. Gerome's beautiful picture. She is, no doubt, an inveterate smoker of choice Syrian tobacco, and it is very likely that she spits; she has no more conversation, knowledge, sentiment, intelligence, or manners than a wax doll; and to sit a whole evening in her company would be the severest penance to any rational Englishman. The women of Constantinople, and the men for their sake, are very much to be pitied.

MUSIC.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

The event of last week was the reopening of this establishment by Mr. Mapleson, to whose scheme we have already drawn attention. The special features of earlier hours and lower prices than those of the regular season, together with non-restrictions as to evening dress, can scarcely fail to be largely appreciated by the many to whom these conditions are more convenient and agreeable than their opposites. The opening performance of Saturday consisted of "Fidelio," in which Madame Eugénie Pappenheim reappeared as Leonora, with somewhat more effect than in her previous representations here last summer. The great scena, the "Invocation to Hope," was artistically rendered, especially the beautiful adagio movement, the singer's merits having been also favourably manifested in the music of the dungeon scene, particularly in the grave-digging duet with Rocco, and in the great quartet in which Don Pizarro attempts the assassination of his prisoner Florestano, and is foiled by the latter's wife Leonora, disguised as Fidelio, the gaoler's assistant. With a little less restraint of manner, Madame Pappenheim's performance will gain in effect. The occasion brought forward, as Florestano, M. Candidus, a tenor, who made his first appearance here with great success. His voice is pure and sympathetic in quality, he sings in tune, phrases and declaims well, and has an excellent cantabile style, free from the obnoxious use of the "tremolo." The delivery of the arduous scena at the opening of the second act at once established his position, which was maintained by his meritorious singing in the subsequent trio and duet. The other principal characters were efficiently filled by Mdlle. Bauermeister (Marcellina), Signor Rinaldini (Jacquino), Herr Behrens (Rocco), and Signor Rota (Don Pizarro). The quartet (canon) in the first act was encored, as also was the grand "Leonora" overture (No. 3), which was played between the acts, the overture in E major (the last of the four which Beethoven wrote for "Fidelio") having been given before the opera. Previous to the commencement of the performance the National Anthem was sung by the chorus, with orchestra.

"Rigoletto" was given on Monday, with Mdlle. Valleria as Gilda, Signor Gillandi as the Duke, and Madame Trebelli as Maddalena; and on Tuesday "Faust" was the opera, the cast having included Mesdames Hélène Crosmond and Trebelli respectively as Margherita and Siebel, Signor Gillandi as Faust, Signor Rota as Mephistopheles, and Signor Mendioroz as Valentino. Signor Li Calsi conducted the performances, which have drawn full houses.

On Wednesday Bizet's "Carmen" was given, with the substitution of Madame Trebelli for Mdlle. Minnie Hauk in the title-character. Of the admirable performance of the last-named lady we spoke when noticing the first production of the Italian version of the opera, during Mr. Mapleson's season of the past summer. Madame Trebelli gives a somewhat different version of the part, in its dramatic aspect—occasionally, perhaps, a little over demonstrative—but her singing was throughout of a high order of excellence, and produced a marked impression, particularly in the "Avanera," the "Seguidilla," the scene of the fortune-telling with cards, and that of the final duet with Don José. The success of Madame Trebelli was complete. Mdlle. Alwina Valleria, as heretofore, sang admirably as Michaela, and Signor Runcio was again a satisfactory Don José; Signor Mendioroz having replaced Signor Del Puente as Escamillo, the Toreador, the music of which part he gave generally with good effect. Mdlles. Bauermeister and Purdy were thoroughly efficient, respectively, in the characters of Paquita and Mercedes, and other parts were filled as before.

The second of the new series of Saturday Concerts at the Crystal Palace included a fine performance, by Madame Arabella Goddard, of Field's third pianoforte concerto (in A flat), given for the first time here; the orchestral selection having comprised M. Ambroise Thomas's effective overture, "Le Roman d'Elvire," also heard for the first time at these concerts. Last Saturday's programme introduced Mr. W. Macfarren's clever "Pastoral Overture" (written for the Brighton Festival of February last), and "Siegfried's Death" and the "Walküren Ritt," from Wagner's "Nibelungen" operas. Both these were given for the first time here. Other specialties were Miss Agnes Zimmermann's excellent rendering of Schumann's "Concertstück" in G (op. 92) for pianoforte (with orchestra); and a prelude and fugue of Bach's, and Sterndale Bennett's "Rondo Piacevole" for piano alone. The vocalists at the second concert were Mdlle. Sartorius and Herr Henschel—those on Saturday last having been Madame Patey and Mrs. Davison. At this week's concert Verdi's "Requiem" is to be performed, preceded by a "Religious March" by Gounod.

The Covent-Garden Promenade Concert of Monday brought forward the double piano, manufactured and patented by MM. Mangeot Frères, of Paris, the instrument being, in fact, two distinct pianofortes, one placed over the other, as also are the key-boards, both of which are available by one performer, who is thus enabled to combine, with either hand, chords consisting of sounds that, on one key-board, are very far apart, but are here brought into close juxtaposition. The player by these means can produce almost the same effect as that of two performers on two instruments. The capacities of the double piano were exemplified on Monday by M. Zarebski, who performed two pieces adapted to the purpose required, one having been Liszt's second "Rhapsodie Hongroise." The pianist possesses exceptional powers of execution, and his performances have been continued nightly (in other pieces) with great success.

Herr Goetz's opera, "The Taming of the Shrew," was given for the second time at Drury-Lane Theatre on Wednesday afternoon, instead of (as at first intended) on the Saturday following its production, on Oct. 12, with the same cast as that already noticed.

Mr. W. Carter opened his new season of oratorio performances at the Royal Albert Hall on Thursday evening with Haydn's "Creation."

An English version of Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro" was given at the Alexandra Palace last Saturday evening; the opera announced for this week being Auber's "Fra Diavolo."

The music of "La Traviata" is to be repeated at this (Saturday) evening's opera recital at the Royal Aquarium.

The first of this season's Brighton Philharmonic concerts was held on Wednesday night, supported by the Philharmonic choir and by a number of leading artistes, including Miss Robertson, Madame Sterling, Mr. Edward Lloyd, with Mr. Kingsbury as conductor. Mr. Kuhe, assisted by Mr. Carrodus, gave his second pianoforte recital in the afternoon. The programme included a tarantella by Mr. Charles Webb.

Mr. Walter Bache gives his annual pianoforte recital at St. James's Hall on Monday afternoon next.

The London Ballad Concerts, directed by Mr. John Boosey, will enter on the thirteenth season on Wednesday Nov. 6.

Our last week's record of the Norwich Festival performances necessarily left unnoticed the proceedings of the two last days. On the Thursday morning "Elijah" was given, with the special feature of Madame Albani's fine singing in the soprano solos of the second part. The other principal solo vocalists were Misses A. Williams and Penna, Mesdames Trebelli and Sterling, Mr. E. Lloyd, Mr. Shakspeare, and Mr. Santley. The concert of the Thursday evening included Sir J. Benedict's new overture, "Das Kätchen von Heilbronn," and an "Adagio" and "Rondo" from a pianoforte concerto by the same composer. Of both works we shall, doubtless, soon have to speak again in reference to their performance in London. The overture was written in illustration of a drama by Heinrich von Kleist, and was composed specially for the festival. It produced so marked an impression that it had to be repeated. The movements from the concerto are worthy of the same hand, and were effectively interpreted by Mr. H. K. Rudd, of Norwich. The closing oratorio performance of the festival, yesterday (Friday) week, calls for no comment beyond the fact that "The Messiah" was finely rendered, special features having been Madame Albani's exquisite singing in the airs, "Rejoice greatly" and "I know that my Redeemer liveth." The other principal soloists were Miss A. Williams, Mesdames Trebelli and Sterling, Mr. E. Lloyd, and Mr. Santley. It had been intended that the festival should end with "The Messiah," but a supplemental ballad concert was suddenly improvised, to which several of the principal artists contributed. As stated in our previous notice, Sir J. Benedict conducted the performances, as at the eleven preceding festivals; and Dr. Bunnett, as organist, and Mr. J. Harcourt, as chorus master, have rendered valuable co-operation.

THEATRES.

Nothing very lively or interesting varies the ordinary business of the leading houses in our record of the passing week. The Haymarket had an afternoon performance on Saturday of "Little Cricket," an adaptation, as the reader is aware, of Madame Georges Sands's romance of "La Petite Fadette." The pastoral heroine was charmingly personated by Miss Lydia Cowell, and the stern father, Farmer Barbeau, was characteristically sustained by Mr. W. H. Stephens. Other parts were played by their original representatives; and the whole justified the applause of the audience by the general completeness of the rendering. Miss Cowell was summoned before the curtain at the end of each act. At the Duke's, a change in the bill has occurred. "The Octoroon" of Boucicault replaces "The Barricade" of Victor Hugo. Mr. Clarance Holt takes himself the part of Wah-no-tee, the Indian chief, and his daughter that of Zoe, the heroine. Mr. Charles Glennie, as Salem Scudder, deserves encouragement. A new farce was produced the same evening, by Mr. Frederick Hay, entitled "An Awkward Affair," which may prove amusing after a few more rehearsals. At the Gaiety on Monday Lutz's operetta of "The Happy Village," and the farce of "Stage Struck" were performed, including the amusing burlesque of "The Colleen Bawn," as interpreted by Mr. Elton and Miss Lawler. It may also be noticed that it was the 218th time of "Little Doctor Faust," by Mr. Byron. This afternoon the fourth representation of Merivale's "Lady of Lyons, Married and Settled," will have been reached. We may therefore pronounce this nondescript piece a relative success.

Mr. Robertson, the managing director of the Westminster Aquarium, has announced that, owing to the widespread difference of opinion which exists as to the advisability of producing even selections from tableaux of the Ober-Ammergau Passion-play, he has determined to "withdraw it from the list of his attractions."

The Roscius Dramatic Club at Ladbroke Hall, Notting-hill, had an entertainment last Thursday, consisting of "A Pair of Boots," "Alone," and "The Original." Their next dramatic performance will take place on Dec. 12, when "All that Glitters is not Gold" will be acted.

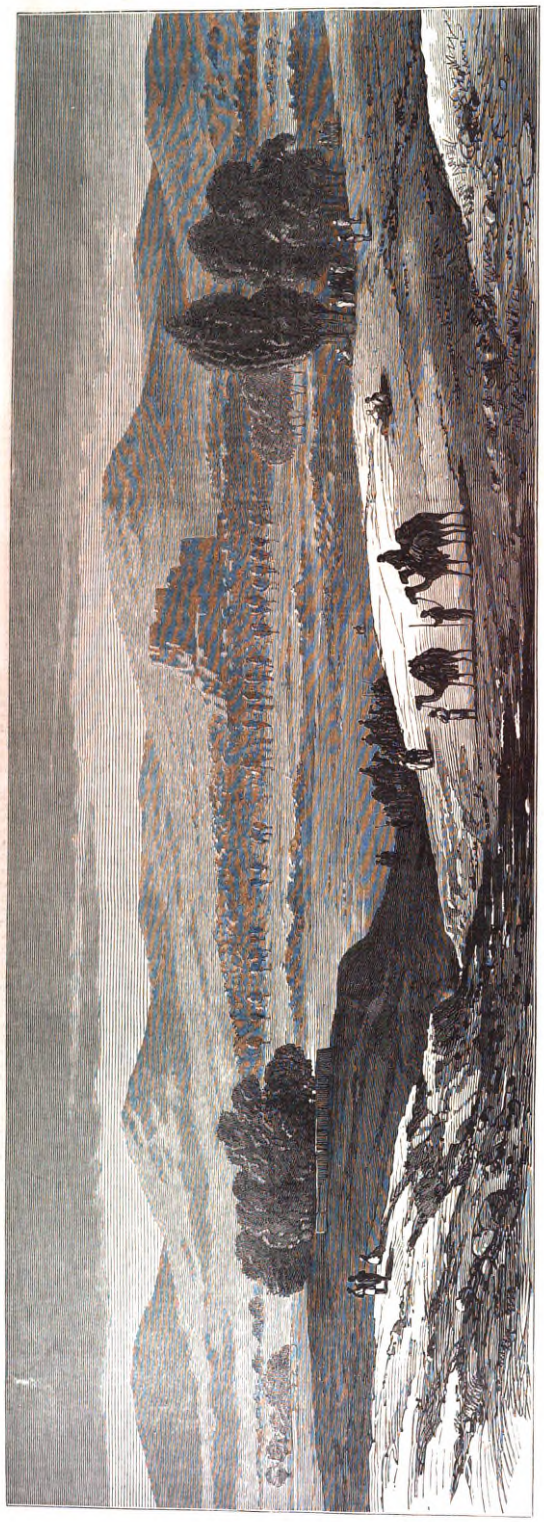
The Plymouth Guildhall was on Tuesday evening crowded, the occasion being the opening of the grand organ, erected by public subscription at a cost of £2500. Dr. Stainer, organist of St. Paul's, officiated.

The Incorporated Law Society of the United Kingdom has held this week at Manchester its annual two days' provincial meeting. Mr. Hollams, London, presided on Wednesday, and in his address called attention to certain defects in the system of the trials by referee. The council were instructed to try and get them remedied. Resolutions were passed asking for an increased number of assizes at York, Lancashire, Durham, and Northumberland for civil business. Papers were read on the law of copyright, the conditions under which a solicitor became a barrister, and the publication of the evidence in divorce and criminal cases.

Lord Norton gave the opening address at the twenty-second Congress of the National Association for the Promotion of Social Science at Cheltenham on Wednesday evening. He reviewed the legislation of the past forty years during which he had sat in Parliament, and its bearing on the subjects to which the Congress specially devoted its attention—namely, health, education, art, law, economy, and trade. With regard to the latter, he argued that its present depressed condition was only temporary, and that the expansion of the world's wealth and commerce would still provide scope enough for England's enterprise. We gave last week an outline of the week's doings.

Under the presidency of Sir James Oldknow, Mayor of Nottingham, the Midland Conference of Poor Law Guardians was held on Wednesday in the Mechanics' Hall. The day was chiefly occupied in the discussion of a paper on "Pauperism and Endowed Charities," by the Rev. W. Bury, of Northampton. Mr. Salt, M.P., speaking on this subject, said that, though Parliament would not do anything violent in dealing with eleemosynary charities, they would be guided by a general expression of opinion, and that there were a number of them which needed somewhat stringent treatment. The question whether the Charity Commissioners should have more power was one demanding serious consideration.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the United Kingdom Alliance opened at Manchester in the New Townhall on Tuesday morning. Alderman Barlow presided, and said it was the largest meeting of the kind ever held by the alliance. The president, Sir W. C. Trevelyan, was unable to be present, but he promised to give £250 for the coming year. The receipts for the year were nearly £22,000. Sir Wilfrid Lawson, M.P., was one of the speakers. The annual meeting, held in the Free-Trade Hall, was presided over by Professor Smyth, M.P., and resolutions were passed in support of the objects of the Alliance. The principal resolution was moved by Sir Wilfrid Lawson and seconded by Cardinal Manning.



QUETTA, CANDAHAR, AND GHUZNI.

The fortress of Quetta, formerly called by the name of Shawl, was occupied by the British Indian Government, three or four years ago, under an arrangement with the Khan of Khelat, in Beloochistan, to whose territory this place belongs. It is situated about thirty miles beyond the farther end of the Bolan Pass, to the north-west, in the Shawl valley, which is inhabited by a mixed population of Afghans and Beloochees, and was reckoned in ancient times part of Afghanistan. The soil is fertile and the climate healthy, but cold in winter, as the valley lies 5000 ft. above the sea-level. There is abundant pasture for cattle, sheep, and goats on the neighbouring hills. Quetta is a small town, built chiefly of clay, with a surrounding wall, and with a citadel upon a mound 70 ft. or 80 ft. high, but of no real military strength in modern warfare. It was, however, in our Afghan wars of 1839 and 1842, an important post on the line of advance from Scinde to Candahar, for which service it was first garrisoned by two Bengal native infantry regiments under General Nott, and became the head-quarters of General England in the latter campaign. Its route of communication with the Afghan province and city of Candahar, more than a hundred miles farther on to the north-west, is minutely described in our account of "Roads through Afghanistan," in another page of this week's paper. The reinforcement of the small garrison of Quetta must now be the earliest object of solicitude for the British Indian military authorities. We hear that the 2nd Punjaub Cavalry, the 2nd Punjaub Infantry, and the 30th Bombay Native Infantry regiments have already been dispatched to Quetta.

Candahar, the capital of Western Afghanistan, and the chief city of the Durani Afghans, is situated near the junction of the Urghundab and Turnak rivers, in a well-cultivated plain, but overlooked by rocky mountains to the west and north. It is a town of great antiquity and historic fame, but suffered terribly from repeated invasions of the Mogul Tartars, from the conquests of Tamerlane, in 1384; Sultan Baber, in 1507; and the Persian Tartar dynasty, in the seventeenth century. It commands the southern route from Persia to India, and must have been part of the Macedonian conquests of Alexander the Great. The name "Candahar" may be a corruption of "Iskandria," or Alexandria. The present city, which has a mixed population of 50,000 or more, Afghans, Persians, Beloochees, Jews, and Hindoos, with a moderate amount of trade, is subject to the Ameer of Cabul. It is nearly four miles in circuit, of an irregular-quadrangle shape, inclosed by an earthern wall, 27 ft. thick at the base, and of the same height, with a ditch, 10 ft. deep, filled by canals from the Urghundab; and with large towers at the four corners, and six gates protected by double bastions. The citadel, containing the palace, is near the north gate of the town. The two main streets cross each other in the middle of the city, where a large dome, called the Kharsoo, with surrounding shops, forms the bazaar or public market-place. The houses of the richer citizens are inclosed within walled courts, adorned with gardens and fountains, and their apartments decorated with mirrors and plates of talc. The tomb of Ahmed Shah, the founder of the Durani dynasty, is an octagonal building, with a cupola and minarets, on a raised stone platform. It is not very magnificent, being constructed of rough stone and brick, but covered with blue and red stucco. Around this building, which is 70 ft. high, are twelve smaller tombs of Ahmed Shah's family, and cells for the Mollahs, or Mohammedan clergy, who keep up incessant reading of the Koran in the tomb. The mosques of Candahar have no great architectural beauty. This city was held by a British army from 1839 to the autumn of 1842, withstanding frequent and desperate attacks from the Afghans under the officers of Dost Mohamed. We give a view of Candahar, with one of the approach to Quetta, on another page.

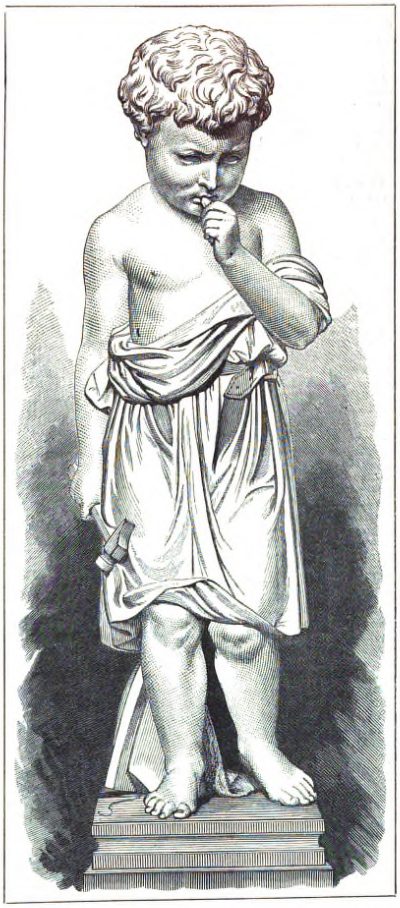
No place in Afghanistan, except perhaps Jellalabad, is more memorable, in the history of British wars in that country, than Ghuzni. It is situated on the road from Candahar to Cabul, two hundred and fifty miles from the first-named city, and half that distance from Cabul; the road from India, through the Khoorum Pass, leads equally to Cabul and to Ghuzni. The site of Ghuzni, on a plain 7700 ft. above the sea, causes its winter climate to be severe, the thermometer falling sometimes ten or twenty degrees below zero. The town has some little trade, but its ordinary inhabitants do not exceed ten thousand. Its high walls, erected upon the top of a scarped rock, with a wet ditch below, have an imposing aspect, but are not so defensible as they appear. One of the gates was blown up and stormed on July 23, 1839, by the army of Sir John Keane, with very small loss of men on the British side. The Afghan garrison at that time was about three thousand, of whom five hundred were killed, under Mohammed Hyder Khan, a son of Dost Mohammed and brother of the present Ameer Shere Ali. The gate forced by the British assailants was the Cabul gate; the other two gates, the river gate, and that on the Candahar road, having been walled up. The citadel, in the north quarter of the town, stands on a commanding height, but could easily be bombarded from the neighbouring hills. Ghuzni was the capital of Sultan Mahmoud, the great Turkish conqueror of Persia and India in the eleventh century. His sepulchre, amidst the ruins of the ancient city, outside the walls of the existing town, is a place of great interest to all Asiatic Mussulman nations. It is but a simple structure, of no great magnitude, with a cupola above, and a chamber that was formerly closed with the beautiful gates of carved wood, supposed to have been brought from the Hindoo temple of Somnauth, or Siva, which is at Pattan, in Gujerat, Western India. In November, 1842, when General Nott had recaptured Ghuzni from the Afghans, Lord Ellenborough, then Governor-General of India, ordered these gates to be removed, and they are now deposited at Agra. He thought it worth while to issue a proclamation to the people of India, announcing that "the insult of eight hundred years was avenged," by this restoration, as he fancied, of the stolen gates of the Temple of Somnauth. But it has unfortunately been proved that the gates brought from Ghuzni to Agra cannot be those of the Somnauth temple, as they are not of Hindoo workmanship, and are not of sandal wood. It is very likely that the original gates were, at some time, destroyed by fire, or by natural decay; and that these were substituted for them. Our View of Ghuzni includes part of the ruins of the ancient city, with the two lofty minars, built of brick, a hundred feet high and twelve feet in diameter. These towers, and the tomb of Sultan Mahmoud, were spared by the Prince of Ghore, Allah-ud-deen, when he destroyed the capital of the mighty conqueror, in 1151, soon after Mahmoud's death.

Tuesday's Gazette announces the appointment of Mr. William Gifford Palgrave, now her Majesty's Consul in the Philippine Islands, to be Consul-General in the Principality of Bulgaria, and to reside at the capital. Mr. Richard Keade, her Majesty's Consul at Rustchuk, has been appointed Consul for the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin, to reside at Philadelphia.

APPROACH TO THE FORTRESS OF QUETTA, ON THE AFGHAN FRONTIER.

CITY OF CANDAHAR, AFGHANISTAN.

FORTRESS AND CITADEL OF GHUZNI, AFGHANISTAN, WITH THE TWO MINARS.



ROADS THROUGH AFGHANISTAN.

n anticipation of the expected war, for which great preparations are being made in India, against the Ameer Shere Ali of Cabul, we continue to present Illustrations of the most remarkable places in the Afghan country, and on its borders. The Khoorum Valley, which lies in the most convenient route of march from the Punjaub, either direct towards Ghuzni, or turning north-west to Cabul, is the subject of one of these Views, showing the village of Madzai and the Bodeen mountain peak, from a sketch by Colonel Walter Fane. We also give a view of the approach to Quetta, a fortress in British occupation, which is situated in the territory of the Khan of Khelat, in the northern part of Beloochistan, but adjacent to the south frontier of Afghanistan, and commanding the road from the Bolan Pass to the important Afghan city of Candahar. Views of Candahar and of Ghuzni are likewise presented, which are from the series of "Sketches of Afghanistan," published by Messrs. H. Graves and Co., of Pall-mall.

The southern frontier of Afghanistan seems most easily accessible to an army from India. It is considered that from Quetta to Candahar the advance would meet with few obstacles if the inhabitants were well disposed. The valley northwards from Quetta is overshadowed by the Zarghun range, infested by lawless and hardy mountaineers, who make unsafe for travellers and even caravans the direct road to Candahar, but to an armed force could offer little molestation. These tribes muster in all some 70,000 households, but they are scattered over so wide an area that when, recently, the Khan of Khelat organised an expedition against them, no trouble was found in reducing them in detail to submission. In December snow falls, and often after that the road, though never impassable, is rendered difficult. The Murghi Pass leads by an easy route down to the Peshin district, and at fourteen miles from Quetta a small stream is passed, which constitutes the frontier of Khelat and Cabul. Another eighteen miles of practicable road brings the traveller by the Surmaghazi Pass to Hykalzai, situated on a plain of red clay soil—a favourite rendezvous of the nomad Sarins, and marked by numerous ruins and several inhabited villages. From Hykalzai a march of fifteen miles attains Arabi Kariz, several streams being crossed on the way, and a fair sprinkling of inhabitants encountered. There is a good roadway thence past the spurs of the Toba range, the populous villages of the Dihsuri Glen, to the Khojak Pass, at all times practicable in spite of its narrowness. On the southern side the elevation has been recorded to be 7000 ft., at the top of the Pass 7400, and at Chaukah, on the northern end, 5600; and here, as everywhere else along the road, pasture is abundant for three fourths of the year. From Chaukah to Chaman, and thence to Gatai, some twenty-five miles, the route lies north-westerly along a gradual slope on to the undulating sweep of the plain; and from Gatai a march of fourteen miles reaches Mel Maudah, the road lying across a plain and rolling downs, without inhabitants, as pasturage is very scanty, and the water brackish. After eighteen miles further, Máků Karez is made; the Barghana Pass, which lies midway at an elevation of 4100 feet, presenting no difficulty to the traveller. Thence a winding ravine leads to the village of Máků, and sixteen miles further, across an undulating plain as far as the Arghesan river (a very shallow stream, though of considerable width), and thence across broken country, lies Mund Hissar. From here to Candahar is twelve miles.

It is well to note that from Candahar to Herat is 400 miles, from Candahar to Jacobabad, our frontier station in Scinde, 300 miles. From Candahar to Cabul is also about 400 miles, Ghuzni being about 150 miles from the latter. By the occupation of Candahar we should threaten equally Herat and Cabul, and should practically be masters of all Western Afghanistan. The inhabitants of the Province of Candahar are much better disposed to us than those of North-Eastern Afghanistan, and are not influenced to the same extent by the bitter memories of our last invasion.

It seems to be arranged, in the plan of the impending Afghan war, that the central column of the British forces, which is now being collected at Thull, shall advance through the Khoorum Pass and Valley, with a view to an eventual attack on Ghuzni and Cabul. From the British military station of Kohat to the frontier at Thull, on the banks of the Khoorum river, through the valleys of the Lower and Upper Meeranzye, the road is well known. At Thull the Khoorum is crossed by an easy ford, and from this point there are two roads—both of which are practicable for field artillery. The shortest and most direct road is also the roughest. It leads from Thull to Tara Khoa, eleven miles; next, to Huzar Peer Ziarut, fifteen miles; third, the Durinzai Pass (not difficult), eleven miles; fourth, Ahmedzye, on the right hand of the Khoorum, a small mud fort, built by the late Sirdar Mahomed Azim Khan when he was Governor of Khoorum and Khool (this place is held by a small Afghan garrison); fifth, Peywar Kothul, a pass practicable for cavalry, and might be easily rendered so for field artillery by a few sappers, twenty-five miles. An intermediate stage could easily be made, as the Khoorum Valley is throughout open and fertile. From the crest of the Peywar Kothul to Cabul is only seventy-five miles. The Cabul side of the pass is steeper and more difficult, but still practicable. The tribes here are, however, hostile to us; the Ghilzyes more especially so. The pass is never closed, even in the depth of winter, though snow to the depth of four feet or so covers it. Traffic serves to keep the path open, and Afghan troops constantly cross it at all seasons. The Turis and Baugash tribes who inhabit Khoorum are so much oppressed by their Afghan Governor that they would gladly take any favourable opportunity to rebel. They are, however, naturally less warlike than their neighbours, the Wuziris and Ghilzyes, who overawe them. Snow generally begins to fall in the Khoorum Valley in December, and lies for two or three months. The road from the Kothul to Cabul is fair, and water is everywhere abundant. Supplies, of course, would not be procurable by an invading force from that point, but a lightly-equipped force could accomplish the whole distance in three or four marches. The second and easier route, from Thull to Ahmedzye, is along the bed of the Khoorum river via Ibrahimzye, but is dangerous when the river is swollen, as the stream has to be forded at frequent crossings, and its banks are liable to be flooded. The Turis and Baugashes would probably furnish an auxiliary contingent if called upon to do so to the number of three to four thousand men; but all the other tribes would be in arms against a British force, and would have to be coerced into good behaviour, with an expedition entering Cabul from the Khoorum Valley. The cold is severe in November, even before the snow commences to fall; water freezes at night from the beginning of November. For strategical purposes the mud fort mentioned above would mark the point for the principal cantonment, and on the advance to Cabul being made this place and the crest of the Peywar Kothul could be roughly fortified to maintain the line of communication with Thull and Kohat. The entry of a force into Afghanistan by this road is comparatively free from difficulty.

"THE LITTLE CARPENTER." BY E. B. STEPHENS, A.R.A. IN THE LATE EXHIBITION OF THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

The Extra Supplement.

BATH ABBEY CHURCH.

We have lately been publishing, at convenient opportunities in the weekly issue of this Journal, a series of large Engravings, drawn by our well-known Artist, Mr. S. Reade, representing the majestic Cathedral Churches of England. The series will be continued, from time to time, in order to furnish a complete set of these Illustrations of the noblest monuments of ecclesiastical architecture in our country. Bath, one of the fairest and most dignified of provincial cities, though it gives a name, jointly with Wells, to an episcopal diocese, has not usually styled its venerable Abbey Church a Cathedral. There was an ancient Abbey of Benedictine Monks at Bath. The see of Wells, in Norman times, was removed to Bath, and was afterwards revived at Wells, but was ultimately combined with that of Bath, in 1135. The ancient Church of the Abbey fell into decay in the fifteenth century, till Bishop Oliver King, assisted by the Priors, one of whom continued his work, began to construct the present edifice, between 1495 and 1503. The Abbey was dissolved, and its cloisters, priory, dormitory, and chapter-house were destroyed, in 1539. The Abbey Church was restored, in Queen Elizabeth's reign, by the munificence of Peter Chapman and Thomas Bellot, aided by Lord Burleigh and the Earl of Sussex, and was completed by Bishop Montague, under James I. The building is cruciform, consisting of a nave, with five bays, a choir, which has four bays, and a transept of two bays, without aisles. The nave is 136 ft. long, 72 ft. wide, and 78 ft. high, with a flat roof of richly panelled wood. The choir is 74 ft. long, with a breadth of 20 ft. only; the combined length of the two transepts is 126 ft. There is a central tower of two storeys, 162 ft. high. The clerestory, which is very lofty, with no triforium above it, is the prominent feature of the interior. The roof of the choir and transepts is vaulted, and decorated with intricate fan-tracery, resembling meshes of sea-weed. The exterior is, from the narrowness of the street, not seen to advantage on the south side, which is that represented in our Illustration, but its proportions are imposing, and it has quite the character of a cathedral. Its architectural interest must be confessed to be inferior to that of churches built in the times of the older Gothic styles; notwithstanding which, it deserves to be classed with the old English Cathedrals.

"THE LITTLE CARPENTER."

This graceful figure of childhood engaged in sportive imitation of a common handicraft, and suffering the slight penalty of a blundering stroke, is a statuette by Mr. E. B. Stephens, A.R.A., the sculptor of "The Deer-Slayer," lately erected as a public ornament at Exeter, which was the subject of an Illustration some weeks ago. "The Little Carpenter" will be remembered by visitors to the last Exhibition of the Royal Academy, and it was one of the most pleasing minor works of its class there presented to notice. A little boy, provided he be not dressed in knickerbockers, but in a shirt or tunic, or his natural and innocent nudity, is always a figure of classical beauty, as the Greeks knew very well; and the expressive vivacity of his attitudes, free from constraint or affectation, makes him an excellent subject for art. This urchin, it will be at once perceived, has unwarily bruised his left thumb with a careless blow of the hammer still grasped in his right hand. A skilful carpenter, we believe, does not find it necessary to support the nail with thumb and finger as it receives his well-aimed stroke; but sets it upright in the gimlet-hole, and sends it home with the utmost precision by a single effort, or else, if his strength be not sufficient for that, by the fewest repetitions of the same identical movement. The trick is one to be learnt by much practice, no doubt, and this child is a young beginner; he is a manly little fellow, who disdains to cry, and may be allowed to suck his thumb, in the present case, without reproach for indulging in a babyish habit.

THE CITY OF GLASGOW BANK.

The report of the auditors on the state of the affairs of the Glasgow City Bank was published in last Saturday's papers, and filled three columns of small type. The auditors state that at an early stage of their inquiry it became apparent that questions seriously affecting the course of management by the directors and managers of the bank were involved in the investigation, and they had felt it their duty, while soliciting from those gentlemen explanations as to certain particular items, to bring under their notice the serious nature of the questions referred to. In most instances the answers were that the explanations invited related to certain points which were as new and as startling to the parties interrogated as to themselves. The balance-sheet of Oct. 1, the date of the stoppage, shows liabilities amounting to £12,404,297, and the assets are £5,190,983 less than that sum, which, with a capital of £1,000,000, makes a total loss of £6,190,983.

The publication of this report was followed by the arrest of the directors, the manager, and the secretary, on a charge of fraud. The names of the persons arrested are:—John Stewart, merchant, Edinburgh; Robert Salmond, of Rankinston, Ayrshire; Henry Inglis, of Torsonce, Writer to the Signet, Edinburgh; John Innes Wright, merchant, Glasgow; Lewis Potter, shipowner and merchant, Glasgow, all directors; R. S. Stronach, director and manager; Charles S. Leresche, secretary to the company. Five of the directors were on Monday taken before the Glasgow stipendiary and charged with having on various occasions, between 1873 and 1878, fraudulently falsified the books of the bank. Two of the directors, resident in Edinburgh, were on Monday examined at the police court in that city, and were remitted to the Sheriff of Lanarkshire, and removed to Calton Gaol, previous to being taken to Glasgow. At the close of the Sheriff's examination on Wednesday morning the prisoners were remanded, nominally for eight days.

A meeting of the shareholders was held on Tuesday afternoon in the City Hall, Glasgow, at which it was resolved to wind up the affairs of the bank by voluntary liquidation. The action of the directors, manager, and secretary was denounced by the chief speakers.

A YEAR'S WRECKS.

For many years past we have issued regularly an analysis of the important annual Parliamentary paper, "The Wreck Register of the British Isles;" but this year the Board of Trade have published only an abstract, and that a very complicated tabular one, of the Wreck Register for the year between July 1, 1876, and June 30, 1877. Nevertheless, this document yields abundant useful information on a truly national subject, and, taken in conjunction with the numerous fearful calamities both on land and water, will make the records of disasters of the present year memorable.

We find from other Parliamentary returns that the number of British vessels which entered inwards and cleared outwards during the past year to and from ports of the United Kingdom was 581,099, representing a tonnage of 101,799,050. Of these ships, 224,669 were steamers, having a tonnage of 66,560,127.

In addition to these figures, about 60,000 foreign vessels entered inwards and cleared outwards during the same period to and from British ports, representing a tonnage of nearly 20,000,000.

These 641,099 ships, British and foreign, had probably on board, apart from passengers, 4,000,000 of men and boys.

We observe that in 1876-7 the number of wrecks, casualties, and collisions, from all causes, on and near the coasts of the United Kingdom, was 4164, which number exceeds that of the previous year by 407. 511 cases out of this large number involved total loss, 502 and 472 representing the same class of calamities for the two preceding years.

Again, if we deduct 511 from the yearly list of casualties (4164), the remainder will be found to be made up of 1120 serious casualties, and 2533 of minor class of sea accidents.

We regret to find that during the past twenty years (from 1857 to 1876-7) the number of shipwrecks on our coasts alone has averaged 1948 a year, representing in money value millions upon millions sterling.

In making this statement we lay aside entirely the thousands of precious lives, on which no money value could be placed, which were sacrificed on such disastrous occasions, and which would have been enormously increased in the absence of the determined and gallant services of the life-boats of the National Life-Boat Institution.

In the abstract of the Wreck Register it is stated that between 1861 and 1876-7 the number of ships, both British and foreign, which came to grief on our coasts, and which were attended with loss of life, was 2784, causing the loss of 13,098 persons. In 1876-7 loss of life took place in one out of every twenty-two shipwrecks on our coasts.

The number of ships reported is in excess of the casualties reported, because in cases of collision two or more ships are involved in one casualty. Thus 847 of the wrecks were collisions, and 3317 were wrecks and casualties other than collisions. Of these latter casualties, 446 were wrecks, &c., resulting in total loss, 902 were casualties resulting in serious damage, and 1969 were minor accidents.

It is to be observed that of the 3317 casualties (excluding collisions) 2824 are known to have happened to ships belonging to Great Britain and its dependencies, while 493 belonged to foreign countries.

The total number of English ships, excluding collision cases, which, according to the facts reported, appear to have foundered, or to have been otherwise totally lost on and near the coasts of the United Kingdom from defects in the ships or their equipments during the year 1876-7, is 20; while 54 happened through the errors, &c., of masters, officers, crews, or pilots; 180 through stress of weather; and 61 from other or unknown causes.

The number of casualties arising from the same causes during the same year, and resulting in serious damage, is as follows:—Through defects, 77; errors, 112, stress of weather, 367; other causes, 170; and the cases of minor damage were through defects, 106; errors, 190; stress of weather, 1258; and other causes, 229.

Amongst the losses on our coasts in 1876-7, excluding collisions, 442 were steam-ships and 2875 were sailing-vessels.

The localities of the wrecks, still excluding collisions, are thus given:—East coasts of England and Scotland, 1140; south coast, 630; west coast of England and Scotland, and coast of Ireland, 1259; north coast of Scotland, 129; and other parts, 159 Total, 3317.

The sites of these several terrible disasters are distinctly shown on the wreck charts, attached to the Wreck Register Abstract. On the charts the site of each one of the 269 life-boats belonging to the National Life-Boat Institution is also given.

The winds that have been most fatal to 1785 of the ships on and near the coasts of the United Kingdom during the year were as follows:—N. to E. inclusive, 287; E. by S. to S. inclusive, 630; S. by W. to W. inclusive, 541; and W. by N. to N. by W. inclusive, 327. Total, 1785.

We must say one word on the subject of casualties to our ships in our rivers and harbours, as the fearful calamity to the steamer Princess Alice last September in the Thames has directed afresh intense attention to them throughout the civilised world. We find from the Wreck Register abstract that the total number during the year 1876-7 was 984; of which seventeen were total losses, 245 were serious casualties, and 722 minor casualties.

With reference to the collisions on and near our coasts during the year 1876-7, forty-eight of the 847 collisions were between two steam-ships, both under way, irrespective of numerous other such cases in our harbours and rivers, the particulars of which are not given in the abstract. We cannot attach too much importance to these facts, for no disaster at sea or on a river is often more awful in its consequences than a collision, as has been too strikingly illustrated this year in the cases of the German ironclad Grosser Kurfürst and the Thames steamer Princess Alice.

As regards the loss of life, the wreck abstract shows that the number was 776 from the shipwrecks enumerated during 1876-7.

It is recorded that the greatest destruction of human life happened on the north and east coasts of England and Scotland.

This number (776) may appear to the casual observer a comparatively small one, by the side of the thousands who escaped disaster from the numerous shipwrecks above mentioned. We are, however, of opinion that it is a very large number; and when we bear in mind the inestimable value of human life, we are convinced that no effort should be left untried which can in any way lessen the loss of life from shipwreck on our coasts.

On the other hand, great and noble work was accomplished during the same period, 4795 lives having been saved from the various shipwrecks.

In bringing about that most important service, it is hardly necessary to say that the craft of the National Life-Boat Institution played a most important part, in conjunction with the Board of Trade's rocket apparatus, which is so efficiently worked by the coastguard and our volunteer brigades.

On reviewing the Wreck Register abstract of the past year, we are bound to take courage from the many gratifying facts it reveals in regard to saving life, which, after all, is our principal object in commenting on it.

Noble work has been done and is doing for that purpose; and is it not something, amidst all this havoc of the sea, to help to save even one life, with all its hopes, and to keep the otherwise desolate home unclouded?

To aid this merciful work we confidently appeal for support on behalf of the National Life-Boat Institution, whose noble life-saving fleet of 269 boats is ever ready to hasten to the succour of the shipwrecked sailor in his direst distress.

The National Life-Boat Institution has sent new life-boats to Fourdon, on the coast of Kincardineshire, and to Dartmouth, Devon. They are both self-righting life-boats, each being 33 feet long and rowing ten oars. The cost of the Fourdon boat has been defrayed from a legacy left to the institution by Mr. George Irlam; while that for Dartmouth has been presented by Mrs. Hargreaves, of Cleygate, in memory of her deceased daughter.

EMIGRATION.

The ship Northampton, 1161 tons, Captain Clare, chartered by the Agent-General for New South Wales, sailed from Plymouth for Sydney on the 17th inst. with 427 emigrants; and on the same day the ship Devon, 1147 tons, Captain Hicks, sailed from Gravesend with 424 emigrants for Brisbane.

Intelligence of the arrival at their destinations of the following vessels, which were dispatched by Sir Julius Vogel, Agent-General for New Zealand, early in July last, has been received:—The Rakaia, with 280 emigrants for Wellington; the Invercargill, with 336 for Otago; and the Waitangi, with 319 for Canterbury.

The Agent-General for New South Wales has been informed by telegram of the arrival in Sydney of the ship La Hogue, which sailed from Plymouth with emigrants in July last.

The emigration agents for the Government of Tasmania, 25, Queen Anne's-gate, Westminster, have received the following advice from the Board of Immigration at Hobart Town:—"We think it right to point out that the class of immigrants we chiefly want is farming men, who are prepared to face hardships at first, but who look hopefully forward to becoming freeholders, and their own masters after awhile. Skilled artisans in most trades can also generally obtain remunerative employment without having long to wait, and also men with means who can afford to live on their income for a time, till, having gained colonial experience, they may see their way to the profitable employment of their capital. Female domestic servants are also much in demand; but few of this class can be expected to have the means of paying their own passage-money. Should opportunity offer, the Board would not object to your sending out some of this latter class, under bounty tickets, of course charging them the regulated price of the ticket—viz., £5—provided that, upon inquiring, you were satisfied they were eligible emigrants, of good character, and in sound health."

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW NOVELS AT ALL LIBRARIES.

THE FIRST VIOLIN. In 3 vols.
POMEROY ABBEY. By Mrs. HENRY WOOD. 3 vols.
YOU PLAY ME FALSE. By FRANCES and MORTIMER COLLINS. 3 vols.
LOVE'S CROSSES. By the Author of "Clive Varcoe." 3 vols.
STRANGE WATERS. By R. E. FRANCILLON. 3 vols.
RICHARD BENTLEY and SON, New Burlington-street.

On Oct. 29 (One Shilling), No. 227,
THE CORNHILL MAGAZINE for NOVEMBER. With Illustrations by George du Maurier and Frank Dickee.
CONTENTS.
"For Percival" (with an Illustration). Chap. XLVIII.—Engagements—Hostile and Otherwise. XLIX.—How the Sun rose in Glamee, and set in the Valley of the Shadow of Death.
The Eighteenth Century.
The Undesirable in Art.
Kirks, Ministers, and Manses.
The Fear of Death.
Regnard.
Aberglaube.
Within the Precincts (with an Illustration). Chap. XXVIII.—The Captain's Wife. XXIX.—The Heavings of the Earthquake. XXX.—Lottie's Fate.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Price One Shilling, Illustrated,
THE GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE for NOVEMBER.
CONTENTS.
An Old Meerschaum. By D. Christie Murray. Illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.
The Migration of Animals. By Dr. Andrew Wilson.
Thomas Chatterton. By Richard Edgcumb.
Nation-Making—a Theory (of National Characters. By Grant Allen.
Mr. Crabtree. By Dutton Cook.
The Resurrection of Ashanti. By Frederick Boyle.
Balzac. By H. Barton Baker.
Table-Talk. By Sylvanus Urban.

Price One Shilling, Illustrated,
BELGRAVIA for NOVEMBER.
CONTENTS.
The Return of the Native. By Thomas Hardy. Illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.
The Sun in His Glory. By Richard A. Proctor.
Blanca. By W. E. Norris.
Tennis in Britain. By Robert B. Macgregor.
An Revoir. By Austin Dobson.
The Journal of Charles Collé. By C. Hervey.
Cavan Superstitions. By Letitia McClintock.
To His Own Destruction.
The Haunted Hotel: A Mystery of Modern Venice. By Wilkie Collins. Illustrated by Arthur Hopkins.
CHATTO and WINDUS, Piccadilly, W.

Now ready, price 7d.,
THE MAGAZINE OF ART for NOVEMBER, containing—
CHILDHOOD IN EASTERN LIFE. By J. B. Burgess, A.R.A. Frontispiece.
ARTISTS' HAUNTS—PORLOCK. With Five Illustrations by Percy Macquoid.
NATIONAL POLICY IN RELATION TO ART AS APPLIED MANUFACTURES. By George Wallis.
THE EXHIBITION OF PAINTINGS (BY LADY AMATEURS) ON CHINA. With Five Illustrations.
LACE. (The last Paper written by the late Mrs. Bury Palliser.) With Four Illustrations.
OUR LIVING ARTISTS—WILLIAM C. T. DOBSON, R.A. With Portrait and Illustration of "Ligeia."
ART METAL-WORK, MURAL DECORATIONS, STAINED-GLASS WINDOWS, CARPETS, at the PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION. With Descriptions also of the Indian and Colonial Courts. With Five Illustrations.
MODERN ART IN FLORENCE. With Three Illustrations.
SCULPTURE FROM THE PARIS EXHIBITION OF 1878—"Dr. Jenner inoculating his Son." By Professor Monteverde.
ART-NOTES FOR NOVEMBER.—The late Sir Francis Grant, P.R.A.—Pictures for Next Year's Academy—Local Art-Exhibitions—Statues Inaugurated—Home for Lady Artists in Rome—Bust of Lord Beaconsfield—Mr. Dawson's Paintings—Equestrian Statue of the Prince of Wales—Monument to Jan van Eyck—The Prince Regent's Art-Gift to the Royal Academy, &c.
NOTICES OF ART-BOOKS.
CASSELL, PETTER, and GALPIN, London; and all Booksellers.

DOLCE NAPOLI: NAPLES; Its Streets, People, Fêtes, Pilgrimages, Environs, &c. By W. STAMEL. Price 12s. 6d. "We can cordially recommend those who desire to know the inner life of almost the most charming city in the world to buy, read, and digest 'Dolce Napoli.'"—Academy.
CHARING-CROSS PUBLISHING Co. Naples: English Library.

POTTERY-PAINTING: a Handbook to the Practice. By JOHN C. L. SPARKES, Director of the Lambeth School of Art, &c. Second Edition. Post-free, 1s. 1d.
London: LECHERTIER, BARBE, and Co., 59, Regent-street, W. (Agents in England for LACROIX'S Ceramic Colours).

Crown 8vo, with Coloured Illustrations, Plans of Bulb Gardens and Wood Engravings, 3s. 6d., cloth (postage 4d.),
THE BULB GARDEN; or, How to Cultivate Bulbous and Tuberous-Rooted Flowering Plants to Perfection. A manual adapted for both the Professional and Amateur Gardener. By SAMUEL WOOD.
"An excellent manual, alike for the amateur and the professional grower."—Graphic.
CROSBY LOCKWOOD and Co., 7, Stationers' Hall-court, E.C.

CANCER AND TUMOURS, A Successful Mode of Treating Certain Forms of. By ALEX. MARSDEN, M.D., Senior Surgeon to the Cancer Hospital, London. Free 8s. 6d.—J. and A. CHURCHILL, New Burlington-street.

24th Edition, 8vo, cloth, pp. 1102, 16s.,
HOMŒOPATHIC DOMESTIC MEDICINE. By J. LAURIE, M.D. Completely rearranged and revised by R. E. Gutteridge, M.D. The most comprehensive Guide published for the use of families, emigrants, and missionaries, being free of all technicalities. The present edition contains, in addition to the symptoms and treatment of all general diseases, including those of Females and Children, many important new chapters, comprising, among others, the specific characteristic effects of all the new American remedies. Plain Directions for the treatment of Accidents, and Illustrations delineating the minor operations in surgery. Hydropathic Appliances, Affection of the Eyes (with a description of the Eyes and their Appendages, and Illustrations showing the various parts of the eye). Full directions are also given for the treatment of Diseases prevalent in Tropical Climates. A new and concise Dictionary of Medical Terms and Treatment, with leading indications of Treatment prefixed to the various chapters and divisions. An Epitome of the above, 20th Edition, price 5s.
A Case of Medicines adapted to the former Work, in tinctures or pilules, price £4 4s.; in globules, £3.
To the latter, tinctures or pilules, price £2 2s.; globules, £1 10s.
LEATH and ROSE, 5, St. Paul's-churchyard; and 9, Vere-street, W.

Just published, post-free, two stamps,
DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION. A small Pamphlet on these distressing complaints and their complete cure.
Published by the Author, HERBERT KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

ZADKIEL'S ALMANAC for 1879, now ready.—Year of Troubles—Voice of the Stars—Weather Predictions, Hieroglyphic, &c. Zadkiel foretold War in Turkey. Yellow fever in America. Troubles in India, &c. Circulation over 100,000. Price 6d.
London: COUSINS and Co., 3, York-street, Covent-garden, W.C.

NOW READY.
THE ILLUSTRATED PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, London News of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (172), Strand; and H. Williams, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

SEELEY and CO.'S NEW BOOKS.
THE RECTOR'S HOME. A Tale. By AGNES GIBERNE. Cloth, 5s.
JOB SINGLETON'S HEIR, AND OTHER STORIES. By Mrs. MARSHALL. Cloth, 5s.
LOOKING BACK. A Memory of Two Lives. By MARY E. SHIPLEY. Cloth, 5s.
PARROTS AND MONKEYS. Facts and Anecdotes. By the Author of "The Knights of the Frozen Sea." With Twenty-five Illustrations. Cloth, 5s.
SEELEY and Co., 54, Fleet-street, London.

Ready on the 30th inst., No. 14, 32 pp., for NOVEMBER.
MUSICAL OPINION AND MUSIC TRADE REVIEW: The Musical Literature of the Month and Journal for the Music Trade.
PITMAN, Paternoster-row; and all Book and Music Sellers.

THE LADIES' TREASURY: A Household Magazine of Literature, Education, and Fashion. 6d. Monthly; by post, 7½d.
"We have never seen a better number of the 'Treasury.' The literary contents are quite equal to any magazines of the same price, and the coloured fashion-plate certainly shows the most charming dresses pictured this month."—Derby Mercury.
London: BEMROSE and SONS, 10, Paternoster-buildings.

Price 6d.; post-free, 7½d.,
FAMILY HERALD for NOVEMBER. Part 426.
The "Saturday Review" says of the "Family Herald":—"Its novels and tales are quite as well written as the best circulating-library stories."

FAMILY HERALD for NOVEMBER. Part 426.
The "Bookseller" says:—"For amusing reading, such as may be admitted to one's household without fear of consequences, we can recommend the 'Family Herald.'"
W. STEVENS, 421, Strand, London: and at all Newsvendors'.

THE LINCOLN STAMP ALBUM, printed on superior paper, the favourite oblong shape, bound in cloth, gilt and gilt clasp. 8s. 6d.; post-free, 9s. 6d.
W. LINCOLN, Stampdealer, 259, High Holborn, London.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

SCRAPS for SCREENS and SCRAP-BOOKS. Coloured Flowers, Figures, Birds, and Landscapes, from 1s. sheet; 12 assorted, 10s. 6d.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Books, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced List post-free.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Offices, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

FOR FAMILY ARMS (Lincoln's-Inn Heraldic Office), send Name and County, Sketch, 3s. 6d., or stamps. Arms Painted and Engraved on Seals. Book-Plates, Dies, &c.—PUGH BROS., Great Turnstile, Lincoln's-Inn.

PARIS EXHIBITION, 1878.—PRIZE MEDAL awarded to PUGH BROTHERS for HERALDIC PAINTING and Seal Engraving. Illuminated Addresses, Book-Plates, &c. — Lincoln's-Inn Heraldic Office, Great Turnstile, London.

TWELVE COPIES of CARTE DE VISITE, beautiful miniatures, suitable for lockets, &c., sent for 1s. 1d., or carte de visite size, six for 1s. 6d: twelve for 2s. 6d. Enlarged to cabinet size, one copy, 2s., or four for 3s. Original returned, and all perfect.—OLIVE LEE, 57, Oxford-street, W.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY MACHINERY.
JENNER and KNEWSTUB, HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb specimens of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DIESINKING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate price; also, to their new mode of Stamping in Colours (by machinery) without charge, in quantities of not less than two reams and 1000 envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large consumers generally, all immense saving in time and expense. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

P. J. SMITH AND SONS'
IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS.
"The best and most substantial instrument produced."
9, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Ludgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, 5s. to £120. Snuffboxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES.
In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADIES' GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

THE BEST ENGLISH WATCHES.
The GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited) request the attention of purchasers to their stock of LONDON-MADE PATENT LEVER WATCHES, which, being manufactured by themselves on the premises, are confidently recommended for accuracy and durability.
Prices of Silver Watches.

Patent Lever Watch, jewelled, enamel dial, and seconds	£4 14 6
Ditto, jewelled in four holes and capped	6 6 0
Ditto, the finest quality, jewelled in six holes	8 8 0

Silver Watches in hunting cases, 10s. 6d. extra.
Gold Watches.—Size for Ladies.

Patent Lever Watches, with gold dial, jewelled	11 11 0
Ditto, with richly engraved case	12 12 0
Ditto, with very strong case, and jewelled in four holes	14 14 0

Gold Watches.—Size for Gentlemen.

Patent Lever Watches, jewelled, seconds, and capped	13 13 0
Ditto, jewelled in six holes, and gold balance	18 18 0

Gold Watches in hunting cases, £3 3s. extra.
Lists of Prices, with remarks on watches, gratis and post-free.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK.
A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION,
by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinions of Press.
Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PRINTER.
The People's Printing Press, for Authors, Amateurs, the Army and Navy, &c. Prospectuses forwarded on application to
D. G. BELHILL, 39, High Holborn, London, W.C.

USEFUL WEDDING PRESENTS.
SLACK'S SILVER ELECTRO-PLATE is in appearance and wear equal to Sterling Silver. Made in a variety of articles suitable for Presents. Fish Carvers, in case, 10s. 6d. to 50s.; Dessert Knives and Forks, in case, 42s. to 120s.; Sets of Spoons and Forks (3 dozen each), 168s.; Sets of Cutlery, 75s.; Cruet Frames, 18s. 6d. to 100s.; Biscuit Boxes, 9s. 6d. to 80s. Orders over £2 carriage-free. Catalogues gratis.
RICHARD and JOHN SLACK, 336, Strand, W.C.

DEANE and CO.'S TABLE CUTLERY, celebrated for more than 150 years, remains unrivalled for quality and cheapness. The stock, extensive and complete, affords a choice suited to every purchaser.

Ivory Handles.	s.d.	s.d.	s.d.	s.d.	s.d.	s.d.
Table Knives, per dozen	16 0	19 0	25 0	32 0	35 0	40 0
Dessert, ditto	14 0	16 0	19 0	21 0	27 0	30 0	34 0
Carvers, per pair	6 0	6 6	7 0	8 0	9 0	10 0	13 0

DEANE'S FENDERS and FIREIRONS.
Deane and Co.'s Show-Rooms for the display of these goods contain a large, cheap, and choice variety of patterns.

Tile-Hearth Fenders	£1 16	£2 2	£2 17	£4 17	£6 0
Fenders, Drawing-room	2 5	3 3	6 6	11 11	15 0
Fireirons	1 5	1 15	2 2	4 10	5 10
Fenders, Dining-room	1 17	1 4	1 10	2 5	4 4
Fireirons	0 10	0 15	1 1	1 10	2 5

Bed-room Fenders, from 3s. to 18s. Fireirons, from 2s. to 12s.
Deane and Co.'s Catalogue, with Furnishing Estimates, post-free.
Deane and Co., 46, King William-street, London Bridge, E.C.

HEAL and SON
HAVE ON SHOW
THE LARGEST STOCK OF
BED-ROOM FURNITURE
IN LONDON.
FORTY SUITES are set apart in separate rooms, and the general stock occupies six galleries and two ground floors, each 130 feet long.
150 Bedsteads, fitted with every description of bedding, are ready fixed for inspection.
AN ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE,
CONTAINING 450 DESIGNS OF BEDSTEADS AND BED-ROOM FURNITURE, AND PRICE-LIST OF BEDDING, SENT FREE BY POST.
195 to 198, TOTTENHAM COURT-ROAD, LONDON.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 58 to 63, Oxford-street;
1 to 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

RICH SILK and other COSTUMES.
A grand display of rich Silk, Broche Velvet, and Silken Fabric Costumes for the Autumn, forming such a collection of recherché Novelties as is rarely seen out of Paris, at most moderate prices.
A large variety of novel Costumes of Fashionable New Fabrics in Serges, Lichen Cloths, Cyprus Cloths, Camel's Hair, &c., 2, 3, and 4 guineas each.

MANTLES, ULSTERS, and SEALSKINS.
A large importation of the Latest Novelties.
The Sedan Beaver Paletot, 1 and 2 guineas, handsomely trimmed.
New Travelling Ulsters, all wool, in 27 shades, at 1 guinea, unequalled.
Fine Sealskin Paletots, 36 in. in length, 9½ guineas each. Smaller sizes in proportion.
Fur-lined Mantles and Paletots, 31s. 6d. to 5 guineas.

DRESS MATERIALS in all the Newest Textures. New Lichen Cloth, 11½d. per yard. Camel's-Hair Cloth, 1s. 6d. Tartans, Rampoor Cloth, and the new Broché Cashmeres, so much used in combination, 2s. 6d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
Fine French Cashmeres, in new shades, 1s. 11d., 2s. 7½d., and 2s. 11d. per yard, double width.

MOURNING GOODS
of every description at most moderate prices.
Black Serge Costumes, all wool, 2 guineas. Black and White Broché Costumes, 1 guinea. Handsome Costumes, trimmed with patent unspotting crape, for all grades of mourning, 3½ to 6 guineas. The Dressmaking Department is under new and superior management. A successful fit and the best style may be relied upon, at moderate charges.
Patterns and Samples of all goods free.

SILKS.—SPECIAL NOTICE.
We are now offering 40,000 yards of Black and Coloured Silks, in all the new shades, at fully 15 to 20 per cent under last year's prices—2s. 11d. to 6s. 11d. per yard.
An Inspection is solicited.
Patterns to the country free.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited), 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-street, London.
CARRIAGE ENTRANCE, 5, Wells-street.

HENRY GLAVE'S
GIGANTIC SHOW OF DRESS FABRICS,
for the Fall and Winter of 1878.
The Real Rough-and-Ready Serge, 28 in. wide, 10½d. a yard, very suitable for wear in costumes and winter wear.
Winter Cashmeres, 36 in. wide, 9½d.
Longins Brilliantines, new autumn shades, 8½d.
Twill Poule in all leading colours, at 10½d.
French Merinos, 44 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.
Small fancy designs for mixing with plain textures.
The Leopard Mixture, at 8½d.; the Camel Mixture, at 10½d.; the Costume Mixture, at 1s. 3½d.; the Afghan Silk Mixture, at 1s. 9½d.; the All-Wool Silk Mixture, at 2s. 11½d.
Heather Mixtures for Autumn, 1s. 6½d.
Ottawa Beiges, 16 in. wide, 1s. 9½d.
Fancy scotch cloths, as now worn in Paris, 1s. 3½d.
Serge Nègligé, a light warm wool material in seven new fashionable mixtures, 2s. in. wide, 1s. 10½d.
Indian Cashmeres, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.; English Cashmeres, 1s. 3½d. and 1s. 6½d. a yard.
The Estamene Serge, several Colours, 1s. 6½d. and 1s. 9½d.
Cashmere Estamene, 24 in. wide, 9½d.
French Beige Foulé, 36 in. wide, 1s. 4½d.
The Scarborough Twill, New Autumn Colours, 10½d.
Scotch Cashmere Estamene, 1s. 4½d. and 1s. 9½d.
An endless variety of New Fabrics, 40 in. wide at 1s. 11½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6½d., and 4s. 11d. a yard.
Patterns of all kinds post-free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
SILKS, SATINS, VELVETS, AND VELVETEENS.
Black Silks, rich bro ie mains, 2s. 11½d.; late 3s. 6½d.
Black Silks, a new make, wear guaranteed. "The Empress," not weighted with dye, but made of all pure silk, price 3s. 10½d. a yard.
Black Silks, several thousand yards, from the best Lyons firms, from 3s. 6½d. to 15s. a yard.
Oxonian Velveteens, are blue blacks, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d.
The Louis Velveteen is yet the fashionable Oriental blue black, and made various qualities.
7000 yards Rich Coloured Velveteens, 50 different shades, 36in. wide, 9½d. a yard.
Silk Costume Velvet, in Black, 27 in. wide, only 6s. 11d. the yard. Patterns free.
Black Satins, a specially cheap lot, at 2s. 6½d.; Coloured Satins, in every possible shade, 1s. 11½d. to 4s. 11d. a yard. Patterns free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
33 in. long, 9½ guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
36 in. long, 12 guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
40 in. long, 14 guineas.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS,
45 in. long, 16 guineas.

WAYRE'S RUSSIAN SABLE TAIL SETS, 20 guineas. Real Marten Tail, 8 guineas. Skunk, 4 guineas. Length of fronts, 36 in.; depth of flounce, 9 in. to 11 in.

WAYRE'S SEAL PALETOTS can be sent on approval to any part of the kingdom by forwarding a reference, and the measurements across back, across chest, round waist, and length of paletot, to
WAYRE, SEAL PALETOT MANUFACTURER, 96, Oxford-street, and 322, Oxford-street (corner of Regent-circus).
Established Half a Century.

REAL SEAL PALETOTS,
FROM 5 Guineas to 50 Guineas,
BEAUTIFULLY EXECUTED.
PHOTOGRAPHS OF ABOVE,
POST-FREE.
D. NICHOLSON and CO., 50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

RICH PARIS AND BERLIN CLOAKS.
LATEST NOVELTIES,
FROM 1 Guinea to 20 Guineas.
BEAUTIFULLY EXECUTED.
PHOTOGRAPHS OF ABOVE,
POST-FREE.
D. NICHOLSON and CO., 50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S, LONDON.

PARIS EXPOSITION COSTUMES.
D. NICHOLSON and CO. beg to announce the Return of their Buyers from Paris, and that on MONDAY NEXT and Following Days they will make a Grand Display of Elegant COSTUMES, including several facsimile Copies of those shown in the Paris Exhibition.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50 to 53, St. Paul's-churchyard, London.

SILKS! DRESSES! VELVETEENS!
D. NICHOLSON and CO.'S NEW AUTUMN PATTERN-BOOK of COLOURED SILKS, containing 400 Varieties of the best Lyons Manufacture, in the following Lots, may now be had post-free.

	s. d.		£ s. d.
LOT 1. Lyons Gros Grain	2 11½ per yd.; or 16 yds.		2 7 0
LOT 2. Rich "	3 3½ "	"	2 12 6
LOT 3. " Drap de France	3 11½ "	"	3 3 0
LOT 4. " Lyons Gros Grain	4 6½ "	"	3 12 6
LOT 5. " "	4 11½ "	"	3 18 6
LOT 6. " Poult de Soie	5 11 "	"	4 14 6
LOT 7. Extra Rich Faill	6 11 "	"	5 10 0

D. NICHOLSON and CO.,
50, 51, 52, and 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

NEW AUTUMN and WINTER DRESS MATERIALS.
All the latest Novelties in French Cashmeres and Merinoes, Velour Cloths, Estamene and Lorne Serges, Diagonal Serges, Cashmerettes, Wool Plaids, Fancy Bouretles, and every other fashionable material suitable for the present and coming season.
Patterns post-free.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50, 51, 52, and 53, St. Paul's-churchyard.

ROUGH-AND-READY SERGES, a Speciality at BAKER and CRISP'S, 1s. 9½d.
Patterns free.

KNOCK-ABOUT CYPRUS CLOTHS, 1s. 6½d.
Patterns free.
BAKER and CRISP'S, 198, Regent-street.

MOLESKIN VELVETEENS, only at BAKER and CRISP'S.
Black, from 1s. 9½d. Colours, 2s. 11d. and 3s. 6d.

BLACK SATINS, 2s. 6d.; Coloured, 3s. 6d.
SILKS,
all kinds, BAKER and CRISP'S,
1s. 11½d.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERS, 8s. 11d. to 35s.
Marvellous value. Sent for P.O.O.
198, Regent-street.

SPECIALITY for WIDOWS' MILLINERY.
A large and varied assortment of Widows' Caps, &c., for First and Second Mourning, of the most superior quality and styles, on view at Mrs. Creaton's show-Rooms, an inspection of which is solicited.
Mrs. CREATON, 294, Regent-street, W.

SHIRTS. — FORD'S EUREKA. — "The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 30s., 40s., 45s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S
AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 6, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 93 and 95, City-road, E.C. London; Pinaud and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

JOHN GOSNELL and CO.'S VIOLET and MILLEFLEUR POWDER, for the Toilet and Nursery, Universally admired for its purity and fragrance. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale, 93, Upper Thames-street.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR.
If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d.
Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath.
Is the best Liquid Dentifrice in the World; it thoroughly cleanses partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful Fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Florilline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed everywhere.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10½d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Porteus-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable. 2s. 6d. to 5s. per bottle. Breidenbach's MACASSARINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 1s., 2s. 6d., 5s. per Bottle.
Of all Chemists and the Makers, 157a, New Bond-street, W.

NOSE MACHINE.—A contrivance applied to the nose for an hour daily, so directs the soft cartilage of the nose that an ill-formed one is quickly shaped. 10s. 6d. Sent free for stamps.—ALEX. ROSS, 248, High Holborn, London

LADIES' ELASTIC SUPPORTING BANDS for use before and after Accouchement.
Instructions for measurement and prices on application to POPE and PLANTE, 4, Waterloo-place, Pall-mall, London.

ABUSE OF SPIRITS.—DISEASES of the STOMACH treated by his original method of thirty-one years' experience.
HEYMANN, M.D. BERLIN, S.W.
Fees, including remedies, One Guinea.

MALVERN COLLEGE.
The NEXT TERM will begin on MONDAY, JAN. 27.

CYPRUS.—THE IMPERIAL OTTOMAN BANK is prepared, through its LONDON and PARIS AGENCIES, to grant CREDITS, to receive and REMIT MONEY, and to act generally as Bankers in connection with Cyprus, where it has for many years past had a branch establishment.

London Agency,	Paris Agency,
26, Throgmorton-street, E.C.	7, Rue Meyerbeer.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.
P. and O. DUCAL LINE.—Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., No. 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; or to M'Diarmid, Greenshields, and Co., or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

STEAM-BOAT ACCIDENTS, Railway Accidents. Accidents of all kinds insured against by the RAILWAY PASSENGERS ASSURANCE COMPANY.
The Oldest and Largest Accidental Insurance Company.
The Right Hon. Lord KINNAIRD, Chairman.
£1,230,000 have been paid as compensation.
No. 64, Cornhill, London. WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 102, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of successful cases forwarded for twelve stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily, Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

RUPTURES.
WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS CO., LIMITED.
WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS is allowed by upwards of 500 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of Hernia. The use of a steel spring, so often hurtful in its effects, is here avoided, a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER, fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep.
A Descriptive Circular may be had of the Manufactures, 228, Piccadilly, London.
Single Truss, 16s., 21s., 26s. 6d., and 31s. 6d.; post-free. Double Truss, 31s. 6d., 42s., and 52s. 6d.; post-free. Umbilical Truss, 42s., and 52s. 6d.; post-free. P.O. Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post Office, Piccadilly.

ELASTIC STOCKING, KNEE-CAPS, &c., for VARICOSE VEINS, &c. Price 4s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 10s., and 16s. each; post-free.

CHEST EXPANDING BRACES (for both sexes). For Gentlemen they act as a substitute for the ordinary braces. For children they are invaluable.
Prices, 5s. 6d. and 7s. 6d.; 10s. 6d., 14s. 6d., and 21s.; post-free.
JOHN WHITE and CO., Manufacturers,
228, PICCADILLY, LONDON.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. F. Pratt, surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

TAMAR INDIEN.—Owing to the marked success of this fruit-lozenge—so agreeable to take and universally prescribed by the Faculty for Constipation, &c.—Base Imitations are being foisted on the public. The genuine preparations bear the title "Tamar Indica." Price 2s. 9d. per Box.
E. GRILLON, Wool Exchange, E.C.; and all Chemists.

COLDS CURED BY
DR. DUNBAR'S ALKARAM, or Anti-Catarrh Smelling-Bottle.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
IF inhaled on the first symptoms, ALKARAM will at once arrest them, and cure severe cases in half an hour. Sold by all Chemists, 2s. 9d. A Bottle. Address, Dr. Dunbar, care of Messrs. F. Newbery and Sons, 37, Newgate-street.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The best remedy for acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The safest and most gentle Aperient for delicate constitutions, Ladies, Children, and Infants.
OF ALL CHEMISTS.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT.
The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. They are invaluable in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FALLING SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been discovered for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is desirous that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery; it is never known to fail, and will cure the most inveterate case after all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be sent by post to any person free of charge.—Address:—Mr. WILLIAMS, 10, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

INVALUABLE TO ALL WHO SUFFER from BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Dizziness of the Eyes, Habitual Costiveness, &c. Dr. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS (without mercury) are invaluable. Mild in their operation, they create appetite, and strengthen the whole nervous system. Sold by W. LAMBERT, 1a, Vere-street, London, W., and all Druggists, in Boxes, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. The Genuine are in a Square Green Packet.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet:"—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Press:"—"Laxora Lozenges can be safely recommended."
C. B. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s. 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 52, Southwark-street.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. "All our customers for Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it."—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

HOOPING-COUGH.—ROCHE'S HERBAL EMBROCATION.—The celebrated Effectual Cure without internal medicine. Sole Wholesale Agents, EDWARDS and SON, 157, Queen Victoria-street (late of 38, Old Change), London. Sold retail by most Chemists. Price 4s. per Bottle.

THROAT AFFECTIONS and HOARSENESS.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges are now sold by most respectable Chemists in this country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box. People troubled with a hacking cough, a slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections.—Depôt, 493, Oxford-street, London.

NEW MUSIC.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER OF
CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE
(No. 119)
Contains the following popular Dance Music:—

Distant Shore Waltz	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.
Au Revoir Waltz	..	..	Emile Waldteufel.
Sylvia Waltz	..	..	Fred. Godfrey.
Cleopatra Galop	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.
Saucy Kate Galop	..	..	A. C. Crowe.
Tout à Fait Polka	..	..	Henri Louis.
Sweetheart Lancers	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.

Trial by Jury Quadrilles .. .. .. Sullivan's Song
And a New Set of Lancers, entitled
THE CONGRESS,
Composed expressly for this Work, by
CHAS. D'ALBERT.
Price 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.

CYPRUS POLKA	..	..	2s. 0d. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALOP	..	..	2s. 0d. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	..	..	2s. 0d. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	..		2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	..	..	2s. 0d. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	..	..	2s. 0d. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	..	..	1s. 6d. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	..	..	2s. 0d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	..	..	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	..	..	2s. 0d. net

N.B.—A Complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS OF
CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE.
No. 118.—POPULAR MARCHES

Marche Romaine	..	..	Ch. Gounod.

And twelve other Popular Marches by Handel, Mozart, Gluck, &c. 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.

No. 117.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 3.)

Song (Tenor)	..	Silly Mavourneen	.. Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Contralto)	..	The lonely Harp	.. Miss Covell.
Song (Soprano)	..	I'm alone	.. Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Baritone)	..	I never can forget	.. A. Mellon.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)		O ye voices gone	.. Zeta.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)		Two wandering Stars	.. B. Richards.
Pianoforte	..	Soldier's Prayer	.. A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	..	Siren's Song	.. A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	..	Blue Bells of Scotland	.. B. Richards.
Dance Music	..	West End Polka	.. Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	..	Little Nell Waltz	.. Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	..	Lord of Lorne Lancers	.. Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	..	Express Galop	.. Charles D'Albert.

No. 116.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)

Song (Baritone)	..	The Bell Ringer	.. W. Vincent Wallace.
Song (Soprano)	..	Tender and True	.. Arthur Sullivan.
Song (Contralto)	..	To Thee	.. Alberto Randegger.
Song (Tenor)	..	Oh! whisper what thou feelest	.. B. Richards.
Vocal Duet (Sop. and Con.)		When Birds are singing	.. H. Smart.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)		Two Merry Gipsies	.. G. A. Macfarren.
Pianoforte	..	The Soldier's Chorus	.. B. Richards.
Pianoforte	..	Air by Louis XIII.	.. Henri Ghys.
Pianoforte	..	A Ray of Sunshine	.. Carl Lotze.
Pianoforte	..	Dew Drop Waltz	.. Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	..	The Sultan's Polka	.. Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	..	Polo Lancers	.. Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	..	The Mabel Galop	.. Dan Godfrey.

No. 115.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)

Song (Contralto)	..	Juanita	.. Mrs. Norton.
Song (Soprano)	..	The Maiden's Story	.. A. Sullivan.
Song (Baritone)	..	The Stirrup Cup	.. Luigi Arditi.
Song (Tenor)	..	There's Sunlight in Heaven	.. M. Balfe.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)		Wind and the Harp	.. S. Glover.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)		Ave Sanctissima	.. Mrs. Hemans.
Pianoforte	..	Home, Sweet Home	.. B. Richards.
Pianoforte	..	The Silver Trumpets	.. F. Viviani.
Pianoforte	..	Prière d'une Vierge	.. T. Badarzewska.
Dance Music	..	The Rink Galop	.. Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	..	The Hilda Waltz	.. Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	..	Palermo Quadrilles	.. Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	..	King Pippin's Polka	.. Charles D'Albert.

ONE SHILLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.).
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS,
COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS,
Manufactured by
CLOUGH and WARREN,
DETROIT, U.S.A.
The immense advantages these instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory.
A large variety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas.
Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S "FAVOURITE ORGAN."
Compass, Five Octaves.
Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 74 octaves each, Knee-Swell.
Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case.
Price 25 guineas.
Illustrated Price-List free by post.
Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES.
TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON.
Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.
Pianinos from 18 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 50 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at 50, New Bond-street, may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View by the following eminent Makers:—

BROADWOOD.	ERARD.
COLLARD.	CHAPPELL.
LIPP.	ROSENKRANZ.

CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM.
Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View.
From 3 guineas to 100 guineas.
At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five octaves sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals. 28 guineas, or £2 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON GRAND, 80 gs., or £8 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON 110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.
NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW MUSIC.

BOOSEY and CO.'S NEW LIST.

This day, price 10s. 6d., cloth,
SPOHR'S VIOLIN SCHOOL. Edited by HENRY HOLMES. Complete, with numerous Explanatory Notes by the Editor.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 2s. 6d. each Book, paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges,
SCHUBERT'S 60 SONGS. (This day.)

Rubinstein's 50 Songs.	Mendelssohn's 80 Songs.
Schumann's 75 Songs.	Beethoven's 76 Songs.

All with German and English Words. The Royal Editions.

THE SONGS OF SCOTLAND. New and Enlarged Edition. This day. Containing 190 Songs, with new Introduction on Scotch Music by Dr. CHARLES MACKAY. Price 2s. 6d. paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges. Illustrated Edition (Imperial), with Engravings by the most eminent Artists, price 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s., cloth, gilt edges,
THE SONGS OF IRELAND. A New and Enlarged Edition, containing 78 of Moore's Irish Melodies (all the best) and 30 of the Popular Songs of Ireland, with New Symphonies and Accompaniments. By J. L. HATTON.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth boards,
CALLCOTT'S HANDEL ALBUM. One Hundred of the best Airs by Handel. Arranged for the Pianoforte by W. H. CALLCOTT. With Memoir and Three Illustrations.

BOOSEYS' Half-Guinea BEETHOVEN. The Thirty-two SONATAS, from engraved plates (nearly full music size), handsomely bound, gilt edges. 10s. 6d. Edited by W. DORRELL.

Price 2s. 6d. each, paper; 5s., cloth, gilt edges,
ROYAL EDITION OF ENGLISH OPERAS.

THE MOUNTAIN SYLPH.	SATANELLA.
THE BOHEMIAN GIRL.	SIEGE OF ROCHELLE.
LILY OF KILLARNEY.

New and much Enlarged Edition. Price 12s. 6d.,
LOGIER'S SYSTEM OF THE SCIENCE OF MUSIC. "As a guide to the teacher or for private study we know of no better work."—Musical Standard. Also,
DR. CALLCOTT'S GRAMMAR OF MUSIC.
Edited by PITTMAN. 1s.

SINGING METHODS.—NAVA'S BARITONE METHOD. Edited by his pupil, SANTLEY. 10s. 6d. PANSERON'S METHOD for Mezzo-Soprano, 2s. 6d. PANSERON'S METHOD for Mezzo-Soprano, 2s. 10s. 6d. PANSERON'S METHOD (complete), 1s. MADAME VACCAJ'S celebrated METHOD (complete), 1s. MADAME SAINTON-DOLBY'S METHOD for ENGLISH SINGERS, 12s. 6d.

With Fifteen Illustrations, 2s. 6d.; paper covers, 5s., cloth,
LILLIE'S FIRST MUSIC-BOOK. The best Tune-Instant for Beginners. 33rd Thousand. Also, LILLIE'S SONG-BOOK. Fifty Songs, Illustrated in Colours, price 1s.

THE CHORAL UNION. 40 Part-Songs, in Four Books (Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, and Bass), price 6d. each. Dr. SPARK'S HANDY-BOOK of CHORAL SINGING, including 156 Exercises and Part-Songs. Price 1s. 6d. THE CHORALIST, 226 Nos., 1d. each. New Number, "The Hop-Pickers," by Elizabeth Philip, post-free, 1d.

BOOSEYS' MARCH ALBUM (35 celebrated Marches), 1s. Robert Schumann's Albumblätter (complete), 1s. Rubinstein's First Album (7 pieces), 1s. Brahms' Album (including 16 Waltzes), 1s. Beethoven's Waltz Album (45 Waltzes), 1s.

BOOSEYS' SHILLING ORATORIOS, MASSES, and CANTATAS.

HYMN OF PRAISE.	BACH'S PASSION (Matt.) 1s. 6d.
HAYDN'S IMPERIAL MASS.	MOUNT OF OLIVES.
GOUNOD'S ST. CECILE.	WALPURGIS NIGHT.
MOZART'S TWELFTH MASS.	BEETHOVEN'S MASS IN C.
ROSSINI'S STABAT MATER.	ACIS AND GALATEA.
JUDAS MACCABÆUS.	MOZART'S REQUIEM.
MESSIAH.	DETTINGEN TE DEUM.
THE CREATION.	ISRAEL IN EGYPT.

Also
Boosey's Handy Editions of "The Messiah" and "The Creation." Price 1s. each.

BOOSEYS' SHILLING ORGAN BOOKS.
BEST AND FIRST ORGAN BOOK.
HENRY SMART'S 50 PRELUDES AND INTERLUDES.
JOHNSON'S CONCLUDING VOLUNTARIES.
BATISTE'S 47 PRELUDES, INTERLUDES, &c.
HATTON'S SMALL ORGAN BOOK.
HILLES'S SHORT VOLUNTARIES (WITHOUT PEDALS).
WELY'S OFFERTORIES.
ANDRE AND HESSE'S VOLUNTARIES.

BOOSEY and CO.'S SONGS by POPULAR COMPOSERS, 2s. each net.—295, Regent-street.

SONGS by HAMILTON AIDÉ.

Remember or Forget.	The Fisher.
Spanish Boat-Song.	Maid I Love is Six Years Old.
Let me Dream of Happy Days.	Brown Eyes, or Blue Eyes.

SONGS by ALFRED SCOTT GATTY.

Rothsay Bay.	One Morning, oh, so early.
Old Sweet Story.	The Departure.
Golden Shore.	Apart.

SONGS by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

The Lost Chord.	Let me Dream again.
Once Again.	Sleep, my Love, sleep.
Golden Days.	Looking Back.

SONGS by F. H. COWEN.

At Last.	The Better Land.
It was a Dream.	Old Love and the New.
Spinning.	Marguerite.

SONGS by DOLORES.

Destiny.	The Fairies.
Clear and Cool.	The Land of Long Ago.

SONGS by J. L. MOLLOY.

Dresden China.	Clochette.
Thady O'Flinn.	The Vagabond.
My love has gone a-sailing.	Polly.

SONGS by STEPHEN ADAMS.

Nancy Lee.	The Blue Alsatian Mountains.
True Hearts.	The Tar's Farewell.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street, W.

BOOSEY & CO.'S PIANOFORTE-ROOMS. GRAND and UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES, by all the great makers, both English and Foreign, for SALE or HIRE, subject to the largest discount obtainable in London. Pianofortes, from £21. Short Grands, from £50. Sole Address, 295, REGENT-STREET.

BOOSEY and CO.'S Short Iron Grand PIANOFORTES, 60, 70, 80, and 85 guineas each, subject to a liberal discount for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, from £2 10s. per quarter. Special Instruments for India. Illustrated Price-Lists free.
Sole Address, 295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

SECONDHAND PIANOS.—BOOSEY and CO. have a large Stock of Instruments by all the great Makers, which they offer, according to their custom on the close of the season, at greatly reduced prices. The majority of these Pianos have been hired for one season only, and are as good as new.—295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

BOOSEY and CO.'S BRASS INSTRUMENTS FOR AMATEURS.
THE DISTIN CORNET, from £3 10s.
THE DISTIN CELEBRATED LIGHT VALVE CORNETS, 7 and 9 gs., are the best Cornets manufactured.
THE DISTIN MINIATURE CORNET-A-PISTONS, 9 gs.
THE DISTIN BALLAD HORN in C, 9 gs.
THE DISTIN DRAG AND POST HORNS AND BAND INSTRUMENTS at all prices.
THE DISTIN MONTHLY BRASS BAND JOURNAL, 10s. 6d. per annum.
Illustrated Price-Lists upon application to BOOSEY and CO., Manufacturers of Military Band Instruments of every description, 295, Regent-street, London. Manufactory, Stanhope-place, Hyde Park.

NEW MUSIC.

MASON and HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.
New models in handsomely carved walnut cases, black and gold, veneered and panelled—

Six stops and knee swell	..	..	20 guineas.
Nine stops and knee swell	..	..	28 guineas.

Thirteen stops, octave coupler, and sub-bass 34 guineas.
The superiority of these organs has been testified to by the most eminent musicians, they have also received the first medals at the principal exhibitions. Every Instrument offered for sale is warranted.
Complete Catalogue for Cash, or on the Three-Years' System of hire and purchase.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON and HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.
SECONDHAND ORGANS.—A large number of these celebrated Instruments, lately returned from hire, at greatly reduced prices, for Cash or on the Three-Years' System of Hire and Purchase. Lists post-free.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

THE NEW OPERA.
CARMEN. By GEORGES BIZET.
Vocal score, French Words, 15s. net.
The separate songs, &c., may be had with either Italian or French Words.
Pianoforte score arranged by the Composer.
Price 8s. net.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN. Fantasie Brillante for Piano-forte, by J. LEYBACH, on this popular Opera. Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN. Bouquet de Melodies pour Piano. Par RENAUD DE VILBAC. In Two Books. Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN QUADRILLE. ARBAN. 4s.
CARMEN VALSE. STRAUSS. 4s.
CARMENCITA POLKA. DERAUSART. 3s. 6d.
With Portrait of Mdlle. Minnie Hauk.
Each half price and post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. "PINAFORE." New Opera by W. S. GILBERT and ARTHUR SULLIVAN. Played nightly at the Opéra Comique with the most genuine success. Voice and Piano, 4s. net, post-free.
METZLER and Co. 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. "PINAFORE." Arranged as Pianoforte Solo, complete.
Price 2s. 6d. net and post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. PINAFORE QUADRILLE. By C. GODFREY.
Illustrated. Price 4s.; post-free, half price.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

GARDEN PARTY POLKA. C. GODFREY.
The success of the season.
Post-free, 18 stamps.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CUPS AND SAUCERS. Operetta. By G. GROSSMITH, Jun. Played nightly at the Opéra Comique. Libretto and Music complete, 2s. net, post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

EDUARD DORN'S NEW PIANOFORTE PIECES.
DOWN THE STREAM. Cantabile pour Piano.
SWEETLY DREAM (Traume Süss).
PERIA. Valse Orientale.
THE CHORISTER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's beautiful Song.
THE SORCERER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's Comic Opera.
Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

Ready this day, Oct. 21. Price 2s. 6d.
Dedicated by special permission to H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.
SONGS FOR SAILORS. Written by W. C. Bennett, and set to Music by J. L. HATTON. In one Volume, containing FORTY SONGS, with Illustrated Cover and Engraved Portrait of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS.

NO. 10.—FUGUE PRIMER. By J. HIGGS. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 14.—PLAIN-SONG PRIMER. By Rev. T. HELMORE. Price 2s. Now ready.

NO. 15.—INSTRUMENTATION PRIMER. By E. PROUT. Price 2s. Now ready.

NOVELLO, EWER, and CO.'S MUSIC PRIMERS. Edited by Dr. STAINER. Now ready:—1. The Rudiments of Music (2s.), E. Pauer; 2. Rudiments of Music (1s.), W. H. Cummings; 3. The Organ (2s.), Dr. Stainer; 6. Speech in Song (Singer's Pronouncing Primer—2s.), A. J. Ellis; 8. Harmony (2s.), Dr. Stainer; 9. Counterpoint (2s.), Dr. Bridge; 11. Scientific Basis of Music (1s.), Dr. Stone; 16. Elements of the Beautiful in Music (1s.), E. Pauer. 18. Tonic Sol-Fa (1s.), John Curwen. (To be continued.)
London: NOVELLO, EWER, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.; and 80 and 81, Queen-street, E.C.

Post-free, 24 stamps, Solo or Duet,
MON RÊVE WALTZ. By WALDTEUFEL. The most popular Valse of the season.
HOPWOOD and CREW, 42, New Bond-street.

CHARLES HALLÉ'S PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.
Section I.—No. 1. Pianoforte Tutor.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, London and Manchester.

Now publishing,
CHARLES HALLÉ'S NEW EDITION of all the most Popular PIANOFORTE PIECES.
Carefully Edited and Fingered, with metronome marks.
Catalogues post-free.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, 272a, Regent-circus, Oxford-street, London; Cross-street, South King-street, Manchester.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—Messrs. ERARD, of 18, Great Marlborough-street, London, and 13, Rue de Mail, Paris, Makers to her Majesty and the Prince and Princess of Wales, CAUTION the public that Pianofortes are being sold bearing the name of "ERARD," which are not of their manufacture. For information as to authenticity apply at 18, Great Marlborough-st., where New Pianos can be obtained from 50 guineas.

ERARDS' PIANOS.—COTTAGES, from 60 guineas.
OBLIQUES, from 85 guineas.
GRANDS, from 125 guineas.

PIANO, £35 (Civil Service cash price) Trichord Drawing-Room Model, repetition action, grand rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with elaborately carved and fretwork front, and cabriole truss legs. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square.

BROADWOOD and COLLARD COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, fullest compass of Seven Octaves. Two beautiful instruments, of rich and full tone, in the choicest Italian walnut-wood, nearly new. To be SOLD at unusually low prices. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street.

TWENTY-POUND SCHOOL-ROOM PIANO (Co-operative price for cash). Seven octaves, strong, sound, and substantial. Adapted for hard practice. Packed free. Illustrated Book of Designs gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

EBONY and GOLD PIANOS, 25 guineas, 35 guineas, and 45 guineas.—These charming and elegant Pianos, with ormolu embellishments, repetition action, and every recent improvement, may now be obtained at the above low prices for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, at 1 guinea per month. The new Illustrated Catalogue gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS
are lent on Hire for Three Years, after which time they become the property of the hirers.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL
PIANOFORTES
were awarded
THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR of the Philadelphia Exhibition, 1876.
THE GOLD MEDAL, Paris, 1869.
THE HIGHEST AWARD—THE GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR, Paris, 1874.
LA MEDAILLE D'HONNEUR, Paris, 1867.
THE PRIZE MEDAL, London, 1862.
LE DIPLOME DE LA MENTION EXTRAORDINAIRE, Netherlands International Exhibition, 1869.
THE GOLD MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT, South Africa, 1877, &c.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION PIANOS,
Patented 1862, 1868, 1871, and 1875, in

GREAT BRITAIN,	AUSTRIA.
PRUSSIA,	ITALY, BELGIUM, and
FRANCE,	AMERICA.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
With the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"This most ingenious and valuable invention cannot fail to meet with success."—Sir Julius Benedict.
"The touch is absolute perfection."—Sydney Smith.
"A very clever and useful invention, and likely to be extensively adopted."—Brinley Richards.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
"The tone is full, melodious, and of extraordinary power. The touch is extremely delicate, and the repetition is excellent."—The Chevalier Antoine de Kontski, Court Pianist to the Emperor of Germany.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"The nearest approach to perfection of 'manual expression' yet attained."—Examiner.
"The tone of the grand now referred to possessed all the qualities that a good piano ought to have, and in touch and action was perfect. The sweet and silvery quality of the upper octaves was worthy of special admiration."—The Era.
"Sir Julius Benedict played on one of Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons' grand pianos, with the recently patented improvements, which enabled him to produce sustained tones with great variety of effect in the light and shade of tones, especially so when extreme delicacy of touch was required."—Court Journal.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"An immense improvement in arpeggios. The rapid passages in the upper register, the beautiful flutelike tone, and quick and perfect repetition were very effective."—Figaro.
"Sir Julius Benedict, now seldom heard as a soloist, delighted the public once more. He played upon a new Patent Grand by Brinsmead, possessing a remarkably loud and clear tone."—Echo.
"The upright Iron Grand Piano, with sostenente sounding-board, produces the obvious result of a fuller and richer tone."—Morning Advertiser.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS.
"The improvements made in English pianos have caused this trade rapidly to increase, until one pianoforte manufactory after another has been built to supply the growing demand. One of the largest of these, lately erected by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons, of Wigmore-street, covers nearly an acre of ground in the Grafton-road, Kentish Town, and is intended to accommodate 300 workmen. These works alone can supply 3000 pianos annually. The French papers have been unanimous in their expressions of admiration of these splendid instruments. The two Grands especially have enchanted the Parisian professors and amateurs of music by their noble concordousness, their enormous power, and the sympathetically voicelike quality of tone. The touch, also, is beautifully light, elastic, and certain, so that many pianists of every nation, from the Abbé Liszt downwards, who have tried these instruments, have highly complimented the enterprising manufacturers on their success. The improvements are too numerous to describe in detail, but it has been necessary to embody them in several patents recognised throughout Europe and America. Vigorous attempts have been made to perfect every portion of these instruments, and the whole has been constructed on entirely new principles throughout. The 'perfect check repeater action' renders the mechanism durable and perfect; 'the new compressible metal framing' ensures the durability and strength of the case, in spite of a great increase in the length of the strings; 'the new sostenente sounding-board' produces a lovely 'singing' and grandly powerful quality of tone; while 'the sympathetic bridge of reverberation' assists in the sustaining power; and 'the sustaining pedal' enables the performer to produce beautifully-sustained effects, without the confused roar that has hitherto been the attendant on the employment of the forte pedal."—Illustrated London News.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"A metal bridge of a peculiar form is used to produce the treble, and a much finer tone is elicited than if a wooden bridge were used."—Morning Post.
"Beautifully light and elastic touch, and an instant repetition."—Globe.
"This invention is simplicity itself."—The Queen.
"Receive the greatest approbation everywhere of musicians and manufacturers."—The Standard.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PATENT "PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION" PIANOFORTES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.
Prices from 35 Guineas to 330 Guineas.

GILBERT L. BAUER'S PRIZE MEDAL ORGAN-VOICED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS on the Three-Years' System.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PIANOFORTES,
FOR INDIA AND EXTREME CLIMATES.
Illustrated Price-Lists and Descriptions, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded, post-free, upon application.
18, WIGMORE-STREET, LONDON, W.
MANUFACTORY,
THE "BRINSMEAD WORKS,"
GRAFTON-ROAD,
KENTISH TOWN, N.W.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1878.

BATH AB

Y CHURCH.

A BOATMAN ON THE INDUS.

A BOATMAN ON THE INDUS.

This peaceful scene of native Indian labour on the great river of North-Western India was sketched years ago by our well-known Artist, Mr. W. Simpson, who has now again gone out to India in the service of this Journal. Many of our readers are quite aware that the Punjaub, or Land of the "Five Waters," is a territory lying between the Sutlej and the Indus, and watered by five tributary rivers. The Indus is not one of the five rivers, and between it and the Sutlej, which is, flow the other four, the Beeâs, the Râvee, the Chenaub, and the Jhelum. Near Mittunkote, 450 miles from the seaport of Kurrachee, the Indus receives the united waters of the Punjaub. Thence it is navigable up to Attock, near which the Cabul river joins it, and continues the navigation to within twelve miles of Peshawur, a distance of 470 miles from Mittunkote. The Sutlej is navigable to Phillour, 442 miles from Mittunkote, and the Jhelum from the same place to the station of Jhelum 435 miles. Native boats, drawing from 2 ft. to 3 ft. 6 in., navigate each of these rivers between the above places, and boats of smaller draught proceed to the foot of the hills. The Punjaub plains, twenty-five miles distant from the base of the hills to the northward, have an elevation of about 750 ft. above the sea, from which they are there distant nearly 700 miles in a direct line. The average fall of the Indus is a foot in the mile, and the average rate of the current is two miles and a half an hour, increased to four miles and a half after the rains and the melting of the snows. When the Punjaub rivers, excluding the Indus, are full their average breadth is about a mile and a half; when the banks are overflowed the land is submerged for miles on each side, as has been the case recently at Phillour and Dera Ghazee Khan. The navigable channel is rarely more than 250 yards in width—frequently much less. During the rains, boats drawing 3 ft. 6 in. navigate them with trouble and delay; in the cold season boats of only 2 ft. draught frequently meet with obstructions, the navigable channels than varying from twenty to sixty yards across. The rivers begin to rise perceptibly in the middle of April. They are fullest in July and August, and are again very low by the middle of October. The native boats are, at the best, very clumsy affairs, intended only for the slow conveyance of merchandise. The Indus first becomes navigable for these boats a little above its junction with the Cabul river, which is itself navigable for fifty miles for craft drawing 2 ft. 6 in.; but rafts can ascend sixty miles higher to Derbund. Attock, on the Grand Trunk road to Peshawur from Rawul Pindee and Hassan Abdool, at which last place troops have been concentrating for some time past, is about 980 miles from the sea. The breadth of the river at Attock, at the narrowest part, is 330 ft. in the cold season, and 1300 ft. in the flood time, the rise of the river being nearly 50 ft. Its velocity in the cold weather is a little over six miles an hour, and during the flood season nearly thirteen miles an hour. From Attock to Kala Bagh, the nearest ravine station to Thull, where General Roberts's force is being concentrated, is one hundred miles. To Mukhud is eighty-three miles, whence through Khoosalgurh, five miles from the river, a road leads to Kohat, which will have to be occupied in force in order to coerce the tribes of that district. In the dry season the descent from Attock to Kala Bagh is made in a day and a half by the native craft, and in the floods in a shorter time.

SKETCHES IN CYPRUS.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. W. H. Smith, and the Secretary of State for War, Colonel Stanley, left England on Monday, to visit the famous island in the Levant, which has lately been taken into British possession. Our Special Artist in Cyprus, "S. P. O.," has been compelled by an attack of fever to seek refuge, for a week or two, in the salubrious highlands of the Lebanon, above Beyrout, on the opposite shore of Syria. One of his sketches is engraved for this week's publication. It is a view of the Carpas range of mountains, from the village of Hepta Khumi, which was described in the letter of "S. P. O." published a fortnight ago. This northern range of mountains, overlooking the whole plain of Messaria and the Carpas district, begins at Cape Kormakiti (the ancient Cromyon), and is continued thence in an unbroken ridge to the eastern extremity of the island, Cape St Andrea, a distance of more than one hundred miles. It is very inferior in elevation to the southern range, its highest summits not attaining to more than about 3200 ft.; while in the eastern portion they but rarely exceed 2000 ft. But it is remarkable for its continuous and unbroken character—consisting throughout of a narrow, but rugged and rocky ridge, descending abruptly to the south into the great plain of Nicosia; and, to the north, to a narrow plain bordering the coast.

MOPS.

Readers of the provincial newspapers, especially those published in the Midland Counties, during the month of October and between the dates of Michaelmas and Martinmas (Sept. 29 to Nov. 11), may chance to notice therein certain paragraphs of news headed with the singular word Mop. Thus, in Shakspeare's county, the Stratford-on-Avon Mop and the Warwick Mop were recently held on the same day, Saturday, Oct. 12; and the local reporters call them by the epithets "orgie" and "saturnalia," thus giving an index to the general character of these Mops, which is but another name for Statute-fairs or Hirings, otherwise called Statutes, Statties, or Statice, according to the prevailing vernacular, or, as in Yorkshire, Sittings. These various names denote those fairs for the hiring of agricultural servants, which are held once a year, though at two different seasons of the year, May Day and Martinmas, according to the custom of the locality. There are many such Mops, in the month of October, in Warwickshire: that at Henley-in-Arden is held on Oct. 29, and goes by the name of St. Luke's Fair, although St. Luke's Day is on Oct. 18, and "St. Luke's Summer" began, this year, with those lovely days that set in on the second of the month. Many of the Midland County Mops that fall late in October, or early in November, are known by the curious name, "Runaway Mops," a phrase which might be as provocative of critical wrangling as the famous "runaways' eyes," in "Romeo and Juliet" (Act iii. Scene 2).

The three very different words, Hiring, Statute, and Mop, used for these fairs, take us back to various historical dates. For Hiring we must revert to Saxon days; for Statute we must turn to the year 1351, when Edward III. regulated the laws between masters and servants by certain Statutes, thereby coining a word from the Latin, to signify the agreements that had been entered into, and which, if broken, could be carried into the Statute Sessions, now called Petty (i.e., petit) Sessions. It was at the Statute, at Pershore, Worcestershire, that Edward III. granted the manor of Dudston King's Regis to the Abbot of St. Peter, with the right to hold a Statute-fair, and to permit unlicensed persons to sell ale, on three consecutive Mondays, in bush-houses, which right was claimed and carried out for five centuries afterwards, until the year 1863, when the Pershore Bush-houses had to succumb before the attacks of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue. The bush, I need hardly remind my readers, was used, even from classical days, to denote a place where good liquor or wine could be obtained; and at these Pershore fairs, the bush, usually a bough of oak or elm, was hung out at every ale-house up to the year 1863. It was at that date that the many evils incident upon the holding of Mops, were beginning to attract the attention of the press and the public, and to work their much-needed reformation or abolition.

Like Statute, the word Mop has a Latin origin; for it is identical with Map or Mapp, the a being altered to o by the vagaries of Midland pronunciation. I possess two printed handbills, of the dates 1734 and 1743, where the Worcestershire Mop is all through called "the Mapp," the later dated of these handbills stating that the Mapp would be held "on the eleventh day of October, being the Monday before the Feast of St. Luke, for the Hiring of Servants, where all Gentlemen, Dealers and Chapmen, may depend upon good Entertainment and Encouragement." At the first blush, there would seem to be no connection between the Midland county Mop and the games of ancient Rome; and yet, there is so—at any rate, in name. For when Nero, or whoever was emperor, gave the signal that the ludi circenses should be begun, he did so by dropping his napkin, or mappa, from whence that word was transferred to the sports. At a later date, a representation of the geography of the globe, from being printed on linen cloth, was called mappa Mundi, whence we derive the familiar word Map. And when such linen cloth was used to wipe moisture from a floor or pavement, the mappa for the purpose came to be known as a Map, and, later on, as a Mop; and with a somewhat similar mappa, or handkerchief, we can "mop" our faces when heated. In Tempest's "Cryes of the City of London: Drawn after the Life, 1711," the woman who is selling mops is made to say, in English, French, and Italian, "Maids, buy a mapp! Achetez de mes mappes! Mappi per lavar' terrazzi!" Thus, the Mapp of the past century became the Mop of the present; and it takes no gift of prophecy to foretell that in the next century it will only be known as a name, and not as a fact.

Let us take one other glance at the Mop before it has been improved off the face of the earth. When the farmer had engaged with a servant at one of these Mops he closed the bargain by giving him, or her, a piece of money, usually a shilling, but always called "a penny," and familiarly known as "the fasten-penny," or, as it is pronounced in Lincolnshire, "the fessen-penny." I have known instances of several fessen-pennies being taken by the same man from different farmers, to none of whom he went for service; this, of course, he did at his own risk. And I also have known cases where, when the servant wished to break his contract before the twelve months had expired, he has been taken before a magistrate by his master, who, pleading the custom of the fessen-penny, has secured the punishment of the servant for absconding from his service. The shepherds, waggoners, and grooms usually denoted their occupations by pieces of wool, whipcord, and horsehair placed in their hats; and Isaac Bickerstaff, in his opera "Love in a Village," makes one scene to be a statute-fair, where the servants come forward and sing verses descriptive of their respective accomplishments. Such a scene (and also a somewhat similar scene in General Burgoyne's comedy "The Maid of the Oaks") is about as untrue to real life as is the pretty scene of the statute-fair in Flotow's opera "Marta," where the prima donna (say, for example, Patti) as the Lady Enrichetta, with her companion, takes the fessen-penny from the two young farmers, and is afterwards seen and heard in the quartette in the spinning-wheel scene. A very different aspect was given to such a scene when Mr. Portman, a Commissioner to inquire into the employment of women and children in agriculture, wrote of "the great Mop-fair at Monmouth;" and if space permitted, all that he said could be corroborated by abundant evidence from all parts of the kingdom where Mops were permitted to linger.

But, happily, the Mop is fast being mopped out. They are now on their last legs. Each year they are attended by fewer and fewer masters; and, consequently, fewer and fewer servants go to them to be hired. It may be confidently said that the few who are now hired are men and youths, and that the women and girls, together with their mistresses, have been aroused to the fact that it is no longer considered "respectable" to stand out in the streets and roads for hiring purposes, notwithstanding that Dr. Plott defended the system as being "a scriptural custom." If it ever was so in Great Britain, it has been so overladen with customs that are decidedly unscriptural that it merged into a scene of low revelry, sufficient to sap the morals of the community in which it was, unfortunately, permitted to be held. It has been my lot to see many and many a Mop; and, although I could not be a witness to the worst scenes at their evening and midnight hours, yet I saw quite enough to lead me to speak of them, in the strongest terms of reprobation, in papers, published in the year 1862, in the Leisure Hour, and Archdeacon Denison's Church and State Review.

Public attention was at that time directed to the subject. The late Lord Lyttelton headed a county meeting at Worcester for "the suppression of Mops." Yorkshire was not slow to follow the example, and the Archbishop of that period spoke of the matter in his primary charge. The clergy and laity combined in establishing "Servants' Registration Societies" in places where Mops were held, so that the agricultural servants, especially females, could be hired in a proper room after a decent fashion. In some places in the Midland counties a "Mop-tea," as it is called, is given, with much merry-making, by the farmers of the parish, in lieu of their labourers, with their wives and families, being defrauded of their annual holiday of the Mop. And, indeed, there was some excuse for them flocking to the Mop in days when holidays were so few, and when the means of getting to see their friends and relatives were limited to stage-coaches and carriers'-carts. The Mop is now reduced to an ordinary village fair, as described by the peasant-poet Clare, when he speaks of "the Milkmaids and Clowns that Statute joys pursue," and mentions the stalls for gingerbread and ribbons, and the "glorious revels" indulged in by "Hob, Nell, and Sue." Roundabouts, knock'emdowns, niggers, peepshows, fat women, dwarfs, and sham-jewellery dealers, these now form the attractions of the Mop; but the agricultural servants who come there to be hired are "conspicuous by their absence." At the annual Mop, at the important town of Halesowen, near Birmingham, held on Oct. 14, it is reported that "not half-a-dozen farm labourers, and only one or two lads," were looking out for situations; but "there seemed no one who wanted them." The chief reasons for which the Mops were held no longer exist, and it is quite time that the Mops were mopped out.

CUTHBERT BEDE.

BIOGRAPHICAL WORKS.

A curious and interesting biographical study is presented for contemplation in the two volumes entitled The Life of George Combe, by Charles Gibbon (Macmillan and Co.), in which we have a very minute account of a man who was remarkable in many ways. He was remarkable as a valetudinarian, and he was remarkable as a monomaniac, not to mention any other points of remarkability. As a valetudinarian, he may rank with De Quincy and others who, after ailing more or less from their cradles, live to a good old age, and seem to enter upon vigorous life at the very age when their apparent superiors in physical strength are about to shuffle off this mortal coil. As a monomoniac, he may rank with Lavater and others, who, having established by observation the existence of certain coincidences between a peculiar physical conformation and a peculiar moral proclivity, are not content to marvel at the phenomenon and to leave it as one of those very many similar natural curiosities which "no feller can understand," but believe that they have discovered a sort of philosopher's stone, that they can answer the question as to "what is truth," that they have hit upon the origin of evil, that they have found a solution of the most difficult social problem, and they proceed to ride their hobby after the style of a beggar on horseback, they become enthusiasts, they preach a gospel, they build up an ingenious system, and in accordance with that system they expect the government of the world to be regulated. They, apparently, do not believe that "out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries," &c.; no; it is the prominence of a particular bump or the size of a particular feature that accounts for immoral or criminal propensities. How hardly, they seem to infer, shall they that have long noses enter into the kingdom of heaven? and wherewithal, they seem to whisper, shall a young man with that shape of head cleanse his way? George Combe, in fact, was an apostle, if not the archapostle, in this country of the so-called science of phrenology. That science, like most novelties which are not absolutely absurd upon the face of them, created a considerable sensation at the outset, and held its own for many years; but it now seems to have fallen, if not into general disrepute, into general desuetude, after fair and earnest investigation and trial, and to have gone the way of many other "ologies," including have gone the way of many other "ologies," including astrology, but, like astrology, not without having done a great deal of good to the cause of scientific and philosophical observation. To phrenology, indeed, must be attributed no small share of the credit due to anatomists for the increased attention which came to be paid to the functions of the brain, and to physiologists for the closer study of relations between different parts of the human frame. This, of course, is not the place for entering fully into the arguments for and against phrenology; but the difficulties in the way of adopting it as a basis of education, or as a means of estimating character, abilities, and tendencies, will be at once apparent, if we consider the great number of the "phrenological faculties," and if it be admitted that they may neutralise one another; whilst, as the experience of George Combe himself, in the notorious case of David Haggart, the pickpocket and murderer, teaches us, one little mistake may be fatal to the whole estimate. Nor, as regards George Combe's own ascription of his own course of conduct on occasions mentioned in his biography, should we always be disposed to accept his judgment: he ascribes to the organ of "conscientiousness" that which we should sometimes ascribe to a very different and not by any means so respectable an "organ." That he was a devout believer in the science admits of but little, if any, doubt; and there is the less room for doubt in that he himself resembled those who went to church to scoff and remained to pray; for he went as a sceptic to have an interview with Dr. Spurzheim, who, from the very first, almost persuaded him to be a phrenologist, and at the end of three years' study he "became convinced that phrenology was true." That conviction was to result in the publication of "The Constitution of Man," a work which had an enormous circulation, which brought him both praise and dispraise, which raised up against him many foes, and which caused one of his friends to adjure him, "for the sake of his salvation, to renounce the opinions which he professed." However, it is probable that the general reader will be less interested in George Combe as a phrenologist and a philosopher than as a valetudinarian and "a man and a brother." He was born on Oct. 21, 1788, and he died on Aug. 14, 1858, so that he was just the full span of seventy years at the date of his death. And yet this is his own description of his progress from an unpromising infancy to a comparatively hale middle age: "I was born with a rather feeble constitution; I was given up by the doctor when two or three years of age; hovered on the verge of the grave (but upborne by activity of brain) during infancy and youth; grew stronger at manhood; and at forty-eight, after becoming acquainted with and observing the natural laws, I am free from all complaints, nappy, active, and comparatively vigorous, with the internal consciousness of having my foot more firmly planted on the green turf of life than at any previous period of my days" (vol. i., p. 335). The first sentence of this paragraph certainly does not tally with what he had previously stated (p. 25) about his "constitution, which must have been originally strong," but perhaps he was deficient, as he would have expressed himself, in the organ of "consistency," if there be one so named. The "Life" is partly autobiographical, and in that part he draws an exceedingly interesting picture of the way in which a Scottish family, the head of which was an illiterate but worthy brewer, lived, in the good old times when the victories of the Nile and Trafalgar were won, and when the laws of health were neither understood nor unconsciously followed, at an unwholesome house in an unpleasant precinct of Edinburgh. That was the time when, especially at the High School, education was supposed, according to George Combe, to be identical with a liberal application of "tawse;" though it must be confessed that he seems to have expected from his instructors more than it would be quite reasonable to expect even in these days of boy-spoiling. He evidently thought that it is the duty of schoolmasters, however numerous a form they may have to instruct, to fill from the storehouse of their own minds the mind of each pupil, as however stupid, idle, antagonistic, and difficult to manage, as a man might fill from a reservoir a number of empty bottles; a perfectly preposterous view of a schoolmaster's, especially of a public schoolmaster's, functions: it is as much as, nay, more than, can be expected of him that he should show each of his pupils how to handle their intellectual weapons, and, having provided them with ammunition, leave them to load and fire for themselves in their battle of wits, in their fight round the tree of knowledge. Many a fainting spirit may be cheered by reading how George Combe, a sickly child, a weedy youth, an apparently confirmed valetudinarian, who wrote at twenty-three years of age, "I do not expect to live long, though I eagerly desire I may;" whose early education may be said to have been neglected, and whose health in early life was certainly not very carefully attended to; who was rejected, as unfit for anything but a scarecrow, by a small shopkeeper to whom he would fain have been bound apprentice; who became a respectable writer to the signet—retired, before he was fifty, on a moderate competency from actual practice, made a name for himself in the intellectual and literary world, and died in the odour of phrenology at quite an advanced age. Why Mr. Combe's biography should have been withheld from publication "until nearly twenty years after his death" is not, to speak under correction, explicitly stated by the biographer, though the fact is regretted; but it is not improbable that the biographer is a gentleman of unique intrepidity, and that whoever before him conceived the idea of doing what he has done was appalled—and no wonder—by the "thirty journals" and the "eleven large quarto volumes," not to mention other biographical sources, which Mr. Combe, under the influence of an "organ" closely allied, perhaps, to "self-esteem," was inspired to keep, preserve, and leave behind him. Each volume is graced by a portrait of Mr. Combe; and from them, as well as from what is revealed in the volumes, one would be inclined to say that, all his "bumps" to the contrary notwithstanding, he was passably humane and benevolent, no doubt, but, on the whole, an egotistical, a self-conceited, self-satisfied, smirking, didactic, argumentative old—writer to the signet.

Among the pleasures of memory may be reckoned a perusal of studies, biographical and critical, of Voltaire, Rousseau, and other more or less obscene and atheistical, as well as brilliant and poetical, writers, the stars of the eighteenth century, to which may now be added Diderot and the Encyclopædists, by John Morley (Chapman and Hall); though memory fails to recall any reason given either on the present or on any former similar occasion why those stars should just now, more than at any other time, be artificially rehoisted above the horizon behind which they had sunk, leaving with us quite as much of their refulgence as we required. It is true that the centenary of Voltaire has lately been celebrated; but the essay entitled "Voltaire" came long before that. The question is whether Diderot and the Encyclopædists, who may easily be made out to include Rousseau as well as Voltaire, might not very well be allowed to rest in peace; what good the world could get out of their doctrines has already, without doubt, become incorporated imperceptibly in the written or unwritten code of intellectual, moral, and religious, or irreligious, rules whereby the social system of our day is worked. The evil which they did—and it was great—might surely, whatever Shakspeare has said to the contrary, be interred with their bones. However, if it pleases learned and accomplished gentlemen, whose pens are the pens of ready writers and whose essays are a very Golconda of literature, to write, there is nothing for it but to read and be charmed, whether their monographs refer to a Rousseau, or a Voltaire, or, as in the present instance, a Diderot and his fellows, an assemblage which readers of Milton might be tempted to liken to the celebrated gathering of infernal peers in Pandæmonium. Diderot, however, would make but a poor figure as an archfiend. Diderot, in the hands of the able analyst who has now chosen him as a subject, is, of course, treated chiefly as the representative of certain ideas, "which the social and economic condition of France on the eve of the convulsion made so welcome to men;" but, apart from those ideas, the circumstances of his life have been carefully brought together, and it is probably upon these circumstances, which affected him rather as a man with a living to gain than as a philosopher with views to propagate, that the ordinary reader's attention will be concentrated. Denis Diderot, then, was born at Langres, in 1713, of an ancient and reputable family, which had been engaged in "the manufacture of cutlery for no less than two centuries in direct line." He inherited, what he was fond of attributing to all the natives of Langres, "a head on his shoulders like the weathercock at the top of the church spire." He was in his early youth a pupil of the Jesuits. When the time came for earning his bread he had no taste for the cutlery which had made his father a man of substance, and he scorned both law and medicine, between which he was bidden to choose. He became a literary adventurer, and endured all the hardships that such a calling entailed in his day, and still, though not to the same extent perhaps, entails. In 1743 he married an illiterate seamstress, otherwise an excellent woman, whose "narrow pieties and homely solicitudes fretted him" however, and to whom, according to the "manners of the time," we are admonished, lest we should be tempted to set it down to his own innate viciousness, he was systematically faithless, beginning his faithlessness at the very time when she was on a visit to and making her peace with his father. About this time, having learnt English sufficiently to translate it, he published, somewhat unseasonably, a translation of a book "concerning Virtue and Merit," qualities not generally associated with conjugal infidelity. In 1749 he was imprisoned in Vincennes, and denied on oath, as it appears, that he had written what he had written. In 1751 there was given to the public the first volume of the famous Encyclopædia, the project of which had been "fully conceived and its details worked out between 1745 and 1748." In 1754 he formed an attachment for a Mdlle. de Voland; and subsequently, down to the end of her life, in 1784 (?), he lived in what the monograph under consideration bids us remember was no "low amour with a coarse or frivolous woman of the world," but highly decorous adultery, such as no properly constituted mind, especially in the eighteenth century, could possibly object to. In the interval between 1763 and 1765 he was induced to become a pensioner of the Empress of Russia, who had been brought to knowledge of him through the Encyclopædia; and in 1773 he, being sixty years of age and heretofore a mocker of travellers and travelling, took it into his head that he "owed a visit to his imperial benefactress whose bounty had rendered life easier to him." To Petersburg therefore he went, was loaded with favours, and returned, in 1774, thinking her not "less than the greatest of men." In fact, his adulation received its rebuke from the Empress herself, who hinted upon one occasion that Diderot was qualifying for the "deeper and fiercer hell" to which he thought that "those who flatter kings" ought to be consigned. In the evening of July 30, 1784, he, having had a serious illness in the early spring, sat down to table and, regardless of his wife's remonstrance, ate an apricot; after which he leaned his elbow on the table and trifled with some sweetmeats. A little while, and she asked him a question; she received no answer, and, looking up, saw he was dead. He found strength to converse to the end; and "in the last conversation that his daughter heard him carry on," he uttered what is called "the pregnant aphorism," though to some persons it may appear the monstrous fallacy, that "the first step towards philosophy is incredulity," if the latter term be properly understood as a "tendency to disbelieve," than which nothing is so likely to breed indifference, the arch-enemy of philosophy. Diderot is, no doubt, accurately described in the monograph, as a great talker rather than a great writer—a character which, if his remarks have been rightly understood, he also ascribed to himself; but it is curious that the writer of the monograph should have stated, at page 38 of the first volume, that, "like Dr. Johnson, he was a great converser, rather than the author of great books;" and, at page 264 of the second volume, that he was "less an author than a talker—not a talker like Johnson, but like Coleridge." Would not Coleridge have done in both cases? Though, of course, a man may be a talker "like Dr. Johnson," in a sense, without talking at all in the style in which Dr. Johnson talked. However, readers may safely be recommended to study the monograph for all that is worth knowing, communicated in the happiest manner, about Diderot and his talents, and his use or abuse of them, his position among writers and thinkers, and his connection with the Encyclopædia, with art, with the drama, with the literature which preceded, if it did not prepare the way for, the worship of the Goddess of Reason. Appended to the monograph is a translation of "Rameau's Nephew," a dialogue which underwent some singular adventures, fully described in all their interesting details at the commencement of the second volume. That Mr. Morley should translate the French word "sage," applied to a woman, by our word of exactly the same appearance, must be due to eccentricity; there are few persons at this day who would suppose that "sage" woman was English for "virtuous" woman. It is curious, also, to find so critical and careful a writer tripping over a time-honoured stumbling-block, and confounding, as third-rate novelists are wont to do, "a Frankenstein" with the monster created by Frankenstein.

ART.

PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.—THE AWARDS.

Art and criticism, whether in the shape of awards and praise or blame and indifference, must ever walk side by side, however unwelcome the companionship may occasionally be to the artist. Criticism supplies incentive and reward on the one hand, and creates appreciation and demand on the other; and both artist and public are often indebted to it for guidance. The genius who may rail most bitterly against the want of sympathy, or the incapacity, real or imaginary, of some of his judges, is a critic to himself, for his work is the product of his own critical selection, employed instinctively or consciously. We hear it maintained by the disappointed, and also by some theorists, that criticism is prejudicial to the artist. Nothing, however, is more illogical. Can we suppose that the Athenians were not keenly critical of the productions of Phidias and Ictinus; that the masters of Gothic architecture found no intelligent appreciation even in the "dark ages;" that the merchant princes of Venice had no educated sense of colour! But criticism should not be expected to be infallibly right more than art is so; the public is the final judge of both; and we must be content with the reflection that mistaken criticism, like incompetent art, can do little harm except by misleading the ignorant or the tyro.

This view of the connection of art and criticism may lend fresh importance to our estimate of the awards discerned in the international competition at Paris—meaning in reference particularly to our English artists. Speaking generally, the numerous awards but confirm the highly favourable impression previously made on the Continent by the British art-show, whether as regards its comparative merit or the rapid progress evinced, especially in many of the principal applications of art to industry, as, for example, ceramics, glass manufacture, and furniture. Moreover, it must not be forgotten that many of our distinguished artists and leading firms in art-manufactures, who had not to make a reputation, were either absent or very imperfectly represented. Nor has the British section owed anything to the manner in which its contents were displayed. No pictures in the whole exhibition were so badly lighted as ours. Far too much of the light was obstructed in the English galleries by the centre portions of the awning, which were intentionally rendered more opaque; the rays consequently fell so perpendicularly that every projection of canvas or paint was thrown into undue prominence. And when, recently, we visited the Exhibition, the more transparent portion of the awning was so loaded with dust (which had apparently not been removed since the opening day) that the light was diminished to a degree we hardly remember to have seen equalled in any public exhibition. The dust gave, besides, the yellowing tinge of a London fog, and these combined influences had so disastrous an effect that we could scarcely believe we were not looking at bad copies of some of our old favourites. In other sections, nearest the picture galleries, the chaotic diversity of the cases and the want of plan in the hide-and-seek passages and inclosures, rendered it impossible to obtain any of the striking general effect presented by the French show, and which would have been secured by uniformity of cases and the ordered arrangement of our neighbours, or even of our public-spirited colony Canada.

The jury which adjudged the awards given in the Palais d'Industrie on Monday last with so much ceremony may be regarded as, officially, the highest critical tribunal in the world at this present time. But, as we have hinted, the data on which its decisions were founded were necessarily incomplete and imperfect. Other considerations should also have weight in accepting its judgments, if we would from all points of view "see ourselves as others see us." The recent decisions very much modified former judgments of a similarly constituted body. Novelty has its proverbial charm, but only for a time blinds us to defects. Fashion has sway in art as in other things, but what is "demoded" to-day may be in vogue to-morrow. The awards were preceded by much criticism on our art in the Paris press; and certain French articles translated in the English newspapers were "one burst of applause." Some French journalists are evidently subject to Anglophobia, just as some of our own censors hold up French art as a perfect model for imitation. A race of critics is also not unknown on both sides the Channel who prove their superior penetration by finding recondite transcendental excellencies where common folk discover only mediocrity or (worse) eccentricity and pretentious incapacity. However, not a few of the French critics qualified the honey of their praise with a great deal of the wormwood and gall of censure. While universally admitting our superiority in water colours, they assert that we carry the limpidity proper to that medium into our oil paintings, or fall into the opposite extreme of bituminous obscurity; that our colouring is false and criard; that our execution is wanting in solidity and too minute; that we neglect the higher branches of art, and have nothing that can properly be considered a school. Much in our art even that is good for us, as well as bad, could not fail to prove distasteful to the foreign sympathies of an honest Continental critic. Here then, if, in the words of Solomon, "in the multitude of counsellors there is wisdom," there is also confusion—as a contemporary remarked the other day apropos of the contradictions of the "highest authorities" touching the Afghan difficulty.

More valuable, perhaps, is the opinion of some eminent French artists—for the authenticity of which we can vouch. These generous critics have conceived a genuine admiration for the display of British art in the Champ de Mars. "If you have not," they say, "a school in the sense of traditional development from master to pupil, you have something which more than supplies its place. You have a hundred germs, or more mature growths, which collectively constitute a distinctive and national art. Teaching has rarely destroyed the individuality; and art, like poetry, is nothing without individuality. Your art is delightfully fresh, original, and living; while Continental art is mostly dead, or living only a galvanised life. Even your defects—and, pardon us for saying, you have many—have a naiveté preferable to the most learned of scholastic mannerisms. Look at even our French pictures—you can tell to what section of our school they belong almost invariably. Look at the German pictures—you have seen counterparts of all of them before; look at the multitude of imitators of Fortuny! Whilst with you it is always a surprise, a revelation, by its originality and its variety."

In proceeding to cite the prize-winners, we would venture to submit an occasional remark. As graceful, then, as it was just, was the voting of "diplomas of honour" to the memory of the deceased painters, Sir Edwin Landseer, G. H. Mason, J. Phillip, and F. Walker. Not less could be expected than that a "medal of honour" should be awarded to Mr. Millais, for he is assuredly the most powerful and—at least, technically considered—the most original of English painters. But it has probably been a surprise to many that the second medal of honour should have been carried off (as we think, deservedly) by an "outsider"—Mr. Herkomer, for his pathetic picture, "The Last Muster," which was relegated to the comparative seclusion of the Lecture Room in our Royal Academy Exhibition. The picture has precisely that quality of executive "solidity" which many French critics maintain is rarely found in our school—if "school" it can be called after what has been said. The best friends of the young artist will, however, urge him to strive to maintain that special excellence, and will not conceal the fact—which must be confessed—that his later pictures have not been up to the level of that noble work. The next grade of award—still in the section of painting—the "gold medal," is given to Messrs. Alma-Tadema and G. F. Watts. Mr. Calderon and Sir Francis Grant follow for the "rappel" of gold medal (that is, in acknowledgment of their having received the like award in a former Great Exhibition), the late President having been yet alive when the jury concluded their labours. A silver medal is appropriated to Mr. Ouless for his male portraits; bronze medals are given to Sir John Gilbert and Messrs. Orchardson and Briton-Rivière; and "honourable mention" to Messrs. C. Green (for water-colour drawings), G. D. Leslie, and J. Pettie.

In the class of sculpture (much the weakest part of the British show) a gold medal is carried off by Mr. Leighton for his admirable "Athlete Struggling with a Python," and Mr. Boehm takes a silver medal. But why was not a diploma of honour voted to the memory of Mr. Foley, who is represented quite well enough, we think, for that distinction, though very far from adequately? It not unfrequently happens that an artist surpasses himself, as Mr. Leighton has done in his Athlete, when working under the excitement of finding a fresh vehicle of expression. The figure has the life-like energy (as contradistinguished from mere vivacity) which is often wanting in French sculpture of the highest technical accomplishment. Mr. Leighton was not, we believe, eligible for a prize in oil painting for the reason that, having served on the jury in that class, the three comparatively unimportant pictures by which he was represented were "hors concours."

In architecture the medal of honour is very properly assigned to Mr. E. M. Barry, the soundest and sanest of our architects. It is gratifying to see the highest official European distinction conferred on a gentleman who, after proving first prizeman in Government competitions at home, has been treated so unfairly. Mr. Waterhouse follows with the rappel of the medal of honour, and Messrs. Pearson and Street are the gold medallists. The silver medals are given to Messrs. Norman Shaw and T. H. Wyatt; the bronze to Messrs. Horace Jones and J. P. Seddon; and Mr. T. G. Jackson has received honourable mention.

An inference unfavourable to the capacity of Englishmen for art has been drawn from the circumstance that some prizemen in the British department bear foreign names. The inference, however, is assuredly not just. In point of fact, by the side of eighteen decidedly English names there are six foreign—that is, one quarter. But we are morally certain that an equal or larger proportion of names of foreign extraction—names of several or all nationalities in Europe—would appear in any list of art-prizemen at Paris. Of all people, artists are the most migratory; and the best men naturally gravitate to all great art-centres, such as London, Paris, and Rome. Of the six artists bearing foreign names on our list four, we believe, have had English mothers, and have received all or the major part of their art-education in England. Can a more typical Englishman be found in all respects, and pre-eminently so in his art, than Mr. Millais? It is an additional honour to England that, possessing as she now does artists of the first rank of her own, she knows no nationality in art, but still presents the warmest hospitality to the foreigner. Ethnologists tell us that by fixed laws currents of the great Teutonic, Latin, and cognate races have set towards our shores, where, at length arriving at an impasse, they mingle; and that it has ever been by contact of races that the greatest developments have been brought about of genius, intellect, and valour.

The winter exhibition of Drawings by Old and Modern Masters, at the Grosvenor Gallery, will this year include a rich collection of the works of M. Ingres.

The Royal Academicians will meet for the election of a new president on the 13th of next month.

Mr. E. M. Barry, R.A., has been re-elected Professor of Architecture to the Royal Academy.

Applications for space in the Yorkshire Fine-Art and Industrial Exhibition, to be opened at York in May next year, can now be made.

The discovery has been made in the cellars of the Artistic Museum of Berlin of some cases containing some valuable mosaics from Ravenna. They had been lying there since March 17, 1848, where they had been forgotten, having arrived in the midst of the confusion of the revolution.

It has been decided to hold an "Australian International Exhibition" at Sydney next year, in the month of August. Medals are to be awarded in the various sections, from Fine Arts to Produce. The exhibition derives additional importance from the circumstance that it is intended to hold a similar exhibition at Melbourne the following year, and in Queensland in 1881. "Exhibits" may therefore be successively shown in all three.

The Archæological Society of Athens is in treaty for buying up the houses on the site of the Temple of Delphi and transferring the village to a short distance off. Excavations will then be undertaken. A funeral urn was lately dug up near the spot, containing a sculptured two-headed serpent; and it is highly probable that, besides remains of the temple itself, the site of so famous a shrine may yield a large number of precious votive objects.

While excavating in the Roman Forum, on the line of the Via Sacra, some highly interesting remains have just been discovered. These are fragments of the fasti triumphales, forming connecting links in the series of marble tablets found close by in 1547, which were arranged by Cardinal Alexander Farnese, and deposited by him in the Capitol—whence their name, Fasti Capitolini. The new fragments relate to the years 643, 646, and 647 of the city, and nearly correspond with the Jugurthine War.

Mr. Hormuzd Rassam is about to start on a second and much extended tour of exploration in Syria. The chief seat of the explorations will be on the site of the ancient city of Carchemish, the Hittite capital. The site of the city of Assur, the metropolis of the early Assyrian empire, will also be explored. The mounds which mark the position of this city are larger and more lofty than those of Koyunjik or Nimroud, and evidently cover the remains of important edifices. In Babylonia, generally, extensive researches are to be made.

A statue of Giorgione was unveiled at the Venetian town of Castelfranco on the 5th inst., to commemorate the fourth centenary of the birth of the illustrious painter. The occasion was made a great public fête in the picturesque old town; and after the ceremony of the unveiling, a visit was paid to the neighbouring cathedral, where hangs the master's finest work, an altar-piece representing the Madonna enthroned and Saints Liberale and Francesco. For the knight in armour of this picture we have the study in our National Gallery, from the Rogers' collection.

A competition took place at the Dudley Gallery on Tuesday last between the sketching clubs belonging to the art-schools of South Kensington (male and female), Lambeth, West London, and the "Gilbert." The prizes were awarded on Wednesday as follows:—For a figure subject—Mr. W. P. Cornish, of the Gilbert Club; for landscape—Mr Nightingale, Lambeth Club; animals—Mr. E. R. Breach, West London Club; design—Mr. C. S. Reich and Mr. L. V. Reich, of the West London Club, and Miss E. Harrison, of the Lambeth Club; sculpture—Miss E. C. Bellows, West London. The award of honour to the best sketching club collectively was given to the Gilbert. The judges were Messrs. Pettie, R.A., and Peter Graham, A.R.A.

On Monday the annual civic banquet, known as the Colchester Oyster Feast, was celebrated. The company, which was presided over by the Mayor, numbered about 120.

It was recently announced by way of New York that five missionaries had been murdered and eaten by the natives in New Zealand. A telegram direct from Wellington states that this report is completely unfounded.

A serious accident occurred last Saturday afternoon on the Taff Vale Railway, at Pontypridd, near Cardiff, by which twelve lives were lost and about thirty persons were injured. The passenger-train taking people from the Rhondda Valley to Pontypridd market ran into a train of empty carriages which was being shunted.

The German Government has sent, through Count Münster, in recognition of valuable assistance rendered by the coastguards belonging to the Folkestone station, on the occasion of the wreck of the Grosser Kurfürst, a handsome Berlin vase to Captain Usborne, R.N.; gold watches, with the Emperor's monogram, to Mr. Young, the divisional officer, and Mr. O'Connell, the chief boatman in charge of the station, and £200 to be divided amongst the men."

There has been a considerable amount of change in the personnel of the volunteer officers, says the Volunteer Service Gazette, during the last week. Three majors, five captains, and eleven subalterns have resigned, and the services of two subalterns have been dispensed with, so that there have been twenty-one retirements. But there have been twenty-five new appointments, so that there is a net gain of four. Of the retiring officers twelve held certificates of proficiency, three of them from schools of instruction.

Mr. Mundella, speaking at the College for Men and Women in Bloomsbury last Saturday evening, referred to Mr. Gladstone's article on "Kin Beyond Sea." He was sorry that he could not agree with the right hon. gentleman in regard to the view he took as to the position England would in future occupy to America. Apart from the great material resources this country possessed, they had a nation that was thoroughly cultivated, and which had a just appreciation of art, and which had a vast command for its industrial productions. The conditions of industry must be altogether changed before they came to an end of their coal supply, which must be at so distant a period that it was hardly worth considering. He could not give a better illustration than France of what could be done by an artistic nation without having these material resources, for France had, he believed, little coal or iron compared to England; yet there was a world-wide demand for her productions, because of the artistic feeling that was introduced. He believed that England was developing, though slowly, in the appreciation of art, which was gradually making itself felt, to their interests. With respect to its value, it was felt at this moment at the Paris Exhibition, and he thought that some day or other would make England a great workshop of art-production to supply other parts of the world.

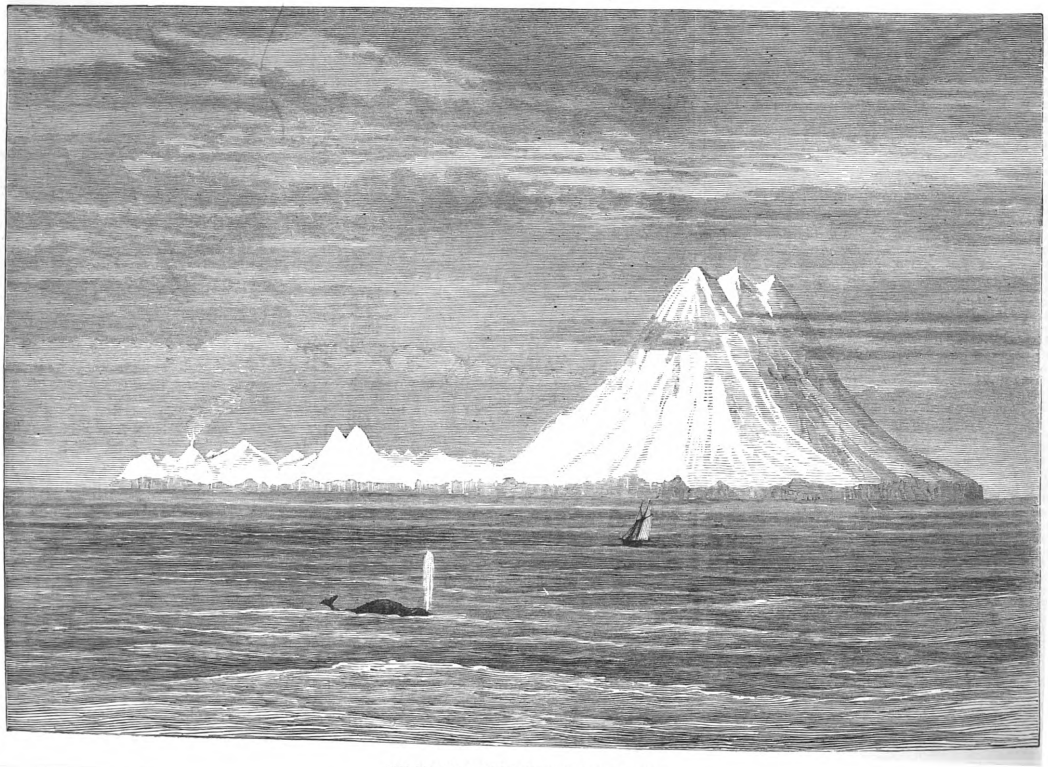
THE LATE SIR T. BIDDULPH.

We lately recorded the death, at Balmoral, of General Sir Thomas Myddelton Biddulph, K.C.B., Keeper of her Majesty's Privy Purse, whose portrait appears this week. He was second son of Mr. Robert Biddulph, of Chirk Castle. He was born in 1809, entered the Army as Cornet in the Life Guards in 1826, and served in the regiment till his promotion to Lieutenant-Colonel in October, 1851, when he went on half pay. On the retirement of General Sir George Bowles he was appointed Master of the Queen's Household and an equerry. He was afterwards appointed Receiver-General of the Duchy of Cornwall, and Joint Keeper of the Queen's Privy Purse with the Hon. Sir Charles Phipps, K.C.B. In May, 1867, he was appointed Keeper of the Queen's Privy Purse. In 1863 he was created a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath, and was recently made a member of her Majesty's Privy Council. Sir Thomas married, in 1857, the Hon. Mary Frederica Seymour, only daughter of Mr. Frederick Seymour, by his first wife, who was a daughter of the ninth Marquis of Huntly. Sir Thomas became full General in October last, on the promotions consequent on the New Army Scheme. The Portrait is from a photograph by Hills and Saunders, of Eton.

THE LATE SIR THOMAS BIDDULPH.

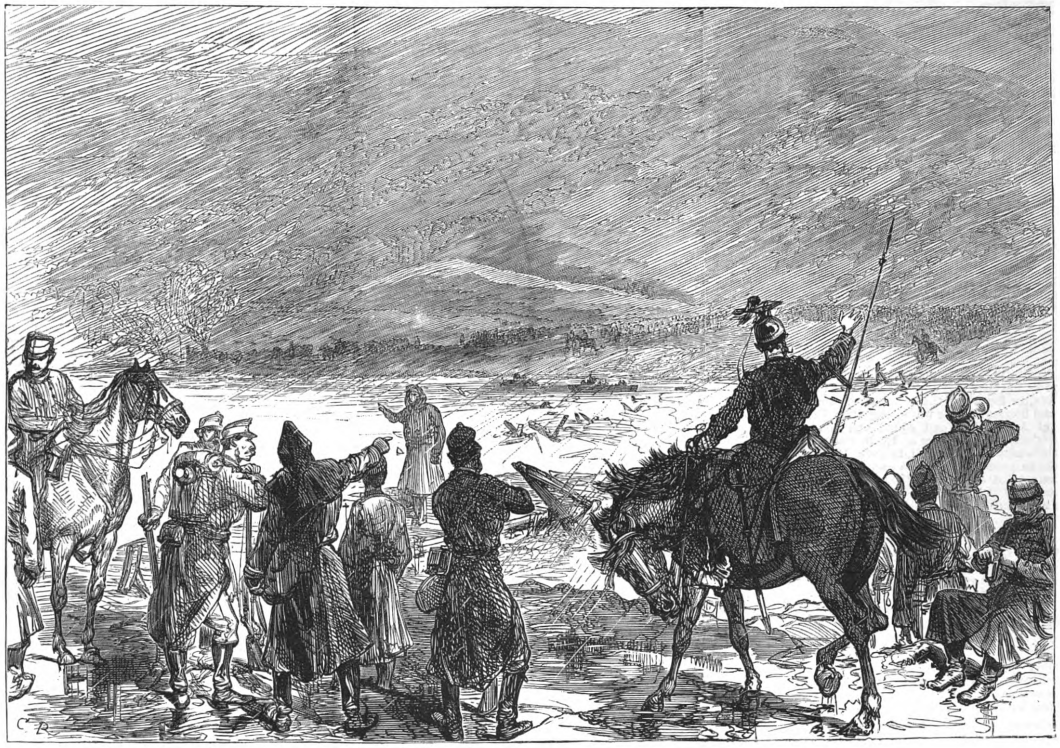
THE LATE PROFESSOR HARKNESS, F.R.S.

The sudden death of this distinguished geologist took place at Dublin on the 4th inst. Robert Harkness was born at Ormskirk, in Lancashire, in 1816. He was educated at the High School of Dumfries and at Edinburgh University. In 1853 he was appointed to the Chair of Geology in the Queen's College, Cork. Professor Harkness has won for himself a European reputation by numerous important scientific researches, whilst his character and genial disposition endeared him to a very large circle of friends. The Portrait is from a photograph by Mr. C. Voss Park, of Clifton.

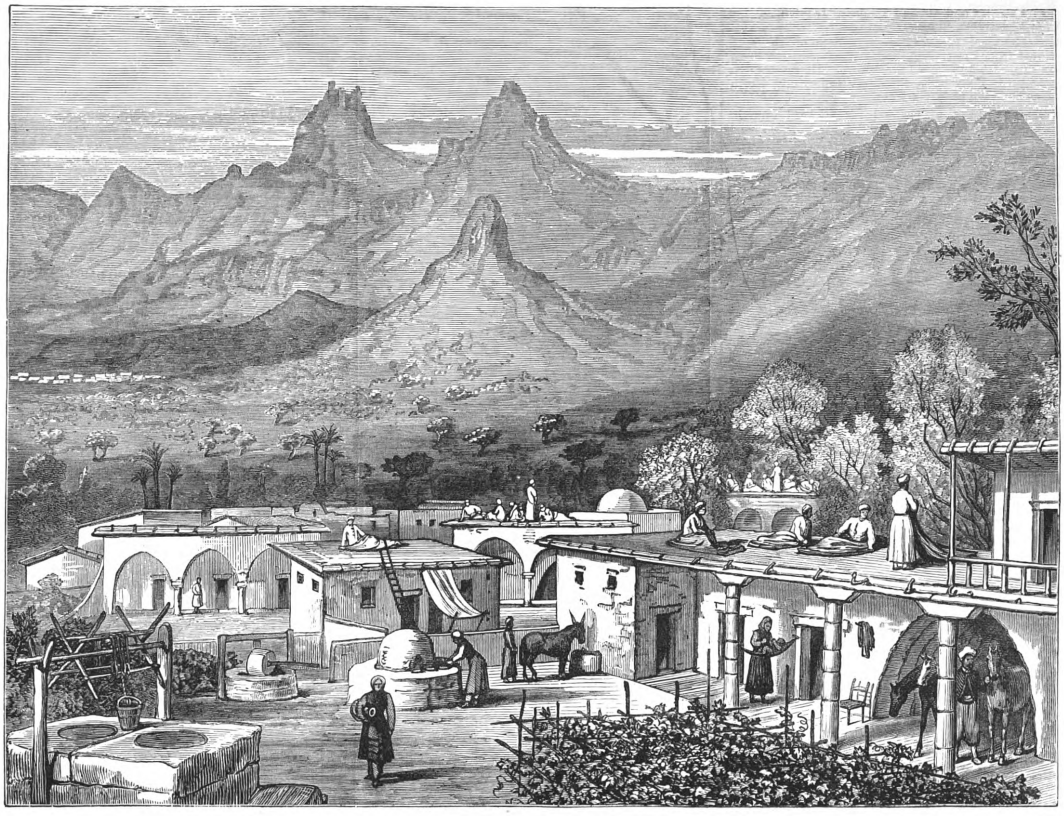


THE LATE PROFESSOR HARKNESS.

THE LATE BISHOP MACKENZIE.



We announced last week the death of the Right Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, who held during seven years the office of Suffragan Bishop of Nottingham, in the diocese of Lincoln, a charge henceforth to be merged in the new diocese of Southwell. It has been remarked, in a notice of his previous career, that his work as a parish priest was of the most varied character. At St. James's, Bermondsey, at Great Yarmouth, at St. Martin's-in-the-Field, London, at Tydd St. Mary, and at South Collingham, he had to deal with populations with markedly different occupations and characters. Yet in each parish he was beloved by the people: at Great Yarmouth he was the idol of the fishermen, and at Tydd St. Mary he was the father of the now prevalent system of school or mission chapels. When he became Bishop Suffragan of Nottingham his position was a peculiarly delicate one; but he never overstepped his duties as Suffragan, or, on the other hand, failed to win the respect which his genial manner, sober churchmanship, and sound judgment inspired. In Convocation likewise his influence was considerable. He died in harness, having been at the Diocesan Conference, and at the consecration of the chapel at Lincoln Hospital, a few days previously. He was a considerable author, among his chief works being a prize essay on the Life of Offa, King of Mercia, a Commentary on the Gospels and Acts, a work on the Parochial System, Ordination Lectures, Meditations on Psalm xxxi., and other theological publications. The Portrait is from a photograph by Maull and Co.



THE LATE BISHOP MACKENZIE, SUFFRAGAN OF NOTTINGHAM.

JAN MAYEN ISLAND, IN THE ARCTIC SEA.

BREAKING UP OF THE AUSTRIAN MILITARY BRIDGE NEAR DOBOJ.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST IN BOSNIA.

VILLAGE OF KHUMI KEBIR, CYPRUS, WITH CARPAS MOUNTAINS.
FROM A SKETCH BY OUR SPECIAL ARTIST.

OBITUARY.

SIR GEORGE HILL, BART.

Sir George Hill, Bart., of St. Columb's, Londonderry, who died on the 17th inst., was born March 22, 1866, the eldest son of Major Sir John Hill, fourth Baronet, Captain 17th Lancers, by Charlotte Isabella, daughter of the late Henry David Blyth, Esq., and was nephew of the Bishop of Sodor and Man. He succeeded his father as fifth Baronet, July 20, 1872; and the title passes to his next brother, now Sir Henry Blyth Hill, sixth Baronet, born March 31, 1867.

CAPTAIN DELME RADCLIFFE.

Hubert Delmé Radcliffe, Esq., of Hitchin Priory, Herts, formerly Captain 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers, died on the 13th inst. He was born March 27, 1839, the fifth son of the late Frederick Peter Delmé-Radcliffe, Esq., of Hitchin Priory, J.P. and D.L., by Emma, his wife, daughter of John H. Waddington, Esq., of Shawford House, Winchester. By the death of his four elder brothers (the eldest was killed at the Alma, 1854), he became heir to his father, whom he succeeded in 1875. Paternally he represented a junior branch of the well-known family of Delmé, of Cams Hall, Hants; and, maternally, the Radcliffes of Hitchin Priory, a branch of the Lancashire Radcliffes.

DR. DAVID LAING.

David Laing, LL.D., for forty years Librarian of the Signet Library, at Edinburgh, died recently at his residence, James-street, Portobello, aged eighty-six. From 1823 till twelve years ago he was Secretary to the Bannatyne Club, established by Sir Walter Scott for the printing of works on Scottish history and literature. He was a long time Treasurer of the Society of Antiquaries, and edited and contributed to its "Transactions." The degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by the University of Edinburgh, in 1864. Dr. Laing published a six-volume edition of the life and works of John Knox, besides annotated editions of the works of other celebrated Scotch writers. In early life he succeeded to his father's business as a bookseller, in Edinburgh.

The deaths have also been announced of—

Lieutenant-Colonel John Ward, late 91st Highlanders, on the 14th inst., at Kildare-gardens, Bayswater.

Major Edward Denne Nares, of 91, Belgrave-road, on the 14th inst., aged forty-seven.

Mr. James Johnstone, the proprietor of the Standard newspaper, on the 21st inst., at Hooley House, Coulsdon.

Samuel Gurney, Esq., on Aug. 17, in Prince Edward Island, aged eighty-three. He was brother of the late Sir Goldsworthy Gurney.

Lady Harriet Frances Lane, widow of Colonel Henry Lane, 15th Hussars, and second daughter of Lawrence, first Earl of Zetland, on the 13th inst., at Marske Hall, in Cleveland.

Jane Cannon, Mrs. Murray, widow of George Murray, Esq., of Ancoats Hall, Manchester, on the 13th inst., at the Polygon, Ardwick, within a month of completing her hundredth year.

Henry Hewitt Kennard, Esq., of Rookcliff and Fernhill, Lymington, on the 16th inst., aged seventy. He was fourth son of John Kennard, Esq., of Clapham, Surrey, and of the city of London, banker.

The Rev. A. Williams, M.A., Rector of Culmington, Salop, some time Afternoon Lecturer at St. Pancras and Morning Preacher at Berkeley and Quebec Chapels, London, on the 12th inst., at Llandudno, in his eightieth year.

Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Saunders, late of the 60th (King's Royal Rifle Corps and Royal Newfoundland Companies), on the 12th inst., aged ninety-five. He entered the Army in 1809, and served in the West Indies and North America for more than forty-six years.

Lady Church, widow of General Sir Richard Church, G.C.H., C.B., on the 15th inst., at Royal-crescent, Bath, aged eighty-two. Her Ladyship, who was the elder daughter of Sir Robert Wilmot, second Baronet of Osmaston, in the county of Derby, was married in 1826, and was left a widow in 1873.

David Stewart Ker, Esq., of Portavo and Montalto, who formerly sat in the House of Commons as member for Downpatrick and for the county of Down. He was a magistrate and Deputy Lieutenant of Downshire, in which he had served as High Sheriff.

Lady Vassall, on the 17th inst., at 29, Hyde Park-gardens, aged eighty-three. She was daughter of the late Edward Berkeley Napier, Esq., of Pennard House, Somerset; was married, first, to Rev. C. H. Pulsford, Canon of Wells; and, secondly, in 1844, to Captain Sir Spencer Lambert Hunter Vassall, K.H., who died in 1846.

Robert Grant, Esq., of Kincorth, Fores, N.B., on the 15th inst., aged seventy-seven. He was the only son of the late Robert Grant, Esq., of Kincorth, by Anne, his wife, daughter of the Rev. Lewis Grant, of Cromdale, and was educated at the University of Edinburgh. He was called to the Scottish Bar in 1823, and was a J.P. and D.L. for the county of Elgin.

Robert Garde Durdin, Esq., M.A., on the 19th inst., at Lower Baggot-street, Dublin. Mr. Durdin, who practised as a solicitor in that city, served as Lord Mayor in 1872. He was born, in 1818, the fourth son of Robert Atkins Durdin, Esq., of Cranemore House, in the county of Carlow, J.P. and D.L., and was married to Fidelia, only daughter of his uncle, the late William Durdin, Esq., of Huntingdon Castle, Carlow.

The Rev. Henry Lombe, of Bylaugh Park, Norfolk, on the 10th inst., aged eighty-six. He was the third son of the late Thomas Browne Evans, Esq., of North Tuddenham, Norfolk, by Mary, his wife, daughter of Edward Hase, Esq., of Sall Park, Norfolk, and assumed the surname of Lombe, 1862, under the will of his great uncle, Sir John Lombe, Bart. The Rev. Mr. Lombe was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, was J.P. for Norfolk and Suffolk, Lord of the Manors of Bylaugh, Melton, &c., and patron of eight livings, and was formerly Rector of Lyng, Norfolk.

The Rev. F. R. Raines, Hon. Canon of Manchester, M.A., F.S.A., on the 17th inst., at Scarborough. He was born at Whitby on Feb. 22, 1805, became a student of Queen's College, Cambridge, took deacon's orders in 1828, and in the following year was admitted priest by the Bishop of Chester. In 1832 he became the Vicar of Milnrow, where he remained until his death. He was Rural Dean of Rochdale from 1846 to 1877. In 1849 he received the appointment of Honorary Canon of Manchester Cathedral. The Archbishop of Canterbury conferred upon him the diploma of M.A. in 1845, and he was elected a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries. Canon Raines was well known for his contributions to archæological literature.

CHESS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

E N F (Abbey-road).—In the game referred to there is a forced mate in four moves, if Black play 23. B takes Kt P, in reply to 22. Q to K 6th. Look at 24. R to B 6th (ch).

J B (Lima).—Your very interesting letter has been acknowledged through the post.

M B.—In a chess problem White may checkmate in less than the stipulated number of moves in reply to weak defences.

M W (Stockport).—Please to comply with the rule. The solution must be sent with the problem.

J B (Paris).—An improvement, certainly, but still too simple in construction.

L K (Buda-Pesth).—We are obliged for the games. One of the problems is marked for insertion.

A S (Meran, Tyrol).—Too weak for publication. White could have won the Queen on the eleventh move by Kt takes Q B P (ch).

F P D (Strand).—Bad rhyme and worse rhythm. These have no interest for the public.

J V D B (Clapham).—The key-move of Problem No. 1798 is 1. B to Q Kt 5th. We must refer to the file before answering your other question.

H D (Frankfort).—The problem is curious, but is much too easy.

X Y Z.—We require the name and address of the author before examining problems.

Chessplayer (Lutterworth).—(1) Yes. (2) The position in your edition of the "Handbook" lacks the Black Knight at Q 3rd.

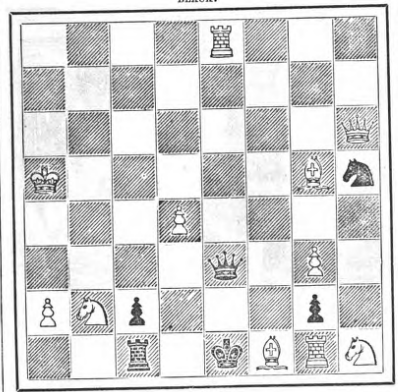
J J Coutts (Lima).—The solutions of Problems Nos. 1796 and 1797 by the members of your chess club are correct.

Problems received from A E Studd, F C Collins, and A Beazeley.

Correct Solutions of Problem No. 1806 received from J Estlin, F J Vinton, and Frank in Inverness.

Correct Solutions of Problem No. 1807 received from Herbert Dickenson, J Estlin, J Osborn, C H B, H Benthall, S Turley, and H Hofmann (Vienna).

Correct Solutions of Problem No. 1808 received from Hereward, W S B, W J W (Clay-cross), W H O, Julia Short, X Y Z, J de Honstern, C E, E P Vuillamy, E M and T P F, J Bordas, Thorpe, J W S (Dawlish), J Osborn, H Matthews, W Stanfield, H S H, P le Page, S Turley, C H Stepan, E Cornano, Lulu, C H G B, F Hampton, C C E, T Edgar, L H R, G Fosbrooke, T R Y, Leonora and Leon, M Whiteley, T W Hope, C Darrach, R Ingersoll, S, J E, W Warren, C S Cox, W C Dutton, R Roughead, T Greenbank, An Old Hand, W Lee, J Sargent, The Painter of Shepherd's-bush, C Gevelt, G H V, E H H V, Semaj, D Millar, Ecatsue, Polichinelle, J C M, Theodor Reinach, Ned Nurca, Copiapino, W Scott, D J Sedgefield, C A Pryce, C G Ellis-n, W Leeson, F Fesser, N Knimeiow, Victoria, Dr F St, J G Ridd, Fairholme, Alpha, C H B, Jane Nepren (Utrecht), B J G, R H Brookes, Owlet, E L G, H Benthall, S Stripe, and Woodstock.



Note.—This problem, we regret to say, can be solved by 1. Kt takes Kt, a common-place method overlooked by the author in the composition and ourselves in the examination. The defect may be remedied by placing a Black Pawn on Q B 2nd.

Solution of Problem No. 1807.

WHITE.	BLACK.
1. Q to B 6th	P takes Q*
2. R takes Kt	Any move
3. R or Kt mates.

* If Black play 1. K to Q 8th, then follows 2. Q to R 4th (ch), and if 1. Kt takes Q, then 2. R to Kt sq (ch), mating next move in each case.

PROBLEM No. 1810.
By J. A. W. Hunter.
BLACK.

WHITE.
White to play, and mate in two moves.

CHESS AT THE AQUARIUM.

The following Game was played recently between the mechanical chess-player "Mephisto" and the Rev. A. Cyril Pearson.

(Bishop's Gambit.)

WHITE (Mephisto).	BLACK (Mr. P.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. P to K B 4th	P takes P
3. B to B 4th	Q to R 5th (ch)
4. K to B sq	P to Q 3rd

This move is noticed at length in the last edition of the German "Handbuch" (1874), with the resulting position in favour of the first player.

5. Kt to Q B 3rd

According to the "Handbuch," White can also play 5. Q to K B 3rd, attacking the gambit Pawn at once, or 5. P to Q 4th. In support of the latter, the following variation is given, ex gr.:—

5. P to Q 4th	B to K 2nd
6. Q to Q 3rd	B takes B
7. Q takes B	P to Q B 3rd
8. Q to Kt 3rd	Q to K 2nd
9. B takes B P	Q takes P
10. Kt to K 2nd	Q to K 2nd
11. B takes Q P	Q takes B
12. Q takes Kt P	Q to B 3rd (ch)
13. K to Kt sq	Q to K 2nd
14. Q takes R	Q to B 2nd
15. P to Q R 4th	Kt to K B 3rd
16. P to R 5th	P to Q R 3rd
17. P to Q Kt 4th, &c.

5.	Kt to K B 3rd

We believe 5. B to K 3rd is the correct move here.

6. Kt to B 3rd	Q to R 4th
7. P to Q 4th	B to Kt 5th
8. Kt to Q 5th

Mephisto is too apt to underrate mere mortal adversaries. This move is sheer waste of time.

8.	Kt takes Kt
9. B takes Kt	P to Q B 3rd
10. B to Kt 3rd	B to K 2nd

WHITE (Mephisto).	BLACK (Mr. P.)
11. Q B takes P	Kt to Q 2nd
12. P to K R 3rd	Kt to B 3rd
13. Q to Q 3rd	Castles (K R)
14. R to K sq

We should have preferred 14. K to B 2nd; because then, whether Black captures the Knight or retreats the Bishop, the attack can be directed accordingly.

14.	Q R to K sq
15. K to B 2nd	B takes Kt
16. P takes B	P to Q 4th
17. P to K 5th	Kt to Q 2nd
18. Q R to K Kt sq	P to K B 3rd

Correctly played. The move prevents the threatened attack upon the Queen and breaks White's centre.

19. P to K 6th	Kt to Kt 3rd.
20. P to K R 4th	Kt to B sq
21. R to Kt 3rd

This abandons the advanced Pawn without an effort to preserve it. His best move appears to be 21. P to Q B 4th.

21.	B to Q 3rd
22. B takes B	Kt takes B
23. P to Q B 4th	R takes P
24. P takes P	P takes P
25. K R to Kt sq	R to K 2nd
26. Q to Q 2nd	K R to K sq
27. B to Q sq	Q takes P
28. K to Kt 2nd	Kt to B 4th
29. R to R 3rd	Kt to K 6th (ch)
30. K to R 2nd	Q to B 5th (ch)
31. K to R sq	Q to B 4th
32. R to R 4th	Kt takes B, and White resigned.

Another Game played by Mephisto against one of the strongest players of the day, Mr. Burn, of Liverpool.

(Ruy Lopez.)

WHITE (Mephisto).	BLACK (Mr. B.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th
2. Kt to K B 3rd	Kt to Q B 3rd
3. B to Kt 5th	P to K B 4th

Mr. Burn knows better than to venture upon this weak defence in a serious encounter.

4. B takes Kt	Q P takes B
5. Kt takes P	Q to Q 5th
6. P to K B 4th	Q takes K P (ch)

WHITE (Mephisto).	BLACK (Mr. B.)
7. K to B 2nd	B to B 4th (ch)
8. K to Kt 3rd

The position is certainly unique. Although Mephisto's King is thus early forced away from his supports the adversary is powerless to do him harm.

8.	Kt to K B 3rd
9. R to K sq	P to K R 4th
10. R takes Q	P takes R
11. P to K R 3rd	Resigns.

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

A match between the Ladies' College Chess Club and the third and fourth classes of the City of London Chess Club was played on Tuesday last at the Ladies' College, Little Queen-street, Holborn. The Ladies' Club was represented by Mrs. Down, Miss Down, Miss Helen Down, and Messrs. G. Watson, T Watson, Manning, Hearn, W. T. Hearn, Lord, Mills, and Hall; and the City Club by Messrs. Gastineau, Pizzi, Heywood, Miller, Hoare, M. Down, Israel, Templeton, Tudor, Atkinson, and Steibel. The play commenced at seven in the evening, and was brought to a conclusion soon after nine, when it was announced that the Ladies' Club had carried the victory with a score of ten games to eight and four draws. The honours of the evening were awarded to Mrs. Down, who won two games, and to Miss Down, who, after a prolonged struggle against an experienced adversary, succeeded in forcing a draw. Miss Helen Down lost two games to Mr. Miller, but afterwards, in offhand play, won an exceedingly well contested game from the Rev. G. A. Macdonnell. The play was witnessed by a large number of ladies and gentlemen interested in the Ladies' College.

THE AUSTRIANS IN BOSNIA.

The military campaign in Bosnia and Herzegovina having been finished, there are no important consequences to be apprehended from the destruction of the temporary bridge at Doboj by the swollen current of the Bosna river after some days of heavy rain. This is the subject of a Sketch by our Special Artist late at the head-quarters of the Austrian army. The task of restoring peace and prosperity to Bosnia, and of providing for the safe return to their homes of more than a hundred and fifty thousand refugees—Christians on the one hand and Mussulmans on the other—will now occupy the Austrian Government. It is stated that the late Bosnian insurgent chief, Hadji Lodja, was up to the year 1863 a porter; he then became teacher of Arabic in a mosque where his father was an imam. Shortly after he led an agitation of the Bosnian Mohammedans against the plan which had been sanctioned by the Porte of building a Greek church at Serajevo. For this he was banished by the Civil Governor to Novi Bazar, where he lived till 1871. When the Bosnian insurrection first broke out he assembled a band of Mohammedans, who plundered the defenceless Christians of the province; but, the Government having taken proceedings against him, he again escaped, and remained in concealment until last July, when the anarchy in Serajevo enabled him to play the part of a leader in the Bosnian Mohammedan insurrection.

THE DUTCH ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

The Arctic exploring-ship Willem Barentz, which left Amsterdam on May 5, touched at Vardö on July 19, in order to land despatches. Hitherto the Dutch Arctic "trial-trip" has been as successful as its numerous well-wishers could desire. The Willem Barentz has been at Jan Mayen, Spitzbergen, and Bear Island, falling in with the "ice-pack" in lat. 78 deg.; and, though the weather has not been favourable, only three fine days being recorded up to the middle of July, many important scientific observations have been made; a memorial-stone has been erected on Amsterdam Island; and all on board seem full of zeal, health, and good spirits. The return of the expedition may be looked for in October. When all goes well, they will have visited the Barentz and Kara Seas, and will have done as much as possible in the limited time at their disposal to advance the cause of science. The Willem Barentz was off Jan Mayen on June 9, which was one of their three fine days, so that the members of the expedition had a good view of the whole island, a sight which very few of their predecessors have enjoyed, the high land being as a rule shrouded in mist. This curious island was discovered by Henry Hudson in 1607, and by him named "Hudson's Tutches:" it was afterwards improperly called Jan Mayen, after a Dutch skipper who was said to have seen it in 1611. It is thirty miles long by nine broad, and at the north end rises the remarkable volcanic peak of Beerenberg, 6870 ft. high. On June 9 this peak was covered with snow almost to the water's edge, and presented a most imposing appearance, the high, jagged summits of the lower hills, from one of which smoke was slowly rising, being quite dwarfed by comparison. The accompanying View is from an outline by Mr. W. J. A. Grant, who served with Sir Allan Young in the Pandora in 1876, and is the only English member of the present Dutch expedition. The Willem Barentz is a small sailing schooner of eighty tons, built and equipped at Amsterdam by a few private subscribers, without Government aid. She is commanded by Lieutenant J. J. De Bruyne, a Dutch naval officer, with Lieutenants Koolemans Beynen and H. M. Speelman, as second and third in command, with three or four scientific men, and a crew of eight sailors.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated May 23, 1874) with four codicils (dated Dec. 11, 1875; Jan. 15, 1876; Sept. 12, 1877; and May 25, 1878) of Mr. John Penn, late of The Cedars, Lee, Kent, who died on the 23rd ult., was proved on the 16th inst. by Mrs. Ellen Penn, the widow, Edward Routh, John Cameron Macdonald, and Charles Thomas Lucas, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £1,000,000. The testator leaves to his wife all his furniture, plate, pictures, works of art, household effects, horses and carriages, £300,000, and all the capital stock and interest held by him in any waterworks company, absolutely; and his mansion house and estate known as The Cedars, for life, with the absolute power of appointing the same, at her death, to whom she pleases; to his executors, £2000 each; to his son John, £40,000; to his son William, £25,000; to his sons Frank and Alfred, £60,000 each; and the testator expressly states that any benefit given by his wife to his two oldest sons, John and William (whom he had taken into partnership with him in his business as a marine engineer, and who now succeed to the entire business), or to his two daughters, Ellen and Isabella, is in addition to any benefit given to or settled upon them in his lifetime. The residue of his property, real and personal, is equally divided between his six children, John, William, Frank, Alfred, Ellen, and Isabella.

The letters of administration granted at Dublin on the 17th ult. of the personal estate and effects of Sir John Ennis, Bart., late of No. 9, Merrion-square East, Dublin, who died intestate on Aug. 8 last, to Sir John Ennis, the son, were re-sealed in London on the 30th ult., the personal estate in England and Ireland being sworn under £50,000.

The Scotch confirmation, under seal of the Commissariot of Haddington (dated the 19th ult.), of Sir George Grant Suttie, Bart., of Preston Grange and Balgone, Haddingtonshire, who died at Grantham House, Putney, on June 19 last, to Robert Grant Suttie, the son, and Robert Dundas, has been re-sealed in London, the inventory, given upon oath, of the personal estate in England and Scotland amounting to upwards of £48,000.

The will (dated Jan. 13, 1878) of the Rev. William Sidney Saunders, late of No. 21, Eaton-square, who died on July 5 last, at Ellary, Princes Park, Liverpool, was proved on the 12th ult. by Alfred Castellan, jun., and George Brooke Mee, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £35,000. The testator leaves to his wife, Mrs. Alice Mary Saunders, all his furniture, plate, and household effects, and a pecuniary legacy of £2000; to his executors, £100 each; and the residue of his real and personal estate to his wife for life, and then to all his children.

The will (dated March 22, 1877) of Mrs. Emily Saunders, late of No. 21, Eaton-square, who died on June 26 last, was proved on the 12th ult. by Alfred Castellan, jun., and Frederick Walters, the surviving executors, the personal estate being sworn under £16,000.

The Jersey States have passed a regulation, which came into operation on Saturday, directing that all vessels engaged in the importation of foreign cattle to Jersey shall be duly licensed and registered. Any infringement of this regulation is to be punished by confiscation of both vessel and cargo.

NEW MUSIC.

ROBERT COCKS AND CO.'S POPULAR MUSIC.

CONCERTS, PENNY READINGS, &c. Popular Songs, Vocal Duets, Trios, and Quartets (Part-Songs), selected from Messrs. ROBERT COCKS and Co.'s Catalogue. This List may be had gratis and post-free on application.

ROBERT COCKS and CO.'S MUSICAL BOX. Caprice for the Pianoforte. By I. LIEBICH. "An agreeable and clever piece, which is very popular among amateurs."—Vide Musical World. Free by post for 24 stamps.

THE JOYFUL PEASANT. Melody. SCHUMANN. Transcribed for the Pianoforte by GEORGE FREDERICK WEST. Piano solo and duet, 4s. each; free by post at half price.—London: ROBERT COCKS and Co.

BEETHOVEN'S SIX FAVOURITE WALTZES for the Pianoforte. Edited and fingered by GEORGE FREDERICK WEST. 3s. each. Mozart's three favourite Waltzes, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, carefully and effectively arranged by Geo. F. West, 3s. each; post-free at half price. ROBERT COCKS and Co.

NEW DANCE MUSIC for the PIANOFORTE. By COTSFORD DICK. The Singing Quadrille (solo and duet), the Arabian Nights' Quadrilles, and the Look-out Quadrille, 4s. each; L'Eclair Galop, 3s. (all with illustrated titles); also his Contre Danse, 3s. All post-free at half-price.—London: ROBERT COCKS and Co.

THE POPULAR QUADRILLES for the PIANOFORTE. Solo and Duets. Post-free, 24 stamps each.

The Fleet. J. Pridham.	The Perrquet. S. Glover.
The Scarborough. S. Glover.	The Singing. C. Dick.
The Wide Awake. Marriott.	The Look-Out. C Dick.

London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

ASSAULT OF ARMS. New March for the Pianoforte. Composed by CLAUDE DAVENPORT. Illustrated Title. 3s. Also, by the same Composer, THE LOVE-BIRD'S POLKA, for the Pianoforte. 3s. Illustrated Title. Both post-free at half price in stamps.—London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS'S LIST.

LES CLOCHES DE CORNEVILLE. Vocal score, English Words, 10s. net. Piano score complete, 2s. 6d. net.

PIANO SELECTIONS.

WILLIAM KUHE.

Grand Fantasia	4s. 0d.
Grand Paraphrase	4s. 0d.
Third Fantasia	4s. 0d.

BRINLEY RICHARDS.

Chanson du Mousse, Barcarolle	3s. 0d.
Rondo Valse, Solo or Duet	3s. 0d.
Valse Brilliante, Solo or Duet	3s. 0d.

HENRI CRAMER.

Selection of Airs, Books 1 and 2	Each 3s. 0d.

FLORIAN PASCAL.

Grand Fantasia	4s. 0d.

EUGENE MONIOT.

Brilliant Fantasia	3s. 0d.

HAROLD THOMAS.

Bouquet de Mélodies	4s. 0d.

J. RUMMELL.

(Easy Arrangements.)

Valse	2s. 6d.	Quadrille	2s. 6d.
Polka	2s. 6d.	Galop	2s. 6d.
Polka Mazurka	2s. 6d.	Rondo Valse	2s. 6d.
Selection of Airs, Piano Duets, 3 Books	Each		4s. 0d.

WILLIAM SMALLWOOD.

(Very easy Arrangements for Small Hands.)

Couplets des Ou dit	1s.	Allegro de Ballet	1s. 0d.
Rondo Valse	1s.	Chanson du Mousse	1s. 0d.

Grand Selection of Airs	(C. Godfrey) 4s. 0d.

As performed by the Royal Horse Guards' Band.

Fantasia on Airs	(J. C. Hess) 4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs	(J. B. Duvernoy) 4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs, Violin and Piano	(A. Herman) 4s. 0d.

Selection, Violin and Piano (Henry Farmer).

DANCE MUSIC.

Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(O. Métra) 4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(Arban) 4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	(C. Coote, jun.) 4s. each.
Lancers, Solo and Duet	(Arthur Grenville) 4s. each.
Valses, Solo and Duet	(O. Métra) 4s. each.
Valses, Solo	(E. Demanet) 4s. 0d.
Polka, Solo	(Arban) 3s. 0d.
Polka Mazurka	(E. Natif) 3s. 0d.

ORCHESTRA, 2s. SEPTET, 1s. 6d.

Quadrille	C. Coote, jun.
Valses	O. Métra.
Polka	Arban.
Lancers	A. Grenville.

Halberstadt's Selection for Full Orchestra, 6s. net.

ORDER EVERYWHERE, OR POST DIRECT.

HENRY FARMER'S PIANOFORTE TUTOR, considerably Enlarged and Fingered by the Author. 1000th Edition. 4s.

"Decidedly the best and most useful instruction book we have seen."—Musical Review.

CARILLON GALOP. By RIVIÈRE. Performed nightly at his Promenade Concerts, Covent Garden. Piano Solo, 3s.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS, 24, Berners-street, W.; and 123, Cheapside, E.C.

TWILIGHT HARMONY. Sequel to "The Lost Chord." Song for Contralto, Mezzo-Soprano, or Soprano, with ad lib. accompaniment for Organ or Harmonium.

"It seems to bear us away to the solitude of some grand cathedral, where

"'Through the stained window pours
The dim religious light.'

A very fine effect is produced by the introduction of the Grand Chant at the close of the second verse. . . . The words of this Song form a beautiful sequel to Miss Proctor's celebrated poem, "The Lost Chord."

Post-free, 24 stamps.

EDWARD PHILLIPS, Music Library, Clapham-common, S.W.

MOONLIGHT MARCH OF THE ELVES. LANGTON WILLIAMS'S new Piano Solo, will rival the same Composer's celebrated "Sparkling Cascades." 2s. net. W. WILLIAMS and Co., 221, Tottenham-court-road.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE, from 25s. per month, with Option of Purchase.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 45, Horseferry-road, Westminster.

MONOGRAMS.—RODRIGUES' Novelties in Monograms, Crests, and Addresses. Steel Dies engraved as gems. Note Paper and Envelopes Illuminated in gold, silver, bronze, and colours. Coloured stamping, 1s. per 100. All the New and Fashionable Note Papers.—42, Piccadilly.

VISITING CARDS at H. RODRIGUES'. A Card-Plate elegantly engraved and 100 superfine Cards printed for 4s. 6d. Ball Programmes, Bills of Fare, Guest Cards, and Invitations, in every variety.—42, Piccadilly.

V. R.

"THREE PENS for three essential virtues famed.
The 'Pickwick,' 'Owl,' and 'Waverley' were named.
The first in flexibility surpassed,
In ease the next, in elegance the last.
These points, united with attractions new,
Have yielded other boons, the 'Phaeton' and 'Hindoo.'"
"They are a treasure."—Standard.
At all Stationers. 6d. and 1s. per Box.
Sample Box, containing all the kinds, by post, 1s. 1d.
Patentees, MACNIVEN and CAMERON, 23 to 33, Blair-street, Edinburgh. Penmakers to her Majesty's Government Offices. (Established 1770.)

E. DENT and CO., 61, Strand; and 34 and 35 (within), Royal Exchange, London, Manufacturers of Watches, Chronometers, &c., to her Majesty. Makers of the great Westminster clock (Big Ben) and of the Standard clock (the primary standard timekeeper of the United Kingdom) of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. Catalogues on application.

GROIDE GOLD WATCHES, 21s., 25s., 30s.; free by registered post 6d. extra. Facsimile of costly gold watches: exact time-keepers. Catalogues post-free. C. C. ROWE, 88, Brompton-road, London, S.W.

JEWEL ROBBERIES PREVENTED.—J. TANN'S RELIANCE SAFES have never failed to resist the attempts of the most determined burglars. Fire-Resisting Safes, £5 5s. Lists free.—11, Newgate-street, E.C.

PLEASE NOTICE—
THERE IS ONLY ONE ADDRESS
FOR PETER ROBINSON'S
MOURNING WAREHOUSE.
ALL LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS
intended for the Mourning Warehouse
MUST BE CLEARLY DIRECTED
TO REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.
Occasional misdirection of letters and orders renders this Notice necessary.

MOURNING ORDERS SENT AT ONCE BY PETER ROBINSON UPON RECEIPT OF LETTER OR TELEGRAM.

A large Staff of very competent Dressmakers and ASSISTANTS are kept purposely to TRAVEL to all parts of the country—no matter the distance—
(free of any extra charge whatever to the Customer)
with a full assortment of Made-up Goods of the most fashionable and suitable description.

FOR A FAMILY MOURNING,
and also Mourning for Servants,

Orders, however large, can be completed at very short notice by Dressmakers of the greatest proficiency, (either French, German, or English).

Observe the only one Address—for
PETER ROBINSON'S,
COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
is 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET, LONDON.

One of the most important Houses of its kind in England. Established as a Mourning Warehouse Thirty Years.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,

Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Tapissier et Cie, at 5s. 3d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie, at .. 4s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Dégove et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.

Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 9d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 4s. 9d.

200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 6s.; usual price, 8s. 9d.

PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.
As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.
Address ONLY for Patterns as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.
THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS,
Exceptional Value,
at 3s. 11d., 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.

RICH LYONS VELVETS,
at 10s. 9d., 12s. 9d., and 15s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET.
Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES,
from pure and good wearing silks,
at 5½, 7½, 9, 10, 12, and up to 20 guineas,
fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet.
Copies of the most recent Paris models.

Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.

For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement form address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES. New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.

Tarlatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s.
Black Brussels Net, 25s., 29s. 6d., and 35s.
Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 60s.
Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the above, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

FURS at SUMMER PRICES.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.

33 inches long	9½ guineas.
36 inches long	11½ guineas.
39 inches long	13 guineas.

New and Perfect Shapes,
and of the most enduring qualities.

FUR-LINED CLOAKS,

Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 34s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.

Also a special lot,
Lined with Plain Grey Squirrel,
47 inches long, at 6 guineas.

For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

SWAN and EDGAR
ARE now SHOWING
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT
OF
AUTUMN NOVELTIES,
Silks, Mantles, Costumes,
and Sealskin Paletots at all prices.
SWAN and EDGAR,
PICCADILLY and REGENT-STREET,
London.

AUTUMN AND WINTER MANTLES. The small capes worn during the spring and summer seasons paralysed for a time the business of some of the largest caterers of Fashion; but it nevertheless gave them impetus and energy to make some attractive Mantles for the Autumn and Winter Seasons.

Messrs. Jay are unusually well supplied with these necessary garments and elegant luxuries and their charges will suit all classes of the community.

JAYS', Regent-street.

FAMILY MOURNING.

WIDOW'S DRESS, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 18 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £4 4 0
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Materials per Yard. Skirts, 2½ Yards.
JAYS', Regent-street.

MILLINERY.

The small-shaped bonnets of last season are no longer the fashion, the Bonnets now protect the head, and the face is not so much exposed.

The correct and newest modes may be seen in Messrs. Jay's Millinery Department.

JAYS'
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
Regent-street, W.

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 27, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application.

LIST OF MANUFACTURERS, the whole of whose Goods, Shown at the PARIS EXHIBITION, have been PURCHASED at the Discounts stated below by JOHN BARKER and COMPY., 87, 89, 91, 93, KENSINGTON HIGH-STREET; 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, BALL-STREET, KENSINGTON, W.

	Per Cent. Discount
DANIEL TYRODE, 77, RUE DE RIVOLI, PARIS.	20.
E. et C. GUITARD, 15, RUE PALESTRO, PARIS.	33½.
ALF. HERVIEN, Successeur, 43, RUE DU SENTIER, PARIS.	30.
E. BONNECHAUX, 12, RUE DES JEUNEURS, PARIS.	50.
E. HUBERT, 42, RUE DES JEUNEURS, PARIS.	15.
VVE. MALZARD, 13, RUE DE MULHOUSE, PARIS.	50.
SERGENT et CIE., 106, AVENUE D'ORLEANS, PARIS.	35.
J. HOURY et CIE., 50, FAUBOURG POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	62½.
VION BAURY et CIE., 45, RUE PARADIS POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	55.
PEULLIER et CIE., 19, RUE PARADIS POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	37½.
DARTOUT et CIE., 17, RUE PARADIS POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	33½.
BRIANCHON et CIE., 222, RUE LAFAYETTE, PARIS.	45.
DELFORGE et CIE., 28, ST. CLAUDE MARAIS, PARIS.	35.
POYARD et CIE., 158, RUE FAUBOURG ST. MARTIN, PARIS.	33.
VVE. PINOT, 11, RUE PARADIS POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	60.
F. WOODCOCK, 17, RUE PARADIS POISSONNIERE, PARIS.	55.
THRE LEMAIRE, 13, RUE DU SENTIER, PARIS.	62.
WILMART et MAILLE, 10, RUE DE CLERY, PARIS.	60.
H. GUYON et HELVIN, 34, RUE DU SENTIER, PARIS.	75.
BANDELIER ROCHE et DAVIGNEAU, 133, RUE MONTMARTRE, PARIS.	55.
A. GAUDICHAUD GIRARD et CIE., 85, RUE MONTMARTRE, PARIS.	65.
REMY JEANNOT et BENSZCH, 14, RUE DU PETIT CANEAU, PARIS.	36.
E. BANCQUART et CIE., 32, RUE DES JEUNEURS, PARIS.	30.
FRASER and SMITH, SCOTCH TWEED MANUFACTURERS, INVERNESS.	20.
JOSHUA BARBER and SONS, HOLMEBRIDGE MILLS, HUDDERSFIELD.	15.
WILLIAM THOMPSON, PRIEST ROYD MILLS, HUDDERSFIELD.	15.
ALLEN and SOLLY, KING EDWARD-STREET, LONDON.	50.
THOMAS MELLOR and SONS, THONGSBRIDGE MILLS, HUDDERSFIELD.	25.
B. HEPWORTH and SONS, NEW WAKEFIELD MILLS, DEWSBURY.	25.
SLATER, BUCKINGHAM, and CO., 25, WOOD-STREET, LONDON.	30.
WELCH, MARGETSON, and CO., CHEAPSIDE, LONDON.	30.
WILLIAM WATSON and SONS, DANGERFIELD MILLS, HAWICK.	20.
MARTIN, MAHONY, and BROS., BLARNEY WOOLLEN FACTORY, CORK.	10.
JABEZ JOHNSON, and FILDES, MANCHESTER.	7½.
JAFFE BROS., LINEN MANUFACTURERS, BELFAST.	15.
BROWN BROS., GALASHIELS.	20.
BARLOW and JONES, MANCHESTER.	5.

The entire Lot comprising
MANTLES, DRESSES, MILLINERY, SILKS, LACE, LINENS,
LONG CLOTHS, FLANNELS,
GLOVES, HOSIERY, FURS,
TROUSERINGS, COATINGS, AND GENTLEMEN'S UNDERCLOTHING, will be prepared for Sale as soon as possible after the Close of the Exhibition.
The Public will be duly informed of the time.
JOHN BARKER and COMPY.,
87, 89, 91, 93,
KENSINGTON HIGH-STREET,
20, 22, 24, 26, 28,
BALL-STREET, KENSINGTON,
LONDON, W.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
PLEASE DIRECT ALL LETTERS AND ORDERS FOR
PETER ROBINSON,
SILKMERCER and LINENDRAPER,
TO
THE ONLY ADDRESS,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, W.,
where the Business was established in 1833.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.

110 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Coloured Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
369 Pieces extra rich Brocaded Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
600 Pieces of China Washing Silks, 1s. 9d. for 20 yards.
Grisaille and Quadrille Silks, 2s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

BLACK SILKS.

One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of Bonnet's Black SI commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of extreme brightness, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET. W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes
at 6½ gs.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES
at 5½ gs.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.

Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.

CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 46 inches wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.

VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 6d. in black, 1s. 11d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.

ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials, 1s. 2d. to 3s. 3d. per yard.

WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plain, and Snowflake, from 1s. 9d. per yard.

CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs, Black, full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.

For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY,

In Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Mille-raye Cloth, and Drap Brute; also, in Velvet, Face, Sicilian, and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Ulster Mantles.
The New Waterproof Tartan Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS (half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles, in the finest quality.

GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver, Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine, and every other description of Muffs, Neckties, &c.
A large Stock of
RUSSIAN SEAL FUR JACKETS,
24 to 27 in. deep, from 4 guineas upwards.
Imitation Seal Fur Jackets,
42s. each, 2s to 2s in. deep.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined Russian Squirrel, 45 in. deep, from 21s. upwards.
Cashmere Circulars, with Hood, and lined from Russian Squirrel, 48 in. deep, 56s. 6d. upwards.
A great variety of New Shapes in Silk Mantles, lined with the finest quality of Russian Squirrel.
Fur Carriage and Travelling Rugs, from 30s. upwards.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGES, woven from pure wool, for LADIES' DRESSES, in Navy or Dark Indigo Blue, Black, Dark Browns, Prune, and other solid colours, price 1s. 11d., 2s. 6d., 2s. 11d. per yard.
For CHILDREN a lower quality is made, very strong, at 1s. 6½d. per yard.
For BOYS' HARD WEAR it is extra milled, price 54 in. wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
Books of Patterns sent post-free by
SPEARMAN and SPEARMAN,
Devonshire Serge Factors, Plymouth.
The ROYAL DEVONSHIRE SERGE is the only true Yachting Serge.
Sea Water cannot injure it.
Any Length is Cut by the Factors,
who arrange to pay the carriage of all Parcels above Two Pounds in value to and as far as London.

WOOLLEN CLOTHS for LADIES' JACKETS, CLOAKS, ULSTERS, &c., in great variety, at very moderate prices. We also keep a very large Stock suitable for Gentlemen's and Youths' wear. Livery Cloths, &c., equally cheap. Terms, ready money only.
C. MEEKING and CO., Woollen Warehouse, corner of Hatton-garden, Holborn-circus.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost. Consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 4½d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 52, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

"PATENT WEATHER-PROOF"
SILK CRAPE, of ENGLISH MANUFACTURE.
This Crape, manufactured only by LE GROS, THOMPSON, and CO., and Finished by a New Process, protected by the Queen's Letters Patent, is made ENTIRELY OF SILK, is of a Deep, Fast Black, and DOES NOT SPOT WITH RAIN.

CHEAP POCKET HANDKERCHIEFS. All who appreciate the luxury of a real Irish Cambric Handkerchief should write for Sample (post-free), our Ladies', bordered, at 3s. 1id. and 5s. 11d. per dozen, hemmed for use. Ladies' Hem-stitched, at 7s. 11d. and 10s. 6d., exquisitely fine; of our Gent's bordered, at 5s. 10d. and 8s. 11d., and Hem-stitched at 12s. per dozen; by so doing a genuine article (all pure flax) will be secured, and a saving effected of at least 50 per cent.
ROBINSON and CLEAVER, Cambric Handkerchief Manufacturers to her Majesty the Queen, Belfast.

PRETTY FLOWERS.—Tastefully arranged Bridal Bouquets from 7s. 6d.; Bridesmaids' Bouquets from 3s. 6d. each. Baskets of Cut Flowers and Plants. Forwarded to any part of London or country.
WILLIAM HOOPER, 88, Oxford-street, London, W.

ROUND SHOULDERS and STOOPING HABITS Cured by Dr. CHANDLER'S CHEST-EXPANDING BRACE for both sexes. It assists growth, and produces a handsome figure. 10s. 6d. each.—66, Berners-st. Illustrations sent.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM, NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free for three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT, 194, Regent-street, London, W.; and 39, Rue St. Marc, Paris.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—On MONDAY and TUESDAY, OCT. 28 and 29, Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. will OFFER for SALE an immense Stock of BLANKETS and QUILTS, purchased for cash at a great reduction during the recent depression, and which will be sold off much below their usual cost. Price-List, with size and description, will be sent post-free on application.—OETZMANN and CO., Complete House Furnishers, 67 to 79, Hampstead-road (near Tottenham-court-road).

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to their extensive Show-Rooms and Galleries,
EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparison of price and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to country customers in delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and they are in position by competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

CABINET and UPHOLSTERY DEPARTMENT.—Best Plate Chimney-Glasses, in double-gilt frames, elegant pattern, large size, 2 guineas; magnificent ditto, from 3 to 30 guineas. Handsome Walnut Duchesse, shaped front, and richly-carved mountings, 4 ft., 3½ guineas. Noble Mahogany Sideboard, 5 ft., 6 guineas; 6 ft., from 8 guineas upwards. Easy-Chairs, from 14s. 9d. upwards. Drawing and Dining Room Chairs, from 10s. 6d. each.—OETZMANN and CO.

THE NEW CARPET, ANGLO-PERSIAN. These elegant Carpets, of which Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. have the exclusive sale, are of first-class British manufacture, have all the style and appearance of real Persian Carpets, with the same beauty of design and colourings, at little more than the price of good Brussels, and are very durable. Price-list post-free on application. "The Art Journal" says:—"Messrs. Oetzmann and Co. have made a better article than the Indians, Persians, and Turks, and at less than half the cost, without sacrificing aught of the grace of design and harmony of colours." For the convenience of those residing at a distance, a large piece, showing the border and centre of carpet, sent on receipt of 5s., which will be deducted from price of carpet, or refunded upon return of pattern; or, by sending 15s., three pieces—viz., the Anglo-Persian, Anglo-Indian, and Anglo-Turkey—will be sent on the same terms. Hearth-Rugs to match, 6 ft. 6 in. long by 3 ft. wide, £1 11s. 6d. A large stock of real Persian Carpets, at reduced prices.—OETZMANN and CO.

HANDSOME RUSSIAN TAPESTRY CURTAINS, with fringe borders, 3 yards long by 51 in. wide, 10s. 6d.; 3½ yards, 12s.; 4 yards, 22s. 6d. per pair; 3 yards long by 75 in. wide, 25s.; 3½ yards, 28s. 6d.; 4 yards, 32s. 6d. per pair. Patterns sent free on application.
OETZMANN and CO.

WEDDING PRESENTS, USEFUL and ARTISTIC.—Intending Purchasers should inspect OETZMANN and CO.'S VAST DISPLAY of Elegant Vases, Lustres, Figures, Bronzes, Clocks, Pictures, Cut Glass Decanter, Wines, &c.; Electro-Silver Plate, Table Cutlery, and a large variety of other Useful and Ornamental Articles suitable for Presents.—Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT. OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the selection to the firm, may rely upon a faithful attention to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally supervised by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 267 in Catalogue, sent free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

MAPPIN BROTHERS—Electro-Platers & Cutlers, Are placing the Public
MAPPIN BROTHERS—On the same footing as
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Members of Co-operative Stores, having
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Reduced their Prices
MAPPIN BROTHERS—20 per Cent.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—The well-known quality
MAPPIN BROTHERS—of their goods is strictly
MAPPIN BROTHERS—maintained.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Write for Catalogue to
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON BRIDGE.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON-BRIDGE; or,
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.

NOTICE.—SILVER and ELECTRO-PLATE.—ELKINGTON and CO., Manufacturing Silversmiths and Patentees of the Electro-Plate, Revised, Illustrated Pattern-Book of New Designs in Table Plate of all kinds, and new qualities in Spoons and Forks forwarded free by post on application. Testimonial Plate in Solid Silver, in great variety, always in stock; and Committees provided with Designs and Photographs to suit all occasions.
Address—Elkington and Co., 22, Regent-street, London; or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

OSLER'S GLASS CHANDELIERS, Wall Lights and Lustres for Gas and Candles. Chandeliers in Bronze and Ormolu.
DUPLEX LAMPS
fitted with Patent Extinguisher.
KEROSENE AND OTHER OILS OF THE FINEST QUALITY.
TABLE GLASS of ALL KINDS
and NEWEST DESIGNS.
ORNAMENTAL GLASS, ENGLISH and FOREIGN.
Minton's and Worcester, Porcelain and Stone China.
BIRMINGHAM: Manufactory and Show-Rooms, Broad-street.
LONDON: Show-Rooms, 45, Oxford-street, W.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Medieval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every article marked with plain figures.
D. HULETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn.

MAPLE and CO.,
TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.
FURNITURE.

MAPLE and CO. supply every requisite for HOUSE FURNISHING, including Linens, Ironmongery, Glass, Crockery-ware, Clocks, Bronzes, and every description of Ornament, either for dining or drawing room, or for Christmas and Wedding Presents, in separate departments.

MAPLE and CO., the largest and most convenient FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENT in the world. A House of any magnitude Furnished from Stock in three days. Purchasers should inspect the Stock before deciding elsewhere. All goods marked in plain figures. Estab. 30 years. An Illustrated Catalogue post-free.

MAPLE and CO., Importers.
TURKEY CARPETS,
INDIAN CARPETS,
PERSIAN CARPETS.

OVER 2000 DAGHESTAN and SOUMACK CARPETS, also 500 Turkey Carpets, of extra fine quality and at marvellously low prices, just received from Constantinople. These Goods have been bought by Agents especially dispatched by Messrs. MAPLE and CO. for cash, are of great rarity, some being very handsome old prayer rugs, which have been made over a hundred years. The prices are wonderfully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these fully low—in fact, one third of that usually asked for these curiosities.—145, 146, 147, Tottenham-court-road, London.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Services from £3 5s. the Set for twelve persons, complete, with 15 per cent discount for cash on or before delivery. Table Glass Services from £3 5s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons complete.

DINNER SERVICES.
Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Deep Blue.			In Blue and White.
The Lansdowne	£3	3 0	The Lansdowne	£3	3 0
The Laurel	3	13 6	The Indiana	4	4 0
			The Bavaria	5	5 0

Discount 15 per cent.

In Enamelled Patterns.			In their unequalled Crown Ware.
The One Thousand and Two (A)	£5	5 0	In Ruby	£5	5 0
The Japanese Bamboo	6	6 0	In Pink	5	5 0
The Humming-Bird	7	7 0	In Black	5	5 0
The Sevres	7	7 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES.

Plain light stem glass	£3	6	Light engraved glass	£5	15 6
Richly cut glass	5	5 0	Richly engraved glass	5	19 6

Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, sent post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

MORTLOCK'S CHINA.—ASTER POTTERY.—Reproduction of the Oriental Pattern, made expressly for Messrs. Mortlock. This ware is in exquisite taste, of Oriental character, and exceedingly cheap. A Dinner Service for 12 persons for £5 15s. 6d., complete; Dessert Service, 22s. 6d.; Breakfast Service for 12 persons, 25s.; Tea Service, 9s. 6d.; and Toilet Service, 15s., with 15 per cent cash discount. Sole Addresses—202, 203, and 204, Oxford-street; 30, 31, and 32, Orchard-street, Portman-square, W. Established 1746.

ORANGE CHAMPAGNE is a light, pleasant drink, made simply from Oranges. It is effervescent, but entirely free from spirit, and perfectly wholesome. Price 7s. per Dozen, Quarts; 4s., Pints. Bottles 2s. and Cases 1s. per Dozen until returned. Made only by CHAS. CODD and CO., 79, Copenhagen-street, London, N.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY. THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES. Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

HORNIMAN'S TEA for Forty Years has commanded a large sale, because it can always be relied on for strength, flavour, and cheapness. It is the best tea imported. Sold only in Packets.

PURE KANGRA VALLEY TEA, direct from the Plantations, at 4s. per lb. in Ten Pound Tins, or 3s. 6d. per lb. in original Chests of Fifty Pounds each, may be obtained from COCKBURN'S AGENCY, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whiting for Pastry, 9s. 6d. per bushel: Households, for Bread, 8s. 6d. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 8s. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3lb. 2½d. per stone; fine, 3s. 6d. American Hominy, 4s. Barley Maize, Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 5s. per bushel, or 19s. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 10s. 6d. per sack. Peas, 6s. 6d. per bushel; Tick Beans, 7s. 6d.; Middlings, 2s. 6d.; Ground Pollard, 1s. 8d. Meat Biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, 3s. per peck. Small Biscuits, for Invalids, in 7lbs., 3lb. size, 1s.; 7 lb., 2s. 6d. All other kinds of Grain and Seed. Special prices for larger quantities. P.O. Orders and Cheques payable to G. Young.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, deceive you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

JUDSON'S DYES.—6d. each, of Chemists. Curtains, Tablecovers, Mantles, Scarves, Jackets dyed in ten minutes in a pail of hot water.
Judson's Dyes—Crimson, Green, and Twenty-four Colours.

PEARS' TRANSPARENT SOAP.—Pure, Fragrant, and Durable. Established 80 years. The "Journal of Cutaneous Medicine," edited by Mr. Erasmus Wilson, says:—"Pears is a name engraven on the memory of the oldest, the best, and Pears' Transparent Soap is an article of the nicest and most careful manufacture, and the most agreeable and refreshing balm to the skin." Sold by all Chemists; and by Pears, 91, Great Russell-street, London.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE COMPLEXION, Making the skin clear, smooth, and lustrous.

WRIGHT'S COAL-TAR SOAP (SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS). Highly and extensively recommended for the toilet and in all cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. Startin, M.R.C.S., Surgeon to St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, the late Mr. James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Saville-row, Mr. McCall Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodside-crescent, Glasgow, and the other leading members of the profession. In Tablets, 6d. and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of all Chemists.
W. V. WRIGHT and CO., London.

PIESSE and LUBIN'S PESTACHIO-NUT SKIN AND COMPLEXION POWDER imparts a natural whiteness and youthful delicacy to the skin, attainable by no other means; also represses the unpleasantness of too copious perspiration.—2, New Bond-street, London, W. May be had of all the fashionable Perfumers and Druggists throughout the Earth, with the same facility as a book. In boxes, 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 10s. 6d., and 21s. each. Price-Lists post-free.

EAU DE CHYPRE.—PIESSE and LUBIN. This is an ancient perfume from Cyprus. During the national career of Egypt, Persia, Greece, and Rome, the Island of Cyprus was the resort of the elite, learned, and refined. It was at the time of the Crusades, when Richard I. of England assumed the title of King of Cyprus, that the famed Eau de Chypre was introduced into Europe, the composition of which is yet preserved in the archives of the Laboratory of Piesse and Lubin. Those who are curious in ancient perfumes can be gratified at 2, New Bond-street, London.

THOMPSON AND CAPPER'S DENTIFRICE WATER arrests decay in the Teeth and sweetens the Breath.—55, Bold-street, Liverpool; and at 39, Deansgate, Manchester.—Sold in 1s. 6d., 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 8s. 6d. Bottles, by all Chemists.

NO CURE NO PAY.—BALDNESS CURABLE by the EAU MALLERON. Contracts made on the above terms. References given to persons cured by this remedy. Pamphlets sent free.—Apply to the French Hygienic Society, 40, Haymarket, London, S.W.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S
WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER.
IT CANNOT FAIL TO RESTORE GREY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOUR, GLOSS, AND BEAUTY. WHEN THE HAIR TURNS GREY, LOSES ITS LUSTRE, AND FALLS OUT, IT SIMPLY REQUIRES NOURISHMENT. MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER, BY ITS GENTLE TONIC ACTION, STRENGTHENS AND INVIGORATES THE HAIR, AND, BY THE OPERATION OF NATURAL CAUSES, GREY OR WHITE HAIR IS QUICKLY RESTORED TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOUR, GLOSS, AND BEAUTY. IT WILL STOP ITS FALLING, AND INDUCE A HEALTHY AND MOST LUXURIANT GROWTH. USE NO OTHER PREPARATION WITH IT, NOT EVEN OIL OR POMADE, OR ZYLO-BALSAMUM.
CAUTION!!—The Genuine only in Pink Wrappers.
Sold by all Chemists, Perfumers, and Dealers in Toilet Articles
IMPORTANT NOTICE.
Mrs. S. A. ALLEN manufactures two entirely distinct Preparations for the Hair. One or the other is suited to every condition of the Human Hair. Both are never required at one time. For details as to each preparation, kindly read above and below this paragraph. Readers can easily determine which of the two they require.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S
ZYLO-BALSAMUM,
For the Growth and Preservation of the Hair.
A cooling transparent liquid, entirely vegetable, without sediment.
A SIMPLE TONIC AND DRESSING OF INESTIMABLE VALUE TO BOTH SEXES, THE FAVOURITE WITH THE YOUNG AND ALL THOSE WHO HAVE NO GREY HAIR. PREMATURE LOSS OF THE HAIR, SO COMMON IN THESE DAYS, MAY BE ENTIRELY PREVENTED BY THE USE OF ZYLO-BALSAMUM. PROMPT RELIEF IN THOUSANDS OF CASES HAS BEEN AFFORDED WHERE THE HAIR HAS BEEN COMING OUT IN HANDFULS. IT PROMOTES A HEALTHY AND LUXURIANT GROWTH. HAIR DRESSED WITH ZYLO-BALSAMUM IS ALWAYS CLEAN, FREE FROM DANDRUFF, AND WITH THAT BEAUTIFUL GLOSS ONLY SEEN IN HEALTHY HAIR. IT IS DELIGHTFULLY FRAGRANT. NO OIL OR POMADE SHOULD BE USED WITH IT.
CAUTION!!—The Genuine only in Bluish Grey Wrappers.
Sold by all Chemists, Perfumers, and Dealers in Toilet Articles.

GOLDEN STAR
BAY-LEAF WATER.
Triple distilled from the fresh leaves of the Bay Tree (Myrcia Acris).
For the TOILET, NURSERY, and BATH.
A few drops on a sponge or towel moistened with water, and the face and hands bathed with it, is very beneficial to the skin, removing all roughness. Most highly recommended to apply after shaving. A small quantity in the bath gives a delightful aroma, and it has most remarkable cleansing properties. Particularly adapted to the bathing of infants and young children. Most grateful to invalids and all who suffer from headache from mental labour or fatigue. Buy only the genuine Golden Star Bay-Leaf Water, sold in three sizes Toilet Bottles, 2s. 6d., 5s., 8s., by Chemists and Perfumers, or on receipt of stamps from the Wholesale Dépôt, 114 and 116, Southampton-row, London.

DR. DE JONGH'S
(KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR, KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM.
LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL.
THE PUREST.
THE MOST PALATABLE.
THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.
DR. DE JONGH'S
LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL, proved by twenty-five years' medical experience to be the safest, purest, and most efficacious remedy in which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.
SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D., Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
"The value of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."
DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL, Physician Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnors,
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod-Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod-Liver Oil, that Dr. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."
LENNOX BROWNE, Esq., F.R.C.S.E., Senior Surgeon Central London Throat and Ear Hospital.
"The action of Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod-Liver Oil has proved, in my own experience, particularly valuable, not only in those diseases for which it was originally employed, but also in many cases of weakness of the Singing and Speaking Voice, dependent on Bronchial or Laryngeal Irritation, and in forms of Glandular Enlargement of Glands, and Discharges from the Ear."
DR. PROSSER JAMES, Lecturer on Materia Medica, London Hospital.
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL contains the whole of the active ingredients of the remedy, and is easily digested. Hence its value in Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, but in a great number of cases to which the Profession is extending its use."
DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD-LIVER OIL is sold ONLY in capsuled IMPERIAL Half-Pints, 2s. 6d.; Pints, 4s. 9d.; Quarts, 9s.; by all respectable Chemists and Druggists throughout the world. SOLE CONSIGNEES,
ANSAR, HARFORD, and CO., 77, STRAND, LONDON.
"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all Impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

EPPS'S
COCOA.
GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
JAMES EPPS AND CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

THE "Civil Service Gazette" says:—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly-nourished frame."

THE "Naval and Military Gazette" says:—"The nutritive qualities of cocoa over either those of tea or coffee are now so generally acknowledged that the steady increase shown by official statistics in its consumption during recent years ceases to be a matter of surprise. One of the first firms to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our breakfast-table was Messrs. Epps and Co., whose name, since 1829, has been so continuously before the public, and whose Homœopathic Cocoa is as familiar in our homes as the proverbial 'household words.' Those whose business it has been to watch at Messrs. Epps's works the elaborate and delicate processes, and to note the care and labour bestowed before the crude cocoa bean is considered ready for consumption, cannot but admit that the popularity Messrs. Epps's productions have secured is fully deserved. The vastness of these works may be imagined when it is stated that four millions of pounds of prepared cocoa alone are prepared there yearly. The reputation gained, now many years since, for Mr. James Epps's preparation, both for its purity and its value as a dietetic, has been more than maintained. A constant increasing demand daily testifies to this—which must be as gratifying to Messrs. Epps as it is certainly flattering to the good faith they have kept with the public to secure so gratifying a result."

"All the Year Round" says:—"Having now disposed of fancy chocolate, let us stroll to the Euston-road, hard by the Regent's Park, to Epps's cocoa manufactory, where may be studied the making of cocoa on a stupendous scale, giving a just idea of the value of these articles, not as luxuries, but as actual food."

THE "Court Journal" says:—"In a climate so varying and trying as our own, to maintain sound and uniform health, our daily diet cannot be too carefully and attentively studied. Advancing science and recent discoveries have within the last few years been instrumental in adding several most valuable additions to our comparatively short list of dietetic foods. Foremost among these should be ranged cocoa, which, although known here several centuries previously, only came into general use within the last forty years. One of the first to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our table was Mr. James Epps, whose 'Prepared Cocoa' has gained such just repute for its excellent and nutritious character. Prepared originally on homœopathic principles, in a soluble and convenient form, and easy of digestion, it met a public demand, speedily became popular, until now Messrs. Epps produce over four millions of pounds of their cocoa a year, and their manufactory is the largest of its kind in this country."

"Cassell's Household Guide" says:—"We will now give an account of the processes adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston-road, London."

THE "Morning Advertiser" says:—"In the middle of the seventeenth century an announcement appeared in one of the few journals of that period, to the onset that 'out of Bishopsgate-street, at a Frenchman's house, is an excellent West India drink, called chocolate, to be sold at reasonable rates.' This is the first record we have of the introduction of cocoa into England. From a time it flourished as a fashionable drink, and then, like all fashions, subsided. Nearly two centuries after, in 1832, the duties, which had been almost prohibitive, were greatly reduced, and one of the first to take advantage of re-establishing the popularity of cocoa was Messrs. James Epps and Co., the Homœopathic Chemists. Under the name of 'Prepared Cocoa' they introduced a soluble and convenient preparation, which required no boiling, and was palatable and highly nutritious. It met a public want, speedily became popular, and year by year has increased in demand, till the consumption now exceeds four millions of pounds yearly."

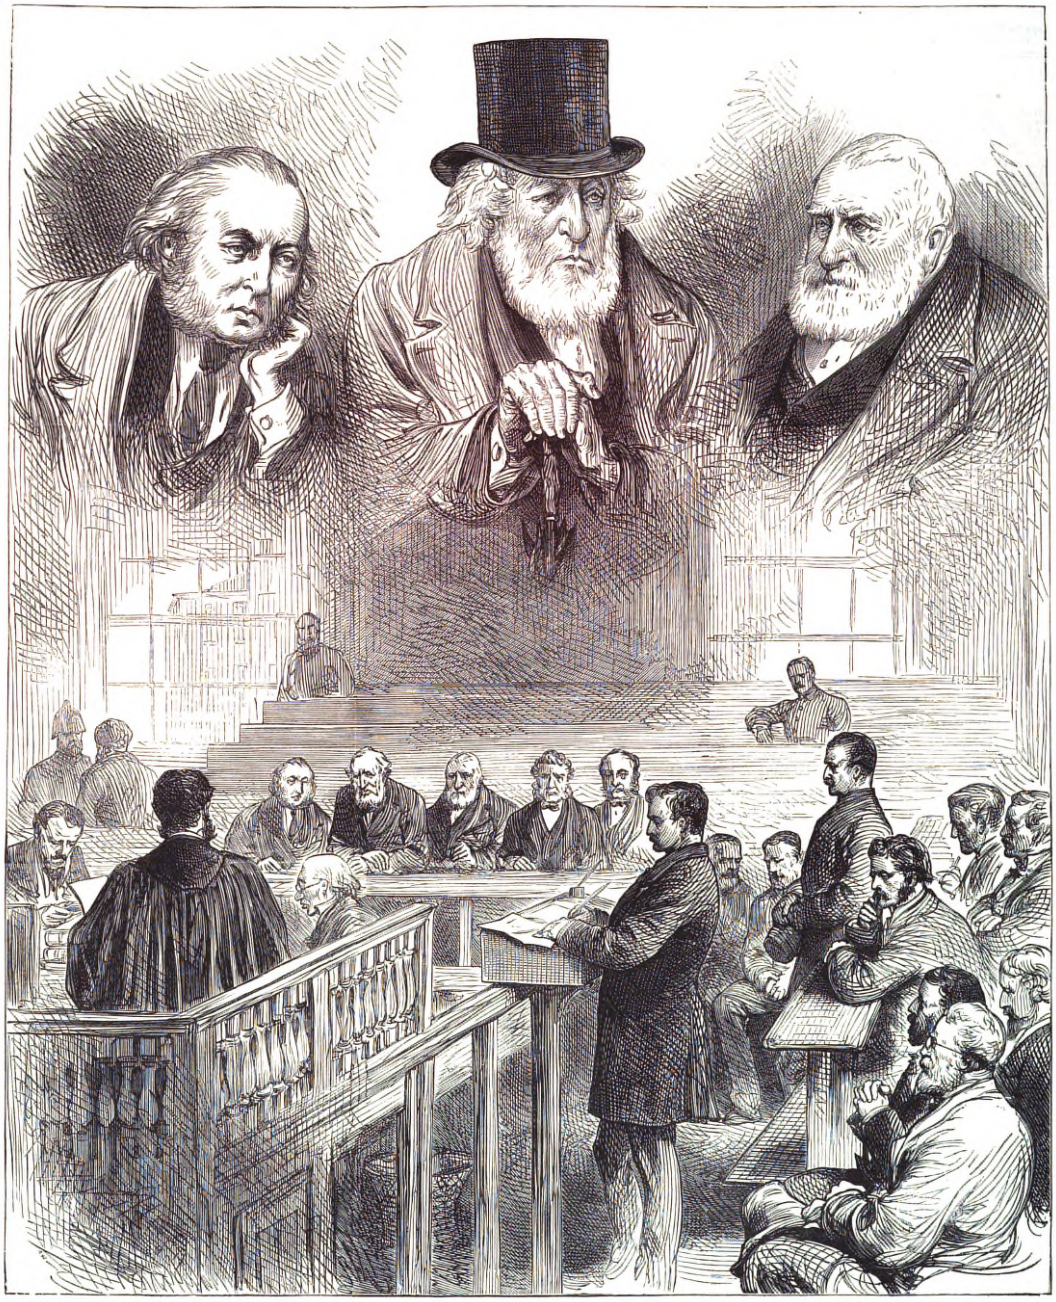
THE "Christian World" says:—"'If I am to take cocoa,' said I, 'I must know what it is made of; I must examine the process; I must dive into the mystery of its manufacture; I must, in short, satisfy for myself what are the ingredients of which it is composed. With this view I made my way to the manufactory of James Epps and Co., in the Euston-road.'"

"John Bull" says:—"In no branches of industry are recent scientific and chemical discoveries more generally applied than in those upon which our food supply is so largely dependent. The luxuries of the last generation have in many cases become the daily necessaries of the present. A forcible illustration of this is to be found in the enormous increase in the consumption of cocoa year by year—in exact proportion to the increased facilities for its manufacture. An idea of the vast extent of this industry may be gained from the fact that one firm alone—that of Messrs. Epps and Co.—now sell over four millions of pounds annually. The 'Homœopathic Cocoa' of Messrs. Epps has, during the many years it has been before the public, gained and held a high reputation, which its excellent quality and careful preparation certainly entitle it to. A cocoa in soluble form, and combining what are technically known as 'flesh-forming' and 'heat-giving' properties, is clearly an invaluable addition to our scanty list of dietetic foods. Such claim for their prepared cocoa, and such analysis and—most valuable of all—experience has proved it to be."

THE "Church Review" says:—"Although we cannot yet boast of a free breakfast-table, still the active legislation in furtherance of that object during the last half century leaves us much to be thankful for. A striking instance of the general good resulting from the removal of heavy imposts upon our food supply is afforded by the marvellous increase in the consumption of cocoa since 1850, in which period an almost prohibitive duty was levied. In 1850 the total amount consumed in this country was less than half a million pounds yearly. At the present time one firm alone, that of Messrs. James Epps and Co., the Homœopathic Chemists, sell annually four million pounds."

THE "Civilian" says:—"In the seventeenth century, before either tea or coffee had found their way into the English markets, chocolate was a favourite beverage with the luxurious classes at that period; it then fetched an almost fabulous price per pound. To-day, when modern science and enterprise have placed it within the reach of every class, cocoa is not only still regarded as a valuable and refreshing drink, but is valued for its nutritive and dietetic qualities. One of the first, we believe, who may be credited with introducing cocoa in its present form is Mr. James Epps. Prepared on sound dietetic principles, Epps's Homœopathic cocoa contains all the nutritive properties of the native cocoa bean, and is prepared thoroughly soluble, product in such a form that they are rendered thoroughly soluble, and, therefore, much more easy of digestion. The natural superabundance of fat present in raw cocoa is, moreover, not only counteracted, but made to serve one of the most essential functions of sound diet. Messrs. Epps's works are now, perhaps, the largest in the country, the cocoa produced there amounting to many million pounds a year."

"Land and Water" says:—"Through the kindness of Messrs. Epps, I recently had an opportunity of seeing the many complicated and varied processes the cacao bean passes through ere it is sold for public consumption. Having myself for many years released a new use, and being interested and highly pleased with what I saw during the visit to the manufactory, I thought a brief account of the cacao and the way it is manufactured by Messrs. Epps to fit it for a wholesome and nutritious beverage, might be likewise of interest to the readers of 'Land and Water.'"



EPPS'S
COCOA.
GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.
JAMES EPPS AND CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1878

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2053.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½d.

MR. R. S. STRONACH, MANAGER. MR. LEWIS POTTER, DIRECTOR. MR. SALMOND, DIRECTOR.

THE CITY OF GLASGOW BANK FAILURE.—THE PRISONERS AT THE CENTRAL POLICE COURT, GLASGOW.

BIRTHS.

On the 25th ult., at St. Leonard's-on-Sea, the wife of Philip Henderson Russell, of Otipua, Canterbury, New Zealand, of a son.

On the 28th ult., at Herbert House, Belgrave-square, Lady Beatrix Herbert, of a daughter.

On the 24th ult., at 2, Belgrave-square, the Marchioness of Hamilton, of a son.

On the 27th ult., at Dieppe, the wife of Henry William Nevill, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

On the 28th ult., by special license, at the Bavarian Chapel, Westminster, Henry Torrens de Rune, fourth son of Sir David William Barclay, of Pierston, Barenet, late of the Mauritius, and of 47, Holland-road, Kensington, to Ellen Eliza, younger of T. F. Henley, Esq., C.E., of 56, St. George's-square, London.

On the 23rd ult., at Christ Church, N.Z., William Fownes Somerville, younger son of the late T. C. Somerville, Esq., of Dinder House, to Bertha, youngest daughter of Sir Thomas Tancred, Bart.

On the 29th ult., at St. Paul's, Knightsbridge, Arthur Charles Pole, Captain 13th Hussars, to Margaret Louisa, eldest daughter of Lady Anne and the late Sir John Dick Lauder, Bart.

DEATHS.

On the 22nd ult., at Amsterdam, Sarah, the beloved wife of F. N. Barfoed, and dauchter of the late Thos. Fell, of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

At Cooktown, Torres Straits, Australia, murdered by the natives, James Franklin, second son of the late John Price, Esq., of Melbourne, Victoria, and grandson of the late Sir Rose Price, Bart., of Trengwainton, Cornwall.

On the 19th ult., at Leamington, Eleanor, daughter of Sir George Pigot, of Patshull.

On the 26th ult., at Northe urt, Abingdon, the Dowager Lady Arundell

On the 11th ult., at Gothenburg, Sweden, Carl Thoresen, in the 59th year of his age.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 9.

SUNDAY, Nov. 3.

Twentieth Sunday after Trinity.
Morning Lessons: Ezek. xxxiv.; 2 Tim. iv.; Evening Lessons: Ezek. xxxvii. or Dan. i.; Luke xx. 31–54.
Collections for National Church Defence Association.
St. Paul's Cathedral, 10.30 a.m., Rev. Dr. Cox, Lord Mayor's Chaplain; 3.15 p.m., Rev. Canon Gregory; 7 p.m., Rev. Canon Ware, Vicar of Kirkby Lonsdale.
Whitehall, 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.
Westminster Abbey, 10 a.m. and 3 p.m., probably Rev. Canon Prothero.
St. James's, 10 a.m. and noon, Rev. H. A. Cotton.
Savoy, 11.30 a.m., Rev. W. M. Sinclair, Resident Chaplain to the Bishop of London; 7 p.m., Rev. Gordon Calthrop, Vicar of St. Augustine's, Highbury.
Temple Church, 11 a.m., probably Rev. Dr. Vaughan, the Master; 3 p.m., Rev. A. Ainger, the Reader.

MONDAY, Nov. 4.

Royal Institution, general monthly meeting, 2 p.m.
Musical Association, 5 p.m. (Mr. Shelford Bidwell on Recent Inventions for Reproducing the Sounds of the Human Voice, illustrated by the Telephone, Microphone, and Phonograph).
Farmers' Club, 5.30 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Edwards on the Need of Greater Variety of Action in the Agricultural Interest, with discussion).
Medical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Society of Engineers, 7.30 p.m. (Mr. Henry F. Knapp on Harbour Bars, their Formation and Removal).
Royal Albert Hall and Horticultural Gardens: Organ Recital, 3 p.m.
Northern Counties' Sheep-Dog Trial Association, first annual meeting, Barbon Fell, Westmoreland.
Bristol, Clifton, and West of England Annual Dog Show (last day).
Popular Concert, St. James's Hall, 8.

TUESDAY, Nov. 5.

Gunpowder Plot, 1605. Landing of King William III., 1688.
Gresham Lectures (four days), 6 p.m. (Very Rev. B. M. Cowie, Dean of Manchester, on Geometry).
Pathological Society, 8.30 p.m.
Edinburgh Philosophical Institute, evening, (opening address by the Earl of Carnarvon, on Imperial Administration.)
Middle Temple Lecture-Room, Dr. Vaughan's Reading on the Greek Testament resumed, 8 a.m. (four days a week).
Society of Biblical Archæology, 8.30 p.m. (Mr. Cust's Report on the Oriental Congress at Florence; Mr. Theophilus G. Pinches on the Bronze Gates of Shalmaneser II., discovered by Mr. Rassam at Balawat).
Zoological Society, 8.30 p.m. (Mr. R. B. Sharpe on a new species of Indicator; Mr. G. B. Sowerby on ten new species of Shells; and Mr. A. G. Butler on a new Madagascar Spider).
Liverpool Races.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 6.

Agricultural Society, noon.
King's College, 6 p.m. (Mr. G. C. Warr on Ancient History—Greece).
Geological Society, 8 p.m. (Professor Owen on the Association of Dwarf Crocodiles with the Diminutive Mammals of the Purbeck Shales; papers by Professor W. Boyd Dawkins and Mr. H. H. Howorth).
Entomological Society, 7 p.m.
Obstetrical Society, 8 p.m.
Pharmaceutical Society, 8 p.m.
Birkbeck Institution, 8 p.m. (English Glee Union Concert).
Ballad Concert, St. James's Hall, 8.
London Dialectical Society, 8 p.m.
Cambridgeshire Ornithological Society Poultry Show, Cambridge.

THURSDAY, Nov. 7.

Archæological Institute, 4 p.m.
Meteorological Society (at Civil Engineers' Institution), Lecture, 8 p.m. (Mr. John Knox Laughton on Air Temperature, its Distribution and Range).
College of Preceptors, 7 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Fitch on Practical Teaching—the Art of Reading).
Psychological Society, 8.30 p.m. (fifth annual meeting, address by Mr. Serjeant Cox, the president).
Royal Albert Hall Choral Society, 8 p.m. (Mendelssohn's "Elijah").
Royal Toxophilite Society (extra target and general meeting).
Chemical Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. M. Kuhara on the Red Colouring Matter of the Lithospermum Erythorhizon; papers by Mr. L. T. Wright, Dr. Wright and Mr. Luff, and Dr. Frankland).
Linnean Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. L. A. Bernays on the Existence of Carpesium (C. Cernuum?) in Queensland; papers by Mr. A. W. Bennett, Dr. F. Buchanan White, and Rev. G. Henslow.)

FRIDAY, Nov. 8.

Cambridge Michaelmas Term divides at noon.
City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy—the Law of Agriculture).
Architectural Association, 7.30 p.m. (address from Mr. H. L. Florence, the President, &c.).
Quekett Microscopical Club, 8 p.m.
Astronomical Society, 8 p.m.
New Shakspere Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. P. A. Daniel on the "Times or Durations of the Action of Shakspeare's Plays).
Clinical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Dundee Poultry and Dog Show.

SATURDAY, Nov. 9.

The Prince of Wales born, 1841.
Lord Mayor's Day.
Botanic Society, 3.45 p.m.
Popular Concert, St. James's Hall, 3

THE WEATHER.

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51° 28′ 6″ N.; Long. 0° 10′ 47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

DAY.	DAILY MEANS OF				THERMOM.		WIND.
	Barometer Reduced and Corrected.	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	Maximum, read at 10 P.M.	Minimum, read at 10 P.M.	General Direction.	Movement in 24 hours, 10 A.M. to 10 A.M. next morning.
	Inches.	°	°	°	0–10	°	°		Miles.
October 23	29·551	46·5	38·8	·76	7	53·7	41·6	WSW. SW.	244
24	29·199	48·6	45·4	·89	7	58·5	44·9	SW. S. W.	332
25	29·198	47·3	40·3	·78	6	54·3	44·8	SW. WSW.	224
26	29·081	45·4	42·0	·89	7	53·3	41·4	SSW. SW. WNW.	240
27	29·532	42·8	39·5	·89	—	49·9	34·7	WNW. NNW.	92
28	29·670	44·4	35·1	·72	4	50·8	37·7	NW. W.	285
29	29·752	41·2	33·8	·77	6	44·9	37·3	WNW.	228

DAY.	Rain in 24 hours, 10 A.M. to 10 A.M. next morning.
	In.
23	0·200
24	0·420
25	0·250
26	0·010
27	0·000
28	0·005
29	0·000

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in Inches) corrected	..	29·512	29·145	29·197	29·202	29·466	29·707	29·791
Temperature of Air	..	47·9°	52·9°	46·0°	49·6°	39·6°	45·9°	43·9°
Temperature of Evaporation	..	43·7°	54·7°	45·2°	47·7°	39·0°	42·9°	40·7°
Direction of Wind	..	WSW.	SSW.	SW.	SSW.	WNW.	WSW.	WSW.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 9.

Sunday.	Monday.	Tuesday.	Wednesday.	Thursday.	Friday.	Saturday.
M. h m	M. h m	M. h m	M. h m	M. h m	M. h m	M. h m
8 10	8 48	9 30	10 10	10 43	11 12	11 36	— 0	2 0	23 0	0 40	0 58	1 15	1 32
A. h m	A. h m	A. h m	A. h m	A. h m	A. h m	A. h m
8 30	9 10	9 50	10 30	11 3	11 32	11 56	0 20	2 20	23 20	1 0	1 18	1 35	1 52

NOW PUBLISHING,
PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½D.),
THE
ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK
FOR
1879, CONTAINING
TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,
PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,
FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS
TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,
AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;
TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;
ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA
WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;
The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Offices and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Times of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.
The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.
The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.
The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

THE ILLUSTRATED
PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION.
An English Edition of
L'EXPOSITION UNIVERSELLE DE 1878 ILLUSTREE, in continuation of the Illustrated Journal issued in 1867 under the authority of the Imperial Commission, is issued every Tuesday,
PRICE THREEPENCE.
PUBLISHED AT THE OFFICE OF
THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS,
198, STRAND, LONDON.
All Country Orders to be supplied through the London Agents.

POSTAGE OF THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

AT HOME.

The cost of transmission by post within the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands, is one halfpenny.

ABROAD.

Africa, West Coast of	2d	Gibraltar	2d
Alexandria	2d	Greece	2d
Australia, viâ Brindisi ...	2d	Holland	2d
,, viâ Southampton ...	2d	India, viâ Brindisi...	4d
Austria	2d	,, viâ Southampton	2d
Belgium	2d	Italy	2d
Brazil	2d	Mauritius	2d
Canada	2d	New Zealand	2d
Cape of Good Hope	2d	Norway	2d
China, viâ Brindisi	4d	Russia	2d
,, viâ Southampton... ...	2d	Spain...	2d
Constantinople	2d	Sweden	2d
Denmark	2d	Switzerland...	2d
France	2d	United States	2d
Germany	2d	West Indies...	2d

Copies printed on thin paper may be sent to the Colonies and Foreign Countries at half the rates stated above; but their use is not recommended, the appearance of the Engravings being greatly injured by the print at the back showing through.
Newspapers for foreign parts must be posted within eight days of the time of publication.

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY-LANE.—Sole Lessee, F. B. Chatterton.—The National Drama at the National Theatre, Shakspeare's Tragedy MACBETH, at Eight o'Clock, SATURDAY, NOV. 2, Tuesday, Nov. 5, Thursday, Nov. 7, with Locke's celebrated music, increased orchestra, and numerous chorus. Macbeth, Mr. Charles Dillon; Lady Macbeth, Mdlle. Hermann Vezin. Shakspeare's romantic drama of WINTER'S TALE, at Eight o'Clock, MONDAY, NOV. 4, Wednesday, Nov. 6, Friday, Nov. 8. Leontes, Mr. Charles Dillon; Hermione, Miss Wallis; and Paulina, Mrs. Hermann Vezin; supported by Messrs. John Ryder, John G. Cowper, Edward Compton, Atkins, Calhaem, Howard Russell, Barsley, E. F. Edgar, Sheperd, Tritton, &c.; Mesdames Hudspeth, Fanny Huddart, Fowler, &c. Preceded every evening by THE UNFINISHED GENTLEMEN. Conclude with a Comic ballet by the Lauri Family. On SATURDAY, NOV. 9, Shakspeare's Tragedy, OTHELLO. Box-Office open Ten to Five daily. Stage Manager, Mr. Edward Stirling. Prices as usual. Treasurer, Mr. James Guiver.

THE TWO ORPHANS, with all the Original Effects and Powerful Cast, EVERY EVENING at 7.30. Box-office open daily from Eleven to Five. No booking fees. MORNING PERFORMANCE on SATURDAY NEXT, at 1.45; Doors open at 1.15.—OLYMPIC THEATRE.

HAMILTON'S ROYAL AMPHITHEATRE, Holborn, WILL OPEN for the Season on SATURDAY, NOV. 16, with HAMILTON'S EXCURSIONS ACROSS THE ATLANTIC AND THROUGH THE UNITED STATES—a Journey of 120,000 Miles in 120 minutes; and a GRAND PANORAMA OF PASSING EVENTS. Superb and Costly Scenery by the first London Artists. Startling Mechanical Changes and Effects. Music, Vocal and Instrumental, by a selected and talented Company of Artistes. The interior has been re-embellished and a new stage constructed. Full particulars will be duly announced.

EGYPTIAN HALL DRAWING-ROOM.—LISTON, MIMIC, Ventriloquist, Satirist, Vocal and Instrumental Entertainer, and Author. EVERY EVENING, at Eight (Saturdays excepted), and Saturday Afternoons at Three. Doors Open half an hour previous to each entertainment. Prices of Admission—3s., 2s., 1s. Box-Office open from Eleven to Five. No fees. Plan of Seats and Tickets at Mitchell's, Austin's, and Hay's. Richard Howard, Manager.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight; TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Music by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The perfect of Fanfare, the Cornet-Player, and Labial on the Euphonium, are just now the attraction and talk of the entire kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 21s. to 2½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.
ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.
THE
MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS.
All the year round.
Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.
THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.
It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.
THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.
Fauteuils, 5s.; Sofa Stalls, 3s.; Area, 2s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT. Tuesday next (first time) A TREMENDOUS MYSTERY, by F. C. Burnand; and MRS. BROWN'S HOME AND FOREIGN POLICY, by Mr. Arthur Sketchley. EVERY EVENING, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s.; Stalls, 3s. and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place.

THE ANNUAL WINTER EXHIBITION of HIGH-CLASS PICTURES at ARTHUR TOOTH'S GALLERY, 5, HAYMARKET (opposite Her Majesty's Theatre), is NOW OPEN. Admission, One Shilling, including Catalogue.

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF WATER-COLOUR DRAWINGS, by Artists of the British and Foreign Schools, is NOW OPEN at THOMAS McLEAN'S GALLERY, 7, Haymarket. Admission (including Catalogue), 1s.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRETORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 33 ft. by 21 ft.; with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street. W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £9000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1878.

The state of public affairs is, perhaps, a shade less gloomy than it was some three weeks ago. The improvement (if improvement there be) is not of a very decided character, and may turn out to be but transient. For the moment, however, the outlook may be truly described as a turn better rather than worse. All circumstances being taken into account, it is encouraging to know that the passing aspect of events, political, commercial, and monetary, contravenes the dark expectations of what it threatened to be not many days since. There is no visible development of a mistrustful spirit. Here and there, there are points which tend to the revival of hope. Capital, it is true, is extremely chary in its operations. Commercial enterprise is timid. Our staple industries still languish, and, consequently, the employment of labour everywhere declines and wages seem to be steadily falling. Although we have had a good harvest and bread is cheap, we have yet to pass through a winter which may or may not be abnormally severe, and which may or may not largely augment the already increasing burden of pauperism. The famines in India and China, the fall in the value of silver, the reaction from reckless railway adventures in the United States of America, the revival of Protectionist policy in most European States and in several of our greater Colonies, and the political uncertainties which unexpectedly survive the Treaty of Berlin, have not altogether exhausted their depressive influences. We have not yet caught sight of a prospectively prosperous period. We have still to pass through a process of pinching discipline. But, on the whole, there is less reason at this moment than there has been for some weeks to succumb to despondency, and the week just now concluding has certainly not strengthened the grounds supposed to be conterminous with those of despair.

There is, in the first place, a slight change in the political problem awaiting solution in India. The Viceroy, responding to instructions from home, pauses before committing himself to the invasion of Afghanistan. It is found, on maturer deliberation, that he has no casus belli—at least, no sufficient one for his justification in the eyes of the world. He has, therefore, dispatched an Envoy with another communication to Shere Ali, pointing out to him the grave consequences which must ensue upon his persistence in a refusal to receive a Mission from the Indian Government to Cabul. The decision to give the Ameer a further chance of averting from his dominions the scourge of war has been variously interpreted. There are those among our own countrymen who infer from it a discovery by her Majesty's Cabinet that the policy of Lord Lytton is little likely to strengthen the hold of the Government upon the confidence of the British public. There are many, again, who see in what is immediately passing in the north-west of India nothing better than a design to truss up a casus belli where none now really exists; and there are those who draw from it a hope that the ground of quarrel between the Viceroy and the Ameer will be removed by some concession on both sides, so far as to preclude the necessity of a resort to arms. The British public, we apprehend, is in some perplexity as to the true object of the Indian Government in dispatching a second envoy to Shere Ali. It can hardly be pretended that there is any show of ardour, in this country at least, in favour of a war which can create no honour, and which in its remoter consequences may entail incalculable heavy responsibilities. It must be observed, however, that there is no relaxation in India of those preparations for war which the state of the case is imagined to require. Still, all is mystery. We know, and yet we do not know, what is going on. The dénouement, it is believed, will take us by surprise sooner or later, and, meanwhile, the alternative of peace or war remains in the hands of Ministers, whose ultimate determination is wrapt in impenetrable secrecy.

The execution of the stipulations comprised in the Treaty of Berlin proceeds but slowly, and, we may even say, intermittently. But, while it must be confessed that some dangers have been surmounted and some progress made, new and unforeseen obstacles have arisen to excite general anxiety. Russia, it is true, is appropriating in act all that was allowed to her by diplomacy in the Berlin Treaty; but the proceedings of her Officers and Agents in East Roumelia somewhat overstep the agreement concerted by the European Powers. How far the Government at St. Petersburg do, or will, recognise what is being ventured in its name by those who act under it, remains to be seen. We should be foolish to hazard a prophecy.

We have no more faith in wholesale condemnations than in wholesale eulogies; but we are bound to confess that, if all that was done at the Berlin Congress was not exactly conformable to what good policy and justice might have prescribed, the peace which was established there seems to us to lay a basis not altogether unfitted for the approximate development of rudimentary rights in South-Eastern Europe for some time to come. That basis, it is true, may be set aside by the perversity or the ambition of any one of the great Powers; but strong evidence ought to be before us to warrant a suspicion that either of them will venture to back out of Treaty engagements solemnly undertaken. Troubles there will be, no doubt; occasions for the exercise of diplomatic ingenuity; materials for Bluebooks in but too ample abundance. But of a general War therefrom ensuing we cannot discern a sign.

If we have no reason for gratulation on the state of our own public affairs, we hope we may yet be permitted to take some share in the satisfaction of our more fortunate neighbours. France is singularly felicitous in her present position and prospects. The elections that have just taken place with a view to the recomposition of one third of the Senate give reason to believe that the form of Government France has seen fit to establish for herself is now tolerably secure against factious encroachments. Her domestic condition is just now more thriving than that of any other European people. Her revenue is fairly progressive; and the Paris Exhibition of Art and Industry very soon to close, has been a most gratifying success. They have proved the political capacity of the nation. They augur bright results for the future. They may be accepted, so far as they go, as a guarantee against any possible initiation of aggressive warfare. The Prince of Wales has rightfully and pleasantly represented the sentiment and feelings of the people of England on this head. Not less than France, we owe him thanks for his valuable and timely service.

THE COURT.

The Queen and Princess Beatrice attended Divine service on Sunday, performed at Balmoral Castle by the Very Rev. Principal Tulloch. Her Majesty, accompanied by the Princess, has walked and driven out daily, and has visited the Linn of Quoich and other picturesque localities. The Queen has received at dinner the Marquis and Marchioness of Huntly, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, and the Very Rev. Principal Tulloch. Lieutenant-Colonel Pickard has left Balmoral.

The Queen, in recognition of the services of the late Sir Thomas Biddulph, has decided to erect a statue to his memory at the west of Balmoral Castle.

During the absence of the Queen in Scotland several of the principal state rooms at Windsor Castle are being renovated, in anticipation of the approaching marriage of the Duke of Connaught, which will take place, according to the most recent arrangements, about the middle of February.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Prince of Wales received an address on Thursday week from the Colonial Commissioners to the Paris Exhibition at the British Embassy thanking him for the part he had taken in the Exhibition. In the evening the Prince and Princess, with the other Royal personages in Paris, were present at a reception and ball given by M. Waddington, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Madame Waddington, at the Hôtel Quai d'Orsay. The Prince and Princess were present on Saturday last at a state dinner given at the Elysée by the President of the Republic and the Duchess of Magenta. On Monday the Prince passed the day shooting, with Marshal MacMahon, at Compiègne. The Prince and Princess have been present generally at the fêtes given in honour of the various Royal visitors in Paris.

In answer to an application by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, the Prince of Wales has expressed his willingness to allow his Indian collection, now at the Paris Exposition, to be exhibited in the Edinburgh Museum of Science and Art.

The Duke of Edinburgh embarked at Marseilles on Thursday week for Gibraltar.

The Duke of Connaught has visited the Haymarket and the Gaiety Theatres.

His Excellency the Belgian Minister and Baroness de Solvyns have arrived in Grosvenor-gardens from Eastbourne.

His Excellency the Danish Minister and Madame de Bülow have arrived at St. Anne's-hill, Chertsey.

His Excellency Sir Augustus Paget and Lady Paget have left Frognal, the residence of Earl and Countess Sydney in Kent, on their return to the British Embassy at Rome.

The Earl and Countess of Mar have left St. Ives, Bingley, Yorkshire, for Edinburgh.

The Earl and Countess of Crawford and Balcarres and the Ladies Lindsay have left London for Haigh Hall, Wigan.

The Earl and Countess of Listowel arrived at Kingston House on Saturday last from visiting the Countess of Yarborough at Brocklesby, Lincolnshire.

The Earl and Countess of Stamford and Warrington have arrived at Enville Hall, near Stourbridge, Staffordshire.

The Earl and Countess of Dunmore have arrived in Brook-street from their seat in Scotland.

The Earl of Northbrook and Lady Emma Baring arrived in Hamilton-place on Saturday last from Scotland.

The Earl of Roden has returned to town from Paris.

Viscount and Viscountess Barrington have arrived in town from the Continent.

Viscount and Viscountess Malden and the Hon. Misses Capel have left town for Paris.

Lord and Lady Odo Russell have left Claridge's Hotel for Berlin.

Lord and Lady Vaux of Harrowden and the Hon. Miss Mostyn have left London for Gayton House, Northamptonshire.

Sir Richard Wallace, M.P., and Lady Wallace have left Hertford House, Manchester-square, for Paris.

FASHIONABLE MARRIAGES.

The marriage between Captain Sir Lambton Loraine, Bart., R.N., and Frederica Mary Horatia, daughter of the late Captain Charles Acton Broke, R.E., who was a son of Rear-Admiral Sir Philip B. V. Broke, Bart., the hero of the Shannon, was solemnised on the 22nd ult. at St. Peter's, Eaton-square. The bridesmaids were Miss Broke (sister of the bride), Lady Evelyn Finch-Hatton, the Hon. Eva Byron, Miss Constance Beckett, the Hon. Rhona Tollemache, Miss Minnie Cochrane, Miss Ina Spencer, and Miss Dorothy Hoste. The bride wore a dress of ivory satin, trimmed with point de gaze, and a wreath of natural orange-blossoms, with a tulle veil fastened by three diamond stars, the gift of the bridegroom. Her ornaments were earrings, pendant, and bracelet en suite, composed of pear-shaped pearls set with diamonds in the form of heartsease, the gift of the bride's mother, Mrs. Horton, and of her sister, Miss Broke. The bridesmaids' dresses were of white silk and broché; hats to match, turned up in front with myrtle-green velvet. Each lady wore on a necklace of pearls a pendant, the gift of the bridegroom, in the form of an ivy-leaf, wrought in green enamel, and bearing the initials of the bride and bridegroom traced in pearls. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert James, Rector of Livermere, assisted by the Rev. Sir Emilius Bayley, Bart., Vicar of St. John's, Paddington, and the Rev. J. Barrett-Lennard, Rector of Crawley, Sussex. The bride was given away by Rear-Admiral Horton, C.B.; the bridegroom's best man was Captain the Hon. Edward Stanley Dawson, R.N. The company proceeded to 43, Grosvenor-place, to luncheon, after which the newly-married couple left London for the honeymoon. The bride's travelling dress was of dark blue velvet, trimmed with point d'Alençon, with jacket, hat, and muff to correspond, all trimmed with the fur of the blue fox. The marriage presents were numerous and valuable.

A marriage is arranged between Charles T., second son of Mr. and Lady Mildred Beresford-Hope, and Julia, eldest daughter of the late Mr. H. A. Ernuin, of Aylsham, Norfolk.

A marriage is arranged, and will take place in December, between Mr. Robert Harley, of Brampton Bryan, Herefordshire, and the Hon. Patience Rodney, only daughter of the late and sister of the present Lord Rodney.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

There were high tides in the Thames on Saturday and Sunday. Precautions had been taken in anticipation of an overflow, and no damage was done.

Mr. C. H. Robarts was on Thursday elected by the Court of Common Council to fill the office of Remembrancer, vacant by the resignation of Mr. William Corrie. There were eighteen candidates.

The 20th Middlesex Rifles will assemble at Albany Barracks to-morrow (Sunday) at 9.30 a.m. and march to St. James's Hall for Divine service. The honorary Chaplain, the Rev. R. H. Haweis, M.A., will officiate.

Sir Rutherford Alcock, K.C.B., has presented seventy volumes, as a second donation, to the Free Library, London-street, Bethnal-green, in reply to the committee's appeal for 10,000 volumes, required to render the library efficient.

The Home Secretary has approved of the transfer of the Field-lane Industrial School, Little Saffron-hill, to new premises at Hillfield-road, and has certified the said premises for the reception of boys, not exceeding one hundred in number.

With the close of the Long Vacation comes the annual show of chrysanthemums in the Temple Gardens. Most of the varieties are in full bloom, and the show this year is a very good one, reflecting great credit on Mr. Newton, the head-gardener of the Inner Temple Gardens.

At a conference held on Tuesday of the vestries and district boards of London, it was resolved to memorialise the Home Secretary in favour of the establishment in the metropolis of one representative authority for providing hospital accommodation for non-paupers suffering from infectious diseases.

The City Press states that the following members of the Government have accepted invitations to the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs' banquet at Guildhall on the 9th inst.:—The Earl of Beaconsfield, the Duke of Northumberland, Sir S. Northcote, Earl Cairns, Mr. Cross, the Marquis of Salisbury, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Viscount Cranbrook, Lord J. Manners, Viscount Sandon, Mr. G. Sclater-Booth, and Lord G. Hamilton.

The following is the title of the essay to which the Statistical Society's Howard Medal will be awarded in November, 1879. The essays to be sent in on or before June 30:—"On the Improvements that have taken place in the Education of Children and Young Persons during the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries." The council have decided to grant £20 to the writer who may gain the Howard medal in November, 1879.

At the School Board for London on Wednesday—Sir Charles Reed presiding—the debate on school attendances was resumed, and ended with a resolution. On the recommendation of the Educational Endowments Committee, it was resolved to address a letter to the Charity Commissioners urging an amendment in their scheme for the future administration of Sir William Boreman's Greencoat School, Greenwich. The motion by Mrs. Surr in favour of the discontinuance of corporal punishment in girls' and infants' schools, was got rid of by the carrying of "the previous question."

Lord Shaftesbury opened yesterday week at Twickenham a new home belonging to the National Refuge Society for Homeless and Destitute Children. The society now possess nine homes, in which more than a thousand boys and girls are supported and trained. The new one is for boys only, and the committee want £4000 in order to free it from debt. There were also present Mr. O. E. Coope, M.P., Mr. Hubbard, M.P., Mr. Peto, the Rev. J. P. Chown, the Rev. W. S. Fisher, and Mr. W. Williams, the indefatigable secretary. The children from the Girls' Homes and from the ships had been brought to the new home for a day's recreation, and joined in singing hymns.

At the meeting yesterday week of the Metropolitan Board of Works it was reported that the City of London would join with the Board in applying to Parliament next Session for an extension of the wine and coal dues until the year 1900, with a view to provide the means for building the Tower Bridge. The Parliamentary Committee were instructed to issue the necessary notices for the introduction of a Bill into Parliament authorising the construction of a new bridge over the Thames, near the Tower. An offer by the Sun Electric Light Company to light Trafalgar-square was referred to a Committee. The returns of the traffic over Waterloo and Charing-cross Bridges showed that it has doubled since the toll was abolished.

The annual competition of the adult female members of the London Schools Swimming Club took place last Saturday morning at the Chelsea Baths, King's-road. Many ladies were present, and the races, of which there were eight, were contested with much spirit. All the members are either teachers or pupil-teachers of elementary schools, and belong either to voluntary or to board schools. The competitions were for the club medal, given by Miss Chessar and Miss Richardson; silver watch, given by Sir John Bennett; and prizes offered by Mrs. Surr, Mrs. Floyer, Mrs. Comyns, and Miss Rose Adams; and a consolation prize offered by the club. Most of the races were for two lengths of the bath, and one was for three lengths.

William Stafford, the clerk in the Liverpool branch of the Bank of England, who absconded with £15,000 in notes and securities, and was arrested in Jersey, was again brought before the Lord Mayor at the Mansion House yesterday week; and the prisoner, who acknowledged he was guilty but reserved his defence, was committed for trial.

It was stated at a conference held on Monday at the Mansion House that £55,000 has been subscribed towards the funds for the relief of the sufferers from the Abercarne explosion. The requirements are estimated at upwards of £50,000. It was decided to close the lists, and when all the claims are settled the balance will be invested in the names of trustees for application to a kindred purpose.—A meeting of county gentlemen was held on Monday in the Cardiff Town-hall in support of the proposed Miners' Permanent Relief Fund for South Wales. Resolutions were passed approving of the Miners' Society lately formed by the united action of the men and employers, and calling on trustees who have surplus funds to apply the money to the Collieries' Fund.

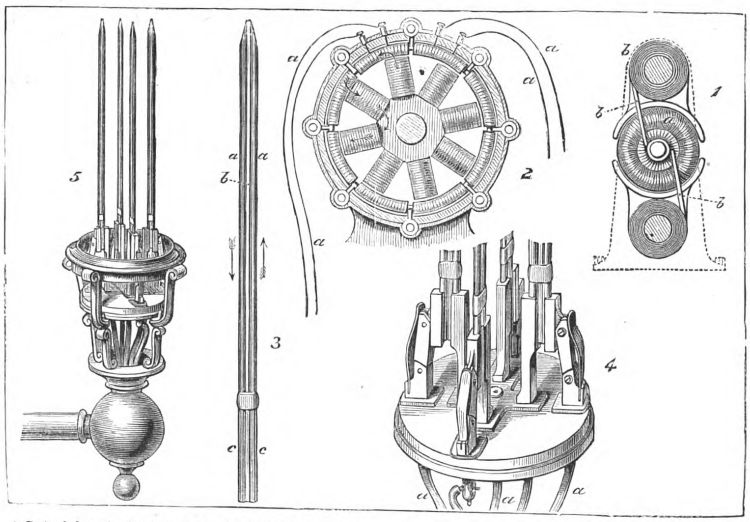
There were 2500 births and 1445 deaths registered in London last week. The deaths included 4 from smallpox, 18 from measles, 46 from scarlet fever, 12 from diphtheria, 33 from whooping-cough, 30 from different forms of fever, and 30 from diarrhœa. The deaths from lung disease, which in the seven preceding weeks had increased from 158 to 326, further rose last week to 347, and exceeded by 46 the corrected average; 225 resulted from bronchitis and 90 from pneumonia. In Greater London 2987 births and 1711 deaths were registered. The mean temperature of the air was 50·3 deg., being 2·1 deg. above the average in the corresponding week of sixty years. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was 15·6 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 71·1 hours.

The Lord Mayor yesterday week presided at a public meeting in the Beaumont Hall, Mile-end, for the purpose of inaugurating a branch of the London Hospital Maintenance Fund for the Stepney district. The appeal for a special maintenance fund of £25,000 a year for five years was started at the Mansion House on April 4 last, but up to the present time a little under £14,000 a year for the period named, or its equivalent, about £69,000, only has been raised. Local branches have been formed, and have been some time in operation in the various districts round the hospital, in order to collect such smaller contributions as these poorer districts can afford. At the meeting yesterday week a branch for Stepney was formed, and a resolution was passed urging the necessity of providing the funds necessary for the proper working of the charity.

Professor Huxley, who is the principal of the Working Men's College, Upper Kennington-lane, recently inaugurated the opening of the new premises which have been acquired for carrying on the classes by a lecture on The Human Hand and some of the Considerations Arising Out of It. Bringing all his remarkable power of graphic exposition into play, the learned Professor delighted his audience by a statement of the marvellous mechanism of the human hand, beginning with the framework, and showing how the wrist bones, the metacarpal bones and phalanges, the radius and ulna, by their peculiarities of form and connection, admitted of the varied and complex movements of the fingers, thumb, wrist, hand, and arm. Then he described the mode in which the motive power of the muscles operates, illustrating muscular contraction by the tangible example of the biceps in flexing and extending the arm. Quoting Southey's sneer—that to some men God has given power, to some wisdom, and to others the capability of playing on the fiddle—he took the fiddle-playing as the best illustration that could be given of the marvellous power of touch existing in the hand, since a good player has to regulate the pressure of the fingers and to measure the length of string to which the pressure is applied with marvellous precision, in order to produce the notes perfectly in tune, processes which have to be effected by thousands and thousands of muscular contractions, though they are so rapidly carried out. Having explained the mechanism of the hand, he showed how far analogy existed between that and human mechanism, and then diverged to the doctrine of evolution.

THE CITY OF GLASGOW BANK FAILURE.

Our last week's Paper announced that the directors, manager, and secretary of the City of Glasgow Bank were arrested and brought before the police court on Monday week, in consequence of the publication of the auditors' report, showing not only a loss of six millions sterling, but the fraudulent falsification of the directors' reports to the shareholders, and of the books kept to record the banking business, during several past years. The prisoners in custody at Glasgow were remanded to Wednesday last, when they were formally committed for trial upon the charges of fraud, embezzlement, and theft. They are six of the directors, Messrs. Lewis Potter, Robert Salmond, John Innes Wright, William Taylor, John Stewart, and Henry Inglis; the secretary, Mr. Charles S. Leresche; and the manager, Mr. Robert S. Stronach. We give, in our front page Engravings, the portraits of Mr. Robert Stronach, Mr. Lewis Potter, and Mr. Salmond, sketched as they appeared in the waiting-room at the Sheriff's chambers, before the preliminary examination; and we also present an Illustration of the scene at the Police Court, when five of the prisoners were brought up before Mr. Gemmell, the stipendiary magistrate. The counsel who appeared there for the prosecution was Mr. W. A. Brown, the Procurator-Fiscal, whose office in Scotland is substantially that of public prosecutor. The Sheriff of Lanarkshire, Mr. Clark, is not like a Sheriff in England, a mere administrative officer, but is a lawyer with some judicial functions, having, indeed, the authority which belongs in England to the Grand Jury, of finding a true bill against a prisoner, and sending him to the criminal court for trial. The principal charge against the Glasgow Bank directors will be that of stealing certain bills which had been confided to the bank for safe keeping, or for collection when due, and which have been pawned by them surreptitiously, or discounted in London, to obtain advances to keep up the credit of the bank. They will probably be tried in the High Court of Justiciary at Edinburgh. Bail has been refused hitherto. Mr. Robert Stronach is brother to the late Mr. Alexander Stronach, who preceded him as manager; he is fifty-two years of age. Mr. Lewis Potter, who is seventy-two, is a retired ship-builder; and Mr. Salmond was at one time bank manager. Mr. Inglis, of Torsonce, Galashiels, is an Edinburgh lawyer of good social position, and high in office among the Freemasons of Scotland. Mr. Innes Wright is declared bankrupt, his debts being about one million sterling. One director, Mr. J. Nichol Fleming, has absconded, and a warrant is out against him. The liquidators of the Bank estate have resolved to make a call of £500 per £100 share of stock, payable in two equal instalments, on Dec. 22 and Feb. 24 respectively. The liquidators are anxious to give every assistance and facility to shareholders who cannot realise immediately their assets without serious loss. A meeting was held this week to take measures for organising a fund to relieve the distress caused by the failure of the bank, and steps were taken to extend the movement to other cities and burghs of Scotland.



CYPRUS: SIR GARNET WOLSELEY HOLDING A RECEPTION IN THE KONAK, NICOSIA, AT THE TURKISH FESTIVAL OF BAIRAM.

SKETCHES IN CYPRUS.

The High Commissioner for her Majesty's Government in Cyprus, Lieutenant-General Sir Garnet Wolseley, K.C.B., holds his official receptions in the Konak, the courthouse of the late Turkish Governor, at Nicosia, the capital city. Upon the occasion of the Mohammedan festival of Bairam, which commences with the new moon after the Fast of Ramazan or Moslem Lent, Sir Garnet Wolseley, adopting the custom of his predecessors, received all the notables of the town and island. This visit is the subject of our Illustration, from a sketch with which we are favoured by Lieutenant Allan Gilmore, of the 61st Regiment, Assistant to the Chief Commandant of Military Police in Cyprus, and now commanding the local police at Limasol. His Excellency the High Commissioner, in blue undress uniform, sits on the sofa, his hands resting upon his sword; an interpreter stands at his left hand. The officer who appears standing in the right foreground is Colonel Biddulph, C.B., R.A., Commissioner, with whom are Colonel Greaves, Chief Secretary to the Government of Cyprus, Colonel the Hon. J. Dormer, Assistant Quartermaster-General, Colonel Baker Russell, 13th Hussars, Assistant Military Secretary, also Surgeon-General Jackson, C.B., and Colonel Brackenbury, R.A., Chief Commandant of Military Police. Major the Hon. H. Wood, 12th Lancers, and Captain Hare, 22nd Regiment, members of the staff, with Captain J. De Lancey, 71st Highlanders, commanding the military police of Nicosia, and Lieut. Gilmore, were also present. The Turkish and other native visitors of the High Commissioner appear in the opposite part of the Engraving, to the left hand. The Cadi, or Mussulman Judge, attired in a green robe and turban, is gravely making his bow to Sir Garnet Wolseley. Rifaat Pasha, in a dark blue military uniform, with a red fez on his head, sits in the chair behind, having another Turkish officer on his right hand, and on his left a Mohammedan grandee in a purple robe, with red fez and white turban. The chief of the Dervishes occupies a chair to the extreme left of the view. These visitors, seated around the stone-paved hall, partake of coffee, sweatmeats, and cigarettes handed to them by the Greek servants, and hold quiet converse with each other, or even, by the help of an interpreter, with the English official gentlemen. Another Sketch by Lieutenant Gilmore presents a view of the head-quarters' camp of Sir Garnet Wolseley, at the Greek Monastery, a mile or so outside the Baffo gate of Nicosia. The monastery building is shown to the left hand; the tents pitched for the abode of his Excellency and of the Staff occupy the middle ground, and there are some farm or villa buildings to the right; and a noble range of mountains in the background of this view. We have already given one Illustration of the head-quarters' camp, from a sketch by our Special Artist, "S. P. O." He made an excursion to the western coast of the island, just before he was taken ill of fever, but was unable to go to Baffo, or to inspect the reputed site of the ancient Paphos, renowned in Greek mythology as the abode of Venus. For our Illustration of this locality we are indebted to another correspondent, Mr. Thomson, one of whose sketches is engraved this week. The supposed site of Old Paphos, said to have been founded by the Amazons, or else by Cinyras, the father of Adonis, would lie close to the seashore, near the present village of Konklia, which is seen indicated towards the left hand in this view; it was here that Venus, whom the Greeks called Aphrodite, was fabled to have been born of the white sea-foam. Huge remnants of masonry at this place are considered to belong to the ancient temple of that goddess. On the hill to the right hand, several miles distant, is the modern town of Baffo, which has superseded another Greek city, called Neopaphos, erected there by Agapenor, grandson of Lycurgus, and inhabited by a colony of Arcadians. Neopaphos was a flourishing city under the Romans. It is mentioned in the Acts of the Apostles, fourteenth chapter, as the residence of Sergius Paulus, the Roman deputy or governor, before whom Paul and Barnabas appeared to declare the word of God; and it was here that Elymas the sorcerer was struck with blindness. These associations give a more particular interest to our View of Paphos, or Baffo as it is now called. The tents of the English military encampment are shown upon the cliff near the town.

The first meeting of the Executive Council has been held, and active preparations are being made for occupying the time of the Legislative Council. Among the first measures submitted to this body will be a proposal for the conversion of tithes into some other form of charge, probably into the form of a land-rent limited in duration and open to revision. A Customs tariff will be enacted; a scheme considered for a judicial organisation, the novel features of which will consist in a Chief Justice with appellate, civil, and original criminal jurisdiction, and in a Puisne Judge who will embrace the island in his circuit. Matters of administration and social order will receive consideration; and the whole criminal law will probably be changed, either by the enactment in its entirety of the Indian Penal Code or by the introduction of the principles of English criminal law as codified in the bill prepared by Sir James Stephen.

1. Part of dynamic electrical machine for continuous currents: a, revolving circular magnet; b, b, conductor brushes to wire coils above and below.
2. Machine for alternate currents, with eight magnets by turns in contact with circumference wire coils: a, a, wires conveying electricity to the candles.
3. The Jablochkoff candle: a, a, two carbon rods, insulated by plaster, b; their lower ends in brass tubes, c, c.
4. Bases of candles secured by spring clips to frame, constituting the lamp: a, a, conductors from machine.
5. The lamp, or chandelier, showing candles in position.

M. JABLOCHKOFF'S ELECTRIC LIGHT APPARATUS.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR: ENTRANCE TO THE KHOJAK PASS, FROM PESHIN, ON THE ROAD TO CANDAHAR.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

On Thursday last a telegram from Simla, dispatched the previous day, was published by each of the London daily papers announcing that the Government of India, after consulting the home Government, has dispatched to the Ameer of Cabul a letter having the form and purport of an ultimatum, by this means giving Shere Ali one more chance of evincing reasonable conduct, while obliging him to come to a plain decision. The reply to this letter must, it is thought, be received in a fortnight or three weeks, and meantime no preparations will be relaxed. It is stated also by one of the Indian semi-official journals that Lord Lytton, who is at Simla, will forward a final letter to the Ameer Shere Ali before the declaration of war, explaining the danger of his present course. The Viceroy's journey to Lahore has been abandoned. All the troops proceeding to Peshawur have been ordered to remain at Hassan Abdul, where a reserve camp is being formed. The 2nd Punjaub Cavalry and the Jacobabad Mountain Battery have reached Quetta, and the 3rd Scinde Horse and 1st Punjaub Cavalry have arrived at Mustang. The Khan of Khelat has sold 20,000 maunds of wheat to the Quetta force at the ruling market price, and has offered to take up all the other camels in his country for the use of the Indian Government. The Begum of Bhopal has offered to place her army at the disposal of the Indian Government, and a battalion of her troops has volunteered for service. It is said that an intense enthusiasm prevails among the Indian native troops, who are eager for employment. Many of the native rulers and great noblemen are offering their troops and personal service, along with gifts of transport cattle, carts, elephants, and stores. General Ross is superseded by General Maude in the command at Mooltan. General Stewart is to assume the command at Peshawur. Orders have been given for the collection at Peshawur of stores and transport for 20,000 men.

The only frontier news which is important is the defection from the Ameer of the Lalpoora Mohmunds, whose territory extends a long distance north and west of the Khyber Pass. Their chief is Yakoob Khan's father-in-law, and one of his firm supporters. A St. Petersburg telegram states that the Russian general staff has had printed several thousand copies of a new Afghan-Russian dictionary for the use of Russian officers. The Russian papers now openly avow that General Stolietoff's mission was designed to tie England's hands on the Bosphorus.

A circular has been issued from the War Office intimating that men enlisted for six years' service with the colours, who are now under orders or may be required for service in India, and who have completed three years of their first term of service, may extend their period with the colours to nine years.

Amongst the special orders for India which have been received at the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich, is a requisition for star shells of a pattern just introduced into the service. Each contains twenty-one magnesium stars, which, when the shell explodes in the air, will light up a large tract of country with great brilliancy for several minutes.

We present this week several Illustrations of Afghanistan, which are more particularly commented upon in another article. The view of the Khojak Pass, between Quetta and Candahar, is taken, by permission, from the series of "Sketches in Afghanistan," published by Mr. Henry Graves, of Pall-mall.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

The Council of Ministers met on Tuesday, and Marshal MacMahon signed a list of changes in the prefectorial staff.

The Chambers reassembled on Monday after the recess. No business of importance was transacted in either House. The Senate adjourned until Thursday, and the Chamber until Monday next.

The elections of senatorial delegates, which took place on Sunday, passed off quietly. Few of the results are known, but in those cases Republican candidates have been returned.

M. de Marcère, accompanied by M. Lepere, the Under-Secretary of State, attended the opening of the mayoralty of the nineteenth arrondissement on Sunday, and made a thoroughly Republican speech. An immense crowd was assembled, and bands played the "Marseillaise" as the Minister went from the mayoralty in his carriage.

An address was presented on Thursday week to the Prince of Wales by the Colonial Commissioners at the Paris Exhibition. The address thanked the Prince for his efforts on behalf of the colonies, and begged him to promote the establishment of a permanent colonial museum in London. The Prince, in reply, said he would ask the Commissioners for the Exhibition of 1851 to provide the accommodation required. At the conclusion of his reply the Prince announced that the Queen had conferred the Order of St. Michael and St. George upon the representatives of the colonies at the Exhibition. It is understood that these honours were bestowed at the request of the Prince, as a fresh proof of his warm interest in the colonies. After the ceremony Lord Lyons invited the colonial deputation to meet the Prince at luncheon. The Prince and Princess of Wales, the Count of Flanders, Don Francis of Assisi, the Crown Prince of Sweden Marshal and Madame MacMahon, and other distinguished persons were present in the evening at a ball given by M. Waddington. Marshal MacMahon on Saturday gave a dinner at the Elysée, the guests including the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Denmark, the Crown Prince of Sweden, the Count of Flanders, Lord Lyons, Earl Granville, the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk, the Earl and Countess of Dudley, General Probyn, Colonel Ellis, Colonel and Miss Knollys, General Conolly, Mr. and Mrs. Cunliffe Owen, M. and Madame Waddington, and others. On Sunday afternoon the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Crown Prince and Princess of Denmark went up in the captive balloon. The Prince of Wales went shooting on Monday with the Marshal at Compiègne, and was present in the evening at the Théâtre Français at a performance of "Le Sphinx."

A list of nominations to the Legion of Honour, composed of foreign members of the jury and of distinguished foreign exhibitors, has been presented to the Ambassadors, who were requested to forward the patents to the subjects of their respective nations. The papers contain many letters from eminent manufacturers, refusing, as inadequate to their merits, the medals awarded them by the Exhibition jury. The largest attendance on any one day at the Paris Exhibition was reached on Sunday, when the number of visitors exceeded 209,000.

At a meeting of the central committee of the National Lottery, held last Saturday, it was decided that, as the eight million of tickets was already completely exhausted, the capital of the lottery should be raised to ten millions. This figure, it is announced, will be final. The committee also authorised the purchase of new prizes to the amount of 2,255,000f.

A fête was given on Thursday week by the Freemasons belonging to the Grand Orient of France to their brethren who are visitors to Paris. It took place in the Trocadéro Palace, and about 4000 were present, besides a large number of ladies. In the evening there was a banquet at the Continental Hotel.

The annual public sitting of the five sections of the Académie Française was held yesterday week. M. Laboulaye, who presided, dwelt on the revolutions in ideas effected by scientific inventions.

M. Georges Cavalier, better known as "Pipe-en-Bois," died last Saturday. He was banished for the part he took in the Commune, but was allowed by the Government to return to Paris a fortnight ago to obtain medical advice.

The trial of the persons charged with being connected with the Socialist Congress recently held in Paris was brought to a close on Thursday week. Several of the prisoners were condemned to sentences ranging from six months' imprisonment, with a fine of 200f. to a fine of 16f. The two female prisoners were acquitted.

SPAIN.

King Alfonso has returned to the capital from a short visit to the northern provinces. His Majesty was everywhere received with the most loyal manifestations. An attempt was made yesterday week at Madrid to assassinate the King. A man fired a pistol at his Majesty in the Calle Mayor, but the King escaped unhurt. The assassin was immediately seized by the soldiers and taken to prison. The King went on to his palace amid the cheering of the crowd. On being interrogated, the prisoner, whose name is Juan Oliva Moncasi, declared himself to be a member of the International Society, and stated that he had come from Tarragona, his native place, to Madrid, where he arrived about a week ago, with the intention of killing the King. The Spanish newspapers of all shades of opinion have expressed their horror of the crime. Numerous congratulatory telegrams have been received by the King, and the public indignation at the attempt on the life of his Majesty is extreme. Immediately after the occurrence had become known the Ministers and Foreign Representatives proceeded to the Royal palace to congratulate the King upon his providential escape. A solemn "Te Deum" was celebrated on Sunday, at the expense of the municipality, in the Church of Santa Maria in thanksgiving for the King's escape from assassination. All the Ministers, the chief civil and military authorities, and a number of other distinguished personages attended the service. Similar celebrations were held in all the principal provincial towns. The King has received telegrams from several European Sovereigns congratulating him upon his escape. Both Houses of the Cortes passed on Wednesday motions protesting against the attempt on the life of the King.

King Alfonso presided on Tuesday at a Cabinet Council in Madrid, at which several hours were spent over an examination of the present condition of the working men's associations in Catalonia, and in connection with which a communication was made by the Minister of State as to important despatches which have been exchanged between the Governments of France, Austria, Germany, and Italy on questions connected with Socialism and Secret Societies, and in view of the probable united legislative action.

ITALY.

The ministerial crisis is over. The Commendatore Brin has accepted the Ministry of Marine, and the portfolio of Agriculture and Commerce has been accepted by Professor Pessina, on the condition that he is not to enter upon the duties of the office for some weeks. Signor Pessina is an eminent writer on political economy, an advocate at the Neapolitan bar, and a member of the Chamber of Deputies.

Addressing his constituents on Sunday, Signor Minghetti reproached the Government with having created distrust abroad and encouraged vain illusions at home. He strongly defended the action of Count Corti at the Congress, and urged the necessity of wisdom, moderation, and sincerity in dealing with a neighbouring and friendly Power, adding, in conclusion, that there was territory that might form the object of legitimate aspirations, but the opportunity for such rectifications of frontiers only come to nations who follow a wise policy.

Headed by Menotti Garibaldi, about 2000 persons on Sunday went to the Villa Gloria, near Rome, to celebrate the anniversary of the desperate engagement in 1867 between 500 Pontifical Zouaves and a column of seventy Garibaldians commanded by Henry Cairoli, brother of the present Premier.

SWITZERLAND.

The results of the elections to the National Council, held on Sunday, show that the position of political parties is unchanged, the Liberals retaining a large majority.

GERMANY.

Field Marshal Moltke entered upon his seventy-ninth year on Saturday last. The Field Marshal has quite recovered from his recent attack of erysipelas.

The contract for the New Four per Cent Prussian Loan of 60,000,000 marks was signed yesterday week by the Minister of Finance and by Messrs. Rothschild, Bleichröder, and the Disconto Gesellschaft, the contractors for the loan.

Notices for the suppression of three Working Men's Socialist Societies have been issued by the District Governor of Zwickau.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Baron Depretis has placed his resignation of the task of forming a new Austrian Cabinet in the hands of the Emperor. He grounds his relinquishment on the impossibility of forming a Parliamentary Ministry under present circumstances.

In Wednesday's sitting of the Austrian Budget Committee, the Government bill sanctioning the grant of 25,000,000 fl. was brought forward. The Committee decided, however, not to enter upon the discussion of the grant at present, and called upon the Government to present the Treaty of Berlin to the Reichsrath without delay, declaring that it ought to have been submitted before the occupation of Bosnia was undertaken.

M. Koloman Ghiczy, the Ministerial candidate, has been elected President of the Hungarian Chamber of Deputies by 206 votes out of 350 votes recorded. In Wednesday's sitting a resolution was brought forward by the Extreme Left proposing the impeachment of the whole Ministry, and it was resolved that the debate on the resolution should take place on Nov. 5. Herr Tisza, the President, afterwards made a speech, in which he explained the origin of the Ministerial crisis. Herr Szell, the Finance Minister, had resigned because he found the regulation of the finances disturbed by the unforeseen expenses incurred in the Bosnian occupation. The other Ministers considered it their duty to resign at the same time. They merely held office provisionally now in order to carry on the Administration, and were of opinion that the crisis should be ended as soon as possible.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

It is stated in St. Petersburg that Count Schouvaloff is to receive an important post in the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, and that he will be succeeded as Ambassador in London by Prince Orloff.

In proclaiming the transfer of the Dobrudscha to Roumania, the Governor of Tultcha has notified that all political manifestations are forbidden.

A proclamation has been issued by the Governor of Bessarabia informing the inhabitants of the districts which have just been incorporated with Russia that they will be free from taxation until next January.

The Commission for the reorganisation of Eastern Roumelia met at Philippopolis on Tuesday. Their place of meeting was immediately surrounded by a crowd of Bulgarians, who demanded the incorporation of that province with Bulgaria.

The Porte has asked from Russia an explanation of the return of her troops to the positions which they had evacuated.

Baker Pasha has undertaken to carry out his plans for completing the fortifications of Constantinople within two months.

The scheme of reforms for Asia Minor which was proposed by the Marquis of Salisbury has been signed by the Sultan and delivered to Sir A. H. Layard.

Sir Henry Layard has addressed a Note to the Porte, insisting in energetic terms upon the execution of the convention with this country abolishing the sale and importation of slaves.

The Mixed Financial Commission held its first sitting at Constantinople on Tuesday, and resolved to observe absolute secrecy as to its proceedings.

The Porte has sent to its representatives abroad a Circular describing the present position of the Mussulmans in Roumelia and Bulgaria as intolerable. It is mentioned in another despatch from Constantinople that a Note has been addressed to the Porte by Prince Labanoff stating that the Russian authorities are responsible for excesses committed by Bulgarians, and that they will take military measures against the irruption of Bulgarians into Macedonia.

On the recommendation of General Nedjeb Pasha, Mr. Frank Scudamore, son of Mr. Frank Ives Scudamore, has received the Turkish war medal for his services with the Stafford House hospitals and ambulances in the Balkans and Bulgaria.

SERVIA.

The Government has received from the Moscow Committee another present of 100,000 gold imperials. At the request of the Czar, Prince Milan has issued a decree founding a chair for Russian literature at the University of Belgrade. In official circles at Belgrade it is stated that the Servian army will be immediately demobilised and reduced to a peace footing.

EGYPT.

The Princes and Princesses of the Khedive's family yesterday week completed, according to the formalities of the Mussulman law, the act of ceding their landed property to the State, represented on the occasion by Nubar Pasha. A decree, countersigned by the President of the Council of Ministers, has been issued by the Khedive, formally confirming the cession of the lands and palaces of his family, and transferring them to the State in perpetuity. He has also authorised Mr. Rivers Wilson to contract a five per cent loan, not exceeding £8,500,000, guaranteed by the ceded property, supplemented, if needed, by an appropriation from the general Egyptian revenue.

GREECE.

By a majority of four votes, the bill brought into the Chamber by the Government, for calling out the third and fourth class of the military reserves, was rejected in Tuesday's sitting of the Chamber. In consequence of this the Ministry tendered its resignation, which was accepted by the King. MM. Zaimis and Tricoupis have been summoned to the palace.

AMERICA.

Speeches have been delivered by President Hayes and Mr. Secretary Sherman at Cumberland, Maryland, expressing a conviction that there is every indication of reviving prosperity in the United States. The balance of trade, Mr. Sherman said, was in favour of America to the extent of 289,000,000 dols.

A letter from Mr. Evarts, Secretary of State, to Mr. Welch, the United States Minister in London, with reference to the case of the American fishermen driven away from Fortune Bay, Newfoundland, expresses regret that this question should have arisen so near the time for the settlement of the Halifax award. Mr. Evarts states, in conclusion, that until the reply of England has been received it would be premature to consider what course the States should take.

Since the outbreak of yellow fever in the Southern States it is estimated that 30,000 persons have been attacked by the epidemic, fatally in about 12,000 cases. Twenty-two deaths from the fever occurred at New Orleans on Sunday, and four at Memphis.

The storm which burst over America last week was very destructive to life and property. It originated off the Florida coast on Sunday, and struck the middle of the Atlantic coast on Wednesday morning, expending its greatest force in the States of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In Philadelphia nearly 400 dwellings were unroofed and 118 dwellings were partly demolished; twenty-two churches, seventy-nine mills and factories, warehouses, schools, and several railway stations were damaged; two bridges were blown down, and seventeen vessels sunk or damaged in the river. Five persons were killed, and forty or fifty injured. In a wreck in Chesapeake Bay twenty persons perished, and eighteen more were lost in a ship which foundered off Cape Henry, and other cases of drowning are reported.

Securities to the value of 2,673,000 dols. and 84,000 dols. in cash and negotiable bonds were stolen by burglars on Sunday from the "Manhattan Savings Institution."

Several whites in South Carolina have been arrested by the authorities for interfering with political meetings, and for intimidating the negroes.

The Australian cricketers have won a match at San Francisco against the twenty-two of California by an innings and 135 runs. The Australians scored 302 in their first innings, while the twenty-two obtained only 62 in their first and 105 in their second innings. The Australian team of cricketers sailed from San Francisco last Monday, on their home passage.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

Sir Bartle Frere on the 8th ult., the time the latest news was telegraphed from Cape Town, was still at Maritzburg, and General Thesiger, the commander-in-chief, was inspecting the frontier posts. From the Transvaal and the northern border no fresh intelligence has been received.

The King of Dahomey has had another "grand custom," and has slain several hundreds of his subjects within a month.

Mr. Pope Hennessy, the Governor of Kong-Kong, has received from Mr. Belilios, a director of the Hong-Kong and Shanghai Bank, £1000 for the erection of a statue to the Earl of Beaconsfield at Hong-Kong.

The Indian correspondent of the Times states that news from Mandalay continues satisfactory. The attitude of the new King and his Ministers towards the British Government is infinitely more conciliatory than in the last reign.

Serious disturbances are reported to have occurred at Foochow, where the chapel of the English missionaries has been burned down by the Chinese. Assistance was asked for, and a party of men was dispatched from her Majesty's ship Nassau to the scene of the riots.

The Extra Supplement.

THE WANDERING MINSTREL.

A graceful and pleasant scene is this of the lady and gentleman in an elegant garden delighting themselves with the song and guitar-music of a gentle feminine performer, who is accompanied, in her tuneful tour of the country, by a pretty little boy, carrying in his satchel the scanty provision for their frugal repast. It is to be hoped that the more fortunate pair, whose dress and manner betoken a certain degree of rank, in the courtly fashion of the last century, will bestow a liberal reward on this humble minister to the amusement of their tranquil leisure. She is far more welcome to them, no doubt, in these precincts of a rural mansion, than she would have been in front of the windows of their town house in St. James's-square, amongst the link-boys, sedan-chairs, powdered lackeys, and hackney coaches of bustling West-End London.

The Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge has received £1000, given anonymously.

Mr. W. E. Forster, M.P., distributed the prizes at the Keighley Science and Art Schools on Wednesday.

The Marquis of Lorne, Governor-General of Canada, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Colonial Institute.

The Sheffield Town Council resolved on Wednesday to borrow a further sum of £300,000 for street improvements.

The receipts from the congregational collections in Birmingham on Sunday last in aid of the Queen's Hospital amounted to £5400.

The annual meeting of the supporters of the City Science School was held in the Durham Townhall last Saturday, the chair being occupied by the Dean of Durham.

Mr. N. Barnaby, C.B., Director of Naval Construction at the Admiralty, distributed the prizes to the successful students of the science and art classes at Sheerness on Tuesday.

The Marquis of Ripon on Monday opened a bazaar which is being held in the Corn Exchange, Wakefield, with the object of raising funds for the erection of new Roman Catholic schools in that town.

Lord Carnarvon is to deliver the opening address at the meeting of the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution next Tuesday. His subject (the Scotsman understands) will be "Imperial Administration."

The Liverpool Town Council resolved on Wednesday to present an address to the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise on Nov. 14, when they will visit Liverpool previous to their departure for Canada.

The Limerick Chronicle says that Colonel the Hon. Charles White, Lord Lieutenant of Clare, has sold his Broadford estate to Mr. Phelps. His mansion and demesne at Cahircon and the Clonderlaw estate are also for sale.

A full-length portrait of Mr. S. S. Bankart, painted by Mr. Sydney Hodges, of Fitzroy-square, has been placed in the board-room of the Leicestershire Bank, in recognition of his valuable services as chairman for several years.

The Town Council of Aberdeen has resolved to confer the freedom of the city on the Hon. Sir Arthur Gordon, Governor of Fiji, who is at present living at Haddo House, Aberdeenshire, the residence of his nephew, the Earl of Aberdeen.

A life-size portrait in oil of Mr. Edward Shipley Ellis, chairman of the Midland Railway Company, painted by Mr. Dowling, and subscribed for by a few friends of Mr. Ellis, was on Tuesday presented to the Corporation of Leicester.

The Simultaneous, or "Orphans' Day," collection in aid of the Commercial Travellers' Schools, was made in every hotel throughout the United Kingdom on Wednesday, it being the anniversary of the opening of the institution at Pinner by the late Prince Consort.

Mr. H. Edwards, Liberal member for Weymouth, having advanced £5000 to the Corporation at 5 per cent interest for the extension of the outer pier, writes to the Mayor that he hands over the entire sum in perpetuity for the benefit of the poor of Weymouth.

Lieutenant-General Henry Smyth, C.B., has been promoted to the rank of General, and Major-General Richard Walter Lacy to be Lieutenant-General: Major-General F. Francis Maude, V.C., C.B., serving as Major-General on the Staff in India, to be Lieutenant-General.

At a special meeting of the Warwickshire Chamber of Agriculture, held at the Shire Hall, Warwick, last Saturday, a resolution was unanimously adopted in favour of the cental (100 lb.) being adopted as the uniform denomination for the sale of grain, and the secretary was instructed to forward the resolution of the chamber to the Board of Trade.

The Royal Society announces that applications for grants from the Government fund of £4000 for the promotion of scientific research, or from the Government grant of £1000 must be forwarded to the secretaries of the society before the last day of the present year. The meeting of the committee to consider the applications made will be held next February.

Last Saturday the annual presentation of prizes given by the Worcestershire Volunteer Association took place at Worcester. Earl Beauchamp, Lord Lieutenant of the county, presided, and the presentations were made by Countess Beauchamp. His Lordship mentioned that the first battalion of Worcestershire Rifle Volunteers had carried off the county challenge shield nine times, and the second battalion eight times.

The Countess of Derby opened a college for girls in Grove-street, Liverpool, on Tuesday. The new building, which is in the Perpendicular Gothic style, is a development of the girls' collegiate school in Bedford-street North, originated by Dean Howson when he was Principal of Liverpool College. It is arranged to accommodate 360 pupils, but is capable of extension to the requirements of 240 more. Besides the class-rooms there is a lecture-hall, a dining-room, a gymnasium, and a playground. There are also sleeping and sitting rooms for the lady superintendent and the teachers.

Publishers announce an unusually large number of Christmas publications this year. The special Christmas number of the World, to be issued on Dec. 12, promises to be particularly attractive. One of the brilliant band of literary men who assisted the late Charles Dickens in the production of his inimitably humorous Christmas budgets of fiction, Mr. Edmund Yates, should know how to please the public palate to a nicety. Among his contributors will be Mrs. Lynn Linton, Captain Hawley Smart, Mr. Luke Fildes (who will furnish an illustration to a story entitled "Found Dead"), and Mr. Alfred Bryan, a rising young artist, who will portray the best-known personages of the day in a coloured lithograph called "At the Play."

THE BECKTON GASWORKS.

The Gas Light and Coke Company of London, formed in 1810, and incorporated by royal charter in 1812, is by far the greatest manufacturer and dealer in gas, having annexed to itself, by successive amalgamations, other large joint-stock concerns of the same kind all over the metropolis. It is also the oldest Gas Company, as its operations were commenced very shortly after the first efforts of Mr. Winsor and others to introduce the public use of this manner of lighting the streets. The earliest conspicuous instance, in England, of gas-lighting for the interior of large buildings or premises was in 1802, at the Soho ironworks and engine factory of Messrs. Boulton and Watt, Birmingham. The name of William Murdoch, a Scotchman, who had begun this application of gas some years before at Redruth, in Cornwall, and who constructed the Soho gasworks, claims to be remembered, equally with that of the French scientific chemist Lebon, by whom the invention was made known throughout Europe. Mr. James Clegg and his successor, Mr. George Low, engineers to the London Chartered Company in its early times, have the merit of devising the chief mechanical appliances of gas manufacture.

The Beckton Gasworks of this great company, named after Mr. Simon Adams Beck, its chairman, were erected between 1868 and 1870 at a place on the north bank of the Thames, about one mile below North Woolwich, and just above Barking Creek. It was almost exactly opposite this place that the late terrible disaster of the Princess Alice occurred; and it will be recollected that Mr. W. Trewby, resident managing director of the Gasworks, then earned a share of public applause by his prompt efforts to rescue the drowning, and his kind care of those brought to land on that shore. We are now indebted to him, and to Mr. Frederick Beale, deputy engineer, for the opportunity of furnishing an Illustration of one of the processes, with a brief account of the gas manufacture at Beckton. It will be of general interest at the present time, when many shareholders in gasworks all over the kingdom feel somewhat alarmed, we hope without much cause, at the rumoured approaching competition of the Electric Light.

The aspect of Beckton is very striking to passengers down the river. Vast piles of building, with a stately monumental clock-tower in the spacious front lawn, and with seven or eight immense gasholders (cylindrical iron structures painted a bright red, supported by lofty iron pillars), rise near the water's edge. Wharves and timber jetties, with a branch line of railway, serve for the accommodation of a large private traffic. The premises cover about 150 acres; and, in addition to the gasworks, the company are now erecting chemical works for the manufacture of tar and valuable liquors from coal. The number of persons employed here is altogether nearly 2000, of whom about 1200 work in the retort-houses. It is an establishment to be compared in magnitude with that of Woolwich Arsenal, on the opposite shore. Beckton is a remarkable creation of industrial enterprise, capital, and labour, which has a more imposing appearance to the visitor from its lonely situation. Around this spot, for a mile or so in every direction, extend wide open spaces, the East Ham and Barking marshes, with the broadening reaches of the Thames, and the Plumstead marshes, on the Kentish shore, bounded by the fair hills of Abbey Wood and Belvedere. But after entering the Gasworks, with competent guidance, one finds much that is worthy of inspection.

The first department to be seen is that of the retort-houses, in which the coal is distilled by the heat of underground furnaces. There are at Beckton ten retort-houses, each 360 ft. long and 100 ft. wide, and two larger retort-houses, which are 460 ft. by 100 ft. The aggregate number of retorts is 4562. Each retort-house is provided with its annexed buildings and apparatus of "condensers," "exhausters," "scrubbers," "purifiers," "meter," and "gas-holder," hereafter described. This system is complete for each section of the works. Altogether, Beckton is able, in the busiest winter time, to use up 2400 tons of coal daily, producing 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas. In summer its consumption of coal may average 4000 tons a week. It is chiefly Newcastle coal that is used, with a certain proportion of cannel, which is mostly from Scotland, but latterly some cannel has been got from the Midland Counties. A ton of coal yields at least 10,000 cubic feet of gas, besides one chaldron of coke, ten gallons of tar, and twenty gallons of ammoniacal liquor, articles of commercial value. The gas made at Beckton is all of uniform quality, and is supplied to consumers in every part of London, some at a distance of fourteen miles.

Our Illustration shows men engaged in charging the retorts with coal. A retort is a horizontal tube of fire-clay, twenty inches wide, thirteen inches deep, and twenty feet long, the interior shaped like an inverted D (thus, ⊐), with a circular door at each end, for filling and emptying, half the length being filled at the door of one end, the other half at the opposite door; and with an ascension pipe, for the gas, rising perpendicularly at each end. The coal, as used, is in the state familiar to housekeepers as "small coal," and is heaped on the floor of the retort-house, against the wall confronting the range of retort-doors, which is shown in our Illustration. The arrangement on the other side, at the other ends of the retorts, laid transversely across the building, is precisely similar. The retorts are laid in sets of eight or nine above each furnace-house, and are so arranged, the lower and upper tier alternately, that the bottoms of all are equally exposed to the furnace-heat. Each retort will contain 2¾ cwt. of coal, and it is charged for six hours. The work of charging a retort takes about half an hour. It is done by three or four stokers at each end; after filling a "scoop," which is a concave sort of shovel, 10 ft. long, they lift it and thrust it into the retort as far as it will go, then turn it over to empty it, and withdraw it from the retort, leaving the coal evenly spread along the bottom of the retort. Some coal is also thrown in by shovels, but care is taken that it is equally distributed throughout the length of the retort, which has to be accurately filled. The flames burst out violently when the retort-door is opened. The heat is oppressive, and the labour must be very exhausting for the men. They have also to empty the retorts of the coke, by raking it out after the gas is distilled. Methods of gas-stoking by machinery have been proposed, which it is hoped will be found practicable. Each gang of men has about ninety retorts to look after. The coke is partly used for the fuel of the furnaces below, and part of it sold.

The gas, which is a foul, hot fume, consisting, in the gross state, of all the mixed gaseous products of the coal as it rises through the ascending tubes, is collected in the hydraulic main. This is a horizontal tube, of from 12 in. to 18 in. diameter, which passes along the front, above the retorts. The top of each ascending tube is made to bend over and dip into the hydraulic main from above. The hydraulic main is partly filled with tar, formed by the condensation of the gas. This filled with tar, formed by the condensation of the gas. This "seals" the open mouth of each tube, so as to prevent air or gas passing back into the tube and down into the retort, as it would otherwise do whenever the retort-door is opened. But the gas discharged from the retort by the ascending tube comes up through the tar in bubbles, and is collected in the vacant upper space of the hydraulic main. This principle of "sealing" the vessels of different kinds to contain the gas, in the course of its manufacture and stowage, by immersing the lower open part of the vessel in some liquid, usually in water, is of great importance. Its application in the ordinary gas-holder, which resembles an inverted tumbler held up with the edges dipping in water, is familiar to everybody.

From the hydraulic main, in the retort-house, the gas passes out of that house to be cooled in what is called the "condenser." Each retort-house can turn out the quantity of 2½ millions of cubic feet of gas daily. The gas, as it reaches the condenser, which stands in the open air at some distance from the retort-house, is rather hot, its temperature being commonly 125 degrees. This is reduced to 85 degrees by passing through the condenser, which is an arrangement of horizontal tubes, 108 feet long; all the gas is sucked four times through that length, and in so doing parts with its tar and other liquid substances. The gas next passes into a building furnished with "exhausters," as they are called, which are machines worked by steam, with revolving fans or flanges, like those of a screw-propeller, set in the interior of the cylinders, through which a strong current or draught is kept up, pumping the gas out of the condensers, and thereby accelerating its flow out of the hydraulic mains and retorts, while at the same time forcing its pressure onwards to the "scrubbers" and "purifiers." There are fifteen exhausters at work, varying in capacity from 100,000 to 180,000 cubic feet an hour. The "purifiers," which have the outward appearance of covered tanks, 30 ft. square and 6 ft. deep, each with a ponderous convex lid of iron, are the vessels in which the gas is forced to pass through layers of oxide of iron and of lime, to get rid of its objectionable elements by their chemical affinity. The sulphide of hydrogen and carbonic acid gas are thus absorbed; but there is, previous to that of the "purifiers," a rudimentary cleansing process in the action of the "scrubbers," which are iron towers, some 30 ft. high and some 60 ft., where the gas is "washed," in permeating a mass of coke, with a fine spray of water rained down from from a wheel covered with brushwood at the top. The water used in this process (Mann and Walker's patent) is converted into an ammoniacal liquor of some value. There are thirty scrubbers and ninety-six purifiers at the Beckton Gasworks. The oxide of iron is the most efficient agent of chemical purification from sulphuretted hydrogen, and it has the advantage of being readily separated, afterwards, from the sulphur it has taken away, so that it may be used again and again for the same purpose. Large quantities of fouled oxide of iron are sold by the Chartered Gas Company to manufacturing chemists, and are re-purchased for the service of these gasworks.

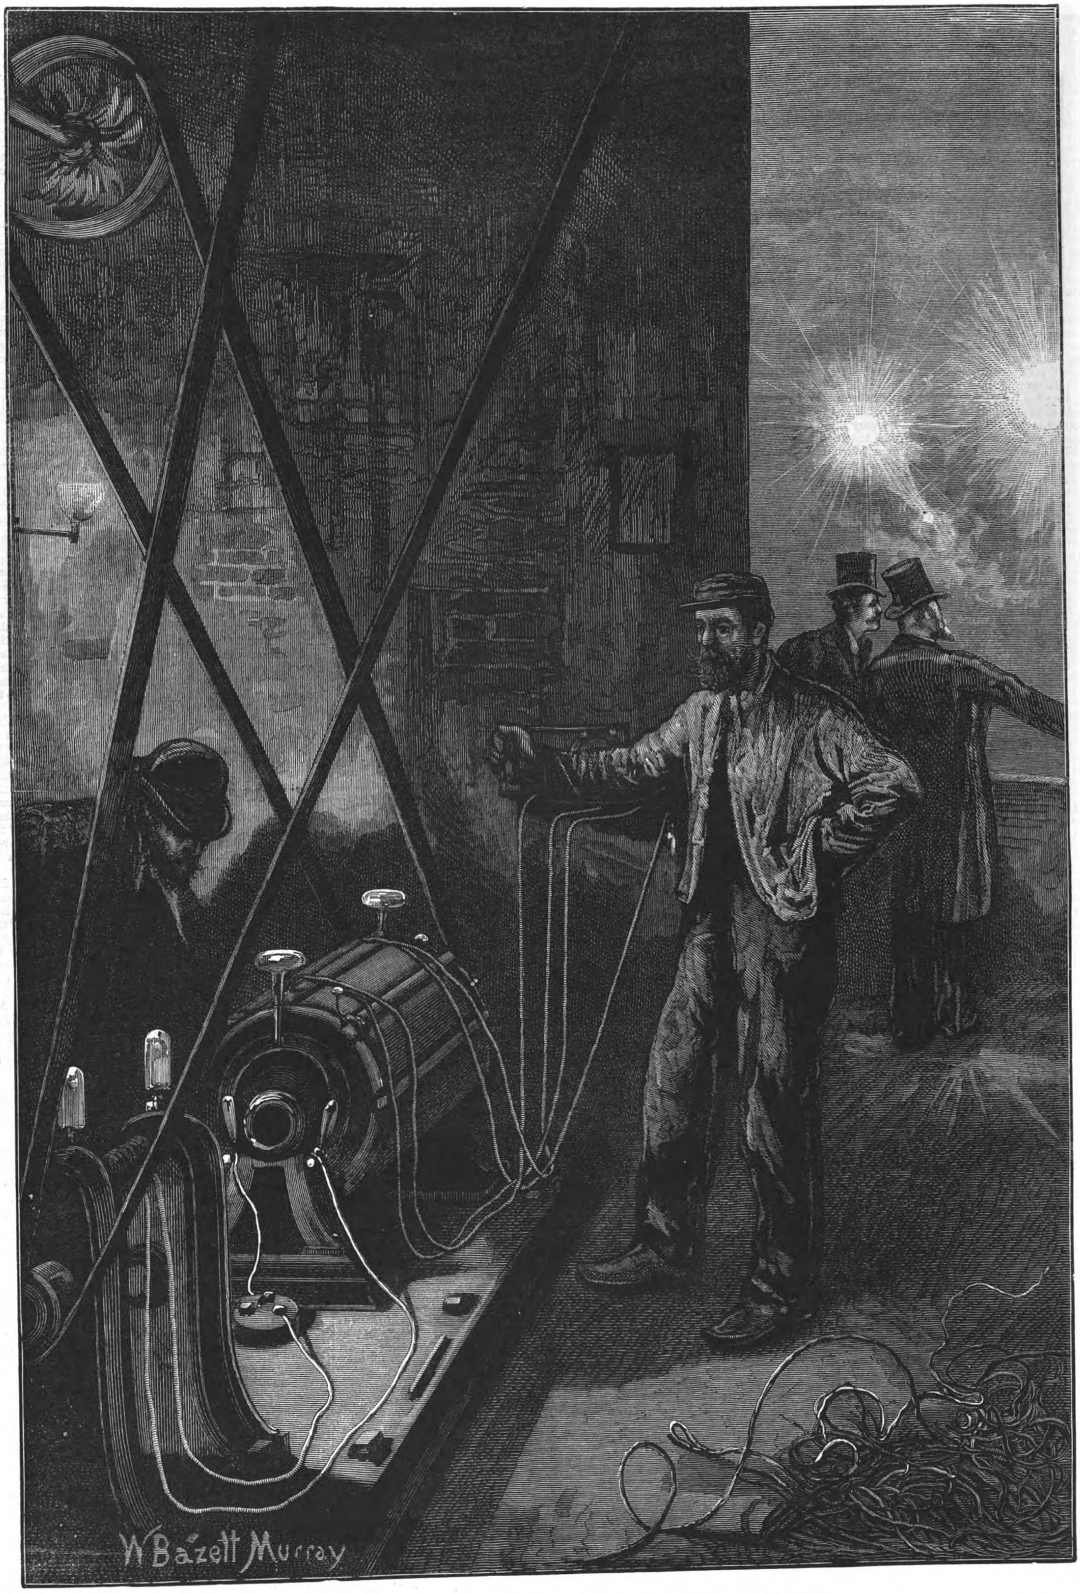
The outward aspect of the gas-holders, popularly but wrongly called "gasometers," has been alluded to, and is familiar enough in every town of England. Those at Beckton are of stupendous size, but some bigger than others; there are two of them, which have each a capacity of two millions of cubic feet; two containing each a million and a half; and four holding each one million. The Company are prepared to keep in store 10,800,000 cubic feet of gas during the winter. There is a much larger gas-holder at Kennington, belonging to the Phœnix Company, which holds above 3,000,000 of cubic feet. The largest gas-holders are of what is called telescopic construction, with a joint of two cylinders, the upper portion made to slide up, by the pressure of the increasing quantity of gas, and to form a second compartment above the lower cylinder. The height at which the cylinder stands, its sides being marked with measured spaces, indicates the bulk of gas it contains at the time. The meter-house is near, in which the amount of the gas supply, or rate of pressure, is precisely measured by self-registering machinery, which shows it also on a dial. Here, too, the illuminating power of the gas is beautifully shown by Lowe's jet photometer. The length or height of a flame which has the prescribed illuminating power—say, the equivalent of sixteen sperm candles, each candle to consume 120 grains of sperm in the hour—ought to show no variation from gas supplied at a uniform pressure. For testing the chemical purity of gas there are many delicate appliances in the offices of the managers at Beckton and in the London offices. We need not, however, attempt to describe these refined adjuncts to the manufacture, on an enormous scale, of one of the most useful commodities of civilised life.

The German Empress has sent to Mrs. McGonnell, wife of the chief boatman at Folkestone, a handsome gold brooch, accompanied by a letter conveying the grateful acknowledgments of the Emperor and her Majesty of the charitable assistance rendered by Mrs. McGonnell to the sufferers by the loss of the Grosser Kurfürst.

The weekly return of metropolitan pauperism shows that the total number of paupers at the end of the fourth week in October was 77,660, of whom 40,465 were in workhouses and 37,195 received outdoor relief. Compared with the corresponding weeks in 1877, 1876, and 1875, these figures show a decrease of 871, 760, and 4764 respectively. The number of vagrants relieved on the last day of the week was 951, of whom 617 were men, 256 women, and 78 children.

H.M.S. Himalaya arrived at Larnaca, Cyprus, on Tuesday evening with the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Minister for War. Sir Garnet Wolseley was there to meet them. Vice-Admiral Hornby, on board her Majesty's despatch-vessel Helicon, arrived there on Monday. Sir Garnet Wolseley has telegraphed to the War Office that the sick soldiers are all doing well; that the work of hutting is making satisfactory progress; that the climate of Cyprus is now extremely pleasant; and that no rain of importance has yet fallen.

The result of the poll at Peterborough on Tuesday was the return by a large majority of the Hon. J. W. Fitzwilliam, the Moderate Liberal candidate, who polled more votes than the other two candidates together. The numbers were—Fitzwilliam (Liberal), 1360; Lawrence (Conservative), 671; Raper (Advanced Liberal), 653. Mr. George Potter (Liberal) had retired from the contest.—The secretary of the Westminster Conservative Association contradicts a statement which has been made that the Right Hon. W. H. Smith does not intend again to offer himself as a candidate for Westminster.—Several political meetings, at which the Eastern Question has been the chief bone of contention, have been held during the past week.



The labours of the Social Science Congress at Cheltenham were brought to a close on Wednesday by an address in the Ladies' College by Mr. G. W. Hastings, the president of the council. Lord Norton occupied the chair, and there was a large attendance. Mr. Hastings referred to the legal measures introduced by the Government last Session, and said the congress had passed a resolution approving of the Attorney-General's measure for codifying and consolidating the statute law. The general meeting of the congress was held subsequently, under the presidency of Lord Norton. A short report was read from the secretaries of the various departments, and votes of thanks were cordially passed to Lord Norton, the presidents of the departments, Mr. Robinson, the assistant-secretary, and the rest of the officials of the congress.

THE MANUFACTURE OF GAS.

CHARGING RETORTS AT THE BECKTON GAS-WORKS OF THE CHARTERED GASLIGHT AND COKE COMPANY

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT APPARATUS: DYNAMO-ELECTRICAL MACHINE OF GRAMME.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

Looking at the circumstance that the Royal Standard of England (which is about the handsomest banner of which I am aware) continues to float over the Hôtel Bristol, in the Place Vendôme, thus denoting the continued presence in the French capital of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, I cannot help feeling with the hero of Mr. Gilbert's song in "H.M.S. Pinafore," that, notwithstanding every temptation to become the contrary, I am still an Englishman, and entitled to remain in Paris (whither I came to spend three weeks, and where I have been idling away my time for three months) for a few days longer. I might have been an Italian, or a Bavarian, or a Latitudinarian, or an Anythingarian; but so long as my Prince remains here I feel (curious to relate) that I am English, and to a certain extent on English soil. All this, you will understand, is of the nature of laying flattering unction to one's soul. I know that I ought to come home at once. My tailor is decidedly of that opinion. The butcher says "ditto to Mr. Burke." The London fog, the London smoke, the rain, the mud, the frost, might, could they become animate and articulate, be quite indignant at the tardiness in returning to his native shores of one elderly valetudinarian, who dreads the amenities of a London winter as the schoolboy dreads Black Monday. All the while the phantom of Goethe's "Mignon" continues to murmur in my ear the words of a fascinating song about a land full of oranges and lemons, of figs and myrtle, a land where the sun is bright and the sky is blue. Kennst du das Land? I fancy that Nice, in the Department of the Maritime Alps, must be very like it.

Paris is full of English Grand Prizemen and Gold Medallists; and the recompenses awarded to the exhibitors in the British section of the Exposition Universelle are certainly numerous and brilliant enough to warrant the existence of a considerable amount of jubilation among our countrymen. Following the Italian custom of drinking the health of "La Bella Famiglia"—the British equivalent for which is the toast of "Our noble selves"—there can be no harm in recalling the pleasing fact that a gold medal has been conferred on the "Ingram" steam printing-machine of the Illustrated London News. I happened, in company with a friend from Chicago, U.S.A., to pass the remarkable engine in question, the other day, and an intelligent Englishman in charge of the machine gave my American friend and myself a very lucid explanation of its principal features. I asked the intelligent machinist if the Illustrated London News was not a journal with a very large circulation, and altogether quite a family paper. Yes, he replied; that was the case. Then we went on our way, and I saw him no more.

Altogether, we have every reason to be proud of the show which we have made in the Trocadéro and the Champ de Mars. Once more foreigners have generously admitted that we take the lead in calicoes, machinery and machine tools, ceramics, glass, biscuits, preserved provisions, whisky, and beer. Sir Joseph Whitworth and Co. take a more splendid rank at Paris in 1878 than Herr Krupp took in 1867. The Whitworth Exhibit has gained no less than three Grand Prizes for machinery and metal working, and a gold medal in addition for artillery. Quite as gratifying is the recognition accorded to the manufacturers of pottery and of glass. In ceramics Minton, of course, takes a Grand Prix. Due justice has thus been done to the superb works in ceramics exhibited by the renowned firm of Stoke-on-Trent, conspicuous among which are the wonderfully graceful productions in pâte-sur-pâte of M. Solon-Milés, and the curiously beautiful and, indeed, unique etchings on porcelain executed by Mr. William Goode, a member of the firm which has acquired the whole of the Minton exhibit. A Grand Prix goes, amidst general acclamation, to Messrs. Doulton for their admirable Lambeth faïence; while gold medals have been given to the historic houses of Copeland and of Wedgwood, to Brown and Westhead, and to the Worcester Porcelain Company—not, I should say, because their productions are in any way inferior to those of Minton or of Doulton, but because there were no more Grand Prix in this particular section to give away.

In glass, monumental, table, and ornamental, the triumph of the British manufacturer has been equally marked. Thomas Webb and Sons, of Stourbridge and London, receive the Grand Prix for their exhibits in engraved, sculptured, intaglio, and coloured glass, for chandeliers and lustres, vases, tazze, and plateaux in pure white crystal, in bronzed and iridescent, and in polychromatic glass. A gold medal goes to the renowned house of Osler, of Birmingham, London, and Calcutta. Do you remember Osler's Crystal Fountain in the Hyde Park Exhibition in 1851? Osler's Fountain was a favourite trysting-place then, just as Gustave Doré's vase is in the Paris Exhibition now. "Meet me at the Crystal Fountain at a quarter to four" you used to say to the adored one of your heart. She smiled and blushed consent; and she was true to her rendezvous, judiciously bringing her youngest sister, aged nine, with her. It was the adored one of your heart who broke it by marrying Captain Prosser, late of the Bombay Fencibles. You met her the other day looking at Barbédienne's bronzes in the Exhibition. She is the mother of eight, and a grandmother—ha! ha!—a grandmother. She remarked that you had grown stout. You managed to get that heart which she broke mended; but now and again you feel the brass rivets which keep the cracked organ together pressing against your ribs. Stout, indeed! You watched her breakfasting at the Restaurant Catelain, and she ate "biftek aux pommes" enough for two—she who could with difficulty be persuaded in '51 to partake of so much as a Bath bun at Farrance's.

Mem: Among the Osler exhibits, comprising, as they do, a colossal Gothic sideboard in pure crystal with an ebony buffet, a number of stately chandeliers and candelabra, and smaller lustres and girandoles, presenting a very beautiful and novel combination of metal with ornamental glass, there is an article which to my mind might serve substantially towards a pacific settlement of the Afghanistan difficulty. The article to which I allude is a throne, cushioned with crimson velvet; but the structure of which is entirely of crystal. Now, I deferentially venture to express the opinion that if this crystal throne could be acquired by the Indian Government, and if Lord Lytton were only to send a photograph of this dazzling piece of furniture to Shere Ali, with an intimation that it should be his if he would only promise to be a good Ameer, and have nothing more to do with those wicked Russians, the morose ruler of Afghanistan would straightway promise to abandon all his intrigues, to forswear his Muscovite alliances, and to welcome a British embassy with a powerful escort three times a week. Deem not the remedy which I have proposed a ridiculous one. A dinner at Véry's in the Palais Royal in July, 1815, timeously organised by the Duke of Wellington, was sufficient to dissuade Blucher from blowing up the Bridge of Jena. "I must and will blow it up," grumbled old "Marshal Vorwarts" over his bisque soup. But, when he got to his parfait au café, and his third bottle of Moët and Chandon, and was preparing to light his meerschaum, he seized the Duke's hand, and cried, "Never was there such a dinner, I will not blow up the Bridge of Jena."

While our great art-manufacturers, constructors of machinery, and producers of textile fabrics are congratulating themselves on the recompenses which they have earned (in the department of "fils et tissus de coton" the Lancashire firm of Testal, Broadhurst, and Co. secure the Grand Prix, while six other houses receive gold medals for products of the same class), and while no less than five grand prizes and twenty-two gold medals have been given to British exhibitors in the section of mining and metallurgy, the less important but, from a social point of view, highly important section of alimentary products has attracted due attention and has received conspicuous reward. The French have sneered at us as a nation of devourers of pickles and of fiery and indigestible sauces. Their chefs are beginning to use Harvey and Worcestershire, curry and chutnee, in their kitchens; and they have awarded two gold medals and a bronze one to Crosse and Blackwell, of Soho-square, for their exhibits in preserved provisions, pickles, sauces, zests, condiments, vinegar, and preserved fruit. More conspicuous still is the concession of a Grand Prix to Messrs. Huntley and Palmer, biscuit manufacturers, of Reading, whose products are to be found in almost every restaurant, café, and grocer's shop in Paris, as, indeed, they are to be found pretty nearly the whole world over. I cannot remember to have visited any country, however remote or imperfectly civilised, where I have not met with Elkington's spoons and forks, Mappin's razors, Benson's watches, Crosse and Blackwell's anchovy sauce, and Keating's cough lozenges. I must not say anything about Cockle's pills, because Captain Burnaby has a literary copyright in those beneficent boluses; but if the undaunted traveller, soldier, and candidate for Birmingham ever goes to Mexico I may whisper to him that, in the street called the Calle Ancha, in the town of Guadalajara, he will find a druggist's shop, kept by Diego Campero, a very honest man, who will supply him the antibilious specific of the Señor Cockle. As for Huntley and Palmer's biscuits, one of the chief reasons, I take it, for their popularity in foreign parts is that they do not lose their freshness and good quality with age. They will keep; whereas the French and Italian biscuits, all nice and tasty as they are, soon become dry and insipid. Two more gold medals in the alimentary section have been given to Messrs. Colman—one for mustard and one for starch. The award for mustard is obviously well merited. The excellence of the French "moutarde de maille" has within recent years sadly degenerated, nor was it at its best a powerful mustard; while the French, who are rapidly becoming a nation of beefeaters (I wish that they would not eat their beef more than half raw), naturally demand a more pungent condiment than they have been formerly accustomed to. They find it in Colman's mustard. Two silver medals have also been won by Messrs. Keene, Robinson, Belville, and Co., a house which dates from the year 1742—one medal for mustard and another—Miss Mary Hooper, that distinguished authority on gruel, will be glad to learn—for the preparation known as Robinson's Patent Groats. I am very fond of groats, myself; but I like them best in the shape of fourpenny-pieces.

Mem: The fermented beverage section of the alimentary department presents a due display of Irish and Scotch whiskies, headed by Dunville of Belfast's "V. R.;" but neither Bass nor Allsopp actually exhibit their world-famous pale ales. On the other hand, Allsopp's bitter beer is drank all over Paris, and is to be had at any restaurant and buffet in the Exposition. Furthermore, the claims of British beer have been gracefully acknowledged by the award of a gold medal to John Bindley and Co., of Burton-on-Trent, for the purity, brilliancy, and flavour of their strong, mild, and pale ales. A final instance of the equity and right feeling of the international juries is visible in the award of a gold medal to Messrs. Fry for their preparations of chocolate and cocoa. That such a recompense should be given to an English firm in France, the country par excellence of chocolate manufacturers, is pleasantly significant.

Let me wind up this necessarily imperfect sketch of the achievements of Great British industry at the Paris Exhibition—a sketch which must be full of errors of omission—by a paragraph intended exclusively for the behoof of the ladies. The firm of Messrs. Charles Gask and Co. have purchased for exhibition in England, some of the most wondrous of the fabrics and dresses from the "Vêtement" department of the Exposition, damasks and chenilles, bourrettes and Levantines, lace shawls and fichus—all kinds of radiant finery, indeed, the chefs d'œuvre of the Michels, the Bulteaux, the Vasseurs, and Delportes, of Paris. A black velvet robe, trimmed with feathers, worth 1800 francs, and a "Marie de Medicis" dress, embroidered with pearls, and valued at 10,000 francs, are among the purchases of Charles Gask and Co.; while Peter Robinson, of Oxford-street, has bought the larger portion of the Lyons, the Italian, and the Austrian exhibits of silks, velvets, satins, and brocades. The Oxford-street firm stands to spend something like 300,000 francs on his little purchases in the World's Fair. G. A. S.

Mr. J. J. Mechi will, on public grounds, continue to supply instructions for the construction of these inexpensive and effective warmers, "the Parson's Grates," on receipt of an application, accompanied by a postage-stamp, addressed to him at Tiptree Hall, Kelvedon, Essex.

The receipts on account of revenue from April 1, 1878, when there was a balance of £6,243,389, to Oct. 26 were £41,052,207, against £41,004,239 in the corresponding period of the preceding financial year, which began with a balance of £5,988,650. The net expenditure was £49,364,631, against £46,424,527 to the same date in the previous year. The Treasury balances on Oct. 26 amounted to £1,152,299, and at the same date in 1877 to £1,294,489.

Lord Dufferin arrived at Derry on Monday evening. He was met by the Mayor of the city, the High Sheriff, and a number of gentlemen, who presented him with an address of welcome and congratulation. His Lordship was also offered the freedom of the city, which he accepted. Lord Dufferin, accompanied by his suite, arrived in Belfast on Tuesday morning, and was warmly welcomed at the railway terminus. After breakfasting with the Mayor, he proceeded to the Townhall, where he was presented with congratulatory addresses. His Lordship afterwards left for his residence at Clandeboye.

Lord Coleridge has taken a decided step in the direction of the reform of the constitution of juries. He has intimated to the Sheriffs at Exeter and throughout his circuit that he will regard as a contempt of Court an attempt to evade the law by leaving out special jurors from the panel summoned for common juries. Custom has long exempted persons of superior education from common juries; and Judges have taken no pains to enforce the law, the constant infraction of which was bringing in question the utility of the whole jury system. Lord Coleridge fortifies his position by citing the weighty opinion of Lord Justice Bramwell.

THE JABLOCHKOFF ELECTRIC LIGHT APPARATUS.

This is one of the recent contrivances for producing light by electricity, and has been chosen for the subject of our Illustrations, without prejudging the comparative merits of other machines and appliances for the same purpose. M. Jablochkoff is a Russian engineer who has long been established in Paris. The machine employed by him to generate the electric currents is that called the "Gramme," from the name of its French inventor, M. Gramme, who was formerly a journeyman carpenter, and is now proprietor and director of a most important scientific manufacture. His dynamo-electrical machine consists of four magnets, revolving on an axle at the rate of about nine hundred revolutions a minute, and so arranged that each magnet touches two coils of copper wire. There is a modification of the Gramme machine, in which the magnets are stationary, and it is the coils of wire that revolve. The machine is worked by a steam-engine, or other sufficient motive power; a gas-engine is the best, as it is free from smoke and dust, and wants little attendance. To produce light by electricity, either a constant current may be applied, or alternate currents. With a constant current, two rods of carbon are used, placed one above the other, and the light is produced between them. With alternate currents, the light is kept jumping from one carbon point to the other; and this is the case in Jablochkoff's apparatus.

Our page Engraving shows merely the outward aspect of the dynamo-electrical machine employed by M. Jablochkoff; but the magnets and wire coils are here scarcely seen, being inclosed in a cylindrical casing. The machine is not represented as working, but as thrown out of gear; the straps by which it is set in motion, descending from a shaft above connected with the power-engine, are conspicuous enough; and so are the wires, now hanging loose, by which the electricity may be transmitted to the carbon lamps at a moderate distance. Brilliant electric lights, resembling meteors, are watched by the two spectators who are standing in the background.

We must describe with more particularity the drawings of detailed portions of the apparatus, which are presented to the reader on another page. The figure No. 1 does not represent part of the Jablochkoff machine, but is an end view of the Gramme machine used to generate a constant current of electricity; a, is the revolving circular magnet, having coils of copper wire about it; b, b, are the conductors of electricity from the magnet to the coils of wire placed above and below; these conductors, or collectors, are formed of bundles of fine wire, like a brush, sweeping the surface of the coil around the magnet, and brushing the electricity off it, so to speak.

Figure 2 is the Gramme machine used by M. Jablochkoff for the generation of alternate currents. It contains eight magnets, arranged upon a revolving axis, like the spokes of a wheel; and the inner circumference of the surrounding fixed circle is furnished with eight coils of wire. These surrounding fixed coils are so placed, alternately in pairs, that four of them come in contact with four of the revolving magnets, and the other four coils meet the other four magnets, there being two different lengths of magnets corresponding with two different sets of coils. As the machine revolves, therefore, the magnets alternately touching and not touching the coils in the circumference, alternate electric currents proceed from it, the one positive and the other negative. The current passes outward through one magnet to the coils, and returns inward through the next magnet, as is indicated by the little arrows in our Engraving. The wires, a, a, convey the electricity to the carbon candles.

Figure 3 represents one of these "candles," which consists of a pair of carbon rods, a and a, each nine inches long, and perhaps three sixteenths of an inch thick, or it may be thicker. The pair are connected at the top by a short piece of graphite, but are, throughout their length downward, insulated respectively by an intervening composition of china clay, b. The lower end of each carbon is inserted in a brass tube, c, which is the socket by which it stands in the chandelier. The clay plaster between the carbons is decomposed by the electric action as the carbons are consumed; it is converted into aluminium, which burns away, and silica, which melts and drops down.

Figure 4 shows the chandelier, with the bases of four carbon candles, each a pair of carbons, in their brass sockets, held by spring clips upon a stand, having a round disc of opal glass beneath them to temper the glare, and below this are the metal conductors, a, a, to supply the electricity from the machine. The four candles burn separately, one succeeding another; each will last an hour and a half; and when it is consumed the next one must be placed, by an attendant touching a spring, in connection with the electric machine; and so on till the four are used up, in six hours. An attempt has been made, however, to contrive an automatic apparatus, instead of shifting the connection by hand.

Figure 5 represents the entire chandelier, but divested of the opal glass plate, so as to show the candles in position, with the "commutator" and inductor below; the commutator is a nucleus of conducting wires, inclosed within a non-ducting case, and it serves to regulate the distribution of electricity to the four candles.

The Farmer-Wallace duplex engine, of American contrivance and construction, has some advantages, being capable of serving eight or ten lights on one circuit, with less cost for each. It was exhibited on Tuesday evening to a party of scientific gentlemen at the premises of Messrs. W. Ladd and Co., Plough-yard, Shoreditch, and was highly approved. Its price is £300.

In all apparatus for electric light a most important article is the carbon "points," which must be made of chemically pure carbon, and of perfectly uniform consistency, of even thickness and straightness, requiring the nicest precision in their manufacture. The Electric Carbon Factory of M. A. Vassard, situated at Huntley's Wharf, Church-street, Greenwich, just behind the Ship Hotel, is the only establishment we know of in England for this peculiar branch of manufacture, comprising mills, presses, and furnaces, in which the carbon undergoes a series of operations, grinding, kneading, moulding, drying, and baking, performed with the utmost possible accuracy. The press is worked by a powerful steam-engine, and gives as much as twelve tons pressure to the square foot. The chemical process of M. Vassard is necessarily kept a secret; but we have visited his factory, and have witnessed the beautiful results of the mechanical operations in shaping the carbon rods. These can be made of various sizes, some being as fine as a lady's crochet needle; while some, which are made to the order of the Trinity House Corporation, for the electric lights in lighthouses at sea, are three quarters of an inch thick. M. Vassard has no difficulty in making a rod of this brittle material, six feet long, and a quarter of an inch thick. Each rod is produced with a single stroke, of the regular length, and is perfectly smooth and even throughout. The carbon has to be purified, for this special purpose, by some chemical processes; but it is not always easy to obtain the quantities of good carbon that are required. We learn from M. Vassard that the best carbon he can get is that of the deposit or incrustation which adheres to the inside of gas retorts at the Gasworks. A description of the Beckton Gas-works is given by us this week, together with an Illustration of charging the retorts; from which the reader will infer that an abundant supply of carbon should be yielded by the manufacture of gas upon such a vast scale. It seems rather curious that the gas manufacture should thus be enabled to supply the best kind of a material so essential to the production of the electric light, which now threatens to rival gas in practical use. This fact may tend to console the gas shareholders, and to moderate their panic fears. They will observe further that the use of gas-engines for the motive power of the electrical machines is likely to give them some compensation for the loss of their street-lighting business, which is, after all, but an insignificant part of the whole consumption of gas; and it does not seem probable that the electric light will be suitable for use in private houses. Gas-engines are found preferable to steam-engines in many instances where only a small power is required, and for short periods of time.

The preparations for trying the Jablochkoff light on the Victoria Embankment are now being matured at the Metropolitan Board of Works, under the direction of Sir Joseph Bazalgette, C.B., and the Board's consulting chemist, Mr. Keates. A steam-engine of about 20-horse power nominal will be placed somewhere about the vicinity of Waterloo Bridge, and the wires will be carried right and left towards Westminster and Blackfriars respectively. The main conducting-wire will probably be laid under the coping-stone of the Embankment parapet, and the lights mounted on the top of a certain number of the gas standards which now surmount the Embankment wall. Taking the entire mile and a quarter of the Embankment, there are sixty-seven lamps on the wall, and sixty on the outer side of the footway, fringing the road. This makes a total of 127 lamps now lighting the footway by the side of the wall. Other lamps, sixty-seven in number, line the road on what may be termed the land side of the thoroughfare. The electric lights are to be limited to the footway against the river side. These lights will be twenty in number, so that each electric light will have to do duty for rather more than six gas-lamps. Whether the gas-lamps on the land side of the road can also be dispensed with remains to be seen. The necessary arrangements for the commencement of this highly interesting and important experiment will take some time, but the arrival of winter will doubtless see the Victoria Embankment rendered cheerful and attractive by the presence of the electric light.

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Baker, C. H. C., to be Vicar of St. John's, Bury St. Edmunds.
Blackmore, J. C.; Rector of Cley-next-the-Sea, Norfolk.
Castell, H. T. S.; Incumbent of St. Philip's, George Town, Demerara.
Chapman, F. R., Archdeacon of Sudbury; Rector of Stow Langtoft.
Drew, A. A. W.; Incumbent of the new parish of St. Antholin, Nunhead.
Dunn, John Charles; Vicar of Beadnell, Northumberland.
Gawthern, Francis T.; Rector of Albourne, Sussex.
Gray, R. D. H., Curate of Wolsingham; Vicar of Briercliffe.
Holland, Stewart; Vicar of Askham, Penrith.
Hulbert, Charles Butler; Curate of Panton, Wragby.
Morris, David; Vicar of Llanwnen with Silian, Cardiganshire.
Oldroyd, J. B.; Vicar of St. Stephen's, Ayres Quay, Sunderland.
Wells, N. A.; Missionary on the Rivers Essequibo and Massaruni, Guiana.
Williams, J. S.; Vicar of Llanfynydd, Carmarthenshire.—Guardian.

There was a musical festival in York Minster on Tuesday (the first held since 1835) on behalf of the fund for the restoration of the south transept.

There is no foundation for the report that a layman in the west of England had offered £3000 to erect a church, dedicated to St. Simon, at Shepherd's-bush.

The Bishop of Rochester intends to resume his attendances at 28, Great George-street, Westminster, for diocesan business, on Monday next, from eleven to one.

Mr. L. R. Starkey, M.P., on Monday laid the foundation-stone of a new mission church at Normanton, and delivered a speech upon Church work and Church extension.

On the 17th ult. the Church of St. John Baptist, Midsomer Norton, Somerset, was reopened, after having undergone considerable alteration in the fittings and arrangements.

It is understood that the Bishops have come to a resolution that licenses shall not be granted for the re-marriage of divorced persons according to the rites of the Church of England.

The foundation-stone of All Saints' Church, Marple, was laid last Saturday by Mrs. Isherwood, of Marple Hall. The site, given by the Vicar, was a portion of the vicarage garden, and lies between the vicarage and the old church.

The Bishop Suffragan of Lincoln has reopened the church of Tallington, near Stamford, restored mainly at the cost of Lady Lindsay. It is one of the few churches having the sanctus bell, and the south doorway is said to be as old as the time of William II.

The Earl of Chichester has resigned the post of First Church Estates Commissioner of the Ecclesiastical Commission, and the resignation has been accepted. The appointment is with the Crown, and the stipend is £1200 a year. The Earl was appointed to the office in 1850.

The new chancel—the first portion of the work of rebuilding the Church of St. James, Exeter, was opened on Thursday week. At noon a public meeting was held in aid of the restoration fund, when the Earl of Devon, the Bishop of Exeter, the Mayor, and the Sheriff were the speakers.

The ancient church of Astley, about four miles from Nuneaton, was reopened on Tuesday, after having been closed for some months, during which the work of restoration has been carried on. After the service a large party were entertained at luncheon at Arbury Hall by Mr. Newdegate, M.P.

A public meeting was held on Monday in Ripon, promoted by the Church of England Temperance Society, and presided over by the Dean of Ripon, when a memorial to Earl de Grey, M.P. for the borough, was adopted, asking him to support the Bill for Prohibiting the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors on Sunday.

Last Monday the Bishop of London consecrated the Church of St. Paul, North Bow, built for the purpose of ministering to the religious wants of the poor and populous district in the neighbourhood of Old Ford and the northern portion of the parish of Bow. The building, which is plain, and in the Early French style, is to cost £7000.

A special meeting of the council of the Curates' Augmentation Fund was held at the offices of the fund, Dean's-yard, Westminster, yesterday week—the Archbishop of Canterbury in the chair—at which, amongst other business, it was determined that the system of a running monthly audit be substituted for that of the annual audit hitherto in use.

The Earl of Hardwicke on Saturday last laid the foundation-stone of a new church at Cambridge, to be called St. Barnabas. It is situate on Mill-road, and is intended to accommodate a comparatively new district which has sprung up. The work at present contemplated will cost about £1800, and it will require a further sum of twice that amount to complete the church.

The Master of the Temple (Dr. Vaughan) will resume his public readings in the Greek Testament (open to any men, whether members of the Temple or not), on Tuesday, Nov. 5, at eight o'clock in the morning, in the Lecture-Room of the Middle Temple, and will continue them on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, as in former years, at the same time and place.

At a meeting yesterday week of the promoters of the scheme for the establishment of a bishopric of Liverpool, the donations to the endowment fund were reported to amount to over £65,000. The sum required will be about £90,000 or £100,000. It was decided to ask the Bishop of Chester to issue a pastoral letter suggesting a simultaneous collection in the churches early in 1879.

The members of the Badsworth Hunt have recently placed a stained-glass window at the east end of Darrington church, Yorkshire, in memory of the late Mr. Barton, of Stapleton Park, in that parish, who was master of the hunt from 1869 until his sudden death in the hunting-field on March 20, 1876. The window, which is a five-light one in the Perpendicular style, has been executed from designs by Mr. A. N. Bodley.

Two stained-glass windows have been placed in Sandringham church by the Prince of Wales, the subjects are "Christ Stilling the Tempest," in memory of the Rev. W. Lake Onslow, late Rector; and "David Slaying Goliath," in memory of the Prince's late equerry, Colonel Grey. The windows have been executed by Messrs. Heaton, Butler, and Bayne, of London, under the superintendence of the architect, Mr. Arthur W. Blomfield.

The Bishop of Peterborough concluded his visitation at St. Margaret's, Leicester, yesterday week. Before delivering his charge he remarked that, in the communion service, he adopted the eastward position in prayer for consecration, whereas on Thursday, at St. Martin's, he stood at the north side of the table. He did that in order to conform to the usage of each church with a view to securing unity, and also because he did not attach any doctrinal importance to either position.

The Bishop of St. Alban's began the primary visitation of his diocese on Tuesday in his cathedral church. His charge was largely occupied with the advantages of the cathedral system, and the best steps for establishing it temporarily and permanently at St. Alban's. He condemned strongly the "Reformed Episcopal Church," whose Bishops, he said, were destitute of authority; and disapproved alike of laxity on the one side and excessive ceremonialism on the other, expressing, however, his opinion that punitive legislation was not the remedy for existing dissensions.

The foundation-stone of a new church, to be dedicated to St. John the Evangelist, at Mold, Flintshire, was laid on Wednesday by the Duke of Westminster. The church, which is to accommodate about 300 people, will consist of nave, chancel, organ-chamber, and a tower spire placed at the north-east end. It is only intended to build this latter at present one storey high; this will be covered with a temporary roof and completed at a future time. The style of the church is Early English, and, the funds being limited, most of the details will be of a simple character. The designs have been furnished and the work is being carried out under the superintendence of Mr. Douglas, architect, of Chester.

The Bishop of Truro presided on Thursday week at his second diocesan conference. The principal subject mentioned was the importance of pushing forward the erection of a cathedral as a centre for the Church work of the new see.—On the following day the Earl of Mount-Edgcumbe made a statement as to the progress of the cathedral fund. The amount subscribed or promised up to the present was £27,500. Of this £5000 would be required at once towards the purchase of land adjacent to the site of St. Mark's Church, where the cathedral is to be erected, and this would leave sufficient to justify the commencement of work during the coming year. A vote of thanks to Lord Mount-Edgcumbe was carried. The Prince of Wales has subscribed £500 to the fund.

The new Church of St. Mary the Virgin at Halkyn, Flintshire, was consecrated on Tuesday by the Bishop of St. Asaph. The church, together with the churchyard, boundary walls, and lych-gate, is entirely the gift of the Duke of Westminster, who has spared no expense that everything may be carried out in as complete a manner as possible. The style of the church is Early Geometrical. The plan consists of nave, north aisle, chancel, and a tower 26 ft. square placed at the north-east end, and provides accommodation for 300 people. The walls, both inside and out, are of stone, and oak has been used for all the timber-work. All the windows are filled with painted glass, the reredos is of oak, and is an elaborate specimen of architectural woodwork; the upper part, under the canopied top, is divided into seven compartments; these are filled with paintings, the one in centre containing a representation of "The Last Supper," and the side ones "The Annunciation" and Our Lord as the "Good Shepherd," with the Lord's Prayer, Creed, and Decalogue on either side. These paintings, together with the painted glass, are by Messrs. Heaton, Butler, and Bayne. A fine organ by Whiteley, of Chester, has been provided, and the tower contains a peal of six bells, and a clock with faces on the east and west sides. The architect was Mr. John Douglas, of Chester.

A meeting of Wesleyan ministers and laymen was held in London on Tuesday to consider the financial condition of the Connexion, and to discuss what methods should be employed to remedy the present state of affairs. One plan suggested was that a great connexional fund of £200,000 should be raised to commemorate the introduction of laymen into the Conference. The meeting was adjourned.

On Tuesday the memorial-stones of Shoreditch Tabernacle, Hackney-road, connected with the Baptist denomination, were laid, in the presence of a large concourse of spectators, by Mr. S. Morley, M.P., and Mr. J. Harvey. The new building, designed to take the place of one erected in 1836, which had become too small for the increasing congregation, will be about one hundred yards from the Shoreditch railway station, and will accommodate about 2000 people, the chapel which it displaces having seated only about 800. Mr. Morley and Mr. Harvey have each contributed £500 towards the building.

Mr. Osborne Morgan, M.P., assisted on Tuesday in laying the foundation-stone of a new Welsh Calvinistic chapel at Gwerstwelt, Wrexham, and in doing so said he had a few days ago a proof that the Welsh language was not dying out, for he had received a request that he would act as patron of an Eisteddfod in New Zealand. In no part of the kingdom was there so much respect for religion, so much veneration of the Bible, and so much freedom from crime as in Wales.

The new peal of six bells cast for the Roman Catholic Chapel, Leamington, by Messrs. Blews, of Birmingham, were on Wednesday consecrated by the Bishop of Clifton. The bells were suspended at the entrance to the chancel, where the ceremony was performed.

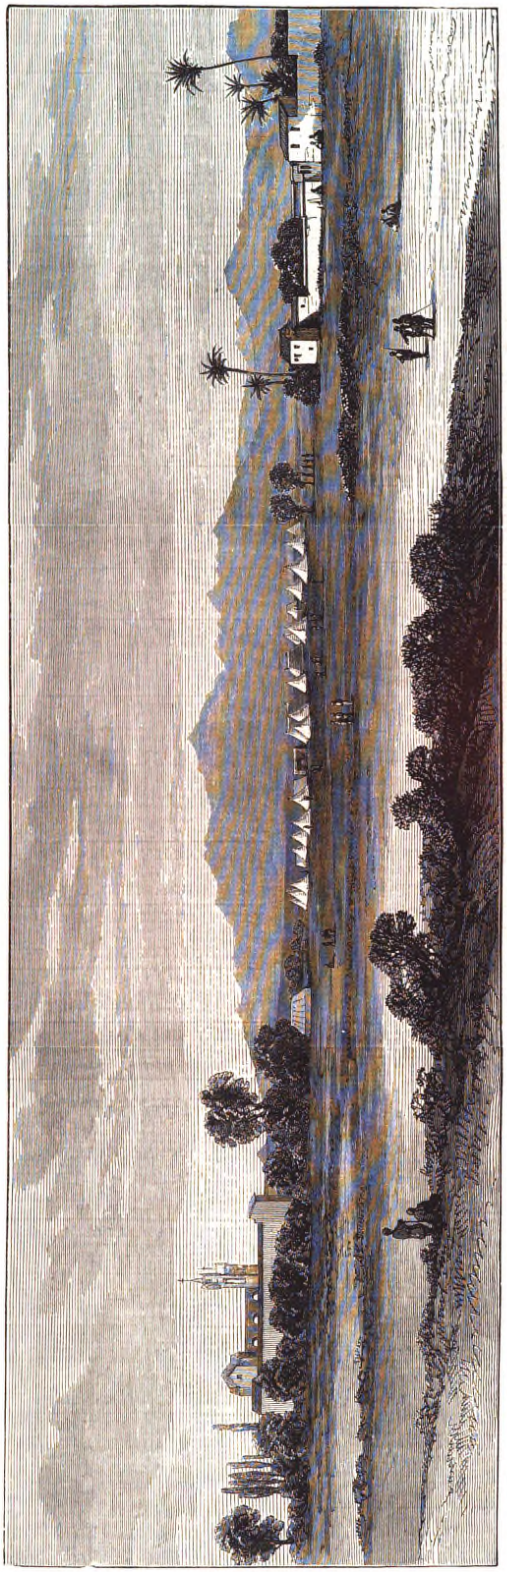
THE UNIVERSITIES AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Lord High Almoner has appointed Mr. George Frederick Nicholl, of Balliol College, to be his Professor of Arabic at Oxford, in succession to Mr. Chenery, resigned.

Mr. Cross received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from the University of Cambridge on Thursday week, as noted in our last issue. The Public Orator, in a Latin speech, gave an outline of the right hon. gentleman's public career. The undergraduates from the gallery lowered a reminder of Mr. Cross's boating achievement when he was a student; and, cutting the string, he carried it away with him.—A more distinguished statesman than Mr. Cross—Mr. Gladstone—has since visited Cambridge, though in a strictly private manner. He went, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Gladstone, on Saturday last, to stay with Mr. Henry Sidgwick. He attended Trinity Chapel in the morning of Sunday, the University sermon at two p.m., and after it King's Chapel, and dined in hall at Trinity in the evening.—Mr. H. Hodgkin has been elected to a scholarship at Jesus for proficiency in history.

At a meeting of the Edinburgh University council yesterday week, Professor Blackie presented a report of the Celtic chair committee, which stated that only £300 was wanting towards the sum of £12,000 required for the endowment of a Celtic chair in the University. The committee was reappointed to arrange the constitution of the chair, so that a Professor might be appointed to enter on his duties by November next year.—The Scotsman announces that Dr. J. A. Carlyle, of Dumfries, a Doctor of Medicine and of Laws of the University of Edinburgh, has placed £1600 in the hands of the Association for the Better Endowment of the University of Edinburgh, for the endowment of two bursaries in the faculty of medicine.

Colonel Sir John Stokes, K.C.B., Commanding Royal Engineers at Chatham, has promised an annual prize for the best English essay at the Oxford Military College; and General Maitland, C.B., a prize for skill in the gymnasium.



THE PARIS EXHIBITION.

The ceremony of distributing the prizes to successful exhibitors, which was performed on Monday week by Marshal MacMahon, President of the French Republic, at the Exhibition Palace in the Champ de Mars, was noticed among the foreign news in our last publication; as well as the presentation next day by Earl Granville and a deputation of British jurors and exhibitors of an address of thanks to the Prince of Wales and Sir Philip Cunliffe Owen, for their labours in the British Commission. Our Illustration of the former subject is furnished partly by the Sketch drawn by our Special Artist upon that occasion and partly derived from the photograph taken by M. Oppert. The number of persons assembled in the vast hall is reckoned at 22,000. It was a splendid spectacle. At the east end was the dais, with rows of seats which sloped up to the gallery. Here, in the front row, on gold and crimson chairs of state, were seated the Marshal President, with the Prince of Wales on his left hand and Don François d'Assisi on his right, and the other foreign Princes on each side. To the right of the President sat the Corps Diplomatique, all in full uniform, with the exception of the Chinese and Japanese, and decorated with glittering orders. On the Marshal's left were placed the foreign Commissioners. The next stage of the platform was occupied by the Senate, the Chamber of Deputies, the Municipal Council, and the Council-General, and close under the gallery the official deputations. Finally, on each side of the dais, on a level with the Marshal, were the reserved tribunes of Madame la Maréchale, of the ladies of the diplomatic corps, and of the Minister of Agriculture and M. Krantz. It is almost needless to say that the ladies made an excellent display of toilettes, but any detailed effect was lost in the general coup d'œil. The upper dais must have held some 2000 or 3000 persons. Its position was excellent. From whatever point the palace was entered, whether by the door reserved for the President or by one of the seventeen passages leading to the interior of the edifice, the eye was at once caught by the dais with its illustrious occupants. The whole of the platform, as, indeed, the whole body and lateral aisles of the nave, was carpeted and upholstered in crimson. Here, from the presidential dais to the western end of the palace, were seated the exhibitors, the jurors, and the invited visitors, forming one compact mass. Finally, at the western end of the palace, facing the official platform, was placed the orchestra, composed of twenty-three choral societies, the bands of the Garde Républicaine and of the 5th Regiment of the Line—in all, 1800 performers. The monotony of the body of the nave was broken up in half its extent by eight characteristic trophies, each representing one of the groups in which the exhibits are classed. It would be impossible to describe all the decorations which concealed the walls of the edifice with tapestries, velvet, gold, and trophies. All the galleries were hung with crimson velvet, fringed with gold and festooned with gold cables. Escutcheons with golden palm-branches were placed at intervals, alternating with blue panels bearing the names of the nations who have taken part in the Exhibition, and with escutcheons inscribed with "Pax" and "R. F." At each angle of the Palace were the arms of Paris; and finally, to complete the whole, flags and oriflammes of all all nations hung from the roof. Every detail of the decoration was executed with the utmost splendour, and the State Garde Meuble poured forth with lavish hands its treasure of Gobelins and Beauvais tapestries to complete the general effect, which was imposing and grand in the extreme. The President, Marshal MacMahon, whose rising was the signal for general cheering and cries of "Vive le Maréchal!" and "Vive la Republique!" first addressed the assembly in an appropriate speech; after which the Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, M. Teisserenc de Bort, made a rapid exposé of the general situation of the Exhibition; and MM. Georges Berger and Dietz Monin, the directors, proclaimed the names of the Frenchmen and foreigners who have been decorated with the order of the Legion of Honour. Then followed the proclamation of the Grands Prix, Diplômes d'Honneur, and Rappels de Grand Prix. The presidents and vice-presidents of the juries of groups came up and received the crosses and recompenses en bloc for distribution amongst the members of their class. The end of the ceremony was in all points worthy of the commencement. The names of the prize-winners were cheered; and on the announcement of M. Krantz's promotion to the Grand Officership of the Legion of Honour there was an outburst of unanimous applause. Before quitting the palace the Marshal went up to M. Grévy and shook hands with him in the most cordial manner. At a quarter to three all was over.

The appointment of Sir John Rose, Bart., the Canadian Commissioner, to be a Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, and that of Mr. F. Philip Cunliffe Owen, secretary to the British Commissioners, to be a Knight Commander, were gazetted this week; several other colonial gentlemen are appointed Commanders of the order.

PARIS EXHIBITION: OFFICIAL DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

CYPRUS: MONASTERY CAMP, HEAD-QUARTERS OF SIR GARNET WOLSELEY AND STAFF, NICOSIA.

CYPRUS: THE SITE OF ANCIENT PAPHOS.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

With the decision of the Cambridgeshire and Dewhurst Plate the principal events of the Houghton Meeting were wiped off the list; still, the second half of the long week's racing embraced some very interesting items. On the Thursday Lord Clive and Insulaire met in a Free Handicap, A. F.; and, as the former carried 5 lb. overweight, in order that Archer might be enabled to ride him, he was only in receipt of 3 lb. from the French colt. Notwithstanding this, and the fact that he ran very badly in the Cambridgeshire, odds of 7 to 4 were laid freely on him; and, dashing out of Abingdon Bottom in rare style, he won as he chose by four lengths. Of course, after this very smart performance, his admirers aver more stoutly than ever that, but for the misfortune of being wrongly nominated, he would have won the Derby, and a match between him and Sefton or Jannette would be one of the most sporting affairs that has been witnessed for years. We fear, however, that it is too late in the season to hope for such a contest. Discord, who has hitherto been very unlucky, and seemed "doomed to be near, but never to be first," won the Houghton Stakes from a very fair field of eight. In most of his previous races he has performed like a non-stayer; but as this was run over the R.M., a terribly long and trying course for a two-year-old, the son of See-Saw is certainly not deficient in stamina. Breadfinder (8 st. 11 lb.) performed exceedingly well in the Bretby Nursery Plate, conceding all sorts of weights to nineteen opponents, and in the Dallingham Plate, Fordham rode one of the finest races ever seen on Jagellon, in the sombre colours of his old master, Mr. Bowes.

Another top-weight, Out of Bounds (8 st. 12 lb.), took the Old Nursery Stakes on the Friday, and afforded one more proof that a good two-year-old can concede almost any amount of weight to a bad one. Odds of 2 to 1 were laid upon Trappist for the All-Aged Stakes, in which he was only asked to give 3 lb. to Ecossais; but, though he got well off, and led until reaching the Bushes, constant work appears to have ruined his temper, and he would not make an effort when Ecossais went up to him. Silvio, Verneuil, Insulaire, and Hampton were the cream of the starters for the Jockey Club Cup, which is run for over the Cesarewitch course. His grand performance on the previous Tuesday appeared to have taken all the steel out of Hampton, while Verneuil was a very different animal from the Verneuil that swept all before him at Ascot. The surprise of the race was afforded by Insulaire, who made Silvio do his best to beat him by a length; and this was, we believe, the sixth time this season that the luckless little black has been second for a valuable stake. The proceedings of Saturday call for little comment, and very few people were present on the heath. Mr. Gretton wound up a most successful week by taking the Houghton Handicap with the roaring Red Hazard (7 st. 5 lb.); and Hydromel secured the Winding-Up Handicap for Lord Falmouth, beating Clocher pretty easily at 5 lb.

On Tuesday F. Emmett, of Jarrow, and W. Spencer, of Chelsea, sculled from Putney to Mortlake for £100 a side. The latter had never previously suffered defeat; but just now the north countrymen are having it all their own way in aquatic matters, and Emmett at once took the lead and won with something in hand by a length and a half.

For more than a year we have not had a single billiard-match for money in London, and it is not surprising, therefore, that there was a very large attendance at St. James's Hall on Tuesday evening, to see Joseph Bennett and Thomas Taylor play 1000 up on a championship table for £200. The pair have met three times previously, when Taylor was successful on each occasion, though his victories were only gained by a very few points. This time Bennett, who had rather better luck than his opponent, completely reversed the previous verdicts, and, making breaks of 69, 63, 46, &c., won by 189 points. Taylor's best contribution amounted to 40.

Though there has been some capital racing this week at Brighton, Lincoln, and Worcester, the meetings seem to have fallen a little flat after all the excitement of Newmarket. Placida journeyed to the seaside gathering, and had no difficulty in conceding 56 lb. to Conductor in the Autumn Cup, though he proved good enough to win a race on the following day. The Oaks winner was brought out again the next day for the Autumn Handicap, but it was a little too much to expect that she could give 32 lb. to Grey Friar, who is the same age as herself. Lord Zetland won a couple of events at Lincoln with Ellangowan and Valseuse, who are both daughters of the Yorkshire grey Strathconan; and though Rochampton (8 st. 5 lb.) appeared to have the Great Tom Stakes in hand some distance from home, he ran very unkindly at the finish, and was just beaten by Ambergris (8 st. 12 lb.). Large fields were the order of the day at Worcester, though the events decided need no comment.

The second great "make the best of your way" contest, which was commenced at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, at one o'clock on Monday morning, seems likely to prove as great an attraction as ever. The prizes are £750 and a belt of the value of £100, and are guaranteed by Sir John Astley. All the best men of the day have entered, with the exception of O'Leary, the winner of a similar competition in March last, who did not care to leave America again just yet. At the end of two days the contest appeared to be confined to Corkey, "Blower" Brown, Crossland, Vaughan, Weston, Rowell, and Hibbert, and it caused general disappointment when it became known that Vaughan retired from the contest early on Wednesday morning, as he was suffering so much from the effects of an old sprain that it was impossible for him to continue on the track. We must not omit to mention that upon this occasion all the men walk upon one broad track (seven laps to the mile), and that the sleeping accommodation, which gave rise to so many well-founded complaints on the occasion of the last race, is now all that can be desired. At twenty minutes to five on Thursday afternoon the record was as appended:—

	Miles.		Miles.
Corkey	345	Richardson	257
Brown	342	Ide	255
Weston	313	Croft	252
Rowell	312	Day	250
Hibbert	306	Pellett	245
Crossland	301	Hancock	244
Howes	276	Clarkson	230
Courtney	275	Barnett	203
Ennis	270	Smythe...	177
Higgins	260

Vaughan, Hayward, Thatcher, and Holmes have retired finally. The contest between Corkey and Brown was wonderfully close and exciting, first one and then the other holding a slight lead, and both of them, as well as Weston, looked nearly as strong and fresh as when they started.

The Fifty-Miles Amateur Bicycle Championship, the prize for which is given by the proprietors of the Sporting Life, was decided at Lillie-bridge on Saturday last. There were fourteen competitors; and, after one of the grandest races ever seen, A. E. Derkinderin, Tower Hamlets B.C., beat H. Osborne (holder), Surrey B.C., by 31 sec. Derkinderin rode the full distance in 3 hours 9 min. 56 sec., which is the fastest on record for amateurs by several minutes.

At the London Athletic Club Second Autumn Meeting on Saturday last W. P. Phillips won the 220-Yards Handicap Challenge Cup, from scratch, for the third time, and it has become his own property. His time, 22 4-5ths sec., was really wonderful, considering the heavy state of the path. The other races produced very indifferent performances.

A collection of coins of ancient date has been found a short distance north of Drontjem, in Norway. The collection consists of 2260 coins, most of them dating from the time of King Harald Haarderaade, of Norway, who died in 1066. There are also some German and Anglo-Saxon coins.

Negotiations are stated to have been opened between a number of Berlin bankers and the Russian Minister of Ways and Communications with reference to the old project of making a water communication between the Baltic and the Black Sea, by connecting the rivers Vistula and Dnieper. A special commission has been authorised to report upon the proposed canal between the rivers Ob and Yenissei.

The Duke of Sutherland has intimated his intention of giving a park to the people of Longton. The land forms a desirable portion of his estate near Trentham, and is known as Cockrade Wood. The plans are already in the hands of the surveyors, and the land will shortly be laid out. This will be the only public park in the Staffordshire Potteries, and is only two miles from the centre of the district.

The Board of Trade inquiry into the loss of the Princess Alice practically came to a close on Monday. Mr. Scott Russell and other eminent shipbuilders gave evidence as to the seaworthiness of the Princess Alice. They were unanimously of opinion that she was in such a condition as thoroughly to justify the certificate of the Board of Trade. The legal gentlemen representing the various interested parties addressed the Commissioner, and at the close of their speeches the decision of the Court was given. It was to the effect that none of the charges brought by the Board of Trade had been sustained—that Captain Harrison had not neglected to keep an efficient look-out on the Bywell Castle; that the engineers, Dimelow and Thom, did not contribute to the casualty; that Long, the first mate of the Princess Alice, neglected to station an efficient look-out, but did not thereby contribute to the collision. All the certificates were therefore returned, the Court remarking that that of Long was returned with reluctance. There was another meeting on Thursday. Mr. Mansel Jones addressed the Court, and defended the Board of Trade from the charges that had been brought against it by Captain Pim, contending that the Princess Alice was properly surveyed, and was perfectly fit for the service for which she was intended. Mr. Balguy intimated that he and his friends beside him would make their report on the main question involved in the collision to the Board of Trade as speedily as possible.—The inquest at Woolwich was on Wednesday adjourned to Tuesday next, when the Coroner hopes to conclude the inquiry.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA. DUCAL LINE.—Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers only. Apply to Grindlay and Co., No. 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; to McDiarmid, Greenshields, and Co., or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Treatise of succes-ful cases forwarded for twelve stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily, Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

THROAT IRRITATION.—EPPS'S GLYCERINE JUJUBES. Soreness and dryness, tickling and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. Sold only in Boxes, 6d., and 1s., labelled JAMES EPPS and CO., Homœopathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle-street, London.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW AND POPULAR NOVELS.
At all the Libraries.

A BROKEN FAITH. By IZA DUFFUS HARDY, Author of "Glencairn."
A TRUE MARRIAGE. By EMILY SPENDER, Author of "Restored," &c.
MICHELLE AND LITTLE JACK. By FRANCES MARTIN. 1 vol. 10s. 6d.
A CHEQUERED LIFE. By Mrs. DAY.
MRS. GREY'S REMINISCENCES. By LADY BLAKE.
A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY. By Mrs. FORRESTER, Author of "Viva," &c. [Nov. 8
HURST and BLACKETT, 13, Great Marlborough-street.

New and Cheaper Illustrated Edition of the COMPLETE WORKS OF W. M. THACKERAY. Now ready, with Illustrations by the Author, J. P. Atkinson, and W. J. Webb.

THE GREAT HOGGARTY DIAMOND; A LITTLE DINNER AT TIMMINS'S; CORNHILL TO CAIRO. 1 vol., crown 8vo., 3s. 6d.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Now ready (One Shilling), No. 227,

THE CORNHILL MAGAZINE for NOVEMBER. With Illustrations by George du Maurier and Frank Dicksee.

CONTENTS.
"For Percival" (with an Illustration). Chap. XLVIII.—Engagements—Hostile and Otherwise. XLIX.—How the Sun rose in Gladness, and set in the Valley of the Shadow of Death.
The Eighteenth Century.
The Undefinable in Art.
Kirks, Mini ters, and Manses.
The Fear of Death.
Regnaud.
Aberglaube.
Within the Precincts (with an Illustration). Chap. XXVIII.—The Captain's Wife. XXIX.—The Heavings of the Earthquake. XXX.—Lottie's Fate.
London: SMITH, ELDER, and Co., 15, Waterloo-place.

Ready Next Week, price 2s., complete,

THE DISTURBING ELEMENT; or, Chronicles of the Blue Bell Society. By CHARLOTTE M. YONGE, Author of "The Heir of Redclyffe." With Illustrations by Percy Macquoid. Being the Seventh Monthly Volume of the BLUE BELL SERIES of NEW NOVELS in Complete Volumes.
"Marcus Ward and Co. have done good service to the cause of light literature in boldly breaking through the hideous three-volume circulating library system."—Saturday Review.

THE ILLUSTRATED WAVERLEY NOVELS. In Half-Crown (complete) Volumes, Monthly. Clear type, well illustrated, and elegantly bound in cloth.
THE FORTUNES OF NIGEL, with 36 Illustrations. Now ready.
The Series is also being issued Half-bound Extra, per Volume, 3s. 6d.

In Monthly Parts, One Shilling, Part VIII., now ready,

OUR NATIVE LAND; its Scenery and Associations. Water-colour Sketches after Rowbotham, Reed, Needham, and other eminent Artists, with Descriptive Notes. Part VIII. contains views in colours of The Lyon (Giants' Causeway), the Giants' Causeway and the Grey Man's Path (Fair Head, Co. Antrim).

KASPAR AND THE SUMMER FAIRIES. By JULIA GODDARD. Author of "Kaspar and the Seven Wonderful Pigeons of Wurzburg." With numerous Illustrations. Small octavo, cloth extra, price 2s. 6d.

NEW WORK ON FISHING, FOR BOYS.
THE BOY'S WALTON. By ULICK J. BURKE, B.A. Numerous Illustrations. Small octavo, cloth extra, price 2s.
MARCUS WARD and Co., London, Belfast, and Philadelphia.

MACMILLAN'S MAGAZINE, No. 229, for NOVEMBER. Price 1s.
CONTENTS OF THE NUMBER.
1. Haworth's. By Frances Hodgson Burnett, Author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." Chapters VII.—X.
2. Is it expedient to increase the Number of Universities in England? By A. W. Ward.
3. John Walter and the Birth of the "Times." By William Blades.
4. An Italian Study of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." By R. L. Nettleship.
5. A Doubting Heart. By Miss Keary. Chapters XII.–XIV.
6. A Year at the Southern Negro. By Arthur Granville Bradley.
7. From Heine. I.—Aus Meinen Thränen Spriessen. By F. H. Doyle.
8. Shakespeare as an Adapter. By Edward Rose.
9. Hymn by St. Columba.
10. Reform in Turkey. By R. Hamilton Lang.
11. A Word for Amir Shere Ali. By Sir Thomas Douglas Forsyth, K.C.S.I., C.B.
12. Cyprus. Extract from a Letter of Sir Garnet Wolseley's.
MACMILLAN and Co., London.

Now ready, neatly bound in cloth, price 8s.,

SOCIAL NOTES, Vol. I., Edited by S. C. HALL, F.S.A., with Complete Index to Subjects and their Authors.—16, Southampton-street, Strand; SIMPKIN, MARSHALL, and Co., Stationers' Hall-court, London; and all Booksellers.
"The first volume of this publication embodies a large amount of valuable information."—Illustrated News.
"The idea of this publication is novel, and it promises to exercise a useful influence on public opinion."—Daily News.
"Such works as these will do far more good than the reading of a hundred novels."—Weekly Times.
"We venture to say that this periodical is second to none in the loftiness of its objects."—Echo.
"With the loftiest aim, it has high literary merit."—Public Opinion.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive method of decorating Windows for Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the Rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Old Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

CHROMOPHOTOGRAPHY. INVENTED BY H. KRAUS.
The new art of Colouring Photographs in Oil, in imitation of porcelain painting, by which simple process the most beautiful and lifelike pictures may be produced. Boxes of complete materials, 15s. and 21s. each. Particulars free, and specimens shown at J. BARNARD and SON'S, 339, Oxford-street, London, W. Sole Agents for Great Britain and Ireland.

8vo, pp. 220, bound, 2s. 6d.; by post for 33 stamps,

HORSES ILL AND WELL: Homœopathic Treatment of Diseases and Injuries, and Hints on Feeding, Grooming, Conditioning, Nursing, Horsebuying, &c. By JAMES MOORE, M.R.V.C.S., Chief of Medicine, Book issued, 9m. JAMES EPPS and Co., 48, Threadneedle-street, and 170, Piccadilly.

By Dr. BARR MEADOWS, Physician to the National Institution for Diseases of the Skin. Seventh Edition, post-free, 32 stamps,

ERUPTIONS; their Rational Treatment, Remarks on the abuse of arsenic, mercury, and other reputed specifics.—London: G. HILL, 194, Westminster Bridge-rd.

Just published, post-free, two stamps,

DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION. A small Pamphlet on these distressing complaints and their complete cure.
Published by the Author, RICHARD KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

NOW READY,
THE ILLUSTRATED
PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Assessed Taxes; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (172), Strand; and H. Williams, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

ZADKIEL'S ALMANAC for 1879, now ready.—Year of Troubles.—Voice of the Stars—Weather Predictions, Hieroglyphic, &c. Zadkiel foretold War in Turkey, Yellow Fever in America, Troubles in India, &c. Circulation over 100,000. Price 6d.
London: COWLING and Co., 3, York-street, Covent-garden, W.C.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

NEW NOVEL.—MACLEOD OF DARE. By WILLIAM BLACK, Author of "A Princess of Thule," &c. With Illustrations by eminent Artists. 3 vols., 31s. 6d.

NEW NOVEL.—THE EUROPEANS. By HENRY JAMES, jun. 2 vols., 21s.

NEW NOVEL.—RACHEL OLLIVER. 3 vols., 31s. 6d.
MACMILLAN and Co., London.

POTTERY-PAINTING: a Handbook of the Practice. By JOHN C. L. SPARKES, Director of the Lambeth School of Art, &c. Second Edition. Post-free, 1s. 1d.
London: LECHERTIER, BARBE, and Co., 60, Regent-street, W. (Agents in England for Lacroix's Ceramic Colours).

Crown 8vo, with Coloured Illustrations, Plans of Bulb Gardens and Wood Engravings, 3s. 6d., cloth (postage 4d.

THE BULB GARDEN; or, How to Cultivate Bulbous and Tuberous-Rooted Flowering Plants to Perfection. A manual adapted for both the Professional and Amateur Gardener. By SAMUEL WOOD.
"An excellent manual, alike for the amateur and the professional grower."—Graphic.
CROSBY LOCKWOOD and Co., 7, Stationers' Hall-court, E.C.

LE FOLLET.—The QUEEN of FASHION-BOOKS.
EXTRA PLATE OF WINTER MANTLES,
and many varied and attractive novelties, in NOVEMBER No.
Free by post for 1s. 6d.—MINISTER, 8, Argyll-place, W.

"The cheapest Monthly Magazine on novel literature extant."
All Novels and Tales Complete.

THE NOVELETTE contains LOVE YOUR LORDS. By JEAN MIDDLEMASS. With Photograph of the Author.
ALL FOR HIM. By Mrs. GEORGE R. SIMS.
And Three Complete Stories by Popular Authors.
The "Sunday Times" says:—"No lady need hesitate to have it on her library table."
At all Booksellers', price 6d.; post-free, 7d.
R. S. CARTWRIGHT, 8, Johnson's-court, Fleet-street, London.

THE LINCOLN STAMP ALBUM, printed on superior paper, the favourite oblong shape, bound in cloth, gilt and gilt clasp. 8s. 6d.; post-free, 9s. 6d.
W. LINCOLN, Stampdealer, 220, High Holborn, London.

WEDDING and BIRTHDAY PRESENTS at HENRY RODRIGUES', 42, Piccadilly, London.
Sets for the Boudoir and Writing Table, 21s. to £10.

Envelope Cases	10s. to £3	Dressing Cases	21s. to £50
Inkstands	5s. to £5	Jewel Cases	21s. to £3
Despatch Boxes	21s. to £6	Work-Boxes	10s. 6d. to £3
Writing Cases	10s. to £3	Card Trays	2s. to £3

Travelling Bags, Candlesticks, Candelabra, Flower Vases, Jardinieres, and a large and choice Assortment of English, Viennese, and Parisian Useful and Elegant Novelties, from 5s. to £5.

PORTRAIT ALBUMS at RODRIGUES', with Patent Leather Guards, 4s. 6d. to £3. Easel Albums, Scrap Albums, Presentation and Regimental Albums. Albums of every description made to order.—42, Piccadilly.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, Punch, Graphic, The World, Truth, Economist, Field, Queen, Gardener's Chronicle, Saturday Review, Naval and Military Gazette, and all WEEKLIES; Fall-Mall Gazette, and DAILIES, regularly forwarded. PRICE-LIST FREE.
STEEL and JONES, General Newsvenders, 4, Spring-gardens, London, S.W.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY MACHINERY.
JENNER and KNEWSTUB, HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb sweetness of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DIESINKING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate price; also, to their new mode of Stamping in Colours (for Society) without charge, in quantities of not less than two reams and 1000 envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large consumers generally, an immense saving is thus effected. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

FOR FAMILY ARMS (Lincoln's-Inn Heraldic Office), send Name and County. Sketch, 3s. 6d., or stamps. Arms Painted and Engraved on Seals. Book-Plates, Dies, &c.—PUGH BROS., Great Turnstile, Lincoln's-Inn, W.C. City Branch, 76, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

PARIS EXHIBITION, 1878.—PRIZE MEDAL awarded to PUGH BROTHERS for HERALDIC PAINTING and Seal Engraving. Illuminated Addresses, &c. Lincoln's-inn Heraldic Office, Great Turnstile; and 76, Queen Victoria-street. Lists on application.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Office, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

V. R.
"THREE PENS for three essential virtues famed.
The 'Pickwick,' 'Owl,' and 'Waverley' were named.
The first in flexibility surpassed,
In ease the next, in elegance the last.
Those points, united with attractions new,
Have yielded other boons, the 'Phaeton' and 'Hindoo.'"
"They are a treasure."—Standard.
At all Stationers. 6d. and 1s. per Box.
Sample Box, containing all the kinds, by post, 1s. 1d.
Patentees, MACNIVEN and CAMERON, 23 to 33, Blair-street, Edinburgh. Penmakers to her Majesty's Government Offices. (Established 1770.)

WHITE WOOD ARTICLES, for Painting, Fern Printing, and Decalcomanie, Blotting-Book, Paper-Knives, Boxes, Screens, &c. Priced List post-free.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

MALVERN COLLEGE.
The ANNUAL EXAMINATION for SCHOLARSHIPS and ENTRANCE EXHIBITIONS will be held on DEC. 13 and 20.

WRITING, BOOK-KEEPING, &c. Persons of any age, however bad their writing, may in EIGHT EASY LESSONS, acquire Permanently an Elegant and Flowing style of Penmanship, adapted either to professional pursuits or private correspondence. Book-keeping by double entry, as practised in the Government, banking, and mercantile offices. Arithmetic, Shorthand, &c.—Apply to Mr. W. SMART, at his sole Institution, 97a, Quadrant, Regent-street.

BANK OF NEW ZEALAND (Incorporated by Act of General Assembly, July 29, 1861).
Bankers to the New Zealand Government.
Authorised Capital, £1,000,000. Paid-up Capital, £725,000.
Reserve Fund, £255,000.
DIRECTORS.
J. LOGAN CAMPBELL, Esq., President.
George B. Owen, Esq. | W. I. Taylor, Esq.
Alfred Cox, Esq., M.G.A. | J. C. Firth, Esq.
Samuel Browning, Esq. | Hon. Jas. Williamson, M.L.C.
LONDON BOARD.
The Right Hon. Sir James Fergusson, Bart., K.C.M.G. | Falconer Larkworthy, Esq.
Archd. Hamilton, Esq. | Robert Porter, Esq.
A. J. Mundella, Esq., M.P. | Thomas Russell, Esq., C.M.G.
Head Office—Auckland.
BRANCHES AND AGENCIES.
In Australia—Melbourne, Sydney, and Newcastle.
In Fiji—Levuka.
In New Zealand—Auckland, Blenheim, Christchurch, Dunedin, Invercargill, Napier, Nelson, New Plymouth, Picton, Wellington, and at eighty-two other towns and places throughout the Colony.
The Bank grants Drafts on all their Branches and Agencies, and transacts every description of banking business connected with New Zealand, Australia, and Fiji on the most favourable terms.
The London Office RECEIVES DEPOSITS of £50 and upwards for fixed periods of two to five years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. per annum. The rate for shorter periods can be ascertained on application. F. LARKWORTHY, Managing Director.
No. 1, Queen Victoria-street, Mansion House, E.C.

NEW MUSIC.

THE MUSICAL TIMES. Price Threepence. The largest and best Musical Journal.

THE MUSICAL TIMES FOR NOVEMBER contains:—Sir George Bowyer on Musical Education—The Literature of National Music (continued)—The Great Composers Sketched by Themselves: Beethoven (continued)—Production of Gounod's "Polyeucte"—Norwich Musical Festival (by our Special Correspondent)—Occasional Notes—Her Majesty's Theatre—Crystal Palace—Choir Benevolent Fund—Church Choir Association—Reviews: Gounod's "Polyeucte"—Foreign and Country Notes—Christmas Anthem, "Sing, O heavens," by Berthold Tours. Postage-free, 4d. Annual Subscription, 4s., including postage.

THE MUSICAL TIMES FOR NOVEM ER contains an Anthem for Christmas, "Sing, O heavens," by Berthold Tours. Price, separately, 1½d.

Just published,

POLYEUCTE. By CHARLES GOUNOD. Opera, in Five Acts. Libretto by Jules Barbier and Michel Carré. Vocal Score, 25s.

MUSICAL FORMS. E. PAUER. Price 2s. No. 7 of Novello's Music Primers.

FUGUE. J. HIGGS. Price 2s. No. 10 of Novello's Music Primers.

PLAIN-SONG. Rev. T. HELMORE. Price 2s. No. 14 of Novello's Music Primers.

INSTRUMENTATION. E. PROUT. Price 2s. No. 15 of Novello's Music Primers.

Third Series.—Now ready,

CHRISTMAS CAROLS, OLD AND NEW. Edited by Rev. H. R. BRAMLEY and Dr. STAINER. Paper covers, 1s. 6d.; cloth, gilt, 2s. 6d.; Words only, 1½d.

Just published, Price 2s. 6d.
Dedicated by special permission to H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, K.G.

SONGS FOR SAILORS. Written by W. C. Bennett, and set to Music by J. L. HATTON. In one Volume, containing FORTY SONGS, with Illustrated Cover and Engraved Portrait of H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.
London: NOVELLO, EWER, and Co., 1, Berners-street, W.; and 80 and 81, Queen-street, E.C.

THE HOLY FAMILY. Sacred Melodies. Arranged by W. H. CALLCOTT for the Pianoforte. Solos complete in Twelve Books, 2s. each; Duets, 4s. each; ad lib. accompaniment for flute, violin, and violoncello, 1s. each. Each Book free at half price in stamps.—N.B. This Work may also be had in four vols, as Solos, cloth, gilt edges, price 12s. each net.
London: ROBERT COCKS and Co.

BRINLEY RICHARDS'S ECHO OF LUCERNE and ECHOES OF KILLARNEY for the Pianoforte. 4s. each; post-free at half price.
London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

SCHUMANN'S JOYFUL PEASANT and his HARVEST SONG. Both Transcribed for the Pianoforte by GEORGE FREDERICK WEST. 4s. each; post-free at half price.—London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

COTSFORD DICK'S POPULAR QUADRILLES for the PIANOFORTE. Finely Illustrated Titles. The Singing Quadrille, Solo and Duet, 4s. each: the Arabian Nights Quadrille, 4s.; and the Look-Out Quadrille, 4s.; all post-free at half price.
London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

POPULAR MUSIC FOR HOME OR SCHOOL.—Practice for Three Performers on one Piano, Liebich's selections from the Operas of "Don Juan," "Oberon," and "Les Huguenots," 4s. each; Linter's "Les Jolis Oiseaux" Quadrilles, 4s.; also Forty-eight Trios, arranged for Three Performers on one Piano by Charles Czerny, at various prices. All post-fr at half price. A List free by post.
London: Sole Publishers, ROBERT COCKS and Co.

HAMILTON'S MODERN INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PIANOFORTE. 1190th Edition. 4s.; free for 28 stamps. "It is unapproached by anything of the kind that has hitherto been produced."—Oriental Circular. Appendix to Ditto, by George Frederick West, 2s.
London: ROBERT COCKS and Co., New Burlington-street; and of all Musicsellers and Booksellers.

CHARLES HALLÉ'S PRACTICAL PIANOFORTE SCHOOL.
Section I.—No. 1. Pianoforte Tutor.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, London and Manchester.

Now publishing,

CHARLES HALLÉ'S NEW EDITION of all the most Popular PIANOFORTE PIECES. Carefully Edited and Fingered, with metronome marks.
Catalogues post-free.
FORSYTH BROTHERS, 272a, Regent-circus, Oxford-street, London: Cross-street, South King-street, Manchester.

P. J. SMITH AND SONS'
IRON-STRUTTED PIANOS.
"The best and most substantial instrument produced."
9, CONDUIT-STREET, REGENT-STREET, W.

PIANO, £35 (Civil Service cash price) Trichord Drawing-Room Model, repetition action, grand rich, full tone, in very handsome Italian walnut-wood case, with elaborately carved and fretwork front, and trichord truss front. The usual price charged for this Instrument is 50 guineas. Drawings of this beautiful Piano sent post-free on application. THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-st., Portman-square

BROADWOOD and COLLARD COTTAGE PIANOFORTES, fullest compass of Seven Octaves. Two beautiful instruments of rich and full tone, in the choicest Italian walnut-wood, nearly new. To be SOLD at unusually low prices. May be seen at OETZMANN'S, 27, Baker-street.

TWENTY-POUND SCHOOL-ROOM PIANO (Co-operative price for cash). Seven octaves, strong, sound, and substantial. Adapted for hard practice. Packed free. Illustrated Book of Designs gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

EBONY and GOLD PIANOS, 25 guineas, 35 guineas, and 45 guineas.—These charming and elegant Pianos, with ormolu embellishments, repetition action, and every recent improvement, may now be obtained at the above low prices for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, at 1 guinea per month. The new Illustrated Catalogue gratis and post-free.
THOMAS OETZMANN and CO., 27, Baker-street, W.

PIANOFORTES for HIRE or for SALE from 25s. per month.—JOHN BROADWOOD and SONS, 33, Great Pulteney-street, Golden-square, W. Manufactory, 45, Horse-ferry-road, Westminster.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Ludgate-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best secular and sacred music. Prices, £4 to £120 Snuff-boxes, from 18s. to 60s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES. In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, beauty, and workmanship, with keyless action, air-tight, damp-tight, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price-Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

ORIDE GOLD WATCHES, 21s., 25s., 30s.; free by registered post 6d. extra. Facsimile of costly gold watches; exact time-keepers. Catalogues post-free.
C. C. ROWE, 88, Brompton-road, London, S.W.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK.
A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION,
by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinions of Press.
Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

USEFUL WEDDING PRESENTS.
SLACK'S SILVER ELECTRO-PLATE is in appearance and wear equal to Sterling Silver. Made in a variety of articles suitable for Presents. Fish Carvers, in case, 10s. 6d. to 50s.; Dessert Knives and Forks, in case, 42s. to 120s.; Sets of Spoons and Forks (1 dozen each), 16s.; Sets of Cutlery, 75s.; Dessert Frames, 18s. 6d. to 100s.; Biscuit Boxes, 9s. 6d. to 80s. Orders over £2 carriage-free. Catalogues gratis.
RICHARD and JOHN SLACK, 336, Strand, W.C.

SILVER TEA and COFFEE SERVICES. GOLDSMITHS' ALLIANCE (Limited), Manufacturing Silversmiths, have always ready for immediate selection a great variety of the Newest and most Elegant Designs. The following are much admired:—

The Beaded Pattern.		The Orleans Pattern.
Silver Teapot ..	£13 12 0	Silver Teapot ..	£16 8 0
Silver Sugar Basin	8 0 0	Silver Sugar Basin	10 0 0
Silver Cream Ewer ..	5 10 0	Silver Cream Ewer ..	6 5 0
Silver Coffeepot..	17 8 0	Silver Coffeepot..	19 5 0
	£44 10 0		£51 18 0

A Pamphlet, illustrated with 300 engravings, will be sent, post-free on application, and Lithographic Drawings of Silver Presentation Plate, will be forwarded to Committees and others requiring Testimonial Plate.
Goldsmiths' Alliance (Limited), Manufacturing Silversmiths, &c., 11 and 12, Cornhill, London (opposite the Bank of England).

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Services from £3 3s. the Set for twelve persons, complete. Table Glass Services from £3 3s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons complete.

DINNER SERVICES.
Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Deep Blue.		In Blue and White.
The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0	The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0
The Laurel	3 13 6	The Indiana	4 4 0
		The Danish	5 5 0

Discount 15 per cent.

In Enamelled Patterns.		In their unequalled Crown Ware.
The One Thousand and Two (A) ..	£5 5 0	In Ruby	£5 5 0
The Jeddo Lambs ..	6 6 0	In Pink	5 5 0
The Humming-Bird ..	7 7 0	In Black	5 5 0
The Sèvres	7 7 0

Discount 15 per cent.

TABLE GLASS SERVICES

Plain light stem glass	£3 5 6	Light engraved glass ..	£5 15 6
Richly cut glass ..	5 5 0	Richly engraved glass	5 19 6

Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

MORTLOCKS' CHINA.
MORTLOCKS' is the Depôt for all Minton's New Designs.
MORTLOCKS' Lamps are perfect. Price from 21s. each.
MORTLOCKS manufacture only from Original Designs.
MORTLOCKS' Glass Decorated by New Process.
MORTLOCKS, Manufacturers to the Queen and Royal Family.
MORTLOCKS, Oxford-street and Orchard-street; and nowhere else.

DUPLEX TABLE LAMP, with instantaneous extinguisher.—The Patent Duplex Lamp, for petroleum or rose oil, gives a intense, pure, and beautiful light, equal to that of twenty-four sperm candles, at a cost of about one farthing per hour. Deane and Co. invite inspection of their new season's stock in Crystal, China, Ormolu, and Bronze. Prices from 18s. to £6. Illustrated Priced List post-free.
DEANE and CO., 46, King William-street, London Bridge.

GASELIERS, in Crystal, Glass, Ormoulu, or Bronze, Mediæval Fittings, &c. A large assortment always on view. Every article marked with plain figures.
D. HULETT and CO., Manufacturers, 55 and 56, High Holborn

HEAL and SON
HAVE ON SHOW
THE LARGEST STOCK OF
BED-ROOM FURNITURE
IN LONDON.
FORTY SUITES are set apart in separate rooms, and the general stock occupies six galleries and two ground floors, each 50 feet long.
150 Bedsteads, fitted with every description of bedding, are ready fixed for inspection.
AN ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE,
CONTAINING 450 DESIGNS OF BEDSTEADS AND BED-ROOM FURNITURE, AND PRICE-LIST OF BEDDING, SENT-FREE BY POST.
196 to 198, TOTTENHAM COURT-ROAD, LONDON.

TRELOAR and SONS, 69, Ludgate-hill. Seven Prize Medals, including Paris, 1878. Catalogues and Samples free.

MATS.

LINOLEUM.

TURKEY CARPETS.

ORIENTAL RUGS.

TRELOAR and SONS, 69, Ludgate-hill. Floor Decorators. Established 1834. Seven Prize Medals, including Paris, 1878. Catalogues and Estimates free.

"YOUR NEW 'VOWEL' A 1 is a-one-derful Machine, both as Washer, Wringer, and Mangler; seriously, Mrs. G. considers it beyond all praise."—Vide Purchaser. Price £6 10s., carriage free and trial free. Catalogue free by post. Paris, 1878, three Silver Medals to THOMAS BRADFORD and CO., 149 to 143, High Holborn, London, and Cathedral-steps, Manchester.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.
Awarded the GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR.

CHOCOLAT MENIER, in ½ lb. and ¼ lb. Packets.
For BREAKFAST and SUPPER.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.—Awarded Twenty-Three PRIZE MEDALS.
Consumption annually exceeds 17,000,000lbs.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Paris, London, New York.
Sold Everywhere.

WHOOPING-COUGH.—ROCHE'S HERBAL EMBROCATION.—The celebrated Effectual Cure without internal medicine. Sole Wholesale Agents, EDWARDS and SON, 157, Queen Victoria-street (late of 38, Old Change), London. Sold retail by most Chemists. Price 4s. per Bottle.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheumatism. Sure, safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required during their use, and are certain to prevent the disease attacking any vital part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

STIMULANTS and insufficient amount of exercise frequently derange the liver. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver. A world of woes is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT. Many of our customers say Eno's Fruit salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it.—Wood Brothers, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

THROAT AFFECTIONS and HOARSENESS.—All suffering from Irritation of the Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably surprised at the almost immediate relief afforded by the use of BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges are now sold by most respectable Chemists in this country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box. People troubled with a hacking cough, a slight cold, or bronchial affections cannot try them too soon, as similar troubles, if allowed to progress, result in serious pulmonary and asthmatic affections.—Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street, London.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
PLEASE DIRECT ALL LETTERS AND ORDERS FOR
PETER ROBINSON,
SILKMERCER and LINENDRAPER,
TO
THE ONLY ADDRESS,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, W.,
where the Business was established in 1833.

STOCK of LOVERING and CO., Liverpool, PETER ROBINSON, Oxford-street, London, is the PURCHASER, by PUBLIC TENDER, at a Large Discount off, of the SILK COSTUMES, Dress Costumes, Shawls, Mantles, Furs, &c., of the above select and costly Stock, and will SELL the SAME, on his premises in Oxford-street, at GREATLY REDUCED PRICES, on MONDAY, NOV. 4, and following days.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, Oxford-street, W.

NEW AUTUMN SILKS, 1878.
SPECIAL NEW SHADES.
110 New Tints, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Coloured Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
360 Pieces extra rich Broché Silks, at 4s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.
Grisaille and Quadrille Silks, 25s. 6d. the Dress.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET.
Established at this address in 1833.

BLACK SILKS.
One Thousand Pieces at 2s. 11d. and 3s. 11d. per yard.
A special purchase of Bonnet's Black Si commencing at 2s. 11d. per yard.
Black Satins of extreme brightness, 2s. 6d. and 3s. 6d. per yard.
For Patterns please address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

RICH SILK AUTUMN COSTUMES.
One Thousand Coloured Silk Costumes at 6½ gs.
BLACK SILK COSTUMES at 5½ gs.
Black Silk Skirts, one guinea.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.
Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.
CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 46 inches wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 2s. 9d. to 4s. 6d. in black, 1s. 11d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials, 1s. 2d. to 3s. 9d. per yard.
WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plain, and Snowflake, from 1s. 9d. per yard.
CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in New Designs, Black, full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

MANTLES and JACKETS for AUTUMN and WINTER.
NOVELTIES FROM PARIS AND BERLIN DAILY.
In Beaver Cloth, Diagonal Cloth, Mille-raye Cloth, and Drap Brute; also, in Velvet, Face, Sicilian, and Gros Grain, lined and quilted.
Several New Shapes in Ulster Mantles.
The New Waterproof Satin Mantles.
For Illustrations apply to
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
The only address.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS (half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 9 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles, in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver, Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine, and every other description of Muffs, Neckties, &c.

PETER ROBINSON, SILKMERCER and DRAPER,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON,
INFORMS THE PUBLIC
that his business has been carried on at these premises since its establishment in 1833, and respectfully requests his Customers to address orders to this address only.

ROUGH-AND-READY SERGES, a Speciality at BAKER and CRISP'S, 1s. 6d. Patterns free.

KNOCK-ABOUT CYPRUS CLOTHS, 1s. 6d. Patterns free.
BAKER and CRISP'S, 198, Regent-street.

MOLESKIN VELVETEENS, only at BAKER and CRISP'S. Black, from 1s. 9½d. Colours, 2s. 11d. and 3s. 6d.

BLACK SATINS, 2s. 6d.; Coloured, 3s. 6d. SILKS, all kinds, BAKER and CRISP'S, 1s. 11½d.

BAKER and CRISP'S ULSTERS, 8s. 11d. to 35s. Marvellous value. Sent for P.O.O. 198, Regent-street.

PARIS EXHIBITION IN LONDON.
CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited) will offer for SALE on THURSDAY NEXT and Following Days the whole of their VAST PURCHASES in the PARIS EXHIBITION, the productions of the MOST EMINENT MANUFACTURERS in the World, for which many PRIZE MEDALS were awarded, comprising—
The SUPERB COSTUMES of the most PARIS EXHIBITORS.
The RICH and BEAUTIFUL SILKS and VELVETS of Lyons, Zurich, and Italy.
The elegant PARIS MANTLES, JACKETS, &c., so much desired.
The RICH and COSTLY FURS and FUR GARMENTS of Paris and Russia.
The KID GLOVES, of nearly all the best makers, including several hundred dozens of JOUVIN'S, for which silver medal was awarded, 2s. 4d. per pair; usual price, 4s.
The DRESS FABRICS and TISSUES of Amiens and Roubaix.
The BEAUTIFUL REAL LACES of France, Brussels, &c.
The FINE BRONZES and ORNAMENTAL OBJECTS of the Exhibition.
The OXYDISED and other WORKS OF ART of Vienna, prize goods.
The fine white and fancy coloured BLANKETS and COVERTURES of Orleans and Austrian.
The TABLE LINENS, SERVIETTES, Guipure d'Art of France and Russia.
The Prize LONSDALE CLOTHS, CALICOES, and FLANNELS of Preston and Rouen.
The NOVEL and ARTISTIC UMBRELLAS of Cathiart and Tilleard, also elaborate Ivory Carvings.
And a large collection of other Exhibition Articles, too numerous to particularise.
All these Goods are of the highest character, made expressly for Exhibition, and having been purchased at a large discount off usual prices, will be sold accordingly.

CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited) beg to notify that, in order to prepare and mark the EXHIBITION GOODS FOR SALE, their PREMISES will be CLOSED on WEDNESDAY, the 6th inst.
SALE to COMMENCE at TEN O'CLOCK.
58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, Oxford-street; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Wells-street, London.

"PATENT WEATHER-PROOF"
SILK CRAPE, of ENGLISH MANUFACTURE.—This Crape, manufactured only by LE GROS, THOMPSON, and CO., and Finished by a New Process, protected by the Queen's Letters Patent, is made ENTIRELY OF SILK, is of a Deep, Fast Black, and DOES NOT SPOT WITH RAIN.

FAMILY MOURNING.

WIDOW'S DRESS, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £4 4 0
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Materials at One Shilling per Yard.
JAYS',
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, Regent-street, W.

HENRY GLAVE'S
GIGANTIC SHOW OF DRESS FABRICS, for the Fall and Winter of 1878.
The Real Rough-and-Ready Serge, 28 in. wide, 10½d. a yard, very suitable for warm costumes and winter wear.
Winter Cashmeres, 26 in. wide, 8½d.
Twill Foule in all leading colours, at 10½d.
French Merinos, 42 in. to 48 in. wide, 1s. 10½d. and 2s. 10½d.
Small Fancy Designs for mixing with plain textures.
The Leopard Mixture, at 8½d.; the Cabul Mixture, at 10½d.; the Costume Mixture, at 1s. 3d.; the Afghan Silk Mixture, at 1s. 9½d.; the All-Wool Silk Mixture, at 2s. 1½d.
Heather Mixtures for Autumn, 1s. 6½d.
Fancy Scotch Clans, as now worn in Paris, 6½d. to 3s. a yard.
Serge Nègligé, a light warm wool material in eleven new fashionable mixtures, 26 in. wide, 1s. 9½d.
The Estamene Serge, Newest Colours, 1s. 6½d. and 1s. 6¾d.
French Beige Foulé, 26 in. wide, 1s 4½d.
The Scarborough Twill, New Autumn Colours, 10½d.
Scotch Cashmere Estamene, 1s. 2½d. and 1s. 6½d.
An endless variety of New Skirtings, 40 in. wide at 1s. 11½d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6½d., and 4s. 11d. a yard.
Patterns of all kinds post-free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

HENRY GLAVE'S
EVENING DRESS FABRICS.
The El Dorado Gauze, a beautiful Fabric for Evening Wear, woven by a new process in Gold and Silver Threads of brilliant brightness, and will not break. Price 1s. 2½d. a yard. Patterns free.

HENRY GLAVE'S
FANCY DRESS DEPARTMENT.
The New "Corduroy" Velveteen, in every colour, at 2s. 11½d. a yard, 27 in. wide. Patterns free.
534, 535, 536, and 537, New Oxford-street, London.

FOR ALL SEASONS AND ALL CLIMATES.
UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF THE
ENGLISH AND FOREIGN COURTS.
EGERTON BURNETT'S
WELLINGTON SERGES,
AND VARIOUS OTHER APPROVED WOOLLEN FABRICS.
EGERTON BURNETT has repeatedly had the honour of supplying "these admirable Serges" to the ROYAL FAMILY, and executes Orders daily FROM ALL PARTS.
Neither rain nor salt water can affect their permanent dye. Prices from 1s. 2½d. to the finest at 4s. 6d. per yard. PATTERN-BOOKS sent free by post and carriage paid to Bristol or London on parcels over £2. GOODS PACKED FOR EXPORTATION.
A Special Strong Make for BOYS' and GENTLEMEN'S SUITS, 54 inches, from 3s. 6d. per yard.
EGERTON BURNETT,
SERGE WAREHOUSES,
WELLINGTON, SOMERSET.

SHIRTS. — FORD'S EUREKA. — "The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing Shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 30s., 40s, 45s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

JUDSON'S DYES.—6d. each, of Chemists. Curtains, Tablecovers, Mantles, Scarves, Jackets dyed in ten minutes in a pail of hot water.
Judson's Dyes—Crimson, Green, and Tweasty-four Colours.

CAUTION.—BOND'S CRYSTAL PALACE GOLD MEDAL MARKING INK.—Some Chemists and Stationers, for extra profit, deceive you. Genuine Label, "Prepared by the Daughter of the late John Bond."—Works, 75, Southgate-road, London. No heating required.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR. If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUF, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath. Is the best liquid Dentifrice in the World; it thoroughly cleanses partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Floriline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUF, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed everywhere.

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable, 2s. 6d. to 40s. per Bottle. Breidenbach's MACASSARINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 1s., 2s. 6d., 3s. per Bottle. Of all Chemists, and the Makers, 157a, New Bond-street, W.

JOHN GOSNELL and CO.'S VIOLET and MILLEFLEUR POWDER, for the Toilet and Nursery. Universally admired for its purity and fragrance. Sold by all Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale, 93, Upper Thames-street.

ROWLANDS' MACASSAR OIL preserves, strengthens, and beautifies the human Hair. 3s. 6d., 7s., and 10s. 6d. ROWLANDS' ODONTO whitens the Teeth and arrests decay. 2s. 9d. per Box. Of Chemists.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Portcus-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 93 and 95, City-road, E.C. London: Pinaud and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 12s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

NUDA VERITAS.—GREY HAIR restored by this valuable specific to its original shade, after which it grows the natural colour, not grey. Used as a dressing, it causes growth and arrests falling. The most harmless and effectual restorer extant. One trial will convince it has no equal. Price 10s. 6d., of all Chemists and Hairdressers. Testimonials post-free.—R. HOVENDEN and SONS, London.

SPANISH FLY is the acting ingredient in ALEX. ROSS'S CANTHARIDES OIL, which speedily produces Whiskers and Thickens Hair. 3s. 6d.; sent in blank wrappers for 54 stamps.—Alex. Ross, 248, High Holborn.

LAXORA MEDICATED FRUIT LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISHNESS OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACHE.
The "Lancet":—"It is a great improvement on the preparations in common use for the same purpose."
"Medical Press":—"Laxora Lozenges can be safely recommended."
C. R. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lozenges are efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s., 1½d., by all Chemists and Druggists; Wholesale, 82, Southwark-street.

COUGHS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS. Medical testimony states that no other medicine is so effectual in the cure of these dangerous maladies as KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES. One lozenge alone gives ease, one or two at bed time ensures rest. They contain no opium nor any violent drug.

NEW MUSIC.

CHRISTMAS NUMBER OF
CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE
Contains the following popular Dance Music:—

Distant Shore Waltz	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.
Au Revoir Waltz	..	..	Emile Waldteufel.
Sylvia Waltz	..	..	Fred. Godfrey.
Cleopatra Galop	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.
Saucy Kate Galop	..	..	A. C. Crowe.
Tout à Fait Polka	..	..	Henri Louis.
Sweetheart Lancers	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.
Trial by Jury Quadrilles	..	..	Chas. d'Albert.

And a New Set of Lancers, entitled
THE CONGRESS.
Composed expressly for this Work, by
CHAS. D'ALBERT.
Price 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

CHARLES D'ALBERT'S NOVELTIES.

CYPRUS POLKA	..	..	2s. 0d. net
CONGRESS LANCERS	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE WALTZ	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE QUADRILLE	..	..	2s. 0d. net
PAUL ET VIRGINIE GALOP	..	..	2s. 0d. net
THE ENGAGED WALTZ	..	..	2s. 0d. net
DISTANT SHORE WALTZ. On Sullivan's Song	..		2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS LANCERS	..	..	2s. 0d. net
CLEOPATRA GALOP	..	..	2s. 0d. net
THE LOVE-LETTER POLKA	..	..	1s. 6d. net
THE FANFARE POLKA	..	..	2s. 0d. net
MOLLY DARLING QUADRILLE	..	..	2s. 0d. net
SWEETHEARTS WALTZ	..	..

S.B.—A Complete List of M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music will be sent on application.
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street.

NEW NUMBERS OF
CHAPPELL'S MUSICAL MAGAZINE.

No. 113.—POPULAR MARCHES. Ch. Gounod.

Marche Romaine .. .. .. Gluck, &c. 1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.
And twelve other Popular Marches by Handel, Mozart,

No. 117.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 3.)

Song (Tenor) ..	Elly Mavourneen	..	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Centralto)	The lonely Harp	..	Miss Cowell.
Song (Soprano)	I'm alone	..	Sir J. Benedict.
Song (Baritone)	I never can forget	..	A. Mellon.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	O ye voices gone	..	Zeta.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two wandering Stars	..	B. Richards.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Soldier's Prayer	..	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Sister's Song	..	A. Lindahl.
Pianoforte	Blue Bells of Scotland	..	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	West End Polka	..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	Little Nell Waltz	..	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Lord of Lorne Lancers	..	Dan Goafrey.
Dance Music	Express Galop	..	Charles D'Albert.

No. 116.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)

Song (Baritone)	The Bell Ringer	..	W. Vincent Wallace.
Song (Soprano)	Tender and True	..	Arthur Sullivan.
Song (Contralto)	To Thee	..	Alberto Randegger.
Song (Tenor)	{Oh! whisper what thou feelest}	..	B. Richards.
Vocal Duet (Sop. and Con.)	{When Birds are singing}	..	H. Smart.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Two Merry Gipsies	..	G. A. Macfarren.
Pianoforte	The Soldier's Drum	..	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	Air by Louis XIII.	..	Henri Ghys.
Pianoforte	A Ray of Sunshine	..	Carl Leslie.
Dance Music	Dew Drop Waltz	..	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	The Sultan's Polka	..	Charles d'Albert.
Dance Music	Polo Lancers	..	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	The Mabel Galop	..	Dan Godfrey.

No. 115.—(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)

Song (Contralto)	Juanita	..	Mrs. Norton.
Song (Soprano)	The Maiden's Story	..	A. Sullivan.
Song (Baritone)	The Stirrup Cup	..	Luigi Arditi.
Song (Tenor)	{There's Sunlight in Heaven}	..	M. Balfe.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Wind and the Harp	..	S. Glover.
Duet (Sop. & Con.)	Ave Sanctissima	..	Mrs. Hemans.
Pianoforte	Home, Sweet Home	..	B. Richards.
Pianoforte	The Silver Trumpets	..	F. Viviani.
Pianoforte	Prière d'une Vierge	..	T. Badarzewska.
Dance Music	The Rink Galop	..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	The Hilda Waltz	..	Dan Godfrey.
Dance Music	Palermo Quadrilles	..	Charles D'Albert.
Dance Music	King Pippin Polka	..	Charles D'Albert.

ONE SHILLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.)
CHAPPELL and Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S IMPROVED AMERICAN ORGANS,
COMBINING PIPES WITH REEDS,
Manufactured by
CLOUGH and WARREN,
DETROIT, U.S.A.
The immense advantages these instruments possess over the Organs hitherto imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and Co. to undertake the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory.
A large variety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas.
Price-Lists on application to 50, New Bond-street.

CLOUGH and WARREN'S
"FAVOURITE ORGAN."
Compass, Five Octaves.
Ten Stops, Four Sets of Reeds of 74 octaves each, Knee-Swell.
Elegant Carved Canadian Walnut Case.
Price 25 guineas.
Illustrated Price-List free by post.
Sole Agents, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES.
TERMINATION OF THE LONDON SEASON.
Now on view, an immense number of Pianofortes returned from Hire, to be sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.
Pianinos from 18 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 50 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES at
50, New Bond-street,
may be hired, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years' System," at greatly reduced prices.

SECONDHAND PIANOFORTES now on View
by the following eminent Makers:—

BROADWOOD.	ERARD.
COLLARD.	CHAPPELL.
LIPP.	ROSENKRANZ.

CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

SECONDHAND HARMONIUMS, for CHURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM.
Upwards of a hundred varieties now on View.
From 3 guineas to 100 guineas.
At CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES
in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN
HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN
MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five stops and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals. 28 guineas, or £3 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION
CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 41 rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S
SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL
PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2 gs. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR
PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH
MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON
GRAND, 80 gs., or £8 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

CHAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON
110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.
NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW MUSIC.

Price One Shilling each,
THE CAVENDISH MUSIC-BOOKS.
A New Collection of Popular Music in the cheapest and most attractive form ever published. Each book contains 32 pages of engraved music, full size, price One Shilling. This series differs also from all others, inasmuch as it contains valuable copyright music by eminent Composers, including Arthur Sullivan, Cowen, Molloy, Smart, Benedict, Hatton, Virginia Gabriel, Claribel, Brinley Richards, Kuhe, Lecocq, Métra, and Lamothe.

1. SONGS OF THE DAY. Ten Ballads by Sullivan, Pinsuti, Cowen, Molloy, Dolores, Hamilton Aidé, Louis Diehl, and Louisa Gray.
2. MADAME SHERRINGTON'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Ten Songs by Sullivan, Claribel, Hatton, Taubert, Schumann, Wekerlin, &c.
3. MADAME ANTOINETTE STERLING'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Ten Standard and Copyright Songs.
4. MR. SIMS REEVES'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Ten Standard and Copyright Songs.
5. MR. SANTLEY'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Twelve Standard and Copyright Songs by Sullivan, Hatton, Wekerlin, Shield, Dibdin, &c.
6. ALBUM OF DANCE MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS. Nine New Sets by Coote, Lamothe, Lecocq, Métra, Montgomery, &c.
7. FIRST PIANOFORTE ALBUM (modern German Masters). Eight celebrated Pieces by Rubinstein, Raff, and Henselt.
8. SECOND PIANOFORTE ALBUM (modern German Masters). Eight celebrated Pieces by Rheinberger, Baumgardt, Brinkmann, Seeling, Grieg, and Czerny.
9. THIRD PIANOFORTE ALBUM (various Composers). Eight celebrated Pieces, including "Caprera," "Le Juif Errant," "Caprice Hongrois," "Shadow Air," &c.
10. FOURTH PIANOFORTE ALBUM (various Composers). Eight Pieces by Sullivan, Cowen, Ketterer, Thalberg, Kuhe, Gollmick.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

BOOSEY and CO.'S NEW LIST.

This day, price 10s. 6d., cloth,
SPOHR'S VIOLIN SCHOOL. Edited by HENRY HOLMES. Complete, with numerous Explanatory Notes by the Editor.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 5s. each, paper covers; 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges,
THE ROYAL OPERATIC ALBUMS.
The most comprehensive collection of Dramatic Music ever published, containing 190 celebrated Songs from renowned Operas, including several hitherto unknown in England. The Songs have Italian and English words, and are published in the original keys, without abbreviation or alteration.

1. THE PRIMA DONNA'S ALBUM. Forty-one Songs for Soprano,	Ready.
2. THE CONTRALTO ALBUM. Fifty Songs for Mezzo-Soprano and Contralto.	In the Press.
3. THE TENOR ALBUM. Fifty Songs.	In the Press.
4. THE BARITONE ALBUM. Forty-five Songs.	In the Press.

"A capital idea admirably carried out."—Illustrated Dramatic News.

THE SONGS OF SCOTLAND. New and Enlarged Edition. This day. Containing 190 Songs, with new Introduction on Scotch Music by Dr. CHARLES MACKAY. Price 2s. 6d. paper covers; 4s., cloth, gilt edges. Illustrated Edition (Imperial), with Engravings by the most eminent Artists, price 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s., cloth, gilt edges.
THE SONGS OF IRELAND. A New and Enlarged Edition, containing 78 of Moore's Irish Melodies (all the best) and 30 of the Popular Songs of Ireland, with New Symphonies and Accompaniments. By J. L. HATTON.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth boards,
CALLCOTT'S HANDEL ALBUM. One Hundred of the best Airs by Handel. Arranged for the Pianoforte by W. H. CALLCOTT. With Memoir and Three Illustrations.

BOOSEYS' Half-Guinea BEETHOVEN.
The Thirty-two SONATAS, from engraved plates (nearly full music), handsomely bound, gilt edges. 10s. 6d. Edited by W. DORRELL.

Price 3s. 6d. each, paper; 5s., cloth, gilt edges,
ROYAL EDITION OF ENGLISH OPERAS.

THE MOUNTAIN SYLPH.	SATANELLA.
THE BOHEMIAN GIRL.	SIEGE OF ROCHELLE.
LILY OF KILLARNEY.

With Fifteen Illustrations, 2s. 6d.; paper covers, 2s., cloth,
LILLIE'S FIRST MUSIC-BOOK. The best Tutor extant for Beginners. 53rd Thousand. Also, LILLIE'S SONG-BOOK. Fifty Songs, Illustrated in Colours, price 1s.

THE CHORAL UNION. 40 Part-Songs, in Four Books (Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, and Bass), price 6d. each. Dr. SPARK'S HANDY-BOOK of CHORAL SINGING, including 126 Exercises and Part-Songs. Price 1s. THE CHORALIST, 226 Nos., 1d. each. New Number, "The Hop-Pickers," by Elizabeth Philp, post-free, 1d.

BOOSEYS' MARCH ALBUM (35 celebrated Marches), 1s. Robert Schumann's Album blätter (complete), 1s. Beethoven's First Album (7 pieces), 1s. Brahms' Album (including 16 Waltzes), 1s. Beethoven's Waltz Album (45 Waltzes), 1s.

BOOSEYS' SHILLING ORGAN BOOKS.
BEST'S FIRST ORGAN BOOK.
HENRY SMART'S PRELUDES AND INTERLUDES.
JOHNSON'S CONCLUDING VOLUNTARIES.
BATISTE'S 67 PRELUDES, INTERLUDES, &c.
HATTON'S SMALL ORGAN BOOK.
HILLE'S SHORT VOLUNTARIES (WITHOUT PEDALS).
BEST'S 47 SHORTORIES.
ANDRE AND HESSE'S VOLUNTARIES.

BOOSEY and CO.'S SONGS by POPULAR COMPOSERS, 2s. each net.—295, Regent-street.

SONGS by ARTHUR SULLIVAN.

The Lost Chord.	Let me Dream again.
Once Again.	Sleep, my Love, sleep.
Golden Days.	Looking Back.

SONGS by F. H. COWEN.

At Last.	The Better Land.
It was a Dream.	Old Love and the New.
Spinning.	Marguerite.

SONGS by HAMILTON AIDÉ.

Remember or Forget.	The Fisher.
Spanish Boat-Song.	Maid I Love is Six Years Old.
Let me Dream of Happy Days.	Brown Eyes, or Blue Eyes.

SONGS by J. L. MOLLOY.

Dresden China.	Clochette.
Thady O'Flinn.	The Vagabond.
My love has gone a-sailing.	Polly.

SONGS by STEPHEN ADAMS.

Nancy Lee.	The Blue Alsatian Mountains.
True Hearts.	The Tar's Farewell.

BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street, W.

SONGS by DOLORES.

Destiny.	The Fairies.
Clear and Cool.	The Land of Long Ago.

SONGS by ALFRED SCOTT GATTY.

Rothsay Bay.	One Morning, oh, so early.
Old Sweet Story.	The Departure.
Golden Shore.	Apart.

BOOSEY & CO.'S PIANOFORTE-ROOMS.
GRAND and UPRIGHT PIANOFORTES, by all the great makers, both English and Foreign,
for SALE or HIRE,
subject to the largest discount obtainable in London.
Pianettes, from £21. Short Grands, from £50.
Sole Address, 295, REGENT-STREET.

BOOSEY and CO.'S Short Iron Grand PIANOFORTES, 60, 70, 80, and 85 guineas each, subject to a liberal discount for cash, or on the Three-Years' System, from £5 10s. per quarter. Special Instruments for India. Illustrated Price-List free.
Sole Address, 295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

SECONDHAND PIANOS.—BOOSEY and CO. have a large Stock of Instruments by all the great Makers, which they offer, according to their custom on the close of the season, at greatly reduced prices. The majority of these Pianos have been hired for one season only, and are as good as new.—295, Regent-street (adjoining the Polytechnic).

PRATTEN'S PERFECTED FLUTES,
Cylinder and Cone, commencing at 4 gs. The Siccama Flute and the Boehm Old and New System of Fingering. Particulars of all these Instruments upon application to the Manufacturers, BOOSEY and CO., 295, Regent-street, W.

NEW MUSIC.

MASON and HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.
New models in handsomely carved walnut cases, black and gold, veneered and panelled—
Six stops and knee swell .. .. 20 guineas.
Six stops and knee swell .. .. 28 guineas.
Nine stops and knee swell, coupler, and sub-bass 34 guineas.
Thirteen stops, knee swell, coupler, and sub-bass 50 guineas.
The superiority of these organs has been testified to by the most eminent musicians, they have also received the first medals at the principal exhibitions. Every Instrument offered for sale is warranted.
Complete Catalogue for Cash, or on the Three-Years' System of hire and purchase.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

MASON and HAMLIN'S
AMERICAN ORGANS.
SECONDHAND ORGANS.—A large number of these celebrated Instruments, lately returned from hire, at greatly reduced prices, for Cash or on the Three Years' System of Hire and Purchase. Lists post-free.
METZLER and CO., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

THE NEW OPERA,
CARMEN. By GEORGES BIZET.
Vocal score, French words, 15s. net.
The separate songs, &c., may be had with either Italian or French Words.
Pianoforte score arranged by the Composer.
Price 8s. net.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN. Fantasie Brillante for Piano-forte, by J. LEYBACH, on this popular Opera. Post-free, 24 stamps.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN. Bouquet de Mélodies pour Piano. Par RENAUD DE VILBAC. In Two Books. Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CARMEN QUADRILLE. ARBAN. 4s.
CARMEN VALSE. STRAUSS. 4s.
CARMENCILLA POLKA. DELIOSART. 3s. 6d.
With Portraits of Mdlle. Minnie Hauk.
Each half price and post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. "PINAFORE." New Opera by W. S. GILBERT and ARTHUR SULLIVAN. Played nightly at the Opera Comique with the most genuine success. Voice and Piano, 4s. net, post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. "PINAFORE." Arranged as Pianoforte Solo, complete.
Price 2s. 6d. net and post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

H.M.S. PINAFORE QUADRILLE. By C. GODFREY.
Illustrated. Price 4s.; post-free, half price.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

GARDEN PARTY POLKA. C. GODFREY.
The success of the season.
Post-free, 18 stamps.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

CUPS AND SAUCERS. Operetta. By G. GROSSMITH, Jun. Played nightly at the Opéra Comique. Libretto and Music complete, 2s. net, post-free.
METZLER and Co., 37, Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

EDOUARD DORN'S NEW PIANOFORTE PIECES.
DOWN THE STREAM. Cantabile pour Piano.
SWEETLY DREAM (Traume Süss).
PERA. Valse Orientale.
THE CHORISTER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's beautiful Song.
THE SORCERER. Transcription of Arthur Sullivan's Comic Opera.
Post-free, 24 stamps each.
METZLER and Co., Great Marlborough-street, London, W.

Post-free, 24 stamps, Solo or Duet,
MON RÊVE WALTZ. By WALDTEUFEL. The most popular Valse of the season.
Horwood and Crew, 42, New Bond-street.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS'S LIST.
LES CLOCHES DE CORNEVILLE.
Vocal Score, English Words, 10s. net.
Piano Score, complete, 2s. net.
PIANO SELECTIONS.
WILLIAM KUHE.

Grand Fantasia	..	..	4s. 0d.
Grand Paraphrase	..	..	4s. 0d.
Third Fantasia	..	..	4s. 0d.

BRINLEY RICHARDS.

Chanson du Mousse, Barcarolle	..	..	3s. 0d.
Rondo Valse, Solo or Duet	..	..	3s. 0d.
Valse Brillante, Solo or Duet	..	..	3s. 0d.

HENRI CRAMER.

Selection of Airs, Books 1 and 2	..	..	Each 3s. 0d.

FLORIAN PASCAL.

Grand Fantasia	..	..	4s. 0d.

EUGENE MONIOT.

Brilliant Fantasia	..	..	3s. 0d.

HAROLD THOMAS.

Bouquet de Mélodies	..	..	4s. 0d.

J. RUMMELL.
(Easy Arrangements.)

Valse	..	..	2s. 6d.	Quadrille ..	.. 2s. 6d.
Polka	..	..	2s. 6d.	Galop ..	.. 2s. 6d.
Polka Mazurka	..	..	2s. 6d.	Rondo Valse ..	.. 2s. 6d.

Selection of Airs, Piano Duets, 3 Books .. .. Each 4s. 0d.
WILLIAM SMALLWOOD.
(Very easy Arrangements for Small Hands.)

Couplets des On dit	..	..	1s. d.
Rondo Valse	..	..	1s. d.
Grand Selection of Airs	..	..	(C. Godfrey) 4s. 0d.

As performed by the Royal Horse Guards' Band.

Fantasia on Airs	..	..	(J. B. Duverney) 4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs	..	..	(A. Hermann) 4s. 0d.
Fantasia on Airs, Violin and Piano	..	..	(Henry Farmer) 2s. 6d.
Fantasia, Violin and Piano	..	..

DANCE MUSIC.

Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	..	..	(O. Métra) 4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	..	..	(Arban) 4s. each.
Quadrilles, Solo and Duet	..	..	(C. Coote, jun.) 4s. each.
Lancers, Solo and Duet	..	..	(Arthur Grenville) 4s. each.
Valses, Solo and Duet	..	..	(O. Metra) 4s. each.
Valses, Solo	..	..	(E. Deransart) 4s. 0d.
Polka, Solo	..	..	(Arban) 3s. 0d.
Polka Mazurka	..	..	(E. Natif) 3s. 0d.

ORCHESTRA, 2s. SEPTET, 1s. 6d.

Quadrille	..	..	C. Coote, jun.
Valses	..	..	O. Métra.
Polka	..	..	Arban.
Lancers	..	..	A. Grenville.

Halberstadt's Selection for Full Orchestra, 6s. net.
ORDER EVERYWHERE, OR POST DIRECT.

HENRY FARMER'S PIANOFORTE TUTOR, considerably Enlarged and Fingered by the Author. 1000th Edition. 4s.
"Decidedly the best and most useful instruction book we have seen."—Musical Review.

CARILLON GALOP. By RIVIÈRE. Performed nightly at his Promenade Concerts, Covent Garden. Piano Solo, 3s.; net, 1s. 6d.
JOSEPH WILLIAMS,
24, Berners-street, W.; and 123, Cheapside, E.C.

TWILIGHT HARMONY. Sequel to "The Lost Chord." Song for Contralto, Mezzo-Soprano, or Soprano, with ad lib. accompaniment for Organ or Harmonium.
"It seems to bear us away to the solitude of some grand cathedral, where
"Through the stained window pours
The dim religious light."
A very fine effect is produced by the introduction of the Grand Chant at the close of the second verse. The words of this Song form a beautiful sequel to Miss Proctor's celebrated poem, "The Lost Chord."
Post-free, 24 stamps.
EDWARD PHILLIPS, Music Library, Clapham-common, S.W.

65th Edition, post-free, 24 stamps.
WHEN NIGHT IS DARKEST, DAWN IS NEAREST. By EDWARD LAND. Will be sung by Madame Antoinette Sterling at Morley's Ballad Concert, Nov. 21. A, B flat, D flat.—MORLEY, Jun., 70, Upper-street, London, N.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS
are lent on Hire for Three Years, after which time they become the property of the hirers.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL
PIANOFORTES
were awarded
THE GRAND PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR of the Philadelphia Exhibition, 1876.
THE GOLD MEDAL, Paris, 1878.
THE HIGHEST AWARD—THE GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR, Paris, 1874.
LA MEDAILLE D'HONNEUR, Paris, 1867.
THE PRIZE MEDAL, London, 1862.
LE DIPLOME DE LA MENTION EXTRAORDINAIRE, Netherlands International Exhibition, 1869.
THE GOLD MEDAL AND DIPLOMA OF MERIT, South Africa, 1877, &c.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION PIANOS,
Patented 1862, 1868, 1871, and 1875, in

GREAT BRITAIN,	AUSTRIA,
PRUSSIA,	ITALY, BELGIUM, and
FRANCE,	AMERICA.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
With the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"This most ingenious and valuable invention cannot fail to meet with success."—Sir Julius Benedict.
"The touch is absolute perfection."—Sydney Smith.
"A very clever and useful invention, and likely to be extensively adopted."—Brinley Richards.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS.
"The tone is full, melodious, and of extraordinary power. The touch is extremely delicate, and the repetition is excellent."—The Chevalier Antoine de Kontski, Court Pianist to the Emperor of Germany.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"The nearest approach to perfection of 'manual expression' yet attained."—Examiner.
"The tone of the grand now referred to possessed all the qualities that a good piano ought to have, and in touch and action was perfect. The sweet and silvery quality of the upper octaves was worthy of special admiration."—The Era.
"Sir Julius Benedict played on one of Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons' grand pianos, with the recently patented improvements, which enabled him to produce sustained tones with great variety of effect in the light and shade of tones, especially so when extreme delicacy of touch was required."—Court Journal.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"An immense improvement in arpeggios. The rapid passages in the upper register, the beautiful flute-like tone, and quick and perfect repetition were very effective."—Figaro.
"Sir Julius Benedict, now seldom heard as a soloist, delighted the public once more. He played upon a new Patent Grand by Brinsmead, possessing a remarkably loud and clear tone."—Echo.
"The upright Iron Grand Piano, with sostenente sounding-board, produces the obvious result of a fuller and richer tone."—Morning Advertiser.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
SHORT IRON GRAND PIANOS.
"The improvements made in English pianos have caused this trade rapidly to increase, until one pianoforte manufactory after another has been built to supply the growing demand. One of the largest of these, lately erected by Messrs. John Brinsmead and Sons, of Wigmore-street, covers nearly an acre of ground in the Grafton-road, Kentish Town, and is intended to accommodate 300 workmen. These works alone can supply 3000 pianos annually. The French papers have been unanimous in their expressions of admiration of these splendid instruments. The two Grands especially have enchanted the Parisian professors and amateurs of music by their noble sonorousness, their enormous power, and the sympathetically voicelike quality of the singing, and beautifully light, elastic, and certain, so that many pianists of every nation, from the Abbé Liszt downwards, who have tried these instruments, have highly complimented the enterprising manufacturers on their success. The improvements are too numerous to describe in detail, but it has been necessary to embody them in several patents recognised throughout Europe and America. Vigorous attempts have been made to perfect every portion of these instruments, and the whole has been constructed on entirely new principles throughout. The 'perfect check repeater action' renders the mechanism durable and perfect; 'the new complete metal framing' ensures the durability and strength of the case, in spite of a great increase in the length of the strings; 'the new sostenente sounding-board' produces a lovely 'singing' and grandly powerful quality of tone; while the sympathetic bridge of reverberation' assists in the sustaining power; and 'the sustaining pedal' enables the performer to produce beautifully-sustained effects, without the confused roar that has hitherto been put out the confused roar that has hitherto been attendant on the employment of the forte pedal."—Illustrated London News.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
GOLD MEDAL PIANOS,
with the Patent Perfect Check Repeater Action.
"A metal bridge of a peculiar form is used to produce the treble, and a much finer tone is elicited than if a wooden bridge were used."—Morning Post.
"Beautifully light and elastic touch, and an instant repetition."—Globe.
"This invention is simplicity itself."—The Queen.
"Receive the greatest approbation everywhere of musicians and manufacturers."—The Standard.

JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PATENT "PERFECT CHECK REPEATER ACTION" PIANOFORTES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
AT ALL THE PRINCIPAL MUSIC WAREHOUSES.
Prices from 35 Guineas to 330 Guineas.

GILBERT L. BAUER'S PRIZE MEDAL
ORGAN-VOICED ENGLISH HARMONIUMS on the Three-Years' System.

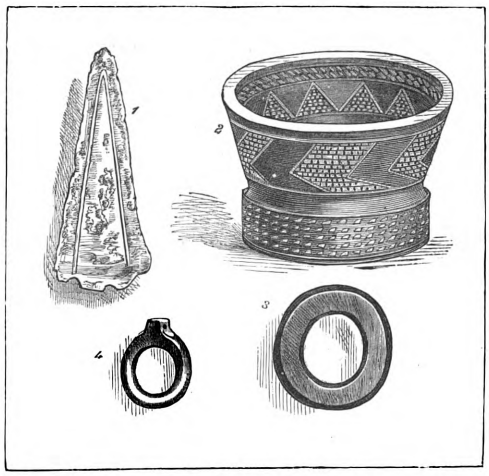
JOHN BRINSMEAD and SONS'
PIANOFORTES.
FOR INDIA AND EXTREME CLIMATES.
Illustrated Price-Lists and Descriptions, with opinions of the London Press and Musical Profession, forwarded, post-free, upon application.
18, WIGMORE-STREET, LONDON, W.

MANUFACTORY,
THE "BRINSMEAD WORKS,"
GRAFTON-ROAD,
KENTISH TOWN, N.W.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1878.

THE WANI

[NG MINSTREL.



. RIDLEY.

THE LATE CARDINAL PAUL CULLEN, ROMAN CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP OF DUBLIN.

BRITISH ANTIQUITIES IN WILTSHIRE.

The Rev. Canon Greenwell, F.R.S., author of a treatise on "British Barrows," in conjunction with Mr. Walter Money, F.S.A., of Newbury, has been engaged exploring some of the many ancient grave-mounds in North Wiltshire. They made an examination of a group of four barrows on the ridge of one of the hills which bounds the Vale of Aldbourne. Three of these barrows are connected by a surrounding ditch, the fourth being separate. Two stand upon what may be called platforms within the encircling ditch; the other two mounds rise from the inside of the ditch. The most northern is 60 ft. in diameter and 11 ft high; the width of the platform being 16 ft., that of the ditch 12 ft. A section of the barrow in the centre shows a layer over the surface, 3 ft. deep, of pure chalk, the remainder of the barrow being principally earth intermixed with chalk. Six feet from the top of the barrow was a stratum of small Sarsen stones, which extended over an area of 12 ft. diameter; those in the centre were much reddened by the action of fire, and had above and below them large masses of charcoal. At 9 ft. below the surface, in the central portion of the mound, the burnt bones of a man of full age were met with; immediately below that deposit, placed in a hollow, 20 ft. in diameter, and sunk 2 ft. into the chalk, were the burnt remains of a woman, with whose bones were associated a small perfectly plain vessel of pottery, of the type of the "incense cup," a bone pin with perforated head, a thin flint flake, and seven beads of amber of varied size and shape, some discs, and others barrel shaped. In the barrow, indiscriminately placed, were numerous animal bones, principally of small ox and pig, numerous flakes and chippings of flint, and a single manufactured article, which seems to fall more into the class of knife than dagger. It has two rivet-holes, by which it was fixed to the handle, probably with wooden pegs. There were also three flint scrapers.

1. Bronze dagger or knife, 3⅞ in. long.
2. Incense cup, 3½ in. wide, 2 in. high.
3. Jet ring, diameter 1¾ in.
4. Jet pendant ornament, diameter 1¾ in.

RELICS FOUND IN BARROW AT ALDBOURNE, WILTS.

When the size of these barrows is considered, averaging as they do over 60 ft. in diameter and 12 ft. in height, it is somewhat remarkable that they should have contained so small a number of interments—only eight, or at the most nine, in seven barrows. This, however, seems to be the rule in that part of England; Sir Richard Colt Hoare and other investigators having found but on very rare occasions any interments except at the centre. The contrary practice of interring a number of persons in the same sepulchral mound prevailed to a large extent in other parts of Britain. These barrows were chiefly of the beautiful bell-shaped form so remarkable in the numerous barrows around Stonehenge; and the presence in them of a considerable amount of bronze, together with glass, amber, and jet, points to a higher condition in the ancient inhabitants of North Wilts than has been usually attributed to them.

H.M.S. NORTHAMPTON.

The Northampton, of which we give an Illustration, has been fitted out at Chatham Dockyard. She is a sister ship to the Nelson, another of the new type of ironclad ships, having only their vital parts protected, and having a reserve of flotation. The Nelson and the Northampton may be considered in some measure as rival ships, both having been built by private firms. The Northampton is from the yard of Messrs. Napier, Glasgow, and was engined by Messrs. Penn, Greenwich; and the Nelson has been built and engined by Messrs. John Elder and Co., Glasgow. The trials were in every way satisfactory. From the periodical return of the strength of the Royal Navy just issued we find that within the past six months nine vessels, of various tonnage and power, have been launched, and that at the present time there are seventeen others under construction or about to be built at the various Government dockyards and by private firms. The vessels now being completed for service are five out of the six screw-corvettes built of steel and iron and cased with wood; they are each of 2383 tons, and have engines of 2300-horse power; they are to be armed with fourteen guns each, and have been built and launched by Messrs. Elder and Co., of Glasgow. The steel hulls of these vessels are encased in teak and covered externally with copper sheathing. They have been named Carysfort, Champion, Cleopatra, Comus, and Curaçoa. Their machinery and boilers are protected by a strong armoured deck. Two screw-sloops, of 1124 tons, with engines of 900-horse power, constructed at Devonport, and named the Dragon and Pegasus. A double screw steel despatch-vessel, of 3735 tons, with engines of 7000-horse power, armed with ten guns, launched at Pembroke, and named the Mercury; and a double screw iron armour-plated ship, of 7323 tons and 6000-horse power engines, built by Messrs. J. Elder and Co., of Glasgow, and named the Nelson, now being fitted for sea at Chatham. The new vessels ordered within the same period to be constructed, and for which the necessary preparations have been made, include a screw-corvette, steel and iron, cased with wood, of 2383 tons, to be supplied with engines of 2300-horse power, and to be built at Chatham Dockyard; she is to carry fourteen guns, and be named the Constance. A double screw armour-plated turret-ship, to be named the Majestic, and to be constructed at Pembroke Dockyard; a screw iron armour-plated torpedo ram, to be propelled by engines of 5500-horse power, to be built at Chatham, and to be called the Polyphemus; four composite screw-sloops, each of 1124 tons, and engines of 900-horse power—the Doterel, Miranda, and Phœnix, to be built at Devonport, and the Kingfisher, at Sheerness. These ships are to be half built this year and launched about next June. Two sailing-brigs, building at Pembroke, to be called the Nautilus and the Pilot. The other vessels under construction include two double-screw iron armour-plated turret-ships, of 8492 tons, designed to carry four guns each, and to be supplied with engines of 6000-horse power. They are to be named the Agamemnon and Ajax, and are under construction at Chatham and Pembroke respectively. A screw-corvette of 2383 tons and 2300-horse power engines, to be armed with fourteen guns, being built of steel and iron, cased with wood (sister ship to the Carysfoot, Champion, and Comus, recently launched), building at Glasgow by Messrs. J. Elder and Co. A double-screw iron armour-plated corvette, of 4720 tons, and to be supplied with 3900-horse power engines, designed to carry four guns, building at Poplar, and to be christened Orion. Four double-screw iron gun-boats, of 364 tons and 168-horse power engines, each to carry one gun, to be built at Pembroke, and named Gadfly, Griper, Pincher, and Tickler; but the construction of these boats has for a considerable time been suspended.

QUARTERLIES.

The October number of the New Quarterly Magazine contains several articles of thorough originality and substantial worth. A study of the character of Luther, by the Rev. Dr. Hayman, is remarkably vigorous both in conception and in style; and its estimate of the popular German Reformer, being free from religious sentimentality as well as from partisan bigotry, seems fair enough. The natural capabilities of "New Bulgaria," the land and the people, are described by Mr. F. D. Millett, late War Correspondent of the Daily News, in a very encouraging review, without any expression of hostility either to Russia or Turkey, but looking forward hopefully to the cessation of foreign interference, and to the free development of native resources. Mrs. Lynn Lynton contributes a charming little story of German domestic life, entitled "Our Professor," the scene of which is laid at a pleasant resort of holiday tourists in the Tyrol. A thoughtful Liberal politician, Mr. George Howell, discusses the propriety and expediency of the new-fangled "Caucus System," as a method of party organisation, which he finds good reasons to disapprove; and his remarks, deliberately weighed and temperately expressed, merit a serious consideration. Mr. Sutherland Edwards, under the title "Dictionaries of Music," presents many interesting historical anecdotes of musical composers, and shows a little of the manner in which operas are put together, or adapted to the words and the dramatic theme. The tone and spirit of the native press in India, more especially with reference to the Afghan crisis, is exposed by an English journalist of Indian experience. Mr. T. Adolphus Trollope gives some characteristic specimens and a general criticism of "Italian Folk-Song," which has a rare degree of philological interest, judging from the examples of Lombard, Piedmontese, Venetian, Calabrian, and other provincial dialects, or rather branch languages, here presented. The merits of a contemporary French poet, Théodore de Banville, are set forth in an article by Mr. Andrew Lang; while Mr. R. Louis Stevenson, undertaking to analyse "the Gospel according to Walt Whitman," does not bestow indiscriminate admiration on that eccentric American genius, but recognises the frank and generous philanthropy that breathes through his uncouth writings, and that animates his life.

The Church Quarterly Review is mostly occupied with ecclesiastical and theological discussions, concerning the "Petrine Claims," the stale vagaries of "Irvingism," and the speculative "theories of Development" applied to the growth of Creeds in Early Church history. An article of considerable antiquarian interest, on the ancient Celtic Church of North Britain, is founded upon Mr. Skene's erudite work, the second volume of which has lately appeared. There is, also, an appreciative and favourable notice of the poet Browning, who is especially commended for his religiousness of spirit. Further, the ancient history of Cyprus, the recent Lancashire Cotton-factory strike, and Mr. Lecky's History of England, with reference to its dealing with Ireland in the last century, are made the subjects of critical examination. The Popular Science Review, edited by Mr. W. S. Dallas, of the Geological Society, has an article on the "Eucalyptus Globulus," by Miss M. Betham-Edwards, which is just now much talked of as a plant of salubrious qualities for marshy grounds and fever-haunted districts. Mr. J. E. Harting treats of the extinct British wolf, and Mr. De Rance investigates the causes of colliery explosions. There are two or three articles which will suit the scientific naturalist better than the general reader.

Last Saturday afternoon the premises, Nos. 30 and 32, Goswell-road, opposite St. Thomas's, Charterhouse, and close to the junction of Old-street and Goswell-road, were opened as a Coffee Palace by the Coffee Tavern Company. The new palace is one of the largest concerns of the kind yet opened, being capable of comfortably seating 500 persons. It is handsomely fitted up, and provided with everything necessary for the refreshment of the customers.

MUSIC.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

Yesterday (Friday) week "Don Giovanni" was performed, with a cast of much general efficiency. Although an apology was made for Madame Pappenheim on the score of indisposition, she sang, as Donna Anna, with more effect than she had yet done during her London engagement. Her share in Donna Anna's duet with Don Ottavio over the body of her father, slain by Don Giovanni, and her recitative and air, in which she denounces him as the murderer and calls on Don Ottavio for vengeance, were finely declaimed, and produced a marked impression. The Donna Elvira of Mdlle. Alwina Valleria and the Zerlina of Madame Trebelli were, as during the past season, excellent performances. Signor Gillandi sang the music of Don Ottavio with good cantabile style, and the Don Giovanni of Signor Mendioroz and the Leporello of Herr Behrens were as good as heretofore.

On Saturday "Carmen" was repeated, with the same cast as that referred to in our last week's notice.

On Monday "Der Freischütz" was the opera, the cast having included Madame Pappenheim as Agata. Her performance was the most successful of any she has given here, having been even better than her Donna Anna, meritorious as that was. The delivery of the great scena (know as "Softly sighs") was an admirable piece of dramatic vocalisation. The prayer was given with a subdued pathos and grace that were finely contrasted by the brilliancy and impulse realised in the final exultant movement. Excellent, also, were the grace of style and the delicate pianissimo with which the cavatina, "E se la nube" was rendered—not to mention other points in the opera. The applause bestowed on the singer in several instances—and especially after the scena—testified to the powerful impression produced. As in former representations, the Annetta of Mdlle. Bauermeister was a valuable feature of the cast, which also comprised Signor Gillandi as Rodolfo, and Herr Behrens as Caspar. Signor Li Calsi conducted with his usual skill.

"Carmen" was repeated on Tuesday; and it was to be given again yesterday (Friday). "Faust" was announced on Wednesday, with the same cast as recently. On Thursday Mdlle. Marimon was to make her first appearance this season, as Amina in "La Sonnambula;" and this (Saturday) evening "Dinorah" is to be given, with that excellent artist in the title-character.

Brief mention was made last week of the first of Mr. W. Carter's new series of oratorio performances at the Royal Albert Hall on the Thursday, when Haydn's "Creation" was given, the solo music excellently rendered by Madame Lemmens-Sherrington, Mr. W. H. Cummings, and Mr. Wadmore. The lady was particularly successful in the airs "With verdure clad" and "On mighty pens," as was Mr. Cummings in "In native worth," and Mr. Wadmore in "Rolling in foaming billows" and "Now heaven in fullest glory shone," with its characteristic recitative. The chorus-singing of the very efficient choir trained by Mr. Carter was a special feature of the evening, among the several effective choral pieces having been the movements "Awake the harp" and "The heavens are telling." Mr. Carter conducted, and Mr. E. Bending was the organist.—The next concert will take place on Dec. 19, and will include selections from various sacred works.

On Thursday next the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society will open its eighth season with a performance of "Elijah," conducted by Mr. Barnby.

Last Saturday's concert at the Crystal Palace consisted of a performance of Verdi's "Requiem," previous to which a "Marche Réligieuse" by Gounod was performed. The principal solo vocalists in the "Requiem" were Mdlle. Sartorius, Miss A. Williams, Mr. Barton McGuckin, and Herr Henschel. This week's concert is to be in commemoration of Mendelssohn, the programme consisting of selections from his works, including a manuscript symphony in F minor for the orchestral stringed instruments.

M. Rivière's Promenade Concerts at Covent-Garden Theatre will close this (Saturday) evening with a performance for his benefit, for which special attractions are promised. The week's proceedings have included an English festival, a Gounod night, a classical evening, a Volunteer night, and a repetition of Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise."

Wednesday's opera recital at the Royal Aquarium consisted of the music of "Il Trovatore." For to-night (Saturday) a repetition of "Faust" is announced.

This week's Saturday opera performance at the Alexandra Palace is to consist of "Der Freischütz."

Mr. Walter Bache, the well-known pianist, gave his annual recital at St. James's Hall on Monday afternoon, when his programme included pieces by Liszt, Chopin, A. C. Mackenzie, and Beethoven.

As previously stated, the twenty-first season of the Monday Popular Concerts will open on Monday next. The string quartet party will consist of Madame Norman-Néruda, Mr. L. Ries, Mr. Zerbini, and Signor Piatti. Mr. Santley will be the vocalist, and M. Louis Brassin the solo pianist; Sir J. Benedict occupying his accustomed place as conductor.

The London Church Choir Association held its annual festival in St. Paul's Cathedral on Thursday week, when about 800 choristers assembled from forty churches, ranging between Kensington and Hackney, Hampstead and Camberwell. Mr. W. S. Hoyte presided at the organ, and Mr. J. R. Murray conducted. The service began with hymns sung by the choristers in their procession under the dome and to the nave. The psalms were chanted to music by Mr. W. S. Hoyte, the "Magnificat" and "Nunc Dimittis" to chants by Mr. Gadsby, who accompanied them on the organ. The anthem, composed expressly for this festival by Mr. Henry Smart, entitled "Lord, Thou hast been our refuge," contains some good choral effects, relieved by passages of delicacy and beauty. The musical portions of the evening service were impressively rendered. The clergy officiating were the Rev. J. V. Povah, Minor Canon, the Rev. M. Boulay, and Dr. Simpson. At the close of the service a collection was made to meet the expenses of the association, which are ahead of the income.

The Edinburgh School Board have intimated that they will prosecute the parents of all children under nine years of age found selling newspapers or other articles, and of all children over nine and under fourteen found selling newspapers or other articles after seven o'clock at night, unless they hold certificates as to their ability to read and write, and of a knowledge of elementary arithmetic.

The distinguished service reward, vacant by the death of Major-General Henry Bingham, has been conferred on Colonel Alexander J. H. Elliot, C.B., Assistant Quartermaster-General at the Horse Guards; and the distinguished service reward vacant by the appointment of the Earl of Longford to the colonelcy of the 5th Fusiliers has been awarded to Colonel F. G. T. Deshon, half-pay, late Dépôt Battalion.

THEATRES.

DRURY-LANE.

It is a worthy conception of the manager of this house that it should be devoted to pieces of the highest character, and that an endeavour should be made to re-establish the Shakspearean drama on its boards. The series has been led off by "The Winter's Tale," and continued by "Macbeth." This tragedy, with Locke's music, ought to prove a great attraction. The cast is as strong as it can be. It is, in fact, composed of the leading artists in tragedy; of those who have meritoriously worked up their way to the most eminent positions, and have now, whatever they may have had, no competitors to contend with. The manager has wisely been led by the facts and not by mere critical opinions, which, however true, have little or no practical bearings on theatrical arrangements. No better living artists can be found than Mr. Charles Dillon for Macbeth, Mr. J. W. Cowper for Macduff, Mr. John Ryder for Banquo, Mr. E. F. Edgar for Rosse, Mrs. Hermann Vezin for Lady Macbeth, and Miss F. Huddart for Hecate. Their merits were at once recognised, and the well-known points realised by each accepted spontaneously by the audience, familiar with the good old style in which they were conceived. Their execution throughout was vigorous, and commanded applause in the proper places. Mr. Dillon's representation of the guilty Thane was orthodox in its entirety, and equal in its execution. But it was not wholly traditional; innumerable touches testified to the originality of his genius. His readings, always singularly pathetic, were occasionally as new as they were just. The famous purely poetical scene in the third act was splendidly interpreted. Macbeth has arranged for the murder of Banquo and recovered his marital supremacy. He is no longer led by the counsels of his wife, and has already observed the "restless ecstasy" under which she has begun to suffer, and therefore takes the business into his own hands. He utters strange words, at which she marvels, but such as shall leave her soul "innocent" of the new crime which he has projected. In the banquet scene that follows we find that he has overcalculated his moral strength; with results that rewaken some of his wife's native energy; but he soon regains his proper balance, and resolves on using "the worst means" for the security of his throne. The dauntless lady has, accordingly, again to submit to her lord's dictation, and to learn from him that they "are as yet but young in deed," and for their "own good" must "wade" yet further in evil. "Strange things I have in head that will to hand;" and so the bewildered woman leaves the scene dejectedly with her triumphant lord, who has now prepared his mind for "the worst." In this mood he visits the pit of Acheron, and there finally confirms his resolution that "from that moment the very firstlings of his heart shall be the firstlings of his hand." We see no more of Lady Macbeth until her dejection and sleepless anxiety lead to the great somnolent scene, so full of remorse and visionary terror, which precedes her violent death.* Our acting editions conceal this fact, which, however, should be present to the mind of every critic who would discriminate between the two characters. The part of Lady Macbeth, though evidently too great a strain upon her physique, was finely and forcibly sustained by Mrs. Vezin. We have also to distinguish for special praise Mr. Cowper, who acted alike with commendable energy and discretion. The performance throughout was, indeed, of such excellence as is manifestly calculated to aid in raising the modern standard of acting to that desirable plane of elevation which the histrionic art had attained "in the palmy days of the drama" on the English stage.

FORTHCOMING PANTOMIMES.

Accounts of the pantomimes for Christmas next begin to accumulate. According to these, we may expect at Drury Lane "Cinderella," with the Vokes family; at Covent Garden, "Jack and the Beanstalk; or, Harlequin and the Seven Champions;" at the Gaiety, "Jack the Giant-Killer," by Byron; at the Adelphi "Proof" will continue to be played; at the Crystal Palace, "Robinson Crusoe;" at the Royal Aquarium, "Aladdin;" at Astley's, "Cinderella;" at the Surrey, "The House that Jack Built; or, Dame Trot and the Little Old Woman who Lived in a Shoe;" at the Standard, "Robin Hood and his Merry Men;" at the Park, "The Yellow Dwarf," by Leonard Gaston; and at the Alhambra, "The Goose with the Golden Eggs," a fairy spectacle adapted from the French.

Some amusements in the Egyptian Hall deserve a record. Mr. Liston, one of the most versatile of our readers, comprehending the various qualities of ventriloquist, vocalist, and character delineator, has introduced a new entertainment, entitled "Merry Moments," a performance which he further describes as "Mirthful, Musical, and Mystical." It is all these, and stirs the audience to a recognition of his great merits. As an impersonator of dramatic individualities he shows himself, indeed, as a first-rate artiste.

At the St. George's Hall, Mr. George F. Fairchild begins this (Saturday) evening a series of his readings, the merit of which is unquestionable.

Next Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, will be produced at Mr. and Mrs. German Reed's Entertainment at St. George's Hall a new vaudeville, entitled "A Tremendous Mystery," written by F. C. Burnand, the music composed by King Hall, and new and charming scenery by Messrs. Gordon and Harford. The programme will conclude with an entirely new entertainment, by Mr. Arthur Sketchley, entitled "Mrs. Brown's Home and Foreign Policy. — Mr. Corney Grain has sailed from Southampton in the Surat for Egypt. Having recently somewhat overtaxed his voice, he is ordered by the physicians complete rest from singing for a few weeks; but he will return in December to delight and amuse his numerous admirers who frequent Mr. and Mrs. German Reed's entertainments.

* For a fuller development of this point, vide "Shakspere: His Inner Life, as Intimated in His Works." By John A. Heraud. (Maxwell.)

Lord Derby and Lord Winmarleigh paid a visit to Southport last Saturday for the purpose of presenting to the Convalescent Hospital the surplus funds of the subscriptions raised in aid of the distressed cotton spinners during the recent depression. In the afternoon their Lordships visited the hospital, and afterwards dined with the Mayor.

The arrivals of live stock at Liverpool last week from the United States and Canada were very large, though somewhat below the average of recent periods, while the quantity of fresh meat showed an increase over late weeks. Seven steamers reached the Mersey having on board 1417 head of oxen, 3257 sheep, 173 pigs, and 8 calves. The steamers conveying the fresh meat were four in number, having on board 4094 quarters of beef, and 1100 carcases of mutton, all of them coming from New York. There were also landed 1104 packages of fresh butter, and 24 live horses.

THE WINTER EXHIBITIONS.

FRENCH GALLERY.

Coming back—as most of our readers will have done—from the splendid art-show at Paris to the sundry minor exhibitions now open, or shortly to open, in London, there will probably be found not much to cheer "the winter of our discontent." In fairness, however, it should be remembered that on the Champ de Mars was arrayed the choicest art-fruit of the world during a whole decade; whereas we have little more than some gleanings of one year's crop, mostly of a single country, in the three exhibitions we are about to notice, and in those which will quickly follow at "the Dudley" and the galleries of the Water Colour and British Artists' Societies. A better impression of our art-wealth, if not of our productiveness, will be afforded when we shall have the Old Masters, British and Foreign, at Burlington House, and the Drawings Ancient and Modern at the Grosvenor Gallery. Taking, however, the first-named of these gatherings for what they are—i.e., a sort of stop-gap between the more important displays of the summer—and making allowance for the present depression of trade (which must tell most heavily on the art-dealers), we may justly congratulate the entrepreneurs in Pall-mall and the Haymarket on their enterprise and hopefulness.

The sensational picture which Mr. Wallis has provided as the principal attraction of the French Gallery is one of the most elaborate of M. de Neuville's illustrations of the Franco-German War of 1870. It depicts a closing episode in the fiercely-contested defence of Le Bourget, when, after the village had a second time fallen into the hands of the Prussians, a few French officers and some francs-tireurs of the press, gardes mobiles, and others still held out in the church, and a small remnant of them were only forced to surrender when they were being shot down from the windows. The exact moment represented is when the wounded are being carried out through the church door along the lane of Prussians that had been formed to allow the play of the artillery, which is seen unlimbered to the right. The artist is probably indebted somewhat to his observations as a franc-tireur himself for the extraordinary vigour and vraisemblance with which he has rendered the ghastly scene. The truth of aspect is further enhanced by the vivid realisation of the effects of a rainy sky and sloppy street. However, even for such a subject, M. de Neuville's execution and colouring are needlessly rough and harsh, and from a French pencil, of course, the French are all that is heroic and dignified, whilst the hated Prussians are but stolid or ferocious savages—evidently so, though we see only the broad backs and bull-necks of the giant Pomeranians and Rhinelanders. Some Prussian officers, it is true, may be addicted to swagger—we ourselves saw them the other day at Strasbourg turning men, women, and children from the trottoir—yet we vouch for it that very few either men or officers have the brutish features, albeit distorted by the passions of war, which are seen here. The French authorities acted wisely in excluding this and similar representations from the last salon. A quoi bon reviving the worst memoirs of a hideous war?

Another prominent work in this exhibition is a large landscape, "An English River," by Mr. Leader, with a beautiful silvery daylight effect. The picture has all the qualities which have won popularity for the painter. But in the upper room there is a large collection of studies and sketches from nature, by the same artist—English woodland, river, and coast scenery, Alpine slopes and valleys; and (what we had not before seen from his hand) interiors—which, as often happens with sketches, will be of more interest to artists than the painter's finished works. We were particularly struck with a truthful and lovely view, "On the hills above Interlachen," seen through tender gradations of autumnal haze. Descending to the principal room, we should next note an important picture by L. O. Müller, of many Oriental figures and camels encamped in the Desert, which has masterly breadth and warmth of tone, but scarcely realises the fierce light and sharply defined shadows of the East.

A picture by Mr. Burgess, though rather thinly and timidly painted, has the artist's unfailing finesse of expression. A benevolent old padre is examining a batch of Spanish girls in their "Church Catechism" and pauses inquisitively and impressively before the prettiest of their number—is it because she has forgotten, or is in danger of forgetting, her religious lessons, through the temptations and distractions to which her beauty exposes her? The cabinet examples of Continental artists in this collection will in general better repay examination than the larger "easel pictures," whether native or foreign. By M. Gérome there is a single figure, manipulated with exquisite delicacy, of a Cairene woman, her voluptuous form and face scarcely veiled by thin green and black gauze. It is lent by the Duke of Wellington, and recalls a very similar picture, if not the same, exhibited some years back. Meissonier is represented by one of his tiniest costume figures—"A Halbardier." And there are fair samples, on a small scale, of several other eminent painters, though not sufficiently representative to demand detailed consideration. Among them may be named F. Willems—a lady in white satin; J. Israels—an old woman seated sadly in church; E. A. Schmidt—an "Artist in his Studio," which approaches Meissonier in microscopic precision and brilliancy; A. Passini—a crisp and sparkling sketch, "Outside a Mosque, Constantinople;" V. Chevilliard—a curé inspecting, with much complacency, the electioneering poster of a "Monarchical Candidate;" the rising Spanish painter, J. Jimenez—a scurrilous-looking old scribe putting a fresh point to his pen; P. Sadee—a picture, full of quiet merit, of Scheveningen fisherfolk gossiping on the beach; T. E. Duverger—"A Young Connoisseur;" J. Bertrand—a female head in profile styled "Annuccia;" and K. Heffner—"Marshlands," presenting very delicate relations of grey in the cloudy sky. Also to be mentioned with more or less commendation are the dexterously-handled "Horse Fair," with figures in costumes of the last century, by W. Rauber; the "Autumn Sunset," by L. Munte, which, in the sky, is a counterpart to the effect of low-toned smothered light, that has been with justice so highly appreciated in his snow-pieces; the marine subjects by the Belgian painter, T. Weber, distinguished by the usual dash and spirit in the action of the waves, but in the colour of the sea somewhat too whitish and creamy; the picture, rather léché in execution, by L. E. Adan, of a small family wishing god-speed to a young soldier in the parting toast, "Vive la Gloire;" and the meritorious, though slightly monotonous, view of Venice, by Mr. W. Wyld, who, on account of his long residence in Paris, should, perhaps, be classed with foreign rather than with English artists.

Apropos of Venice, we would (in returning to the English contributions) call attention to two prominent pictures, the one, by Miss Clara Montalba, showing bragozzi clearing at the Dogana, with a luminous sky focussed in intensity about the gilded globe and figure of Fortune over that building; the other by her sister, Miss Hilda Montalba, representing a crazy boat, rowed gondola fashion, returning laden with fruit from the market at the foot of the Rialto. In both works the conspicuous merits of rich colouring and impasto, and the less palpable defects of inaccurate drawing and hasty observation, are of a kind which, had we space, it might be serviceable to carefully discriminate for the benefit of the promising young artists themselves as well as in the larger interests of the public. It must suffice to hint that colouring, however beautiful in itself, and though evincing the possession of a rare faculty for decoration, only becomes truly precious in fine art when subordinated to the facts of nature. The Queen of the Adriatic is, it is true, "all things to all men": no two portraits of her are alike. Owing to the low horizontal line few cities are so devoid of local colour (as distinguished from local form, which at Venice is full of character): she owes most of her witchery to the changeful effects of the circumambient sky and the circumjacent sea. Yet, dreamlike as is the floating siren, there are laws of reflected light, shadow, and complementary colour, which obtain as much at Venice as elsewhere; and it is the non-observance of those laws which gives to one of these pictures somewhat the aspect of a transparency, and causes the water in the other to resemble stained glass. We must conclude with mention of a study by Mr. Elmore in his familiar manner of an "Algerian Water-Carrier;" "The Wood-Cutter," by Mr. Linnell, sen., which we fancy is an old acquaintance; "Windsor," a small but unusually good example of Mr. G. Cole; "The Tug of War," by Mr. J. Morgan: a few big boys pulling a cord against a larger number of small boys, which will find many amused admirers; and landscapes by Messrs. J. Webb, H. Dawson, jun., and others.

MR. TOOTH'S GALLERY.

Mr. Tooth is coming well to the front with the exhibitions he has recommenced holding in his enlarged gallery. The collection he has brought together maintains a fair average throughout. If there is little to startle by its excellence or novelty, or repay criticism, there is still less that falls far below mediocrity. We should say that the pictures generally are eminently saleable (though that, of course, is no concern of ours)—they are calculated to tempt the ordinary British purchaser of no very exalted taste and of no very profound purse. The class of productions significantly called "pot-boilers" more than ever abound in these minor exhibitions—meaning thereby moderate-size pictures with one or two figures or landscape "bits," fabricated (with no other ambition than to sell readily) from studies and sketches for more important works, or old ideas reproduced under a slightly altered guise. The times must indeed be hard to compel so many of our most distinguished painters to turn out such a profusion of this class of work. In this category must be included the specimens here of Messrs. T. Faed, P. Graham, E. Nichol, S. Cooper, J. Linnell, J. Pettie, R. Ansdell, F. Goodall, P. F. Poole, J. B. Burgess, Heywood Hardy, B. W. Leader, Frank Holl, E. Crofts, R. Beavis, J. Webb, John and Alexander Burr, Hamilton Macallum, J. Seymour Lucas, G. B. O'Neil, W. D. Sadler, and several others. We would not, however, be understood to intimate that these are altogether unworthy performances. On the contrary, they are for the most part favourable examples of their kind: we only desire to imply that they are not of sufficient novelty or importance to demand detailed notice in our very restricted space.

One of the few artists who affords a "subject" which, if not a very novel one, is wrought out with deliberate intention, is Mr. Marcus Stone in "The Letter Bag"—a young lady holds a missive which she is retiring to read from the tea-table, whereat sit two middle-aged gentlemen engaged over their own correspondence, brought by the same post, and who cannot have much sympathy with her evident emotion. The female figure is treated with sweet feeling, but we regret to see Mr. Stone reverting from the vigour and freshness of recent works to his thinner and duller early manner. "Near Broadstairs," by Mr. H. W. B. Davis, is an interesting example of his former pre-Raphaelite style. It will be inferred that this collection is much more variously representative of British art than the more mixed collection in Pall-mall. On the other hand, the foreign pictures are, with few exceptions, not of so high a character. It is not necessary to praise the broad and powerful "Winter Scene" by L. Munthe, or the animal-pieces of another able German painter, A. Braith; or the clever though queer-looking Japanese belle by M. Tissot. But a costume-picture, painted conjointly by B. Galofre and S. Guzzone, has all the vices with few of the merits of the Fortuny school. L. Rossi's "Lesson in Phrenology" is much better, though marked by the colour exaggeration of the same school. M. de Nittis's picture of an amateur boatman rowing a couple of pretty girls somewhere up the Thames is as much an idealisation of the brilliancy of a "Summer Afternoon" as his series of pictures in the Paris Exhibition are a prosaic intensification of the grimness of the London streets and London fog. Despite obvious defects, there are in this picture some marvellous passages of colour in the figures, and of reflected light on the rippling river.

MR. M'LEAN'S GALLERY.

The exhibitions of water-colour drawings at this gallery, which form a sort of appendix to those at the two Societies' and Dudley galleries, may be said to "pursue the even tenour of their way," though we have seen better selections than the present one. To many drawings (some having been already exhibited) the names of many living artists of more or less high repute are appended; and the remarks in our last notice touching pictures painted by recipe to sell, apply equally here also. There is also a sprinkling of works by deceased painters. We can only, however, attempt, within our limits, to offer some cursory remarks on a few works of relative importance or novel interest.

At the head of the room is a brilliant yet careful study of picturesquely costumed "Armenians" having a little rifle practice, by Signor Tapirò, a follower of Fortuny, but who has contrived to preserve richness of colour with due regard to the influence of aerial perspective. Below hangs a characteristic drawing, by C. Green, of a grocer and his wife bending anxiously over the balance-sheet of the ledger, and finding "Something wrong somewhere."

Occupying a "centre" of the left wall is the finest drawing by Mr. T. Collier we remember to have seen. It represents a dreary moor chequered by purple heather and barred by sombre cloud-shadows; and, for breadth and power of execution and expression of space, nearly equals the artist's adopted master, David Cox. Sir John Gilbert appears in excellent "form" in "An Invasion by the Danes"—a hardy host of warriors, mounted or on foot, fording a stream. A drawing of a herculean lover parting from his sweetheart, by Mr. F. S. Walker (a name new to us), has unmistakable power, though obtained by considerable blackness of colour. A charming little drawing, by Mrs. Allingham, of a quaint cottage nook, with an "Apple-Tree" and little child, deserves a better place, where its delicate execution could be conveniently seen. We must be content to commend to notice the drawings by the following artists:—Basil Bradley, "Otter-Hounds;" R. Giannetti, "Marguerite;" Herman Ten-kate, "A Court Martial;" F. Tayler, "The Ferry Boat;" W. C. T. Dobson, a sweet head of a girl, entitled "Innocence;" E. Duncan, "Wreck off Holy Island;" Rosa Bonheur, groups of sheep; but, even from so eminent an artist, the public must be beginning to tire of such sheepish trivialities, painted ever by the same formulæ and with ever diminishing reference to nature; E. K. Johnson, a girl with lamb; T. B. Hardy, "The Straits of Dover;" "A Happy Family"—i.e., kittens, by L. E. Lambert, the able French painter of those most amusing of all living things; and A. W. Hunt, "Whitby."

The National Gallery will open to the public on Monday next. The following pictures, acquired during the current year by purchase or bequest, have been added to the collection during the recess:—"Umbrian School" (formerly attributed to Raphael)—"The Agony in the Garden;" Filippino Lippi—"The Adoration of the Magi;" Botticelli—"The Nativity of the Saviour;" Francia Bigio—"Portrait of a Young Man;" Unknown—"A Man's Portrait:" all these are from the collection of Mr. W. Fuller Maitland. Paul Veronese—"St. Helena: Vision of the Invention of the Cross," from the Novar collection; Catharina van Hemessen—"Portrait of a Man," bought of Mr. J. C. Wallace; Savoldo—"Mary Magdalene," provenance not stated; J. Crome—"Landscape, Slate Quarries;" W. Mulready—"A Snow Scene;" T. Barker—"Landscape;" W. J. Müller—"Landscape, A River Scene;" these are also from Mr. W. Fuller Maitland's collection; and J. Ward—"Gordale Scar, Yorkshire," purchased from Lord Ribblesdale. We purpose to review these acquisitions in our next Number.

The French Government has ordered a statue and two busts of M. Thiers to be erected. The statue is to be placed in the Musée at Versailles, and its execution is intrusted to M. Guillaume. The busts, the commissions for which are given to M. Chapu and Madame Claude Vignon, are to be set up, one in the Institute, the other in M. Thiers's native town.

A loan exhibition of considerable importance, consisting chiefly of pictures by ancient and modern masters, and china, has been opened at Bristol. One of the most interesting features of the exhibition is the collection of Bristol china, very remarkable specimens of which are lent by local residents in whose families they have been preserved since the days of Richard Champion, the manufacturer.

At the meeting of the art-section of the Social Science Congress on Saturday last, that distinguished promoter of art, Mr. Phillip H. Rathbone, of Liverpool, read a paper on the Moral and Æsthetical Aspects of the Undraped Figure in Art, in which he eloquently maintained that man—inclusive of woman—was made in the Divine image, and to object to the crowning work of creation as not fit for representation was to accuse the Creator of indecency; that beauty and morality are naturally allied, as are prudishness and pruriency; that the ideal human form is the standard of all beauty of form and proportion, therefore both artists and public should be accustomed to see it; and consequently it is necessary for the future of English art and English morality that the nude, when represented by thoroughly trained and pure-minded artists, should have a place in our galleries. We regret that we cannot quote Mr. Rathbone's remarks at length; but the subject is of so much importance in many ways that we hope to have an early opportunity of returning to it.

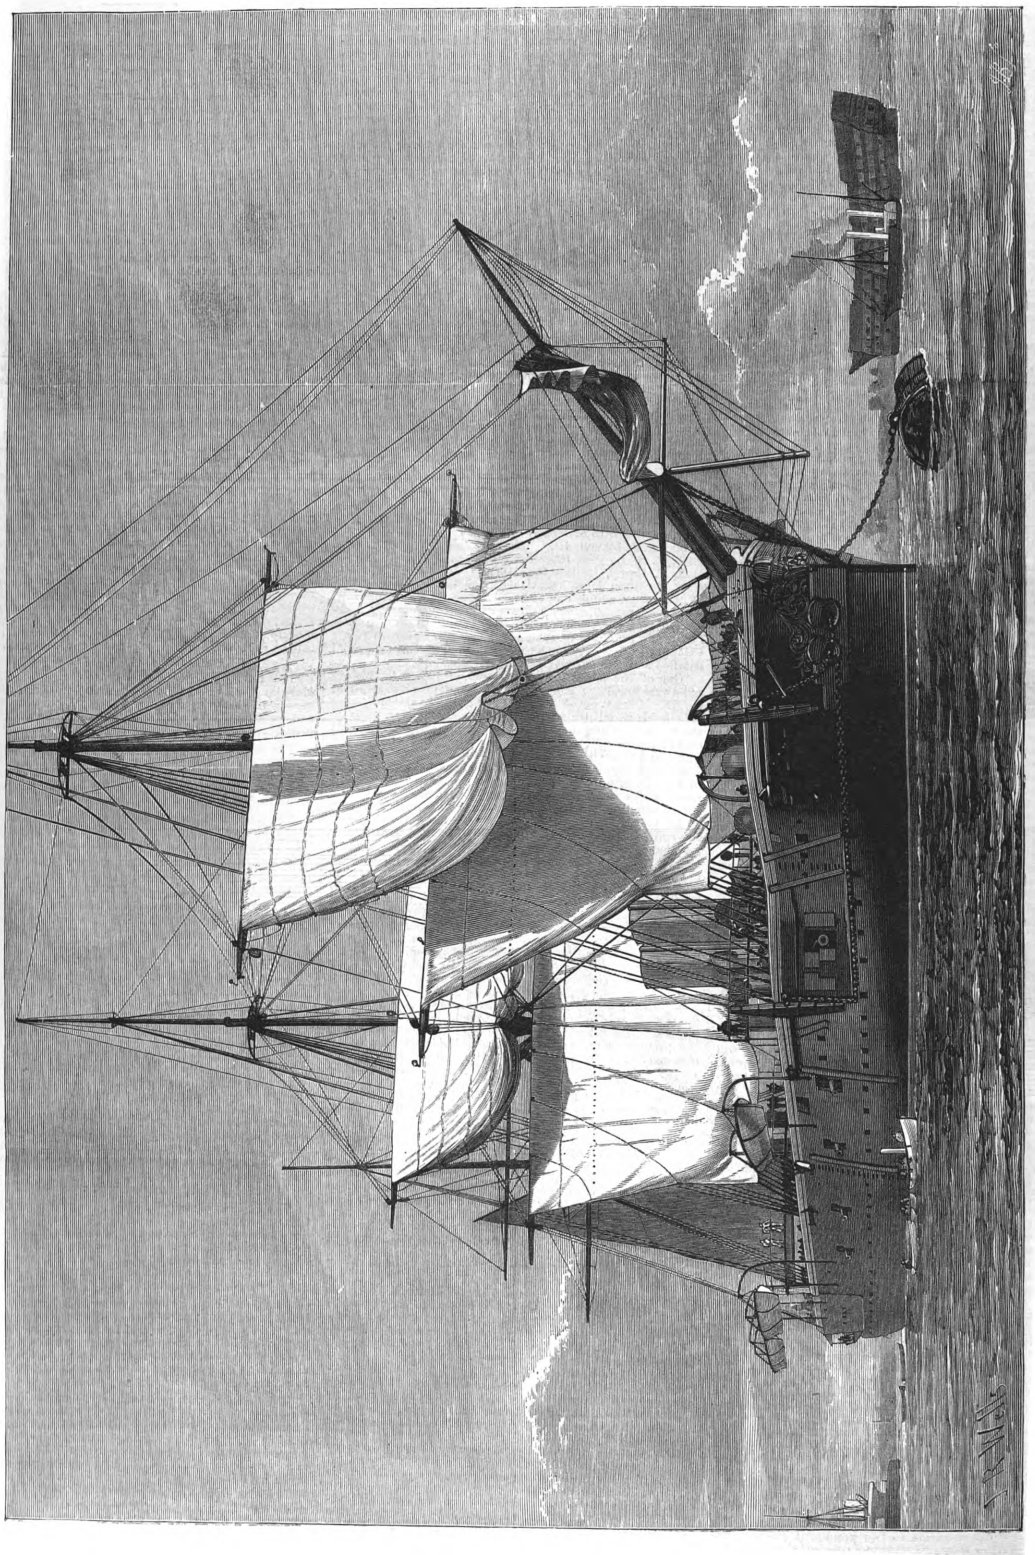
It is intended to hold during the winter, at the Edinburgh Museum of Science and Art, an exhibition illustrative of the history of engraving in its various branches of line, stipple, and mezzotint, from the earliest times to the middle of the present century.

The death at Neuilly is announced of Mr. C. Summers, the sculptor, who began his career in Australia, but in recent years was established with much success at Rome. Mr. Summers had in hand some public statues, principally for Australia, at the time of his death.

The death is also announced of the French sculptor M. Victor Leharivel-Durocher. Among his works is the group "La Comédie Humaine," in the Luxembourg.

Governor Hennessy, of Hong-Kong, has received £1000 from a director of the Hong-Kong and Shanghai Bank for the purpose of erecting a statue to Lord Beaconsfield.

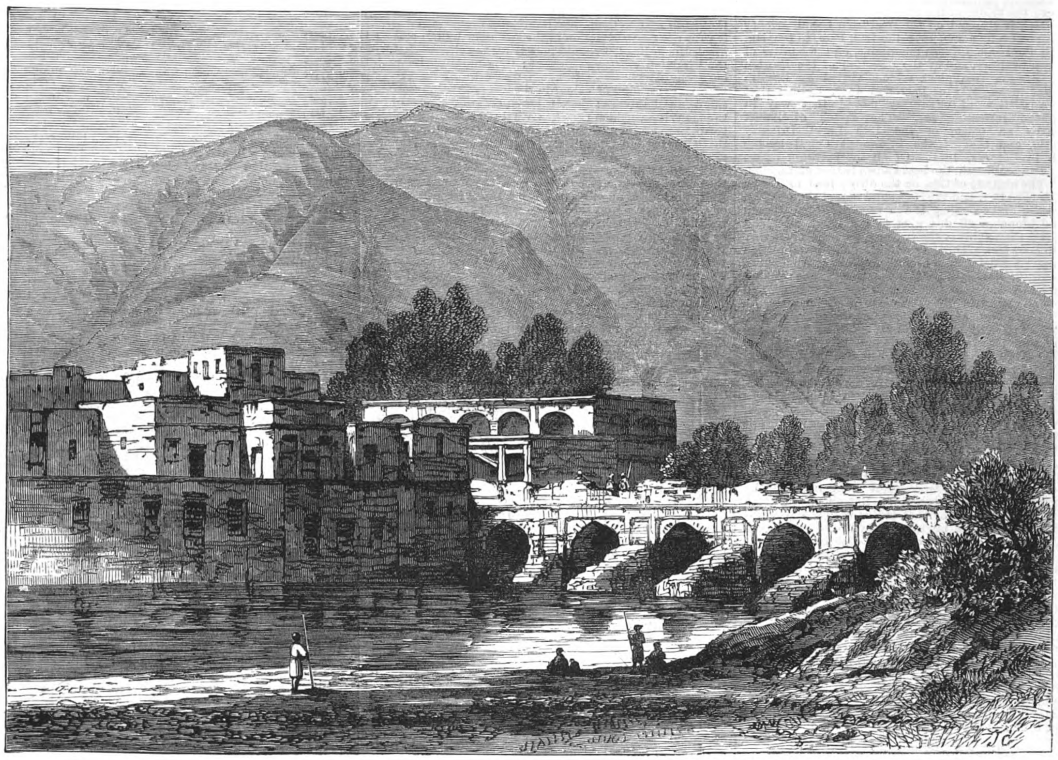
A bust of the late Commodore Goodenough, who was killed by the natives on landing at Santa Cruz Island in August, 1875, has been placed in the Painted Hall at Greenwich Hospital. It was executed by Rear-Admiral Count Gleichen, at the request of the Goodenough Memorial Committee.



An interesting discovery has been made relative to a striking bust, in Pentelic marble, in the Sculpture Gallery at Holkham, which was bought about the middle of the last century by Matthew Brettingham for Thomas, Earl of Leicester. The bust, which is undoubtedly antique, and in excellent preservation, has hitherto passed as a Metrodorus, but Professor Michaelis, on comparing a photograph of it with a photograph of the Hermes in the National Museum of Naples, which has inscribed on it the name of Thucydides the historian, has arrived at the conviction that both certainly represent the same person. The eminent German art-critic further thinks it highly probable that the Holkham bust is a copy of a bronze statue—possibly of the bronze statue which at one time adorned the Zuesippos at Constantinople, and which was described by Christodorus in some verses in the sixth century of our æra.

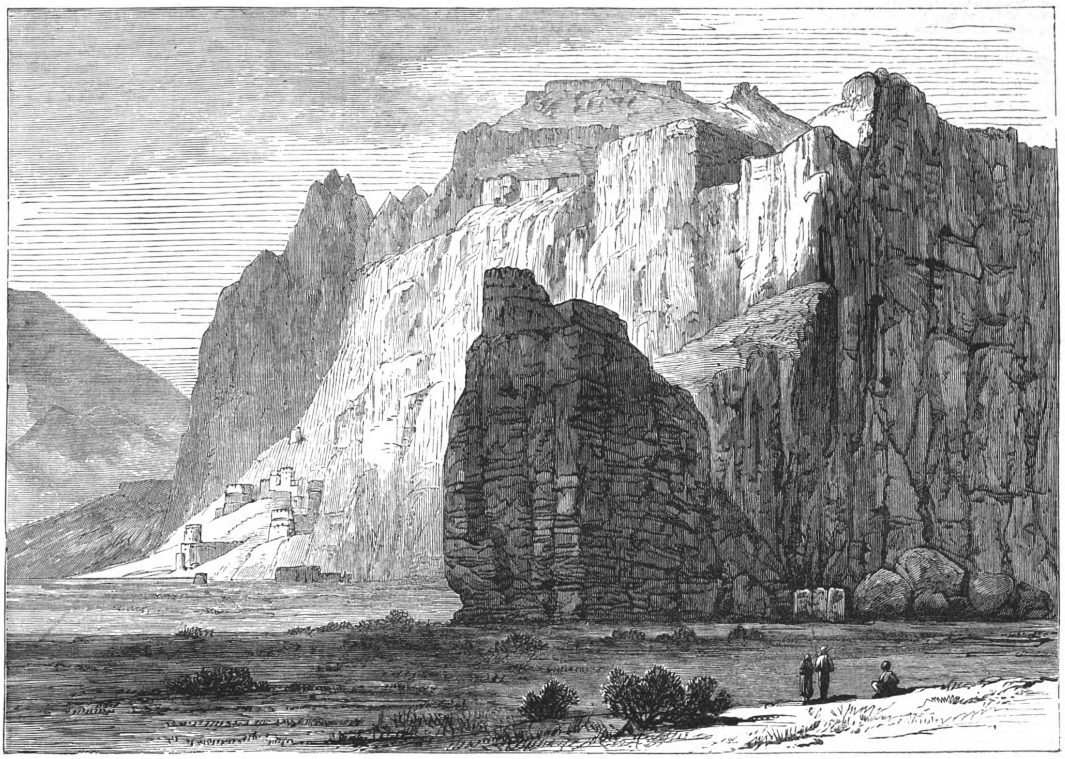
The Besthorpe manorial estate, the property of Earl Winterton, situated at Attleborough, in Norfolk, was sold by auction, in lots, at Norwich last Saturday by Lord Winterton's agent, Mr. F. Statham Hobson, of London. The principal lot, comprising Besthorpe Hall, the old manor house, realised £17,500. The entire estate consisted of 1100 acres, and the day's sale produced, exclusive of the advowson, a total of £50,000.

Lord Hatherley, presiding over a meeting held at Ipswich lately in support of the Nurses' Home, spoke encouragingly of the good results effected by such institutions in preparing trained nurses for the service of the public. The race of "Gamp" he said, had entirely disappeared, and in its place was a rising class of nurses of which medical men could have no reason to complain.



The Coroner's inquiry into the cause of death of the twelve persons killed in the Pontypridd collision was brought to a close on Monday, and the jury found that the accident was due to the neglect of the signalman, Roberts, who was ordered into custody. Before the breaking up of the Court the foreman of the jury said, "Out of consideration of the long and faithful services rendered the Taff Vale Company by William Roberts, we trust he may still be continued in their employ."

During the past week the crews of the five fishing-boats who saved lives on the morning of the wreck of the Grosser Kurfürst received money rewards as under, the amounts having been regulated by the number of men each succeeded in rescuing:—The Mily (Richard May, master), £100; the Susannah (Saunders), £80; the Camelia (W. Saunders), £60; the John and Hannah (John Carter), £40; and the Five Brothers (Robert Mary), £10. The officers and men of the German navy intend raising a monument in the cemetery to their comrades who perished in the Grosser Kurfürst.



H.M.S. NORTHAMPTON.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

THE BRIDGE AT CABUL.

CASTLE OF ZOHÂK, FIRST MARCH FROM BAMIAN, ON THE IRÂK ROAD TO CABUL.

VIEWS IN AFGHANISTAN.

We present three views of scenes in Afghanistan—namely, those of the Khojak Pass, on the road through the Peshin Valley from Quetta to Candahar, which was described in last week's Paper; the bridge at the city of Cabul; and the castle of Zohâk, which is situated on the road from Cabul, seventy or eighty miles west by north, over the Irâk Pass, to Bamian, at the foot of the Hindoo Koosh mountains, on the borders of the Badakshan territory, and in the direction of the Russian dominions. Bamian is a place seldom visited by English travellers; but in the war of 1839 and 1840, against Dost Mohamed, a portion of our army moved that way in pursuit of the retreating foe. The sketch of Zohâk was taken by an officer of the 13th Light Infantry in July, 1840, and that of the bridge at Cabul by the same hand, in October, 1841. Of all the northern passes through the Hindoo Koosh, the best known is that of Bamian, or Sighan. The altitude of this, on the direct road to Khulm and Balkh, is 8500 feet, and the Harakotal Pass at the northern entrance of the Sighan valley is the same. From Bamian another road branches off due west to the Balkh river and Shiborgan, and the heights of the two or three passes here vary from 5000 to 8000 feet. There is a fair road in this direction from Bamian, viâ Kilai Jahudi to Shiborgan, and Andchui to Kerkhi, the Russo-Bokharan post on the Oxus. The distance from Kerkhi to Bamian by this road is only 350 miles, and from Khoja Salih and Kilif the distance is rather less.

East of Bamian there are the following passes leading into the fertile valley of Panjkir:—The Koushan, the Salalang, the Girdshak, and the Khawak. Their altitudes vary from 10,000 to 12,000 ft. The Girdshak, between Kundus, Inderaub, and Cabul, is the most important and the most used. North-eastward of the Khawak are the Ishkasm and Nuksan Passes, 13,000 ft. high, leading from Badakshan and Wakhan to the Chitral Valley, and then, continuing along the Hindoo Koosh, we come to the Baroghil, 12,000 ft., leading from Kashgar. But although these are the names of all the passes we know, it is evident, from the chronicle of our campaign of 1839-40 in these mountains, that there are many more; in fact, that between the valleys of Northern Afghanistan—and it is nothing but a succession of valleys—there is constant communication, by means of passes of all practicability. But on one point an opinion may be ventured, and that is that the outer passes—those which lead from the main range of the Hindoo Koosh down to Balkh, Khulm, Kundus, and Badakshan—are susceptible of being made impregnable, and the earthworks, which should be the form our fortifications should take, could be left during the winter months, when the cold drove our soldiers into the plains and warmer valleys of Cabul.

The antiquarian relics and monuments at Bamian are described by a writer in the Daily News, as of interest scarcely inferior to that of the rock-cut temples of Elephanta. He speaks of wonderful Buddhist chapels or hermitages and cells of monks, excavated in the face of a cliff, with sculptured figures 100 ft. high, carved out of the solid rock. Mr. William Simpson, our well-known Special Artist, who is much addicted to these archæological studies, will not miss the opportunity, if the fortunes of war should conduct him to Bamian, following the same course as that of the 1840 campaign.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN NOVEMBER.

(From the "Illustrated London Almanack.")

The Moon is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 1st, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 5th and 6th, being to the right of the planet on the 5th and to the left on the 6th. She is near Mars on the mornings of the 22nd and 23rd, near Venus on the 24th, the day of New Moon, near Mercury on the 25th, and very near Jupiter during the early evening hours of the 28th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	1st	at 51 minutes	after	9h.	in the	afternoon.
Full Moon	10th	34		2	morning.
Last Quarter	17th	58		5	afternoon.
New Moon	24th	11		9	morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 22nd, and most distant from it on the evening of the 6th.

Mercury is an evening star, setting on the 2nd at 4h. 39m. p.m., or 8 minutes after sunset; on the 7th he sets at 4h. 35m. p.m., on the 12th at 4h. 33m. p.m., on the 17th at 4h. 33m. p.m., on the 22nd at 4h. 34m. p.m., and on the 27th at 4h. 40m. p.m., or 34 minutes after sunset. It will be seen from the above times that the setting of this planet differs but little throughout the month. He is (the fourth time this year) at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 25th.

Venus rises on the 7th at 6h. 23m. a.m., or 42 minutes before sunrise, and is a morning star. She rises on the 17th at 6h. 55m. a.m., or 28 minutes before sunrise; on the 27th at 7h. 28m. a.m., or 11 minutes only before sunrise. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 13m. a.m., on the 11th at 11h. 22m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 44m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 24th.

Mars is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 5h. 28m. a.m., or 1h. 37m. before sunrise, which interval gradually increases to 1h. 55m. by the 17th (the planet rising at 5h. 28m. a.m.), and to about 2h. 13m. by the 27th (the planet rising at 5h. 26m. a.m.) He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 48m. a.m., on the 11th at 10h. 34m. a.m., on the 21st at 10h. 20m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 8m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 22nd.

Jupiter is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 32m. p.m., on the 7th at 9h. 15m. p.m., on the 17th at 8h. 44m. p.m., on the 27th at 8h. 14m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 5m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 25m. p.m., on the 11th at 4h. 51m. p.m., on the 21st at 4h. 18m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 3h. 49m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 28th.

Saturn sets on the 1st at 2h. 59m. a.m., on the 8th at 2h. 29m. a.m., on the 18th at 1h. 48m. a.m., on the 28th at 1h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 0h. 59m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 8m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 8h. 11m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 12m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th, and stationary among the stars on the last day.

Speaking at a large meeting last Monday evening in connection with the new Mechanics' Institution, opened by Sir Ughtred Kay-Shuttleworth, M.P., at Accrington, the Bishop of Manchester objected to the reading of novels to any great extent. There could be no doubt, he said, that we had reached a state of intellectual development considerably in advance of preceding generations, but he maintained that the well-being of the country depended upon the moral more than the intellectual condition of its people. We were not so highly educated as the Germans or the people of Holland and Sweden, and we were approaching a great trial. He believed that the depression of trade was caused mainly by over-production.

BLACKBERRIES.

What is the trail of bright crimson leaves that I see, flashing in the sun, on this October day, when November is nigh at hand, and the autumn has coined every hedgerow into gold? Those leaves vie in colour with the clustering gems of the briony that hang near to them, like bunches of orange-red grapes. If it were not for its situation in the hedgerow by the side of the great North Road, I should take it for the elegant festoons of the Virginian creeper. But, no; it is nothing else than the common Blackberry or Bramble, whose broad leaves present such varied studies of colour in their several changes through summer and autumn; first, through differing shades of green, to pale yellow, golden russet, vivid brown, or, as I now see them, pure crimson, with no admixture of gold. No wonder that artists are so fond of studying this most picturesque of our commonest hedge-row plants, for it is always beautiful, with its delicate five-petalled white roses of bloom, which, like the orange flowers, are so often seen in conjunction with the fruit, the berries on one spray being variously green, crimson, or glossy black. And then, the grains of those berries present multitudinous reflected lights, and sparkle like so many jewels or facets of diamonds; so that a spray of Blackberries, with its vividly coloured leaves, rich juicy fruit, and possibly some late white blossoms, is a subject for a painter or a theme for a poet. The merry Rosalind spoke of a rhymester who would "hang odes on hawthorns and elegies on brambles."

Indeed, Ebenezer Elliott was so led away by this theme that he makes the Blackberry to have a soft voice and to sing hymns to the woods when they are still—a needful precaution; for, if the woods were roaring and raging with the storm and gale, and that mighty harper, the wind, was smiting "his thunder-harp of pines," the soft voice of the Blackberry would sing very small indeed. One verse writer, not much known to fame, Thomas Wilkinson by name, appears to have thought that he was reserved to be the Bard of the Bramble, and confessed that he was unable to tell with what pleasure he saw it crawl over his cell—from which it would appear that he lived in a hermitage; nevertheless, he apostrophised it as his vine, with its dark clusters of grapes. I do not suppose that any poet has ever ventured to sing its praises under its provincial names, "scaldberry and "bumble-kite." It would require Mr. Bumble itself to pen a sonnet to the bumblekite. What could have been the origin of that word? Was it from seeing the "bumble" bee paying its attentions to the rose-like flowers, in company with the pretty peach-blossom moth, which is so fond of the bramble? The only rhyme to blackberry that I can call to mind is by that incomparable rhymist, Thomas Ingoldsby, who, in his version of "The Babes in the Wood," when the one villain has killed the other, says:—

> The Babes quake with hunger and fear,
> While the ruffian his dead comrade, Jack, buries;
> Then he cries, "Loves, amuse yourselves here
> With the hips, and the haws, and the blackberries!

They are still an amusement for babes, whether small or of "larger growth;" and in all country parishes, on the days immediately preceding the market day of the nearest town, it is a common sight to see the children who are just let loose from school trooping to the hedge-rows, provided with tin cans, and basins, and quart pots, in which they may gather the blackberries that will be taken by the village carrier and sold at the market town. On the humane principle of not muzzling the ox that treads out the corn, the children eat heartily while they pick industriously, the dark stains around their mouths bearing visible witness to the destination of a portion of the plucked berries. Falstaff declared that he would give no man a reason upon compulsion, even "if reasons were as plenty as blackberries." I suppose that the crop rarely fails; but I am told that this last season it was unusually large.

The fruit of the poor though it may be, and the al fresco dessert of the weary tramp and dusty traveller, yet, the blackberry is not unknown at the tables of the wealthy and great, where, served up in tarts or puddings, it is extremely palatable, though, from its "flatness," it requires to be mixed with apple. An old cottager, however, informs me, that crab is preferable to apple, both in tarts and jam, and makes it all the sharper. In Scotland—where poor Robert Nicoll, who died all too soon, celebrated the blackberry in a poem, tender and true, like the writer—it is not eaten to perfection, as it is not properly ripened. As six cookery-books of great repute, into which I have looked, pass over the items of blackberry tart, jam, and jelly, I may conclude that these three methods of utilising the common hedgerow fruit are considered to be beneath the dignified notice of the compilers of household recipes. Yet, there are houses of the nobility in which blackberry tarts, jams, and jellies are annually made, and, I may venture to add, appreciated.

In the country the cottagers not only make use of the blackberry for puddings for their families, and pin great faith in the wholesomeness of the fruit, especially for little children, but they also make it into jam, which is kept in readiness for the Christmas feast and other great occasions. Last year, when there was a dearth of damsons, the blackberries were in such unusual demand that they "went up in the market;" and a case came within my own knowledge where a Manchester manufacturer sent an order into the Midland Counties for a hundred pots of blackberries. How many Peter Pipers picked those pots I am unable to say; but they must have occupied many hundreds, if not thousands, of busy fingers. After all, they were not intended for the table, but to be converted into a dye; and thus a new notion was developed in the trade in blackberries.

CUTHBERT BEDE.

The Earl of Wharncliffe presided at the annual meeting of the North of England Manufactory for the Blind, held at Sheffield on Saturday. It was reported that subscriptions to the new school for the blind at Sheffield amounted to nearly £13,000, and that a further sum of £2000 was required. Two subscriptions of £100 each were announced at the meeting. By the bequest of Mr. Holy, of Sheffield, the institution, when erected, will be liberally endowed.

The whaler Arctic arrived at Dundee yesterday week from Davis's Straits. Captain Adams states that he had never, in all his experience, seen the ice so thickly packed. He had been unable to reach Melville Bay, the most productive of the fishing-grounds. Several times he was so completely beset by ice that it was only by sawing and blasting that he was able to extricate his ship. This year's season has been a most unproductive one, the very few whales which were seen being extremely wild and difficult to approach.

The annual report of the Local Government Board, issued on Monday, states that the sums expended in relief to the poor during the year ended at Lady Day, 1877, amounted to £7,400,034, being an increase of £64,176, or less than one per cent, on the corresponding disbursement of the previous year. The latest census of pauperism in 1877 discloses a slight increase compared with the enumeration at 1876. The loans to sanitary authorities have of late years increased to a remarkable extent, and now form a considerable element in the annual growth of the local indebtedness of the country.

OBITUARY.

CARDINAL CULLEN.

His Eminence Paul, Cardinal Cullen, D.D., Roman Catholic Archbishop of Dublin, Primate of Ireland, and Apostolic Delegate, died on the 24th ult. at his residence, Eccles-street, Dublin, in his seventy-sixth year. He was born April 29, 1803, in the parish of Ballytore, in the county of Kildare, and received his first education at Shackleton's famous school in that town, where, it may be mentioned, the great Edmund Burke had been a pupil. He belonged to a family of the middle class, long settled in the counties of Kildare and Meath, and still resident there as opulent graziers. The Cullens are an old Celtic race, and the name "Paul" occurs among them more than a century since. Passing through the ecclesiastical college of Carlow, he completed his studies in the Irish College at Rome. In theology he achieved eminent success, and won many honours. Subsequently admitted to the priesthood, he became Rector of the Irish College at Rome, and also held for a time the Rectorship of the Propaganda. In 1849 he was selected by the Pope to fill the vacancy in the Archbishopric of Armagh, caused by the death of Dr. Crolly, although he was not one of the three whose names were submitted by Ireland to the Vatican; and in 1852 he was appointed Archbishop of Dublin in succession to Dr. Murray. Finally, in 1866, he was created a Prince of the Church as Cardinal, and took for his title that of St. Peter in Montorio, the burial place of the exiled Irish Earls, Tyrconnel and Tyrone. Dr. Cullen was not distinguished either as a preacher or a writer; but, as a theologian and as the fervent unflinching asserter of Catholicity and of his Church's rights and dignity, he was one of the most prominent figures of his time. Churches, hospitals, convents, orphanages and asylums, besides the Diocesan College of Clonliffe, of which he was always so proud, the Catholic University, and the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital are memorials of his energy, piety, and zeal. His Eminence felt the deepest interest in the question of Irish Education, and cordially approved of the measure with reference to it now about to be brought into operation. Despite of popular clamour, and at the risk of personal odium, he rendered the British Government infinite service in extinguishing the flames of insurrection during the Fenian excitement, when his great influence was thrown heartily into the scale of Constitutional authority. He was at the same time a stanch advocate for every measure likely to decrease intemperance in Ireland. The remains of the Cardinal were removed on Sunday from his residence in Eccles-street to Marlborough-street Cathedral, in the presence of a large concourse of people. The funeral cortége was of a strictly religious nature, and, like the habits of the deceased, of an unostentatious and simple character. On reaching the cathedral the coffin was placed on a catafalque, where it lay in state until Tuesday, when the ceremony concluded with the Office for the Dead, a Requiem High Mass, and the Absolution Office. All the Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland, except the Archbishop of Tuam and the Bishop of Cork, were present. In the evening the remains were privately interred in Clonliffe College, near Dublin. The Pope was deeply grieved at the news of the Archbishop's death, and dispatched his condolences to Dublin. Our Portrait of Cardinal Cullen, on page 421, is from a photograph by the London Stereoscopic Company.

HON. MRS. CAULFEILD.

Hon. Mrs. Caulfeild (Elizabeth Margaret), of Hockley, in the county of Armagh, whose death is just announced, was a lady of considerable mental acquirements, and one whose loss will be severely felt in the circles in which she moved. She was second daughter of Dodwell Browne, Esq., of Rahins, in the county of Mayo, and was married, Aug 30, 1819, to the Hon. Henry Caulfeild, second son of James, the first and great Earl of Charlemont, K.P. Her husband died March 4, 1862. Their issue was James Molyneux, present Earl of Charlemont, K.P., who succeeded his uncle in 1863, Henry William, who died unmarried in 1867, and Lady Margaret Stronge, wife of John Calvert Stronge, Esq., second son of Sir James Stronge, Bart., of Tynan Abbey.

DR. KYNASTON.

The Rev. Dr. Herbert Kynaston, Prebendary of St. Paul's, died on the 26th ult. from exhaustion, after having undergone a severe operation. Dr. Kynaston belonged to an old Shropshire family, and was born in 1809. He was educated at Westminster School, and was elected a student at Christ Church, Oxford, where he graduated B.A. in 1831, and in 1834 was ordained Deacon and Priest by the Bishop of Oxford. He acted for some years as tutor of Christ Church, and was appointed in 1838 Head Master of St. Paul's School, which office he held until 1876. In 1842 and 1843 he was selected as Preacher before the University of Oxford, and from 1850 to 1866 he was Rector of St. Nicholas Colc Abbey with St. Nicholas Olave. In 1853 he was appointed to a prebendal stall in St. Paul's Cathedral, which he continued to hold till his death. Dr. Kynaston was the author of several volumes of poems and hymns.

The deaths have also been announced of—

Rear-Admiral Samuel Mercer, on the 25th ult., at Deal, where he was born, in 1808.

Major-General Delamain, late Bengal Royal Artillery, on the 19th ult., at Brighton, aged sixty-six.

William Forster Parsons, Retired Commander R.N., on the 21st ult., at Delos Lodge, Parkstone, Dorset, aged fifty-six.

General Romer, retired full pay Royal Artillery, on the 17th ult., at Christchurch-road, Winchester, aged ninety.

Lieutenant William Edward Stokes, 14th Hussars, eldest surviving son of Major O. D. Stokes, of Cara Craig, Ireland, on Sept. 27, at Madras, aged twenty-five.

C. Sidebottom, Esq., police magistrate and Judge of the Worcester City Court of Pleas, at his residence, Lark-hill, Worcester, on the 26th ult., at an advanced aged.

Lieutenant-Colonel Augustus Hart Dyke, fifth son of Sir Percival Hart Dyke, fifth Baronet, by Anne, his wife, eldest daughter of Robert Jenner, Esq., of Wenvoe Castle, in the county of Glamorgan, and Chiselhurst, Kent, on the 23rd ult.

Charles, Duke of Sleswick-Holstein Sonderburg Glücksburg, in the sixty-sixth year of his age. The Duke married, in 1838, Wilhelmina Maria, daughter of Frederick VI., King of Denmark, who survives him. He leave no issue, and is succeeded in the dukedom by Prince Frederick, born on Nov. 23, 1814.

Major-General Stuart Frederick Graham, B.S.C. Commissioner Mooltan Division, Punjaub, on Sept. 20, at Mooltan, aged fifty-four. He was the elder surviving son of Sir Robert Graham, eight Baronet, of Esk, and was uncle of the present Sir Robert Graham, Bart. He married Frances, daughter of Bannatyne M'Leod, Esq., M.D., and leaves issue.

Colonel Andrew S. Smith, of the Bengal Infantry, and late officiating Commandant of the Bhopal Battalion, at Southsea, on the 27th ult. The deceased officer served throughout the Sutlej campaign of 1845-6. In 1853 he was with the force employed against hill tribes west of Dereiat, and took part in the affair of Kehat Kohtul, and in the Meransaie expedition in 1855. He served also in the Indian mutiny campaign in 1857-8. He was severely wounded, in April, 1858, at Thannah Bown, where he lost the use of his right hand, and in the following month was in command of the pursuing party at the Dojorah Nullah, where he captured the enemy's guns and ammunition, and his horse killed under him.

Dr. Robert Blakey, aged eighty-three, the author of several works on metaphysical and other subjects, and of some volumes on angling and sporting topics. He was also a contributor to the "Encyclopædia Britannica." In 1835 he was appointed Professor of Logic and Metaphysics in Queen's College, Belfast, but relinquished this post on account of ill-health.

The Rev. Prebendary Karslake, suddenly, on the 29th ult. On Thursday week he was present at a banquet at South Molton, given in his honour, and was presented with 300 guineas towards restoring Meshaw Church, in recognition of his long service in many public capacities. Mr. Karslake was educated at Oriel College, Oxford, and was ordained by the Bishop of Exeter in 1831. He was Rector of Meshaw and of Creacombe, and Rural Dean of South Molton.

Caroline, Mrs. Leigh, widow of the late William Leigh, Esq., of Woodchester Park, in the county of Gloucester, on the 15th ult., aged seventy. She was the fifth daughter of Colonel Sir John Geers Cotterell, first Baronet, M.P., by Frances Isabella, his wife, only daughter and heir of Henry Michael Evans, Esq.; was married in 1828, and was left a widow in 1873. She leaves one son, the present William Leigh, Esq., of Woodchester Park.

The Rev. Joseph Birchall, Rector of Church, near Accrington, Rural Dean of Whitby, and Proctor in the Convocation of York for the Archdeaconry of Manchester, on the 28th ult., aged seventy-two. He was a late Scholar and Hulmeian Exhibitioner of Brasenose College, Oxford, and had been Rector of Church for thirty-eight years, having been previously for eight years Curate of Newbury. He was a great authority on synodical law, on which he published a book about ten years ago.

John Bond Cabbell, Esq., on the 25th ult., at his residence, Cromer Hall, in his seventy-first year. Mr. Cabbell came into the possession of the Cromer Hall estate upon the death, in 1874, of his relative, Mr. Benjamin Bond Cabbell. He was chairman of the Cromer Gas and Water Works Companies, a director of the East Norfolk Railway Company, and a liberal contributor to religious and philanthropic societies. He was a Deputy Lord Lieutenant of the county, and a constant attendant on the Cromer bench of magistrates.

Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon. Robert Alexander George Dalzell, C.B., on the 19th ult., at Kilmaurs, Torquay, aged sixty-two. He was the fourth son of Lieutenant-General Robert Alexander, Earl of Carnwath (a title restored by Act of Parliament in 1826), and was consequently brother of the two late Earls and of the present Peer, to whom he was heir presumptive. Colonel Dalzell had the decoration of the Medjidie (fifth class). He married, in 1846, Sarah Bushby, eldest daughter of John Harris, Esq., of Eldon House, London, Canada, and leaves two sons and three daughters.

WILLS AND BEQUESTS.

The will (dated May 26, 1875) with a codicil (dated March 20, 1876) of the Right Hon. Frederic Baron Chelmsford, P.C., D.C.L., F.R.S., late of No. 7, Eaton-square, who died on the 5th ult., was proved on the 23rd ult. by William Frederick Higgins and the Right Hon. Alfred Henry Thesiger, the son, the executors, the personal estate being sworn under £50,000. The testator leaves to his eldest son, Frederic Augustus, his freehold house in Abchurch-lane, £10,000, and all his plate, including the salver, with the great seal in centre, presented to him by the Queen, and he directs the latter to be held as a heirloom with the barony of Chelmsford; to his daughter, the Hon. Mary Lincoln Thesiger, £12,000; to his son Alfred Henry all his books and certain engravings, a clock, candelabra, and vases; to Maria Questel an annuity of £60; to Charlotte Hodgson an annuity of £20; and the residue of his property between his sons Charles Wemyss and Edward Pierson, and his daughters, the Hon. Mrs. Augusta Higgins and Dame Julia Selina Inglis.

The will (dated April 4, 1865) with two codicils (dated Feb. 14, 1877, and Feb. 9, 1878) of Mrs. Jane Charlotte Hull, late of No. 13, Cambridge-road, Hove, Brighton, who died on Sept. 26 last, was proved on the 21st ult. by Thomas Glover Kensit and George Kensit, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £35,000. After payment of considerable legacies to relatives, friends, and servants, the testatrix gives the residue to Charles Edward Torriano.

The will (dated May 26, 1875) with seven codicils of Mr. Joseph Trigge Schomberg, Q.C., late of The Lodge, Seend, Wilts, who died on July 28 last, was proved on the 18th ult. by Mrs. Elizabeth Mary Schomberg, the widow, Edward Tylee, and Edward Clerk Schomberg, the son, the acting executors, the personal estate being sworn under £30,000.

The late Mr. Edward Jones, of Port Hope, Ontario, Canada, has left a legacy of 3000 dols. to the National Life-Boat Institution of England.

It was stated at a meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce on Monday that during the last five weeks there had been 102 English and 72 Scotch bankruptcies, 29 winding-up notices, and 1215 liquidations. The directors were instructed to inquire into the causes of the depression of trade, and how far Governmental action was responsible for it.

A correspondence between the Home Secretary and the Middlesex magistrates was recently laid before a meeting of that body, in which the justices express an opinion that the expenses of conveying juvenile offenders to reformatories, and of providing the clothing requisite upon admission, had been transferred to the Secretary of State under the new Prisons Act; that their discretionary power of contributing remains unchanged, and that there was no present intention of altering the existing arrangements.

The annual general meeting of the members of the Oxfordshire Agricultural Society was held last Saturday at the Townhall, Oxford, when there was a large and influential gathering of the gentry and tenant farmers of the county, including the president (Mr. H. Barnett, J.P., of Glympton Park), the Earl of Jersey, Lord Norreys, and Mr. W. V. Harcourt, M.P. Lord Randolph Churchill, M.P., was unanimously elected president of the society for the ensuing year. A letter was received from the Mayor of Woodstock, on behalf of the inhabitants of that town and neighbourhood, asking the society to hold their annual show there next year, and offering a monetary contribution to the funds and a suitable show-ground. It was unanimously agreed that the show should take place at Woodstock; and hopes are entertained that the Duke of Marlborough will permit it to be held in Blenheim Park.

CHESS.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

All communications relating to this department of the Paper should be addressed to the Editor, and have the word "Chess" written on the envelope.

H M (Leeds).—The game is interesting from the circumstances in which it was played. You shall have a report upon it in our next issue.

A LADY BEGINNER.—The best continuation after White's eighth move—Q to K B 3rd—is the two Knights' defence is either 8. Q to B 2nd, or 8. Q to Kt 3rd.

C E (Broad-street).—Your problems shall have our best attention. We shall hope to hear from you during your visit to South America.

H M P (Bristol.—Although simpler in construction, the last composition has the same defect as the earlier ones. In these the Black forces were so disposed as to be ineffective, and now the solitary King has not a plausible resource against the overwhelming strength of the enemy. Try again.

C H B (Liverpool).—The solution of No. 1805 is given below. Thanks for directing our attention to the omission.

A T (Newport).—We are pleased to hear of the formation of a chess club in your town.

E L G (Blackwater).—Your solution of No. 1805 is correct.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1807 received from P S Shenele, Emile Frau, W S B, Tonks, Franklin Institute, Deansgate, Dabbuhill, and E Burkhard (Leipsic).

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1808 received from P S Shenele, Tredunnock, Guillaume, J K, Dabbuhill, E C Davies, East Marden, Cant, W M Curtis, Fretextat, and David Millar.

CORRECT SOLUTIONS OF PROBLEM No. 1809 received from C H Stepan, P S Shenele, An Old Hand, Guillaume, C Darragh, East Marden, St J E, T P F and E M, W C Dutton, Hereward, R Ingersoll, W S B, W Warren, C S Cox, C H B, F Hampton, F V P, C C Elmore, H Bernhall, W L, G Fosbrooke, G H V, E H V, T Greenbank, Cant, M Whiteley, Dr F St, R Ronghead, E P Vulliamy, T W Hope, Julia Short, Mechanic, J K, J H Kidd, L S B, Only Jones, R H Brooks, Leowyen and Leon, Norman Bambelow, E Worsley, J de Honsteyn, Little Fadette, Jane Nepveu (Utrecht), Orum, Major A, S Strine, T R Young, S Adams, R T King, E Esmonde, T Edgar, S Western, L Ellmaker, M R Thayer, D Leslie, S R of Leeds, Painter (Shepherd's-bush), Pretextat, Onno, Alpha, and Coplapino.

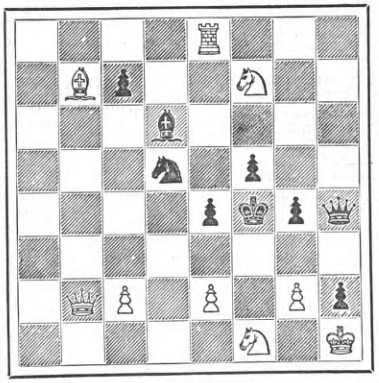
SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1805.

(The solution of No. 1806 was published under this head in error.)

WHITE.	BLACK.
1. Q to K Kt 4th	K B takes R *
2. Q to Kt 7th (ch)	K to Q 3rd
3. Kt to Kt 7th. Mate.

* If B to B sq. White continues with 2. Q takes Kt; if 1. K to Q 5th, then 2. Q takes Kt (ch), &c.

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM No. 1808.



WHITE.	BLACK.
1. Kt to Kt 8th	B to K 2nd*
2. R to Kt 7th	Any move
Kt mates.

* If 1. B to Q 3rd, then 2. Kt to Kt 5th, &c.

PROBLEM No. 1811.

By S. WRIGHT, Liverpool.

BLACK.

WHITE.

White to play, and mate in two moves.

CHESS IN HUNGARY.

A Game played at Buda-Pesth between Dr. S. JAKOBY and Herr BEER.

(Scotch Gambit.)

WHITE (Dr. J.)	BLACK (Herr B.)	WHITE (Dr. J.)	BLACK (Herr B.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th	If this was intended to invegle Black into taking the Pawn with the Knight it was much too obvious an artifice to succeed.
2. Kt to K B 3rd	Kt to Q B 3rd	12.	Kt takes Kt
3. P to Q 4th	P takes P	13. P takes Kt	B to K 3rd
4. B to Q B 4th	B to B 4th	14. Kt to K 4th	P to Q B 3rd
5. P to Q B 3rd	Kt to K B 3rd	15. Kt to Q 6th	Q to Q Kt 3rd
6. B to K Kt 5th		16. Q to Q 2nd	Q R to Q sq
The Scotch Gambit is now converted into a rather tame variation of the Giuoco Piano. Instead of the move in the text, White might have played 6. P takes P, with some prospect of a good attack.		17. K to R sq	P to B 3rd
6.	P to Q 3rd	18. B takes Kt	B takes B
Surely 6. P to K R 3rd is better, for should White then retreat the Bishop, Black may safely advance the Pawns on the King's side, and, should he capture the Kt, then follows 7. Q takes B, and the second player soon secures a good position.		19. P to B 4th	Q to R 3rd
7. P takes P	B to Kt 5th (ch)	20. R to B 2nd	P takes P
8. B to Q 2nd	B takes B (ch)	21. P takes P	R takes R
9. Kt takes B	P to Q 4th	22. Q takes R	R to K B sq
10. P takes P	Kt takes P	23. Q to K sq	Q to Kt 3rd
11. Castles	Castles	24. R to Q sq	Q takes Kt P
12. Kt to K 5th		25. R takes B	P takes R
		26. P to K 6th
		White's last two moves have been made in utter obliviousness of the beautiful resource that follows.
		26.	Q to K 4th, and White resigned.

CHESS IN THE CITY.

The following Gamelet was played offhand at Pursell's Coffee-House a short time ago between the Rev. Mr. EARNSHAW and Herr GUNZBERG.

(Vienna Game.)

WHITE (Rev. Mr. E.)	BLACK (Herr G.)	WHITE (Rev. Mr. E.)	BLACK (Herr G.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th	It is instructive to note the result of Black's premature attack. He has won two Pawns, but his Queen is out of play and the King is already under the shadow of impending mate.
2. Kt to Q B 3rd	B to B 4th	9. B to Q B 4th	P to K B 3rd
3. P to B 4th	B takes Kt	10. Kt to Q 5th	Q takes B P
Very much inferior to 3. P to Q 3rd, a move which converts the opening into a well-known variation of the King's Gambit declined.		11. Kt takes K B P (ch)	Kt takes Kt
4. R takes B	P takes P	12. Q takes Kt	Q takes B
5. P to Q 4th	Q to R 5th (ch)	13. Q takes R (ch)	K to Q 2nd
6. P to K Kt 3rd	P takes P	14. B to Kt 5th (ch), and wins.
7. R takes P	Q takes R P
8. Q to B 3rd	P to K Kt 3rd

CHESS AT MANCHESTER.

A Game played between Messrs. ROBEY and STEINKUHLER.

(Two Knights' Defence.)

WHITE (Mr. R.)	BLACK (Mr. S.)	WHITE (Mr. R.)	BLACK (Mr. S.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th	here. He should play out his pieces on the Queen's side at once.
2. Kt to K B 3rd	Kt to K B 3rd	11.	P to K B 4th
3. B to B 4th	Kt to Q B 3rd	12. P to K B 4th	P takes K P
4. P to Q 3rd		13. Q P takes P	Kt to K B 3rd
There is safety, of course, in thus resolving the opening into a variation of the Giuoco Piano, but the more attacking line of play, 4. P to Q 4th, or 4. Kt to Kt 5th, are preferable.		14. P to Q Kt 4th	B to Q Kt 3rd
4.	B to B 4th	15. P to Kt 5th	Kt to K 2nd
5. Castles	P to Q 3rd	16. K B P takes P	Kt takes P
6. P to K R 3rd	B to K 3rd	17. Q to Kt 3rd (ch)	K to R sq
7. B to Kt 3rd	Q to Q 2nd	18. P to K 6th
8. K to R 2nd	Castles (K R)	An amusing illustration of a common fault. White, it cannot be doubted, perceived that the Rook was en prise, but looked no further, else the mate that follows could not have escaped his notice.
9. Kt to K Kt sq	B takes B	18.	R takes R
10. R P takes B	Kt to K sq	19. Q P takes Q	B takes Kt (ch)
11. P to Q B 3rd		20. K to R sq	Kt to Kt 6th
There is no time for such manœuvres		Mate.

THE ST. GEORGE'S CHESS CLUB.

An amusing little Partie played between Mr. I. O. HOWARD TAYLOR, of Norwich, and a member of the St. George's Chess Club.

(King's Gambit.)

WHITE (Mr. T.)	BLACK (Mr. A.)	WHITE (Mr. T.)	BLACK (Mr. A.)
1. P to K 4th	P to K 4th	15. Kt to K 4th	Q to Q sq
2. P to K B 4th	P takes P	Black's last few moves are very weak. The advance of the Pawn was premature, the check served no useful purpose, and now the Queen is at home again, having in her sortie contrived to assist the development of the adverse forces.
3. Kt to K B 3rd	P to K Kt 4th	16. R to K sq
4. B to Q B 4th	B to Kt 2nd	Correctly played. Black cannot take the Pawn with Queen without immediate loss.
5. P to K R 4th	P to Kt 5th	16.	B to K 3rd
6. P to Q 3rd	Q to K 2nd	17. B takes P	P takes B
7. Q to Q 3rd	Q to K 2nd	17. B takes B would have been more to the purpose.
This is not a good position for the Queen. Played here, it serves only to prevent P to K 5th, a variation which is known to be abortive. The correct move is 7. Kt to Q B 3rd.		18. Kt to Q B 5th	Q takes P
8. P takes P	P takes P	19. R takes B (ch)	P takes R
9. R takes R	B takes R	20. Q to Kt 6th (ch), and wins.
10. Kt to Q B 3rd	P to Q B 3rd
11. B to Q 2nd	P to Kt 5th
12. Kt to K Kt sq	Q to R 5th (ch)
13. K to B sq	Q to B 3rd
14. P to K 5th	P takes P

CHESS INTELLIGENCE.

A new chess association, numbering about thirty members, has been organised at Newport, Monmouthshire. The meetings of the Newport Chess Club will be held every evening in the reading-room of the Townhall, and the following are the first officers elected at the preliminary gathering of the members:—President, John Moses, Esq. (Mayor); honorary secretary, F. Mason; committee, Messrs. C. Kirby, A. Williams, John Gall, W. Phillips, E. Phillips, and A. Townsend.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

Gabriella; or, The Spirit of Song. By the Author of "The Dying Saviour and the Gipsy Girl." (Hodder and Stoughton.)

The Little Printer Boy. By the Vicomtesse S. de Kerkadec. (Hodder and Co.)

The Gate and the Glory beyond it. A Tale of the Franco-Prussian War. By Onyx. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

The White Rose of Deerham. By Marie Hall. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

The George Eliot Birthday Book. (Blackwood and Sons.)

Pomeroy Abbey. A Romance. By Mrs. Henry Wood. 3 vols., Second Edition. (Bentley and Son.)

Margery's Son; or, "Until He Find It." A Fifteenth Century Tale of the Court of Scotland. By Emily Sarah Holt. (John F. Shaw and Co.)

Yoicks! Hands and Tales, Tips and Turns Over. By Pliz. ("Judy" Office, 73, Fleet-street.)

The First Violin. A Novel. 3 vols. (Bentley and Son.)

English Folk-Lore. By the Rev. T. F. Thiselton Dyer, M.A. (Hardwick and Bogue.)

Our Blue Jackets. A Narrative of Miss Weston's Life and Work among Our Sailors. By an Eye-Witness. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

Cressida. By Bertha Thomas, Author of "Proud Maisie." 3 vols. (Sampson Low and Co.)

The Chandos Poets: The Works of George Herbert. In Prose and Verse. With Memoir and Explanatory Notes. Illustrated. (F. Warne and Co.)

The Chandos Poets: The Poetical Works of Reginald Heber, D.D., Lord Bishop of Calcutta. A new Edition. Illustrated. (F. Warne and Co.)

London Preachers (First Series). Articles Descriptive and Critical. By T. Williams. (Elliot Stock, Paternoster-row.)

Pleasant Days in Pleasant Places. By Edward Walford, M.A. (Hardwicke and Bogue.)

Notes of a Tour in America. By H. Hussey Vivian, M.P., F.G.S. (Stanford.)

Coughs and their Cure, with Chapters on Consumption and Change of Climate. By E. B. Shuldham, M.D., M.R.C.S. (Homœopathic Publishing Company, 2, Finsbury-circus.)

Rachel Oliver. A Tale. 3 vols. (Macmillan and Co.)

A Class-Book of Geography. By C. B. Clarke, F.G.S. (Macmillan and Co.)

Stories from the History of Rome. By Mrs. Beesley. (Macmillan and Co.)

The Recreations of a Country Parson. Third Series. (Longmans and Co.)

Peep-Show. A Pleasure Book for the Young. Vol. V. (Strahan and Co.)

Through a Needle's Eye. By Hesba Stretton, Author of "Jessica's First Prayer." 2 vols. (Kegan Paul and Co.)

The Marquis of Lossie. By George MacDonald, LL.D. Second Edition. (Kegan Paul and Co.)

Russian and Turk, from a Geographical, Ethnological, and Historical Point of View. By R. G. Latham, M.A., M.D., &c., Author of "The Varieties of Man," "Nationalities of Europe," &c. (Allen and Co.)

The Story of the Christians and Moors of Spain. By Charlotte M Yonge. (Macmillan and Co.)

In the Track of the Troops. A Tale of Modern War. By R. M. Ballantyne. (Nisbet and Co., 21, Berners-street.)

Nelson. A Play in Four Acts and a Tableau. By Emilia Aylmer Blake. (Chapman and Hall.)

Idle-Hour Flights. Verses by Robert J. D. Burnie, Swansea. (S. Poulton, Market-square, Aylesbury.)

The Soldier's Manual of Sanitation, and of First Help in Sickness and when Wounded, in Peace and in War. By Surgeon-General C. A. Gordon, M.D., C.B. (Baillière and Co.)

Household Economics. Second Series of Food and Family Papers. By Samuel Phillips Day. (Arthur H. Moxon, Tavistock-street).

Album of British sports and Pastimes (Charles, Reynolds and Co., Manufacturers, 26, Milk-street, Cheapside, E.C.)

Theodore Cameron: A Home Story. By Phebe F. M'Keen, Author of "Thornton Hall," &c. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

Leaves From My Note-Book; Being a Collection of Tales, all Positive Facts, Portraying Irish Life and Character. By an ex-Officer of the Royal Irish Constabulary. (Dean and Son, 160A, Fleet-street.)

Bewick's Select Fables of Æsop and Others. With Bewick's Original Wood Engravings. (Longmans and Co.)

Sphor's Violin School. Revised and Edited, with Additional Text, by Henry Holmes. (Boosey and Co.)

The Contralto Album. Fifty Celebrated Songs from the Operas. (Boosey.)

Our Redcoats and Bluejackets: War Pictures on Land and Sea. A Continuous Narrative of the Naval and Military History of England from 1793 to 1878. By Henry Stewart. (John Hogg, Paternoster-row.)

Gold: Legal Regulations for the Standard of Gold and Silver Wares in Different Countries. By Edwin W. Streeter. Coloured Plates, Maps, and Tables. Sixth Edition, Revised and Enlarged. (Chapman and Hall.)

Less Black than We're Painted. By James Payn. 3 vols. (Chatto and Co.)

That Boy: Who Shall Have Him? By the Rev. W. H. Daniells, A.M., Author of "D. L. Moody and His Work," &c. (Hodder and Stoughton.)

Collecting Butterflies and Moths. Illustrated. By Montagu Browne. ("The Bazaar" Office, 170, Strand.)

The Armenian and the Eastern Question: Letters by an Armenian. (Edwin Stanford.)

Ethics and Æsthetics of Modern Poetry. By J. B. Silkirk. (Smith and Elder.)

Shooting Adventures, Canine Lore, and Sea-Fishing Trips. By "Wild-flower," "Snapshot" (of the Field). 2 vols. (Chapman and Hall.)

John Smith. A Novel. By the Hon. Mrs. Cradock. 2 vols. (Chapman and Co.)

A New Source of Revenue for India. By George W. Stretell, H.M.'s Indian Forest Department. (Marlborough and Co., Old Bailey.)

Sketches of African Scenery from Zanzibar to the Victoria Nyanza. By Thomas O'Neill. Coloured lithographic pictures. (London Church Missionary House, Salisbury-square, E.C.)

Quarter Sessions, from Queen Elizabeth to Queen Anne. By A. H. A. Hamilton. (Sampson Low and Co.)

A Fine Old English Gentleman exemplified in the Life and Character of Lord Collingwood. A Biographical Study. By William Davies, Author of "The Pilgrimage of the Tiber," &c. (Low and Co.)

Half-Hours of Blind Man's Holiday; or, Summer and Winter Sketches in Black and White. By W. W. Fenn. 2 vols. (Sampson Low and Co.)

Dora's Boy. By Mrs. Ellen Ross, Author of "A Candle Lighted by the Lord." (Strachan and Co.)

Memoirs of the Life of Anna Jameson. By her Niece, Geraldine Macpherson. With a Portrait. (Longmans and Co.)

American and Other Drinks. By Leo Engel. (Tinsley Brothers.)

Memoir of the late Alfred Smee, F.R.S. By his Daughter. With Selections from his Miscellaneous Writings. (George Bell and Sons.)

Forty-six Social Twitters. By Mrs. Loftie, Author of "The Dining-Room." (Macmillan and Co.)

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

AT HOME.

Twelve months (including Christmas Number),	£1 9s. 3d.
Six months,	14s.; Christmas Half-Year, 15s. 3d.
Three months,	7s.; Christmas Quarter, 8s. 3d.

Copies will be supplied direct from the Office to any part of the United Kingdom and the Channel Islands, for any period, at the rate of 6½d. for each Number, paid in advance.

ABROAD.

Copies will be sent to the following places for 26s. 4d. (on thin paper, 22s.) the year:—Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, China, Ceylon, Cape of Good Hope, Constantinople, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Greece, Holland, Honduras, Heligoland, India, Italy, Japan, Luxemburg, Malta, Mauritius, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United States of America.

To Australia, New Zealand, India, China, and Japan, by the Brindisi route, 45s. (thin paper, 36s. 4d.) the year.

Subscriptions must be paid in advance, direct to the Publishing Office, 198, Strand, in English money; by cheque crossed the Union Bank of London; or by Post-Office order, payable at the East Strand Post Office, to George C. Leighton, of 198, Strand, London.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—On MONDAY and TUESDAY, NOV. 11 and 12, Messrs. OETZMANN and CO. will OFFER for SALE an immense Stock of CURTAINS and CURTAIN MATERIALS, purchased for cash during the recent depression, and which will be sold off much below their usual cost. Reduced Price-List, with size and description, will be sent post-free on application.—OETZMANN and CO., Complete House Furnishers, 67 to 79, Hampstead-road (near Tottenham-court-road).

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.
SUBSTANTIAL ARTISTIC FURNITURE.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD,
NEAR TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD.

FURNISH THROUGHOUT.—OETZMANN and CO., 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, HAMPSTEAD-ROAD, near Tottenham-court-road. Cabinet Factory, Albion Works, Drummond-street; Bedding Factory, Eagle-place, London, N.W. CARPETS, Furniture, Bedding, Drapery, Furnishing Ironmongery, China, Glass, Paper Hangings, Pictures, Bronzes, Clocks, &c., and every other requisite for completely furnishing a house throughout.

BESIDES THE RECENT ADDITION of the immense range of Premises previously known as the Eagle Brewery, which have been rebuilt and added to their extensive Show-Rooms and Galleries,
EIGHT LARGE SHOW-ROOMS
HAVE JUST BEEN ADDED
TO THE DISPLAY OF
ARTISTIC FURNITURE, &c.

IT IS NOW ONE OF THE LARGEST FURNISHING ESTABLISHMENTS in the World. Comparison of price and quality respectfully solicited before deciding elsewhere. OETZMANN and CO. are enabled to offer special advantages to country customers in delivery of goods by their own large PANTECHNICON VANS, and fixing in position by competent persons. Descriptive Catalogue, the best furnishing guide extant, post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

DINING-ROOM SUITES.—OETZMANN and CO.—Handsome Mahogany Dining-Room Suite, consisting of a Couch, Six Chairs, and two Easy-Chairs, well upholstered in best leather, price 20 guineas; superior ditto, in Oak or Spanish Mahogany, with handsome Lounge, Six Stuffed Back Chairs, and Two Easy-Chairs, upholstered in best leather and finished in a superior manner, price 28 guineas; handsome Early English and Medieval Dining-Room Suites in Oak, consisting of a large Divan Lounge, Six Chairs, and two noble Easy-Chairs, upholstered in best leather and finished in the best possible manner, price 35 guineas.—OETZMANN and CO.

ARTISTIC BORDERED CARPETS, OETZMANN and CO., to meet the increasing taste for Artistic Furnishing, are introducing some very handsome ready-made Bordered Carpets in every class of design, adapted to every style of furnishing and decoration, at greatly reduced prices, ranging from 39s. 6d. to 18 guineas. Price-List and Sketch-Plans of Rooms, as guides for measurements, are sent post-free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

MUSLIN and LACE CURTAINS. CLEARING OUT.—Elegant Design, 3 yards long by 40 and 52 inches wide, 4s. 11d. per pair; worth 7s. 6d. Very handsome ditto, 4 yards long by 52 and 56 inches wide, 10s. 6d.; worth 16s. 9d. Magnificent Tuileries Lace Curtains, 4 yards long by 72 inches wide, 16s. 11d. per pair. A Special Reduced List of Curtains, with size and description, post-free.

DOWN QUILTS.—OETZMANN and CO.'S EIDER and ARCTIC DOWN QUILTS and CLOTHING combine the greatest amount of warmth attainable with the least possible weight, and are of the very best quality. Price-Lists post-free.—OETZMANN and CO.

KITCHEN REQUISITES.—OETZMANN and CO.'S TEN-POUND SET (List No. 2a, page 231 in their "GUIDE TO HOUSE FURNISHING," sent post-free on application) includes Table, Chairs, Clock, &c., with the various Culinary Utensils and requisites, contains all the most useful articles required in every kitchen, each being of superior quality, and is the most practical selection extant. A writer upon domestic matters in "The Queen" Newspaper says of this set:—"Seems very complete and carefully selected with a view to utility and durability."—OETZMANN and CO.

POSTAL ORDER DEPARTMENT. OETZMANN and CO.—Orders sent per post, whether large or small, receive prompt and careful attention. Those residing at a distance, or any to whom a personal visit would be inconvenient, desirous of leaving the selection to the firm, may rely upon a faithful attention to their wishes and interest in the selection. This department is personally supervised by a member of the firm. For further particulars please see page 287 in Catalogue, sent free on application.—OETZMANN and CO.

OETZMANN and CO., COMPLETE HOUSE FURNISHERS, 67, 69, 71, 73, 77 and 79, Hampstead-road (three minutes' walk from Tottenham-court-road and Gower-street Station, Metropolitan Railway). Lowest prices consistent with guaranteed quality. Close at Seven, and on Saturdays at Four. Descriptive Catalogue post-free.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE, post-free.
OETZMANN & CO.,
HAMPSTEAD-ROAD.

PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION, 1878.
THE ONLY "GRAND PRIX"
in Class 17, for
FURNITURE, was awarded to
JACKSON and GRAHAM, Oxford-street, London, in addition to
GRAND PRIZE (EHREN DIPLOM), Vienna, 1873. The sole Highest Award for English Furniture.
MEDAL, for "Great Excellence of Design and Workmanship," London, 1862.
HORS CONCOURS, Paris, 1867.
GOLD MEDAL OF HONOUR for "Improvements in English Furniture," Paris, 1855.
PRIZE MEDAL, Great Exhibition, London, 1851..

NOTICE.—SPOONS and FORKS, in SILVER and in ELECTRO-PLATE. ELKINGTON and CO., as the result of important improvements in the above manufactures, are able to offer their guaranteed qualities at such prices as, while fully maintaining their acknowledged superiority, place them within the reach of all classes. Revised Illustrated Price-Lists free by post on application. Purchasers of Silver Spoons and Forks obtain the advantage of any fluctuations in the silver market.
Address—ELKINGTON and CO., 22, Regent-street, London, or 42, Moorgate-street, City.

MAPPIN BROTHERS—Electro-Platers &Cutlers,
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Are placing the Public
MAPPIN BROTHERS—On the same footing as
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Members of Co-operative
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Stores, having
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Reduced their Prices
MAPPIN BROTHERS—20 per Cent.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—The well-known quality
MAPPIN BROTHERS—of their goods is strictly
MAPPIN BROTHERS—maintained.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—Write for Catalogue to
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON BRIDGE.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—LONDON-BRIDGE; or,
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.
MAPPIN BROTHERS—REGENT-STREET, W.

PLEASE NOTICE—
THERE IS ONLY ONE ADDRESS
FOR PETER ROBINSON'S
MOURNING WAREHOUSE.
ALL LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS
intended for the Mourning Warehouse
MUST BE CLEARLY DIRECTED
TO REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.
Occasional misdirection of letters and orders renders this Notice necessary.

MOURNING ORDERS SENT AT ONCE
BY PETER ROBINSON
UPON RECEIPT OF LETTER OR TELEGRAM.
A large Staff of very competent Dressmakers and ASSISTANTS are kept purposely to TRAVEL to all parts of the country—no matter the distance—
free of any extra charge whatever to the Customer)
with a full assortment of Made-up Goods of the most fashionable and suitable description.
FOR A FAMILY MOURNING,
and also Mourning for Servants,
Orders, however large, can be completed at very short notice by Dressmakers of the greatest proficiency.
(either French, German, or English).
Observe the only one Address—for
PETER ROBINSON'S,
COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE,
is 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET, LONDON.
One of the most important Houses of its kind in England. Established as a Mourning Warehouse Thirty Years.

BLACK SILKS—Specially Cheap,
Manufactured by Messrs. Bonnet et Cie, at .. 5s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Tapissier et Cie, at .. 5s. 3d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Jaubert et Cie, at .. 4s. 6d.
Manufactured by Messrs. Dégove et Cie, at .. 4s. 11d.
Also, BLACK SILKS, in very serviceable qualities, at 2s. 6d., 2s. 11½d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 5s. 9d.
200 PIECES of BLACK SILK at one price, 5s. 9d.,
PETER ROBINSON is a Wholesale as well as a Retail Dealer in Black Silks.
As he buys direct from the Manufacturer, all intermediate profits are saved.
Address ONLY for Patterns as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, 256 to 262, REGENT-STREET.
THE COURT AND GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE.

BLACK SILK VELVETS, Exceptional Value, at 3s. 11d., 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., 6s. 6d., and 7s. 6d.
RICH LYONS VELVETS, at 10s. 6d., 12s. 9d., and 16s. 6d.
Superb qualities for Dresses and Mantles.
For Patterns, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET.
Nos. 256 to 262.

BLACK SILK COSTUMES, from pure and good wearing silks, at 5½ guineas, 7½ guineas, and up to 20 guineas, fashionably trimmed with Satin and Velvet. Copies of the most recent Paris models.
Also good Black Satin Quilted Petticoats for One Guinea.
For photographs of the Costumes and self-measurement form address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

EVENING and DINNER DRESSES. New Styles, well cut, and elegantly trimmed, from one guinea to 10 guineas.
Tartatans in the most fashionable styles, 21s.
Black Brussels Net, 25s., 30s., 35s., and 42s.
Black Silk Tulle (condition keeping), 42s. and 60s.
Grenadine, from 42s. to 4 guineas.
For Sketches of the styles, address as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

FURS at SUMMER PRICES.
REAL RUSSIAN SEAL PALETOTS.
33 inches long .. .. 9½ guineas.
36 inches long .. .. 11½ guineas.
39 inches long .. .. 13 guineas.
New and Perfect Shapes,
and of the most enduring qualities.
FUR-LINED CLOAKS,
Lined Real Russian Squirrel, 45 inches long, 34s., 42s., 55s. 6d., and 3 guineas.
Also a special lot,
Lined with Plain Grey Squirrel, 47 inches long, at 5 guineas.
For Samples—Address ONLY as follows:—
PETER ROBINSON, REGENT-STREET,
Nos. 256 to 262.

NOTICE.—In reference to the above advertisements, it is important that letters should be clearly addressed to
REGENT-STREET, Nos. 256 to 262.

SWAN and EDGAR
are now showing
A SPLENDID ASSORTMENT
AUTUMN NOVELTIES,
Silks, Mantles, Costumes,
and Sealskin Paletots at all prices.
SWAN and EDGAR,
PICCADILLY and REGENT-STREET,
London.

GREAT LIVERPOOL DRAPERY FAILURE.
G. C. LOVERING and CO., 59, BOLD-STREET, LIVERPOOL.
HARVEY, NICHOLS, and CO. (Limited), having purchased, at a discount of 2s½ per cent from the cost price, the whole of the Silk Stock of the above, consisting of every description of BLACK, COLOURED, and FANCY SILKS, will offer the same, together with many important purchases in other departments, at a great reduction in price, commencing on MONDAY, the 4th inst.
Ladies will find this an exceptional opportunity for purchasing, as the goods are all perfectly fresh, having been bought by Messrs. G. C. Lovering and Co. direct from the manufacturers within the last six months.
8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, Lowndes-terrace, Knightsbridge.

TO LADIES.—THE SHREWSBURY WATERPROOF TWEED CLOAKS, SKIRTS, and JACKETS, in every variety of shape and colour, are supplied by the original Makers, E. W. and W. PHILLIPS, 37, High-street, Shrewsbury. Patterns and Prices on application.

MANUFACTURER'S STOCK of LADIES' AUTUMN DRESSES Selling Off at Half the Cost. Consisting of Moss Cachemires in the new dark plain colours. Price 4½d. per yard.—JOHN HOOPER, 52, Oxford-street, W. Patterns free.

CHEAP POCKET HANDKERCHIEFS. All who appreciate the luxury of a real Irish Cambric Handkerchief should write for Sample (post-free), our Ladies', bordered, at 3s. 11d. and 5s. 11d. per dozen, hemmed for use. Ladies' Hem-stitched, at 7s. 11d. and 10s. 6d., exquisitely fine of our Gent's bordered, at 5s. 10d. and 8s. 11d., and Hem-stitched at 12s. per dozen; to prove that a genuine article (all pure flax) will be secured, and a saving effected of at least 50 per cent.
ROBINSON and CLEAVER, Cambric Handkerchief Manufacturers to her Majesty the Queen, Belfast.

PRETTY FLOWERS.—Tastefully arranged Bridal Bouquets from 7s. 6d.; Bridesmaids' Bouquets from 3s. 6d. each. Baskets of Cut Flowers and Plants. Forwarded to any part of London or country.
WILLIAM HOOPER, 86, Oxford-street, London. W.

CHAPMAN'S, NOTTING-HILL, W.
Patterns Free.
BLACK SILKS and SATINS.
Bright, pure Black Glacé Silks .. .. .. 1s. 6d. per yard.
Rich Gros Grains (very special) .. .. .. 2s. 11d. „
Very Handsome Ditto .. .. 3s. 11d. „
Chapman's Yellow-Edged World-Famed Silk .. 4s. 11d. „
(Soft, rich, silky Silk ever issued at 6s. 11d. per yard, and excellent wear.)
Black Satin .. .. 1s. 11d. „
Black Satin .. .. 2s. 6d. „
Black Lyons Ditto .. .. 3s. 6d. „
Black Lyons, all pure Silk .. .. 5s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. „
White Lyons, for Brides' Dresses, 7s. 11d. 9s. 2½d., and 11s. 9d. „
Coloured Satins for Trimmings, &c., 2s, 11d. and 3s. 6d. „
COLOURED GROS GRAINS FOR PROMENADE.
DINNER AND EVENING SILKS.
A Superior Quality—Rich Handsome Corded Gros Grains, 3s. 11d. per yard.
Splendid Failles, made of Pure Italian Silk, 5s. 6d. and 6s. 11d. per yard.
JAPANESE SILKS.
One Uniform Price. One Hundred Colours. 1s. 11½d. per yard.

LINDEN VELVET OZONID.
The perfection of these splendid Velveteens is so apparent, and their superiority to every other kind so undeniable, that numberless imitations are produced in this country under different names; but not one is fit to compare, either in finish, colour, durability, or effect with the patent LINDEN VELVET OZONID. These Velveteens are not distinguishable from the rich silk velvets which they are made to represent. 2s. 6d., 2s. 11d., 3s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 5s. 6d. per yard.—CHAPMAN'S.

CHEVRON DE LAINE.
A fine, diagonally woven fabric, in twenty shades of colouring. This, in reality, is a fancy German coating, very light, and not too warm. This speciality of each perpendicular line being reversely twilled gives a very pretty effect to the cloth. 25 in. wide, 1s. 11½d. per yard.

SERGES.
Varieties in Serges will form another Novelty in Dress Fabrics this season, and, as to colour, every shade and tone in green will be worn, with an intinitesimal dash of bright colour, such as garnet, maize, or blue, introduced, which imparts a warm and cheerful appearance to this otherwise sober-looking material. These are called HEATHER MIXTURES. The OLD ENGLAND SERGES, so called from the peculiar rough unfinished surface, will be much in demand. There are very cheap Serges make up into handsome dresses. There are very cheap Serges Estamenes, 1s. 11½d. per yard, superior quality. Heathers, 1s. 3d.; other qualities, 7d. to 1s. per yard.
CHAPMAN'S, Notting-hill.

FRENCH MERINOS.
Merinos have become so associated with every idea of utility and beauty perfected in a woollen dress material, that it seems almost superfluous to remind our many patrons that these fabrics are, if possible, better than ever. My Stock represents every phase and tone of colour that is now worn. First quality, 2s. 11½d.; second ditto, 1s. 11½d. per yard.

FRENCH TWILLED FLANNELS.
Twilled flannel is now a recognised material for dresses, and very pretty and useful they are. Patterns sent free. Double milled goods are recommended as being extra warm, particularly for children. The novel tones of colour that are fashionable this season have all been produced in these beautiful goods. All are perfectly fast colours. 30 in. wide, 1s. 6d. and 1s. 11½d. per yard.—CHAPMAN'S, NOTTING-HILL, W.

WINTER SKIRTINGS.
These useful and indispensable fabrics are now in great request. All the new designs are prepared for distribution. Those in the best style will be found strikingly pretty and effective. The lines or stripes are raised in fine silken knots, in various shades of a light colour on a dark ground. Thus—a myrtle green will have a stripe of very pale green, with a knotted line of carmine red and sage on either side, or the same colourings will be mixed on a navy blue or seal-brown ground. Then there are endless varieties in pretty useful mixtures, suitable for all requirements, and at all prices. Another novelty in skirtings for this season are Tartan Mixtures arranged longitudinally. These are most stylish, and the plain and rough-threaded Skirtings well merit distinction. An excellent and varied assortment that no one can fail to make a selection from. 1s. to 6s. per yard.
Complete Sets of Patterns forwarded to all Parts of the Globe same day as Receipt of Order.
CHAPMAN'S, NOTTING-HILL, W.

THE LOUIS VELVETEEN.
IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.
YOU MUST SEE THE VELVETEENS ARE STAMPED AT THE BACK IN PLAIN LETTERS "THE LOUIS VELVETEEN," WITH TRADE-MARK AND MOTTO EVERY SEVENTH YARD, OR YOU ARE NOT BUYING THE GENUINE ARTICLE, NOTWITHSTANDING ALL ASSERTIONS TO THE CONTRARY.

The "Morning Post" of Aug. 15, 1878, says:—"Probably in no city in the world is all that pertains to dress and personal adornment submitted to a keener criticism than in Paris, which has long enjoyed the reputation of being the centre of fashion. One of the best examples of artistic taste and skill in English manufacture satisfactorily passing such an ordeal is afforded by the favour with which the introduction of
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN
has been received in that city. This BEAUTIFUL FABRIC, which, in texture, appearance, and durability, bears the closest possible resemblance to the best Lyons Silk Velvet, has completely won the suffrages of the most fastidious PARISIAN ladies, and deservedly so too. The Louis Velveteen, which is now universally sold, possesses several advantages over other Velveteens, amongst which may be especially mentioned that it neither changes colour, fades, coalines, nor speaks with rain, and all considerations of great importance. It is, moreover, dyed by a new process in the
FASHIONABLE PERMANENT ORIENTAL BLUE-BLACK,
and made in various qualities and thicknesses suitable for either Millinery, Dressmaking, or Trimming purposes. With so many good points to recommend it, it is not surprising that the LOUIS VELVETEEN should have been largely imitated, a fact which has rendered it necessary to stamp it on the reverse side with a Trade-Mark representing a Griffin's Head, and the motto, "Nos aspera juvant."
"The Queen" says:—"The Louis Velveteen is capital."
The "Silkworm," writing of the Louis Velveteens in "Myra's Journal," says:—"The advantages claimed for this Velveteen are not a few. First, the colour, which is a fine Blue-Black. The appearance is certainly very handsome, and not easily distinguished from velvet; it is thinner, and finer in texture, and consequently less heavy than an ordinary velveteen, and is said to take the needle more readily than any other make."
"Sylvia" writes in her Journal for October—"The LOUIS VELVETEEN is an improvement upon ordinary velveteen that is sure to be thoroughly appreciated, not only during the coming winter, but for many seasons. The usual make of this fabric material can very easily be distinguished from silk velvet; but the Louis Velveteens, though no more expensive, resemble the Lyons velvet very closely indeed, so short and compact is the pile, and so perfect the tint of the blue-black. This excellent dye is produced by a special process which prevents the velveteen losing its colour and turning brown or white."
"La Follet" says:—"Velveteen of good quality will be most fashionably worn."
The "Family Herald" of Oct. 5 says, in reference to the Louis Velveteens:—"That dyed in this country, they certainly prove that it is possible at an exceedingly small cost, compared with the expensive Genoese velvets, to obtain a good and lasting equal to that of a silk velvet, and that, moreover, these velveteens neither change colour nor spot with rain."
THE LOUIS GENOA FAST PILE VELVETEEN, AT 5s. TO 7s. PER YARD, CANNOT BE DISTINGUISHED FROM VELVETS AT 21s. TO 30s. PER YARD.
THE LOUIS VELVETEEN IS NOT DEARER THAN INFERIOR DYES AND MAKES.
IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.
YOU MUST SEE THE VELVETEENS ARE STAMPED AT THE BACK IN PLAIN LETTERS "THE LOUIS VELVETEEN," WITH TRADE MARK AND MOTTO EVERY SEVENTH YARD, OR YOU ARE NOT BUYING THE GENUINE ARTICLE, NOTWITHSTANDING ALL ASSERTIONS TO THE CONTRARY.
Agents for Wholesale only:—J. H. FULLER, 92, Watling-street, London; WM. FIFE, 52, Glassford-street, Glasgow; JOHN FREEMAN, 20, Wicklow-street, Dublin.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE COMPLEXION,
Making the skin clear, smooth, pure, and lustrous.
WRIGHT'S COAL-TAR SOAP
(SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS).
Highly and extensively recommended for the toilet and in all cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. Startin, M.R.C.S., Surgeon to St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, the late Mr. James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Savile-row, Mr. McCall Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodside-crescent, Glasgow, and the other leading members of the profession. In Tablets, 6d. and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of all Chemists.
W. V. WRIGHT and CO., London.

PALOMINO. A Pure Spanish SHERRY of dry character, produced from the finest grape in the Xeres district. Recommended as with complete confidence. 30s. per dozen, railway carriage paid. Sole Importers, HENRY BRETT and CO., 26 and 27, High Holborn, W.C. Established 1829.

ORANGE CHAMPAGNE is a light, pleasant drink, made simply from Oranges. It is effervescent, but entirely free from spirit, and perfectly wholesome. Price 7s. per Dozen, Quarts; 4s., Pints. Bottles 2s. and Cases 1s. per Dozen until returned. Made only by CHAS. CODD and CO., 79, Copenhagen-street, London, N.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY.
THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES.
Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

WILLS' "HONEY" In consequence of the disturbed state of the Retail Tobacco Trade, through the recent advance in the duty, W. D. and H. O. WILLS have introduced "Honey Cut," a Shag Tobacco, in Ounce Packets, at Fourpence, and Half-Ounce Packets, at Twopence, which they recommend as "CUT." the best possible value at the price.
May be had of all the principal Tobacconists.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
A SLIGHT ADDITION OF THE EXTRACT GIVES GREAT STRENGTH AND FLAVOUR TO SOUPS, MADE GRAVIES, AND SAUCES, AND EFFECTS GREAT ECONOMY.
LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
Caution.—Genuine only with facsimile of Baron Liebig's signature in blue ink across label.
LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.
In use in most households throughout the Kingdom.
LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF MEAT.

SCHWEITZER'S COCOATINA.
Anti-Dyspeptic Cocoa or Chocolate Powder.
Guaranteed Pure Soluble Cocoa, with excess of Fat extracted. Four times the strength of Cocoa Thickened yet Weakened with Arrowroot, Starch, &c.
The faculty pronounce it the most nutritious, perfectly digestive Beverage for "BREAKFAST, LUNCHEON, or SUPPER." Keeps in all Climates. Requires no Cooking. A teaspoonful to Breakfast Cup, costing less than a halfpenny. Samples gratis. In Air-Tight Tins, 6d. 1s. 6d., 3s., &c., by Chemists and Grocers.
H. SCHWEITZER and CO., 10, Adam-street, London, W.C.

THE ESSEX FLOUR and GRAIN COMPANY, Liverpool-road, London, N., supply the BEST GOODS ONLY. Whites, for Pastry, 3s. 6d. per bushel; Households, for Bread, 3s. Wheat Meal, for Brown Bread, 7s. 6d. Coarse Scotch Oatmeal, 3s. 2d. per stone; fine, 3s. 6d. American Hominy, 4s. Barley Maize, Buckwheat, and Barley Meal, 4s. per bushel, or 10s. per sack. Oats, 4s. per bushel; 10s. 6d. per sack. Beans, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Pick Beans, 7s. 6d.; Middlings, 2s. 6d.; Peas, 7s. 6d. per bushel; Meat Biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, Ground Foliard, 1s. 6d. Meat Biscuits, 20s. per cwt. Split Peas, 3s. per peck. Lentil Flour, for Invalids, in Tins, 1 lb. size, 1s.; 7 lb., 5s. All other kinds of Grain and Seed. Special prices for larger quantities. P.O. Orders and Cheques payable to G. Young.

SAVORY and MOORE, 143, New Bond-street, prepare
THE BEST FOOD for INFANTS.
A thoroughly cooked food, always ready, effects An important saving of time and trouble To Mothers and Nurses. by its use.
THE BEST FOOD for INFANTS.
Contains all the elements Necessary for the Growth, Health, and Vigour of the Child.
SAVORY and MOORE, 143, NEW BOND-STREET, LONDON; and Sold by Chemists, &c., everywhere.

DR. RIDGE'S FOOD { Gives Health, Strength Comfort, and Quiet Nights to Mothers, Nurses, Infants, and Invalids. Sold by all Chemists and Grocers.

ABUSE OF SPIRITS.—DISEASES of the STOMACH treated by his original method of thirty-one years' experience.
HEYMANN, M.D. BERLIN, S.W.
Fees, including remedies, One Guinea.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FALLING SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been discovered for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is desirous that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery. If that all sufferers may benefit from this providential discovery. If is never known to fail, and will cure the most hopeless case after all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be sent by post to any person free of charge.—Address:—Mr. WILLIAMS, 10, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Blood from all impurities, from whatever cause arising. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvellous. In Bottles, 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times the quantity, 11s. each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 30 or 132 stamps, of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Lincoln.

DR. LOCOCK'S PULMONIC WAFERS give instant relief and rapidly cure Asthma, Consumption, Coughs, Bronchitis, and all Disorders of the Breath and Lungs. Price 1s. 1½d.

COLDS CURED BY
DR. DUNBAR'S ALKARAM, or Anti-Catarrh Smelling-Bottle.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
ALKARAM. COLDS.
If inhaled on the first symptoms, ALKARAM will at once arrest them, and cure several cases in half an hour. Sold by all Chemists. 2s. 9d. a bottle. Address, Dr. Dunbar, care of Messrs. F. Newbery and Sons, 37, Newgate-street.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS and OINTMENT. The Pills purify the blood, correct all disorders of the liver, stomach, kidneys, and bowels. The Ointment is unrivalled in the cure of bad legs, old wounds, gout, and rheumatism.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM, NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF EXHAUSTED VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of the vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermacher's Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumatic, Nervous, and Functional Disorders.
Three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMENT, 194, Regent-street, London, W.; and 29, Rue St. Marc, Paris

ROUND SHOULDERS and STOOPING HABITS Cured by Dr. CHANDLER'S CHEST-EXPANDING BRACE for both sexes. It assists growth, and produces a handsome figure. 10s. 6d. each.—66, Berners-st. Illustrations sent

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are the most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. F. Pratt, Surgical Mechanician to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

LONDON: Printed and Published at the Office, 198, Strand, in the Parish of St. Clement Danes, in the County of Middlesex, by GEORGE C. LEIGHTON, 198, Strand, aforesaid.—SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1878.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

REGISTERED AT THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE FOR TRANSMISSION ABROAD.

No. 2054.—VOL. LXXIII. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1878. WITH TWO SUPPLEMENTS | SIXPENCE. By Post, 6½D.

CAMP OF THE BRITISH MISSION TO CABUL, AT JUMROOD, NEAR THE KHYBER PASS.
FROM A SKETCH BY MAJOR CAVAGNARI, DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, AND MAJOR C. W. WILSON.

BIRTHS.

On the 1st inst., at The Leases, Bedale, the Hon. Mrs. H. Coore, of a daughter.

On the 1st inst., at Oxton, Birkenhead, the wife of George Brownell, of a daughter.

On the 4th inst., nt Leamington, Warwickshire, the wife of Surgeon-Major G. A. Hutton, late Rifle Brigade, of a son.

On the 8th ult., at Madras, South India, the wife of H. S. Groves, Esq., Assistant Accountant-General, of a son.

On the 4th ult., at Devonshire House, Bermuda, the wife of Edward Dickinson, Esq., R.E., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

On the 23rd ult., at the Anglican Cathedral, Quebec, by the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Quebec, assisted by the Rev. G. V. Housman, M.A., Rector of Quebec, and the Rev. C. Rawson, M.A., William M. Macpherson, Esq., eldest son of the Hon. D. L. Macpherson, Senator of the Dominion, to Maria Stuart, eldest daughter of the late D. Tolkien Wotherspoon, Esq.

On the 5th inst., at Holy Trinity Church, Kensington, W. H. Bailey, of Bighton, eldest son of W. C. Bailey, Esq., of Hall Place, Ropley, Hants, to Jessie Eliza, only daughter of the late E. Hetherington, Esq., M.R.C.S.

On the 4th inst., at St. John's Church, Bury St. Edmunds, Charles, third son of G. J. Oliver, of Bury St. Edmunds, to Mary Edith, widow of the Rev. W. Remington Backhouse, B.A., Chaplain to her Majesty's Forces, Aldershot.

DEATHS.

On the 3rd inst., at 1, Hyde Park-street, Marcia Emma Georgiana, the beloved wife of the Marquis of Cholmondeley, aged 74.

On the 31st ult., at Ruby (France), Ernest Henri Funck, in his twenty-ninth year. Deeply regretted by all who knew him.

On the 4th inst., at 13, Claremont-place, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Joseph Embleton Samson, Esq., late H.B.M.'s Vice Consul, Stockholm, in the 80th year of his age.

On the 1st inst. (All Saints' Day), at 16, Patshull-road, N.W., Alice, the dearly loved child of P. W. Hastings, Esq., aged 27.

 The charge for the insertion of Births, Marriages, or Deaths is Five Shillings for each announcement.*

CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 16.

SUNDAY, Nov. 10.

Twenty-first Sunday after Trinity.
Morning Lessons: Dan. iii.; Heb. iii. 7 to iv. 14. Evening Lessons: Dan. iv. or v.; Jonn i., 29.
Full moon, 2 34 a.m.
St. Paul's Cathedral, 10.30 a.m., Rev. Prebendary Gibbs; 3.15 p.m., Rev. Canon Gregory; 7 p.m., Rev. C. Daymond, Principal of the Training College, Peterborough.
Savoy, 11.30 a.m., Rev. Charles Drummond, Principal of St. Peter's College, Peterborough; 3 p.m., Rev. Frederick J. Ponsonby, Vicar of St. Mary Magdalene's, Munster-square.
Westminster Abbey, 10.30 a.m. and 3 p.m.
St. James's, 10 a.m. and noon, Rev. W. Harrison.
Whitehall, 11 a.m., Rev. Erskine W. Knollys, Vicar of Addington (on behalf of the Westminster Refuge); 3 p.m., Rev. Canon W. F. Erskine Knollys.
Temple Church, 11 a.m., probably Rev. Dr Vaughan, the Master; 3 p.m., Rev. A. Ainger.
Christian Evidence Society, St. Clement Danes, 7 p.m., Rev. Brownlow Maitland, M.A.—"Can we believe in a Fatherly God?"

MONDAY, Nov. 11.

St. Martin, Bishop of Tours and Confessor.
Half-Quarter Day.
Medical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Geographical Society, 8.30 p.m. (opening address by Sir Rutherford Alcock; Mr. L. M. D'Albertis on his Journey up the Fly River, and in other parts of New Guinea).
Popular Concert, St. James's Hall, 8.
Institution of Surveyors, 8 p.m. (address by Mr. W. Sturge, the president).
Royal Academy, 8 p.m. (Professor Barff on the Chemistry of Pigments).
South Kensington Museum, Lectures to Working Men, 8 p.m. (Professor Frankland on Elementary Chemistry, beginning of course).
Races: Derby Autumn Meeting.

TUESDAY, Nov. 12.

Institution of Civil Engineers, 8 p.m. (Mr. J. B. Mackenzie on Avonmouth Dock; Mr. T. R. Salmond on the River Lagan and Harbour of Belfast; and Mr. J. C. Williams on Whitehaven Harbour and Dock Works).
Gresham Lectures, four days), 6 p.m. (Very Rev. J. W. Burgon on Divinity—Acts xx. 18., &c.).
Photographic Society, 8 p.m. (presentation of medals to successful competitors).
West London Scientific Association, 8 p.m.
Medical and Chirurgical Society, 8.30 p.m.
Faraday Lecture, Royal Institution, 8.30 p.m. (Professor Ad. Wurtz (in French) on the Constitution of Matter in the Gaseous State).
Anthropological Institute, 8 p.m.
Victoria Hall, Bethnal-green, 7 p.m. (Professor Fawcett, M.P., on the Afghan Question).
Shrewsbury Races.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 13.

Literary Fund, 3 p.m.
King's College, 6 p.m. (Mr. G. C. Warr on Ancient History—Greece).
Society of Telegraph Engineers, 8.
Gaelic Society, 8 p.m. (Mr. John R. MacDonald on Proper Names).
Chemical Society, Dinner to Professor A. Wurtz, Willis's Rooms.
Microscopical Society, 8 p.m.
Hunterian Society, London Institution, 8 p.m.
Birkbeck Institution, 8 p.m. (Recitals by Mr. S Braudram).
Ballad Concert, St. James's Hall, 8.
Colston Anniversary Dinners, Bristol.
Amateur Mechanical Society, 8 p.m.

THURSDAY, Nov. 14.

Corporation of the Sons of the Clergy, annual court, 11.30 a.m., (election of governors, &c.).
British Home for Incurables, Clapham, elections, City Terminus Hotel, noon.
College of Preceptors, 7 p.m. (Mr. J. G. Fitch on Practical Teaching—Language).
Meteorological Society (at Civil Engineers' Institution), Lecture, 8 p.m. (Mr Rd. Strachan on the Barometer and its Uses; Wind and Storms).
Mathematical Society, 8 p.m., annual general meeting (Lord Rayleigh on the Instability of Jets; Professor M. W. Crotton on Self-Strained Frames of Six Joints).
Historical Society, 8 p.m. (inaugural address by Lord Aberdare, the president-elect).
London Academy of Music, St. George's Hall, students' concert, afternoon.
Royal Academy, 8 p.m. (Professor Barff on the Chemistry of Oils, Varnishes, &c.).

FRIDAY, Nov. 15.

Accession of Christian IX., King of Denmark, 1863.
Society for Propagation of the Gospel, 2 p.m.
City of London College, 6 p.m. (Dr. Heinemann on Political Economy).
Philological Society, 8 p.m. (Messrs. E. L. Brandreth and R. N. Cust's Report on the Congress of Orientalists at Florence; Mr. H. Sweet on the Classification of Word-Meanings, Part 1).

SATURDAY, Nov. 16.

National Volunteer Association established, 1859.
St. James's Hall, Popular Concert, 3 p.m.; evening concert, 8 p.m.

THE WEATHER

RESULTS OF METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AT THE KEW OBSERVATORY OF THE ROYAL SOCIETY.

Lat. 51 28′6 N.; Long. 0′10′47″ W.; Height above Sea, 34 feet.

DAY.	DAILY MEANS OF Barometer Corrected	Temperature of the Air.	Dew Point.	Relative Humidity.	Amount of Cloud.	THERMOM. Maximum, read at 10 p.m.	Minimum, read at 10 p.m.	WIND. General Direction.	Movement in 24 hours, 10 a.m. to 10 a.m. next morning.	Rain in 24 hours, 10 a.m. to 10 a.m. next morning.
	Inches.	°	°	°	0-10	°	°		Miles.	In.
Oct. 30	29·633	39·2	36·1	89	6	44·3	34·8	WSW. W.	208	0·220
31	29·859	38·2	36·9	95	9	44·3	31·5	NW. WNW.	84	0·035
Nov. 1	29·918	43·2	38·1	83	5	47·6	39·2	WNW. N.	173	0·000
2	30·116	39·8	36·0	88	5	47·1	34·0	NNW. N.	187	0·005
3	30·115	39·5	36·0	88	—	45·5	32·0	N. NW.	120	0·000
4	29·698	38·4	34·8	88	8	43·0	32·3	NW. W.	155	0·000
5	29·753	40·8	33·2	77	7	44·5	37·7	N. NW.	320	0·000

The following are the readings of the meteorological instruments for the above days, in order, at ten o'clock a.m.:—

Barometer (in inches) corrected	29·673	29·863	29·925	30·114	30·177	29·767	29·801
Temperature of Air	40·1°	36·3°	42·2	38·3°	34·2°	32·9°	40·7°
Temperature of Evaporation	39·8	36·1°	40·5°	36·4°	37·5°	33·5°	38·6°
Direction of Wind	WSW.	NW.	NNE.	NW.	WNW.	W.	N.

TIMES OF HIGH WATER AT LONDON BRIDGE FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOVEMBER 16.

Sunday.		Monday.		Tuesday.		Wednesday.		Thursday.		Friday.		Saturday.
M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A	M	A
h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m	h m
1 43	2 5	2 23	2 35	2 52	3 8	3 25	3 43	4 0	4 19	4 38	4 58	5 20	5 46

NOW PUBLISHING,

PRICE ONE SHILLING (INLAND POSTAGE, 2½d.),

THE

ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK

FOR

1879.

CONTAINING

TWELVE COLOURED PICTURES,

PRINTED BY LEIGHTON BROTHERS' CHROMATIC PROCESS,

FROM ORIGINALS BY EMINENT ARTISTS

TWELVE SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING THE SEASONS,

AS HEADINGS TO THE CALENDAR;

TWELVE FINE-ART ENGRAVINGS;

ASTRONOMICAL DIAGRAMS OF REMARKABLE PHENOMENA

WITH EXPLANATORY NOTES;

The Royal Family of Great Britain; the Queen's Household; her Majesty's Ministers; Lists of Public Offices and Officers; Bankers, Law and University Terms; Fixed and Movable Festivals; Anniversaries; Acts of Parliament passed during the Session of 1878; Revenue and Expenditure; Obituary of Eminent Persons; Christian, Jewish, and Mahomedan Calendars; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Government Duties; Times of High Water; Post-Office Regulations; together with a large amount of useful and valuable information, which has during the past thirty-three years made the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK the most acceptable and elegant companion to the library; whilst it is universally acknowledged to be by far the cheapest Almanack ever published.

The unprecedented demand for the ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK year after year stimulates the Proprietor to still greater exertions to secure for this Almanack a reception as favourable as that which has hitherto placed its circulation second only to that of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

The ILLUSTRATED ALMANACK is inclosed in an elegant cover, printed in colours by the same process as the COLOURED PLATES, and forms a useful and pleasing ornament to the drawing-room table.

The SHILLING ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK is published at the Office of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, 198, Strand, and sold by all Booksellers and Newsvenders.

DORÉ'S GREAT WORK, "THE BRAZEN SERPENT," "CHRIST LEAVING THE PRAETORIUM," and "CHRIST ENTERING THE TEMPLE," each 31ft. by 22ft., with "Dream of Pilate's Wife," "Soldiers of the Cross," &c., at the DORÉ GALLERY, 35, New Bond-street, W. Daily, 10 to 6. 1s.

THE ANNUAL WINTER EXHIBITION of HIGH-CLASS PICTURES at ARTHUR TOOTH'S GALLERY, 5, HAYMARKET (opposite Her Majesty's Theatre), is NOW OPEN. Admission, One Shilling, including Catalogue.

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF WATER-COLOUR DRAWINGS, by Artists of the British and Foreign Schools, is NOW OPEN at THOMAS McLEAN'S GALLERY, 7, Haymarket. Admission (including Catalogue), 1s.

CRYSTAL PALACE PICTURE-GALLERY.—Open all the year round for the SALE of BRITISH and FOREIGN PICTURES. Important New Works have just been added. The Sales last year amounted to £7000. For particulars apply to Mr. C. W. WASS, Superintendent of the Gallery.

MR. and Mrs. GERMAN REED'S ENTERTAINMENT. A TREMENDOUS MYSTERY, by F. C. Burnand; and MRS. BROWN'S HOME AND FOREIGN POLICY, by Mr. Arthur Sketchley. EVERY EVENING, except Thursday and Saturday, at Eight; Thursday and Saturday at Three. Admission, 1s., 2s.; Stalls, 3s. and 5s.—ST. GEORGE'S HALL, Langham-place.

FOURTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR IN ONE UNBROKEN SEASON.

ST. JAMES'S HALL, PICCADILLY.

THE

MOORE and BURGESS MINSTRELS.

All the year round.

Every Night at Eight, and on every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at Three and Eight also.

THIS COMPANY NOW BEARS THE PROUD DISTINCTION OF BEING THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED AND MOST SUCCESSFUL UPON THE EARTH.

It is also the source whence all imitators obtain the salient features of the charming and popular Entertainment now universally associated with the names of Moore and Burgess.

THE NEW AND EXCELLENT PROGRAMME performed for the first time last week will be repeated until notification of another change is given.

Fauteuils, 3s.; Sofa Stalls, 2s.; Area, 1s.; Gallery, 1s. No fees. Places can be secured at Austin's Office, St. James's Hall, daily, from Nine a.m., without extra charge.

MASKELYNE and COOKE, EGYPTIAN HALL, EVERY EVENING at Eight; TUESDAY, THURSDAY, and SATURDAY AFTERNOONS at Three. A Programme of Inexplicable Illusions and Mechanical Wonders. Hindu by Mechanism is Mr. Maskelyne's latest and greatest achievement. The performances of Fanfare, the Cornet-Player, and Labial on the Euphonium, are just now the attraction and talk of the entire kingdom, the Press having spoken in terms of unqualified praise. Private Boxes, from 2½s. to 2½ guineas; Stalls, 5s. and 3s.; Admission, 2s. and 1s.—W. MORTON, Manager.

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY-LANE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, F. B. Chatterton.—SATURDAY, NOV. 9, Tuesday, Nov. 12, and Thursday, Nov. 14, at Eight, Shakespeare's Tragedy OTHELLO, with the following powerful cast:—Othello, Mr. Charles Dillon; Iago, Mr. John Ryder; Desdemona, Miss Wallis; and Emilia, Mrs. Hermann Vezin. MONDAY, NOV. 11, Wednesday, Nov. 13, and Friday, Nov. 15, Last Three Nights of A WINTER'S TALE. Preceded Every Evening by THE UNFINISHED GENTLEMAN. Conclude with a Comic Ballet, HELPHEGOR, THE MOUNTEBANK; Mr. Charles Dillon as Helphegor, for a few Nights only. SATURDAY, NOV. 16, at 8.30, Madeline, Miss Wallis. THE JEALOUS WIFE, at 7.30. SATURDAY, NOV. 16—Mrs. Oakley, Mrs. Hermann Vezin. Box-Office open Ten till Five daily. Stage Manager, Mr. Edward Stirling. Treasurer, Mr. James Grover.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—THE TWO ORPHANS. EVERY EVENING at 7.30. A New Play, entitled A REPUBLICAN MARRIAGE, will be produced on SATURDAY MORNING NEXT, NOV. 9, at Two o'Clock.

HAMILTON'S ROYAL AMPHITHEATRE, Holborn, Proprietor, Mr. Harry H. Hamilton.—The Season will commence on SATURDAY, NOV. 16, with HAMILTON'S EXCURSIONS ACROSS THE ATLANTIC AND THROUGH THE UNITED STATES; and a GRAND PANSTEREORAMA OF PASSING EVENTS, including Magnificent Views of Cyprus. Superb and Costly Scenery by the celebrated London Artists, Messrs. W. Telbin, J. Absolon, J. O'Connor, D. White, F. Fenton, Hayes and Carey, Hall, T. Ballard, E. Atkins, J. Gray, T. Rogers, Hann, and A. Hamilton. Startling Mechanical Changes and Effects. Music, Vocal and Instrumental, by a selected and talented Company of Artistes. N.B.—The interior has been re-embellished and a new stage constructed.

THE GRAND ANNUAL FANCY-DRESS POLO and UNITED COUNTIES' HUNT BALL will take place on WEDNESDAY, NOV. 27, in the ROYAL PAVILION, BRIGHTON. Tickets will be issued only on the production of a voucher. For full particulars and programme, address the Secretary, 173, Piccadilly, London, W. Books containing a full list of Members of the International Gun and Polo Club, from whom vouchers may be obtained, sent on receipt of 12 stamps. The INTERNATIONAL PROMENADE CONCERT will be held in THE DOME on the Following Day.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

LONDON: SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1878.

The recent Elections of Delegates to represent the Communes in France in the choice of Senators to fill the seats which will become vacant through the retirement of nearly a third of that Legislative Body, have settled, for the time being at least, the definitive adoption by the French people of the Republican form of Government. Legitimism, Orleanism, and Bonapartism have lost whatever chances they may have had of imposing upon the country the ideas they respectively cherish. Even Marshal MacMahon has publicly announced his acceptance of the last verdict returned by the popular vote on this head. There cannot now remain a doubt as to the harmonious working of what may be described as the three "Estates" of France—the President, the Senate, and the Chamber of Deputies. The Battle of the Constitution has been fought, and victory remains with the Republicans. The moderation and self-restraint which, under the guidance of M. Gambetta, they have exhibited in their contest with reactionary authorities and influences have given to them a hold upon the French mind, which nothing but their own imprudence can now avail to shake. They are "masters of the situation." They have won their position by political virtues not heretofore common amongst French men. Will they retain the advantages they have conquered for themselves? Will the prostration of their opponents harmfully affect their own character? Will they continue to be as cautious in reaping the fruits of their triumph as they were patient, courageous, and forbearing in encountering and overmastering the vexatious obstacles thrown in their way to it? or will they, in the full possession of dominant political power, lose sense of their responsibility and become imprudent, if not reckless, in the use of their supremacy? These are questions which only the future can answer. We should scarcely dare to venture a dogmatic reply, even if the case were that of England instead of France. But of this we feel quite convinced, that the "era of Revolutions" will not be closed unless the Republican majority continue to work on the same lines, now that they have attained the summit of their aspirations, as those they pursued during the painful process of their ascent. The destiny of France, for the most part, is in their hands. It will be their fault, as well as misfortune, if it be not so shaped as to ensure national tranquillity and prosperity.

In one great enterprise the Republic has admirably succeeded. The Paris Exhibition, to be brought to a close within a few days, has proved quite as signal a triumph as any of those which have preceded it—more so, perhaps, than those held under the auspices of the Empire. The beauty, the variety, and the artistic completeness of the show—if we may use a hackneyed form of speech—"left nothing to be desired." It was not only a model in these respects deserving of imitation hereafter, but, what was of still more importance to Paris, it was immediately attractive. It brought together into that City of Pleasure an immense throng of foreigners from all parts. It drew visitors of the highes distinction. It raised the tone of respectful regard which the French have been wont to expect from other nations, but which the late war with Germany, and the confusion which followed upon it, had done much to impair. Of course there are not wanting many who take exception to certain details of management. In such affairs, universal contentment can hardly be looked for. All sorts of interests necessarily come into conflict; and to exhibitors, at least, disappointed hopes are common enough. But, "take it for all in all," the Paris Exhibition has done immense credit to France, while it has largely profited the trades of Paris. It is "a feather in the cap" of the Republic. It has gratified the amour propre of the nation. Its influence has been to mitigate in some degree the fierceness of political feuds and factions. It came in the "nick of time" to confer as large a benefit upon France as is capable of being conferred by such an enterprise.

It is a pity that there should be any reverse picture. Such, however, is, unhappily, the fact. A great mistake has been made, which it seems not altogether unlikely that the French people are destined to rue. How it came about one may easily explain; but what proportions of mischief it may assume it is impossible to foresee. We speak, of course, of the National Lottery, which is now exciting throughout France a spirit of gambling, not to say greed, which can hardly be enough deplored. The object in which it originated was to send to the Exhibition before its close, from all parts of the country, a selection from the vast number of those who were too poor to go thither by their own means, but whose intelligence, industry, and patriotism gave them some claim to a share of the enjoyments of the capital. The difficulty was the expense. The State was not likely to find the money—voluntary contributions, it was thought, would not furnish an adequate sum. In an evil hour it was suggested that recourse should be had to a lottery, the prizes of which should be sufficiently alluring to command a wide sale of tickets, and the proceeds of which, besides securing the special end originally proposed, might be partly devoted to purchasing, as prizes, articles of some worth contained in the Exhibition. A million tickets were to be sold at a franc each. These were so rapidly disposed of that the number was increased to two millions. Subsequently, it has been raised to ten millions, and, ultimately, to twelve millions. The sudden and gigantic development of this subsidiary enterprise has astonished, and even alarmed, its managers. How are they to draw 230,000 prizes out of twelve million tickets in the course of any reasonable time. An ordinary wheel would not do it in weeks, months, or even years. Possibly some means may be found of multiplying the speed of the allotments to be made, without changing the conditions or chances of individual success. But the mechanical difficulty will, perhaps, be surmounted. The incongruous distribution of prizes which may, peradventure, give a steam-engine to a poor peasant, or a cannon or a plough to a shopkeeper, will provide a fund of amusement for the French public for many a month to come. The great objection to the scheme is that it has waked up over the whole country a spirit of speculation but too well calculated to deteriorate the frugality and plodding industry of artisans and peasants. It may not, indeed, be intended to repeat the experiment, and the Republican Government may, perhaps, be wise enough to abstain from raising money by any similar device. But the torrent of eager expectation which has burst its way through the present opening may prove to be too powerful for legislative resistance. The thing, of course, will carry with it its own cure. But, meanwhile, all the ordinary social interests of the people will suffer more or less from disarrangement and perversion. It will be well, indeed, if the cankerous and contagious evil do not eventually undermine political virtue. However, not to take an alarmist view of the consequences that may result from this adventure, we are bound to express the utmost regret both at the sanction given by it to this mode of raising funds and at the eager and clamorous spirit which it has evoked. It has cast a shadow over the character and results of the Paris Exhibition.

THE COURT.

The Queen and Princess Beatrice attended Divine service at Crathie church on Sunday. The holy communion was celebrated, and the Rev. A. Campbell officiated. Sir John and Lady Clark have dined with her Majesty. The Queen and Princess Beatrice left Balmoral on Tuesday for a short stay at the Glassalt Shiel.

The memorial which the Queen intends to erect to the memory of the late Sir Thomas Biddulph, at Balmoral, is a granite Celtic cross, somewhat similar to that placed in the Frogmore Gardens in remembrance of Lady Augusta Stanley.

Lady Churchill has succeeded the Countess of Erroll as Lady in Waiting to her Majesty. Colonel the Hon. Henry Byng has left and Lord Sackville has arrived at the castle.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

The Prince and Princess of Wales left Paris on Sunday upon their return to London, and arrived at Marlborough House at half-past six on Monday morning. Prince Leopold lunched with their Royal Highnesses, and in the evening the Prince and Princess, accompanied by the Duke of Connaught and Prince Leopold, went to Her Majesty's Theatre. On Tuesday the Prince went to Windsor, and, accompanied by Prince Christian, passed the day shooting in the Great Park, and in the evening accompanied the Duke of Cambridge to Her Majesty's Theatre. On Wednesday his Royal Highness presided at a meeting of the council of the Royal Agricultural Society of England at 12, Hanover-square. The Duke of Connaught and Prince Leopold visited the Prince and Princess at Marlborough House, and remained to luncheon.

The Prince attains his thirty-seventh year to-day.

His Royal Highness will be the guest of Mrs. Gerard Leigh, at Luton Hoo, from Dec. 2 to 6. There will be three days' shooting, a county ball on the 5th, and a visit to Luton, with the inspection of two of its chief manufactories, on the 6th.

Princess Christian has consented to be patroness of a bazaar, to be held in the spring, on behalf of the Crèche, in Stepney.

The Duke of Connaught and Prince Leopold will accompany the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise to Liverpool on the 14th inst. The Duke and Prince Leopold have visited the Adelphi, the Gaiety, and the Globe Theatres.

The Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, attended by Baron Both and Captain G. Winsloe, has left St. James's Palace for Neu-Strelitz.

The Duke and Duchess of Northumberland arrived in Grosvenor-place on Tuesday evening from Alnwick Castle.

The Duke of Richmond and Gordon has left town for Gordon Castle.

The Marchioness of Bath has arrived at Longleat from Paris.

The Prime Minister returned to town on Tuesday from visiting the Marquis and Marchioness of Salisbury.

The Earl of Dufferin left on Saturday last for Paris.

The King of Italy sent valuable presents to the members of the special mission who went to Rome by order of the Queen for the investiture of his Majesty as Knight of the Order of the Garter. The presents were:—To the Duke of Abercorn, a lifesize portrait of the King, in the full dress of the Order of the Garter, expressly painted for the Duke; to Sir Albert Woods, a miniature adorned with brilliants, and standing on an eagle of chiselled silver, representing his Majesty in full dress of the order; to Viscount Newport, a paper-knife, with handle in lapis-lazuli; to Lord Frederick Hamilton, a sugar-basin with stand in iron, inlaid with gold and silver; to Lord Claud John Hamilton, a silver plate and sugar-basin; to General Sir Frederick Chapman, a silver inkstand; to Sir Reginald Macdonald, an Etruscan metal cup, with inlaid figures in silver and gold; to Mr. Victor Buckley, a silver casket, with figures in relief. To the other members of the mission the following souvenirs were previously forwarded:—To the Earl of Mount-Edgcumbe, a Roman paper-knife, with a jasper handle; to Mr. J. R. Planché and to Mr. George E. Cokayne, gold snuffboxes surrounded with brilliants.

The celebration of the coming of age of the youngest son of the Right Hon. Milner Gibson (who is also heir to the Cullum estate) took place at Hardwicke Hall, near Bury St Edmunds, on Tuesday last. The day was one of general rejoicing in the neighbourhood, and the decorations and illuminations carried out by Messrs. Defries) were of an effective character.

FASHIONABLE MARRIAGES.

The marriage between Viscount Anson, eldest son of the Earl of Lichfield, and the Lady Mildred Coke, youngest daughter of the Earl of Leicester, was celebrated on Tuesday at Holkham church, Norfolk. Viscount Anson was accompanied by his best man, Viscount Lewisham. The bridesmaids were Lady Mary Coke, her sister; the Ladies Florence, Maud, and Edith Anson, sisters of the bridegroom; Lady Georgiana Legge, and Miss Edith Stephenson. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of white satin, trimmed with Brussels lace, and over a wreath of orange-flowers a veil of the same lace. Her ornaments were pearls and diamonds. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in white silk and white beaver bonnets. Each wore a brooch with the bride's monogram, a present from the bridegroom. The Rev. Alexander Napier, Vicar of Holkham, officiated. The Earl and Countess of Leicester afterwards received a large party at breakfast. Viscount Anson and his bride left Holkham Hall for Horstead Hall, the seat of Mr E. Birkbeck, near Norwich, to pass the honeymoon. The bride's travelling-dress was of olive-green velvet, trimmed with blue fox fur, and chapeau to match. The wedding presents were numerous. Viscount Anson, among other gifts, presented his bride with a gold bracelet set with turquoises, a pearl half-hoop ring, a coral half-hoop ring, a set of silver Circassian ornaments, and a silver Norwegian belt. The Maharajah Dhuleep Singh presented the bride with five diamond stars. The Shugborough servants' gift consisted of a Minton china dessert service; that of the Holkham school children an ivory-bound bible, and the members of the Holkham choir a hymn-book.

The Hon. and Rev. Henry A. Stanhope, M.A., Rector of Gawsworth, Cheshire, third son of the late Earl Stanhope, was married to the Hon. Mildred, second daughter of Lord and Lady Vernon, on Saturday last, at St. George's, Hanover-square. The bridegroom was accompanied by Captain the Hon. E. Primrose, Grenadier Guards, as best man. The bride's sisters and the Ladies Philippa and Emily Stanhope were bridesmaids. The bride wore a dress of white satin, buttoned with pearls and trimmed with lace, a present from Lady Stanhope. The bridesmaids' dresses were of white cashmere and satin, ornamented with bouquets of pink chrysanthemums. Each bridesmaid had on a lapis-lazuli and gold chain, the present of the bridegroom. The Hon. and Rev. Adalbert Anson, Rector of Woolwich, officiated. Lord and Lady Vernon entertained their relatives and friends at breakfast in Grosvenor-street. The bride and bridegroom left for Chevening, the seat of Earl Stanhope. The presents were numerous, and included remembrances from the tenantry of Lord Vernon's estates in Cheshire and Derbyshire, and the parishioners of Gawsworth and Sudbury.

THE IMPENDING AFGHAN WAR.

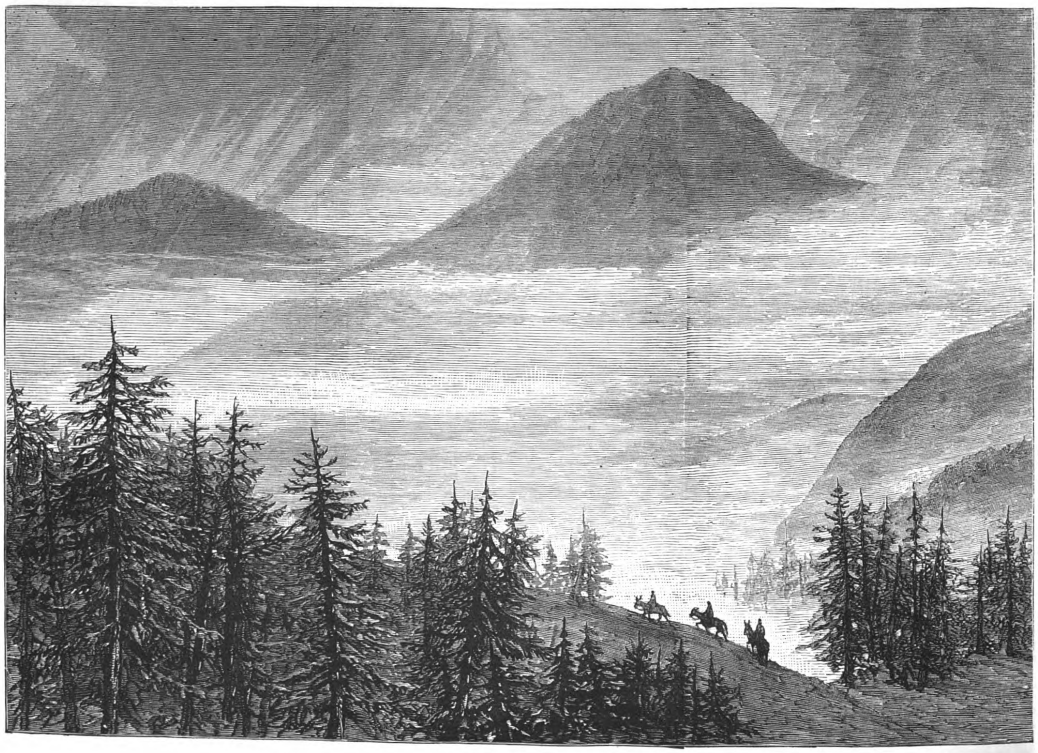
The Indian Government, pending the result of its ultimatum sent to the Ameer of Cabul by order of the Home Government, to which no reply can arrive before the 20th inst., is continuing its active preparations for war. General Sir Samuel Brown is appointed to command the reserve of troops in the district of Peshawur. Sir Neville Chamberlain takes his place as military adviser to the Viceroy in Council. It is officially announced from Simla that the field force in the Peshawur valley will be composed of two divisions, the one stationed at Peshawur, under Sir Samuel Browne, the other at Hassan-Abdul, under General Maude. A native contingent of troops from the Sikh States will act with the Hassan-Abdul brigade. A division from Madras and Bombay, under the command of General J. M. Primrose, will assemble on the Lower Indus, as a reserve to General Stewart's force. It is stated that the people of Kohistan have rebelled and murdered the Afghan Governor, and that the Ameer of Cabul has sent a large force to restore order in the district. Another rumour says that Shere Ali's troops in the Khyber Pass are deserting in large numbers, in consequence of sickness and want of food, and hopes are said to be entertained that the Ameer will submit fully and unconditionally to the British terms. The Afghan officers at Ali Musjid are petitioning the Ameer to take immediate action against the British or allow them to return. The bridge over the Indus for the Quetta advance is fixed at Sukkur, the site of the bridge in the previous campaign. Schemes are under consideration for a railway to the foot of the Bolan. The British regiments detailed to lead into the Khyber are the seventeenth and fourth battalions of the Rifle Brigade. The dispatch of troops through the Bolan Pass continues, and four thousand men have now reached Quetta. They are furnished with two months' provisions. The last of General Biddulph's troops will be there in three days. Immense exertions are being made to supply their requirements, and the extent of these may be estimated by the fact that General Stewart's column alone needs over sixty thousand camels and a store of four months' provisions before it could advance.

There are diverse rumours about the purport and language of Shere Ali's reply brought last week by the native Envoy whom Lord Lytton had sent to Cabul. One version of it is from Simla, to the effect that the Ameer, in his reply to Lord Lytton's note, said he had been anxious for the friendship of the British Government, but that of late years their policy had been changeable; that Lord Mayo pursued one policy and Lord Lytton another, and that each new Viceroy as he was appointed reversed all that had been done by his predecessor. He says he is open to make a new treaty, not being bound by any Russian alliance; and explains that the Russian Embassy was not invited to Cabul.

It is stated that the eminent native Minister of the Nizam of Hyderabad (the Deccan)—namely, our late visitor, Sir Salar Jung—will loyally co-operate in a war against Afghanistan, and that he has placed, not only troops, but the treasury and all the resources of Hyderabad at the disposal of the Indian Government.

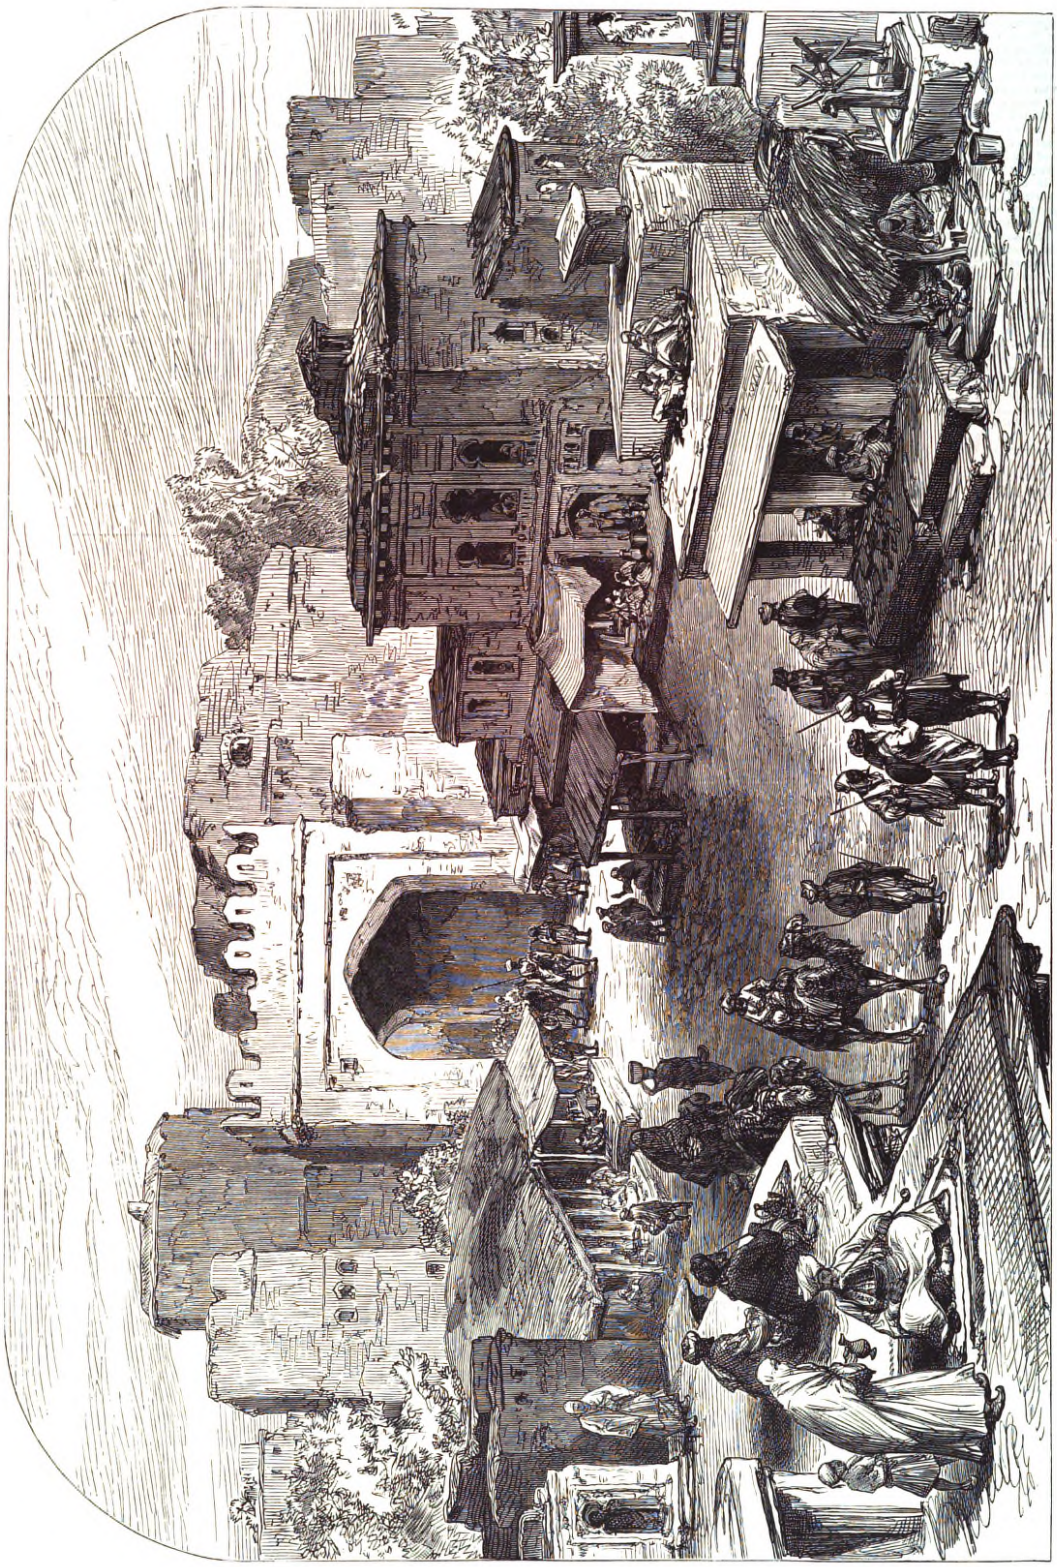
We are indebted to Major N. Cavagnari, C.S.I., Deputy Commissioner, and second in command of the party, under Sir Neville Chamberlain, which was lately dispatched by the Viceroy of India on the intended diplomatic Mission to Cabul, for two Sketches drawn from his outlines and notes by Major C. W. Wilson, of the Bengal Artillery, showing the scenery about Jumrood and Ali Musjid, at the mouth of the Khyber Pass, where the Mission party was turned back by the Afghan Commandant, Faiz Mohammed Khan, in pursuance of his orders from Shere Ali, the Ameer of Cabul. The following notes accompany these Sketches, which we have engraved for the present Number of our Journal:—

"The Khyber Pass, which nearly thirty years ago was the scene of such stirring events, has once more become a subject of interest to the British nation. Those who are imperfectly acquainted with the physical conformation of the country, or the tribal divisions of the clans inhabiting the network of hills that intervenes between the British frontier and Afghanistan proper, may have been wont to regard the whole series of defiles and passes that lead from Peshawur to Cabul, a distance of about 190 miles, as the Khyber Pass. But the actual Pass which bears this name only extends from Jumrood to the Landi Khana Kotal, above Dakka, a distance of little more than thirty miles. The tribes who own this Pass are collectively known as the Khyberee Afreedis. From Dakka to about forty miles beyond Jellalabad, the country is occupied by the Shinwári clan and by the tribes of Ningrahár and the Jellalabad district, who are controlled by the Ameer's regular troops stationed at Dakka and Jellalabad. The remaining portion of the road to Cabul traverses the passes of Gundamuk, Jugdalak, Tezeen, and the Khoord Cabul, all made famous on account of the disasters which there befell the remnants of the "Army of the Indus" during its retreat from Cabul, the record of which is so graphically described in 'Kaye's War in Afghanistan.' The road is held by the powerful Ghilzi tribes, who, irritated at the resumption of their allowances, were prominently the most bitter opponents the British forces met with after leaving Cabul. Financial considerations induced Sir William Macnaughten, in the interest of Shah Shujah-ul-Mulk, to reduce the annual allowances that were paid to the hill tribes and certain leading sirdars. The consequence was that when the retirement from Cabul commenced, the Ghilzis, actuated by revenge for what they considered ill-treatment, contemptuously rejected the offer of a lac of rupees, made them by the British authorities to arrange safe conduct for the retiring army to Jellalabad. So bitter was the hostility of this tribe, that even the notorious Akbar Khan, though desirous of assisting the English to retire after his treacherous assassination of Macnaughten, was utterly unable to allay the tempest he had raised, and could in no way control the tribes, who, having once given way to their blood-shedding and plundering propensities, did not desist so long as a single follower or baggage animal of the army remained within the Passes. This brief statement will show that the destruction of the British army in the winter of 1841-2 did not occur in the Khyber Pass, but in the passes through the Ghilzi country, between Cabul and Jellalabad. During the British occupation of Cabul, the arrangements for keeping open the Khyber Pass were carried out under the orders of the British Resident at Peshawur; but after the withdrawal of the English from Afghanistan the tribes were left to the management of the Ameer of Cabul, who from that time up to the present has shown that he is evidently more interested in keeping up the savage and refractory spirit of the Khyberis than in bringing them under control and good order. The result of this mismanagement has been that for many years the Khyber Pass has remained closed, and the caravans trading between India and Central Asia have been obliged to use more circuitous and difficult routes. Since the close of the Peshawur Conference of 1876 the Ameer Shere Ali Khan has endeavoured to establish his authority over the Khyberis, and with this object he induced them, by liberal payments of money to some of their chiefs, to consent to the reconstruction of the fort of Ali Musjid, which commands a narrow defile about half-way through the Pass. This fort played an important part in the Afghan war, and its defence by Lieutenant Mackeson, and subsequently by Colonel Moseley, against large attacking forces of the Afreedis, is a matter of history.



"For some time before the date fixed for the departure of Sir Neville Chamberlain's Mission to Cabul, it was rumoured that the Ali Musjid officials had received orders from Cabul to oppose the advance of the British Mission. The Ameer himself had never replied to the Viceroy's letters informing him of the intended dispatch of the Mission, and expressing condolence on the death of the heir-apparent, although ample time for him to do so had elapsed since the native Envoy who conveyed those letters had reached Cabul. It was considered not desirable to expose Sir Neville Chamberlain and the whole of the Mission to the insult of being turned back; so it was decided that Major Cavagnari, the second in command of the expedition, with a small escort of the Guide Cavalry under Colonel Jenkins and Captain Wigram Battye, should proceed to Ali Musjid under the safe conduct of the friendly Afreedis, who had undertaken to escort the Mission through the Khyber, unless the Ameer's authorities openly opposed this. Accordingly, on Sept. 21, the camp of the British Mission moved to Jamrood, at the mouth of the Khyber Pass, and Major Cavagnari's party started for Ali Musjid. On arrival at the heights above Lala Cheena, it was found that pickets from the Ali Musjid Fort had been placed on the ridge in front, which commanded the descent to Lala Cheena and the remainder of the road to Ali Musjid, which from this point lies through the bed of the Khyber river, and they threatened to fire on the party if it advanced. Messages were then sent to the Commandant, desiring that either he should come to an interview or that Major Cavagnari should be permitted to proceed unmolested to Ali Musjid. After some delay, a reply was brought that Faiz Mahomed Khan, the Commandant, was about to come to Lala Cheena for an interview. Major Cavagnari, accompanied by Colonel Jenkins and a few native gentlemen, descended into the bed of the river, leaving Captain Battye with the escort on the heights above to cover the retirement in case matters should not turn out peaceably. After about half an hour's parley Faiz Mahomed Khan gave Major Cavagnari distinctly to understand that if the British Mission advanced it would be opposed by force of arms; and, although the responsibility that would rest with the Ameer, if a peaceful mission was rejected in this manner, was pointed out to the Commandant, he decisively declared that he had no other alternative. At one time the discussion began to grow warm, and there was a sort of uneasy movement amongst the jézailchees who accompanied Faiz Mahomed Khan, so that it was considered fortunate that the interview was brought to a close before the easily-aroused excitability of the numerous Afghan followers of the Commandant, who crowded round the place where the interview was going on, should have assumed a form to which the few members of the British Mission would have been unable to reply as they would have liked to have done. However, the meeting finally broke up with mutual expressions of personal good feeling; Major Cavagnari having assured Faiz Mahomed Khan that, as it was his duty to carry out whatever orders he had received, the responsibility would lie with the Ameer, and not with him. The Khyberees faithfully performed what they had agreed to do; and Major Cavagnari's party reached Jumrood without meeting with any obstruction. The camp of the British Mission returned to Peshawur on the morning of Sept. 22; and, as military preparations are being pushed on with activity, it may be confidently expected that the insult which the British nation has received from the Ameer Shere Ali Khan will not be permitted to remain unavenged.

"The Illustrations show the Fort of Ali Musjid from the heights above the village of Lala Cheena. Between the foreground, where Major Cavagnari's party halted, and the opposite ridge held by the Ali Musjid pickets, the road descends into the bed of the river, along the course of which it proceeds to Ali Musjid. The second sketch represents the camp of the British Mission at Jamrood, a Fort built by the Sikhs in 1837, and which was the scene of a battle between the Afghans, under Mahomed Akbar Khan, and the Sikh troops, under Hari Singh. The latter was killed by a long shot, said to have been fired by the Afghan leader. The sketches are drawn by Major C. W. Wilson, Royal Artillery, from rough pencil notes by Major Cavagnari."



Several Illustrations of Afghanistan and the city of Cabul are taken, by permission, from the series of lithographs published by Messrs. Henry Graves and Co., Pall-mall, entitled "Sketches of Afghanistan;" the sketches being those drawn by the late Mr. James Atkinson, superintending surgeon of the army under Sir John Keane in 1839 and 1840. Mr. Atkinson also wrote an interesting personal narrative of his observations during that campaign, "The Expedition into Afghanistan, Notes and Sketches Descriptive of that Country," which volume was published in 1842 by Messrs. W. H. Allen and Co. It may still be perused with advantage, as the greatest changes that have since taken place are in the Punjaub and Scinde, now under British rule, and there is less change in Afghanistan. The occupation of Candahar, the storming of Ghuzni, and a residence of some months at Cabul, and afterwards at Jellalabad, with the surrender of Dost Mohammed, which closed the first war, are related with great animation; but the author did not remain in Afghanistan to witness the frightful reverses that occurred a twelvemonth later, with the slaughter of our army, its retreat through the Khoord Cabul Pass, or the subsequent re-conquest of the country by Generals Pollock, Sale, and Nott. His description of the manners and customs of the Afghans, and his account of their history, are well worth reading. The book may be found in most good public libraries.

PHOTOGRAPHERS ON MOUNT OLYMPUS, CYPRUS.

SUMMIT OF MOUNT OLYMPUS, CYPRUS.

SKETCHES IN AFGHANISTAN: GATE OF THE BAZAAR AT CABUL.

MOUNTAIN VIEWS IN CYPRUS.

Mr. J. Thomson, a photographic artist, who has lately visited Cyprus to obtain views of its scenery, and of the costumes, figures, and dwellings of the people, ascended to the summit of Mount Olympus in pursuit of his interesting vocation. There is, as our readers are doubtless aware, more than one Mount Olympus in different parts of the ancient Greek world of mythical history and poetic romance; and we have great doubts whether this Cyprian Olympus was the abode of "cloud-compelling Jove," as Pope's Homer calls him, in the days of the Iliad, seeing that the loftier Olympus of the Anatolian mainland is much more "convenient" to the site of Troy. But there are plenty of clouds, and sometimes mist or rain, upon the high mountain visited six weeks ago by Mr. Thomson, who has favoured us with a couple of Sketches, and with the following note:—

"Accompanied by an Arab dragomnn, Habib Kuri, and my muleteer, I rested at Prodromus for the night. It is the village nearest to the summit of Mount Olympus, built on the crest of one of the lower spurs of the range. The temperature fell perceptibly as we made the ascent during the day, and at night could not have exceeded 40 deg. Fahrenheit. In the Olympian district the mountains are clothed with magnificent forests of cedar. A number of the finest trees have been quite recently cut down, but the supply is still unlimited. We made the toilsome ascent of Olympus on our mules in the morning, accompanied by the headman of the village. The accompanying sketch pictures the apex of the classic mountain as it appeared partially wrapped in a robe of clouds and mist. Our approach to the summit was heralded by an ominous peal of thunder, that made the earth tremble beneath our feet. It sounded like a terrible protest against the sacrilege of photographing, for the first time, the ruins of the ancient shrine. Dismounting, we clambered through stony débris to the summit. The storm increased, and was accompanied by a deluge of rain and hail, such as one can only experience in high regions. Nothing daunted, after an hour's delay, and with a friendly gleam of light, we succeeded in photographing what remains of the ancient shrine. Shelter there was none, save that represented in the sketch. My dragoman, robed in his bed sheet, which he invariably carried in his saddle-bag, tended the camera; and for the details of our position I refer the reader to the sketch. Worst of all, my umbrella, of thin calico, proved useless; my pith-hat became limp and pasty; while my shoes gave way entirely as I made the descent on foot."

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL NEWS.

FRANCE.

Both Chambers met on Monday. M. Waddington laid a Yellow-book upon the table in both Houses. The Senate fixed the election of three life members for the 15th inst. In the Chamber of Deputies, during a debate upon the election of M. Leroux (Bonapartist), M. Paul de Cassagnac was called to order for interrupting a speaker by saying, "There can be nothing in common between Bonapartists and Marshal MacMahon since he perjured himself." The election of M. Leroux was invalidated by 313 to 174 votes. The election of M. Paul de Cassagnac was discussed in the Chamber on Tuesday, its invalidation being recommended by the Parliamentary Committee of Inquiry, while the bureau has reported in favour of its validity. M. de Cassagnac's speech in defence of his election occupied the whole sitting, and he ultimately obtained an adjournment until Thursday to conclude his defence. The Left had agreed beforehand not to notice any of his provocations, and this understanding was pretty well adhered to. The President, however, interrupted him several times, and protested against his violent language.

Marshal MacMahon, according to La France, has expressed to the Cabinet his strong desire that no proceedings shall .be taken against M. Paul de Cassagnac for the personal outrages of which he has been guilty.

The youngest son of Marshal MacMahon has entered the Military College of St. Cyr as a student.

The Prince of Wales received at the Hôtel Bristol, Paris, on Thursday week Mr. Cunliffe Owen, C.B., Secretary to the Royal Commission for the Exhibition, and in her Majesty's name conferred upon him the title of Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. The Companionship of the same order was conferred on the following Executive Commissioners for the Colonies—viz., Messrs. Thomas Keefer, Canada; Edward Combes, New South Wales; Josiah Boothby, South Australia; Arthur Hodgson, Queensland; and George Collins Levey, Victoria. His Royal Highness took the opportunity of thanking the Commissioners for the services they had rendered, in co-operating towards the success of the British Section, and trusted that the intercourse which had taken place would increase the feeling of affection which already existed between the colonies and the mother country. The Queen has appointed Sir Richard Wallace, Bart., M.P., one of her Majesty's Commissioners for the Paris Exhibition, a Knight Commander of the Civil Division of the Bath; and has conferred knighthoods on Mr. B. Thomas Brandreth Gibbs, General Superintendent of the Agricultural Division of the British Section, and on Mr. J. Anderson, LL.D., M.I.C.E., General Superintendent of the Machinery Division of the British Section.

The Prince and Princess of Wales on Sunday visited the Bible stand at the Trocadéro entrance of the Exhibition. They examined the various editions of the Scriptures with great interest, and were informed by Mr. Alexander, the manager of the Paris kiosque, that the society had distributed a million and a half of Bibles, in twenty-two languages. Their Royal Highnesses accepted and took away with them one of the smallest Bibles in the world, printed at Oxford. The Prince wrote his name in the subscription-book for £10, and the Princess wrote hers for £4.

Their Royal Highnesses left Paris on Sunday evening. The Prince, prior to his departure, presented to Inspector Giles, of the London Police, and to Sergeant Wright, of the Royal Engineers, valuable gold watches as mementoes of his appreciation of their zeal and of the valuable services rendered by them during the Exhibition.

Lord Lyons, the British Ambassador, was present on Sunday at a diplomatic dinner given at the Italian Embassy.

Madame Thiers returned to Paris on Sunday.

M. Gambetta went up in the captive balloon on Monday morning. A good deal (remarks the Times correspondent) has happened since his previous ascent, that of Oct. 7, 1870, when he quitted the besieged city.

Official announcement was made on Monday that the number of 12,000,000 tickets (to that prodigious number it has mounted) for the French National Lottery will not be exceeded. From Dec. 1 to 15, when the drawing will begin, the prizes will be exhibited.

An agreement has been arrived at between the Ministers of War and Commerce relative to the preservation of the palace and park created in the Champs de Mars for the Exhibition. The War Minister will retain the Gallery of Manual Labour and the two large machinery galleries as general warehouses for the army. The space comprised between these three galleries, fifteen acres in extent, will be called the Field of Manœuvres. The Minister of Commerce will retain the Grand Gallery of Honour, with some of its annexes, the Crenzot Pavilion, the Pavilion of the Spanish Ministry of Public Works, &c. This space will be devoted to the establishment of an Industrial Museum.

M. Louis Garnier-Pagès died on the 31st ult., after a short illness, in his seventy-sixth year. His funeral took place at the Church of St. Roch, on Monday morning. MM. Jules Simon, Crémieux, Jules Grévy, and Etienne Arago were pall-bearers. Many political notabilities were present.

SPAIN.

King Alfonso on Sunday directed the manœuvres of 14,000 men, simulating an attack upon the line of redoubts near Madrid at Carabanchel. A great concourse of people was present, who repeatedly cheered the King.

In Monday's sitting of the Senate Señor Canovas del Castillo read a bill concerning Senatorial elections in Cuba. The number of senators for Cuba is raised to sixteen.

ITALY.

Enthusiastic receptions have been given to the King and Queen at Modena and Bologna.

A requiem mass was celebrated last Saturday at the tomb of the late King of Italy. Immense crowds assembled, and deputations from all the regiments of the garrison of Rome deposited garlands upon the Royal tomb.

Addressing his constituents at Iseo on Sunday, Signor Zanardelli, the Minister of the Interior, defended the Liberal policy of the new Ministry, and stated that if the Government allowed Republican associations to exist it was because they were of little importance. With regard to the demonstrations made by the Italia Irredenta party, he declared that the Austrian Government were aware that the sentiments of the Italian Government were wholly opposed to these demonstrations.

A Daily News telegram from Rome states that a church, built by the American Baptists, at a cost of £4000, was opened in Rome last Saturday. The ministers of all the evangelical denominations and the members of the Young Men's Christian Association took part in the first service.

On Thursday week the stream of lava from Mount Vesuvius increased in extent; on the following day the volcano was again quiet; but on Saturday Vesuvius was in a high state of activity, the lava flowing into the same ravine as in 1872.

HOLLAND.

In the Second Chamber on Tuesday the Minister for the Colonies presented the Budget for the Dutch Indies. Defending the military policy of the Government with respect to Atchin, he said the Government desired that the positions of the Dutch should be effectively maintained, but they wished to avoid all aggressive action unless it became absolutely necessary. Proposals would shortly be brought forward for the definite settlement of the financial relations between the Indian possessions and the mother country; and, in the meantime, colonial bonds to the extent of 4,000,000 fl. would be withdrawn. The deficit for 1879 the Minister estimated at 8,830,000 fl.; and he stated that, in order to place the Indian finances on a more stable footing, the Government was preparing several reforms.

GERMANY.

Prince Bismarck arrived in Berlin on Sunday night last. In a letter which has been published Prince Bismarck states that he intends to propose a comprehensive revision of the German Custom tariffs to the Federal Governments, and that the preparatory labours for that purpose have been begun.

Countess Maria von Bismarck, only daughter of Prince Bismarck, was married on Wednesday at Berlin to Count Kuno von Rantzau. The ceremony took place in the grand hall of the Chancellor's official residence, where the late Congress was held. An altar was erected, surrounded by orange and myrtle trees, in the centre of the spacious apartment. The Crown Prince and Crown Princess were present.

The Prussian Budget for 1879 shows a deficit of some 50,000,000 marks, which is to be covered by a loan.

A decree convoking both Houses of the Prussian Diet for the 19th inst. is promulgated this evening.

Lord Odo Russell arrived at Berlin yesterday week to resume his duties as British Ambassador.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

In the Lower House of the Austrian Reichsrath on the 31st ult. a motion was brought forward that some correspondence should be produced respecting a charge made against Prince Auersperg, the Minister-President, of having bribed certain members of the House. On a division the motion was rejected by a large majority. Last Wednesday the debate took place on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Baron von Pretis defended the policy pursued by the Government in the East, and said that Count Andrassy would, in accordance with the Constitution, justify that policy before the Delegations. The Address was adopted, on the third reading, by 160 to 70 votes.

At the sitting of the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet last Saturday Herr Tisza, the Minister-President, laid on the table of the House a copy of the Treaty of Berlin. In the debate which followed he explained that international treaties which had been concluded by competent authority could not be assailed by the Legislature of one of the interested countries without undermining the foundation of all international law. The division on the motion for the impeachment of the Hungarian Ministry took place last Tuesday. The result was:—For impeachment, 95; against, 170: giving the Government a majority of 75.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

The Russian Imperial yacht Livadia foundered on her passage from Odessa to Livadia. The Grand Duke Sergius, who was on board, was saved, as well as the officers accompanying him and the crew.

Major-General Kosloff has been appointed Chief of Police at Moscow. General Drenteln, Chief of the High Police at St. Petersburg, has been nominated a member of the Caucasian Administrative Committee.

A letter from Orenburg which has been received at St. Petersburg states that the Chinese Governor of Kashgar has prohibited any commercial dealings with the Russians, and has also ordered all the latter to accept Chinese nationality or leave the country within two weeks.

Russian troops are reported to be massed in the Bulgarian fortresses of Widdin, Silistria, and Shumla, which are being strengthened.

A circular has been issued by the Russian Commissary in Bulgaria announcing that the official language of the Principality is to be Bulgarian, and that all Turkish administrative names will be changed.

On Monday last the European Commission began the discussion of the organic regulations for the administration of Eastern Roumelia. M. Schmidt, one of the officers of the Imperial Ottoman Bank, has been appointed to the post of Financial Director of the Province of Eastern Roumelia.

The Porte has issued telegraphic orders for the evacuation of Varna, and directed the commander to return to Constantinople with his troops and war material.

According to intelligence received at Constantinople the Arab tribes between Bagdad and Bassorah are in full revolt, and have cut the communications between Bagdad and Mosul.

A Constantinople telegram states that the Sultan intends to renounce his Civil List for a month, and that he will appropriate the sum thus saved to the withdrawal of caimés from circulation.

GREECE.

The new Cabinet, formed near the close of last week, has not succeeded in obtaining the confidence of the Chamber of Deputies; for, on a motion to adjourn the sittings for a fortnight, which was intended to serve as a test, the Ministers were defeated by 87 to 80 votes. In consequence, they at once tendered their resignation. M. Tricoupis, the President of the Ministry, had a long audience of the King on Tuesday afternoon. His Majesty afterwards summoned M. Coumoundouros to the palace, who has undertaken to form a new Cabinet.

AMERICA.

Both the State and Congressional elections in America on Tuesday passed off quietly. The American correspondent of the Times says that the latest returns ensure to the Democrats the control of the next House by about their present majority.

The members of the Cabinet are stated to have unanimously agreed that the President's Message at the opening of Congress should recommend legislation with the object of increasing the weight of the silver doller, or to diminish the amount coined, in order to prevent depreciation in its value.

A meeting of the leading merchants of New York was held in that city on the 31st ult., at which a committee was appointed to arrange a national meeting for the consideration of a proposal to hold an international exhibition at New York in 1889, or earlier.

The American papers announce the death of Bishop Rosencrans, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Columbus, and brother of General Rosencrans; and of Rear-Admiral Hiram Paulding, of the United States Navy, at the age of eighty-one.

THE CAPE COLONIES.

A telegram of Cape news to Oct. 15, received by way of Madeira, says that Sir Bartle Frere is still at Pietermaritzburg, and the Commander-in-Chief is at Greytown. There is no trustworthy news from the Transvaal. Affairs in Zululand remain stationary; but from all appearances Cetewayo is becoming more unfriendly. At Delagoa Bay the Zulus are assuming a threatening tone towards the Portuguese, and in Griqualand West a petition in favour of annexation to the Cape Colony is being prepared.

A report has reached Sydney that the revolted natives of New Caledonia have committed further massacres.

The Austrian mail-packets between Varna and Constantinople having been re-established, mails for Constantinople will be forwarded from London twice a week by those packets.

The death is announced from Geneva of M. James Fazy, ex-member of the Grand Council and for many years a prominent member of the Radical party, aged eighty-one.

The German excavations at Olympia continue to be most prosperous. On the 2nd inst. they discovered the chief entrance of the so-called Pompey Gate.

The total gross tonnage which passed through the Suez Canal during the first nine months of the present year was, according to the official bulletin, 2,463,309 tons, of which 1,969,834 tons, or about four fifths, were British.

Throughout the tour in Cyprus the First Lord of the Admiralty and Colonel Stanley were greeted with enthusiasm by the population. On Wednesday morning Mr. Smith and Colonel Stanley arrived at Port Said, and left in the evening for Alexandria.

The Post Office authorities state that information has been received from the French post-office that the French packets leaving Bordeaux on the 5th of each month will for the present cease to call at Rio de Janeiro on the outward voyage. Under these circumstances, no mails for Brazil will be made up in London for conveyance by these packets until further notice.

The Morning Advertiser states that Mr. Thomas Michell, formerly her Majesty's Consul-General at St. Petersburg, has been appointed to a similar position at Tiflis. The Gazette announces that the Queen has appointed Captain George Chaworth Musters, R.N., to be her Majesty's Consul for the Portuguese Possessions on the East Coast of Africa; and Mr. James Lohrab, late her Majesty's Consul at Erzeroum, to be her Majesty's Consul at Jeddah.

The Daily News correspondent at Lisbon states that the King of Portugal offered to General Grant a grand cross, but the General declined to receive it, stating that he had declined all such honours at other Courts. General Grant and Mrs. Grant left Lisbon on Saturday for Cadiz, on their way to the Alhambra, accompanied to the frontier by an officer of the Court. Mr. Morier, the British Minister, gave a dinner in the General's honour.

At the close of the recent missionary services at Baden-Baden, the Bishop of Saskatchewan was accorded the honour of a private audience of the Empress of Germany and Queen of Prussia. Her Imperial Majesty displayed the warmest interest in the Bishop's devoted and arduous work in Canada, and presented a special donation towards the Diocesan Training College for Native Helpers. The Bishop during his stay in Baden was the guest of the chaplain, the Rev. Archibald White.

The correspondence between the Marquis of Salisbury, M. Waddington, and the Marquis d'Harcourt, on the subject of the Convention with Turkey, has been published. Lord Salisbury in his note informs M. Waddington of the considerations and exigencies by which the making of the Convention was dictated. M. Waddington writes a long explanatory despatch to the Marquis d'Harcourt concerning the interviews he held with the British representatives at Berlin and the statements made by them.

Prizes were distributed on Wednesday at Margate by Mr. J. G. Talbot, M.P., to the successful candidates at the Oxford and Cambridge Local Examinations.

Lord Aberdare presided on Monday at a conference on temperance, held in the Sheldonian Theatre at Oxford, and with regard to the legislation of the past ten years, contended that it had, upon the whole, produced good effects.—A series of temperance demonstrations has been held in Dublin.

Lord Carnarvon on Tuesday night inaugurated the lecture season of the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution by the delivery of a lecture on Imperial Administration. There have been many utterances on the Eastern Question during the week; but, as our readers will probably be glad to learn, we have not space for the briefest summary of the speeches.—Mr. James Ramsay, M.P. for the Falkirk Burghs, has been presented with the freedom of the town of Linlithgow, one of the group which the hon. gentleman represents.

THE CHURCH.

PREFERMENTS AND APPOINTMENTS.

Ambrose, O. C., to be Curate of Redditch.
Bennett, J.; Incumbent of Park Chapel, Chelsea.
Carruthers, C.; Minister of the District of St Stephen's, Wandsworth.
Christmas, William Henry; Rector of Crostwick.
Colyer, J. F.; Rector of Astbury, Cheshire.
Cooper, Frederick; Perpetual Curate of Lea Marston.
Crofts, J. D. Macbride; Rector of Bradfield Combust, Suffolk.
Deacon, A. W. N.; Curate-in-Charge of Milton-under-Lynchwood, Oxon.
Ffoulkes, E. S.; Vicar of St. Mary's, Oxford.
Fisher, John; Perpetual Curate of Nuthurst-cum-Hockley Heath.
Houghton, Edward James; Vicar of Blockley.
Jacombs, J. W. N.; Chaplain of Shepton Mallet Prison.
Ling, Henry Pratt; Rector of Kelworth, Notts.
Maltby, Brough, Vicar of Farndon; Archdeacon of Nottingham.
Mann, William; Minor Canon of Winchester Cathedral.
Wilson, A., Vicar of Tottenham; Prebendary of St. Paul's Cathedral.
Wilson, William Osborn Pocock; Rector of Huntspill.—Guardian.

The Temple Church was reopened on Sunday, after extensive alterations in the organ.

The Gresham Lecturer in Divinity (Dean of Chichester) will lecture on Nov. 12, and three following days, at six p.m.

The Synod of Montreal has elected Dean Bond Bishop of Montreal in place of Bishop Oxenden, who has resigned.

A handsome Munich stained-glass window, by Mayer and Co., has been placed in Cossington church, near Bridgewater, by Mr. E. Broderip, the patron of the living, in memory of his wife.

Messrs. Cox and Sons have recently supplied to St. Mark's Church, Middleton-square, London, a font of fine design; and an eagle lectern of polished brass for the chapel of the Royal Naval Hospital, Greenwich.

The Bishop of Melbourne has given up a fifth of his income rather than abandon some outlying stations, where, owing to the distress, funds for the clergy were not forthcoming. He has given the £1000 sent him by his Paddington friends to found a theological scholarship in Trinity College.

The Bishop of London has presented the Rev. Alexander Wilson, Vicar of Tottenham, to the prebendal stall of Reculverland in St. Paul's Cathedral, in recognition of the valuable services which he rendered for so many years to the National Society and the cause of religious education.

The choirs of eighteen of the parish churches within the liberty of the city of London met in St. Paul's Cathedral on Tuesday evening, on the occasion of a special choral service given under the direction of the City clergy associated with Sion College, London-wall. A large congregation assembled under the dome, and extended into the aisles and galleries.

Some time ago (says the Lincolnshire Chronicle) we had the pleasure of announcing that the Dowager Duchess of Cleveland had presented the large sum of £1000 towards the erection of a new see for the relief of the diocese of Lincoln. We have now the gratification of announcing that the same lady has sent a check for a second £1000 to the Bishop of Nottingham towards a further endowment of the proposed see.

The autumnal conference of the Church Association was opened on Tuesday at Derby, and was largely attended. Mr. Andrews, who presided, said that the association was not at all discouraged by recent events in the law courts. The law could not be carried out, owing to official blunders or technical points, and to remove these difficulties only one or two amendments would be required to be made in the Public Worship Regulation Act. Papers on several subjects were afterwards read, and a public meeting was held in the evening.

Lord Penzance had before him in the Court of Arches last Saturday the Prestbury ritual case, and in giving judgment he referred in pointed terms to the decision of the Queen's Bench before the vacation, by which a writ of prohibition staying further proceedings was issued in the St. Albans case. His Lordship said it did not seem that at present he would have the power to punish Mr. Edwards, the Vicar of Prestbury, and he saw no use in giving grounds for a fresh writ of prohibition; therefore, he judged it expedient—as, for sufficient reasons, he did not wish to punish him by imprisonment—to hold his hand, and would decline to proceed to any further measures at present.

The burials question was referred to by the Bishop of St. Albans in a charge delivered to some of his clergy last Saturday. Men were endeavouring, he said, to suggest a compromise which would satisfy all parties; but such a compromise seemed to him impossible, because one party would not be satisfied without the concession of all they desired, and that was what the other party could not be induced to surrender. The best thing they could do was to promote in every parish the formation of detached burial grounds, with the view of closing in time all the churchyards. He believed the question might be settled by consent by a congress of Christians meeting in love, and willing to lay down their weapons of war when such weapons could no longer avail in death.

Earl Fitzwilliam presided at a public meeting held on Tuesday at York in connection with the York Diocesan Church Building and Endowment Aid Society. It was resolved to dissolve the society—which, since its formation in 1861, has expended a sum of £52,000, and promoted the expenditure of not less than half a million of money—and to establish in its stead the York Diocesan Church Extension Society. This change was made in order to extend the objects of the society. It is proposed now to extend its grants in aid of endowments to benefices not exceeding £150 a year, and to permit grants from the general fund in aid of mission-rooms, mission-chapels, and sites for churches, chapels, and mission-rooms. For the accomplishment of this work during the next ten years a sum of £10,000 was required, a large proportion of which was subscribed before the meeting broke up. The Archbishop of York, the Dean of York, Lord Hotham, the Earl of Zetland, Sir E. Beckett, and Mr. Christopher Sykes, M.P., took part in the proceedings.

The Congregational school and manse at Mold, the foundation-stones of which were laid in May last by the Duke of Westminster, and which have cost almost £1800, were formally opened on Tuesday by Mr. S. Morley, M.P. There was a large number of clergymen and gentlemen present, among whom was Mr. J. Roberts, M.P. for Flintshire Boroughs.

The North Wales English Congregational Union held its second annual conference on Wednesday at Mold—Mr. Samuel Morley, M.P., in the chair. The representatives present included several from Denbighshire, Flintshire, Merionethshire, Carnarvonshire, Montgomeryshire, Cheshire, Lancashire, and Shropshire. In the evening a public meeting was held.

Earl Fortescue, speaking on Monday evening at a dinner in connection with the Devon County Schools, strongly protested against Mr. Forster's proposal to put middle-class schools under Government inspection. He regretted that the recommendation of the Endowed Schools Enquiry Commission for a more liberal application of endowments to third-grade schools had not been enforced. We wanted schools to educate producers rather than those to educate clerks and shopmen, for whom the demand was decreasing. Prebendary Brereton, the founder of the county schools, stated that arrangements were progressing for founding a new college at Cambridge, to be called Cavendish College, for middle-class boys.

The Wesleyan Methodist finance committee sat again on Thursday week, and considered the subjects of home missions, middle-class schools, and the extension fund. It was resolved to appropriate an additional £40,000 to this last-named object, and various grants were made to home missions. It was also decided, after a very animated debate, to establish Methodist middle-class schools throughout the country, and to make a provisional grant of £10,000 in aid of such establishments.—On Friday, the 1st inst., it was agreed to grant £500 towards purchasing the freehold of the Children's Home. The Rev. T. B. Stephenson proposed that £3000 should be granted towards the ministers' invalid fund. The resolution was withdrawn in favour of a proposal by Mr. A. M'Arthur, M.P., that the sum should be £4000, which was carried. The Rev. W. Davies proposed that £2000 be granted for their work in North Wales. This resolution was carried. Mr. M'Arthur, M.P., moved that the sums tentatively granted be now granted. The motion was seconded by the Rev. Alexander Macaulay, supported by Mr. Flitch. After considerable discussion, it was agreed that the title of the new fund should be the Wesleyan Methodist Thanksgiving Fund. A series of central meetings is to be held before next Conference to raise money for the fund. A minister promised £50, and Mr. Green, of Birmingham, £500. Mr. Mewburn promised £1000, in addition to the £10,000 he has already promised to the extension fund.

METROPOLITAN NEWS.

The Lord Chancellor has become a vice-patron of the Cabdrivers' Benevolent Association, 15, Soho-square.

The Lord Mayor, Mr. Alderman Thomas Owden, whose year of office expires this week, is to receive the honour of knighthood.

General the Viscount of Templetown, K.C.B., the Almoner of the Order of St. John, has forwarded a donation of £30 in support of the funds of the St. John Ambulance Association.

The National Hospital for Consumption on the Separate Principle, at Ventnor, which is supported by voluntary contributions, has received 100 guineas from the trustees of Prison Charities.

The Metropolitan Board of Works has resolved to request the Home Secretary to introduce a bill into Parliament which would make all extra-parochial places in the metropolis subject to rating for local purposes.

The Michaelmas sittings of the Supreme Court of Judicature began last Saturday, when the Lord Chancellor received the Judges, Queen's Counsel, and other officials of the High Court of Justice at his residence, Cromwell-gardens.

At the general monthly meeting of the Royal Institution of Great Britain, held on Monday—Dr. C. W. Siemens, vice-president, in the chair—the managers reported that they had appointed Mr. Edward Albert Schäfer Fullerian Professor of Physiology for three years.

An application was made on Tuesday to the Master of the Rolls for an injunction to restrain a young man, aged nineteen years, a ward of Court, from contracting an improvident marriage. It was stated that the banns had already been published; and it was desired that the injunction should extend to the clergyman. His Lordship acceded to the application.

A conference of managers of friendly societies was held in the rooms of the Society of Arts on Wednesday, when it was resolved to establish a national alliance of registered friendly societies. The chief object is to secure, as far as possible, the benefits of membership to non-resident members on the same terms as resident members, by making each society the agent for other societies.

A summons was set down for hearing at the Marlborough-street Police Court on Wednesday against Lady Annie Louise Gooch and Ann Walker, charging them with having conspired to palm off on Sir Francis Robert Sherlock Lambert Gooch, as his own, a strange child, with intent to defraud and deceive. Lady Gooch was unable, through indisposition, to appear, and Mr. Newton ordered an adjournment for a week.

A conference has been held between the Improvement Committee of the Corporation and the promoters of the District Railway Extension, at which (the City Press states) it was mutually agreed that "Route No. 3"—viz., by way of Cannon-street, Eastcheap, Great Tower-street, Tower-hill, and the Minories, to Aldgate High-street, should be adopted. This plan embraces a new street from Eastcheap to Tower-hill.

We understand that the Worshipful Company of Cutlers of London, with a view to the encouragement of progress in the craft they represent, are about to follow the excellent example set by others of the ancient guilds, and intend to hold an exhibition of cutlery in the domestic, trade, and surgical branches; also of sword cutlery; and of giving prizes to the most successful competitors. The prizes will include the admission to the freedom of the company.

The action brought by the Corporation of London, as trustees for St. Bartholomew's Hospital, against inhabitants and owners of land in the parish of Christ Church, Newgate-street, to recover tithes at the rate of two shillings and ninepence in the pound, under a statute made in the reign of Henry VIII., again came on for hearing in the Chancery Division on Monday. The Master of the Rolls, in giving his decision, said it was clear that the defendants were liable for the rate, which he ordered them to pay.

The Archbishop of York was present yesterday week at the opening of a coffee tavern at Rotherham, built at the expense of the Vicar, the Rev. Newton Hall. The building has cost £5500. The Archbishop preached in the parish church in favour of temperance, and at a meeting held subsequently his Grace said the work would bring ministers and people more together.—A large building at the northern end of Seymour-place, Marylebone-road, built for a public-house, but recently bought by Mrs. Russell Gurney for the purposes of a coffee tavern, was opened by Mr. Ernest Hart last Saturday.

The hundred and twenty-fifth session of the Society of Arts will begin on the 20th inst. with an address from the chairman of the council, Lord Alfred S. Churchill. Previous to Christmas there will be four ordinary Wednesday evening meetings, in addition to the opening meeting. The special Indian, African, and Chemical Sections will each hold six meetings during the session, and a short additional course of two lectures will be given by Dr. B. W. Richardson on Some Further Researches in Putrefactive Changes, in continuation and completion of his course of Cantor lectures given last session.

Last Saturday evening the seventeenth series of the Lambeth Baths Winter Meetings was opened, when nearly 1500 persons were present. The Rev. G. M. Murphy, who presided, read the opening statement, from which it appeared that the baths, which had been hired by Mr. S. Morley, M.P., for the purpose, will be open every week-day evening, when lectures and addresses will be delivered and entertainments given, to which working men and their families are cordially invited. On Sundays, both morning and evening, devotional meetings will be held in the same place.

In the Court of Bankruptcy last Saturday there was a petition for liquidation in the estate of Messrs. Smith, Fleming, and Co., merchants, carrying on business at 17 and 18, Leadenhall-street, and also at Kurrachee and Bombay. The debts are estimated at £2,250,000. The value of the assets, which consist of remittances from India and various cargoes of rice and other East Indian produce, together with book debts, &c., is not yet stated.—In the petition for the liquidation of the affairs of Messrs. Heugh, Balfour, and Co., the debts are stated at £1,562,000.

A meeting of the Royal National Life-Boat Institution was held on Thursday, at its house, John-street, Adelphi, when several recent life-boat services were reported. Nearly £250 were ordered to be paid to life-boat crews for their services during the past month. Rewards were also granted to th crews of several shore-boats for saving life from wrecks on ou coasts; and payments amounting to £3334 were made on som of the 269 life-boat establishments of the institution. Amongs the contributions recently received were £600, for a life-boat from Samuel Bird, Esq., of Hampstead; and £550, the result of a collection amongst the officers and employés of the locomotive and carriage department of the Great Western Railway, to provide a life-boat as a memorial of the late Mr. Joseph Armstrong, who was for many years their chief superintendent. New life-boats have recently been forwarded to Dartmouth, Gourdon, N.B., and Wexford, Ireland. Reports were read from the four inspectors of life-boats.

A meeting of the board of delegates of the Hospital Saturday Fund was held last Saturday night at the London Hospital, Whitechapel-road. Mr. A. W. Mackenzie presided and submitted a statement, from which it appeared that in the eight postal districts of the metropolis 182 boxes had produced £862; in places of amusement 42 boxes brought £55; 65 boxes in boats, £54: making a total of £972. At Hammersmith, West Ham, and Greenwich £118 had been collected in addition. The secretary read a report, which stated that the sums already deposited at the office amounted to £5744, while other sums, amounting to £500, were yet to come in, making in all £6200, as against £5786 last year. Subscriptions from upwards of 1000 subscribers had also to be received, so that this year's collection would probably be the largest yet made. About 850 additional firms had had collections made in their establishments. It was unanimously resolved to close the collection on the 30th inst., any sums received after that date to be carried forward to next year's account.

The route of the Lord Mayor's Procession this (Saturday) morning will be exceptionally long. Leaving Guildhall at mid-day, the cortége will cross to the Surrey side of the Thames by way of London Bridge (which is to be beautified with flowers and plants), returning to the Middlesex side over Southwark Bridge, and therefrom proceeding to Westminster Hall viâ Cannon-street, Ludgate-hill, Fleet-street, the Strand, and Parliament-street; the journey back to the City being, as usual, along the Thames Embankment. We are promised a grand horticultural show on London Bridge, the committee sparing no effort to give the Lord Mayor a fitting welcome there. Lord Beaconsfield and the rest of her Majesty's Ministers in town will attend the Guildhall banquet.—The card of invitation to the Guildhall banquet, illustrated with views of old and new London Bridge, is printed by Messrs. Blades and East, of Abchurch-lane.

There were 2532 births and 1386 deaths registered in London last week. Allowing for increase of population, the births were 33 and the deaths 205 below the average numbers in the corresponding week of the last ten years. The deaths included 3 from smallpox, 15 from measles, 49 from scarlet fever, 10 from diphtheria, 22 from whooping-cough, 34 from different forms of fever, and 21 from diarrhœa. The deaths from lung disease, which in the eight preceding weeks had steadily increased from 158 to 347, further rose to 353 last week, and exceeded by 5 the corrected average: 220 resulted from bronchitis and 90 from pneumonia. In the Greater London 3063 births and 1646 deaths were registered. The mean temperature of the air was 41·0 deg., being 5·5 deg. below the average of the corresponding week of sixty years. The mean was considerably below the average on each of the days in the week. The duration of registered bright sunshine in the week was 11·2 hours, the sun being above the horizon during 68·0 hours.

At a meeting of the Mansion House executive committee of the Princess Alice Relief Fund yesterday week it was reported that there had been received at the Mansion House a little over £37,000, of which the committee had distributed to widows, £5475; widowers, £4740; dependent relatives, £5538; survivors, £555; and in temporary relief, £600. There were many applications still standing over, but in round figures the committee has dispensed one half of the fund, or nearly £19,000. A scheme of the orphan committee was adopted, by which nearly one hundred children will be placed in public institutions until they are fifteen years of age, at a cost of between £15,000 and £16,000.—Mr. Carttar, and the jury on Tuesday continued their inquiry into the cause of death of the persons lost by the sinking of the Princess Alice, and the inquest was adjourned until Monday next, when it will be continued from day to day until it is brought to an end.—Towards the Princess Alice Fund the Mayor and Municipality of Boulogne have forwarded £58 16s., being the proceeds of two concerts organised in that town.

Sir Charles Reed attended last Tuesday evening to open the board schools which have been erected in Marlborough-road, Chelsea. The area of the ground covered amounts to 17,723 square feet, at an inclusive cost of £8296. The cost of building, exclusive of extras, which have yet to be reported, amounts to £7608. The schools will accommodate 193 boys, 187 girls, and 152 infants. Sir Charles Reed, in his address, said the school, which was occupied in August, and was now crowded, was formally opened that evening by request, it being thought desirable to do so because objections had been raised to its erection; and the School Board wished, if possible, to meet any such objections, as they never shrank from meeting the ratepayers in public, having nothing to conceal. The question of corporal punishment in schools was discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the London School Board, and the matter was referred as an open question to the school management committee. Payment to teachers also formed the subject of a resolution.

The entries for the forthcoming Birmingham Cattle and Poultry Show, which were closed on Wednesday, are as follow: Cattle, 125; sheep, 21; pigs, 73; corn, roots, and potatoes, 282; poultry, 2900.

1. Fort of Ali Musjid. 2. Pickets of Ali Musjid garrison. 3. Spot where the interview t

FORT OF ALI MUSJID, FROM THE HEIGHTS A

FROM A SKETCH BY MAJOR CAVA

between Major Cavagnari and the Commandant of Ali Musjid. 4. The Khyber River.

LALA CHEENA, IN THE KHYBER PASS.

ND MAJOR C. W. WILSON.

ECHOES OF THE WEEK.

M. Halanzier, the director of the Paris Grand Opéra, may deem himself the luckiest of men among theatrical managers. To begin with, the Académie Nationale de Musique enjoys a subvention from the State of a million of francs, or £40,000 a year. This is M. Halanzier's working capital. He draws; in addition, 10,000f. per annum pour indemnité de logement, lodging money, and 500,000f. pour indemnité de voiture, cab or brougham hire. Finally, he goes halves with the State in all the profits accruing from the Grand Opera as a commercial enterprise. During the six months of the Exhibition season, dating from May 1, the gross receipts of the Académie Nationale were 2,082,667 francs 16 centimes—say, £84,000; so that the net moiety coming to M. Halanzier will amount to a very pretty penny indeed.

These astonishing results have been acquired from the performance of the most limited of répertoires. One new opera, Polyeucte, has been produced, together with seven old ones, Faust, La Favorita, Les Huguenots, Robert le Diable, Le Prophète, Guillaume Tell, and Der Freyschütz. What would Mr. Gye or Mr. Mapleson's subscribers say to such a meagre bill of fare for an entire season? I hear that M. Halanzier, when remonstrated with by a disappointed abonné who pleaded that he had seen "Robert le Diable" three hundred and fifty times, and that he was thoroughly tired of it, shrugged his shoulders, and, with a benignant smile, replied, "Et la nouvelle Salle, donc: est ce qu'elle ne compte pour rien?" The remonstrant abonne "dried up." Certainly the new theatre, to say nothing of the staircase, and M. Baudry's wonderful paintings, has counted for a great deal with the foreigners and the provincials, who have made up the vast bulk of the audiences at the Grand Opéra.

Still, it is not only the abonnés who are not quite in love with M. Halanzier's system of management; that terrible Commission of the Budget, presided over by M. Gambetta, to wit. The power of the purse is virtually not with the legislators at Versailles, but with the Committee of Deputies sitting at the Palais Bourbon; and this body entertain, it is said, very serious views as to the expediency of remodelling the administration, financial and otherwise, of the Grand Opéra. I have even heard a whisper of a proposition "in the interests of the moral regeneration of the nation," of depriving the subscribers for private boxes and orchestra stalls of their time-honoured privilege of wandering behind the scenes between the acts and lounging in the Foyer de la Danse: the green-room of the corps de ballet.

This privilege is a very old one indeed, and dates from the days of the ancien régime, when Dukes, Marquises, Chevaliers de St. Louis, and Gentilhommes de la Chambre, not only had access to the coulisses and the foyer, but absolutely stood at the wings, in full sight of the audience, during the performance, taking snuff or chattering with the actors and actresses. Strangers behind the scenes of a theatre are to my mind always a nuisance, and I happen to have been professionally familiar with theatrical coulisses for nearly forty years; but the dandies and financiers who dangle behind the curtain of the Paris opera-house are not much in anybody's way, first through the vastness of the stage, and next owing to the admirable discipline existing not only among the dancers, choristers, and "supers," but also among the carpenters, the scene-shifters, and the machinists. The order and regularity observed behind M. Halanzier's scenes are worthy of a British man-o'-war of the first class.

That ingenuous "Atlas," in the World, observes that he should dearly like to know whether Cardinal Richelieu, Cinq-Mars, and Marion de Lorme had anything to do with the invention of steam. "Atlas," of course, means the steam-engine. "The story goes," continues the World, "that Marion de Lorme, one day visiting Bicêtre with the Marquis of Worcester, saw a maniac who professed to have discovered in the steam of boiling water a substitute for the power of man"—and of horses and water likewise, my "Atlas." "The maniac had been confined by the order of Richelieu. The Marquis of Worcester is regarded as the first discoverer of the power of steam; and Marion de Lorme is said to have related the incident in a letter to Cinq Mars."

The story, as the ingenuous "Atlas" surmises, is neither new nor true; it is about as vivacious as M. Frédéric Soulié's romance of "Les Deux Cadavres," in which the decapitated corpse of Charles I. is hung on the gallows at Tyburn in lieu of the disinterred body of Oliver Cromwell, or as M. Alexander Dumas the Elder's audacious fiction of "Les Sept Baisers de Buckingham." The Bicêtre anecdote has furnished, nevertheless, a subject for a picture very popular in France, and which most of us have seen, representing Salomon de Caux (who was a first-rate hydraulic engineer before he became cracked) handing between the bars of the cage in which he is confined a paper to the Marquis of Worcester, and entreating the English nobleman to take note of it. The paper purports to contain a diagram and description of a steam-engine invented by Salomon de Caux. The picture was engraved on wood about thirty years ago either in the People's or Howitt's Journal.

Touching the Great Marquis, "Atlas" will find all that he wants relative to the share which can be claimed by his Lordship in the invention of the steam-engine in Mr. Dircks's admirable "Memoirs of the Marquis of Worcester," which is preceded by an exhaustive résumé of the entire controversy and the respective inventors, from Hero of Alexandria to James Watt, and in the appendix to which the "Century of Inventions" is textually reprinted. I may mention, however, that within the last few days one of the Paris papers has, in a lengthy article, claimed for the old physician Denis Papin at least thirty years priority over the Marquis in the invention of the steam-engine. Papin lived to an extreme old age, and died, curiously enough, a pensioner of our own Royal Society. Everybody has heard of "Papin's Digester," a machine originally designed for the simple purpose of economising fuel and getting as much nourishment as possible out of meat by steaming instead of boiling or roasting it. Poor old Dr. Denis Papin would have been slightly astonished could he have foreseen that his "Digester" would a century and a half after his death be metaphorically utilised by Mr. Thomas Carlyle as a peg on which to hang many wise and witty reflections. Denis Papin certainly invented his own marmite, or "Digester;" and the French journal which I have mentioned also claims for him the honour of having been the first to discover, from an escape of steam through a fissure in his cooking apparatus, the use of the safety-valve.

Mem: It happened that only three days ago, while "Atlas" was penning his paragraph about the Bicêtre story, I was taking note in the English jewellery department in the Champ de Mars of a very beautiful ebony casket exhibited by Mr. John Brogden, which is enriched with a number of gold relievi representing incidents in the lives of the Marquises of Worcester and other members of the maison princière of Beaufort. Should it not be, rightly, "the House of Somerset"? Tell me, ye heralds! Is not the Duke of Somerset the head of the House of St. Maur? Is it the House of Norfolk or the House of Howard? And should we not say the House of Guelph instead of the House of Brunswick? Guelph—like Plantagenet, like Tudor, like Stuart—is a family name. The German Emperor will be the next Duke of Brunswick; but the Kaiser is the head of the House of Hohenzollern, not of Braunschweig. But I have no Almanach de Gotha by me; and it is just possible that the Emperor William may have already succeeded to the lapsed heritage of the Dukes of Brunswick. Of course, in asking these questions, I shall be reminded of the last verse in the song of "The Vicar of Bray":—

> The illustrious House of Hanover
> And Protestant Succession,
> I hereby swear allegiance to
> While they can keep possession.

But is "House of Hanover" titularly accurate? We say not the "House of Austria," but the House of "Hapsburg." King Humbert of Italy comes of the House of Este (I think), and King Alphonso XII. not of the "House of Spain," but of the "House of Bourbon."

Yet another and a final mem on the steam-engine question. "What a thrilling drama might be made out of it," remarks "Atlas," under the practical title of "Steam," "by some of the thousand or so of sucking dramatists full of burning thoughts and destitute of a subject." There happens to be extant an elaborate drama in which steam plays a very important part. I do not mean poor Watts Phillips's play of "Trial by Jury," into one of the scenes of which a steamer crowded with passengers was dragged, much on the same principle adopted in the historic case of Mr. Vincent Crummles's pump and tubs. The drama I mean is a French one, entitled "Les Ressources de Quinola," a Spaniard who is represented as the precursor, by a century and a half, of Fulton in the discovery of steam navigation. The author of this play was not by any means a "sucking" dramatist. He wrote a comedy called "Mercadet"—the parent of our "Game of Speculation"—and his name was Honoré de Balzac.

Mem: not about steam, but concerning an element which, in the sense of its power, is at once (pardon the paradox) the elder and the younger brother of the vapour of boiling water—I mean heated air. Among the last batch of candidates for the French Senate is a Monsieur de Montgolfier, the grandson or great-grandson of the inventor of the fire-balloon. About a hundred years ago the Brothers Montgolfier were paper manufacturers, in the south of France. For the purposes of illuminations at some popular fête they had made a number of large paper bags, in which, at night, candles were to be placed. The bags, duly coloured and oiled, were laid to dry in the sunshine on the grass in front of the Messieurs Montgolfier's premises. It was a very hot afternoon; and one of the partners, who was watching the drying process, remarked that the flattened bags were gradually inflated and became plump and rotund. Then one paper sphere after another slowly rose from the earth and began to sail through the ambient air. In this simple phenomenon was the germ of the invention of the fire-balloon.

Ere these lines are in print the election of M. Paul de Cassagnac will probably have been invalidated by the Republican majority in the Assembly at Versailles. Ostracism will not, I should say, disturb M. Paul de Cassagnac's equanimity to any serious extent. He is tolerably sure to be re-elected. With the political opinions of this pugnacious Bonapartist I have nothing to do; but I rather like M. Paul de Cassagnac personally—first, because he is brave in action and outspoken in speech; and, next, because the things which he says are often as clever as they are bold. There was a tremendous disturbance in the Assembly on Tuesday on the invalidation debate, and during many hours M. de Cassagnac conducted his own case, and defended himself in the tribune with as much courage and as much skill as he has shown, I know not how many times, in duels with sword and pistol. He had to be called to order for saying rude things about Marshal MacMahon; but one of his sallies was as humorous as it was hard-hitting. Some disparaging observations on the wasteful expenditure of money on the fête given at Compiègne under the Empire having been made by one of his adversaries, M. Paul de Cassagnac at once fired up. "At least," he retorted, "when the Emperor gave a ball, he did not confiscate the great-coats of his guests, as you did the other night at Versailles." G. A. S.

THE GLASGOW CITY BANK.

After the meeting of the Edinburgh High Court of Justiciary on Saturday the Lord Advocate agreed to release Mr. Stewart, one of the City of Glasgow Bank directors, on bail to the amount of £15,000.

Several meetings were held on Monday to promote the formation of a national fund for the relief of the distressed shareholders. At Glasgow subscriptions to the amount of £60,000 were announced, and at Paisley to £9000. The following firms contributed £3000 each:—John and James White, James Stevenson, Charles Tennant and Co., Messrs. Coats (Paisley), Napier and Macintyre, and Clark and Co., Paisley. Mr. James Alexander Campbell gave £2000, and several others £1000 each, including Messrs. James Campbell, James Long, W. Shirley and Son, Louis Leister, and Stewart and M'Donald.

At Edinburgh a second private conference, called by the Lord Provost, was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, to consider what steps ought to be taken, by means of a public appeal, to raise a fund for the relief of the sufferers by the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank. The Lord Provost presided. After consultation, it was resolved to hold a public meeting in the Music-Hall on Saturday (to-day), and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. At the close of the conference subscriptions to the amount of £4000 were promised by a few of the gentlemen present.

In connection with the Glasgow Bank failure a meeting representative of Lanarkshire was held on Wednesday in Glasgow, and there it was determined to adopt vigorous measures to increase the fund being raised for the relief of the shareholders. The Presbyteries of the Established and Free Churches adopted expressions of sympathy with the sufferers.

The opening address of the winter series of lectures in connection with the Edinburgh Literary Institute was given on Wednesday night by Lord Rosebery. He took as his subject "Lectures, and the good they might do." In these days, when we liked to get our information boiled down to a minimum, lectures were a powerful agency for inspiring self-improvement, and making better citizens and happier men. Referring to their influence on the feeling of patriotism, he asked whether they made patriotism their one sole and single object in considering politics. He was inclined to believe that if they were only single-minded they would not be so apt to mistrust their opponents.

MUSIC.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

The reappearance of that excellent artist Mdlle. Marimon has given a fresh and special interest to the performances at this establishment. The accomplished singer has been heard, since our last week's notice, in two of her best parts—Amina in "La Sonnambula," on Thursday week, and Dinorah on Saturday.

On the former occasion special features were, as heretofore, the grace and charm with which the opening cavatina, "Come per me sereno" was delivered; the pathos and tenderness with which the music of the bed-room and sleep-walking scenes was rendered; and the brilliant bravura singing in the final, "Ah! non giunge." On the same evening Signor Carrion appeared for the first time this season, and, as Elvino, sang with more effect than in his few performances of last season, when he was first heard here. Herr Behrens gave the cavatina of Count Rodolfo, "Vi ravviso," with much success; but, generally, the character does not suit him so well as most others with which he has been associated. As heretofore, Mdlle. Bauermeister gave full importance to the part of Lisa, as did Miss Purdy to that of Teresa.

As Dinorah Mdlle. Marimon displayed the same high merits as on previous occasions, her refinement of style and finished execution having been specially manifested in the "Slumber-song" and the "Bell Trio" of the first act, and the still more important "Shadow-song" in the second act. In this piece the bravura singing of Mdlle. Marimon was a display of exceptionally fine vocalisation. Shakes, and scale and staccato passages were executed with admirable precision, and drew forth an enthusiastic encore. Madame Trebelli sang the music of the principal Goatherd with the same fine quality of voice and polished style as on many former occasions, and was encored in the aria at the beginning of the second act. Signor Carrion sang well as Corentino; Signor Rota (who filled the part of Hoel) having apparently been indisposed, this probably having been the reason for his omitting the important romanza, "Sei Vendicata;" Mdlle. Bauermeister, as the female Goatherd, was thoroughly efficient; and the characters of the Hunter and the Reaper were represented, respectively, by Signor Roveri and M. Thomas.

On Monday "Carmen" was repeated, and it was also announced for Wednesday morning and this (Saturday) evening. Tuesday's repetition of "Der Freischütz" included the first assumption here of the part of Rodolfo by M. Candidus, who sang artistically, although evidently still under the restraining influence of recent indisposition. He was much applauded after the great tenor scena in the first scene, in which, and particularly in the trio of the second act, he displayed a good style and thorough comprehension of the spirit of the music. The other principal characters were filled as in the recent performance already noticed—Agata by Madame Pappenheim, Annetta, Mdlle. Bauermeister, and Caspar, Herr Behrens.

The only other specialty of the week was "Le Nozze de Figaro," announced for Thursday, with Herr Behrens's first assumption of the character of Figaro. Of this we must speak next week. Signor Li Calsi continues to fulfil the duties of conductor with unabated energy.

CRYSTAL PALACE.

Last Saturday's concert—the fifth of the new series—was commemorative of Mendelssohn, whose death occurred on Nov. 4, 1847. The selection from his works given on the occasion comprised a manuscript symphony. This is one of twelve early works of the kind—chiefly for stringed instruments only—composed between the years 1820 and 1823. As the works of mere boyhood they are, of course, vastly inferior to his matured productions; but have yet an interest as disclosing the germs of those powers which were developed at so early an age, his overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream" having been written in 1826, when he was scarcely sixteen. Detached movements from several of the earliest symphonies had been given at previous Crystal Palace concerts; but that in F minor, composed in 1823 (for stringed instruments), was performed entire on Saturday. It consists of four movements—an Allegro introduced by a brief Adagio, a slow movement ("Adagio"), a Minuetto (with Trio), and a finale. The intermediate Adagio and the Minuet and Trio were the most effective portions; but the general impression left by the performance of the whole was that it would be well not to put forth more of the essays of the childhood of a composer who has produced so much that is great and permanent.

The other orchestral pieces at Saturday's concert were the "Scherzo" (encored) and "Notturno" from the "Midsummer Night's Dream" music, and the overture to "Athalie." Madame Montigny-Rémaury played, with much effect, the pianoforte concerto in G minor, two of the "Songs Without Words," and the caprice in E minor (op. 16), and Madame Lemmens-Sherrington sang two airs—one from the early opera "The Marriage of Camacho," the other from "Son and Stranger," also an early dramatic work. M. Candidus gave the cavatina "Be thou faithful," from "St. Paul," and the air "If with all your hearts," from "Elijah," under the disadvantageous influence of a severe cold, for which an apology was made. Mr. Manns conducted with skill and judgment.

M. Rivière's Promenade Concerts at Covent-Garden Theatre closed on Saturday evening with a special performance for his benefit, the programme having included many and varied attractions. A supplemental concert, also of an extra description, was given on Monday evening for the benefit of Mr. S. Hayes, the acting manager.

The Monday Popular Concerts entered on their twenty-first season this week, when the selection began with Mendelssohn's string quartet in E minor, No. 2 of op. 44, which was finely played by Madame Norman-Néruda, Mr. L. Ries, Mr. Zerbini, and Signor Piatti. M. Louis Brassin played Beethoven's great solo sonata in C major (dedicated to Count Waldstein) with special success, the pianist having been associated with Madame Néruda and Signor Piatti in Schubert's first trio (in B flat). Mr. Santley sang Signor Piatti's song, "O swallow, swallow!" (the violoncello obbligato to which was finely played by the composer), and was encored in Handel's aria, "Nasce al bosco," for which the singer substituted Gounod's "Maid of Athens." Mr. Zerbini accompanied the vocal pieces.—The first Saturday afternoon performance of the new season takes place to-day with the same quartet party, Mr. Charles Hallé as solo pianist, and Miss C. Merivale as vocalist.

The thirteenth season of the London Ballad Concerts, directed by Mr. John Boosey, began at St. James's Hall on Wednesday evening, when the singing of Mr. Sims Reeves was a prominent feature among many attractions. Our great tenor was heard in Mr. Sullivan's "Once again" and "Tom Bowling," for the encore of which latter he substituted "Come into the garden, Maud." Mr. Reeves met with the usual enthusiastic reception. Other effective vocal pieces (several of which were encored) were contributed by Mesdames Sherrington and Antoinette Sterling, Misses M. Davies and M. Cummings, Mr. B. McGuckin, Mr. Santley, Mr. C. Tovey, and the members of the "London Vocal Union." Madame Arabella Goddard was unable to appear, in consequence of an inflamed finger, and was replaced by Miss Margaret Bucknall, who played three brilliant pianoforte solos with great success. Mr. Sidney Naylor conducted. The second concert takes place next Wednesday evening.

The eighth season of the Royal Albert Hall Choral Society opened on Thursday evening with a performance of "Elijah," conducted by Mr. Barnby. The solo singers announced were Mesdames Sherrington and Antoinette Sterling, Mr. V. Rigby, Mr. Thornton, Mr. Hilton, and Mr. S. Smith.

The opera announced for performance at the Alexandra Palace this (Saturday) evening is "Martha," with Madame Rose Hersee in the principal character; the operatic recital promised at the Royal Aquarium at the same time being "La Figlia del Reggimento."

Mr. F. J. Campbell, Principal of the Royal Normal College and Academy of Music for the Blind, announces an Orchestral Concert, to be held at St. James's Hall on Tuesday evening, the 19th inst.; when the pupils and professors will be aided by an orchestra of eighty performers, under the conductorship of Dr. Hans von Bülow.

THE MAGAZINES.

The instalments of "For Percival" and "Within the Precincts" in this month's Cornhill are curiously contrasted, the former concluding with a picture of despair, the latter with one of bliss, each executed with equal power. The remaining contents are not particularly striking, but are good examples of the elegant and cultivated style of essay-writing characteristic of this periodical. The best is that on the Eighteenth Century, an entertaining and impartial review of the manners, sentiments, and social conditions of that staid and substantial time, when society seemed for a space as solidly organised as in the Middle Ages. "A century," says the writer, Mr. Kebbel, "of great moral and mental tranquillity; a century in which the landmarks were not removed, and abuses were allowed to spread in picturesque luxuriance over all our most venerable institutions; a century, nevertheless, of great men and great deeds." "The Undefinable in Art" and "The Fear of Death" are thoughtful and suggestive essays; the former more remarkable for subtlety, the latter for manly sense. There is also an interesting sketch of Regnard, the second French comic writer of the classical school after Molière, whose life, as well as his writings, presents many points worthy of study.

Macmillan contains a great variety of short papers, the most important being the three on political subjects which close the number. Mr. Lang recommends letting the Turks alone until the necessity of reform is forced upon them by the progress of events. Sir T. D. Forsyth, in vindicating the Ameer Shere Ali, seems to censure both the schemes of policy which have been pursued with reference to Afghanistan, and to leave us more uncertain than ever. Sir Garnet Wolseley expresses his confidence in the future of Cyprus in a few frank, soldierly words, not designed for publication. "A Doubting Heart" and "Haworth's" are good; and the Italian parallel between Bunyan and Dante, partly translated by Mr. R. L. Nettleship, is interesting, both for the justice of the criticism and as an instance of an Italian's appreciation of a foreign masterpiece very alien to the national standard of taste. Mr. A. W. Ward discusses the expediency of establishing additional Universities in England, and, as a Professor at Owens College, naturally decides in the affirmative. Mr. Bradley contributes an exceedingly graphic sketch of negro life in the Southern States since the emancipation; and Mr. Edward Rose dwells on the practical skill displayed by Shakspeare as an adapter for the stage in his treatment of the old play on which he founded his "King John."

Fraser is more interesting than has generally been the case of late. The best paper, as usual, is "Vernon Lee's" study of Italian music in the eighteenth century, the last of this charming series. The Neapolitan musicians, as seen by Dr. Burney, form the subject. The valuable series of articles on British Burmah is continued by a description of Burmese manufactures and works of art. "How Turkey in Asia is Governed" conveys a powerful picture of Ottoman corruption and disorganisation, and the absolute necessity for British interference. Miss Simcox's proposal for "The Organisation of Unremunerative Industry" deserves attention. "Holidays in Eastern France" is another of Miss Bethan Edwards's pleasant and instructive sketches of French country life.

Conservative Blackwood startles its readers with a pair of Utopias, the "Ordeal," by which war on the large scale is to be abolished; and the author of "Piccadilly's" serio-comic proposals for the creation of an American aristocracy. Mr. Oliphant's project is founded on the theory of evolution, and he deals out its hits alike at Darwinism and the growing pretentiousness of American wealthy society with the most irresistible mock gravity and in the richest spirit of caricature. The writer of "John Caldigate" uses old material over again with a freshness of spirit which almost prevails upon us to accept them as new. The principal political contribution is a temperate and argumentative defence of Lord Lytton's policy on the Afghan question.

The Nineteenth Century is not particularly interesting this month, though containing contributions from pens of no less eminence than Professor Tyndall's, Mr. Ruskin's, Lord Stratford de Redcliffe's, Mr. Lowe's, and Mr. Gladstone's. The most important of these by far is Professor Tyndall's reply to Professor Virchow's celebrated Berlin address, vindicating, in opposition to the German savant's more matter-of-fact spirit, that distinguished place for the imaginative faculty which he has asserted for it on former occasions. Mr. Ruskin's "Three Colours of Pre-Raphaelitism," though written with his accustomed beauty of diction, is chiefly interesting as a proof of his restoration to health. Mr. Gladstone's paper is an electioneering pamphlet; Lord Stratford's the conclusion of a series; and Mr. Lowe's championship of political economy is less vigorous than might have been expected. Mr. J. G. Fitch powerfully opposes the creation of a new University.

The most important contribution to a remarkably interesting number of the Fortnightly is Mr. Wallace's paper on the replantation of Epping Forest. It needs an accomplished naturalist like Mr. Wallace to show the enormous capacities of this noble, though temporarily ruined expanse of forest land, and the undreamed of beauties it is in our power to create if the work be set about in a scientific manner, especially by the acclimatisation of trees from North America. There is probably no living man so competent for the task as Mr. Wallace himself. Mr. Matthew Arnold does a good work in pleading for the higher education of the middle classes, but commits the mistake of underrating its actual quality, and relies too much on Government aid. The excess of such interference, as Mr. Fawcett reminds us at the conclusion of his able essay on Socialism in Germany and the United States, is a direct concession to the principle of Socialism, and such tendency in that direction as now exists in this country usually assumes the shape of a demand for it. A less objectionable form of State assistance cannot be imagined than the creation of the Museum of Casts for which Mr. Colvin pleads—vainly, as we must fear, in the face of a declining revenue. In the United States some public-spirited citizen would probably be found to do the work by himself. Mr. Colvin further pleads powerfully for the introduction of archæology into the public-school curriculum of classical instruction; but here, again, little will be effected until the subject is made to tell in examinations. Mr. Chamberlain apologises for the despotism of the Liberal "six hundred" at Bradford, and tries to justify the systematic exclusion of political minorities from a voice in municipal affairs. He will find the equity and independence of his countrymen against him on both points. The second part of Mr. F. Harrison's "English School of Jurisprudence" deals with Bentham's and Austin's definition and analysis of law. Mr. Sully gives expression to the complaints of sensitive dwellers in cities martyrised by the noises incidental to their situation, or inflicted upon them by the thoughtlessness of their neighbours. He concludes that the law of nuisance should be made more stringent. Mr. Barham Zincke draws an idyllic and, happily, at the same time a realistic picture of the enviable moral and economic condition of the French peasantry of the Limagne, under the system of small landed proprietorships.

The Contemporary Review is also very interesting this month. One of the most important contributions comes from Rome, and dwells particularly on the thoroughly Italian character of the College of Cardinals, which has its good side, as rendering that body more sensitive to Italian public opinion, and its bad side from the low degree of intellectual culture and political morality which it implies. Leo the Thirteenth's intentions, the writer says, are excellent; but he will be unable to realise them until he breaks the magic circle of the prelatura. Sir James Paget and two other eminent medical authorities discuss the question of the use of alcohol, and all arrive at the conclusion that temperance is better than abstinence. Dr. Littledale endeavours to explain to the Abbé Martin "why Ritualists do not become Roman Catholics;" but is unfortunately compelled to explain at the same time why they do. Professor Jebb points out the unquestionable advantage to culture that would result from the establishment of English schools of archæology at Athens and Rome. Professor Dowden's essay on the text of Wordsworth's poems is full of curious examples of the changes, sometimes felicitous, more frequently the reverse, introduced and revoked by the poet at different periods of his life.

The Gentleman's Magazine has an interesting, well-constructed tale by Mr. D. C. Murray, entitled "An Old Meerschaum;" a popular essay on the migration of animals, by Dr. A. Wilson; and a suggestive one on the growth of nations, by Mr. Grant Allen. The most important communication, however, if trustworthy, is one from Mr. F. Boyle, on the alleged regeneration of the Ashantee kingdom, which is stated to be now more powerful than ever. The veracity of Mr. Boyle's informant seems not wholly beyond question; yet there is no intrinsic improbability in his story. Belgravia, besides its serials, has an interesting short tale entitled "Bianca;" a lively metrical dialogue by Mr. Austin Dobson; and a collection of popular superstitions from the county of Cavan. The most remarkable contributions to Temple Bar, after the continuation of "The First Violin," are a notice of the Scotch Miss Austen, Miss Ferrier, interspersed with some highly interesting specimens of her correspondence; and Mr. Wedmore's pretty sketch of "An Upland Valley" in the Engadine.

The Atlantic Monthly is, as usual, full of variety; but the only contributions of great importance are Mr. Howell's story "The Lady of the Arostook," and a very significant account of the aims and ideas of the new "national" or "greenback" party, derived from confidential intercourse with some of its representative men. Its cardinal principles may be defined as a belief in the omnipotence of government and the equality of paper currency with gold. One of the causes which have tended to encourage such wild delusions is briefly pointed out in Mr. Brook Adams's paper on the unfairness of taxation in Massachusetts. Scribner's Monthly, besides much other excellent matter, has copious memoirs of Mr. Longfellow and the great inventor Edison, fully and admirably illustrated. The Month is chiefly remarkable for an article on some of the internal dissensions of the Catholic body.

The University Magazine has an excellent memoir and photograph of the author of "The Earthly Paradise," and several other good papers, among which Miss Helen Zimmern's account of the travels of Rabbi Benjamin of Tudela and Mr. E. Robertson's eloquent protest against Malthusianism are especially to be noticed. The "Spirit of the Universities" is also a notable feature, and on this occasion includes communications from seats of learning as remote as Melbourne and Granada.

Good Words is as generally interesting as usual, and the sudden turn in Mr. Black's novel is particularly striking. We have also to acknowledge London Society, the Argosy, and the New Era.

The first weekly Number of The Book-Analyst and Library Guide, a small twopenny journal "for readers, teachers, and students," has been issued by Messrs. S. H. Lindley and Co., of Catherine street, Strand. It supplies a brief account of the scope and contents of all new books of any importance, the principal articles in contemporary magazines and reviews, and the proceedings of learned societies, both in England and abroad. This seems likely to be useful, and the arrangement is well designed for general service.

At the meeting of the council of the Royal Agricultural Society on Wednesday there was a long discussion respecting the show to be held at Kilburn next year. It was resolved that the exhibition should be open from June 30 to July 7.—The question whether the hundredweight shall, as at present, consist of 112 lbs. or be 100 lbs. is being agitated. At a council meeting of the Central Chamber of Agriculture held on Tuesday a resolution in favour of the cental weight of 100 lb. as the standard was adopted, together with one memorialising the Board of Trade to duly verify the cental as a new imperial denomination and provide a standard of one half that weight. At a public meeting held at the London Corn Exchange resolutions were also passed expressing an opinion that grain of all kinds and the dry products thereof should be sold by weight only; and that the cental of one hundred imperial standard pounds would be the most convenient selling standard. But there was a strong minority against it. At a meeting of the Staffordshire Chamber of Agriculture on Saturday—presided over by Mr. Hanbury, M.P.—the Weights and Measures Act of the last Session was discussed and approved; but a motion that the cental of 100 lb. afforded the simplest definition of weights for grain, flour, fruit, &c., was almost unanimously negatived, and an amendment in favour of the present 112lb. was carried.

The Extra Supplement.

"SUNDAY MORNING."

This picture, which is now in the possession of Mr. Reginald France, was exhibited last season at the Grosvenor Gallery, New Bond-street. Its subject belongs to a different sphere of human life from that of Mr. Alma-Tadema's most famous works. Instead of the interior of a Roman palace or villa, occupied by stately and luxurious grandees of the ancient world, here is a domestic apartment in the Netherlands, perhaps a hundred years ago, with the quiet "house-mother" seated in peace to read her cherished Bible, a volume adorned with fine woodcuts in the old style; and here is the nursemaid, holding a babe in arms, as she stands by the open window that the infant may feel the fresh air, while the soothing melody of church bells comes into the room with sounds of sacred peace. It is a pleasant idyll of pure household happiness, as good as many a sermon in commendation of the spirit of Christianity, and presenting an instructive moral contrast to some of the artist's most powerful delineations of Pagan pomp and pride in the gorgeous society of Imperial Rome. The details of costume and furniture, of which we may notice the curiously shaped footstool, with a chafing-dish of charcoal to comfort the feet, as well as the double tier of windows and other architectural features, are precisely rendered from such as might be observed in a Dutch or Flemish mansion of the period. Altogether, it is a picture which deserves to be admired, both for its truthful representation of character and for the wholesome sweetness of its general expression.

THE NEW BELLS OF ST. PAUL'S.

The ceremony of the formal dedication and benediction of the new bells in the south-west tower of St. Paul's Cathedral was performed yesterday week (Friday) at five o'clock in the afternoon. The usual afternoon service, at four o'clock, was attended in the dome by an immense congregation. Among those present were Alderman Sir W. Rose, Alderman Sir R. Carden, and Professor Tennant, of the Turners' Company, which company is associated with Baroness Burdett-Coutts in the gift of four of the bells. The Bishop of London, Bishop Claughton, and the Dean and Chapter were seated in the choir. The sermon was preached by the Rev. J. V. Povah, upon the words of Psalm cl. 1, "Praise ye the Lord; praise God in His sanctuary." In a discourse relating to the duty of praise, he referred to the event of the day, "the dedication of twelve new bells presented by the Corporation and leading City companies, aided by one whose name is almost a synonym for Christian beneficence." The preacher remarked that Wren's bell-tower had waited 200 years for its bells. He observed that when England was expressing her thanksgiving for the Battle of Trafalgar and her grief for the death of her great hero, that cathedral, which received the remains of Nelson, had no bells with which to give voice to the nation's joy and sorrow. Until now St. Paul's Cathedral had no bells to summon the worshippers to her walls, to celebrate the great festivals of the Church, to ring out the old year and to ring in the new, or to peal forth at Royal accessions, marriages, and births. But the bells now provided would be heard on such occasions by the present congregation and by their children's children.

At the conclusion of the afternoon service, a procession was formed to the bell tower, where the ringers, members of the "Ancient Society of College Youths," were assembled. The procession was headed by Dr. Stainer, organist of the cathedral, and Mr. Martin, the sub-organist; then came the Bishop of London, Bishop Claughton, Dean Church, the Rev. Canon Gregory, Prebendaries the Rev. W. Cadman and the Rev. C. Mackenzie, the Minor Canons, Revs. W. H. Milman, J. V. Povah, W. J. Hall, W. C. F. Webbe, and Sparrow Simpson, and the choristers. As the dimension of the ringing chamber would allow of none beside the ringers, the clergy, and the choir being present at the ceremony, the only tickets issued were invitations to the Press, admitted to the room below the ringing-chamber during the service. This, which was perfectly audible in the room beneath, consisted of certain versicles and responses, in which the Dean and the choir took part; Psalms cxxx., xxix., and cl., sung by the choir; a selection of prayers, read by the Bishop of London; and the hymn, "When morning gilds the skies," from "Hymns Ancient and Modern." The service concluded at ten minutes to six o'clock, when the bells burst into a joyous peal. The names of the company who had the distinction of being the first ringers of the bells of St. Paul's were Messrs. Haley, sen., Haley, jun., Cooter, Pettit, Mash, Haworth, Ferris, Dwight, Horrex, Maskett, Wood, Hayes, Dorrington, Reeves, and Jones. One or two of this company attended as a reserve, and two men were required to ring the tenor bell, weighing 62 cwt., presented by the Corporation of the City. The ringing lasted until half-past seven o'clock, about a thousand changes being executed. The bells are not connected with the clock, so that the hours and quarters will not be struck by them, and a carillon is still wanting; but before each daily service the bells will be chimed by hand, and their summons to worship will now be heard in the busy streets of London.

The largest of the new peal, called the tenor, is toned in B flat; it hangs in the south-west corner, a mass weighing 62 cwt., and measuring 5 ft. 8 in. in diameter. It was presented by the Corporation. No. 11, scarcely smaller, is a gift of the Grocers' Company, 10 of the Clothworkers', 9 of the Fishmongers', 8 of the Merchant Taylors', 7 of the Salters', 6, 5, 4, 3 of the Turners' (aided by Baroness Burdett-Coutts), 2 and 1 of the Drapers'. The lower numbers, of course, are very much smaller and less costly, the treble weighing only 8 cwt. The peal entire weighs rather more than thirteen tons, and cost about £2500. The Chapter has expended near £1000 in preparing the belfry for it and in getting it into position. The bells were cast by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, a family engaged for several generations in the craft near Oxford. These bells altogether are scarcely more than twice the weight of that which strikes the hours. It was cast in 1716, from a quantity of old bell-metal given by the Chapter of Westminster, and weighs over six tons; but in quality and tone it is surpassed beyond comparison by the new peal.

Mr. Samuel Phelps, the tragedian, died on Wednesday at Anson's Farm, near Epping, after an illness of some months. He was born at Devonport in 1806, and was apprenticed to a printer; but at the expiration of his apprenticeship he took to the stage, and made his first appearance at York in 1828. He first appeared before a London audience, in 1837, in the character of Shylock, at the Haymarket Theatre, then under the management of Mr. Webster, and afterwards performed at Drury Lane, under Mr. Macready's management. From 1844 to 1862 he was the principal manager of Sadler's Wells, and it is in connection with this part of his career that the name of Mr. Phelps will be chiefly remembered. He afterwards acted at the Lyceum, under Mr. Fechter, at Drury Lane, and other theatres. Mr. Phelps also edited an edition of Shakspeare's plays, which was published in 1853. We hope to be able to give his portrait next week.

BLESSING THE NEW BELLS OF ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

THE RIGHT HON. SIR CHARLES WHETHAM, THE NEW LORD MAYOR OF LONDON.

MR. SHERIFF BEVAN.

MR. SHERIFF BURT.

THE NEW LORD MAYOR AND SHERIFFS.

We present on this Lord Mayor's Day the Portraits of Alderman Sir Charles Whetham, Lord Mayor of London, Mr. Sheriff Burt, and Mr. Sheriff Bevan, Sheriffs of London and Middlesex; and we are indebted to the City Press for the following account of those esteemed members of the City Corporation:—

Alderman Sir Charles Whetham is son of the late Mr. Stephen Whetham, of the firm of S. Whetham and Sons, flax and hemp manufacturers, of Bridport, of which firm the Lord Mayor is now senior partner. The father of the Lord Mayor married a daughter of Mr. Tucker, by whom the works had previously been conducted. Their second son, Charles, was born in May, 1812, and, after receiving his education at the Rev. Matthew Austin's Grammar School, in his native town, came early in life to the metropolis. He married the only daughter of the late Mr. George Langley, and is the father of five sons and four daughters. Sir Charles Whetham has for many years been a Justice of the Peace, as were his father and elder brother, and he is also a Deputy Lieutenant of London. In 1842 he was elected a member of the Court of Common Council for the Ward of Bridge. Subsequently he was chosen Deputy of the ward. On the death of the late Sir Joseph Causton, then Alderman of the ward, he was invited to assume the aldermanic gown, and was unanimously elected. He served the office of Sheriff of London and Middlesex in 1873-4 (during the Mayoralty of Alderman Sir Andrew Lusk, Bart., M.P.), in conjunction with Sir J. H. Johnson. He received the honour of knighthood from her Majesty upon the occasion of the visit of the Emperor of Russia to the City after the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh. Sir Charles Whetham has been a member of the Leathersellers' Company forty years, and in 1873 served the office of Master of that corporation. In addition to the business of his firm both in Bridport and in London, he has found time to render good service to various undertakings of a public nature, being chairman of the National Provident Institution, of the Scottish Australian Investment Society, and of some other companies in the City. In whatever duties he has been called upon to share he has been found ready and able to take a decided and active part; and we congratulate him, and those who have elected him to the Mayoralty, on the further step in a well-earned position. Our portrait of Alderman Sir Charles Whetham is from a photograph by Messrs. Elliott and Fry, but which does not represent him in the Lord Mayor's robes. We have since received one taken by Messrs. Maull and Co., in his full costume; and we are indebted to Messrs. Maull and Co. for the portraits of the two Sheriffs.

Mr. Sheriff George Burt, of Grosvenor Wharf, Westminster, was born at Swanage, Dorset, in October, 1816. The family can be traced in the parish register for nearly two hundred years. They belonged to an ancient guild chartered for working the quarries of Purbeck marble, the material of some of our finest cathedrals. His father, Mr. Robert Burt, was a stonemason there, and brought up his son to follow the same trade. At the age of nineteen the late Mr. Mowlem (also a native of Swanage, and Mr. George Burt's uncle) brought him to London as an assistant in his business. In 1844 Mr. Mowlem took Mr. Burt and Mr. Freeman (who had previously married Mr. Burt's elder sister) into partnership. The firm, which has now been well known in London for nearly half a century, was from that time known by its present title of "John Mowlem and Co." The senior partner died in 1868, and the business was carried on by Mr. Freeman and Mr. Burt until 1875, when Mr. John Mowlem Burt, the elder son of the Sheriff, was taken into partnership, and these three gentlemen now constitute the firm, well known in London as road and general contractors, and in Aberdeen and Guernsey as quarry-owners. They were the first to manufacture and lay down the pavement known as "narrow cubes." The first roadway so laid was that of old Blackfriars Bridge, in the year 1840. Mr. Burt acted as outdoor partner of the firm, and some of the largest public works in and around London were executed under his immediate superintendence. Mr. Burt's has been a very active career, and lately in his well-earned retirement his efforts have been devoted in promoting the prosperity of his native place and its neighbourhood. He generally lives at Swanage, where he has built a mansion. Mr. Burt married Elizabeth, daughter of the late Mr. John Hudson, of Stowbridge, Norfolk, May 19, 1840. His family consists of two sons and three daughters, the eldest of the latter married to Captain T. Davies Sewell. Mr. Burt has been an active member of the Metropolitan Asylum Board from its commencement. He holds many other public appointments both in London and Swanage. He is a member of the courts of the Glass-sellers', Shipwrights' and Farriers' Companies, having three times served the office of master of the first-named guild. He holds a distinguished position in Freemasonry, being Past Provincial Grand Senior Warden of Dorset, and Past Master of No. 18 Old Dundee Lodge, London, and No. 1146 De Moulham Lodge, of Swanage. Mr. Burt has appointed Mr. Wynne E. Baxter, C.C., of 9, Laurence Pountney-hill, as his Under-Sheriff, and the Ven. Archdeacon Sanctuary as his Chaplain.

Mr Sheriff Thomas Bevan is son of the late Dr Thomas Bevan, M.D., of Finsbury-circus, and was born in 1829. He was educated at the City of London Schools, where he was at one time captain. He entered business life in 1853 with Mr. J. M. Knight and Mr. Alfred Sturge, constituting the firm of Knight, Bevan, and Sturge, who carried on for many years the business of cement manufacturers at Northfleet; Belvedere-road, Lambeth; and Lime-street. Since the death of Mr. Sturge, and the retirement from business of Mr. Knight, the business has been carried on under the same title by Mr. Bevan, who has recently admitted into the firm his eldest son, Mr. Robert Bevan. It will be remembered that the introduction into the firm of Mr. Robert Bevan was made the occasion of opening a club and institute, erected by Mr. Bevan for the use of the large staff of his workmen and others at Northfleet, at a cost of £10,000. Mr. Bevan has shown himself a wise and considerate employer, many of his workmen having been in his service for a lifetime. Mr. Bevan married Emma, daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Bayes, of Kimberley, Norfolk, in 1852, and has issue Robert, and two sons and four daughters. He is in the commission of the peace for the county of Kent, and is a member of the Shipwrights' Company. Mr. Bevan resides at Stone Park, near Dartford, Kent, and at 25, Ennismore-gardens, Princes-gate. He is a member of the Devonshire Club and of the City Liberal Club. Mr. Bevan has appointed Mr H. J. Godden, C.C., of Lime-street Chambers, as his Under-Sheriff, and the Rev. M. M. Finch, Chaplain of Huggins' College, Northfleet, as his Chaplain.

The new Lord Mayor was received on Saturday last by the Lord Chancellor, to whom he was presented by the Recorder, accompanied by the other City officers, at the Lord Chancellor's residence in South Kensington. The Lord Mayor's state procession from Guildhall to Westminster, and the usual banquet at Guildhall, will take place this day.

NEW WINTER GARDEN AT CHELTENHAM.

The Imperial Winter Garden and Skating Rink at Cheltenham, of which we give an Illustration, was opened on Wednesday. It is situated in "Imperial-square," on the south-east side of the Upper Promenade, in a central and commanding position, and will henceforth be esteemed one of the town's chief ornaments. In style it is Italian, in plan cruciform, and is flanked by two towers. Where the transepts intersect the main building, a dome rises to the height of nearly 100 feet. The floor area is 16,500 feet, inclusive of the retiring-rooms and offices; the extreme length is 250 feet, and the average width 50 feet—that is to say, each end of the structure measures 100 feet by 50 feet, and the dome and transepts together 130 feet by 50 feet. The walls are of brick, faced internally and externally with white Leicester pressed bricks, relieved with bands and arches of red brick; the mouldings, boldly designed, are executed in Portland cement. The roofs are light and elegant, of iron and glass throughout. The main ribs are semicircular, with pierced openings, relieved with colour. The grounds lie chiefly on the promenade side of the building, and are ornamentally laid out in terraces and lawns. An important feature of the exterior is the uncovered rink. It is upwards of 1000 square yards in extent, and is laid by the Trimmer Asphalte Company, with an asphalte which is extensively used. The south-west end of the building is occupied by another rink, continuous with the former, and of large proportions. The opposite end of the interior is a winter garden, concert-hall, exhibition, and place of general entertainment; the centre and transepts form an agreeable promenade. These latter, however, fulfil another and equally important purpose. The vast floor has, at considerable cost, been laid down with improvements—indiarubber springs having been placed under the joists—for the use of dancing parties; it is the finest ball-room in the town or county. To the warming and ventilation of the building great attention has been paid, as well as to other arrangements which secure additional comfort, with harmless amusement and recreation, to residents and visitors. The main entrance is from the promenade, but there are admission-gates for carriages on the opposite side of the grounds. The whole is under the supervision of Mr. James Grant, the secretary and general manager.

The German Empress has presented Lady George Gordon Lennox, Lady Elizabeth Bryan, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Daniell, and Mrs. M'Connell with golden brooches in recognition of the active sympathy displayed by them on the occasion of the loss of the Grosser Kurfürst.

On Tuesday the Lord Mayor transmitted to Mr. Parr, banker at Wigan, £1061, collected at the Mansion House in aid of the sufferers by the fearful explosion at the Haydock Colliery. Upwards of £25,000 in all has been received at Wigan, but £2000 more is still needed.

Sir Stafford Northcote was present at a Conference of Poor-Law Guardians and others interested in the administration of the Poor Law, held at Exeter on Tuesday, when he spoke at some length on the subject of a paper on "Endowments and Pauperism," read by Sir Arthur Hobhouse.

Mr. E. Stanford, the eminent geographer and publisher, of Charing-cross, has produced, for the present urgent occasion, an excellent Coloured Map of the Indian and Afghan Frontiers; and another Map—that of Western Asia—showing all the Turkish, Persian, Belooch, and Afghan territories, from Cyprus to Lahore, with the Russian dominions around the Caspian and the Sea of Aral.

NATIONAL SPORTS.

The first three days of the Liverpool Meeting were all that could be wished in the way of weather, but the sport was not of a very high-class character, and nearly everyone will be glad when the season comes to a close. On Tuesday Clonave was beaten by Bacchus, another Irish horse, in a hurdle-race; but as he turned the tables upon him in a similar event on Thursday, it appears that the veteran has not yet lost all his once fine speed. Lord Hastings, a new acquisition to the turf, made a most successful début. He has purchased some of the horses that Lord Lonsdale recently sold to Captain Machell, and two of them—Birdie and Hackthorpe—won their respective races. The latter gave any amount of weight to Balance and Bryonia, fillies of the same age as himself, and won in such style that he bids fair to be one of the champion "sprinters" of next year. Twice during the week Roscius ran moderately, and it is clear that, like the majority of Brocklesby winners, he will never fulfil his early promise. The Liverpool Autumn Cup fell to Belphœbe (8 st. 1 lb.), with Touchet (8 st.) second, and Master Kildare (7 st. 4 lb.) third—the two last named thus filling the same luckless places that they occupied in the Cambridgeshire and St. Leger respectively.

Eight horses, the property of Mr. P. Lorillard, one of the leading sportsmen of America, arrived at Newmarket on Saturday last. They will thus have the whole winter to become acclimatised; and we hear very favourable accounts of their appearance and promise. On Tuesday Musket, about the best horse ever owned by the late Mr. George Payne, was shipped for New Zealand.

Now that the racing season is fast expiring the admirers of coursing are just getting into the full swing of their favourite pursuit, and each week sees some high-class gathering wiped off the list of fixtures to come. Last week the Border Union (Longtown) Meeting was brought off with the greatest éclat. The weather on all three days was delightful, and there was a splendid stock of hares. The Earl of Haddington carried off the lion's share of the prizes, as his Haidee, by Donald—Hornet, won the Netherby Cup, beating Sir James, by Blackburn—Fanny Warfield, in the final ties, while he took a third of the Border Union Stakes, with Herera, by Fugitive—Honeydew, the co-dividers being Hagar and Countess of Avon. These three all appear to be very good puppies; and it may be remembered that Haidee ran well in the last Waterloo Cup until she was put out, in the third round, by Whistling Dick. Mr. Hedley's judging, as usual, gave the greatest satisfaction to all, and Wilkinson slipped beautifully.

The six-days' race at the Agricultural Hall was finished on Saturday night. W. Corkey won with a record of 521 miles, "Blower" Brown and Rowell taking the second and third prizes respectively. An Illustration and a full account appear in another part of the Paper.

POSTAGE
OF
THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS.

AT HOME

The cost of transmission by post within the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands, is one halfpenny.

ABROAD.

Africa, West Coast of	2d	Gibraltar	2d
Alexandra	2d	Greece	2d
Australia, viâ Brindisi viâ Southamptoa	4d	Holland	2d
	2d	India, viâ Brindisi ...	4d
Austria	2d	viâ Southampton ...	2d
Belgium	2d	Italy	2d
Brazil	2d	Mauritius	2d
Canada	2d	New Zealand	2d
Cape of Good Hope ...	2d	Norway	2d
China, viâ Brindisi ...	4d	Russia	2d
viâ Southampton	2d	Spain	2d
Constantinople... ...	2d	Sweden	2d
Denmark	2d	Switzerland	2d
France	2d	United States	2d
Germany	2d	West Indies	2d

Copies printed on thin paper may be sent to the Colonies and Foreign Countries at half the rates stated above; but their use is not recommended, the appearance of the Engravings being greatly injured by the print at the back showing through.

Newspapers for foreign parts must be posted within eight days of the time of publication.

MALVERN COLLEGE.
The NEXT TERM will begin on MONDAY, JAN. 27.

WRITING, BOOK-KEEPING, &c.
Persons of any age, however bad their writing, may, in EIGHT EASY LESSONS, acquire Permanently an Elegant and Flowing style of Penmanship, adapted either to professional pursuits or private correspondence. Book-keeping by double entry, as practised in the Government, banking, and mercantile offices. Arithmetic Shorthand, &c.—Apply to Mr. W. SMART, at his sole Institution, 97a, Quadrant, Regent-street.

COLOMBO, MADRAS, and CALCUTTA.
DUCAL LINE.—Exceptional and favourable terms of passage for a limited number of first-class passengers. Apply to Grindlay and Co., No. 55, Parliament-street, S.W.; to McDiarmid, Greenshields, and Co., or to F. Green and Co., 112, Fenchurch-street, E.C.

THRONDHJEM, NORWAY.
BRITANNIA HOTEL.—The undersigned, widow of the late Andreas Myhre, respectfully informs her patrons that she has continued the management of the Britannia Hotel, which has been this year considerably enlarged through the erection of an extensive building containing all modern comforts, and thus extending to sixty the number of rooms, exclusive of dining and reading rooms. CECILIE MYHRE.

STEAM-BOAT ACCIDENTS, Railway Accidents, Accidents of all kinds insured against by the RAILWAY PASSENGERS ASSURANCE COMPANY.
The Oldest and Largest Accidental Insurance Company.
The Right Hon. Lord KINNAIRD, Chairman.
£1,230,000 have been paid as compensation.
No. 64, Cornhill, London. WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

HOMŒOPATHIC HOSPITAL (SELECT) for LADIES, Bolton House, 192, Clapham-road, Surrey. Established 1867. A Private Home, where Patients suffering from serious diseases, and requiring special supervision, can obtain the best Medical and Surgical Treatment without incurring anxiety in their own homes. Trustees of success but cases forwarded for twelve stamps. Physician, DAVID JONES, M.D. Consultations daily, Eleven to One (Tuesday and Friday excepted), at 15, Welbeck-street, London.

NEW BOOKS AND PUBLICATIONS.

MISS BRADDON'S NEW CHRISTMAS ANNUAL.
Now ready, price One Shilling, Illustrated with Eight Whole-Page and Twenty other Engravings,
THE MISTLETOE BOUGH. A New Christmas Annual. By the Author of "Lady Audley's Secret," &c.
London: J. and R. MAXWELL, Shoe-lane, Fleet-street.

No. 1, for NOVEMBER price 8s. net,
ENGLISH ORGAN MUSIC. Chiefly for Church Use. Published Monthly, under the direction of the Editor of "The Musical Standard."
Annual Subscription, price One Guinea.
WILLIAM REEVES, 185, Fleet-street, London.

Ready this day, crown 8vo, price 8s. 6d.,
ROBERT SCHUMANN'S LIFE AND LETTERS, with List of his Published Works. By WASIELEWSKI. With Preface by W. A. BARRETT, B. Mus.
WILLIAM REEVES, No. 185, Fleet-street, London.

In One Volume,
BRITTANY: A Series of Thirty-five Sketches. By BIRKET FOSTER. The Drawings are reproduced with the greatest exactness by Messrs. Maclure and Macdonald's Autographic Process, and are printed on India paper. Price £2 2s.
To be obtained only of the Artist, The Hill, Witley, Surrey.

IN THE LADIES' TREASURY for NOVEMBER is given a Large Fashion-Plate, with Eleven of the Newest Costumes for Autumn and Winter Fashions. This Number will also contain a number of other Designs in Fashion and Fancy Work, and a Large Coloured Plate of Ball Costumes.
Price 6d.; by post, 7½d.
London: BEMROSE and SONS, 10, Paternoster-buildings.

POTTERY-PAINTING: a Handbook of the Practice. By JOHN C. L. SPARKES, Director of the Lambeth School of Art, &c. Second Edition. Post-free, 1s. 1d.
London: LECHERTIER, BARBE, and Co., 60, Regent-street, W. (Agents in England for Lacroix's Ceramic Colours).

Large 8vo, pp. 728, 8s. post-free; or, in half morocco, 10s. 6d.,
HOMŒOPATHIC DOMESTIC PHYSICIAN. By Drs. PULTE and EPPS.
CONTENTS:—General Diseases—Casual Diseases—Cutaneous Diseases—Fevers—Affections of the Mind—the Head—the Eyes—the Ears—the Nose—the Face, Lips, and Jaws—the Teeth, Gums and Mouth—the Windpipe and Chest—the Stomach and Bowels—the Urinary and Genital Organs—Diseases of Women—Treatment of Children—Anatomy and Physiology—Hygiene and Hydropathy—Materia Medica—Domestic Surgery—Medical and Surgical Appliances—Dislocations and Luxations—Fractures.
A Chest of Medicines, Book inclosed, £3 10s. or £6 6s.
JAMES EPPS and Co., 48, Threadneedle-st.; and 170, Piccadilly.

NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES, and their Local Treatment by Medicated Sprays. By GEORGE MOORE, M.D. 8vo. 1s.; or by post for 12 stamps.
JAMES EPPS and Co., 170, Piccadilly; and 48, Threadneedle-street

Just published, post-free, two stamps,
DYSPEPSIA AND THE SEVERER FORMS OF INDIGESTION. A small Pamphlet on these distressing complaints and their complete cures.
Published by the Author, RICHARD KING, Esq., Staff Surgeon, Royal Navy, 23, Warwick-street, Rugby.

NOW READY,
THE ILLUSTRATED PENNY ALMANACK FOR 1879, containing Twenty-four Engravings from the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS of our Ironclads, the Cleopatra, Ostrich Farming, and other Foreign and Domestic Subjects; Tables of Stamps, Taxes, and Licenses; Eclipses, Remarkable Events, Post-Office Regulations, and a great variety of Useful and Interesting Information. The Trade supplied by G. VICKERS, Angel-court (173), Strand; and H. WILLIAMS, Warwick-lane, Paternoster-row, London.

NO CHARGE FOR STAMPING IN COLOURS BY MACHINERY.
JENNER and KNEWSTUB, HERALDIC STATIONERS AND ENGRAVERS, beg to call attention to their superb specimens of ILLUMINATING RELIEF STAMPING and DESIGNING, combining the perfection of work with the most moderate price; also, to their new mode of stamping in Colours (by machinery), without charge, in quantities of not less than two reams and without envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large colour envelopes. To clubs, public companies, and large consumers generally, an immense saving is thus effected. All kinds of Stationery at the most moderate prices. Cash discount 10 per cent.
Jenner and Knewstub, to the Queen, 33, St. James's-street, and 66, Jermyn-street, S.W.

FOR ARMS and CREST, send Name and County to T. MORING, Inns of Court Heraldic Offices, 44, High Holborn, W.C. Plain Sketch, 3s. 6d.; Coloured, 7s. 6d. Seals, Dies, and Diplomas. Illustrated Price-Lists post-free.

VITREMANIE SUPERSEDING DIAPHANIE.—An easy and inexpensive method of Decorating Windows in Churches, Public Buildings, and Private Dwellings, by which may be produced the rich Colouring and Beautiful Designs of Real Stained Glass. Handbook of Designs and Instructions, 1s. 1d. Particulars post-free. Sole Inventors, J. BARNARD and SON, 339, Oxford-street, London, W.

WATER-COLOUR DRAWINGS on HIRE.
For the use of Amateurs and Students. The Subscription Portfolio contains a choice collection by leading Artists. Catalogue and Terms post-free on application.
ARTHUR ACKERMANN, 191, Regent street, W.

SCRAPS for SCREENS and SCRAP-BOOKS. Coloured Flowers, Figures, Birds, and Landscapes, from 1s. sheet; 12 assorted, 10s. 6d.
WM. BARNARD, 119, Edgware-road, London.

MONOGRAMS.—RODRIGUES' Novelties in Monograms, Crests, and Addresses. Steel Dies engraved as gems. Note Paper and Envelopes illuminated in gold, silver, bronze, and colours. Coloured stamping, 1s. per 100. All the New and Fashionable Note Papers.—42, Piccadilly.

VISITING CARDS at H. RODRIGUES'.
A Card-Plate elegantly engraved and 100 superfine Cards printed for 4s. 6d. Ball Programmes, Bills of Fare, Guest Cards, and Invitations, in every variety.—42, Piccadilly.

"MACNIVEN and CAMERON'S PENS are the best."—Public Opinion.
Penmakers to her Majesty's Government Offices.
"They come as a boon and a blessing to men."
The Pickwick, the Owl and the Waverley Pen."
"They are a treasure."—Standard.
1,250 Newspapers recommend them.
Sold by all Stationers.
Sample Box assorted, of all the Kinds, 1s. 1d., by post.
Patentees, MACNIVEN and CAMERON, 23 to 33, Blair-street, Edinburgh. Sold everywhere.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS.
Sold by all Stationers throughout the World.

£10. BENNETT'S WATCHES.
In return for a £10 Note, free and safe per post, one of BENNETT'S LADY'S GOLD WATCHES, perfect for time, fine keyless action, air-tight, dampproof, and dust-tight.—65, Cheapside, London. Gold Chains at manufacturers' prices. P.O.O. to John Bennett.
BENNETT, 65 and 64, Cheapside.

E. DENT and CO., 61, Strand; and 34 and 35 (within), Royal Exchange, London, Manufacturers of Watches, Chronometers, &c., to her Majesty. Makers of the great Westminster clock (Big Ben) and of the Standard clock (the primary standard timekeeper of the United Kingdom) of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich.
Catalogues on application.

WALKER'S CRYSTAL CASE WATCHES are superseding all others. Prize Medals—London, 1862, Paris, 1867. Silver Watches, from £4 4s.; Gold, from £6 6s. Price-Lists sent free.—77, Cornhill; 220, Regent-street; and 76, Strand.

OROIDE GOLD WATCHES, 21s., 25s., 30s.; free by registered post 6d extra. Facsimile of costly gold watches; exact time-keepers. Catalogues post-free.
C. C. ROWE, 88, Brompton-road, London, S.W.

MUSICAL-BOX DÉPOTS, 56, Cheapside, and 22, Lombard-hill, London.—Nicole's celebrated Musical Boxes, playing best sacred and secular music. Prices £4 to £120. Boxes playing best secular and sacred music. Prices £4 to £120. Snuff-boxes, from 18s. to 30s. Largest stock in London. Catalogue gratis and post-free. Apply to WALES & M'CULLOCH, as above.

GARDNERS' NEW DINNER and TABLE GLASS SERVICES are original in design, effective in appearance, and unequalled in price. Dinner Services from £3 3s. the Set for twelve persons, complete. Table Glass Services from £3 5s. 6d. the Set for twelve persons, complete.

DINNER SERVICES.
Coloured Lithographs post-free.

In Deep Blue.		In Blue and White.
The Lan-downe ..	£3 3 0	The Lansdowne ..	£3 3 0
The Laurel	3 13 6	The Indiana	4 4 0
		The Danish	5 5 0

Discount 15 per cent.

In Enamelled Patterns. the One Thousand and Two (A) ..	£5 5 0	In their unequalled Crown Ware. In Ruby	£5 5 0
The Japanese Bamboo	6 6 0	In Pink	5 5 0
The Humming-Bird ..	7 7 0	In Black	5 5 0
The Sevres ..	7 7 0

Discount 15 per cent.
TABLE GLASS SERVICES.

Plain light stem glass	£3 5 6	Light engraved glass ..	£5 15 6
Richly cut glass ..	5 5 0	Richly engraved glass	5 19 6

Discount 15 per cent.
Illustrated Glass Catalogue, which must be returned, post-free on application.
Gardners' Lamp, Glass, and China Manufacturers, 453 and 454, West Strand, Charing-cross.

MAPPIN BROTHERS— Electro-Platers & Cutlers, Are placing the Public On the same footing as Members of Co-operative Stores, having Reduced their Prices 20 per Cent. The well-known quality of their goods is strictly maintained. Write for Catalogue to LONDON BRIDGE. LONDON-BRIDGE; or, REGENT-STREET, W. REGENT-STREET, W.

HEAL and SON
HAVE ON SHOW
THE LARGEST STOCK OF
BED-ROOM FURNITURE
IN LONDON.
FORTY SUITES are set apart in separate rooms, and the general stock occupies six galleries and two ground floors, each 130 feet long.
150 Bedsteads, fitted with every description of bedding, are ready fixed for inspection.
AN ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE,
CONTAINING 400 DESIGNS OF BEDSTEADS AND BED-ROOM FURNITURE, AND PRICE-LIST OF BEDDING, SENT FREE BY POST.
195 to 198, TOTTENHAM-COURT-ROAD, LONDON.

FURNISH YOUR HOUSE at DEANE'S.
Catalogue, with priced Furnishing Estimates, post-free.
1. Table Knives, Ivory, per doz., 10s., 25s., 40s.
2. Electro Forks—Table, 24s. to 64s.; Spoons, 24s. to 66s.
3. Paper-Mache Tea-Trays, in sets, 21s., 50s., 95s.
4. Electro Tea and Coffee Sets, £3 7s., £7 10s., to £24.
5. Dish-Covers in Sets—Tin, 22s.; Metal, 65s.; Electro £11 11s.
6. Electro Cruets, from 12s. 6d. to £6 6s.
7. Electro Liqueur Frames, 40s. to £7 7s.
8. Lamps—Patent Duplex Rock Oil, Colza, &c.
9. Fenders—Bright, 45s. to 41s.; Bronze, 3s. to £6.
10. Baths—Hot and Cold Water, Gas, Travelling, &c.
11. Bedsteads—Brass and Iron, with Bedding.
12. Gaseliers—2-light, 17s.; 3-do., 50s.; 5-do., £4 4s.
13. Kitcheners, from £3, to 6 ft., £33.
14. Kitchen Utensils—Copper, Tin, and Iron.
Deane and Co., 46, King William-st., London Bridge. A.D. 1700.

THE LUMINOUS CLOCK.
A MOST WONDERFUL INVENTION,
by which the Time can be SEEN in the DARK without the aid of any artificial light. Every home should possess one. See opinions of Press. Price 42s. each.
ASSER and SHERWIN, 80 and 81, Strand, W.

"YOUR NEW 'VOWEL' A 1 is a-one-derful Machine, both as Washer, Wringer, and Mangler; seriously, Mrs. G. considers it beyond all praise."—Vide Purchaser. Price £6 10s., carriage free and trial free. Catalogue free by post. Paris, 1878, three Silver Medals to THOMAS BRADFORD and CO., 140 to 143, High Holborn, London, and Cathedral-steps, Manchester.

JEWEL ROBBERIES PREVENTED.—J. TANN'S RELIANCE SAFES have never failed to resist the attempts of the most determined burglars. Fire-Resisting Safes, £5 5s. Lists free.—11, Newgate-street, E.C.

KINAHAN'S LL WHISKY.
THE CREAM OF OLD IRISH WHISKIES.
Pure, mild, mellow, delicious, and most wholesome. Universally recommended by the medical profession. Dr. Hassall says:—"The whisky is soft, mellow, and pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality."—20, Great Titchfield-street, W.

ORANGE CHAMPAGNE is a light, pleasant drink, made simply from Oranges. It is effervescent, but entirely free from spirit, and perfectly wholesome. Price 7s. per Dozen Quarts; 4s., Pints. Bottles 2s. and Cases 1s. per Dozen until returned. Made only by CHAS. CODD and CO., 79, Copenhagen-street, London, N.

GINGER BRANDY. LIQUEUR An Elegant and Digestive Cordial much appreciated by Sportsmen, Tourists, and Travellers, being invaluable for cases of Cholera, Nature and Indigestion. In Square Bottles and Yellow Bin Cases, bearing trade mark, "A Negro's Head." 42s. per case.—26 and 27, High Holborn, London. HENRY BRETT and CO.

EPPS'S COCOA. GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING. JAMES EPPS and CO., HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Awarded the GRAND DIPLOMA OF HONOUR.

CHOCOLAT MENIER, in ½ lb. and ¼ lb. Packets. For BREAKFAST and SUPPER.

CHOCOLAT MENIER.—Awarded Twenty-Three PRIZE MEDALS. Consumption annually exceeds 17,000,000lbs.

CHOCOLAT MENIER. Paris, London, New York.
Sold Everywhere.

GOLD MEDAL, PARIS.
FRY'S COCOA EXTRACT
guaranteed pure Cocoa, only deprived of the superfluous oil. Sold in Packets and Tins.

TWELFTH EXHIBITION MEDAL.
A GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, is evidence of the high opinion entertained by the International Jury of the merits of FRY'S CHOCOLATE AND COCOA.
Ask for FRY'S Celebrated CARACAS COCOA, a choice preparation.

EXHIBITION NOTES.—PARIS.—"The Galignani's Messenger," of Oct. 15 says:—"Messrs. Horniman have had wonderful success with their famous tea in the Paris Exhibition; it is now sought after by foreigners as well as English. There is no doubt but that Messrs. Horniman's tea is a great acquisition on the Continent; it is possessed of a most delicious flavour, and is unique in quality; the price, too, is such as to bring it within the reach of all classes."

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
PLEASE DIRECT ALL LETTERS AND ORDERS FOR
PETER ROBINSON,
SILKMERCER and LINENDRAPER,
TO
THE ONLY ADDRESS,
103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, W.,
where the Business was established in 1833.

STOCK of LOVERING and CO., Liverpool. PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, is the Purchaser by Public Tender, at a large discount off, of the Silk Costumes, Dress Costumes, Shawls, Mantles, Furs, &c., of the above select and costly stock, and the same is now ON SALE at his premises in Oxford-street, at greatly reduced prices.
PETER ROBINSON, 103 to 108, OXFORD-STREET, W.

PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET.
SILKS FOR CHRISTMAS.
ONE THOUSAND PIECES OF NEW
LYONS GROS GRAIN, at 3s. 6d. per yard, in every new shade, for evening wear.
Coloured Satins to match, at 3s. 6d. per yard.
Richer qualities, Coloured Silks, 4s. 6d., 5s. 3d., and 6s. 9d. per yard.
Grisaille and Quadrille, 2½s. 6d. the Dress.
300 PIECES OF LYONS CHECK SILKS, at 1s. 11½d. per yard, specially suitable for Young Ladies' wear.
RICH DAMASSE SILKS, for Evening wear, 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d. per yard.
Patterns free.
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON, W.

DINNER AND BALL DRESSES.
BROCADED SILKS,
in the Newest Designs and Colourings, as exhibited at the Paris Exhibition, are being sold at less than half price, commencing at 4s. 6d. per yard, extra width.
GENOA VELVETS,
in every shade, to match the Silks and Satins, 6s. 11d. per yard.

BALL and WEDDING DRESSES.
Now ready, several thousand Elegant Robes, specially prepared for this season, in Black, White, and New Colours, from 1os. 9d. to 10 guineas.
THE MAUDE,
A pretty Tarlatan Dress, with ample Train, profusely trimmed with pleated Flounces, &c., one guinea, a substantial Box included.
A pretty Dress in Black Brussels Net. Price 23s.
THE ARIEL,
A charming Tarlatan Robe, trimmed with pleatings and Bouillonné, in Black, White, and Colours. Price 31s. 6d.
THE ADELINA,
A handsome Tarlatan Robe, trimmed with pleatings and Bouillonné, with double scarf of silk or satin, draped across front, and sash, in Black, White, and Colours. Price 42s.
THE FLORA,
A stylish Tarlatan Robe, elaborately trimmed with flowers, and silk or satin scarf, in Black, White, and Colours. Price 63s.
The new Sheet of Engravings post-free.
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

AUTUMN DRESS MATERIALS.
CACHMERE MERINOS.
Fine textures and rich shades, 45 inches wide, 2s. 6d. to 2s. 11d. the yard.
CACHEMIRE DE PARIS.
All the New Tints, 45 inches wide, 3s. 6d. per yard.
VELVETEENS.
Velvet, finished in all colours, 3s. 9d. to 4s. 6d. in black 1s. 11d. to 5s. 6d. per yard.
ANGOLAS,
and other Fashionable Materials, 1s. 9d. to 3s. 9d. per yard.
WINTER SKIRTINGS.
Novelties in Stripes, Plain, and Snowflake, from 1s. 9d. per yard.
CREPE CASHMERE (REGISTERED).
A most useful Material, in six designs, Black, full width, 1s. 9d. per yard.
For Patterns address only
PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, W.

REAL RUSSIAN SEAL FUR PALETOTS (half fitting).
33 in. deep, from 7 gs.
36 in. deep, from 8 gs.
Several New Shapes in Seal Mantles, in the finest quality.
GREY SQUIRREL PALETOTS (a great novelty).
Sable, Seal, Fox, Racoon, Skunk, Beaver, Otter, Russian Hare, Chinchilla, Ermine, and every other description of Muffs, Neckties, &c.

PETER ROBINSON, OXFORD-STREET, THE ONLY ADDRESS.

REAL SEAL PALETOTS,
FROM 5 Guineas to 50 Guineas.
BEAUTIFULLY EXECUTED
PHOTOGRAPHS OF ABOVE, POST-FREE.
D. NICHOLSON and CO., 50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

RICH PARIS AND BERLIN CLOAKS.
LATEST NOVELTIES,
FROM 1 Guinea to 20 Guineas.
BEAUTIFULLY EXECUTED
PHOTOGRAPHS OF ABOVE, POST-FREE.
D. NICHOLSON and CO., 50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S, LONDON.

PARIS EXPOSITION COSTUMES.
D. NICHOLSON and CO. beg to announce the Return of their buyers from Paris and that they will have this Day and during the Week a Grand Display of Elegant COSTUMES, including several facsimile Copies of those shown in the Paris Exhibition.
D. Nicholson and Co., 50 to 53, St. Paul's churchyard, London.

NEW DRESS MATERIALS.—A Large Assortment of New Dress Materials for the present Season in every fashionable shade, including

Bourette Cloths, from	10½d. per yard.
Snow Flakes, from	9½d. per yard.
Velour Cloths, from	1s. 6d. per yard.
Cashmere Serges, from	1s. 4½d. per yard.
Matelassés, from	10½d. per yard.
Costume Cashmeres, New Shades ..	2s. 6d. per yard.

Velveteens, Flannels, Household Linens, &c. Patterns of any of the above post-free.
D. NICHOLSON and CO., 50 to 53, ST. PAUL'S-CHURCHYARD, LONDON.

LADIES' ELASTIC SUPPORTING BANDS for use before and after Accouchement.
Instructions for measurement and prices on application to POPE and PLANTE, 4, Waterloo-place, Pall-mall, London.

PARIS EXHIBITION IN LONDON.
GRAND SALE OF PRIZE GOODS.
CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited) are NOW SELLING the whole of their VAST PURCHASES in the PARIS EXHIBITION, and from the most eminent manufacturers in the world. Chiefly Prize Goods.
The SUPERB COSTUMES of many PARIS EXHIBITORS.
The RICH and BEAUTIFUL SILKS and VELVETS of Lyons, Zurich, and Italy.
The elegant PARIS MANTLES, JACKETS, &c., so much admired in the Exhibition.
The RICH and COSTLY FURS and FUR GARMENTS of Paris and Russia.
The KID GLOVES, of nearly all the best Paris makers.
Several hundred dozens of JOUVIN'S (two buttons), which received the silver medal, will be sold at 2s. 4½d. per pair; usual price, 4s.
The DRESS FABRICS and TISSUES of Amiens and Roubaix.
The BEAUTIFUL REAL LACES of France, Brussels, &c.
The FINE BRONZES and ORNAMENTAL OBJECTS from the French and Austrian Courts.
The OXYDISED and other WORKS OF ART of Vienna, prize goods.
The fine white and fancy coloured BLANKETS and COVERTURES of Orleans and Austria.
The TABLE LINENS, SERVIETTES, Guipure d'Art of France and Russia.
The Prize LONGCLOTHS, CALICOES, and FLANNELS of Preston and Rouen.
The NOVEL and ARTISTIC FRENCH UMBRELLAS of Cathiart and Tilleard; also elaborate Ivory Carved Handles (unmounted).
And a large collection of other Exhibition Articles, too numerous to particularise.
These Goods are of the highest character, made expressly for Exhibition, and, having been purchased at a large discount off usual prices, will be sold accordingly.
All goods marked in plain figures for ready money.
SALE COMMENCES at TEN O'CLOCK.
CHARLES GASK and CO. (Limited).
58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, OXFORD-STREET; 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, WELLS-STREET, London.
Carriage Entrance, 5, Wells-street.

FAMILY MOURNING.
WIDOW'S DRESS, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Widow's Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Parent's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 18 6
Sister's or Brother's Mourning Dress, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £4 4 0
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed Cyprus Crape, from £3 13 6
Mourning for Near Relatives, made complete, trimmed English Crape, from £3 18 6
Materials at One Shilling per Yard.
JAYS',
THE LONDON GENERAL MOURNING WAREHOUSE, Regent-street, W.

NOTICE.
GREAT GLASGOW FAILURE.
BAKER and CRISP, 198, Regent-street, London, will SELL on MONDAY and following Days the Entire STOCK of Messrs. MACIVOR and FORBES, Purchased by them at an enormous discount amounting to £7000, consisting of Newest Silks, Silk Velvets, Velveteens, Costumes, Ulsters, Furs, Jackets, Dress Fabrics, Evening, Wedding, and Dinner Dress Fabrics, Ladies' Underclothing, Laces, Ties, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Hosiery, Ribbons and Fancy Goods, Cambric Handkerchiefs, Household Linens, Curtains, Blankets, Flannels, and every description of Best Drapery Goods. The SALE commences on MONDAY, at unprecedented prices—viz., Silks worth 4s. 9d., 5s. 6d., and 6s. 6d. per yard will be sold for 1s. 11d., 2s. 6d., and 3s. 6d. Best Dress Fabrics that were 1s., 2s., and 3s. per yard will be sold at 5½d., 8½d., and 1s.; and so on throughout the stock.
BAKER and CRISP, 198, Regent-street.

BAKER and CRISP'S CHEAP SILK VELVETEENS,
Newest Winter Costume Fabrics of every description, from 8s. 6d. Full Dress Patterns free.—198, Regent-street.

SPECIALITY for WIDOWS' MILLINERY.
Mrs Creaton (late of 110, Oxford-street) begs respectfully to solicit an inspection of her Show-Rooms, where ladies will find a large and varied assortment of WIDOWS' CAPS for First and Second Mourning.
No. 204, Regent-street, W.
Between Regent-circus and Langham-place.

SHIRTS. — FORD'S EUREKA. — "The most perfect fitting made."—Observer. Gentlemen desirous of purchasing shirts of the best quality should try Ford's Eureka. 30s., 40s. 6s. half-dozen. Illustrations and self-measure post-free.—41, Poultry, London.

INVALUABLE TO ALL WHO SUFFER from BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, Indigestion, Wind, Spasms, Dizziness of the Eyes, Habitual Costiveness, &c. Dr. SCOTT'S BILIOUS and LIVER PILLS (without mercury) are unequalled. Mild in their operation, they create appetite, and strengthen the whole nervous system. Sold by W. LAMBERT, 1a, Vere-street, London, W., and all Druggists, in Boxes, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. The Genuine are in a Square Green Packet.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY for the HAIR.
If your hair is turning grey, or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the roots are not decayed. Ask any Chemist for the "Mexican Hair Renewer," price 3s. 6d.
Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London.

FLORILINE. For the Teeth and Breath. Is the best Liquid Dentifrice in the World; it thoroughly cleanses partially-decayed teeth from all parasites or living animalcules, leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The Fragrant Floriline removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke, being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants. It is perfectly harmless, and delicious as sherry. Prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Retailed every where.

GOLDEN HAIR.—ROBARE'S AUREOLINE produces the beautiful Golden Colour so much admired. Warranted perfectly harmless. Price 5s. 6d. and 10s. 6d., of all Perfumers. Wholesale, HOVENDEN and SONS, 5, Great Marlborough-street, W.; and 93 and 95, City-road, E.C. London; Pinaud and Meyer, 37, Boulevard de Strasbourg, Paris; 31, Graben, Vienna; 44, Rue des Longs Chariots, Brussels.

DOES YOUR HAIR TURN GREY? Then use HERRING'S PATENT MAGNETIC BRUSHES and COMBS. Brushes, 10s. and 15s. each. Combs, 2s. 6d., 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., 15s., and 20s. each. Pamphlets upon application.—5, Great Marlborough-st., W.; 93 and 95, City-road; and of all Perfumers.

BREIDENBACH'S ABRONIA.—The New Scent for 1878. Delicate, refreshing, and durable, 2s. 6d. to 40s. per Bottle. Breidenbach's MACASSARINE, invaluable for preserving the Growth of the Hair, 1s., 2s. 6d., 5s. per Bottle. Of all Chemists, and the Makers, 157a, New Bond-street, W.

ROWLANDS' MACASSAR OIL preserves, strengthens, and beautifies the human Hair. 3s. 6d., 7s. and 10s. 6d. ROWLANDS' ODONTO whitens the Teeth and arrests decay. 2s. 9d. per Box. Of Chemists.

THE COURT HAIR DESTROYER.—This newly-discovered remedy completely removes superfluous hair. Quite harmless. 3s. 6d.; post 3s. 10d., of Inventor, J. Leon, 19, Portman-rd., London, W., or Chemists. Particulars, 1 stamp

THOMPSON AND CAPPER'S
DENTIFRICE WATER arrests decay in the Teeth and sweetens the Breath.—5s. Bold-street, Liverpool; and at 39, Deansgate, Manchester.—Sold in 1s. 6d., 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., and 8s. 6d. Bottles. by all Chemists.

WHITE and SOFT HANDS insured by using CUMBER'S ALMOND BALL, delightfully perfumed with roses. It never fails to make the reddest hand delicate white, healing all chaps, removing every roughness and disagreeable sensation so attendant on the winter season, and establishing a healthy, soft, and agreeable feeling. Unlike all others, it can be worn during the day, as it never greases, and is quite imperceptible. In Boxes, 6d., 1s., and 2s., post free from COOKE, Chemist, Church row, Wandsworth.

POSSESSING ALL THE PROPERTIES OF ARROWROOT.
BROWN & POLSON
IS A WORLD-WIDE FAVOURITE FOR THE NURSERY, THE TABLE AND THE FAMILY.

PRICE'S CHILD'S PRICE'S PATENT CANDLE recommend these Night Lights in the NEW PATENT NIGHT LIGHTS for the paper case, their GOLD MEDAL and BEST COMPOSITE CANDLES CERINE. GOLD MEDAL, again a the PARIS EXHIBITION of 1878.

THE ONLY SOAP FOR THE Making the skin clear, smo
WRIGHT'S COAL (SAPO CARBONIS DET
Highly and extensively recommende cases of cutaneous disease by Mr. Jas. to St. John's Hospital for Diseases James Startin, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Anderson, M.D., F.F.P.S., of Woodsi also other leading members of the p and 1s., in elegant Toilet-Boxes, of W. V. WRIGHT and C

JOHN GOSNELL and and MILLEFLEUR POWDER, f Universally admired for its purity and Chemists and Perfumers. Wholesale,

CAUTION.—BOND'S CR GOLD MEDAL MARKING IN Stationers, for extra profit, deceive "Prepared by the Daughter of the la 75, Southgate-road, London. No imitat

ABUSE OF SPIRITS.—I STOMACH treated by his origin years' experience.
HEYMANN, M.D. BERLI
Fees, including remedies, Gu

THROAT AFFECT HOARSENESS.—All suffering fro Throat and Hoarseness will be agreeably a immediate relief afforded by the use of BIL TROCHES. These famous Lozenges ar respectable Chemists in this country, at la troubled with a hacking cough, a sligh affections cannot try them too soon, as allowed to progress, result in serious pulm affections.—Depot, 493, Oxford-street, Lond

COLDS CURED BY
DR. DUNBAR'S ALKARA
Anti-Catarrh Smelling-Bot
ALKARAM.
ALKARAM.
ALKARAM.
If inhaled on the first symptom will at once arrest them, and cure seve hour. Sold by all Chemists, 2s. 9d. a Bottle. A care of Messrs. F. Newbery and Sons, 37, Newg

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA. The best remed the Stomach, ache, Gout, and DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA. The safest an Aperient for delic Ladies, Children, OF ALL CHEMISTS.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIF
CLARKE'S WORLD-FAMED
MIXTURE is warranted to cleanse the Impurities, from whatever cause arising. For S Skin and Blood Diseases its effects are marvello 2s. 6d. each, and in Cases containing six times th each, of all Chemists. Sent to any address for 3 of the Proprietor, F. J. CLARKE, Chemist, Linc HOOPING-COUGH.—ROCHE'S EMBROCATION.—The celebrated Effect out internal medicine. Sole Wholesale Agents, E. SON, 157, Queen Victoria-street (late of 38, London. Sold retail by most Chemists. Price 4s.

STIMULANTS and insufficient exercise frequently derange the l FRUIT SALT is pecuniarly adapted stitutional weakness of the liver, woes is avoided by those who k ENO'S FRUIT SALT. "All we c Eno's Fruit Salt would not be wit any consideration, they having rec benefit from it."—Wood Brother, Jersey, 1878.

BLAIR'S GOUT PILLS.
The Great English Remedy for Gout and Rheuma safe, and effectual. No restraint of diet required d use, and are certain to prevent the disease attackin part. Sold by all Chemists, at 1s. 1½d. and 2s. 9d. per

LAXORA MEDICATED LOZENGES for CONSTIPATION, SLUG OF THE STOMACH, BILE, HEADACH The "Lancet":—"It is a great improvem preparations in common use for the same Medical Press:"—"Laxora Lozenges ca recommended."
C. R. C. Tichborne, Ph. D.:—"Laxora Lo efficacious, and nicely made."
Sold, 1s. 1½d., by all Chemists and I Wholesale, 32, Southwark-street.

COUGHS, ASTHMA, BRONCI Medical testimony states that no other medic effectual in the cure of these dangerous maladies as KE COUGH LOZENGES. One lozenge alone gives ease, o at bed time ensures rest. They contain no opium nor an drug.

FITS.—EPILEPTIC FITS or FAL SICKNESS.—A certain method of cure has been di for this distressing complaint by a physician, who is that all sufferers may benefit from this providential disc is never known to fail, and will cure the most hopeless ca all other means have been tried. Full particulars will be post to any person free of charge.—Address:—Mr. WILL 59, Oxford-terrace, Hyde Park, London.

TAMAR INDIEN.—Owing to the ma success of this fruit-lozenge—so agreeable to take an versally prescribed by the Faculty for Constipation, &c. Imitations are being foisted on the public. The genuin parations bear the title "Tamar Indien." Price 2s. 6d. per E. GRILLON, Wool Exchange, E.C.; and all Chemist THROAT IRRITATION.—EPP GLYCERINE JUJUBES. Soreness and dryness, tic and irritation, inducing cough and affecting the voice. Sold in Boxes, 6d. and 1s., labelled JAMES EPPS and CO., Hom pathic Chemists, 48, Threadneedle-street, London.

TO PERSONS AFFLICTED WIT RUPTURE.—PRATT'S WATER-PAD TRUSSES are most effectual Cure.—Apply to J. F. Pratt, surgical Mechanic to St. Bartholomew's Hospital, 420, Oxford-street, London.

ELECTRICITY IS LIFE.
PULVERMACHER'S "GALVANISM NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF IMPAIR VITAL ENERGY."
In this Pamphlet the most reliable proofs are given of t vast and wonderful curative powers of Pulvermache Patent Galvanic Chain-Bands, Belts, &c., in Rheumat Nervous, and Functional Disorders. Sent post-free f three stamps, on application to
J. L. PULVERMACHER'S GALVANIC ESTABLISHMEN 194, Regent-street, London, W.

USIC.

NUMBER OF SICAL MAGAZINE
opular Dance Music:—
Chas. d'Albert.
Emile Waldteufel.
Fred. Godfrey.
Chas. d'Albert.
A. C. Crowe.
Henri Louis.
Chas. d'Albert.
Chas. d'Albert.
f Lancers, entitled
ONGRESS, ady for this Work, by D'ALBERT.
ost-free, 1s. 2d.
. 50, New Bond-street.

BERT'S NOVELTIES.
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
On Sullivan's Song .. 2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
1s. 6d. net
2s. 0d. net
2s. 0d. net
M. D'Albert's Popular Dance Music
o., 50, New Bond-street.

NUMBERS OF MUSICAL MAGAZINE.
OPULAR MARCHES.
Ch. Gounod.
ular Marches by Handel, Mozart,
1s.; post-free, 1s. 2d.

IXED SERIES, No. 3.)
Sir J. Benedict.
Miss Cowell.
Sir J. Benedict.
A. Mellon.
Zeta.
B. Richards.
A. Lindahl.
A. Lindahl.
B. Richards.
Charles D'Albert.
Dan Godfrey.
Dan Godfrey.
Charles D'Albert.
(MIXED SERIES, No. 2.)
W. Vincent Wallace.
Arthur Sullivan.
Alberto Randegger.
B. Richards.
H. Smart.
G. A. Macfarren.
B. Richards.
Henri Ghys.
Carl Leduc.
Charles d'Albert.
Charles d'Albert.
Dan Godfrey.
Dan Godfrey.
(MIXED SERIES, No. 1.)
Mrs. Norton.
A. Sullivan.
Luigi Arditi.
M. Balfe.
S. Glover.
Mrs. Hemans.
B. Richards.
F. Vivian.
T. Badarzewska.
Charles D'Albert.
Dan Godfrey.
Charles D'Albert.
Charles D'Albert.
ELLING EACH (post-free, 1s. 2d.),
A Co., 50, New Bond-street, London, W.

L and CO.'S IMPROVED
AMERICAN ORGANS,
INING PIPES WITH REEDS,
Manufactured by
CLOUGH and WARREN,
DETROIT, U.S.A. dvantages these Instruments possess over the imported have induced Messrs. Chappell and the sole Agency of this eminent Manufactory.
ariety on view, from 25 to 150 guineas.
ts on application to 50, New Bond-street.

GH and WARREN'S
"FAVOURITE ORGAN."
Compass, Five Octaves.
r Sets of Reeds of 7½ octaves each, Knee-Swell.
gant Carved Canadian Walnut Case.
Price 25 guineas.
illustrated Price-List free by post.
, CHAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

DHAND PIANOFORTES.
NATION OF THE LONDON SEASON.
w, an immense number of Pianofortes returned
e sold, at greatly reduced prices, for cash.
Pianinos from 18 guineas.
Cottages from 20 guineas.
Grands from 50 guineas.
50, New Bond-street.

DHAND PIANOFORTES at
50, New Bond-street,
, with option of purchase, or on the "Three-Years'
reatly reduced prices.

DHAND PIANOFORTES now on view by the following eminent Makers:—
OWOOD. ERARD. CHAPPELL.
ARD. CHAPPELL. ROSENKRANZ.
HAPPELL and CO., 50, New Bond-street.

DHAND HARMONIUMS, for HURCH, SCHOOL, or DRAWING-ROOM, wards of a hundred varieties now on View.
From 3 guineas to 100 guineas.
CHAPPELL and CO.'S, 50, New Bond-street.

PPELL and CO.'S SPECIALITIES
in ORGAN HARMONIUMS.

PPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN
HARMONIUMS.—Five octaves, two pedals, suitable for cottage or school. Price 7 gs.

PPELL and CO.'S NEW ORGAN
MODEL by ALEXANDRE, two rows of keys, five stops and sub-bass, Venetian swell, two knee pedals, 28 guineas, or £3 16s. per quarter on Three-Years' System.

APPELL and CO.'S EXHIBITION CHURCH MODEL, fifteen stops, 4½ rows of vibrators, Venetian swell, 35 guineas, or £3 10s. per quarter for Three Years.

APPELL and CO.'S
SPECIALITIES in PIANOFORTES.

HAPPELL and CO.'S SCHOOL
PIANINOS, Canadian Walnut, 20 gs., or 2 gs. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

HAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR
PIANINO, 35 gs., or £3 10s. per quarter on the Three-Years' System of Purchase.

HAPPELL and CO.'S ENGLISH
MODEL, 40 gs., or £4 per quarter, on the
Three-Years' System of Purchase.

HAPPELL and CO.'S MIGNON IRON
GRAND, 50 gs., or £5 per quarter on the
Three-Years' System of Purchase.

HAPPELL and CO.'S BOUDOIR IRON
110 gs., or £11 per quarter on the Three-
Years' System of Purchase.
NEW BOND-STREET, W.

NEW MUSIC.

Price One Shilling each.

THE CAVENDISH MUSIC-BOOKS.
A New Collection of Popular Music in the cheapest and most attractive form ever published. Each book contains 32 pages of engraved music, full size, price One Shilling. This series differs also from all others, inasmuch as it contains valuable copyright music by eminent Composers, including Arthur Sullivan, Cowen, Molloy, Smart, Benedict, Hatton, Virginia Gabriel, Claribel, Brinley Richards, Kuhe, Lecocq, Métra, and Lamothe.
1. SONGS OF THE DAY. Ten Ballads by Sullivan, Pinsuti, Cowen, Molloy, Dolores, Hamilton Aidé, Louis Diehl, and Louisa Gray.
2. MADAME SHERRINGTON'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Ten Songs by Sullivan, Claribel, Hatton, Taubert, Schumann, Wekerlin, &c.
3. MADAME ANTOINETTE STERLING'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Ten Standard and Copyright Songs.
4. MR. SIMS REEVES'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Twelve Standard and Copyright Songs.
5. MR. SANTLEY'S BALLAD CONCERT ALBUM. Twelve Standard and Copyright Songs by Sullivan, Hatton, Wekerlin, Shield, Dibdin, &c.
6. ALBUM OF DANCE MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS. Nine New Sets by Cooke, Lamothe, Lecocq, Métra, Montgomery, &c.
7. FIRST PIANOFORTE ALBUM (modern German Masters). Eight celebrated Pieces by Rubinstein, Raff, and Henselt.
8. SECOND PIANOFORTE ALBUM (modern German Masters). Eight celebrated Pieces by Rheinberger, Baumgardt, Brinkmann, Seeling, Grieg, and Czerky.
9. THIRD PIANOFORTE ALBUM (various Composers). Eight celebrated Pieces, including "Cayrea," "Le Jolif Errant," "Capite Hongrois," "Shadow Air," &c.
10. FOURTH PIANOFORTE ALBUM (various Composers). Eight Pieces by Sullivan, Cowen, Ketterer, Thalberg, Kuhe, Gollmick.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 5s. each, paper covers; 7s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges.

THE ROYAL OPERATIC ALBUMS, containing 120 celebrated Songs from renowned Operas, with Italian and English words, in the original keys, without abbreviation or alteration.
1. THE PRIMA DONNA'S ALBUM. Forty-one Songs for Soprano. [Ready.
2. THE CONTRALTO ALBUM. Fifty Songs for Mezzo-Soprano and Contralto. [Ready.
3. THE TENOR ALBUM. Fifty Songs. [In the Press.
4. THE BARITONE ALBUM. Forty-five Songs. [In the Press.
"A more useful publication than these collections of Italian melodies cannot be conceived."—Athenæum.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

THE CHORAL UNION. 40 Part-Songs, in Four Books (Soprano, Contralto, Tenor, and Bass), price 6d. each. Dr. SPARK'S HANDY-BOOK of CHORAL SINGING, including 156 Exercises and Part-Songs, Price 1s. THE CHORALIST, 220 Nos., 1d. each. New Number, "The Hop-Pickers," by Elizabeth Philp, post-free, 1d.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth boards,

CALLCOTT'S HANDEL ALBUM. One Hundred of the best Airs by Handel. Arranged for the Pianoforte by W. H. CALLCOTT. With Memoir and Three Illustrations.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Superbly bound in cloth, gilt edges, 7s. 6d.,

THE ILLUSTRATED SONGS OF SCOTLAND contains 190 songs. Edited by J. PITTMAN. with Introduction by Dr. Charles Mackay, and Twelve Full-Page Illustrations by Frank Dicksee, E. B. Leighton, W. Small, A. Hunt, F. Skelton, and J. MacNaiston.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

This day, price 10s. 6d., cloth,

SPOHR'S VIOLIN SCHOOL. Edited by HENRY HOLMES. Complete, with numerous Explanatory Notes, and much additional text, by the Editor.—"Our leading violinists have concurred in the opinion that Mr. Holmes's additions have so greatly enhanced the value of Spohr's School that it must become the standard work of all violinists, professional and amateur."—Illustrated Dramatic News.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

CANTATAS. Arthur Sullivan's "Prodigal Son," Arthur Sullivan's "On Shore and Sea." F. H. Cowen's "Corinna." F. H. Cowen's "Rose Maiden." F. Howell's "Land of Promise." P. Howell's "Song of the Months." Price 2s. 6d. each work.—BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

Price 2s. 6d., paper; 4s. 6d., cloth, gilt edges,

THE HOUSEHOLD MUSIC-BOOK, containing fifty-eight Sacred Songs, forty-nine Sacred Pieces, forty-four Ballads, and sixteen Drawing-Room Pieces, with twelve Illustrations.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

THE BLUE ALSATIANS WALTZ. By GEORGES LAMOTHE. On Stephen Adams's celebrated Song. Price 2s. Solo and Duet; Small Orchestra, 1s.
BOOSEY and Co., 295, Regent-street.

THE MUSICAL TIMES. Price Threepence. The largest and best Musical Journal.

